Crimes punishable by General Court-Martial with Dismissal or Suspension of Officers, or by General or District Court-Martial with Dismissal, Reduction, Imprisonment with or without Hard Labour, and with or without Solitary Confinement, or Loss of Standing on the Roll of Non-commissioned Officers and Soldiers.

34. Any officer who shall behave in a manner unbecoming the character of an officer (the fact or facts whereon the charge is grounded being clearly specified therein);— or

Sec. ii., Art. 28.

35. Any officer or soldier who shall advise or persuade any other officer or soldier to desert, or who shall connive at such desertion; or who shall knowingly receive and entertain any deserter, and shall not immediately on discovery give notice to his superior officer; or shall not cause such deserter to be apprehended by the civil power;— or Sec. ii., Art. 29.

36. Who shall obtain or attempt to obtain for himself, or for any officer or soldier, or for any other person whatsoever, any pension or allowance by any false statement, certificate, or document, or by the omission of the true statement, or certificate, or document;— or

Sec. ii., Art. 30.

37. Who shall knowingly make a false return or report to any his superior officer authorized to call for a return or report of the state of the men under his command, or of arms, ammunition, clothing, or other stores thereunto belonging, or of which he may be in charge;— or

Sec. ii., Art. 31.

38. Who, at any post, or on the march, shall illegally and against the will of the parties extort money or property of any description, as fees or duties, or on any pretence whatever; or shall, without authority, exact from villagers or others, carriage, porterage, or provisions;—or

Sec. ii., Art. 32.

39. Who shall wantonly and intentionally defile any place dedicated to religious worship, or who shall wantonly and intentionally insult the religious prejudices of other persons;

Shall, if an officer, on conviction, be sentenced to be dismissed the service, or to be suspended from rank and pay and allowances;

And, if a soldier, shall, on conviction before a general, district, or garrison court-martial, be sentenced to suffer such punishment as a general, or district, or garrison court-martial is by these Articles of War respectively empowered to award.

Provided that such offender shall not be sentenced to death, or transportation, or corporal punishment.—Sec. ii., Art. 33.

Crimes punishable by General Court-martial with Dismissal or Suspension of Officers, or by any Court-martial with Dismissal, Reduction, Imprisonment with or without Hard Labour, and with or without Solitary Confinement, or Loss of Standing on the Roll of Non-commissioned Officers and Soldiers.

40. Any officer or soldier, who, being under arrest or in confinement, shall leave his arrest or confinement before he is set at liberty by competent authority; — or

Sec. ii., Art. 34.

41. Who shall malinger, feign, or intentionally produce disease or infirmity; or intentionally delay his cure; or intentionally aggravate his disease or infirmity; — or

Sec. ii., Art. 35.

42. Who shall, without orders, commit any waste, or spoil or plunder, or shall injure or destroy any property; — or Sec. ii., Art. 36.

43. Any soldier who shall, contrary to orders, when off duty, appear in or about camp or cantonments, or on any occasion of visiting towns or bazaars, carrying a sword, bludgeon, or other weapon; — or Sec. ii., Art. 37.

44. Who shall sell, pawn, or designedly or through neglect lose, or injure his horse, arms, clothes, accoutrements or regimental necessaries; or any of the above articles entrusted or belonging to any other soldier;

Shall, on conviction before a general, district, or garrison, or regimental court-martial, be sentenced to suffer such punishment as such courts-martial respectively are by these Articles of War empowered to award.

Provided that such offender shall not be sentenced to death, or transportation, or corporal punishment.—Sec. ii., Art. 38.

Embezzlement; punishable by General Court-martial with Dismissal, Fine, and Imprisonment, with or without Hard Labour, and with or without Solitary Confinement, of Officers and Soldiers.

45. Any officer, or soldier, who shall embezzle or fraudently misapply any money entrusted to him on the public account, or for any military purpose; or any provisions, forage, arms, clothing, ammunition, or military stores, of whatever kind or description, the property of Government, entrusted to his charge; or who shall wilfully spoil such property, or suffer it to be spoiled, or shall be concerned in or connive at any such embezzlement or fraudulent misapplication;

Shall, on conviction before a general court-martial, be dismissed the service, and fined to the extent of his arrears of pay and allowances; and be further liable to suffer imprisonment with or without hard labour for a term which may extend to three years, and with or without solitary confinement (to be regulated as aforesaid).—Sec. ii., Art. 39.

Disgraceful Conduct; punishable by General or District Court-martial, with Corporal Punishment, or Imprisonment, with or without Hard Labour and Solitary Confinement, and in addition with Forfeiture of additional Pay and of Pension or Discharge, and Stoppages, of Non-Commissioned Officers and Soldiers.

46. Any soldier who shall be guilty of disgraceful conduct;

In wilfully maiming or injuring himself, or any other soldier at the instance of such soldier, with intent to render himself or such soldier unfit for the service, or with intent to take his own life;— or Sec. ii., Art. 40.

47. In purloining or selling Government stores; — or Sec. ii., Art. 41.

48. In stealing money or goods, the property of a soldier, or of a military officer, or of any military mess, or of any person or persons belonging to or serving with or attached to the army; — or Sec. ii., Art. 42.

49. In plundering or injuring property placed under his charge as sentry, or in charge of his guard, or in conniving at the plunder or injury of such property; — or Sec. ii., Art. 43.

50. In embezzling or fraudulently misapplying public money entrusted to him for any military purpose; — or Sec. ii., Art. 44.

51. In committing any petty offence of a fraudulent or dishonest nature, to the injury of or with the intent to injure the Government, or any person, civil or military; — or Sec. ii., Art. 45.

52. Who shall be guilty of any other disgraceful conduct, being of a cruel, indecent, or unnatural kind;

Shall, on conviction before a general, or district, or garrison court-martial, be liable to suffer such punishments as any such courts are by these Articles of War respectively empowered to award for disgraceful conduct.

And every such offender shall, if not dismissed the service, further be put under stoppages, by sentence of the court, not exceeding half of his monthly pay and allowances, until the amount be made good of any loss or damage arising out of his misconduct.

And if such offender shall be dismissed the service, he shall further be sentenced to forfeit his arrears of pay and allowances due at the time of his discharge, or in such proportion as may be required to make good such loss or damage.—Sec. ii., Art. 46.

Crimes punishable by General Court-martial with Suspension or Reprimand of Officers, or by any Court-martial with Dismissal, Reduction, or Simple Imprisonment, with or without Solitary Confinement, or Loss of Standing on the Roll, of Non-Commissioned Officers and Soldiers.

53. Any officer, or non-commissioned officer who shall strike or otherwise ill-treat any soldier; — or Sec. ii., Art. 47.

54. Any sentry who, in time of peace, shall sleep upon his post, or shall leave it before regularly relieved or without leave; — or Sec. ii., Art. 48.

55. Any officer, or soldier, who shall knowingly enlist a deserter, or connive at his enlistment; — or Sec. ii., Art. 49.

56. Who, directly or indirectly, shall require or accept a bribe, present, or gratification, on the pretence of, or as a consideration for procuring leave of absence, promotion, or any other advantage or indulgence for any officer or soldier; — or Sec. ii., Art. 50.

57. Who, being in command at any post, or on the march, on complaint made to him of any person under his command beating or otherwise ill-treating any person, or extorting from him more than he is obliged to furnish by authority, or disturbing fairs or markets, or committing any kind of riot, shall not see reparation done to the party or parties injured, or if that be impracticable, shall not report the same to his superior officer; — or Sec. ii., Art. 51.

58. Who, being in command of a guard, shall refuse to receive any prisoner duly committed to his charge, or shall without proper authority release any prisoner, or shall suffer, through carelessness or neglect, any prisoner to escape; — or Sec. ii. Act. 52.

59. Who shall quit his guard, or picquet, in time of peace, without being regularly relieved, or without leave; — or Sec. ii., Art. 53.

60. Who shall impede the provost marshal, or his assistants, or any other officer or person legally exercising authority, or refuse to assist him when requiring his aid in the execution of his duty; — or Sec. ii., Art. 54.

61. Who, being on leave of absence, shall have received information from the head quarters of his regiment, or from other competent authority, that his regiment has been ordered on service, and shall not rejoin without delay; — or Sec. ii., Art. 55.

62. Who, in time of peace, shall, by discharging fire-arms, drawing swords, beating drums, or by any other means whatever, intentionally occasion false alarms in camp, garrison, or cantonments; — or Sec. ii., Art. 56.

63. Who shall fail to repair at the time fixed to the parade, or place appointed, for exercise or duty, if not prevented by sickness or some other sufficient cause; — or Sec. ii., Art. 57.

64. Who shall, without urgent necessity, or without leave of his superior officer, quit his company or troop, or the parade; — or Sec. ii., Art. 58.

65. Who shall absent himself without leave, or shall, without sufficient cause, overstay the period for which leave may have been granted him; — or Sec. ii., Art. 59.

66. Any soldier who shall be found two miles from the camp contrary to orders; — or Sec. ii., Art. 60.

67. Who shall, contrary to orders, be absent from his cantonment after tatoo, or from camp after retreat beating; — or Sec. ii. Art. 61.

68. Who shall sell, lose, or designedly or through neglect, waste the ammunition delivered out to him;

Shall, if an officer, on conviction, be sentenced to suspension from rank and pay and allowances, or to be reprimanded in such manner as the Commander-in-Chief may direct;

And, if a soldier, shall, on conviction before a general, or district, or garrison, or regimental court-martial, be sentenced to suffer such punishment as any such courts-martial are by these Articles of War respectively empowered to award;

Provided that such offender shall not be liable to be sentenced to suffer corporal punishment or imprisonment with hard labour.—Sec. ii., Art. 62.

69. All crimes not capital, and all disorders or neglects which officers or soldiers may be guilty of, to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, though not specified in these Articles, are to be taken cognizance of by courts-martial, and to be punished according to the nature and degree of the offence, by the sentence of a general, or district, or garrison, or regimental court-martial; provided that a soldier shall not for any such offences be liable to be sentenced to suffer corporal punishment, or imprisonment with hard labour.—Sec. ii., Art. 63.

Crimes incident to Courts-martial; punishable by General Court-martial with Dismissal or Suspension of Officers, and by any Court-martial with Dismissal or Reduction of Non-commissioned Officers, and with Dismissal or Simple Imprisonment of Soldiers.

70. Any person amenable to these Articles of War, who, when duly summoned before a court-martial, shall not attend, or shall refuse to be sworn, or to make affirmation, or to answer any lawful question, or who shall induce any other person so to offend;

Shall be punished according to the sentence of the same or another court-martial, with dismissal or suspension from rank and pay and allowances, if a commissioned officer; with dismissal, or reduction to the ranks, if a non-commissioned officer; or with dismissal, or imprisonment, if a soldier;

Provided that such person, being a commissioned officer, shall not be liable to be punished by any but a general court-martial, and that no offender punished under the provision of this Article of War shall be sentenced to suffer imprisonment with hard labour, or corporal punishment.—Sec. ii., Art. 64.

71. Any person not amenable to these Articles of War, who, having been summoned before any court-martial, shall refuse or neglect to attend, or who, attending, shall refuse to be sworn, or to make affirmation, or to answer any lawful question, or shall give such testimony as, if given in a Criminal Court, would render him guilty of perjury, or who shall induce any other person so to offend;

Shall be delivered to a magistrate to be proceeded against according to law.—Sec. ii., Art. 65.

72. Any person using menacing or disrespectful words, signs, or gestures, in the presence of a court-martial then sitting, or causing any disorder or riot so as to disturb their proceedings;

Shall be punished according to the condition of the offender and the nature and degree of his offence, by the sentence of the same or another court-martial, if he be amenable to these Articles of War; provided that such offender shall not be liable to be sentenced to corporal punishment or to imprisonment with hard labour, and if not amenable to these Articles of War, the offender shall be delivered over to a magistrate to be proceeded against according to law.—Sec. ii., Art. 66.

Perjury; punishable by General or District Court-martial with Dismissal, and in addition with Fine, or simple Imprisonment, of Officers and Soldiers.

73. Any officer, or soldier, who shall be found guilty of wilfully and knowingly giving false evidence on oath or affirmation on any trial before any general, or other court-martial, or any military court entitled to administer an oath, or of inducing any other person so to offend;

Shall be dismissed the service, and shall be further subject to fine to the amount of his arrears of pay and allowances, or to imprisonment which may extend to three years, according to the sentence of a general, or district, or garrison court-martial.—Sec. ii., Art. 67.

74. Whereas it may be advisable that some of the offences which by the foregoing Articles are directed to be tried by a general, or district, or garrison court-martial, should, in certain cases which admit of less serious notice, be tried by district, or garrison, or regimental courts-martial—in such cases the officer commanding the regiment or corps to which the offender belongs may, if he thinks it expedient and for the good of the service, order the offender to be tried by regimental court-martial, for any offence ordinarily cognizable by district, or garrison court-martial, making, however, a report in every such case, for the information of the general officer commanding the division, of the reasons of his having so proceeded; or such commanding officer may lay a particular statement of the case before the general or other officer having authority to convene general, or district, or garrison courts-martial, under whose command such offender may be serving, with an application for permission to try the offender by district, or garrison, or regimental court-martial; and such general or other officer will exercise his discretion in complying or not with such application; but the permission of such general or other officer so to proceed, shall be entered upon the proceedings at the trial of such offender.

Provided that mutiny shall not be considered one of the offences admitting of such discretionary investigation.

And that in cases where offences designated "disgraceful conduct" in these Articles of War, and admitting of less serious notice, shall be tried by regimental courts-martial, the term "disgraceful conduct" shall be omitted in the charge, and the offender shall on conviction be liable to suffer such punishment as a regimental court-martial is by these Articles of War empowered to award.—Sec. ii., Art. 68.

Offences on the Line of March or on Board Vessels.

75. For offences committed on the line of march, or on board any ship or other vessel, the officer in command of the troops is hereby authorized to try any soldier by a regimental, or detachment court-martial, and to confirm and execute the sentence on the spot;

Provided that such sentence shall in no case exceed that which a regimental court-martial is competent to award, and that the proceedings held in all such cases shall be transmitted for the information of the Commander-in-Chief.—Sec. ii., Art. 69.

76. Whenever any officer or soldier shall commit a crime deserving punishment by court-martial, he shall, by his commanding officer, be put under arrest, if an officer or non-commissioned officer, or if a soldier, be confined, until he shall be either tried by a court-martial, or shall be lawfully discharged by a proper authority; and no officer or soldier who shall be put in such arrest or confinement shall continue in his confinement longer than may be actually unavoidable.

And such process of arrest or confinement, or an attempt to affect such process, shall in no case be omitted where it may be practicable; but where resistance may be made, or from other circumstances such process may be impracticable, the offender or offenders shall be liable to trial and punishment at any subsequent period, within the limitations provided in these Articles of War. —Sec. iii., Art. 70.

77. No person shall be liable to be tried or punished for any offence against these Articles, which shall appear to have been committed more than three years previous to the order directing the assembly of the court-martial whereby he is to be tried, unless the person accused, by reason of his absenting himself, or some other manifest impediment, shall not have been amenable to justice within that period, in which case such person shall be liable to be tried, at any time not exceeding two years after the impediment shall have ceased.—Sec. iii., Art. 71.

78. Any person amenable to these Articles of War, who may commit any offence against the same, may be tried and punished for such offence in any place within the British territories, or elsewhere, where he may have come after the commission of the offence, in the same manner as if the offence had been committed where such trial shall take place.—Sec. iii., Art. 72.

79. The Commander-in-Chief at the presidencies of Fort William, Fort Saint George, and Bombay respectively for the time being, may appoint general or other courts-martial, and confirm, and mitigate or commute, or remit the sentences of such courts; and may issue his warrant to any general or other officer having the command of a body of troops in the service of Her Majesty, or of the East-India Company, empowering such officer to appoint general, or district, or garrison courts-martial, as occasion may require, for the trial of offences committed by any of the officers, or soldiers, or followers in the service of the said Company, being natives of the East Indies, or of other places within the limits of the said Company's Charter, and to confirm and mitigate or commute, or remit the sentences of such courts-martial.—Sec. iii., Art. 73.

80. A general court-martial shall not consist of less than thirteen commissioned officers, unless it be held out of the East-India Company's territories, where such court-martial may consist of seven commissioned officers, if a greater number cannot be conveniently assembled: and no sentence of a general court-martial shall be put in execution until after a report shall have been made of the whole proceedings to the Commander-in-Chief, or to some other person duly authorized to confirm the same, and until his directions shall have been signified thereupon.—Sec. iii., Art. 74.

Powers of a General Court-martial.

81. A general court-martial may sentence any officer or soldier to death or transportation, for any crimes which are by these Articles of War expressly made liable to sentence of death or transportation, and for such crimes only.

And when a commissioned officer shall be convicted of any offence, of which the punishment is not defined in these Articles of War, or is left discretionary, a general court-martial may adjudge such officer to be dismissed the service;—or to be suspended from rank and pay and allowances, for a stated period;—or to be placed lower on the list of his rank, by an alteration of the date of his commission, thereby losing the corresponding benefit of length of service; and the court shall in every such sentence specify the extent or degree of suspension or reduction which they shall so adjudge;—or the court may sentence such officer to be reprimanded in such manner as the Commander-in-Chief may direct.

And a general court-martial may sentence any non-commissioned officer to be reduced to the ranks; or may sentence any non-commissioned officer or soldier to be dismissed the service, or to be placed lower in the list of the rank which he holds (which shall not involve any forfeiture of service or other advantage, except that of standing), or may sentence any soldier to suffer corporal punishment not exceeding fifty lashes;—or imprisonment with or without hard labour not exceeding two years;—and to be kept in solitary confinement for any portion or portions of such imprisonment not exceeding twenty-eight days at a time, nor eighty-four days in any one year, with intervals between the periods of solitary confinement of not less duration than such periods of solitary confinement. Provided that no soldier shall be kept in solitary confinement more than eighty-four days in any one year, whether by the sentence of one or more courts-martial, or by order of his commanding officer.

And a general court-martial may, in addition either to corporal punishment, or to imprisonment, as aforesaid, sentence a soldier to forfeiture of all advantage as to additional pay and to pension on discharge, which might have otherwise accrued from the length or nature of his former service; or to forfeiture of such advantage absolutely, whether it might have accrued from past service, or might accrue from future service, according to the nature of the case, for disgraceful conduct.

And a general court-martial may, in addition to the punishment of dismissal, sentence any officer or soldier to forfeit his arrears of pay and allowances due at the time of his discharge, or such proportion thereof as may be required, to make good any loss or damage arising out of his misconduct:—And, in addition to any punishment not involving dismissal from the service, may sentence any officer or soldier to be put under stoppages not exceeding two-thirds of his pay and allowances in the case of an officer, and not exceeding half of his pay and allowances in the case of a non-commissioned officer or soldier, until the amount of such loss or damage be made good. —Sec. iii., Art. 75.

82. In cases wherein a sentence of death shall have been awarded by a general court-martial, for any offence against discipline for which sentence of death is awardable under these Articles of War, the Commander-in-Chief may confirm such sentence and cause it to be carried into effect, or may, instead of causing such sentence to be carried into effect, order the offender, if an officer, to be transported for life, or to be imprisoned for any term of years, or to be dismissed; and, if a soldier, to be transported for life, or to be imprisoned with or without hard labour, either for life, or for a certain term of years, and with or without solitary confinement (to be regulated as aforesaid), as to the Commander-in-Chief may seem meet.

In cases of commissioned officers sentenced to transportation, the Commander-in-Chief may in lieu thereof order the offender to be imprisoned for any term of years, or to be dismissed. And in cases of commissioned officers sentenced to be dismissed from the service, the Commander-in-Chief may, in lieu of such punishment, direct, that the offender be suspended from rank and pay and allowances for a certain period, to be distinctly specified by the Commander-in-Chief.

And the Commander-in-Chief may commute a sentence of transportation passed on a soldier, to imprisonment with or without hard labour, and with or without solitary confinement (to be regulated as aforesaid); and such imprisonment may be either for the same period for which transportation shall have been awarded, or for any lesser period.

And the Commander-in-Chief may commute a sentence of corporal punishment to dismissal from the service; or, in the case of a non-commissioned officer, may mitigate such sentence to reduction to the ranks; or, in the case of a non-commissioned officer or soldier, may commute such sentence to imprisonment without hard labour, and with or without solitary confinement (to be regulated as aforesaid), for any period not exceeding two years.

In cases of non-commissioned officers sentenced to be dismissed from the service, the Commander-in-Chief may, in lieu of such punishment, direct that the offender be reduced to the ranks, or placed lower in the list of the rank which he holds (which shall not involve any forfeiture of service or other advantage, except that of standing).

And in cases of offenders sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour, the Commander-in-Chief may mitigate such sentence by causing the offender to be reduced to the ranks, in the case of a non-commissioned officer; or, in the case of a non-commissioned officer or soldier, by directing that he be dismissed from the service, or suffer imprisonment without hard labour, and with or without solitary confinement (to be regulated as aforesaid), for any period not exceeding that for which he shall have been sentenced to such imprisonment with hard labour.—Sec. iii., Art. 76.

83. A district, or garrison court-martial shall consist of not less than seven commissioned officers, except in situations where that number cannot be conveniently assembled, when such court may consist of not less than five commissioned officers. And such district, or garrison court-martial may be composed of officers of the same regiment, and shall be assembled in conformity with the orders of the Commander-in-Chief.

And the sentence of a district, or garrison court-martial shall be confirmed by the Commander-in-Chief, or by some officer duly authorized to confirm the same.

84. And the Commander-in-Chief is empowered to remit, or mitigate, or commute the sentences of such courts-martial, in the same manner as the sentences of general courts-martial, and to delegate to or withhold from commanding officers the power of convening such courts-martial, and of confirming, remitting, mitigating, or commuting the sentences of such courts (not including forfeiture of pay or pension or other advantage), as the Commander-in-Chief may deem to be most expedient.

And in case of any sentence, including forfeiture of additional pay or of pension on discharge, or of any prospective advantage, such sentence shall not be carried into effect until confirmed by the Commander-in-Chief; and all forfeitures of any present or prospective advantage shall be restorable by the same authority.—Sec. iii., Art. 77.

85. A district or garrison court-martial may sentence any non-commissioned officer to be reduced to the ranks, or may sentence any non-commissioned officer or soldier to be dismissed from the service; or to be placed lower in the list of the rank which he holds (which shall not involve any forfeiture of service or other advantage, except that of standing); or may sentence any soldier to suffer corporal punishment not exceeding fifty lashes, or imprisonment with or without hard labour not exceeding one year, and to be kept in solitary confinement (to be regulated as aforesaid).

And such court-martial may, in addition either to corporal punishment or to imprisonment as aforesaid, sentence a soldier to forfeiture of all advantage as to additional pay, and to pension on discharge, which might have otherwise accrued from the length or nature of his former service, or to forfeiture of such advantage absolutely, whether it might have accrued from past service, or might accrue from future service, according to the nature of the case, for disgraceful conduct.

And such court-martial may, in addition to the punishment of dismissal, sentence any non-commissioned officer or soldier to forfeit his arrears of pay and allowances due at the time of his discharge, or such proportion thereof as may be required to make good any loss or damage arising out of his misconduct; and in addition to any punishment not involving dismissal from the service, may sentence any non-commissioned officer or soldier to be put under stoppages not exceeding half of his pay and allowances, until the amount of such loss or damage be made good.—Sec. iii., Art. 78.

86. A regimental court-martial shall consist of not less than five commissioned officers (unless it be found impracticable to assemble that number, when three may be sufficient), and shall be assembled by order of the officer commanding the regiment. And no sentence of a regimental court-martial shall be of force until the commanding officer shall have confirmed the same. Provided that such commanding officer shall have power to remit all sentences whatever passed by such court, and thereupon to cause the offender to be released and to return to his duty.—Sec. iii., Art. 79.

87. And such commanding officer shall have power to confirm and carry into effect or to mitigate all sentences whatever passed by such court, and to commute a sentence of corporal punishment to imprisonment without hard labour, and with or without solitary confinement (to be regulated as aforesaid), for any period for which such court is competent to sentence an offender to suffer imprisonment, and in the same manner; and to mitigate a sentence of dismissal in the case of a non-commissioned officer, to reduction to the ranks, and to commute a sentence of imprisonment with hard labour, to dismissal; or to mitigate such sentence to reduction to the ranks, or to imprisonment without hard labour.—Sec. iii., Art. 79.

Powers of a Regimental Court-martial.

88. A regimental court-martial may sentence any non-commissioned officer to be reduced to the ranks; or may sentence any non-commissioned officer or soldier to be dismissed from the service; or to be placed lower in the list of the rank which he holds (which shall not involve any forfeiture of service or other advantage, except that of standing), or may sentence any soldier to suffer corporal punishment not exceeding fifty lashes; or imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding six calendar months, and to be kept in solitary confinement (to be regulated as aforesaid).

Any such court-martial may, in addition to the punishment of dismissal, sentence any non-commissioned officer or soldier to forfeit his arrears of pay and allowances due at the time of his discharge, or such proportion thereof as may be required to make good any loss or damage arising out of his misconduct; and in addition to any punishment not involving dismissal from the service, may sentence any non-commissioned officer or soldier to be put under stoppages not exceeding half of his pay and allowances, until the amount of such loss or damage be made good.—Sec. iii., Art. 80.

89. An officer commanding any detachment of his own regiment may assemble regimental detachment courts-martial; and an officer commanding a detachment, consisting of men of different corps, may assemble detachment or line courts-martial; and all such courts shall be constituted in the same manner as regimental courts-martial under the provisions of these Articles of War, and shall have the like powers.

And the provisions of these Articles of War relating to courts-martial held in regiments, shall be taken to apply to courts-martial held in detachments in all practicable cases.

Provided that no officer on detached command of less than four troops or companies, or of detachments numerically equal to four troops or companies, and not being on the line of march or on board any ship or other vessel, shall carry into effect any punishment awarded by a court-martial held by his order, until the sentence shall have been confirmed by the officer commanding the regiment to which the offender belongs, or by the nearest superior officer holding a command of not less than a regiment (who is hereby authorized to confirm the same, in like manner as an officer commanding a regiment is empowered to do); except in detached situations beyond sea or out of the British territories, or when on service in the field, or in cases where an immediate example is necessary and reference cannot be made to such commanding or superior officer without detriment to the service, when the officer commanding such detachment may exercise the powers which are vested in an officer commanding a regiment.—Sec. iii., Art. 81.

90. At all courts-martial it shall be competent to the officer convening the court to instruct the court, that, should the prisoner be found guilty, and imprisonment form part of the sentence, no portion of the imprisonment should be solitary; or should corporal punishment be awardable to the offender, that it shall not be awarded in the particular case, and the court will govern itself accordingly; and such instruction shall be in writing, and shall be attached to the proceedings of the court.—Sec. iii., Art. 82.

Execution of Sentences of Courts-Martial.

91. In every sentence of death awarded by a general court-martial, the court shall specify that the offender shall "suffer death by being hanged by the neck until he be dead," or "by being shot to death," as the court in their discretion shall deem expedient; and such sentence, if confirmed, shall be carried into effect accordingly.—Sec. iii., Art. 83.

92. Whenever the sentence of a general court-martial shall adjudge transportation, or sentence of death shall be commuted by competent authority to transportation, any of the sudder courts shall give effect to such sentence, or commuted sentence, on the same being certified to the court under the authority of the Commander-in-Chief.

And whenever any sentence of a court-martial shall adjudge imprisonment with hard labour or with solitary confinement, or both, or whenever the sentence of a court-martial shall be commuted to any such imprisonment, it shall be the duty of every judge, magistrate, sheriff, or other officer in charge of a gaol, to give effect to such sentence, on the offender being delivered into his custody, and on being furnished with a copy of the sentence by the officer commanding the station, or regiment, or detachment within which the trial is held.—Sec. iii., Art. 84.

93. Whenever any soldier shall be sentenced to imprisonment for life, or a sentence of death shall be commuted to imprisonment for life, it shall be lawful for the Commander-in-Chief to order such offender to be transported beyond sea for life, and such order shall thereupon be made, unless there should be special reasons inducing the Commander-in-Chief to think such prisoner not a proper subject for transportation.—Sec. iii., Art. 85.

94. Persons sentenced to imprisonment by courts-martial shall be imprisoned in any public prison, or in any other fit place which the Commander-in-Chief shall from time to time direct.—Sec. iii., Art. 86.

95. Every soldier sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour shall, previous to undergoing such punishment, be struck off the strength of his corps from the date of confirmation of such sentence; and no soldier who has undergone such punishment for any period shall be capable of being re-admitted in the ranks, or of receiving pension on discharge.—Sec. iii., Art. 87.

96. Offenders sentenced to dismissal for disgraceful conduct;

And offenders subject to corporal punishment, or to imprisonment with hard labour for disgraceful conduct, shall, on any such sentence being confirmed, be dismissed with ignominy.—Sec. iii., Art. 88.

97. In every case wherein a fine, or forfeiture of arrears of pay, or stoppages shall be adjudged by a court-martial, any pay or public money due to the offender, or that may become due to him, shall be available, with the sanction of the Commander-in-Chief, for the payment of the amount so adjudged.

And no soldier sentenced to pay a fine or to stoppages to make good any loss or damage arising out of his misconduct shall be continued under forfeiture or stoppages under any one such sentence for any period exceeding one year, and no soldier shall be at any one time placed under forfeiture or stoppages exceeding in the whole the amount of half of his pay and allowances, nor be liable to be put under stoppages prospectively while actually under stoppages to the amount of half of his pay and allowances.—Sec. iii., Art. 89.

Forms of Proceeding.

98. Trials by courts-martial may be carried on between the hours of six in the morning and four in the afternoon, and not otherwise, except in cases which may require an immediate example.—Sec. iii., Art. 90.

99. At general courts-martial a judge advocate, or an European officer of not less than ten years' service, shall be appointed to conduct the proceedings.

At all courts-martial inferior to general, an European officer of not less than four years' standing in the service, except in cases where no officer of that standing may be available, or the adjutant of the regiment, shall be appointed to conduct the proceedings.—Sec. iii., Art. 91.

100. An interpreter shall be appointed to all courts-martial, and any interpreter or other competent person available at the station where the court-martial may sit shall be appointed as occasion may require by the officer commanding at such station, on application from the judge advocate or superintending officer at such court-martial. But in situations where the services of an interpreter or other competent person are not available, the superintending officer at the court-martial shall perform the duty of interpreter.—Sec. iii., Art. 92.

101. At all courts-martial the senior officer shall sit as president without being so appointed by warrant. Provided that all subadar majors are to take precedence according to the dates of their commissions, and above all native officers holding the rank of subadar or jemedar, and that sirdar bahadoors and bahadoors shall rank only according to their respective commissions of subadar major, subadar, or jemadar.—Rissaldars and rissaidars will take rank with subadars, and naib rissaldars with jemadars, according to the dates of their respective commissions.

In case of the death or unavoidable absence of the president, the next senior member shall take the place of president, and the trial shall proceed, provided that the court shall still consist of at least the number of members of which such court is directed to consist by these Articles of War.—Sec. iii., Art. 93.

102. No finding or sentence of a court-martial shall be revised more than once, and no evidence shall be received on such revision. For the purpose of such revision the president and all the members shall be convened if possible. But if any of them should be unavoidably absent, the remaining members may proceed with such revision, provided they are not fewer than the smallest number directed in these Articles respectively. When all the same members do not meet, the circumstances are to be duly certified on the face of the proceedings.—Sec. iii., Art. 94.

103. All the members of a court-martial are to preserve order, and in giving their votes upon all matters are to begin with the youngest; and in all cases where a sentence of death may not be awarded, the decision shall be by the majority of members present, provided the number of members present be not less than that required by the preceding articles; but in case of an equality of votes, the decision shall be in favour of the prisoner; the president at a court-martial shall vote with the other members, but shall have no casting vote. Provided that in cases of an equality of votes upon other questions than the finding and the sentence, the president shall have a casting vote.—Sec. iii., Art. 95.

104. No sentence of death shall be given against any offender by a court-martial, unless two-thirds of the members present concur therein, or four where the court consist of five members, or five where the court consist of seven.—Sec. iii., Art. 96.

105. On the assembly of a court-martial, the judge advocate or superintending European officer shall administer to the interpreter the following solemn affirmation:

"I, A. B., solemnly affirm in the presence of Almighty God, that I will faithfully interpret and translate the proceedings of the court, and that I will not divulge the sentence until it shall have been published by authority, and further that I will not disclose or discover the vote or opinion of any particular member of the court unless required to give evidence thereof by a court of justice or court-martial, in due course of law."

In case of the unavoidable absence of an interpreter, the European superintending officer of a court-martial inferior to general shall make the solemn affirmation prescribed for the interpreter.

The judge advocate or superintending officer shall then cause the following solemn affirmation to be made by each member:—

"I, A. B., solemnly affirm in the presence of Almighty God, that I will duly administer justice according to the Articles of War, without partiality, favour, or affection; and if any doubt shall arise, then, according to my conscience, the best of my understanding, and the custom of war in the like cases; and that I will not divulge the sentence of the court until it shall be published by authority; and further, that I will not disclose or discover the vote or opinion of any particular member of the court, unless required to give evidence thereof by a court of justice or a court-martial in due course of law."

The following solemn affirmation shall then be administered by the interpreter to the judge advocate or superintending officer:—

"I, A. B., solemnly affirm in the presence of Almighty God, that I will not upon any account whatsoever disclose or discover the vote or opinion of any particular member of the court-martial, unless required to give evidence thereof as a witness by a court of justice or a court-martial in due course of law, and that I will not, unless it be necessary for the due discharge of my official duties, disclose the sentence of the court, until it shall be published by authority."

Provided, that it shall be necessary to re-administer these solemn affirmations on the commencement of fresh trials before the same court.—Sec. iii., Art. 97.

106. All persons who give evidence at a court-martial are to be examined on oath according to the forms of their respective religions or on affirmation; and persons of the Hindoo or Mahomedan persuasion, and other persons making affirmation, shall make affirmation to the following effect:—

"I solemnly affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that what I shall state shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

And if any person making such affirmation as aforesaid, shall wilfully and falsely state any matter or thing which, if the same had been sworn, would have amounted to perjury, every such offender shall be subject to the same punishment to which persons convicted of perjury are subject.—Sec. iii., Art. 98.

107. In all cases where persons required as witnesses before a court-martial may not be amenable to military law, the judge advocate or commanding officer shall transmit to the magistrate within whose jurisdiction the witness may reside, his summons for the attendance of such person, and the magistrate shall cause the witness to be duly summoned.—Sec. iii., Art. 99.

Powers and Duties of Provost Marshals.

108. For the prompt and instant repression of all irregularities and crimes which may be committed by troops in the field and on the line of march, provost marshals shall be appointed by the Commander-in-Chief, and their powers shall be regulated according to the established usages of war and rules of the service; their duties are to take charge of prisoners confined for offences of a general description; to preserve good order and discipline; to prevent breaches of both by soldiers and followers of the army, and to punish on the spot, on the same day, those whom they may find in the immediate act of committing breaches of good order and military discipline; provided that the punishment be limited to the necessity of the case, and shall accord with the orders which the provost marshals may from time to time receive from the commander of the forces in the field; and that whatever may be the crime, the provost marshal or his assistant shall see the offender commit the act, for which summary punishment may be inflicted; or if the provost marshal or his assistant should not see the offender actually commit the crime, but that sufficient proof can be established of the offender's guilt, a report shall be made to the commander of the army in the field, who is hereby empowered to deal with the case as he may deem most conducive to the maintenance of good order and military discipline. The duties of provost marshals being limited to the punishment of offenders whom they may detect in the actual commission of any crime, the general commanding the forces in the field will cause them to exercise the powers entrusted to them in such manner and under such circumstances as he may consider best calculated to prevent and instantly to repress crimes injurious to the discipline of the East-India Company's army and the public service.—Sec. iii., Art. 100.

Trials by European Courts-martial.

109. At any presidency where the native troops have hitherto been authorized to claim to be tried by European courts-martial, every person amenable to these Articles of War, and who may be under orders for trial by a court-martial, shall have the right to claim to be tried by European officers; and should he make such claim, the court, whether general, district, or garrison, or regimental, shall be composed of European commissioned officers, and the number of members and the proceedings shall be governed in all respects by the provisions of these articl e s.

And it shall be competent to the Governor-General of India in Council, by a general order, to authorize the native troops of any of the presidencies to claim to be tried in like manner by European courts-martial.—Sec. iii., Art. 101.

SECTION IV.

Effects of the Dead.

110. When any officer or soldier, or any person receiving public pay drawn by any officer in charge of a public department belonging to the army, may die, or be killed in the service, the commanding officer of the regiment or party, or officer in charge of the department, shall, if no heir or executor be present, secure his effects, and direct an inventory thereof to be taken, a duplicate of which is to be lodged in the office of the adjutant, or officer in charge of the department.—Sec. iv., Art. 102.

111. If there be no heir or executor on the spot, the effects are to be publicly sold; the commanding officer of the regiment or party, or officer in charge of the department, after discharging the debts of the deceased, viz. the expense of funeral ceremonies, his debts in camp or quarters, and regimental debts of every description, shall account for the residue to the heir or heirs declared by will, whether written or verbal, or nominated in the regimental register, or in failure of such, to the legal representative of the deceased; and in the event of no executor, heir, or other representative of the deceased attending and establishing his claim within twelve months from the date of the casualty, the amount in the hands of the officer having charge of the estate is to be remitted to the general treasury at the presidency.—Sec. iv., Art. 105.

SECTION V.

Miscellaneous.

112. The effects of deserters are to be publicly sold, and the proceeds after payment of regimental debts, remitted by the officer commanding the corps to which the deserter belongs, to the general treasury at the presidency, or appropriated according to the rules obtaining at such presidency.—Sec. v., Art. 104.

113. All powers and provisions contained in these Articles relating to the Commander-in-Chief shall be construed to extend to the Commander-in-Chief at any presidency, and to the officer commanding the forces for the time being at any presidency, unless when otherwise provided.

All powers and provisions contained in these Articles relating to soldiers shall be construed to extend to non-commissioned officers, unless when otherwise provided.—Sec. v., Art. 105.

114. When any portion of the troops belonging to one presidency shall be serving within the limits of another presidency, such troops shall be considered as placed, during such service under the orders and authority of the Commander-in-Chief, or commanding officer of the forces of the presidency within which they are serving, for all the purposes of these Articles of War, in the same manner as though they belonged to such presidency; and all the provisions of these Articles of War, which relate to the trial and punishment of offenders belonging to the presidency within which the trial is held, are hereby declared applicable to the trial and punishment of offenders amenable to these Articles of War serving within such presidency. Provided always, that it shall be lawful for the Governor-General in Council, in his executive capacity, to direct that the troops, or any part thereof, of any presidency, whilst serving without the limits of such presidency, shall continue under the orders and authority of the Commander-in-Chief, or commanding officer of the forces of the presidency to which they belong for all purposes of these Articles.—Sec. v., Art. 106.

115. Any officer commanding any portion of the East-India Company's troops which may at any time be serving in any place out of her Majesty's dominions, or of the possessions or territories which are or may be under the Government of the said Company, or of the territories of those states in alliance with the said Company in which the said Company's forces are permanently stationed, shall, upon complaint made to him of any offence committed against the property or person of any inhabitant or resident in any such countries, by any person serving with or belonging to the Company's army, being under the immediate command of any such officer, summon and cause to assemble a general court-martial, which shall consist of not less than three officers, for the purpose of trying any such person, notwithstanding any such officer shall not have received any warrant empowering him to assemble courts-martial; and every such court-martial shall have the same powers in regard to summoning and examining witnesses, trial of, and sentence upon any such offenders, as are granted by these Articles to general courts-martial; provided that no sentence of any such court-martial shall be executed until the General Commanding in Chief the army to which the division, brigade, detachment, or party to which any person so tried, convicted, and adjudged to suffer punishment shall belong, shall have approved and confirmed the same; except where such sentence shall not exceed the powers granted by these Articles to a district or garrison court-martial, in which case the officer by whom the court is convened is hereby authorized to confirm, or commute, or mitigate, or remit the same, reporting the proceedings to the said General Commanding in Chief.—Sec. v., Art. 107.

116. General courts-martial only shall have the power to try commissioned officers, or to pass sentence of death or transportation on any offenders.—Sec. v., Art. 108.

117. No person, being acquitted or convicted before a court-martial of any offence, shall be liable to be tried a second time by the same or any other court-martial for the same offence. Provided always, that after a soldier shall have been found guilty by a court-martial of any military offence, such court-martial shall inquire into and receive evidence of any previous conviction of such soldier before a court-martial or a court of justice, and shall inquire into the general character of such soldier, for the purpose of affixing the punishment to which he is liable to be sentenced for the offence of which he has been so found guilty.

Provided that no such evidence shall in any case be received until the court shall have ascertained that such soldier had previously to his trial received notice of the intention to produce such evidence on the same. And it is hereby directed, that such notice shall be given to all soldiers previous to trial.—Sec. v., Art. 109.

118. No non-commissioned officer shall be reduced to the ranks but by the sentence of a court-martial, or by the order of the Commander-in-Chief of the presidency to which the offender shall belong. Provided that no non-commissioned officer shall be reduced to the ranks for any limited period; nor suspended from his rank; nor reduced from a higher to a lower grade of non-commissioned officer; nor sentenced to suffer corporal punishment or imprisonment, without being first reduced to the ranks.—Sec. v., Art. 110.

119. Any officer or soldier thinking himself wronged by his superior or other officer is to complain thereof to the commanding officer of his troop or company, by whom, if the grievance be not redressed, such officer, non-commissioned officer, or soldier, may complain to the commanding officer of his regiment, who is hereby required to examine into such complaint, or remit it to his superior authority as the circumstances may require; but if the complaint should appear to be frivolous or groundless, the party preferring it shall be liable to be punished according to the sentence of a general or other court-martial in manner hereinbefore mentioned; provided that such offender shall not be liable to be sentenced to dismissal, nor to suffer corporal punishment or imprisonment with hard labour.—Sec. v., Art. 111.

120. In case of light offences, a commanding officer may, without the intervention of a court-martial, award extra drill with or without pack, of a period not exceeding fifteen days; restriction to barrack limits not exceeding fifteen days; confinement in the quarter guard or defaulter's room, not exceeding seven days; removal from staff situations or acting appointments; or may order soldiers to be employed in piling and unpiling shot; and in cleaning accoutrements of men in hospital; but none of these descriptions of punishment shall be awardable by sentence of a court-martial. And a commanding officer may award solitary confinement not exceeding seven days.

Provided that soldiers in confinement shall be liable to be ordered to attend ordinary drill.—Sec. v., Art. 112.

121. Any officer or soldier, who shall be taken prisoner by the enemy, shall forfeit all claim to pay and allowances during the period of his remaining a prisoner, and until he shall again return to the service, when, if he can establish, before a court-martial, that he was unavoidably taken prisoner in the course of service, and resisted as long as he was able, and that he hath not served with or assisted the enemy, and that he hath returned as soon as possible to the service, he shall be entitled to receive either the whole, or such portion of his arrears of pay and allowances as the Government of the presidency to which he may belong shall determine, after the opinion or finding of such court-martial shall have been confirmed by the Commander-in-Chief.

No native officer, or soldier, or public follower in the military service of the East-India Company, shall be entitled to pay or allowances when imprisoned under the sentence of a court-martial or a commuted sentence, or under the sentence of a Court of Criminal Judicature, but shall be clothed and subsisted at such rates, or in such manner, as the Governor-General of India in Council may from time to time order.—Sec. v., Art. 113, and Act XXXVI., 1850, sec. ii.

122. In all places within the jurisdiction of any civil judicature, established by appointment of her Majesty or of the said Company, officers and soldiers accused of capital crimes, or of violence, or of offences against person and property, punishable by such civil judicature, shall be delivered over to a magistrate to be proceeded against according to law.

And all officers and soldiers are hereby required to assist the officers of justice in apprehending and securing any person so accused.—Sec. vi., Art. 114.

Crimes to be tried by Courts-martial where no regular Criminal Tribunals exist.

123. In any place within the limits of the charter of the East-India Company, whether in or out of the British territories, where there may be no civil judicature appointed by her Majesty or the said Company for the trial of persons accused of offences ordinarily cognizable by civil tribunals, such offences when committed by officers or soldiers shall be cognizable by courts-martial.—Sec. vi., Art. 115.

124. General courts-martial shall have cognizance, ordinarily, of offences punishable with death;

Transportation for life;

Imprisonment for life;

Imprisonment for a period which may extend to fourteen years;

Imprisonment for a period which may extend to seven years.—Sec. vi., Art. 116.

125. District, or garrison courts-martial shall have cognizance, ordinarily, of offences punishable with imprisonment for a period which may extend to three years, and, by special order, of offences ordinarily cognizable by general courts-martial not liable to the punishment of death or transportation, with power to sentence persons convicted of such offences to imprisonment for any period not exceeding three years.—Sec. vi., Art. 117.

126. Regimental, detachment, or line courts-martial, shall have cognizance, ordinarily, of offences punishable with imprisonment for a period not exceeding six calendar months, and, by special order, of offences ordinarily cognizable by district or garrison courts-martial, with power to sentence persons convicted of such offences to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six calendar months.—Sec. vi., Art. 118.

GENERAL COURTS-MARTIAL.

Punishment of Death.

127. Any officer or soldier who shall be convicted by a general court-martial of the crime of "murder" shall be sentenced to suffer death by being hanged by the neck until he be dead.

If any injury intended against any one person shall, through mistake or accident, light upon another person, and kill him, such killing shall be deemed to be murder, whensoever it would have been murder had the person against whom such injury was intended been killed.

Whensoever death shall result from any injury wilfully caused by an offender, but without his intending such injury to light on any person in particular, such offender shall be guilty of murder, if the offence would have been murder had he intended to do the injury to the person killed.—Sec. vi., Art. 119.

Offences punishable by Transportation for Life.

128. Any officer or soldier who shall be convicted by a general court-martial of any of the offences hereinafter mentioned, accompanied with an attempt to commit murder, or with wounding or other corporal injury to any person endangering the life of such person, that is to say,—

1st. Breaking, or attempting to break, by day or night, into any dwelling-house, tent, boat, or other habitation, or into any building or place used for the preservation of property, with the intent to rob or steal;

2nd. Robbery or attempt to rob;

3rd. Stealing or attempting to steal in a house, or from the person;

Shall be sentenced by such general court-martial to imprisonment with or without hard labour and transportation for life.—Sec. vi., Art. 120.

Offences punishable by Imprisonment which may extend to Fourteen Years.

129. Any officer or soldier who shall be convicted by a general court-martial of any of the offences specified in the last Article, accompanied with wounding or other corporal injury to any person not endangering the life of such person;—or Sec. vi., Art. 121.

130. Of wounding, or administering poison with intent to murder, whether the person wounded or to whom poison is administered, be the person whom the offender intended to murder or another;—or Sec. vi., Art. 122.

131. Of robbery by open violence, or dacoity, that is to say, going forth in the day or in the night with an offensive weapon, or in a gang with or without an offensive weapon, with the intention of committing robbery, and by force or intimidation robbing or attempting to rob any person in any place, or attacking by open violence any house, or place of habitation, or any place in which property may be kept, for the purpose of robbery;—or Sec. vi., Art. 123.

132. Of breaking, or attempting to break, into any dwelling-house, tent, boat, or other place of habitation, between sunset and sunrise, with an intent to rob or steal;—or Sec. vi., Art. 124.

133. Of breaking into any such place of habitation, or into any place used for the preservation of property, and stealing therefrom property the value of which shall exceed one hundred Company's rupees;—or Sec. vi., Art. 125.

134. Of purchasing or receiving plundered or stolen property, knowing it to have been obtained by robbery by open violence, or by theft or robbery aggravated as described in Article 120 or Article 121;

Shall be sentenced by such general court-martial to imprisonment with or without hard labour for a period not exceeding fourteen years.—Sec. vi., Art. 126.

Offences punishable by Imprisonment not exceeding Seven Years.

135. Any officer or soldier who shall be convicted by a general court-martial of culpable homicide not amounting to wilful murder;—or Sec. vi., Art. 127.

136. Of premeditated affray, attended with homicide, or severe wounding, or other aggravating circumstance;—or Sec. vi., Art. 128.

137. Of intentionally wounding, maiming, or otherwise doing corporal injury to any person;—or Sec. vi., Art. 129.

138. Of accidentally wounding, maiming, or otherwise doing corporal injury to any person, with the intention of doing such injury to another person;—or Sec. vi., Art. 130.

139. Of breaking into any dwelling-house, tent, boat, or other place of habitation, or into any place used for the preservation of property, between sunrise and sunset, with intent to steal therein;—or Sec. vi., Art. 131.

140. Of stealing from any habitation, or from any person, any property exceeding three hundred Company's rupees in value;—or Sec. vi., Art. 132.

141. Of having purchased any property so stolen, exceeding in value three hundred Company's rupees, knowing it to have been stolen;—or Sec. vi., Art. 133.

142. Of arson;—or Sec. vi., Art. 134.

143. Of an unnatural crime;—or Sec. vi., Art. 135.

144. Of rape;—or Sec. vi., Art. 136.

145. Of enticing and taking away, or of causing to be enticed or taken away for any unlawful purpose, any unmarried woman under the age of fifteen years;—or Sec. vi., Art. 137.

146. Of stealing a child under the age of eight years;—or Sec. vi., Art. 138.

147. Of counterfeiting, or causing or procuring the fraudulent fabrication or alteration of any written deed, or printed paper, of any description; or any counterfeit seal or signature thereto; or the illicit imitation of any public stamp or stamped paper, established by Government; or of fraudulently issuing and publishing as true, or of fraudulently giving effect, or attempting to give effect to fabricated deeds and papers knowing them to be forgeries; or of using, selling, or disposing of such stamped paper, knowing the same to be counterfeit;—or Sec. vi., Art. 139.

148. Of forging, or procuring to be forged, any counterfeit coin, in imitation of any of the gold, silver, or copper coin of the British Government in India; or of any coin usually received as money in the British territories; or of clipping, filing, drilling, or defacing any such coin; or of paying or tendering in payment counterfeit coin, bank notes, or other securities for money, knowing the same to be counterfeit, although such notes or securities shall be incomplete;

Shall be sentenced by such general court-martial to suffer imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding seven years.—Sec. vi., Art. 140.

DISTRICT OR GARRISON COURTS-MARTIAL.

Offences Punishable by Imprisonment not exceeding Three Years.

149. It shall be competent to the Commander-in-Chief, and to any officer having authority, to convene district or garrison courts-martial, to cause offenders, not being commissioned officers, accused of any of the offences specified in the preceding Articles of War, for which the punishment of death, or imprisonment, or transportation for life is not provided therein, to be tried for such offences before a district or garrison court-martial, and such court shall have power, on conviction, to sentence any such offender to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding three years.—Sec. vi., Art. 141.

150. Any officer or soldier who shall be convicted by a general, district, or garrison court-martial, of stealing from any habitation, or from the person, any property, of value not exceeding three hundred Company's rupees but exceeding fifty Company's rupees; — or

Sec. vi., Art. 142.

151. Of having purchased or received any stolen property of value not exceeding three hundred Company's rupees, knowing it to have been stolen, but not under aggravating circumstances; — or Sec. vi., Art. 143.

152. Of having stolen property in his possession, and of having kept possession of such property after becoming aware of its having been stolen;

Shall be sentenced by such court to suffer imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding three years.—Sec. vi., Art. 144.

REGIMENTAL, DETACHMENT, OR LINE COURTS-MARTIAL.

Offences Punishable by Imprisonment not exceeding Six Months.

153. It shall be competent to any officer having authority to convene a court-martial, to cause offenders, not being commissioned officers, accused of any of the offences specified in the preceding Articles of War, for which no punishment exceeding imprisonment, with hard labour, for three years is therein provided, to be tried before regimental, or detachment, or line courts-martial, and any such court shall have power, on conviction, to sentence any such offender to suffer imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding six calendar months.—Sec. vi., Art. 145.

Offences Punishable by Imprisonment from Six Months to One Year, according to the Description of the Court.

154. Any officer or soldier who shall be convicted of stealing property to the value of fifty Company's rupees, or of less value; — or Sec. vi., Art. 146.

155. Of assault or affray, unattended with homicide, severe wounding, or aggravating circumstances;

Shall be sentenced to suffer imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding one year, by the award of a general, or district, or garrison court-martial; or, for any period not exceeding six calendar months, by the award of a regimental, or detachment, or line court-martial.—Sec. vi., Art. 147.

Offences Punishable by Imprisonment from Six Months to Two Years, according to the Description of the Court.

156. Any officer or soldier who shall be convicted of resisting the process of a magistrate or police-officer; — or Sec. vi., Art. 148.

157. Of having committed any offence against person or property, for which provision is not already made in the preceding Articles of War;

Shall be sentenced to suffer imprisonment for any period not exceeding two years, by the award of a general court-martial; not exceeding one year, by the award of a district or garrison court-martial; and not exceeding six calendar months, by the award of a regimental, or detachment, or line court-martial.—Sec. vi., Art. 149.

158. Any officer or soldier who shall be convicted by a general, or district, or garrison, or regimental court-martial, of having been present, aiding and abetting, or of having caused, instigated, or procured, the commission of any of the offences specified in any of the preceding Articles, shall be sentenced by such court to the punishment therein provided for such offence, and awardable by general, or district, or garrison, or regimental courts-martial, respectively.—Sec. vi., Art. 150.

159. No sentence of death shall be carried into effect until confirmed by the Commander-in-Chief, nor, if the trial shall have been held within the British territories forming part of either of the presidencies of Fort William, Fort St. George, and Bombay, respectively, until such confirmation shall have been concurred in by the Government of the presidency where such trial shall have been held.—Sec. vi., Art. 151.

160. The Commander-in-Chief is authorized at his discretion to confirm any sentence of death, or to remit such sentence, or to commute it into imprisonment with hard labour and transportation for life, or into imprisonment with hard labour for any term of years.—Sec. vi., Art. 152.

161. No sentence of transportation shall be carried into effect until confirmed by the Commander-in-Chief, and the Commander-in-Chief is authorized at his discretion to confirm any such sentence, or to commute it into imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period of time. —Sec. vi., Art. 153.

162. It shall be competent to any officer having authority to confirm the sentence of a general or other court-martial, to remit any sentence passed by such court-martial, or to mitigate such sentence by substituting simple imprisonment for imprisonment with hard labour, or by reducing the period of imprisonment, or by directing the discharge of the offender in lieu of any imprisonment.—Sec. vi., Art. 154.

163. A person who may have been tried for any offence by a court-martial under the authority of these Articles of War, shall not be tried for the same in any other court whatsoever, and no person who shall have been acquitted or convicted of any offence by a court of civil judicature shall be punished by a court-martial for the same, otherwise than by cashiering or dismissal from the service.—Sec. vi., Art. 155.

164. The Regulations at present in force at any presidency, by which the office and powers of commissariat officers, or officers in charge of the police, or superintendents of bazars, are defined and controlled; or by which punchayets are constituted and guided; or by which jurisdiction is given to courts-martial over offences committed by persons amenable to the Articles of War, within certain limits beyond or around cantonments, are hereby declared to be in full force, and the same shall continue to be observed at the several presidencies respectively.—Sec. vi., Art. 156.

Application of the Articles.

165. All officers and soldiers, all drivers, farriers, trumpeters, and drummers; all unattested recruits; all hospital attendants, sub-assistant surgeons, native doctors and dressers; all artificers and labourers, suttlers, followers, public and private, or others attached to or serving with any part of the army, are to be governed by these Articles and subject to trial by courts-martial.

Provided, that persons of European descent (whether on the side of their father or mother), professing the Christian religion, shall not be amenable to these Articles; but if belonging to the descriptions mentioned in this Article (and not being her Majesty's natural born subjects born in Europe, or the children of such subjects), shall be tried and punished in the same manner as persons are who are subject to the Mutiny Act and Articles of War in force for the better government of the European officers and soldiers in the service of the East-India Company.—Sec. vii., Art. 157.

Promulgation of the Articles.

166. These Articles are to be translated into the several languages of the different presidencies, and the parts following, viz. the second section, together with the following Articles in other sections, viz. 2, 4, 75, 78, 80, 102, 103, 110, and 111, are to be read once every three months at the head of every regiment, troop or company mustered in the service, and to every recruit at the period of his attestation.—Sec. vii., Art. 158.

FURTHER RULES RESPECTING MILITARY COURTS.

167. Whenever a witness in attendance before a general court-martial, or other military court duly authorized to administer an oath, shall refuse to be sworn, and the court shall be of opinion that the testimony of such witness is essential, and that there is no sufficient reason to exempt him from taking the oath, the judge-advocate-general, or other officer conducting the proceedings of the court, shall be authorized to forward such witness, with a written statement, to the zillah or city magistrate or joint magistrate, within whose jurisdiction the court may be held; and the magistrate or joint magistrate is hereby directed to make such inquiries into the case as may satisfy him that the witness ought or ought not to be exempted from taking an oath, under the provisions of Regulation L., 1803. If the magistrate or joint magistrate shall be of opinion that no sufficient grounds exist for exempting the witness from taking the prescribed oath, he shall proceed in the same manner as if the refusal to give evidence on oath had taken place in his own court: on the other hand, if he shall be of opinion that the witness ought not to be compelled to take the oath, he shall certify the same to the judge-advocate-general or other officer above referred to, and shall not impose any penalty on such witness.—Reg. XX., 1825, sec. iv.

168. The Commander-in-Chief of the military forces in the service of the East-India Company in each presidency shall have power to pardon any person belonging to the said forces, convicted by sentence of a court-martial of any offence against the Articles of War framed for the government of the native officers and soldiers in the military service of the East-India Company, which, wherever committed, is not punishable otherwise than by sentence of a court-martial; or, instead of granting a full pardon to any such person, may remit any part of the punishment awarded for such offence.—Act VI., 1850, sec. i.

169. In such cases, the Commander-in-Chief shall issue a warrant under his hand, setting forth the offence, and a copy of the warrant or other instrument by which the offender is kept in custody in execution of the sentence, and pardoning or remitting such part of the punishment awarded for the offence as to him shall seem fit.—Act VI., 1850, sec. ii.

Note.—The crime of tampering with the army or navy is punishable by the criminal courts under Act XIV., 1849.—See Specific Offences.

170. The said warrant shall be countersigned by the magistrate of the zillah or city in which the offender is undergoing his sentence; or, if he is confined in any prison belonging to one of the Supreme Courts of Judicature established by royal charter, shall be countersigned by a judge of such court, if it shall appear to such magistrate or judge that the offence, wherever committed, is not punishable by any authority other than that of a court-martial, but not otherwise.—Act VI., 1850, sec. iii.

171. All sheriffs, gaolers, and other persons having custody of any offender under sentence of a court-martial, shall obey and give effect to any warrant of the Commander-in-Chief, countersigned by a magistrate or judge of the Supreme Court as aforesaid, for the pardon and release of any offender in their custody respectively, or for the remission of any part of his sentence.—Act VI., 1850, sec. iv.

CANTONMENTS AND MILITARY BAZARS.

172. The support of the police and the maintenance of the peace within the limits of the cantonments and military bazaars (which are to be fixed in the manner hereafter stated) are hereby vested in the officers commanding the troops quartered at such places. The commanding officers will accordingly adopt the necessary measures, by means of the troops under their command, for preventing, as far as possible, the commission of thefts, robberies, murders, and other public crimes within the limits of the said cantonments and military bazaars, and for the discovery and apprehension of persons who may at any time be guilty of any such acts.—Reg. III., 1809, sec. ii., cl. 1.

173. Nothing contained in the preceding rule shall, however, be construed to authorize the commanding officers of cantonments, or the persons acting under their authority in the support of the police, to interfere with respect to assaults and petty affrays, or other offences of inferior magnitude, unless the persons guilty of those offences shall be apprehended in the actual commission of such acts.—Reg. III., 1809, sec. ii., cl. 2.

174. Any person apprehended under the preceding rules in any of the cantonments or military bazaars, on account of the commission of any public crime or offence, shall be delivered over with all practicable expedition to the magistrate of the district in which such cantonments or bazaars are situated, and the magistrate shall proceed against the accused in the manner prescribed by the general Regulations.—Reg. III., 1809, sec. ii., cl. 3.

175. If any person shall have a charge or complaint to prefer against any individual resident in any of the cantonments or military bazaars, who may not have been already apprehended by the persons intrusted therein with the support of the police, or if the charge or complaint be of a nature not to authorize those officers, under para. 173, to interfere in it, the party deeming himself aggrieved is at liberty to prefer his charge or complaint directly to the magistrate, who is hereby authorized and required to proceed with respect to it under the general Regulations, in the same manner as if the alleged crime or offence had been committed in any other part of his jurisdiction. —Reg. III., 1809, sec. iii., cl. 1.

176. Under the foregoing rule, the magistrates are of course empowered to issue their warrants and summonses against any persons residing in the cantonments and military bazaars, in the same manner as if such persons resided in any other part of their jurisdiction; and the commanding officers of stations are hereby required to afford every protection to the officers of the judges, magistrates, and justices of the peace, in the discharge of the duty intrusted to them, whether any special application shall have been made to them for such aid or support, or otherwise. —Reg. III., 1809, sec. iii., cl. 2.

177. The above rules shall be considered applicable to all cantonments, in which any considerable body of the troops not being less than half a battalion is quartered, whether the cantonments be situated at the place of residence of the magistrate or in any other part of the district.—Reg. III., 1809, sec. v.

178. All persons serving with any part of the army and receiving public pay drawn by any officer in charge of a public department appertaining to the army, whether as lascars, magazine men, kalassies attached to magazines or any other department or establishment, native doctors, writers, bhistees, puckallies, syces, grass-cutters, mahouts, surwans, or other subordinate servants attached to public cattle, bildars, artificers, or in any other capacity, shall (provided they are borne upon the fixed establishment of the department in which they are employed, and not otherwise) be subject to be tried by a court-martial for all breaches of their respective duties, and for all disorders and neglects to the prejudice of good order and of the local regulations established by the commanding officer or other competent authority in the cantonment, garrison, station, or other places where the troops to which they are attached may be serving.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. ii.

179. Provided that it shall not be competent for such court-martial to sentence any person of the above description to any other or heavier punishment than may now be lawfully inflicted on enlisted soldiers, under the second article of the twenty-fourth section of her Majesty's, or the second article of the fifteenth section of the Honourable Company's Articles of War, unless where the forces are serving in the field; for which case provision is already made by the existing Articles of War, from which nothing in this Regulation is to be understood to derogate.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. iii.

180. Menial servants of officers within the precincts of any cantonment, garrison, or military station or military bazaar, although they shall not be in the receipt of public pay, shall at all times be subject to all such Regulations as shall be made by the commanding officer or other competent authority, for the maintenance of good order in such cantonment, garrison, station, or bazaar, and shall be liable to be tried by a native court-martial for any breach thereof.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. iv.

181. The names of all persons having houses, shops, or other buildings or fixed places within the limits of the garrison, cantonment, or station, as described in the plans, in which they carry on trade, or otherwise seek a livelihood by supplying or serving the troops, shall be entered in a register to be kept in the office of the brigade-major or other station staff officer, and to be open to inspection at all reasonable hours. The name of each person shall be entered both in English and in the language and character commonly used in the district in which the station is situated, and the occupation of the person written opposite to it, in like manner, with the place of his residence and the date of the registration.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. vii.

182. No person shall be registered as attached to the station bazaar without his free consent, and any person so registered shall be entitled at any time to demand his discharge from the registry. Persons registered shall be entitled to the privileges of registry so long only as they continue to carry on trade or other employment relating to the supply or service of the troops, at some house, shop, or fixed place within the limits above mentioned, and shall be subject during such time to all regulations made by the commanding officer or other competent authority, for the maintenance of good order and fair dealing in the station bazaar, and shall be liable to be tried by a native court-martial for any breach thereof.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. viii.

183. The names of all persons attached to bazaars of corps shall, in like manner, be registered in a book, which shall be kept at the head quarters of the corps, and shall be open to inspection at all reasonable hours; the entries shall be made in the same manner, in all respects, as those in the registers of station bazaars.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. ix.

184. No person shall be registered as attached to the bazaar of a corps without his free consent, and any person so registered shall be entitled at any time to require his discharge; except when the corps is on actual service, or there is an immediate prospect of its being ordered to march, in which cases it shall be in the discretion of the commanding officer to withhold such discharge, so long only as the immediate exigency of the public service requires.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. x.

185. No person registered as attached to the bazaar of a corps shall be entitled to any of the privileges of such registry, except those who ordinarily carry on the trade or employment in respect of which they are registered, within the place allotted or commonly used for the bazaar of the corps when it is stationary.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xi.

186. All persons registered as attached to bazaars of corps shall, while they continue so attached, be subject to such regulations as shall be made by the commanding officer or other competent authority, for the maintenance of good order and fair dealing in the bazaar, and for the prompt and efficient execution of such services as belong to their respective occupations, and shall be liable to be tried by a native court-martial for any breach thereof.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xii.

187. No court-martial shall inflict any heavier corporal punishment for the breach of a local regulation on any person attached to a bazaar of a corps, or to a station bazaar, or on any servant of an officer, than fifty lashes with a cat-o'-nine-tails, or fourteen days' confinement, or in aggravated cases both those punishments; and persons attached to bazaars of corps or station bazaars who are above the condition of petty dealers, menial servants, or workmen, shall not be liable to corporal punishment in the first instance for breach of local regulations, but shall be sentenced to pay a fine to the use of Government, which shall in no case exceed rupees one hundred, and shall be levied, if not paid forthwith, under the written order of the commanding officer, grounded on the sentence of the court, by seizure and public sale of such goods of the offender as may be found within the limits of the garrison, cantonments, or bazaar; and if sufficient goods shall not be found within the limits, the offender may be arrested by a written order of the commanding officer, and confined for one month, unless he sooner discharges the fine; and any person attached to a bazaar who shall be sentenced to a fine by a court-martial for the breach of any local regulation, and shall fail to discharge the same, shall be liable, in case of conviction for a second offence, to be sentenced to corporal punishment, in the same manner as petty dealers, workmen, or menial servants, or to be struck off the register of the station bazaar or bazaar of the corps, as the case may be.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xiii.

188. If any person deeming himself entitled to exemption from corporal punishment by the preceding rule shall be sentenced thereto by a court-martial, the commanding officer shall, upon appeal to him, and proof given to his satisfaction that such person is entitled to the exemption, commute the punishment for a fine not exceeding rupees one hundred, which fine shall be levied in the same manner as if it had been originally imposed by the court-martial.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xiv.

189. With a view also to the more effectual maintenance of good order in the garrisons, cantonments, and military bazaars, it is hereby enacted, that if any retainer of the army of the description mentioned in paragraph 178, or any menial servant of an officer, or any person registered as attached to the station or sudder bazaar, shall be charged with the commission of an inconsiderable assault or affray, or other act immediately tending to the breach of the peace and good order of any of the said garrisons, cantonments, or bazaars, within the limits thereof as described in the plans to be approved by Government, the person so accused shall be tried by a native court-martial; and such court-martial shall be empowered to punish the offender, when convicted, by imprisonment for a term not exceeding twenty days, or by imposing upon him a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, or to subject him to corporal punishment not exceeding fifty lashes with a cat-o'-nine-tails; unless the offender be of the description of persons mentioned in paragraph 178, and the act involves a military offence, and is so charged, in which case the degree of punishment is to be determined by the rule laid down in para. 179 of this Regulation.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xv.

190. If any retainer of the army of the description mentioned in para. 178, or any menial servant of an officer, or any person registered as attached to the sudder bazaar, shall be charged with having committed a petty theft (that is to say, theft without circumstances of violence and outrage, not exceeding the value of rupees one hundred) within the limits of the cantonment or bazaar, such charge shall be tried by a native court-martial, which shall have the power of inflicting on the offenders corporal punishment not exceeding one hundred lashes with a cat-o'-nine tails, or of imprisoning them for a term not longer than one month.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xvi.

191. If any such petty offences as are described in paras. 189 and 190 shall be committed within the limits of a garrison, cantonment, or military bazaar, by any person not being a retainer of the army, or the menial servant of an officer, or registered as attached to the bazaar, the commanding officer shall cause the offender, if found within the limit of the cantonment, garrison, or bazaar, to be arrested and sent to the magistrate, who shall inquire into the facts, and punish the offender, if convicted, in the same manner as in other cases of petty offences cognizable by the magistrate under the existing Regulations.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xvii.

192. In all cases of crimes committed within the limits of garrisons, cantonments, or military bazaars, which are not cognizable before a court-martial in the manner described in this Regulation, the offender, whatever be his description, if found within the limits, shall be arrested by the commanding officer and delivered over to the magistrate.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xviii.

193. In all cases in which it may be necessary to execute any process of arrest, criminal or civil, within the limits of a garrison, cantonment, military station, or military bazaar (the process of the Supreme Court only excepted), the officers intrusted with the execution of such process of arrest shall in the first instance carry the same to the commanding officer, or if he shall happen to be absent, to the senior officer actually present in the garrison, cantonment, or station; and the commanding officer or such senior officer, upon such process being produced to him, shall back the same with his signature, and shall forthwith use his utmost endeavours to cause the person or persons named in such process to be discovered, and if within the limits of the garrison, cantonment, station, or bazaar, to be arrested and delivered according to the exigency of the process to the civil officer charged with the execution thereof; but nothing herein contained is to be construed to prevent the service by the civil officer, in the usual way of summonses, subpœnas, or other process of mere citation without arrest.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xix.

194. The provisions of this Regulation respecting the trial of petty offences committed within the limits of garrisons, cantonments, military stations, or military station bazaars, and the provisions of this Regulation respecting the execution of process of arrest before judgment against registered persons attached to station bazaars, are to be considered as applicable only to those garrisons, cantonments, and stations, the limits whereof shall be laid down in plans approved and confirmed by the Governor-General in Council, in the manner described in Section V. of this Regulation; and they shall be in force in such garrisons, cantonments, and military stations, respectively, from the time that the plans so approved and confirmed shall have been deposited at the head-quarters and in the cutcherry of the magistrates, in the manner prescribed in Section VI. With regard to those garrisons, cantonments, or stations, to which it may not be found practicable to assign local limits for the purposes of this Regulation, special provisions will be made hereafter, according to the circumstances of each case: in the mean time, the provisions of Regulation III. of 1809, are to be considered as in full force with respect to those garrisons, cantonments, and military stations, and the station bazaars attached thereto.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xx.

195. The charge of the police over persons registered as attached to bazaars of corps is vested, to the extent specified in Regulation III. of 1809, and in this Regulation, in the commanding officers of such corps, so long as such persons shall be bonâ fide carrying on the occupation in respect of which they are so registered. All such petty offences as are specified in this Regulation shall be tried and punished by a court-martial, when committed by this description of persons, under the same rule and restrictions as to the mode and measure of punishment, as are before laid down with respect to offences committed by persons attached to sudder bazaars; provided that when such offences are committed at the distance of above one coss from the stations of the corps or from its actual position on a march, and the offender is taken in the fact, the magistrate shall have a concurrent jurisdiction, and may proceed against the offender as in other cases, or at his discretion remit him to the commanding officer to be tried by court-martial.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xxi.

196. Nothing in this Regulation is to be construed to give any authority to commanding officers to dispossess proprietors of land or houses which may be situated within the limits of military bazaars, although such persons shall refuse to be registered as attached to the bazaar, or shall have lost, or forfeited, or resigned their privilege of registry. In all cases in which the ground allotted to those bazaars, or any part of it, is the property of Government, and the occupation of individuals has been declared by Government merely permissive, the commanding officer is empowered to make such general regulations as he may think fit (subject to the approbation of the Governor-General in Council) respecting the tenure or occupation of houses, shops, or other fixed places situated upon such ground as belongs to Government; which regulations shall in all cases be reduced to writing, and shall, after receiving the approbation of the Governor-General in Council, be published in station orders, with a translation in the language commonly used in the district, and the same shall not be of force until fourteen days after they shall have been so published within the limits of the station bazaar.—Reg. XX., 1810, sec. xxvi.

197. No person residing within the limits of any military cantonment and carrying on trade therein, or who shall have been a trader at any military cantonment, shall be allowed to recover in any Military Court of Requests for the native troops of the East-India Company, held within any such cantonment, any debt contracted in the way of trade, or for the loan of money, within any such cantonment, by any person subject to the jurisdiction of such court, unless the person seeking to recover the debt shall at the time of contracting thereof have been registered as a military bazaarman within such cantonment.—Act. XII., 1842, sec. i.

198. The commanding officer of any military station occupied by troops in the service of the East-India Company, out of the territories of the said Company, shall be competent to administer within the limits of such military station any oath which a justice of the peace is competent to administer within the said territories, and that such oath shall, in all respects, be of the same effect as if taken within the said territories before a justice of the peace.—Act. IX., 1836.

199. Native officers and sepoys, excepting subadars, jemadars, and serangs, even though in the service of the Company, who may temporarily reside or have occasion to travel in the interior parts of the country, unless employed on the public service, are forbidden to wear their uniform coats.—Reg. XI., 1806, sec. ix., cl. 5.

200. With the view of giving full effect to the orders contained in the preceding rules, the military commanding officers of stations and of detachments in the interior parts of the country, and the several zillah and city magistrates, are hereby authorized and required to deprive of a military dress any person who shall wear it contrary to these orders; unless it shall appear that such person is in the military service of the Company, in which case he shall be sent to the corps to which he may belong, with a written complaint against him. The local officers of police are also empowered and directed to apprehend all persons of the above description, and to send them to the magistrate, who will deal with them in the manner above prescribed.—Reg. XI., 1806, sec. ix., cl. 6.

201. Military officers, or other persons to whom escorts may be allowed, when travelling through the country by land or proceeding by water, are forbidden to send sepoys or lascars into the villages, for the purpose of procuring any sort of provisions, or of pressing bearers, coolies, or boatmen. Every local officer of police, upon proper application, will, under Section VIII. of this Regulation, grant such assistance as he may be able to afford; and all violent measures, therefore, will be considered equally illegal and unnecessary.—Reg. XI., 1806, sec. ix., cl. 7.

MILITARY COURTS OF REQUESTS.

202. All Regulations and parts of Regulations concerning Military Courts of Requests are repealed.—Act XI., 1841, sec. i.*

203. Within the territories of the East-India Company, actions of debt and other personal actions against native officers, soldiers, and other persons† amenable to the Articles of War for the native forces in the military service of the East-India Company, or residing within any station or cantonment, and carrying on any trade or business in a military bazar, shall be cognizable before a military court and not elsewhere, provided the value in question shall not exceed two hundred rupees, and the defendant was a person of the description above mentioned, when the cause of action arose, and when the suit was instituted. Provided that no suit shall be brought before any military court under this Act to determine any dispute of caste or concerning any right to real property.—Act XI., 1841, sec. ii.

204. The commanding officer of any station or cantonment, or officer commanding any portion of troops in the field, is authorized to convene such military courts. And such courts shall be composed, according to the orders of the Commander-in-Chief for the time being of the presidency within which the station or cantonment is situate, or, in the absence of such orders, according to the discretion of the convening officer, either of not less than three European commissioned officers, or of not less than three native commissioned officers, and, in the latter case, with a European officer of not less than five years' standing, to superintend and record the proceedings. Provided that if there be not a sufficient number of officers to constitute a court at the station or cantonment where any cause of action may arise, or where the defendant may be residing, the suit shall be determined at the nearest station or cantonment where a military court can be duly constituted as aforesaid.—Act XI., 1841, sec. iii.

205. Such military courts shall be convened monthly, and shall be holden on some convenient day before the issue of the pay for each month.—Act XI., 1841, sec. iv.

206. The forms of proceeding in every such court shall be conformable to the usages observed on trials before courts-martial held for the native troops in the service of the East-India Company as far as the same are applicable. And any such court shall have the like power of summoning witnesses as is possessed by courts-martial. Provided always, that every such court shall have the power of examining the parties to any suit and of requiring or dispensing with their attendance at its discretion. And every such court shall have the like power of taking the examinations of absent parties and witnesses as is possessed by the Civil Courts of the East-India Company, under Act No. VII. of 1841, provided that the depositions taken under a commission issued by any Military Court of Requests shall be receivable in evidence before any such court subsequently held: provided also, that commissions may be issued by Military Courts of Requests under this Act, pursuant to the provisions of Act No. VII. of 1841, notwithstanding the courts to which the commissions may be directed are not situate beyond the jurisdiction of such military courts.—Act XI., 1841, sec. v.

207. Witnesses omitting to attend, refusing to give evidence, or committing perjury, and persons suborning witnesses to commit perjury, shall be tried and punished, if amenable to Articles of War, by a court-martial, subject to all the rules contained in such Articles of War for the punishment of such offences in regard to trials for military offences; and if not amenable to Articles of War, they may be tried and punished in the nearest of the courts of the East-India Company for the administration of criminal justice (whether such court have ordinarily jurisdiction over such person in criminal matters or not), in like manner as if such offences had been committed in regard to any trial before such nearest court.—Act XI., 1841, sec. vi.

208. Any person, civil or military, European or native, using menacing words, signs, or gestures, or otherwise interrupting (whether being personally present or not) the proceedings of any Military Court of Requests, shall be punishable, if amenable to Articles of War, by a court-martial, or if not amenable to Articles of War, in the nearest of the courts of the East-India Company for the administration of criminal justice (whether such court have ordinarily jurisdiction over such person in criminal matters or not), in like manner as if the offence had been committed in regard to any proceeding of the court to which it is so referred.—Act XI., 1841, sec. vii.

* All camp followers were declared amenable to this Act, by Act XII., 1842.

209. A record shall be kept of proceedings in every case tried before any Military Court of Requests. And such record shall contain the substance of the evidence given, and the nature of such evidence as may have been rejected on the ground of its not being legally admissible, or relevant, or on other grounds, and the same shall be signed by the members of the said court. And such record, or a copy thereof, shall, with as little delay as is practicable, after the conclusion of the proceedings, be transmitted by the European president, or superintending officer of every such court, to the officer commanding the station or cantonment.—Act XI., 1841, sec. viii.

210. Where a demand shall exceed the amount of two hundred rupees, or where several separate demands shall exceed such amount, no more shall be recoverable from any one defendant by the same plaintiff or plaintiffs than the sum of two hundred rupees only—and the judgment in respect of any demand in a Court of Requests shall be a bar to the recovery of the same demand, or of any other or further demand for the same cause of action, in any other court whatever, provided that the liability accrued before the time of instituting the suit in the military court—and it shall be competent for every such military court to investigate any counter claim alleged by any defendant. And it shall be competent for every such military court to allow the interest for money agreed on between the parties, provided the same does not exceed the usage of the country in ordinary money transactions. And every contract made after the passing of this Act upon which a demand for debt exceeding twenty rupees is founded, not being money due for goods bought and delivered, shall be in writing and expressed in the language of the defendant and signed by him, or on his behalf by some other person than the plaintiff. Provided that it shall not be competent to any Court of Requests to admit any suit for a debt which has accrued upwards of six years, unless a direct promise to pay, made within six years of the commencement of the suit, be proved.—Act XI., 1848, sec. ix.

211. On failure of either of the parties to a suit to attend either personally or by representative, or to produce his witnesses, according as he shall be required by any Military Court of Requests, such court, on being satisfied that the party has been duly apprized of what is required of him, may proceed to the termination of the suit in his absence. And if the decree in any such case shall be against the plaintiff, it shall not be competent for him to commence a new suit for the same cause of action.—Act XI., 1848, sec. x.

212. It shall be lawful for the commanding officer, to whom the proceedings have been transmitted as aforesaid, to return the same for revision either by the same or another Military Court of Requests. And in every such case the second decree shall be final, unless for error in points of law, when the same shall be transmitted to the Commander-in-Chief, who shall have power to annul the proceedings without prejudice to any future suit. Provided always, that in the case of any new trial the court may receive evidence which was not adduced at the first trial.—Act XI., 1841, sec. xi.

213. Every plaintiff shall prefer his claim in writing and shall deliver the same to the station staff-officer. The claims shall be entered in a schedule by the station staff-officer, which schedule is to be sent to adjutants of corps or heads of departments two days at least before the assembly of the court, and the adjutants or heads of departments shall be responsible that the defendants belonging to their respective corps or establishments have been duly summoned.—Act XI., 1841, sec. xii.

214. Every decree of any Military Court of Requests shall be published in the station orders before the same is executed.—Act XI., 1841, sec. xiii.

215. The execution of decrees of Military Courts of Requests may be either general or special, according to the sentence of the court. Provided always, that the commanding officer may, nothwithstanding the direction of the court, order that the execution shall be general or special at his discretion.—Act XI., 1841, sec. xiv.

216. In cases in which the execution is to be general, the debt, if not paid forthwith, shall, under the authority of the commanding officer in writing to be signed by him, be levied by seizure and public sale of such of the debtor's goods (under which term are included, houses or other erections within the limits of stations and cantonments) as may be found within the limits of the station or cantonment, or elsewhere; and if sufficient goods are not to be found, the debtor, if not a soldier, shall be arrested and imprisoned in any civil gaol near to the station or cantonment (for which purpose the provisions of Act No. II. of 1840 shall be applicable), or in any other convenient place of confinement situate within the limits of the station or cantonment, for the space of two months, unless the debt be sooner paid, and his goods, if found within the limits of the station or cantonments or elsewhere at any subsequent time, shall be liable to be seized and sold in satisfaction of the debt. And if the debtor be a soldier, and the debt be not liquidated by sale of his effects, accoutrements and necessaries excepted, an order may be issued for payment of the residue by monthly deduction from the pay issued to the debtor, under the rules which follow.—Act. XI., 1841, sec. xv.

217. Where the execution is to be special, the debt shall be satisfied out of the pay and allowances of the debtor, and not otherwise. And a certificate of the decree and direction or order thereon, certified under the hand of the commanding officer and signed by him, shall be a sufficient authority for making such stoppages. Provided always, that no more than one-half of the pay and allowances of any commissioned officer, or than one-fourth of the pay and allowances of any non-commissioned officer or soldier, shall be stopped in any one month.—Act XI., 1841, sec. xvi.

218. In places beyond the frontier of the territories of the East-India Company, actions of debt and other personal actions may be brought before such Military Courts as aforesaid, against persons so amenable as aforesaid, for any amount of demand: provided that such Military Courts beyond the frontier shall be composed of European officers,—and provided, that if the amount of claim shall exceed two hundred rupees, an appeal shall lie to the Court of Sudder Adawlut of the nearest presidency, according to the rules in force with regard to appeals from subordinate Civil Courts.—Act XI., 1841, sec. xvii.

219. This Act shall not affect the proceedings upon any suit heretofore commenced, or which shall be commenced before the tenth day of August next.—Act XI., 1841, sec. xviii.

220. No person residing within the limits of any military cantonment, and carrying on trade therein, or who shall have been a trader at any military cantonment, shall be allowed to recover in any Military Court of Requests for the native troops of the East-India Company, held within any such cantonment, any debt contracted in the way of trade or for the loan of money, within any such cantonment, by any person subject to the jurisdiction of such court, unless the person seeking to recover the debt shall, at the time of contracting thereof, have been registered as a military bazarman within any such cantonment.—Act XII., 1842, sec. i.

221. All persons serving with any part of the army and receiving public pay in any capacity, menial servants, and other camp followers of every description, shall be subject to the provisions of Act No. XI. of 1848, in like manner as enlisted soldiers.—Act XII., 1842, sec. ii.

222. The decrees, of which the execution is to be general, of any Military Court of Requests holden within the territories under the government of the East-India Company, or mentioned in Sec. xvii., Act XI., 1841, may be enforced in the manner provided by Act XXXIII., 1852. No such decrees, however, shall be in force against the person of the debtor if a soldier. In the case of a decree of a military Court of Requests, the copy, decree, and certificate, and translation, if any, shall be signed by the officer commanding the station or cantonment, who shall describe himself accordingly; and no proof of the decree, or of the signature or appointment of such officer, or of the jurisdiction of the court, shall be necessary, unless the court to which the same may be presented shall think fit, under any peculiar circumstances to be specified in an order, to require the same.—Act XXXIII., 1852, sec. viii.

223. A petition for execution under Act XXXIII., 1852, of any decree of a military Court of Requests may be written on plain paper.—Act XXXIII., 1852, sec. ix.

PRIVILEGES OF NATIVE OFFICERS AND SOLDIERS IN CIVIL PROCEEDINGS.

224. Such parts of the Regulations in force as prohibit the Courts of Civil Justice from corresponding by letter with parties in depending suits, or as direct that no pleadings shall be received in any civil cause except from the parties or their authorized pleaders; such parts of the Regulations in force as require generally, that depending causes shall be brought to trial according to the order in which they may stand on the file; and such parts of the Regulations in force as prohibit the courts from furnishing copies of decrees, or from receiving mokhtarnamahs on any other paper than the prescribed stamped paper, are hereby declared to be subject to the modifications contained in the following sections of this Regulation.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. ii.

225. Whenever a native officer or soldier on the military establishment of the presidency of Fort William may be desirous of instituting a regular or summary suit in any of the local Courts of Civil Judicature, and shall not be able to obtain a furlough or leave of absence for the purpose of superintending or conducting such suit in person, he shall be at liberty to execute a mokhtarnamah or power of attorney, drawn up according to the form No. 1 in the Appendix to this Regulation, authorizing and appointing any member of his family or other person to institute and carry on the suit, and to perform all acts in the original trial of the cause, and eventually in appeal, in the same manner as if the party were himself personally present and consenting.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. iii., cl. 1.

226. Such mokhtarnamah shall not be required to be written on stamped paper, but shall be executed by the native officer or soldier in the presence of the commanding officer of the corps or detachment to which he may belong, who shall countersign the same, in testimony of its having been voluntarily executed.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. iii., cl. 2.

227. The mokhtarnamah so executed is to be transmitted by the commanding officer, under cover of a public letter drawn up in the form No. 2 of the Appendix, addressed to the court in which the suit is to be instituted; and upon the receipt of such letter, a notice shall be issued by the court for the purpose of procuring the attendance, either personally or by a constituted vakeel, of the person nominated in the mokhtarnamah.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. iii, cl. 3.

228. If such person shall refuse to attend the court in person or by a constituted vakeel, or shall decline to undertake the trust, or shall subsequently die, or be prevented by any other sufficient cause from discharging the duty confided to him, the court shall cause information of the same to be communicated to the native officer or soldier, by an extract from the proceedings of the court, enclosed in an official letter to be addressed by the judge to the commanding officer of the corps.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. iii., cl. 4.

229. If the person nominated and appointed in the mokhtarnamah shall attend the court in person or by a constituted vakeel, and shall consent to undertake the duty confided to him, the original mokhtarnamah shall be deposited in the court and annexed to the procedings which may be held on the suit. The mokhtar or attorney, so appointed and attending, may, at his option, either prosecute the suit and conduct the pleadings in person, or may constitute for that purpose one or more of the authorized pleaders of the court. In all other respects the suit shall be instituted, tried, and determined, in conformity with the general rules in force for the institution and trial of other similar suits; provided, however, that when the native officer or soldier, who may be the real party in the suit, shall not be himself present at the time of its decision, an authenticated copy of the decree, written on unstamped paper, shall, in each instance, be transmitted through the court to the commanding officer of the corps or detachment, for the purpose of its being communicated to the native officer or soldier.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. iii., cl. 5.

230. It is hereby explained that no part of the preceding rules, or of the subsequent provisions of this Regulation, is intended to be applicable to claims originating in loans granted by a native officer or sepoy, or in pecuniary transactions of a commercial nature.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. iii, cl. 6.

231. Whenever a suit may be instituted in any civil court against a person being a native officer or soldier attached to a regular corps on the military establishment of the honourable Company under the presidency of Fort William, the plaintiff or appellant shall be required to state the same distinctly in his plaint or petition of appeal; and to specify, to the best of his knowledge and belief, the corps to which such native officer or soldier may be attached. If the plaintiff or appellant shall be unable to specify the corps, it shall be the duty of the court trying the suit to endeavour to ascertain the point by such means of inquiry as may appear practicable and expedient.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. iv., cl. 1.

232. A notice in the usual form, together with a copy of the plaint or petition of appeal on unstamped paper, enclosed in an official letter drawn up according to the form No. 3 of the Appendix, shall be then transmitted by the judge, to the commanding officer of the corps, for the purpose of its being communicated to the native officer or soldier against whom the suit may have been instituted; a similar notice shall be issued, when omitted in the first instance from ignorance of the defendant's being a native officer or soldier attached to a regular corps, if at any subsequent period during the trial of the suit it should appear to the court that the defendant or respondent is a native officer or soldier as above described; and in cases in which the plaintiff or appellant shall wilfully and intentionally omit to state, in his plaint or petition of appeal, that the defendant or respondent is a native officer or soldier, the court shall impose on such plaintiff or appellant a discretionary fine, not exceeding one-fourth of the amount of the institution fee, or stamp duty, in each case.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. iv., cl. 2.

233. The commanding officer, after causing the notice to be served on the party to whom it is addressed, if practicable, shall return it to the judge, with the written acknowledgment of the party endorsed thereupon, together with the mokhtarnamah which the party may be desirous of executing according to the form No. 1 in the Appendix, for appointing an attorney to defend the suit in his behalf. If from any cause the notice transmitted to the commanding officer cannot be served upon the native officer or soldier to whom it is addressed, it shall be returned by the commanding officer to the judge from whom it may have been received, with information of the cause which has prevented the service of it. In such case the court shall either make a further reference, with the view of causing the notice to be duly communicated to the native officer or sepoy, or shall adopt such other measures for that purpose as, on a consideration of the circumstances of each case, may appear to be proper and consistent with the Regulations.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. iv., cl. 3.

234. When a native officer or soldier may obtain a furlough for the purpose of instituting or defending a civil suit in any of the local Courts of Civil Judicature, he shall be at liberty to request from the commanding officer of the corps or detachment, an official letter addressed to the court in which the suit is to be tried; such letter shall be drawn up according to the form No. 4 of the Appendix to this Regulation, but shall not give cover to any petition, nor contain any statement or explanation of the merits or circumstances of the case.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. v., cl. 1.

235. Such letter shall be delivered in person by the native officer or soldier to the judge of the court, who is authorized, at the request of the party, to nominate a vakeel of the court for the purpose of furnishing to the native officer or soldier his legal aid and advice in preparing the pleadings, and in carrying on the prosecution or defence of the suit. The judge shall at the same time cause the native officer or soldier to be duly apprised of the provisions contained in Regulation XXVII., 1814, and of any other Regulation in force, relative to the duties and established fees of the pleaders attached to the civil courts, which must of course be observed whenever a native officer or soldier may wish to consult or employ a pleader.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. v., cl. 2.

236. Nothing contained in the preceding rule shall be construed to prohibit a native officer or soldier from pleading his cause in person, or from employing any other authorized pleader of the court, whom he may prefer, instead of the pleader nominated for him by the court.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. vi.

237. The Courts of Civil Judicature are required to bring to a hearing, without regard to the order in which they may be filed, all suits, excepting those of the nature alluded to in paragraph 230, in which a native officer or soldier, who may have obtained leave of absence from his corps, may be a party, and to pass a decision on such suits as speedily as may be consistent with the general rules in force, and with the due administration of justice.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. vii., cl. 1.

238. If the cause cannot be brought to a decision previously to the expiration of the furlough granted to such native officer or soldier, the judge before whom the suit may be depending is vested with a discretionary authority to grant to such native officer or soldier an extension of his leave of absence for a period sufficient to admit of a reference being made to the commanding officer of the corps, with a view to ascertain whether the furlough can be prolonged for any further specific period. But whenever a judge may avail himself of the discretion above vested in him, he shall be careful to report the same immediately in an official letter to the commanding officer of the corps to which the native officer or sepoy may be attached.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. vii., cl. 2.

239. In all cases in which a native officer or soldier may return to his corps before a final decision can be passed in his suit, he shall be at liberty either to leave the further conduct of the suit to a constituted mokhtar under a mokhtarnamah, duly executed according to the form No. 1 in the Appendix to this Regulation, or to one or more of the established pleaders of the court empowered to act for him by a regular vakalutnamah. In either case a copy of the decree which may be passed in the suit shall be transmitted for the information of the native officer or soldier, in the manner prescribed in paragraph 229.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. vii., cl. 3.

240. Whenever any land or real property belonging to a native officer or soldier may be attached by a court of justice, for the purpose of realizing the amount of any judgment, fine or penalty imposed on such native officer or soldier, the court shall cause notice of the same to be issued in the manner prescribed in paragraph 232, and shall postpone the sale for such definite period as may appear reasonable, for the purpose of affording an opportunity to the native officer or soldier to discharge the amount of the judgment, fine or penalty.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. viii.

241. Any registered proprietor of an estate paying revenue to Government, who may be entertained as a native officer or soldier on the military establishment under the presidency of Fort William, shall be at liberty to notify the same in a petition to the collector, specifying the rank which he may hold and the designation of the corps to which he may be attached. A memorandum of such notification shall be inserted by the collector in the public registers and accounts relative to the estate and its assessment; and in cases in which the estate, or a portion of the estate, of a native officer or soldier, who may have duly made such notification, shall become liable to public sale for the recovery of an arrear of revenue, the collector shall address an official letter to the commanding officer of the corps, drawn up in the form prescribed in No. 5 of the Appendix to this Regulation; the collector shall enclose in such letter a written notice, signed and sealed by himself and attested by the principal native officer on his establishment, specifying the amount of the arrear, the date on which it became due, and requiring it to be paid at the treasury of the collectorship within such limited period of time, as on consideration of the distance at which the corps may be stationed, and other circumstances of the case, may appear to be proper and reasonable.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. ix., cl. 1.

242. The commanding officer of the corps shall acknowledge the receipt of the collector's letter, and shall specify the date on which the notice may have been communicated to the party, or the circumstances which may have rendered it impracticable to make such communication.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. ix. cl. 2.

243. If the native officer or soldier shall omit to discharge the arrear within the term specified in the notice, the collector shall report the circumstances of the case to the Board of Revenue, transmitting at the same time a copy of the notice and of his correspondence with the commanding officer, and shall be guided in his further proceedings by the orders which he may receive in each case from the Board.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. ix., cl. 3.

244. Nothing contained in this Regulation shall be construed to affect or to alter the rules and provisions of Regulation XX., 1810; or to authorize the commanding officer of any corps or detachment to correspond with the civil courts, or with the collectors, regarding the merits of any judgment or order passed by them in the discharge of their official duty under the provisions of this Regulation.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. x., cl. 1.

245. Nothing contained in this regulation shall be construed to modify or to affect the existing rules for the trial of civil suits, in which persons who may have been discharged from the service, or who may be attached to provincial battalions, or to local or irregular corps, or who may be camp followers, or non-combattant retainers of the army, or who may be relations, or members of the family of a native officer or soldier, may be parties; the foregoing provisions of this Regulation are to be considered as strictly and exclusively applicable to native officers or soldiers who may be entertained in regular corps and on the actual strength of the army, on the establishment of the presidency of Fort William.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. x. cl. 2.

246. The provisions of paras. 247 and 248, forming the substance of general orders passed by the Vice-President in Council, on the 10th of April, 1810, and on the 22nd of July, 1814, are enacted, for general information.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. xi., cl. 1.

247. The sub-treasurer at the presidency, the residents at Delhi and Lucknow, the collectors of land revenue, and the paymasters at stations subject to the presidency of Fort William, including the paymasters who may at any time be serving beyond the territories of the Honourable Company, are here authorized to grant bills in duplicate, payable at sight, and at the usual rate of exchange, on any other treasury, for any sums which may be paid into their respective treasuries on account of native officers or soldiers, who may be desirous of remitting money from one part of the country to another.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. xi., cl. 2.

248. Provided that in all cases in which rupees may be paid into a treasury by a native officer or soldier, he shall be entitled to receive the same amount at the treasury where payment is required, without any deduction whatever.—Reg. XV., 1816, sec. xi., cl. 3.

249. All the courts of the East-India Company shall receive plaints in original suits, not being suits originating in loans, or in pecuniary transactions of a commercial nature, upon unstamped paper, when the plaintiff is a native officer or soldier in the military establishment of the presidency of Fort William.—Act XV., 1845, sec. iii.

250. Provided that the value of any stamp from which a plaintiff may be exempted by the last preceding section shall be charged in the decree on behalf of Government to the party cast, or to the parties respectively, in such proportions as may be deemed equitable.—Act XV., 1845, sec. iv.

251. If any native officer or soldier shall institute a suit under this Act in which he is not bonâ fide interested or not interested to the extent alleged in the plaint, for the purpose of enabling some otherperson to avail himself fraudulently of the advantages conferred by this Act, such native officer or soldier shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five times the value of the stamped paper which the party interested would have required for the institution of the suit otherwise than under this Act, such fine to be levied in the manner prescribed for the execution of decrees.—Act XV., 1845, sec. iv.

RULES FOR PROVIDING MILITARY GUARDS, ESCORTS, AND DETACHMENTS IN AID OF THE CIVIL AUTHORITIES.

252. Whenever the magistrates may require detachments of troops from the regular battalions, for the apprehension of public offenders or for the maintenance of the peace in their respective districts, they shall state in writing, as fully and circumstantially as may be practicable, the nature of the service required to be performed, to the officer commanding the corps or companies from which the detachment is to be furnished; leaving it to the commanding officer, on a consideration of the circumstances stated, to judge of the strength of the force which should be employed in the execution of the duty in question.—Reg. XI., 1806, sec. xiv., cl. 1.

253. The power vested in the several magistrates by the foregoing rule being founded upon the nature and exigency of the case, which may frequently require promptitude and decision, and will seldom admit of a reference to Government, it shall be the duty of officers commanding corps and detachments immediately to furnish the necessary military aid, whenever applications may be regularly and publicly made to them by the magistrates for troops, for the maintenance of the peace or for the support of the general police of the country. By those means, the responsibility of calling in the aid of the military will rest with the civil magistrates, and the allotment of the force will depend upon the officers commanding troops, who are not, however, on occasions of this nature, to exercise any discretion in granting or withholding the required aid But as it is, at the same time, essential to restrict the employment of military force to cases of absolute necessity, the magistrates are enjoined to confine their requisitions for military force to cases of that description, and to report to Government whenever they may apply for military aid under the rule contained in this para ; at the same time furnishing the Governor-General in Council with the necessary information respecting the circumstances upon which the application for such aid may have been grounded —Reg. XI, 1806, sec xiv., cl. 2.

254 The officers commanding troops, by whom such detachments may be furnished in pursuance of the applications of the magistrates, shall immediately transmit the necessary reports thereof to the Commander-in-Chief —Reg. XI., 1806, sec. xiv, cl 3

255 The permanent guards required by the magistrates, by the collectors of the land revenue and customs, and by any other public officers authorized to require such guards, for the protection of the public treasuries, stores, or other property, shall be in future furnished in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces from the regular battalions The civil officers requiring permanent guards shall accordingly state, fully and circumstantially, the nature of the service necessary to be performed, to the officer commanding the corps from which the guards are to be furnished. On receipt of such information, the commanding officer shall furnish guards of such strength as he may deem necessary; provided that no public objection shall occur to a compliance with the application, and that he shall be satisfied that the civil officer from whom the application may have been received was entitled to make it by the general rules and usages of the service But as the same necessity does not exist for vesting the magistrates and other public officers, in cases of this nature, with the extensive powers intrusted to the magistrates in the cases described in paragraphs 252 to 254, the commanding officer shall be at liberty, in case he shall deem it necessary or proper on any public grounds, to suspend compliance with the application, and to refer the case to the Commander-in-Chief, who will forward the representation to Government for its decision, or pass such orders on the subject as may appear to him to be proper. With the view, likewise, of preventing abuse of the powers vested in the civil officers in applying for guards from the regular battalions, the magistrates and other officers in the judicial department shall, on the receipt of the present Regulation, transmit to the Governor-General in Council a statement of the permanent guards employed or required by them, for his consideration and orders In like manner, the officers in the revenue department shall transmit to the Board of Revenue a statement of the permanent guards required by them in the discharge of the duties of their respective offices, and the Board of Revenue shall forward the statements required from the officers acting under their authority, with any remarks which they may deem necessary, for the consideration and orders of Government —Reg XI, 1806, sec xv, cl. 1

256 When the permanent guards required by the different officers in the civil department of the service shall have been fixed under the rule contained in the preceding para, no augmentation shall be made in the number of strength of such guards without the express sanction of the Governor-General in Council —Reg XI, 1806, sec xv, cl. 2.

257. The temporary escorts which may in future be required by the magistrates, by the collectors of the land revenue and customs, and by any other public officers authorized to require military aid, for the remittance of treasure, of stores, or of other public property, or for other purposes connected with their respective official situations, are in future to be furnished in the Upper Provinces from the regular battalions The civil officer requiring any such escort is accordingly to state, fully and circumstantially, the nature of the service necessary to be performed, to the officer commanding the corps from which the required escort is to be furnished On receipt of such information, the commanding officer shall furnish an escort, of such strength as he may deem necessary, for the performance of the duty in question, provided that no substantial public objection shall occur to a compliance with the application, and that he shall be satisfied that the civil officer from whom the application may have been received was entitled to make it by the general rules and usages of the service. But if not, the commanding officer shall be at liberty to suspend compliance with the application, and to refer the case to the Commander-in-Chief, who will forward the representation to Government for its decision, or pass such orders on the subject as may appear to be proper —Reg XI, 1806, sec xvi

258. It shall be the duty of the magistrates and other officers in the judicial department to transmit to Government, on the first of each month, a statement of the guards, detachments, and escorts employed by them in the preceding month The collectors and other officers in the revenue department shall in like manner transmit to the Board of Revenue, on the first of each month, a statement of the guards, detachments, and escorts employed by those officers respectively in the preceding month; and the Board of Revenue is required to report to Government, whenever they may be of opinion that the guards, detachments, or escorts employed by the officers subject to their control were not requisite for the public service.—Reg. XI., 1806, sec. xvii.

259. The foregoing rules have been framed chiefly with a reference to the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, in which the military duties connected with the offices of the magistrates, collectors, and other public officers in the civil branch of the service, are to be performed by the men of the regular corps. Provincial battalions having been established in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares, for the discharge of those duties, it can seldom, if ever, be necessary for the magistrates, collectors, and other civil officers in those provinces to apply for guards or detachments from the regular battalions. Should any emergency, however, at any time occur, to render the services of the regular corps necessary for the maintenance of the internal peace of the country, or for any other public duty connected with the situations of the magistrates or other civil officers, those officers, and likewise the officers commanding corps and detachments in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares, are to conform to the rules contained in paragraphs 252 to 257.—Reg. XI., 1806, sec. xviii.

260. The foregoing rules are not to be considered applicable to the Presidency station. Whenever guards, detachments, or escorts may be required by the magistrates of Calcutta and of its vicinity, or by any of the other civil officers, for the discharge of any public duty connected with their respective official situations, they are to make the necessary application for that purpose agreeably to former usage, to the Governor-General in Council, through the channel prescribed for conducting the public correspondence.—Reg. XI., 1806, sec. xix.

261. Whenever it shall appear to the magistrate that a guard furnished from any of the regular battalions, from any provincial battalion, or from any other corps subject to martial law, has been guilty of wilful neglect in guarding the prisoners under his charge, or of connivance at the escape, or the attempt to escape, of any prisoner, or of any other act of a criminal nature in the discharge of his duty, the magistrate shall cause the offender to be delivered over to the officer commanding the provincial battalion, or the detachment to which he may belong, with a charge, in writing, that he may be tried, and punished on conviction by a court-martial.—Reg. XI., 1806, sec. x., cl. 2.

262. The mode of proceeding against military guards, directed in the preceding para., shall be observed, with respect to any other offence involving a breach of military duty and properly cognizable by courts-martial; but shall not be held applicable to any criminal charge against such guards or other sepoys, whether belonging to the provincial battalions or regular corps of the army, which may not involve a breach of military duty, and the cognizance of which may therefore appertain to the Civil Courts.—Reg. XI., 1806, sec. x., cl. 3.

PENSIONS OF INVALID NATIVE OFFICERS AND SOLDIERS.

NOTE.—The rules of Reg. XLIII., 1793, Reg. I., 1804, and Reg. XI., 1806, which related to grants of land in Jaghire to native officers and soldiers, having been rescinded as to the future by Reg. II., 1811, sec. ii., and being therefore inoperative, except for the protection of a few existing rights, these are omitted with exception only of the Sections of Reg. I., 1804, specifically reserved by Reg. II., 1811, sec iv.

263. The provisions contained in Regulation I. 1804, which declare that all native commissioned and non-commissioned invalid officers not being fit for garrison duty shall be allowed the option of being transferred to the jagheerdar establishment, and Section XX. Regulation XI. 1806, by which it is enacted that native commissioned and non-commissioned officers, who may be transferred to the jagheerdar establishment, shall be entitled to the reduced pay of their rank at the established rates, in addition to the benefits which they may derive from the lands assigned to them, are rescinded.—Reg. II., 1811, sec. ii.

264. Commissioned and non-commissioned native officers who may be invalided subsequently to the date of this Regulation, shall not be deemed entitled to lands on the jagheerdar establishment; but such of those officers as shall not be considered fit for garrison duty, as well as privates not fit for such duty, shall be entitled to an advance of six months' invalid pay of their respective ranks according to the ranks hereafter specified, with permission to retire to any part of the Company's territories which they may prefer.—Reg. II., 1811, sec. iii., cl. 1.

265. All commissioned and non-commissioned native officers, as well as privates, who may be invalided subsequently to the date of this Regulation, and who may not be fit for garrison duty, shall be entitled to receive for their future support, during their lives, the pay of their respective ranks established by the orders of Government under date the 15th February, 1811, as follows:—

Reg. II., 1811, sec. iii., cl. 2.

The rates specified in the preceding tables are not to be considered applicable to persons to whom reduced invalid pay had been granted previously to the date of the orders of Government above noticed, viz. the 15th of February, 1811.—Reg. II., 1811, sec. iii., cl. 3.

266. The rules contained in paragraphs 267 to 270, shall be strictly observed in issuing the pay to the persons who may become entitled to that provision under the present Regulation. —Reg. II., 1811, sec. iv.

267. Every native commissioned, non-commissioned, and private invalid, not admitted on the jagheerdar establishment, but admitted on the pension establishment, shall, on being allowed to retire on reduced pay, receive a descriptive roll addressed to the collector of the district, specifying the name, age, and height of the invalid, the place at which he was born as well as that at which he may choose to reside, the period of his services and in what regiment or regiments he may have served, his wounds if he shall have received any, and any corporal peculiarities or marks tending to identify his person. Copies of these rolls shall be regularly forwarded to the military auditor-general.—Reg. I., 1804, sec. xxiii.

268. The half-yearly or annual presentation of this roll to the collector of the district to whom it is addressed shall entitle the invalid pensioner to receive the reduced pay of his rank; and on the receipt of the roll after his death, the collector shall pay to his heirs, or other person properly empowered to receive the amount of the arrears which may have been due at the time of his decease. —Reg. I., 1804, sec. xxiv.

269. At every half-yearly or annual payment, the invalid pensioner shall give a receipt for the amount of pay then due to him, which shall be transferred by the collector to the military auditor-general for audit, by whom it shall be returned to the collector, and received as a voucher by the accountant-general, to be charged in the military department. After the decease of an invalid pensioner, the collector shall transmit his descriptive roll to the military auditor-general, having first noticed upon it the amount of arrears paid to the heirs of the deceased.—Reg. I., 1804, sec. xxv.

270. Whenever a voucher of a pensioner's existence shall not be furnished within twelve months from the date of his last receipt of pay, he shall be struck off the roll of the collector, and shall not be again admitted without the orders of Government.—Reg. I., 1804, sec. xxvi.

271. The reduced pay or pension, however called, of any invalid officer, soldier, sailor, or retainer of the army or navy, in the military or naval service of the East-India Company, and also any monthly or yearly pension, or pecuniary allowance to any person, in consideration of past services and present infirmities, or old age, granted by authority of the Governor-General in Council, or of the Governor or Governor in Council, or Lieutenant-Governor of any presidency or place within the territories under the Government of the East-India Company; and also the pension of any out-pensioner of Chelsea or Greenwich Hospital, granted by authority of the commissioners of Chelsea or Greenwich Hospital respectively, and also all money due or to become due on account of any such pension or allowance, shall be exempt from seizure, attachment, or sequestration by process of any court within the said territories, at the instance of a creditor, for any demand against the pensioner, or in satisfaction of a decree or order of any such court.—Act VI., 1849, sec. ii.

272. All assignments, agreements, orders, sales, and securities of every kind made by any such pensioner, in respect of any money not payable at or before the making thereof, on account of any such pension, or for giving or assigning any future interest therein, are null and void.—Act VI., 1849, sec. iii.

273. This Act shall not apply to any process of any court established by royal charter, issued out of such court before the passing of this Act, or to any assignment, agreement, order, sale, or security by any such pensioner, made before the passing of this Act in respect of a Chelsea or Greenwich pension [or a pension or allowance granted in the presidency of Madras; or before the 27th of December, 1845, in respect of a pension or allowance granted in the presidency of Bombay]; or before the 27th May, 1814, in respect of a pension or allowance granted in the presidency of Bengal.—Act VI., 1849, sec. iv.

PREFATORY NOTE

TO THE

SECTION "LAND REVENUE."

THE present Section includes whatever pertains to the assessment, collection, and appropriation, of the Land Revenue, and the officers by whom those functions are administered.

Under the first head have been arranged all the Regulations relating to the "Settlement of the Land Revenue,"—first, those which have been continued in permanency in the Lower Provinces; and next, those which underwent a change in that respect in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, followed by the later enactments for Cuttack, assimilated generally to those for the Lower Provinces, but not made permanent. These Regulations were the bases of the Revenue administration in those provinces respectively; they have been printed as they were originally promulgated, only omitting the rules which have been actually rescinded. References are, however, made, wherever necessary, to later rules affecting the original provisions, and in the later rules a corresponding reference is made to those in the original Settlement Regulations. Where, however, the rules for any one division of territory correspond with those before given for another division, they have not been repeated in extenso, but referred to.

The second head consists of the laws relating to "Realization of Revenue;" here some doubt has arison as to the extent of the rescission, by Clause Second, Section II., Regulation XI., 1822, of the rules relating to demand and attachment, and also as to how far the Act I., 1845, was intended to supersede the necessity of any coercive measures anterior to a sale. The rules apparently rescinded or superseded having been retained in many works published in India, it has been considered advisable to retain them here, with notes, calling attention to the subsequent rules which appear to affect their operation.

Next follow the rules relating to "Under Tenures," among which will be found some originally enacted for the guidance of the sequestrators of lands attached for arrears of revenue, but which appear, under the operation of Section XI., Regulation V., 1812 (paragraph 72), to have been extended to other cases of attachment.

The enactments relating to "Putnee Talooks" follow next in order; the later rules applicable to the sale of those tenures have been mixed up to some extent with those for bringing a defaulting tenant's real property to sale for arrears; in such cases the rules have not been printed in each division, but have been placed where they seemed most appropriate, and references made to them where necessary.

Under the head of "Realization of Rent," the original rules have required general modification, in consequence of sales for arrears being now conducted by officers appointed specially by the collectors, and not by kazis and other officials as heretofore, and also by the transfer of the jurisdiction in summary suits from the Courts to the collectors. These alterations have, in two or three instances, given rise to doubts which have been noted in their place.

The three next heads, "Division of Estates," "Registry of Estates," and "Court of Wards," do not call for any especial notice.

Under the head of the "La-khiraj," the original rules for trying the validity of grants have been retained, although they are in a great measure rendered obsolete by the later rules, which vest the revenue authorities with powers to inquire into the validity of la-khiraj and mocurrery tenures, and which cast the burden of proving their validity upon the possessors.

Next follows the head "Endowments and Escheats," the rules relating to which are but few in number, and their arrangement sufficiently obvious.

Under the next division, "Pensions," the rules for deciding on claims to pensions have been omitted as having become obsolete from lapse of time.

The heads coming next in succession are "Alluvial and Derelict Lands," "Acquirement of Lands for Public Works," "Embankments and Watercourses," and "Boundary Marks," the rules for which are simple, and have undergone little change.

The last head is that of "Revenue Officers," on which it is proper to observe that the titles of the controlling boards and their jurisdictions having undergone many changes, the rules have been verbally altered, wherever necessary, to accord with their present designation, as the revenue boards in the Lower Provinces and the North-Western Provinces respectively. Regulation IX., 1816, which appointed a commissioner for the Sunderbuns, has been retained under this head, as it does not appear to have been repealed or superseded, or indeed to have received any subsequent notice. After the rules relating to Putwarries, are added a few relating to village accounts, and the section is brought to a close by the rules which relate to the powers of the revenue authorities, in calling proprietors and farmers before them.

Act XXIII., 1850, relating to the "Land Revenue of Calcutta," is appended to the division relating to "Land Revenue."

The Regulations relating to "Settlement of the Revenue" having been printed before the general arrangement of the work was decided on, the sheets composing it have not been paged in the usual place; but as the numbering at the bottom of the page is the same as what would be placed at the top were it now inserted, there appears to be no necessity for repeating the numbering. The paging, therefore, of the head "Settlement," will be found at the bottom of the page; but in the subsequent sheets in its usual place.

SETTLEMENT OF THE LAND REVENUE.

NOTE.—The original Regulations for the settlement of the Land Revenue are here printed as they were promulgated, excepting only that rules rescinded or superseded are omitted. Those enactments being respectively framed as containing entire and fundamental systems of financial administration, it appeared inexpedient to alter their form and arrangement in any manner, by separately classifying their provisions under appropriate heads, or by introducing among them the additional or modifying rules subsequently enacted; attention, however, is in all cases directed to such rules, and the places where they are to be found are indicated.

LOWER PROVINCES.

PERMANENT SETTLEMENT.

1. The following articles of the proclamation relative to the limitation of the public demand upon the lands, addressed by the Governor-General in Council to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land paying revenue to Government, in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, are hereby enacted into a Regulation, which is to have force and effect from the 22nd March, 1793, the date of the proclamation.—Reg. I., 1793, sec. i.

PROCLAMATION.

2. Art. I. In the original Regulations for the decennial settlement of the public revenues of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, passed for those provinces respectively on the 18th September, 1789, the 25th November, 1789, and the 10th February, 1790, it was notified to the proprietors of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement might be concluded, that the jumma assessed upon their lands under those Regulations would be continued after the expiration of the ten years, and remain unalterable for ever, provided such continuance should meet with the approbation of the Honourable Court of Directors for the affairs of the East-India Company, and not otherwise.—Reg. I., 1793, sec. ii.

3. Art. II. The Marquis Cornwallis, Knight of the most noble order of the Garter, Governor-General in Council, now notifies to all zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land paying revenue to Government, in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, that he has been empowered by the Honourable Court of Directors for the affairs of the East-India Company to declare the jumma, which has been, or may be assessed upon their lands under the Regulations above-mentioned, fixed for ever.—Reg. I., 1793, sec. iii.

4. Art. III. The Governor-General in Council accordingly declares to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been concluded under the Regulations above-mentioned, that at the expiration of the term of the settlement, no alteration will be made in the assessment which they have respectively engaged to pay, but that they, and their heirs and lawful successors, will be allowed to hold their estates at such assessment for ever.—Reg. I., 1793, sec. iv.

5. Art. IV. The lands of some zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, having been held khas, or let in farm, in consequence of their refusing to pay the assessment required of them under the Regulations above-mentioned, the Governor-General in Council now notifies to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, whose lands are held khas, that they shall be restored to the management of their lands, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which has been, or may be required of them, in conformity to the Regulations above-mentioned, and that no alteration shall afterwards be made in that assessment, but that they, and their heirs and lawful successors, shall be permitted to hold their respective estates at such assessment for ever: and he declares to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, whose lands have been let in farm, that they shall not regain possession of their lands before the expiration of the period for which they have been farmed (unless the farmers shall voluntarily consent to make over to them the remaining term of their lease, and the Governor-General in Council shall approve of the transfer), but that at the expiration of that period, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which may be required of them, they shall be reinstated, and that no alteration shall afterwards be made in that assessment, but that they, and their heirs and lawful successors, shall be allowed to hold their respective estates at such assessment for ever.—Reg. I., 1793, sec. v.

6. Art. V. In the event of the proprietary right in lands that are, or may become, the property of Government being transferred to individuals, such individuals, and their heirs and lawful successors, shall be permitted to hold the lands at the assessment at which they may be transferred for ever.—Reg. I., 1793, sec. vi.

7. Art. VI. It is well known to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, as well as to the inhabitants of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, in general, that from the earliest times until the present period, the public assessment upon the lands has never been fixed, but that, according to established usage and custom, the rulers of these provinces have from time to time demanded an increase of assessment from the proprietors of land; and that, for the purpose of obtaining this increase, not only frequent investigations have been made to ascertain the actual produce of their estates, but that it has been the practice to deprive them of the management of their lands, and either to let them in farm, or to appoint officers on the part of Government to collect the assessment immediately from the ryots. The Honourable Court of Directors, considering these usages and measures to be detrimental to the prosperity of the country, have, with a view to promote the future ease and happiness of the people, authorized the foregoing declarations; and the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or may be concluded, are to consider these orders fixing the amount of the assessment as irrevocable, and not liable to alteration by any persons whom the Court of Directors may hereafter appoint to the administration of their affairs in this country.

The Governor-General in Council trusts that the proprietors of land, sensible of the benefits conferred upon them by the public assessment being fixed for ever, will exert themselves in the cultivation of their lands, under the certainty that they will enjoy exclusively the fruits of their own good management and industry, and that no demand will ever be made upon them, or their heirs or successors, by the present or any future Government, for an augmentation of the public assessment in consequence of the improvement of their respective estates.

To discharge the revenues at the stipulated periods without delay or evasion, and to conduct themselves with good faith and moderation towards their dependent talookdars and ryots, are duties at all times indispensably required from the proprietors of land, and a strict observance of those duties is now more than ever incumbent upon them, in return for the benefits which they will themselves derive from the orders now issued. The Governor-General in Council therefore expects that the proprietors of land will not only act in this manner themselves towards their dependent talookdars and ryots, but also enjoin the strictest adherence to the same principles in the persons whom they may appoint to collect the rents from them. He further expects, that without deviating from this line of conduct, they will regularly discharge the revenue in all seasons; and he accordingly notifies to them, that in future no claims or applications for suspensions or remissions on account of drought, inundation, or other calamity of season, will be attended to; but that in the event of any zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or may be concluded, or his or her heirs or successors failing in the punctual discharge of the public revenue which has been or may be assessed upon their lands under the above-mentioned Regulations, a sale of the whole of the lands of the defaulter, or such portion of them as may be sufficient to make good the arrear, will positively and invariably take place.—Reg. I., 1793, sec. vii.

8. Art. VII. To prevent any misconstruction of the foregoing articles, the Governor-General in Council thinks it necessary to make the following declarations to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land.

First. It being the duty of the ruling power to protect all classes of people, and more particularly those who, from their situation, are most helpless, the Governor-General in Council will, whenever he may deem it proper, enact such Regulations as he may think necessary for the protection and welfare of the dependent talookdars, ryots, and other cultivators of the soil, and no zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, shall be entitled on this account to make any objection to the discharge of the fixed assessment which they have respectively agreed to pay.

Second. The Governor-General in Council having on the 28th July, 1790, directed the sayer collections to be abolished, a full compensation was granted to the proprietors of land for the loss of revenue sustained by them in consequence of this abolition; and he now declares, that if he should hereafter think it proper to re-establish the sayer collections, or any other internal duties, and to appoint officers on the part of Government to collect them, no proprietor of land will be admitted to any participation thereof, or be entitled to make any claims for remissions of assessment on that account.

Third. The Governor-General in Council will impose such assessment as he may deem equitable on all lands at present alienated and paying no public revenue, which have been or may be proved to be held under illegal or invalid titles. The assessment so imposed will belong to Government, and no proprietor of land will be entitled to any part of it.

Fourth. The jumma of those zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, which is declared fixed in the foregoing articles, is to be considered entirely unconnected with and exclusive of any allowances which have been made to them in the adjustment of their jumma for keeping up tannahs or police establishments, and also of the produce of any lands which they may have been permitted to appropriate for the same purpose; and the Governor-General in Council reserves to himself the option of resuming the whole or part of such allowances or produce of such lands, according as he may think proper, in consequence of his having exonerated the proprietors of land from the charge of keeping the peace, and appointed officers on the part of Government to superintend the police of the country. The Governor-General in Council, however, declares that the allowances or produce of lands which may be resumed, will be appropriated to no other purpose but that of defraying the expense of the police, and that instructions will be sent to the collectors not to add such allowances or the produce of such lands to the jumma of the proprietors of land, but to collect the amount from them separately.

NOTE.—It was enacted by Clause Second, Section ii., Regulation VI., 1797, that "the produce of lands and the allowances resumed or resumable" under the above clause "being still applicable towards defraying the expense of the police, are to be carried to the public account towards discharging the same as heretofore."

Fifth. Nothing contained in this proclamation shall be construed to render the lands of the several descriptions of disqualified proprietors, specified in the first article of the Regulations regarding disqualified landholders, passed on the 15th July, 1791, liable to sale for any arrears which have accrued, or may accrue, on the fixed jumma that has been, or may be assessed upon their lands under the above-mentioned Regulations for the decennial settlement; provided that such arrears have accrued, or may accrue, during the time that they have been, or may be dispossessed of the management of their lands, under the said Regulations of the 15th July, 1791. It is to be understood, however, that whenever all or any of the descriptions of disqualified landholders, specified in the first article of the last-mentioned Regulation, shall be permitted to assume or retain the management of their lands, in consequence of the ground of their disqualification no longer existing, or of the Governor-General in Council dispensing with, altering, or abolishing those Regulations, the lands of such proprietors will be held responsible for the payment of the fixed jumma that has been or may be assessed thereon, from the time that the management may devolve upon them, in the same manner as the lands of all actual proprietors of land who are declared qualified for the management of their estates, and also of all actual proprietors who are unqualified for such management, by natural or other disabilities, but do not come within the descriptions of disqualified landholders specified in the first article of the Regulations of the 15th July, 1791, are, and will be held answerable for any arrears that are, or may become due from them, on the fixed jumma which they, or any persons on their behalf, have engaged, or may engage to pay, under the above-mentioned Regulations, for the decennial settlement.—Reg. I., 1793, sec. viii.

9. Art. VIII. That no doubt may be entertained whether proprietors of land are entitled, under the existing Regulations, to dispose of their estates without the previous sanction of Government, the Governor-General in Council notifies to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, that they are privileged to transfer to whomsoever they may think proper, by sale, gift, or otherwise, the proprietary rights in the whole, or any portion of their respective estates, without applying to Government for its sanction to the transfer, and that all such transfers will be held valid, provided that they be conformable to the Mahommedan or the Hindoo laws (according as the religious persuasions of the parties to each transaction may render the validity of it determinable by the former or the latter code), and that they be not repugnant to any Regulations, now in force, which have been passed by the British administrations, or to any Regulations that they may hereafter enact.—Reg. I. 1793, sec. ix.

10. Art. IX. From the limitation of the public demand upon the lands, the neat income, and consequently the value (independent of increase of rent obtainable by improvements) of any landed property, for the assessment on which a distinct engagement has been, or may be entered into between Government and the proprietor, or that may be separately assessed, although included in one engagement with other estates belonging to the same proprietor, and which may be offered for public or private sale entire, will always be ascertainable by a comparison of the amount of the fixed jumma assessed upon it (which, agreeable to the foregoing declarations, is to remain unalterable for ever, to whomsoever the property may be transferred), with the whole of its produce, allowing for the charges of management. But it is also essential, that a notification should be made of the principles upon which the fixed assessment charged upon any such estate will be apportioned on the several divisions of it, in the event of the whole of it being transferred by public or private sale, or otherwise, in two or more lots, or of a portion of it being transferred in one, or in two or more lots, or of its being joint property, and a division of it being made amongst the proprietors; otherwise from the want of a declared rule for estimating the proportion of the fixed jumma with which the several shares would be chargeable in such cases, the real value of each share would be uncertain, and consequently the benefits expected to result from fixing the public assessment upon the lands, would be but partially obtained. The Governor-General in Council has accordingly prescribed the following rules for apportioning the fixed assessment in the several cases above mentioned; but as Government might sustain a considerable loss of revenue by disproportionate allotments of the assessment, were the apportioning of it, in any of the cases above specified, to be left to the proprietors, he requires that all such transfers or divisions as may be made by the private act of the parties themselves be notified to the collector of the revenue of the zillah in which the lands may be situated, or such other officer as Government may in future prescribe, in order that the fixed jumma assessed upon the whole estate may be apportioned on the several shares in the manner hereafter directed, and that the names of the proprietors of each share, and the jumma charged thereon, may be entered upon the public registers, and that separate engagements for the payment of the jumma assessed upon each share may be executed by the proprietors, who will thenceforward be considered as actual proprietors of land. And the Governor-General in Council declares, that if the parties to such transfers or divisions shall omit to notify them to the collector of the revenue of the zillah, or such other officer as may be hereafter prescribed, for the purposes before mentioned, the whole of such estate will be held responsible to Government for the discharge of the fixed jumma assessed upon it, in the same manner as if no such transfer or division had ever taken place. The Governor-General in Council thinks it necessary further to notify, in elucidation of the declarations contained in this article (which are conformable to the principles of the existing Regulations), that if any zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, shall dispose of a portion of his or her lands as a dependent talook, the jumma which may be stipulated to be paid by the dependent talookdar will not be entered upon the records of Government, nor will the transfer exempt such lands from being answerable, in common with the remainder of the estate, for the payment of the public revenue assessed upon the whole of it, in the event of the proprietor, or his or her heirs or successors, falling in arrear from any cause whatever; nor will it be allowed, in any case, to affect the rights or claims of Government, any more than if it had never taken place.

First. In the event of the whole of the lands of a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been, or may be concluded, under the Regulations above mentioned, being exposed to public sale by the order of the Governor-General in Council, for the discharge of arrears of assessment, or in consequence of the decision of a court of justice, in two or more lots, the assessment upon each lot shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual produce, as the fixed assessment upon the whole of the lands sold may bear to the whole of their actual produce. This produce shall be ascertained in the mode that is, or may be prescribed by the existing Regulations, or such other Regulations as the Governor-General in Council may hereafter adopt, and the purchaser or purchasers of such lands, and his, or her, or their heirs and lawful successors, shall hold them at the jumma at which they may be so purchased, for ever.

Second. When a portion of the lands of a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been, or may be concluded, under the Regulations before mentioned, shall be exposed to public sale, by order of the Governor-General in Council, for the liquidation of arrears of assessment, or pursuant to the decision of a court of justice, the assessment upon such lands, if disposed of in one lot, shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to their actual produce, as the fixed assessment upon the whole of the lands of such proprietor, including those disposed of, may bear to the whole of their actual produce. If the lands sold shall be disposed of in two or more lots, the assessment upon each lot shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual produce, as the fixed assessment upon the whole of the lands of such proprietor, including those sold, may bear to the whole of their actual produce. The actual produce of the whole of the lands of such proprietor, whether the portion of them which may be sold be disposed of in one, or in two or more lots, shall be ascertained in the mode that is or may be prescribed by the existing Regulations, or such other Regulations as the Governor-General in Council may hereafter enact, and the purchaser or purchasers of such lands, and his, or her, or their heirs or successors, will be allowed to hold them at the jumma at which they may be so purchased for ever; and the remainder of the public jumma, which will consequently be payable by the former proprietor of the whole estate, on account of the portion of it that may be left in his or her possession, will continue unalterable for ever.

Third. When a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or may be concluded, shall transfer the whole of his or her estate, in two or more distinct portions, to two or more persons, or a portion thereof to one person, or to two or more persons in joint property, by private sale, gift, or otherwise, the assessment upon each distinct portion of such estate so transferred shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual produce as the assessment upon the whole of the estate of the transferring proprietor, of which the whole or a portion may be so transferred, may bear to the whole of its actual produce. This produce shall be ascertained in the mode that is or may be prescribed in the existing Regulations, or such other Regulations as Government may hereafter adopt, and the person or persons to whom such lands may be transferred, and his, or her, or their heirs and lawful successors, shall hold them at the jumma at which they may be so transferred, for ever; and where only a portion of such estates shall be transferred, the remainder of the public jumma which will consequently be payable by the former proprietor of the whole estates on account of the lands that may remain in his or her possession, shall be continued unalterable for ever.

Fourth. Whenever a division shall be made of lands, the settlement of which has been or may be concluded with or on behalf of the proprietor or proprietors, and that are or may become the joint property of two or more persons, the assessment upon each share shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual produce as the fixed jumma assessed upon the whole of the estate divided may bear to the whole of its actual produce. This produce shall be ascertained in the mode that is or may be prescribed by the existing Regulations, or such other Regulations as the Governor-General in Council may hereafter adopt, and the sharers, and their heirs and lawful successors, shall hold their respective shares at the jumma which may be so assessed upon them, for ever.—Reg. I., 1793, sec. x.

NOTE.—See additional rule in Paragraph 12.
So much of the above and of the following section as relates to the adjustment of the jumma on lands sold in satisfaction of decrees is repealed by Act IV., 1846.

11. Art. X. The following rules are prescribed respecting the adjustment of the assessment on the lands of zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, whose lands are or may be held khas or let in farm in the event of their being disposed of by public sale, or transferred by any private act of the proprietor, or of their being joint property, and a division of them taking place amongst the proprietors.

First. If the whole or a portion of the lands of a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, who may not have agreed to the payment of the assessment proposed to him or her under the Regulations above mentioned, and whose lands are or may be held khas or let in farm, shall be exposed to public sale in one, or in two or more lots (pursuant to the decree of a court of justice), such lands, if khas, shall be disposed of at whatever assessment the Governor-General in Council may deem equitable, and the purchaser or purchasers of such lands, and his, or her, or their heirs and lawful successors, shall hold the lands at the assessment at which they may be so purchased, for ever. If the lands, at the time of their being exposed to sale, shall be held in farm, and shall be put up in one, or in two or more lots, they shall be disposed of under the following conditions:—The purchaser or purchasers shall receive during the unexpired part of the term of the lease of the farmer, whatever such proprietor shall have been entitled to receive, in virtue of his or her proprietary rights, on account of the lands so purchased, and such purchaser or purchasers shall engage to pay, at the expiration of the lease of the farmer, such assessment on account of the lands as Government may deem equitable. The sum to be received by the purchaser or purchasers during the unexpired part of the term of the lease of the farmer, and the jumma to be paid by such purchaser or purchasers after the expiration of the lease, shall be specified at the time of the sale, and such purchaser or purchasers, and his, or her, or their heirs and lawful successors, shall be allowed to hold the lands at the assessment at which they may be so purchased, for ever.

Second. If a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, whose lands are or may be held khas or let in farm, shall transfer by private sale, gift, or otherwise, the whole or a portion of his or her lands in one, or in two or more lots, the person or persons to whom the lands may be so transferred, shall be entitled to receive from Government (if the lands are held khas), or from the farmer (if the lands are let in farm), the malikanah to which the former proprietor was entitled on account of the lands so transferred. Persons to whom such lands may be so transferred, will stand in the same predicament as the zemindars, independent talookdars, or other actual proprietors of land mentioned in the fourth article, whose lands are held khas, or have been let in farm, in consequence of their refusing to pay the assessment required of them under the before-mentioned Regulations for the decennial settlement, and the declarations contained in that article are to be held applicable to them.

Third. In the event of a division being made of lands that are or may become the joint property of two or more persons, and which are or may be held khas or let in farm, the proprietors of the several shares will stand in the same predicament, with regard to their respective shares, as the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land specified in the fourth article, whose lands have been let in farm or are held khas, in consequence of their having refused to pay the assessment required of them under the before-mentioned Regulations for the decennial settlement, and the declarations contained in that article are to be considered applicable to them.

Rule in addition to Paragraph 10.

12. This rule is to be strictly observed in all cases, whether of public sale or private transfer, or of division between sharers, heirs, or joint proprietors of whatever description; and it is hereby explained, that by the term "actual produce" is to be understood the neat annual rent, or other neat produce receivable by the proprietor, after deducting from the gross rent, or other gross produce, the actual expense of collection and other usual charges of management, inclusive of poolbundy or the expense of embankments, and similar incidental expenses, where such may be paid by the proprietor from his gross receipts, but exclusive of his malikanah or proprietary income, and all other personal appropriations of the gross produce of his estate, as such can have no claim to consideration in determining the neat produce for an equal division of landed property, or for the allotment of the public assessment thereto in conformity to the prescribed rule. Whenever the collector, or other public officer to whom the allotment of the assessment upon the portion of an estate may be committed, shall have reason to suspect the accuracy of the village accounts produced by a putwarry; or if such accounts shall be found to have been fabricated or altered, or not to be the true accounts; or if in any case the true village accounts of the lands, rents, receipts, and disbursements, may not be forthcoming, but the collector or other officer, under the powers vested in him, shall have obtained satisfactory accounts for the three past years of the lands and rents of the entire zemindarry, talook, or other estate, with a specification of the mehal or mehals proposed to be separately assessed, he shall adjust the assessment upon such mehal or mehals, under the general rule of proportion, according to the average neat produce (as above explained) ascertainable from the general accounts of the estate so obtained, without further regard to the village accounts than may appear to him proper, with a view to compare and check the other accounts. Provided, however, that in all cases the collector or other officer shall adopt every authorized measure to obtain the most accurate accounts procurable, and shall fully satisfy himself that the accounts from which he may compute the neat produce of an estate to be divided and distinctly assessed are sufficiently accurate to prevent any risk of loss to Government from the proposed allotment of the assessment; without evidence of which, no distinct assessment is to be proposed by any collector, or approved by the Board of Revenue. Provided further, that nothing in this Regulation shall be understood to authorize the collectors to fix the amount of the assessment to be allotted upon the portion of an estate, whether publicly or privately disposed of, without the sanction of the Board of Revenue; or to alter the provisions made for the correction of error or collusion in such allotments in cases of private divisions of estates.—Reg. I., 1801, sec. viii.

DECENNIAL SETTLEMENT.

13. The original rules for forming a decennial settlement of the revenue to be paid from the lands in Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, passed for those provinces respectively on the 18th September, 1789; 25th November, 1789; and 10th February, 1790, having undergone considerable alterations during the progress of the arrangement, an amended code of rules, including the original rules and the subsequent alterations, was passed on the 23rd November, 1791. That code is now re-enacted, with modifications and amendments adapted to the principles of Regulations II. and III., 1793, by which the judicial powers heretofore vested in the collectors of the revenue as superintendents of the late Courts of Mal Adawlut, or Revenue Courts, are transferred to the Courts of Dewanny Adawlut, or Courts of Civil Judicature, established in the several zillahs and cities for the trial of all civil suits in the first instance.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. i.

14. A new settlement of the land revenue shall be concluded for a period of ten years, to commence with the Fussily, Willaity, and Bengal year 1197, for Behar, Orissa, and Bengal, respectively.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. ii.

15. It shall be at the same time notified to the proprietors of land with whom the settlement may be concluded, that the assessment fixed by the decennial settlement will be continued after the expiration of the ten years, and remain unalterable for ever, provided such continuance shall meet with the approbation of the Honourable Court of Directors, but not otherwise.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. iii.

16. The settlement, under certain restrictions and exceptions hereafter specified, shall be concluded with the actual proprietors of the soil, of whatever denomination, whether zemindars, talookdars, or chowdries.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. iv.

17. First. The talookdars to be considered the actual proprietors of the lands composing the talooks are the following:—

Second. Talookdars who purchased their lands by private or at public sale, or obtained them by gift from the zemindar or other actual proprietor of land to whom they now pay the revenue assessed upon their talooks, or from his ancestors, subject to the payment of the established dues of Government, and who received deeds of sale, or gift of such land, from the zemindar, or sunnuds from the khalsa, making over to them his proprietary rights therein.

Third. Talookdars, whose talooks were formed before the zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land to whom they may now pay their revenue, or his ancestors, succeeded to the zemindarry.

Fourth. Talookdars, the lands comprised in whose talooks were never the property of the zemindar, or other actual proprietor of the soil to whom they now pay their revenue, or his ancestors.

Fifth. Talookdars who have succeeded to talooks of the nature of those described in the preceding clauses, by right of purchase, gift, or inheritance, from the former proprietor of such talooks.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. v., cl. 5.

18. The proprietors of talooks, however, who now pay the public revenue assessed upon their lands through a zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, and whose title-deeds contain a clause stipulating that their revenue is to be paid through him, shall continue to pay their revenue through such zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, as heretofore.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. vi.

19. Talookdars, whose talooks are held under writings or sunnuds from zemindars, or other actual proprietors of lands, which do not expressly transfer the property in the soil, but only entitle the talookdar to possession so long as he continues to discharge the rent or perform the conditions stipulated therein, are considered as leaseholders only, not actual proprietors of the soil, and consequently are not entitled to be rendered independent of the zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, from whom they derive their tenures, provided they now pay the rent assessed upon their talooks to him.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. vii.

20. Talookdars, also, whose tenure is denominated jungleboory, and is of the following description, are not considered entitled to separation from the proprietors of whom they hold. The pottahs granted to these talookdars, in consideration of the grantee clearing away the jungle and bringing the land into a productive state, give it to him and his heirs in perpetuity, with the right of disposing of it either by sale or gift, exempting him from payment of revenue for a certain term, and at the expiration of it subjecting him to a specific assul jumma, with all increases, abwabs, and mahtoots imposed on the pergunnah generally; but this for such part of the land only as the grantee brings into a state of cultivation: and the grantee is further subject to the payment of a certain specified portion of all complimentary presents and fees which he may receive from his under-tenants, exclusive of the fixed revenue. The pottah specifies the boundaries of the land granted, but not the quantity of it, until it is brought into cultivation.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. viii.

21. The rules in paragraph 17 respecting talooks, have also been extended to ayma lands liable to the payment of a fixed quit revenue, denominated malguzary aymas; and, agreeably to the distinctions laid down in that section, it has been ordered, that such malguzary ayma tenures as are held under grants of the Mahomedan Government previous to the Company's accession to the Dewanny, or which have been since granted by proprietors of estates for a consideration received by them, are to be separated from the proprietors to whom their revenue is now paid, as coming within the spirit of the rules for the separation of talookdars who are proprietors of the lands composing their talooks. But malguzary ayma tenures which may appear to have been bonâ fide granted for the purpose of bringing waste lands into cultivation, shall continue included in the estates to which they are now annexed, as coming within the rules in paragraph 20, respecting jungleboory talooks.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. ix.

22. The rules contained in the following paragraph have been prescribed for the guidance of the collectors in carrying into execution the rules relative to the separation of talookdars, who are the actual proprietors of the lands composing their talooks and are declared entitled to separation. —Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. x.

23. Every talookdar being considered as the rightful possessor of his talook, until a better title is established against him by due course of law, the point to be ascertained by the collectors, in carrying the above-mentioned orders into effect, is not whether the holders of the several talooks under their authority are the lawful possessors of the talooks held by them, but whether the nature of their tenure is such as to entitle them to separation, under the rules contained in paragraphs 17 and 21; to ascertain which, they are to call upon the talookdars to produce their title-deeds, and after having examined them, are to separate from the jurisdiction of the zemindars, or other actual proprietors of estates, those who may appear to them to be actual proprietors of the lands composing their talooks, as described in those paragraphs, continuing the remainder under the zemindars, or other actual proprietors, as heretofore. If a talookdar should have no title-deeds to produce, the collector is to make a summary inquiry into his right to separation, and after attending to such proofs and documents as may be produced by the talookdar in support of his title to separation, and by the zemindar, or other actual proprietor, in objection thereto, is to decide, according to the best of his judgment, whether such talookdar be entitled to separation or not, and conclude the settlement accordingly.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xi.

24. The collectors are to acquaint the talookdars whom they may adjudge not to be actual proprietors of the lands composing their talooks, and consequently continue under the zemindars, or other actual proprietors, as heretofore, that if dissatisfied with their decision, they are at liberty to sue such zemindars, or actual proprietors of land, in the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, for the right of property in their talooks; and that, in the event of their establishing such right, they will be separated from such zemindars, or other actual proprietors, and allowed to pay the revenue assessed upon their talooks to the public treasury. They are also to acquaint the zemindars, or other actual proprietors from whose estates talooks may be separated, and who may be dissatisfied with such separation, on the grounds of the holders of such talooks not being the actual proprietors of them, and consequently not entitled to separation under paragraphs 17 and 21, that they are at liberty to sue such talookdars in the Court of Dewanny Adawlut, for the right of property in their talooks, and that, in the event of their establishing such right, the talooks will be replaced under them as heretofore. The right of property in every talook, in cases where it may be disputed, will thus be tried and decided upon according to law, in the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, and either party dissatisfied with the decision of the judge will have an appeal therefrom to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, in cases that may be appealable to that court. —Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xii.

25. Talookdars ordered to be separated are not to be permitted to pay the revenue assessed upon their lands through the zemindars, or other actual proprietors of estates as heretofore.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xiii.

26. Talookdars who, in consequence of the rules in paragraphs 17 and 21, may be separated from the zemindars, or other actual proprietors of estates, through whom they heretofore paid their revenues, are to pay their revenue in future immediately into the collector's treasury; except in districts where, from the number of talooks, or other cause, this mode would be attended with considerable inconvenience, in which case tehseeldars, or native collectors, are to be appointed to receive the revenue of the talooks in such districts.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xiv.

27. Zemindars, or other actual proprietors of land, from whose zemindaries or estates talooks may be separated, shall not be appointed tehseeldars to receive the revenue of the talooks so separated; but the office of tehseeldar shall in every instance be given to some other person of character and responsibility; and the whole expense of it is to be defrayed by Government.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xv.

NOTE.—Additional rules relating to talooks will be found under the head of "TALOOKS, UNDER-TENURES," &c.

28. Mocurrery leases to persons not the actual proprietors of the lands included in such leases, if granted or confirmed by the Supreme Government, or obtained previous to the Company's accession to the Dewanny, are to be continued in force during the lives of the lessees, subject to an abatement of the fixed jumma for the authorized sayer resumed or abolished; but on their death, the settlement is to be made with the actual proprietors of the soil agreeably to this Regulation.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xvi.

29. Mocurrery grants to the actual proprietors of the soil, made or confirmed by the Supreme Government, are also to be continued in force, subject, in like manner, to an abatement of the fixed jumma on account of the resumption or abolition of the authorized sayer. The rules contained in this paragraph and paragraph 28 are to be considered subject to the future confirmation or revocation of the Honourable Court of Directors.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xvii.

30. Mocurrerydars holding lands of which they are not the actual proprietors, and whose mocurrery grants have been obtained since the Company's accession to the Dewanny, and never received the sanction of the Supreme Government, are to be dispossessed, and the settlement is to be made with the actual proprietors of the soil under this Regulation. In cases, however, where such mocurrerydars have been in possession of their mocurreries for a term exceeding twelve years, they are to receive during their lives (subject to the pleasure of the Honourable Court of Directors) the difference between the jumma at which they held the lands and that which may be now agreed to by the actual proprietors, added to the neat produce of the authorized sayer, resumed or abolished.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xviii.

31. Istimrardars, however, who have not got possession of their lands to the exclusion, or without the consent of the actual proprietors, as the mocurrerydars mentioned in paragraph 30 are supposed to have done, but hold them of the proprietors on pottah or lease, are to be considered as a species of pottah talookdars, and the settlement is to be made with them as hereafter specified —Reg VIII, 1793, sec xix

NOTE —See additional rules relating to Mocurrery and Istimrary under the head "LA KHIRAJ"

32 The exceptions to the general order for the conclusion of the decennial settlement with the actual proprietors of the soil, contained in paragraph 15, include the following description of persons females (excepting those whom the Governor-General in Council may judge competent to the management of their own estates), minors, idiots, lunatics, or others rendered incapable of managing their lands by natural defects or infirmities of whatever nature, provided, however, with regard to the whole of these descriptions, that they are not partners in the zemindarries, independent talooks, or other estates held by them, with others of a different description, in which case themselves or guardians are allowed, with their partners, to engage for the settlement of their lands, and elect a joint manager, under the restrictions hereafter mentioned — Reg VIII, 1793, sec xx

33 The lands of disqualified proprietors, coming within the above descriptions, are to be managed for the benefit of the proprietors, by persons appointed to the trust by Government, in the mode prescribed in Regulation X, 1793, which also contains rules for the selection and conduct of such managers, as well as regarding the provision to be made for the support of the proprietors —Reg VIII, 1793, sec xxi

34 A further exception has been made to proprietors in balance to Government, and unable to pay the arrears due from them, in which instances, no settlement is to be concluded with the defaulting proprietors, but their lands are to be let in farm, or held khas, for a period of three years, at the discretion of the collector —Reg. VIII, 1793, sec xxii

35 The determination of the majority of the proprietors present is to be binding on the remainder, in agreeing or disagreeing to the jumma proposed for undivided estates The sharers, however, if dissatisfied, may obtain a division of their lands and a proportionate allotment of the revenue assessed thereon, but at their own expense —Reg VIII, 1793, sec xxvi

36 When a portion of land stands in the joint names of several proprietors, or of one for many, but each proprietor has his separate share in his own possession and management, or in that of an agent for him, the settlement is to be made for each share with the person in possession, and his land is to be held exclusively responsible for the revenue assessed upon it.—Reg VIII, 1793, sec xxvii

37 In case of mortgage, if the mortgagee has obtained possession of the land, the settlement is to be made with him, and the proprietor is to be declared entitled to succeed to his engagements on recovering possession, either by the discharge of his obligations or by the decision of a court of justice If the mortgagee has not possession, the settlement is to be made with the proprietor in possession, and the mortgagee is, in like manner, to succeed to the lease, in case of possession being subsequently adjudged to him —Reg VIII, 1793, sec xxviii

38. If, after due inquiries and reference to the Mofussil records, the proprietors of any land cannot be ascertained, the lands are to be held khas pro tempore, and the same mode is to be adopted with regard to absentees In both cases an advertisement is to be issued, requiring the proprietors or absentees to attend within a period of six months, and if they should not be forthcoming at the expiration of that period, a settlement is to be made with a farmer for ten years, allowing a preference to the zemindar nearest in situation, on his agreeing to the jumma and the terms that may be prescribed by the collector —Reg VIII, 1793, sec xxix

39 Where the property in lands is disputed, the settlement is to be made with the proprietor in possession, under an express declaration that he is nevertheless liable to the claims upon the estate, which is to be transferable to any other person to whom the property may be subsequently adjudged —Reg VIII, 1793, sec xxx

40 If a case should occur in which none of the claimants shall have been previously in possession, they are to be allowed to appoint a manager until their claims shall have been determined in the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah but if they should not agree to a manager, the lands are to be held khas, and the surplus produce, after discharging the revenue, is to be kept in deposit until the right of property shall be adjudged —Reg VIII, 1793, sec xxxi

41 Where disputes exist concerning the boundaries of land, they are to be left to be adjusted in the Dewanny Adawlut, and the settlement is to be made in the mean time for the lands in possession of the disputing parties respectively —Reg VIII, 1793, sec xxxii

42 The special rules for fixing the assessment of the three provinces respectively, adapted to the local circumstances of each, commence with paragraph 74, and the following general rules have been prescribed in addition thereto —Reg VIII, 1793, sec xxxiii

43 The allowances of the cazies and canongoes, heretofore paid by the landholders, as well as any public pensions hitherto paid through the landholders, are to be added to the amount of the jumma, and in future paid by the collectors of the revenue of the several zillahs, on the part of Government, under the rules and restrictions laid down for their guidance with regard to such payments, in the resolutions passed by the Governor-General in Council on the 10th June, 1791, and re-enacted with modifications by Regulation XXIV., 1793.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xxxiv.

44. The assessment is to be fixed exclusive and independent of all duties, taxes, and other collections, known under the general denomination of sayer; the collections made in the gunges, hauts, and bazars, situated within the limits of the town of Calcutta excepted, and excepting also the collections confirmed to the proprietors and holders of gunges, bazars, and hauts, by the resolutions passed by the Governor-General in Council on the 11th of June, 1790. Those resolutions, with the subsequent rules enacted for the regulation of the abkary, or tax on intoxicating liquors and drugs, the abolition of the other sayer collections resumed, and the compensations to be made to the proprietors and farmers of estates in consequence of this resumption and abolition are re-enacted, with modifications, by Regulation XXVII., 1793.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xxxv.

45. The assessment is also to be fixed exclusive and independent of all existing la-khiraj lands, whether exempted from the khiraj (or public revenue) with or without due authority.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xxxvi.

46. The above exception, however, is not meant to include the malikanah lands in Behar, or the nankar, khomar, neej-joot, and other private lands of the zemindars and independent talookdars, or other actual proprietors of land, in Bengal and Midnapore, regarding which the following rules have been prescribed.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xxxvii.

47. Where the zemindars, or other actual proprietors of land in Behar have resigned, or have been deprived of the management of their lands, retaining possession of a tithe as malikanah, the latter is to be re-annexed, and the zemindars or other actual proprietors are to be required to engage for the whole of their estates, including the malikanah lands, unless such lands be held as malikanah under grants made or confirmed by the Governor-General in Council, or the supreme authority of the country for the time being, and have been sold or mortgaged, and given in possession to the mortgagee; in which case they are to be exempted from this rule. Grants for malikanah lands not made or confirmed by the supreme authority of the country, are declared invalid by the Regulations passed on the 8th August, 1788. If the collectors, however, should be of opinion that any material injury will be done to any individual by the execution of these orders, they are to report the circumstances to the Board of Revenue.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xxxviii.

48. The nankar, khomar, neej-joot, and other private lands appropriated by the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, in Bengal and Orissa, to the subsistence of themselves and families, shall be also annexed to the malguzary lands, and the ten years' jumma fixed upon the whole under the following modification; that such proprietors as may decline to engage for their lands be allowed the option of retaining possession of their private lands above specified, upon the terms on which they have hitherto possessed them, provided they shall prove, to the satisfaction of the Board of Revenue, that they held them under a similar tenure previous to the 12th August, 1765, the date of the grant of the Dewanny to the Company, and have hitherto been permitted to keep possession of them, whenever their zemindaries or estates have been held khas or let in farm, but not otherwise. In the event of such proof, and of their availing themselves of the option above given to retain possession of their private lands, a deduction, adequate to the neat produce of such lands, is to be made from the amount of the allowance fixed for excluded proprietors.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xxxix.

49. The above consolidation of the malguzary and private lands is also to be made in the talooks continued under the proprietors on whom they have hitherto been dependent; not, however, with a view of increasing the rents of the talookdars, but in order to make the whole of the lands composing their talooks answerable for their proportion of the public assessment allotted thereon.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xl.

50. The chakeran lands, or lands held by public officers and private servants in lieu of wages, are also not meant to be included in the exception contained in paragraph 45. The whole of these lands in each province are to be annexed to the malguzary lands, and declared responsible for the public revenue assessed on the zemindaries, independent talooks, or other estates in which they are included, in common with all other malguzary lands therein.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xli.

51. In the event of any proprietor declining to engage for the settlement of his lands at the jumma proposed to him, the collector is to communicate the objections offered, with his opinion respecting them, to the Board of Revenue. That Board is to determine the proper assessment after making such further inquiries as they may think necessary, and the objecting proprietor is to be required to engage for such assessment without further delay; and in the event of his refusal, which is to be given in writing, his lands are to be let in farm or held khas, as the Board of Revenue may in each instance think most expedient.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xliii.

52. Proprietors who may finally decline engaging for the jumma proposed to them, and whose lands may consequently be let in farm or held khas, are to receive malikanah (an allowance in consideration of their proprietary rights) at the rate of ten per cent. on the sudder jumma of their lands if let in farm, or at the same rate on the neat collections from their lands if held khas, viz., on the neat amount realized by Government, after defraying the malikanah as well as all other charges. Out of this allowance, however, a provision is to be made for such persons belonging to the families of the proprietors as may be entitled thereto.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xliv.

53. When the lands are let in farm, the farmer is to engage to pay the ten per cent. malikanah to the proprietor of the lands farmed in him, in addition to the jumma payable by him to Government, and to pay this malikanah monthly, according to the kistbundy fixed for the sudder jumma, with an exception to any cases in which it may have been otherwise stipulated with the farmers.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xlv.

NOTE.—Clause First, Section v., Regulation VII., 1822, enacted for the Ceded and Conquered Provinces and Cuttack, rescinded all "provisions in the existing Regulations regarding the allowance to be made to zemindars and other malguzars who may be excluded from the management of mehals owned or claimed by them, whether as malikanah or nankar." This enactment was extended to all the other provinces by Section ii., Regulation IX., 1825, and declared to apply to "all lands not included within the limits of estates for which a permanent settlement has been concluded, and to all estates held khas;" but Section xl., Regulation IX., 1833, declares the new provisions to be only of prospective effect.

54. The collectors are to enforce payment of the malikanah specified in the preceding paragraph from the farmers, by the same process as is prescribed for enforcing payment of arrears of the public revenue, if they shall at any time neglect to pay the instalment due from them; and Government are to be considered as guarantees for the full payment of the fixed allowance to the several excluded proprietors.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xlvi.

55. In the event of the lands being held khas, on the refusal of the proprietor to engage for the settlement of them, the malikanah, calculated as above specified, is to be paid monthly from the treasuries of the collectors, and it shall be paid entirely in money, instead of half in cash and half in paper, as formerly.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xlvii.

56. The settlement having been concluded with the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, they are to enter into engagements with the several dependent talookdars continued under them respectively, and consequently paying revenue through them for the same period as the term of their own engagements with Government, provided the talookdars will agree to such revenue, progressive or otherwise, as the zemindar or other actual proprietor of land, may be entitled to demand from them; and the several zemindars, or actual proprietors of land to whom this rule may be applicable, are required to deliver to the collector, within three months after the conclusion of the settlement with them, a record of the engagements entered into between them and the talookdars dependent on them, specifying their names and talooks, and the jumma payable by each.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xlviii.

57. It is to be understood, however, that istimrardars (mocurrerydars) of the nature of those described in paragraph 30, who have held their land at a fixed rent for more than twelve years, are not liable to be assessed with any increase, either by the officers of Government or by the zemindar or other actual proprietor of land, should he engage for his own lands. With regard to such istimrardars, also, as have not held their lands at a fixed rent for so long a period, if the zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, has bound himself by the deed which he may have executed not to lay any increase upon them, he shall not be allowed to infringe the conditions of the deed for his own benefit, but must confine his demands to the rent he may have voluntarily agreed to receive.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xlix.

58. This last restriction imposed on the zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, in the preceding paragraph, is not to be considered to preclude the officer of Government or farmer, in the event of the zemindary being held khas or let in farm, from assessing such istimrardars according to the general rate of the district.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. l.

59. The following rules are prescribed, to prevent undue exactions from the dependent talookdars.

First. No zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, shall demand an increase from the talookdars dependent on him, although he should himself be subject to the payment of an increase of jumma to Government; except upon proof that he is entitled so to do, either by the special custom of the district, or by the conditions under which the talookdar holds his tenure: or that the talookdar, by receiving abatements from his jumma, has subjected himself to the payment of the increase demanded, and that the lands are capable of affording it.

Second. If in any instance it be proved that a zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, exacts more from a talookdar than he has a right to, the court shall adjudge him to pay a penalty of double the amount of such exaction, with all costs of suit, to the party injured.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. li.

60. The zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, is to let the remaining lands of his zemindary or estate, under the prescribed restrictions, in whatever manner he may think proper; but every engagement contracted with under-farmers shall be specific as to the amount and conditions of it; and all sums received by any actual proprietor of land or any farmer of land, of whatever description, over and above what is specified in the engagements of the persons paying the same, shall be considered as extorted, and be repaid with a penalty of double the amount. The restrictions prescribed and referred to in this paragraph are the following:—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lii.

61. No person contracting with a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor, or employed by him in the management of the collections, shall be authorized to take charge of the lands or collections without an amilnamah, or written commission, signed by such zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. liii.

62. The impositions upon the ryots, under the denomination of abwab, mahtoot, and other appellations, from their number and uncertainty having become intricate to adjust, and a source of oppression to the ryots, all proprietors of land and dependent talookdars shall revise the same, in concert with the ryots, and consolidate the whole with the assul into one specific sum. In large zemindaries or estates, the proprietors are to commence this simplification of the rents of their ryots in the pergunnahs where the impositions are most numerous, and to proceed in it gradually till completed; but so that it be effected for the whole of their lands by the end of the Bengal year 1198 in the Bengal districts, and of the Fussily and Willaity year 1198 in the Behar and Orissa districts, these being the periods fixed for the delivery of pottahs, as hereafter specified.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. liv.

NOTE.—It is enacted by Section iv., Regulation IV., 1794, that Sections liv., lvi., lvii., lviii., lix., and lxi., shall not have effect in the Behar portion of zillah Ramgurh.

63. No actual proprietor of land, or dependent talookdar or farmer of land, of whatever description, shall impose any new abwab or mahtoot upon the ryots, under any pretence whatever. Every exaction of this nature shall be punished by a penalty equal to three times the amount imposed; and if, at any future period, it be discovered that new abwab or mahtoot have been imposed, the person imposing the same shall be liable to this penalty for the entire period of such impositions.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lv.

64. It is expected that, in time, the proprietors of land, dependent talookdars and farmers of land, and the ryots, will find it for their mutual advantage to enter into agreements, in every instance, for a specific sum, for a certain quantity of land, leaving it to the option of the latter to cultivate whatever species of produce may appear to them likely to yield the largest profit. Where, however, it is the established custom to vary the pottah for lands according to the articles produced thereon, and while the actual proprietors of land, dependent talookdars or farmers of land, and ryots in such places, shall prefer an adherence to this custom, the engagements entered into between them are to specify the quantity of land, species of produce, rate of rent, and amount thereof, with the term of the lease, and a stipulation that, in the event of the species of produce being changed, a new engagement shall be executed for the remaining term of the first lease, or for a longer period if agreed on; and in the event of any new species being cultivated, a new engagement, with the like specification and clause, is to be executed accordingly.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lvi.

65. First. The rents to be paid by the ryots, by whatever rule or custom they may be regulated, shall be specifically stated in the pottah, which, in every possible case, shall contain the exact sum to be paid by them.

Second. In cases where the rate only can be specified, such as where the rents are adjusted upon a measurement of the lands after cultivation or on a survey of the crop, or where they are made payable in kind, the rate and terms of payment and proportion of the crop to be delivered, with every condition, shall be clearly specified.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lvii.

66. A ryot, when his rent has been ascertained and settled, may demand a pottah from the actual proprietor of land, dependent talookdar or farmer, of whom he holds his lands, or from the person acting for him: and any refusal to deliver the pottahs, upon being proved in the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, shall be punished by the Court by a fine proportioned to the expense and trouble of the ryot in consequence of such refusal. Actual proprietors of land, dependent talookdars, and farmers, are also required to cause a pottah for the adjusted rent to be prepared and tendered to the ryot, either granting the same themselves, or entrusting their agents to grant the same. No farmer, however, without special permission from the proprietor of the lands, or (if the lands form part of a dependent talook) the dependent talookdar, shall grant a pottah extending beyond the period of his own lease; nor shall any agent grant a pottah without authority from the proprietor or dependent talookdar or the manager of disqualified proprietors.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lix.

67. First. All leases to under-farmers and ryots made previous to the conclusion of the settlement, and not contrary to any Regulation, are to remain in force until the period of their expiration, unless proved to have been obtained by collusion or from persons not authorized to grant them.

Second. No actual proprietor of land, or farmer, or persons acting under their authority, shall cancel the pottahs of the khood kasht ryots except upon proof that they have been obtained by collusion; or that the rents paid by them within the last three years have been reduced below the rate of the nirkbundy of the pergunnah: or that they have obtained collusive deductions; or upon a general measurement of the pergunnah for the purpose of equalizing and correcting the assessment. The rule contained in this clause is not to be considered applicable to Behar.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lx.

68. The proprietors of estates, and the dependent talookdars and farmers of land in Bengal, are allowed until the end of the Bengal year 1198, and those in Behar and Orissa until the end of the Fussily and Willaity year 1198, to prepare and deliver pottahs to the ryots, in conformity to the preceding rules, but after the expiration of the year 1198 no engagements for rent contrary to those ordered are to be held valid; and in the event of any claims being preferred by proprietors of estates, or dependent talookdars, farmers, or ryots, on engagements wherein the consolidation of the assul, abwab, &c., shall appear not to have been made, they are to be nonsuited with costs. —Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxi.

NOTE.—The rules relating to forms of pottahs have been rescinded by Section iii., Regulation V., 1812. See the additional rules relating to Pottahs under the head "TALOOKS, UNDER TENURES, POTTAHS, and ENGAGEMENTS."

69. First. Every proprietor of land, dependent talookdar or farmer of land, of whatever description, and their agents of every gradation, receiving rents or revenues from dependent talookdars, under-farmers, ryots, or others, are to give receipts for all sums received by them, and a receipt in full on the complete discharge of every obligation. Any person to whom a receipt may be refused, on his establishing the same in the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, shall be entitled to damages from the party who received his rent or revenue and refused the receipt, equal to double the amount paid by him.

Second. In case any village or lands should be affected by inundation or other calamity, causing the ryots to desert, it shall not be lawful for any proprietor of land, dependent talookdar or farmer of land, of whatever description, or their agents, to demand the rents of the absconded ryots from those who may remain.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxiii.

70. The proprietors of land, dependent talookdars and farmers of land, of every description, are to adjust the instalments of the rents receivable by them from their under-renters and ryots, according to the time of reaping and selling the produce, and they shall be liable to be sued for damages for not conforming to this rule.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxiv.

71. No proprietor of land or dependent talookdar shall contract any engagement with any under-farmer, or authorize any act contrary to the letter and meaning of this Regulation.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxv.

72. Zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, dependent talookdars, farmers of land holding farms immediately of Government, and all persons farming lands of the above-mentioned descriptions of landholders and farmers of land, and their respective officers, agents, servants, dependents, and ryots, are prohibited from taking cognizance of, or interfering in matters or causes coming within the jurisdiction of the courts of civil judicature, or the Sessions Courts, or the magistrates, under pain of being liable to the payment of such fine to Government, and damages to the party injured, as the court of judicature in which they may be prosecuted for the act may deem it proper to impose and award.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxvi.

73. First. Such of the restrictions on actual proprietors of land and farmers who hold their farms immediately of Government, as are set forth in their respective cabooleats and are not repealed by any Regulation printed and published in the manner directed in Regulation XLI., 1793, are to be considered in full force.

Second. Actual proprietors of land are to be considered to have been entitled, between the period of the conclusion of the settlement with them and the 22nd March, 1793, the date of the proclamation declaring the decennial settlement perpetual inserted in Regulation I., 1793, to borrow money on the credit of their lands, and to sell or otherwise dispose of them, subject to the rules and restrictions existing when the transactions took place; and all bonâ fide transfers of zemindaries, or other estates or talooks, made by any actual proprietor of land or dependent talookdar, subsequent to the 8th June, 1787, are to be deemed valid, although they shall have taken place without the sanction of the Board of Revenue required to be obtained by the Regulations passed on that date; and all actual proprietors of land and dependent talookdars are to be held to have been at liberty, from the 29th October, 1790, to borrow money without the sanction of the Board of Revenue.

Third. In the amended code of the rules for the decennial settlement, passed on the 23rd November, 1791, it was declared, that in all instances in which ryots should give security for the performance of their engagements, and such security should be accepted by the landholders or farmers, it should not be lawful for the two latter to attach the crop of the former, unless the security should have absconded and other good security not have been tendered in consequence. This rule was annulled by the Regulations passed by the Governor-General in Council on the 20th July, 1792, which have been re-enacted, with alterations and amendments, by Regulation XVII., 1793.

Fourth. In the original rules for the decennial settlement, the landholders were declared responsible for the peace of their districts, and bound to act agreeably to such Regulations on that head as might afterwards be enacted. This rule was superseded by the Regulations passed by the Governor-General in Council on the 7th December, 1792, which have been re-enacted, with alterations and amendments, by Regulation XXII., 1793.

Fifth. In the original rules above mentioned it was also directed, that if, in any instance, the Regulations should appear inapplicable to the circumstances of any particular district, the collector should attend to the spirit of them, and carry them into execution in such mode as circumstances might allow, reporting any alterations or modifications which he might deem necessary. This rule is to be considered still in force in forming any settlements which remain to be concluded, but it is not to be construed to empower the collector to exercise any judicial authority.

Sixth. It was further ordered in the original rules before mentioned, that if, from want of sufficient materials or information, or on account of other impediments, the collectors should be unable to complete the settlement of all the pergunnahs under their charge, agreeably to the prescribed plan, within the year 1197 of the eras current in the three provinces respectively, the settlement was to be made for one year only, according to the principles laid down in the Regulations of the 25th April, 1788, for the settlement of 1196, the year preceding the first year of the decennial settlement.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxvii.

BENGAL SPECIAL ORDERS.

74. In fixing the amount of the assessment, the jumma of the preceding year, compared with the accounts and information supplied by the collectors, and the recommendation of the Board of Revenue founded thereon, is to be the standard, under the following considerations:—Reg. VIII. 1793, sec. lxviii.

75. If the Board of Revenue shall have reason to believe that the accounts furnished of any particular district or districts are materially defective, that more accurate information of their actual produce is necessary, and that it can be procured without having recourse to hustaboods and measurements, which have been prohibited, the decennial settlement of such districts is to be postponed.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxix.

76. No abatement from the jumma of the preceding year is to be allowed, without the special sanction of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxx.

77. Any occasional diminution of the jumma which it may be necessary to allow on account of casualties of season, is to be restored by a russud, or progressive increase; but no russud shall be established to extend beyond the third year of the settlement, except in the separated talooks, and other petty mehals, in which the Board of Revenue may allow a further extension of the russud, if it shall appear to them expedient.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxi.

78. The settlement is to be made, as far as possible, in one neat sum, free from any charges of moshaira, zemindary amlah, poolbundy, cutcherry charges, or others of a similar nature; it being intended, that all charges incidental to the receipt of the rents of the lands, and independent of the allowances of the officers of Government and expenses attending the collection of the public revenue, shall be defrayed by the proprietors from the produce of their lands.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxii.

79. In every possible case, all separate allowances to the families and connections of the proprietors of land are to be abolished, and the provision for their maintenance is to devolve upon the proprietors.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxiii.

80. With respect to any of the existing established zemindary charges, such as pensions, charitable or other allowances, which it may be thought proper to continue, they shall be paid by the collectors, and the proprietors and farmers of land are to have no concern in them; unless, for special reasons of convenience, it should be deemed more expedient, in any instance, to intrust the proprietors or farmers of land with the disbursement of them.—Reg. VIII, 1793, sec. lxxiv.

81. The standard for fixing the future assessment, mentioned in paragraph 74, viz., the jumma of the preceding year compared with the accounts and information supplied by the collectors, and the recommendation of the Board of Revenue thereon, cannot be applied, however, to the separated talooks which have not heretofore paid any jumma immediately to Government; nor is it to be understood to be applicable to any instances where the actual produce of the lands may have been ascertained. In all such instances, and in all separated talooks, the jumma of which shall clearly appear to have been fixed below the general rate of assessment of the pergunnah wherein they are situated, the assessment is to be regulated so as to leave to the proprietors a provision for themselves and families equal to about ten per cent. on the amount of their contributions to Government, including the produce of their nankar, or other private lands, to be annexed to the malguzary lands, as directed in paragraph 48; and the talookdars, whose jumma may be raised by virtue of this rule, are to be informed that they may sue in the Dewanny Adawlut the proprietor who fixed their jumma, if they shall think themselves aggrieved by their payments being enhanced contrary to the terms of a grant which the zemindars had no authority to bestow on them.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxv.

82. From this rule, however, are to be excepted all separated talooks, as well as all lands heretofore paying revenue immediately to Government, which may have been held at a fixed jumma during the last twelve years; and the decennial settlement is to be concluded with the proprietors of such talooks and lands at the jumma hitherto paid by them, subject to such deduction as may be found equitable on account of the sayer, resumed or abolished.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxvi.

83. The estimated provision for the landholders and their families where the assessment may be fixed on the ascertained produce of their lands, is stated generally at ten per cent. on the jumma payable by them; but if, owing to any peculiar circumstances, a larger provision should be deemed necessary, particularly in zemindaries or independent talooks yielding a small revenue, the Governor-General in Council will take the same into consideration.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxvii.

84. In carrying into execution the principles contained in paragraph 74, it will be necessary to consider whether the several charges noticed have been heretofore defrayed by the actual proprietors of land, independent of their assessment, or by Government, with a view to determine whether a deduction is to be allowed from their future jumma to provide for them, or otherwise.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxviii.

85. In cases where the charges alluded to in the preceding paragraph have been defrayed by the actual proprietors of land, independently of their jumma to Government, they will not of course be entitled to any deduction on account of them; but where they have been heretofore paid by Government, the jumma must suffer a proportionate diminution, unless there be sufficient funds for the discharge of them in addition to the former jumma. With respect to the moshaira, in particular, it is to be observed, that where the lands have been let in farm, but are now left with the proprietor, the latter may be presumed to receive an equivalent for his former allowance in the profits of the farmer, which will revert to him.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxix.

86. Where the jumma may be fixed on the ascertained gross assets, the mofussil charges of every denomination, whether dehatee, pergunnatee, or others, must further be considered in calculating the proper assessment; and the collectors are to transmit a statement of the estimated gross assets, with an adjustment of the revenue thereto, conformably to the above rules.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxx.

87. Every circumstance influencing the regulation of the jumma is to be minutely recorded, to prevent any claims hereafter on the part of the proprietors or farmers for lowering the amount. —Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxxi.

BEHAR SPECIAL ORDERS.

88. The jumma which each actual proprietor of land is to pay is to be fixed by the collector on fair and equitable principles with the reserve of the approbation of the Board of Revenue, to whom he is to report the grounds of his decision on the jumma. If he should deem it eligible, he may call upon the actual proprietors of land to deliver in proposals for the settlement of their lands; but his judgment is, in the first instance, to determine the amount of the assessment.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxxii.

89. The collectors, in fixing the jumma, are to attend to the modes which have hitherto prevailed in ascertaining the assets, and fixing the jumma between the proprietors of small estates and the principal proprietor or farmer, adopting, in all practicable instances, the following general rule: that the average product of the land in common years (assuming three or four for the calculation) be taken as the basis of the settlement, and from this deductions to be made equal to the malikanah and khurcha, leaving the remainder the jumma of Government. The Governor-General in Council relies on the accuracy of the collectors in the application of this rule; and they are authorized, in the event of great uncertainty, to measure the lands. This uncertainty, however, is to be reported to the Board of Revenue; and the measurement is not to be undertaken, but on the clearest grounds of the necessity of it.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxxiii.

90. From the above rules are to be excepted all lands heretofore paying revenue immediately to Government, which may have been held at a fixed jumma during the last twelve years; and the decennial settlement is to be concluded with the actual proprietors of such lands at the jumma hitherto paid by them, subject to such deduction as may be found equitable on account of the sayer, resumed or abolished.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxxiv.

91. No abatement from the sudder jumma of 1196 is to be confirmed without the special sanction of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxxv.

92. The sudder kistbundy is to be so regulated as to afford the proprietors of land all possible convenience in the discharge of their revenue, with due regard to the security of Government.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxxvi.

93. The collectors are to proceed with due caution and information in the execution of these fundamental resolutions; and it is expected they will be able, when called upon, to furnish clear and satisfactory explanations of their proceedings, particularly on the amount of the assessment.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxxvii.

MIDNAPORE SPECIAL ORDERS.

94. The collector is authorized to make alterations in the jumma of 1196, when, from good information and his own experience, it may appear necessary to render the jumma of the respective zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, more equal and proportioned to the resources of their lands.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxxviii.

95. In order to ascertain the necessity of granting any remissions upon the jumma of 1196, the collector is to examine the wassilaut and akhrajaut, or the gross receipts and expenditures, comparing the one with the other, and checking the latter when exorbitant; and he is particularly to ascertain, to his full satisfaction, those instances in which the zemindars, independent talookdars, or other actual proprietors of land, have been under the necessity of selling their lands and effects to make good the amount of their stipulations.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. lxxxix.

96. To obviate and correct, as far as possible, any unnecessary or studied delays in the zemindars and talookdars, in giving the accounts required, he is authorized to impose a moderate fine upon such of them as may be guilty of delays or evasions, reporting the cases as they may occur to the Board of Revenue.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xc.

97. In cases of great doubt and uncertainty, the collector is authorized to measure the lands, or make such mofussil investigations into the produce of them as he may deem necessary for ascertaining the truth.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xci.

98. The collector is authorized, upon the grounds of the information contained in the mode above pointed out, to grant remissions upon the jumma of 1196, the Governor-General in Council expecting that no remission will be allowed but upon satisfactory explanations of the necessity of it; but the settlement is to be made under an express reserve and limitation, that it be approved and confirmed by the Governor-General in Council, and a declaration to this effect is to be made to the proprietors.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xcii.

99. The estimated allowance for casual deficiency upon the gross jumma is to be reduced from Rupees 1,30,477 to the sum of Rupees 50,546, which is three per cent. upon the gross jumma of Rupees 16,84,868. 5 a. 1 p., after deducting from it the article of batta.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xciii.

100. The allowance for religious expenditures being enormous, shall also be reduced. The Governor-General in Council does not mean to prescribe the exact amount of the reduction, but conceives that the sum now allowed will admit of a diminution of at least 35,000 rupees. The collector, in fixing the assessment, is to regulate the estimate of the amount of it by this consideration. These charges being highest in the pergunnahs of Cossejurah, Shahpore, Midnapore, and Mynachoura, the reduction ought to be greatest in them.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xciv.

101. The charges of purchasing provisions for the battalion when in the town of Midnapore, and of firewood and grass when travelling, if such have been actually incurred by the proprietors of land, are to be discontinued, and no such charge shall be incurred by them in future.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xcv.

102. The settlement is to be made, as far as possible, in one neat sum, free from any charges of moshaira, zemindary amlah, poolbundy, cutcherry, or other charges of a similar nature; it being intended that all charges incidental to the receipt of the rents of the lands, independent of the allowances of the officers of Government and expenses attending the collection of the public revenue, shall be defrayed by the proprietors from the produce of their lands.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xcvi.

103. With respect to any of the existing established zemindary charges, such as pensions, charitable allowances, or others, which it may be thought proper to continue, they are to be paid by the collectors, and the proprietors are to have no concern in them; unless, for special reasons of convenience, it should be deemed more expedient, in any instance, to intrust the landholders with the disbursement of them.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xcvii.

104. Any occasional diminution of the jumma, which it may be necessary to allow on account of casualties of season, is to be restored by a russud or progressive increase; but no russud shall be established to extend beyond the third year of the settlement, except in the separated talooks and other petty mehals, in which the Board of Revenue may allow a further extension of the russud, if it shall appear to them expedient.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xcviii.

105. Every circumstance influencing the regulation of the jumma must be minutely recorded, to prevent any claims hereafter, on the part of the proprietors, for lowering the amount of it.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. xcix.

SALT DISTRICTS' SPECIAL ORDERS.

106. The rules contained in the preceding sections of this Regulation, as far as they relate to the term of the settlement and the formation of it with the actual proprietors of land, are not to be considered as applicable to such of the salt districts as have been held khas in the past years, to facilitate the conduct of the business of the salt manufacture. These are to continue khas as heretofore, and the assessment of them is to be from year to year as hitherto, until the Governor-General in Council shall think it proper to pass a Regulation to the contrary.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. c.

107. The collectors of the revenue in the districts alluded to in the preceding paragraph have been ordered to prepare and deliver pottahs to the ryots conformably to the rules prescribed in this Regulation, and within the period limited for the delivery of them in Midnapore.—Reg. VIII., 1793, sec. ci.

PERMANENT SETTLEMENT.

108. The Governor-General in Council having determined, with the concurrence of the Rajah of Benares, to introduce into that province, as far as local circumstances will admit, the same system of interior administration as has been established in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, and the limitation of the annual revenue payable from the lands forming an essential part of that system, as stated in the preamble to Regulation II., 1793, the following rules have been enacted.—Reg. I., 1795, sec. i.

109. On the expiration of the year 1195, Fussily, the Governor-General in Council instructed the resident to make the settlement of the revenue for the ensuing year, 1196, under his own immediate control. The resident accordingly completed the settlement, by granting leases for the term of one year to certain aumils, and for five years to others, by which they bound themselves to pay a specific jumma or assessment. But the Governor-General in Council, being desirous of extending to the province of Benares from the beginning of the year 1197, as far as circumstances might admit, the principles of the decennial settlement directed to be formed in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, those principles were accordingly introduced in the districts of which the aumils, in the preceding year, had obtained leases for five years, by their consenting to the resident's issuing pottahs or leases, under their and his joint seals and signatures, for the remaining four years of the term of their own engagements, to all the talookdars, and to the village zemindars and farmers, by which it was stipulated that they should pay a certain fixed assessment, the amount of which should be received by the aumils, and accounted for by them to Government; and in the districts, the leases of which had been granted for one year only, and had consequently expired, by the issuing of pottahs to the talookdars, and the village zemindars and farmers, under the signature of the resident and the rajah, fixing the revenue to be in like manner paid by them through the aumils for the term of ten years. The particulars of these arrangements were detailed in the reports on the said settlements for one year, and for four and ten years, made to the Governor-General in Council, by the resident, on the 26th of April, the 30th of November, and the 26th of December, 1789, and the 25th November, 1790, and in the papers and accounts therein referred to; and on a consideration of them, the Governor-General in Council, on the 11th of February, 1791, approved of the said quartennial and decennial settlements with the talookdars, village zemindars and farmers, and ordered "that the four years' pottahs be confirmed for the ensuing six, so as to reduce the whole to a ten years' settlement, and that assurances be given to the pottah-holders, that as long as they continue to pay their revenue stipulated in the last year of the increase, as specified in their several pottahs, they shall not be liable to any further demand during their lives." This order has been repeatedly notified to the parties whom it concerned, who, with the exception of the pottah-holders in a few pergunnahs, and of certain individual zemindars and farmers in others, have, by the performance of the conditions required of them, become entitled to hold their lands at a fixed assessment during their lives, as specified in the said order. The Governor-General in Council has now further resolved, that the revenue stipulated to be paid on account of the lands included in the quartennial and decennial pottahs, the conditions of which have been performed, whether held by zemindars or farmers, shall be fixed in perpetuity, and that the person or persons now holding, or who may hereafter become entitled under the Regulations to succeed to such pottahs, shall not be liable to any additional payment beyond the highest annual jumma specified in such pottahs. That this resolution may be rendered more immediately and generally known, the resident is to notify it to the parties interested by a proclamation to the following effect.—Reg. I. 1795, sec. ii.

110. First. "On the 11th February, 1791, the Governor-General in Council signified his approbation and confirmation of the quartennial and decennial settlements, formed in the Fussily year 1197 (1789-90), throughout the four sircars comprised in the province of Benares, and directed in respect to the pottahs for four years, that the amount of the jumma payable thereby in the fourth year should be continued for the next six years, so as to place the quartennial pottahs on the same footing as the pottahs granted for ten years. The Governor-General in Council now declares that the jumma payable according to the quartennial and decennial pottahs shall remain fixed for ever, so that no sum exceeding the amount specified as the highest annual jumma payable according to the said pottahs shall ever be required of those pottahdars, or holders of pottahs, who have hitherto paid up their revenue and observed all the other conditions specified in their pottahs, nor of those who may hereafter become entitled to hold or succeed to such pottahs, so long as they shall continue to discharge the amount, and to perform the conditions therein stipulated.

Second. "The above declarations are made with the following reservations.

Third. "The holders of the pottahs are to be considered as bound to conform to all regulations regarding them, the preservation of the rights of the putteedars, or sharers in estates, the ryots, or the administration of justice, which have been or may be passed by the Governor-General in Council, and printed and published in the manner prescribed in Regulation XLI., 1793.

Fourth. "The succession to zemindaries is to take place according to the established laws, rules, and customs of the country, as provided for in the Regulations passed, or which may be enacted, for the province of Benares, and printed and published in the manner prescribed in Regulation XLI., 1793.

Fifth. "In the event of the death of a farmer holding a pottah for lands, the zemindar of which was dispossessed previous to the 1st July, 1775, the date of the cession of the province of Benares to the Company, or of the pottah of any such farmer becoming otherwise void, it has been determined, with the concurrence of the Rajah of Benares, that such zemindar, or his heir or heirs, shall be restored to the estate, provided he or they shall agree to pay the fixed jumma assessed on the lands agreeably to such pottah, and to conform to all regulations for the collection of the revenue, the administration of justice, or other matters, which may be printed and published in the manner prescribed in Regulation XLI., 1793. In such case, the estate shall be made over to him or them, in preference to its being leased to a new farmer, or to the heir of the last pottah-holder.

Sixth. "According to the well-known rule prevailing in the province, those zemindars who have had possession of their estates since the 1st of July, 1775, but who were nevertheless excluded at the forming of the permanent settlement, may recover possession of their estates from the farmers who may hold pottahs for, and be in the actual management of them, by proving their intermediate possession in the Court of Dewanny Adawlut. The Courts of Dewanny Adawlut are accordingly to decree the restoration of any such zemindar so claiming, on proof being made by him of such intermediate possession; but every such decree is to provide for such zemindar's previously indemnifying the farmer for the loss which he may prove, to the satisfaction of the Court, to have sustained in consequence of his having held the lands under the pottah of Government, and the Court is accordingly to inquire into and decide upon such loss, and to cause the amount to be made good to the farmer, before the zemindar is reinstated."—Reg. I., 1795, sec. iii.

111. The rules contained in Regulation XLI., 1793, entitled, "A Regulation for forming into a regular code, all Regulations that may be enacted for the internal government of the British territories in Bengal," are hereby declared to extend to the province of Benares; and that no doubt may be entertained what Regulations so enacted may be meant to extend to that province, or otherwise, it is hereby declared, that no such Regulation that has been or may be passed previous to, on, or after this date, shall be considered to extend, either wholly or in part, to the province of Benares, unless the title to the Regulation, or the Regulation itself, or some other Regulation, shall declare the whole or a part of it to extend to that province.—Reg. I., 1795, sec. iv.

RULES OF THE SETTLEMENTS PRECEDING THE PERMANENT SETTLEMENT.

112. Previous to the year 1781, the resident stationed at Benares on the part of the British Government was not empowered to interfere in any respect in the settlement or collection of the revenue of the zemindarry. On the accession of Rajah Mahipnarain, in 1781, the administration of the revenue was committed to the charge of naibs acting on his behalf, and subject in some degree to the control of the resident. In the year 1787, the resident himself was intrusted with the superintendence of the formation of the settlement and the collection of the revenue. The successive measures that have been adopted from the beginning of the Fussily year 1195, which commenced in September, 1787, regarding the settlement and collection of the revenue of the province, are hereby enacted into a Regulation.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. i.

113. At the recommendation of the resident, a new form of cabooleat was taken by the rajah from the aumils (then the farmers of the revenue), on the conclusion of the settlement which he entered into with them for the Fussily year 1195. In this cabooleat it was stipulated, that the aumils should pay to the rajah the jumma for which they had severally engaged, according to the tushkhees or account particulars of the revenue funds in their respective aumildarries, including nuzeranna, and the Government's moiety of the bhuray, and russoom khazanah, and exclusive of the articles of mujray, maafy mamooly, and the kharij jumma, which consisted principally of lands exempted from the payment of revenue, and partly of pensions, and charitable and other allowances, charged on the public revenue. This jumma was to be paid agreeably to the kistbundy or instalments for regulating the periods of the payments of the aumils, which then generally extended from the beginning to the end of the year; and the aumils further agreed, that on proof of their making any undue exactions beyond the tushkhees or funds assigned to them, they should be liable to pay a fine of three times the amount to Government.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. ii.

114. First. With a view to provide against sundry abuses and irregularities in the system of realizing the public revenue, the resident, on the 25th June, 1788, desired the rajah to cause a new form of pottah to be established and issued to the ryots, specifying the denomination and length of the rod by which the betay lands (lands of the produce of which Government, or the person having the collection of its dues, is entitled to a certain proportion, the value of which, estimated at the current market price, is paid in money by the cultivator of the land) were to be measured, in case such measurement should be demanded by either party, on the arrival of the period when the produce of the crops of the ryots is estimated by the mode termed kunkoot; and as in many places, where the revenue was thus paid on such estimations of the harvests, disputes occurred between the ryot and the aumil, as to the value in money at which the crop was to be appreciated, it was provided that twice in the year, or for each harvest, the valuation of the crops should be settled for each pergunnah separately, by the authority of Government, and a notification thereof issued; the rates to be paid for the grain or crops in the khereef to be fixed in the month of Maug, and those of the rebby-harvest in Jeyte, according to the actual market prices then current in the several parts and divisions of the country. The above mode of estimating the produce, and appreciating the value of the crops, is accordingly in future to constitute the rule for ascertaining the collections to be made from the betay lands, and for adjusting the aggregate amount of them for the whole year, the kists due on each harvest being immediately paid on account, according to the usual proportion of the mofussil kistbundy or instalments. The practice of agore betay (taking the Government's half of the produce in kind after the crop has been reaped or gathered) was at the same time forbidden, as affording to individuals the means of defrauding Government of its due proportion of the produce; and in the form of the pottahs for the betay lands it was directed to be specified, whether the value of the produce was to be divided between the aumil and the ryot in equal proportions, or with such zabetaneh, or established difference, as the custom of each pergunnah authorized.

Second. In the pottahs for nukdy land (land paying a specific money rent per begah), the name and length of the null or measuring-rod was directed to be mentioned; and as, since the year 1781, sundry new articles of abwaub and charges had been introduced, the pottah provided that all new abwaub and charges introduced since the Fussily year 1187 should, from the year 1196 of the same era, be considered as prohibited and relinquished, and that the mal or original rent, and abwaub or cesses, which existed in that year, viz., 1187, Fussily, being incorporated with the mal, so as to form only one aggregate sum, this sum or specific rate should constitute what the ryots or cultivators of the mukdy lands were to pay per begah.

Third. The rent of waste land intended to be brought into cultivation was directed to be fixed at such rates as the ryots might willingly agree to pay, and without abwaub.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. iii.

115. On the 1st of July, 1788, the canongoes were apprized of the above rules, and of the rajah having deputed aumeens for the purpose of carrying them into effect; and they were further informed that they were to co-operate in fixing the jumma of the nukdy lands, and ascertaining the proportion and mode of assessment on the betay lands; and that wherever, during the administration of Rajah Cheyte Sing, the nul or measuring-rod was more or less than the rod of three dirrahs ilahee (which rod alone was ordered to be used for the future), or wherever a begah consisted of a greater or less extent of land than twenty biswahs in the Fussily year 1187, they were to adjust, in proportion to these varieties in the rod and in the extent of the begah, the rates and modes of the nukdy and betay revenue in one sum, agreeably, and as nearly as might be possible equivalent, to the assul and abwaub, or zabetaneh of that year, and to fix the rates in the pottah accordingly. Pottahs were in consequence issued by the rajah's aumeens, comprehending the above specifications, but not so generally or accurately as fully or effectually to accomplish the object of their deputation; and in the rates inserted in these pottahs, they likewise omitted to make allowance for the difference between the old and new measuring-rods and begahs.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. iv.

116. The begah of three dirrahs ilahee, thus established, consists of twenty poles, each measuring eight feet and four inches and eight-tenths of an inch; the whole length being one hundred and sixty-eight feet, giving a surface or area of twenty-eight thousand two hundred and twenty-four square feet, or three thousand one hundred and thirty-six square yards; and the biswah, or twentieth part of this begah, of one hundred and fifty-six square yards and eight-tenths of a yard. On its appearing that several of the aumils and canongoes understood that the kesraut, or difference in the length between the former and present measuring-rod, was to affect the assessment on all kinds of cultivation, the resident issued an explanatory notification on the 12th of May, 1789, to the following effect, viz., In the places where the nul or rod of 1187 was less than the general standard rod established for that year, such difference was to be taken and calculated per begah on the jummaee or kowlee, i. e., nukdy land, and also upon that known under the denomination of rye kunkooty, or land the produce of which is calculated at a fixed or usual quantity per begah, and the revenues rated thereon accordingly. Thus, where the rye kunkooty had been three maunds, or four maunds, or taken at any other specific estimate per begah, according to the rye or rate of 1187, upon the ryot's cultivation in general, either on each distinct kind of produce, or upon a medium of the first, second, or third kinds of produce; in such cases, on the principle prescribed with respect to the nukdy, the difference of the rod was to be taken in all instances where actual mensuration by the new rod of three dirrahs ilahee should at the desire of either party be resorted to for ascertaining the whole extent of ground in cultivation. But on the contrary, where the aumeen of the aumil, in the mode termed kunkoot, should proceed with the gowro, or estimator, and the gomashtah of the canongoe, and these two last-mentioned officers, with the consent of both parties, should estimate the produce of the crop on an inspection of it without measurement, the taking the difference of the rod was neither necessary nor proper, the whole produce being estimated without reference to the extent of the begah. All parties were required to attend to the letter and spirit of these prescriptions; and in conformity thereto, it was further signified to them, that where the crops were estimated in the mode termed danabundy kunkooty, that is, where the revenue is assessed according to the gross produce without a measurement of the ground, the kesraut, or difference between the old and newly-established rods, was not to be taken, as in these instances the revenue payable to Government was not calculated on the extent of the ground, but on the gross quantity of the produce. It having appeared also that in the old nuls or lettas (measuring-rods or ropes) the ryots had been defrauded by the aumils unduly shortening them, by subtracting from their length the mour or loops at each end, it was ordered that, in ascertaining the difference between those new and old nuls or lettas, the full length of the old ones should be allowed in favour of those who pay the revenue inclusive of the mour or loops. —Reg. II., 1795, sec. v.

117. The rules passed on the 25th June, 1788 (as contained in paragraph 114), were approved by the Governor-General in Council on the 3rd of October of the same year, as preparatory to the establishment of a more regular system of assessing and collecting the revenue. With a view to the introduction of this system, the resident was at the same time authorized to take upon himself the entire formation of the settlement for 1196. This settlement was accordingly made principally on the grounds of the reports of the canongoes, and their estimates of the actual produce from the assul and abwaub, as the same stood in 1187, Fussily (the rates of which year were declared to be the standard according to which the payments of the ryots were to be regulated in future), and the same accounts for 1195, or the latest assessment. These accounts, exhibiting the assets of those two years, were compared with the douls or estimates of the assets of the then current year 1196, as delivered in by the canongoes. From these douls, the dehyek, or allowance of ten per cent. to the aumil as his profits, and the charges of mofussil management, the several articles of deduction and remission coming under the heads of maafy and mujray, the amount of the nankar or allowances of the canongoes in the lands assigned to them in each pergunnah, and the half of the forme bhuray (i. e., the moiety thereof allowed to the aumils for charges of remittance) being severally deducted, the residue of the gross assets, as contained in the doul or estimate of the canongoes, constituted the sum to be paid by the aumil to Government.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. vi.

118. The other moiety of the bhuray mentioned in the preceding rule (which had previously been collected on behalf of Government), together with the article of nuzeranah and russoom khazanah, &c., were abolished in the course of the arrangement of the settlement of this year, together with the farm of the manufacture of the earth called sujee, which had before been let on lease by the rajah's officers.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. vii.

119. First. A new form of cabooleat was at the same time ordered to be taken from all the aumils, in which the doul of the canongoes, and the deductions made therefrom on account of lands exempted from the payment of revenue, and the form of the new pottah for the ryots, were inserted. The aumils bound themselves to perform and abide by the several stipulations and prescriptions therein contained, as fundamental conditions of the settlement. They likewise engaged not to demand from the ryots any abwaub established since 1187: nor any abwaub for the canongoe's allowances, or the banker's half of the bhuray, the latter article consisting, as specified in paragraph 117, of an allowance to the aumil to pay the charges of the banker through whom he made his remittances to the treasury. Both of these articles, viz., the cess hitherto levied from the ryots for the canongoe's allowances, and the half bhuray in question (the other moiety of the latter of which articles was relinquished by Government as specified in the preceding paragraph) were abolished and struck out of the settlement. It was at the same time provided, that the canongoes should be paid by Government from the collections, whilst the amount of the banker's portion of the bhuray was granted as a deduction to the aumil, from the tushkhees or funds stated in the doul or estimate of the canongoes, on which the agreement of the aumil with Government was founded. On these principles, a general settlement of the zemindarry was made on leases partly for one, and partly for five years, in the proportion of nearly one-third for the former and of two-thirds for the latter term.

Second. On the 12th of February, 1789, a rule was published for determining the huk ul tehseel, or commission on the collections made by farmers of villages relinquishing their engagements before the close of the year. This rule directed, that if the jumma payable by any such farmer to Government did not exceed five thousand rupees per annum, he should not be entitled to or receive any such commission, but be held accountable to his successor for the full amount which he had realized, or where he was not succeeded by any new farmer to the aumil; but that, in the event of the annual jumma of such farmer exceeding five thousand rupees, he should be allowed a commission of five per cent. by the aumil out of his own dehyek (or the commission of ten per cent. on the amount which he contracted to pay to Government), so as, in either case, to prevent the ryots from suffering by the change of village farmers, whose repeated intermediate commissions had often been levied from them, by way of cess, above their appointed foteh or rent, under the former native administrations in the zemindary.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. viii.

120. First. For the guidance of the aumils in forming their mofussil settlements (which took place from the beginning of the Fussily year 1196), the following orders were issued on the 14th of June, 1789, respecting the interior arrangements to be adopted from the commencement of the second year of the term of the leases for five years.

Second. That the villages and lands should be let by the aumils to the zemindars, or hereditary landholders, and not to mere farmers (excepting where no hereditary landholders remained), on the douls or estimates of the revenue assets in each person's share in the lands let on a five years' lease, for the remaining four years thereof; but that, where the hereditary zemindars refused to engage and give security for the payment of the amount of the canongoe's doul, their lands should be rented for the same term to farmers, and that the pottahs to be given according to the prescribed form should contain the full amount to be paid on all accounts to the aumils, without any reservation of a separate nuzeranah, or other demand.

Third. During the administration of the Nawaub Vizier, a sequestration was made of sundry ayma villages, several of the proprietors of which had obtained money assignments, and pensions in lieu thereof, one of which pensions also was afterwards resumed during his excellency's government. In consideration of the long period which had elapsed since the dispossession of these aymadars, it was declared, that if any of them should prefer claims to be restored to the lands which they before occupied, under their former grants, such claims would not be attended to or admitted.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. ix.

121. The settlement, as made in 1196, for the periods of one year and for five years, was approved of by the Governor-General in Council, on the 17th of June, 1789. The resident was, at the same time, directed to endeavour to introduce into Benares the system proposed for the permanent settlement of the province of Behar, having for its object the ascertaining and limiting the demand of Government, and securing to its subjects, in perpetuity, the quiet enjoyment of the fruits of their industry. The arrangements which had been adopted in Benares were obviously inadequate for that purpose. The amount of the revenue realizable by the aumils from the ryots and under-farmers varied agreeably to the extent of the actual cultivation, and accordingly, the produce of the lands not being ascertainable until the rebby or second crop had ripened, the aumils collected in the mean time from their under-renters (whether village zemindars or farmers) on account, until the arrival of the season for forming an estimate of the produce of the whole year, when the zemindars or farmers entered into cabooleats for the year. This mode of collection was productive of many disputes. When it appeared to the aumil that his under-farmers were unwilling to pay to him an adequate consideration for their farms, he of course became desirous of dispossessing them, and of either letting the farms to others, or of collecting the rents himself immediately from the ryots. This system tended to discourage agriculture, at the same time that it operated as a source of constant altercation between the aumils and the various competitors for village tenures, and consequently rendered it desirable to conclude separate mofussil settlements, formed under the sanction of Government, for each talooka and mozah, or village, throughout the country, paying revenue to Government.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. x.

122. On the receipt of the orders of the Governor-General in Council of the 17th of June, 1789, the resident issued instructions to the aumils and canongoes to proceed in the mofussil settlement; declaring it, however, subject to his revision and confirmation, as he had determined when the rebby, or second crop, should have been sown, to form an estimate of the revenue funds in each village, payable by the zemindars and farmers respectively, and to fix it for the four unexpired years of the five years' leases of the aumils, wherever those leases extended. This revision was appointed to take place in each pergunnah, in order that, after the mofussil settlements for four years, beginning from 1197, should have been approved, it might be declared permanent for the same term as the settlement to be made for the period of ten years, throughout that portion of the district which was let on only an annual lease. This last part of the arrangement was to be executed more immediately under the personal inspection of the resident, on nearly the same general principles as had been prescribed by Government for the settlement of the province of Behar. On these preparatory measures being communicated to the Governor-General in Council, it was resolved that a settlement of the zemindary of Benares should be formed for a period of ten years, agreeably to his resolutions of the 20th May and 18th of September, 1789, regarding the settlement of the province of Behar.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xi.

123. A material deviation, however, was unavoidably made from these resolutions; for Rajah Mahipnarain at that time declining (although he subsequently acquiesced in the measure, as specified in Regulation I., 1795) to consent to the restoration of the numerous class of village zemindars, who had been dispossessed and reduced to the situation of cultivating ryots, during the administrations of the Rajahs Bulwunt Sing and Cheyte Sing, it became necessary to exclude from the benefit of the rights to be conferred by this decennial settlement, all those landholders who had been so dispossessed and reduced before the 1st of July, 1775 (1182 Fussily), the date of the final transfer of the sovereignty of Benares to the Company.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xii.

124. For the purpose of forming this permanent settlement, the resident and his assistants proceeded, in November, in 1789, on different circuits throughout the four sircars composing the zemindary of Benares; their object being, in respect to the quartennial mofussil settlements, to examine and revise the assessment, as proposed by the aumils and canongoes on the ground of the assul and abwaub up to the year 1187, and to correct such errors as should appear to have been made, either in the exclusion of persons entitled to be considered as zemindars (consistently with the rule of exclusion specified in the preceding paragraph), or in the allotment of the jumma, in the constituent parts of the total of the assessment of each district. This allotment was to be regulated (as well in regard to the quartennial as the decennial settlements), as nearly as might be ascertainable, according to the ability of the respective villages or puttees (or shares or subdivisions of villages), so as to admit of the zemindars and farmers realizing the revenue assessed in conformity to the revenue rates of 1187; and where a large proportion of the land remained waste and uncultivated, a gradual and moderate russud or increase for the few first years of the term of the general leases was to be assessed, in consideration of the right of Government to some share in the advantages accruing to the renter, by bringing the land into cultivation. It was further provided, that the article of spirituous liquors, and the tax upon shopkeepers, dealers, and weavers, comprehended under the denominations of abkary, ghur dewary, and khergui, should be separated from the collections of the renters, and realized by the aumils of the respective districts, as far as those articles separately existed, but without attempting to extend them.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xiii.

125. First. In the manner above described, and with the assistance of the accounts of the tushkhees for the preceding ten years, and such other accounts and local information as could be obtained through the canongoes or otherwise, the mofussil settlements for four and ten years were concluded. The pottahs for the settlements for four years were issued under the seals of the aumils, and numbered and countersigned in English by the resident or his assistants; and those for the settlements for ten years were authenticated by the signatures of the rajah and the resident. The cabooleats or engagements entered into by the village zemindars and farmers on the formation of the permanent settlement bound them to an observance of the following articles:—

Second. To pay the stipulated annual revenue punctually from the month of Koar (October) to Jeyte (June) in each year; and agreeing, in case of failure, that their property, real and personal, should be sold to make good the deficiency.

Third. Not to attach, without the sanction of Government, any maafy, mujray, kishnarpun, or other description of la-khiraj land in the possession of individuals, and held by them exempt from the payment of revenue up to the end of the Fussily year 1195; and agreeing, in the event of Government's resuming any part of such exempted lands, to pay the revenue assessable thereon, in addition to the jumma fixed by their engagements; and stipulating not to make any new grants of exempted lands, on pain of such lands being confiscated to Government, and of double the revenue assessable thereon being levied from the grantee or grantees for the period during which such grantee or grantees should have continued in possession.

Fourth. To collect from the ryots according to the hookumnamas or Regulations of the 25th of June and of 1st of July, 1788, referred to in Sections III. and IV.

Fifth. To grant receipts to the ryots for their payments, under the penalty of a fine of double the amount, to be awarded to any ryot who should prove that he had been refused such receipt.

Sixth. To support the canongoes in the full exercise of their functions.

Seventh. Not to levy or receive any of the articles of the abolished sayer-jehaut, nor any sum on account of khaneh shoomary (another term for the ghur dewary or house-tax), or abkary or distilleries, the collection of the two last-mentioned articles (as specified in the preceding paragraph) having been separated from the general settlement, and committed on behalf of Government to the aumils. The penalty for breach of this article was fixed at three times the amount that might be illicitly collected.

Eighth. To be responsible, subordinately to the aumil, for the maintenance of the peace, and for apprehending all disturbers thereof, in and throughout their respective estates and farms; not to harbour thieves or robbers, but to secure their persons and deliver them up for trial, as well as to recover, or in failure thereof, to be answerable for, and to make good the value of all property robbed or stolen within their respective limits.

Ninth. To send in for trial, accompanied by an attested report of the circumstances of the case, all parties concerned in broils, affrays, murders, or other breaches of the peace.

Tenth. To obey all summonses or orders issued on the part of Government, on pain of incurring forfeiture of property, as for rebellion.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xiv.

126. First. On the conclusion of this permanent settlement, new engagements were also entered into with the aumils. By these engagements their office was declared to be that of hakim or magistrate, and teheeldar, or collector of the revenue ascertained by the pottahs issued to the village zemindars and farmers to be payable from their several aumildaries; and they rendered themselves responsible for the regular realizing the amount of this revenue, and bound themselves to abstain from levying any excess on their own account to enforce the several stipulations with the landholders and farmers as set forth in the preceding paragraph, and to cause the village zemindars to issue pottahs to their ryots in conformity to the Regulation of the 25th of June, 1788. They were also vested with a discretionary authority to diminish, or to admit to be lowered, the revenue rates of 1187, Fussily, where the exaction of them might be found, under the actual circumstances of any part of the district, to operate to the oppression or distress of the present cultivators; but they were at the same time prohibited from enhancing the rates of the said year 1187 under any pretence whatsoever. They were further required to grant receipts for all payments of revenue made to them, on pain of being subject for refusal or omission to such fine as the resident should think it proper to impose; to regulate the rates of tullubana leviable on parties in arrear, by the custom of the pergunnah, and to account for and pay the sum realized under this head to Government; and to refrain from the collection of any part of the sayer or gunge tolls or duties, under the same penalty for disobedience as the village zemindars and farmers are declared liable to in similar cases, as specified in Clause Seventh of the preceding paragraph. They were also declared personally responsible to Government in the first instance in regard to the maintenance of the peace, and thefts and robberies committed within their respective aumildaries, under the rules prescribed in similar cases with respect to the zemindars and farmers in Clause Eighth of the preceding paragraph, with a right, however, to have recourse, for their own indemnification, to the landholder or farmer within whose limits the theft or robbery might occur.

Second. In their capacities of hakims or magistrates, the aumils were instructed to apprehend and send in for trial, accompanied by the necessary information and evidence, all persons committing breaches of the peace; and in concert with the canongoes, to inquire into and to decide (subject to an appeal to the resident, should either of the parties desire it) according to the principles of the Regulations of the 25th of June, 1788, all complaints preferred to them regarding differences occurring between the zemindars, farmers, and ryots, relative to the malguzary or revenue, with authority to refer, with the consent of the parties, other causes of a civil nature respecting caste, marriage, shares in land, and debts, to be determined by arbitration; or where both parties should not consent to this mode of adjustment, to desire them to repair to and institute their suits in the Moolky Dewanny Adawlut, or Provincial Civil Court established at Benares, to all orders and decrees issued from which, or from any other Court of justice, or from the rajah or the resident, the aumils were required and agreed, on pain of dismission, to yield the most prompt obedience.

Third. It having afterwards appeared that in several instances the aumils had clandestinely availed themselves of their authority to procure deeds of conveyance, in their own names or those of their relations, for lands the property of persons in arrears on account of the revenue, and whose balances had been thereby either wholly or partially liquidated, a rule was published on the 19th of September, 1794, prohibiting and declaring null and void all such conveyances that might be made in future; and on the 31st of October following, a further rule was passed, giving to all persons who might have thus disposed of their lands, or to their heirs or putteedars, the option of suing for the recovery of them in a Court of justice, at any time within five years from the date of such conveyances; and the parties so prosecuting were declared entitled to have the conveyances annulled, and to regain possession of the property, on repaying to the purchasing aumil or his heirs the purchase-money, with simple interest.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xv.

127. First. The adjustment of the disputed claims to lands formed one of the principal difficulties which occurred in the progress of the settlement. In many instances, contests existed between the putteedars or sharers in the same village as to their respective proportions, or between claimants of different families to the same villages. In all these cases, it was observed as a general rule to confirm or admit those zemindars who were either in the actual occupancy, or who had at any time been known to have had possession since the final transfer of Benares to the Company in 1775 (the zemindars dispossessed before which period, the Governor-General in Council, on the 11th April, 1788, determined should not be restored in compliance with the objections which the rajah then entertained to their restoration, but which he subsequently relinquished, as stated in paragraph 123), leaving those who might think themselves entitled to reinstatement under this rule, to seek redress in the Moolky Adawlut. But as it became necessary during the progress of the settlement, to pass orders in a summary way on disputes of this nature, it was explained to all parties, that the new pottahs were meant only to fix the rental, and in no-wise to constitute a bar to the recovery of any proprietary right in land, for which suits might be instituted in the Court of justice above mentioned in the same manner as if no such pottahs had been granted. Instructions to this effect were issued to the judge of the Court, and separate engagements were taken from all the present pottah-holders, whether zemindars or farmers, binding them to a ready attendance on and submission to the judicial authority of the said Court and the Court of Appeal, in respect to all such cases; and the aumils were prohibited from making alterations in the pottahs, excepting in conformity to judgments passed in both or either of those Courts. The settlement thus concluded, consisting of engagements with zemindars for about eight-twelfths of the whole country, of leases to farmers for about three-twelfths, whilst the remaining twelfth continued amauny, in consequence of there being found for the places included in the last-mentioned portion neither zemindars nor farmers, so that the aumils collected the public dues immediately from the ryots.

Second. Pursuant to the principles prescribed for this quartennial and decennial settlement, sundry village farmers having been removed during the progress of it by the reinstatement of the rightful zemindars, a rule was published, on the 21st of February, 1790, for adjusting the accounts of the wassilaut or current year's collections between such parties. By this rule, the displaced farmers were entitled to credit for the amount of whatever tuccavy (money for the purchase of seed) they might establish to have advanced to the ryots, together with a commission of three per cent. (whatever might be the extent of the farm) on the amount of the revenue realized. The amount of this charge was to be borne altogether by the reinstated zemindar, without his being entitled to make any demand on that account from his ryots, who were only to repay to him the amount of the tuccavy that had been really advanced to them by the removed farmer. But such farmer was not to be allowed credit for the amount of any bonds or engagements executed by ryots for sums stated to be advanced for tuccavy, but which should in reality have been taken from them for the balances of former years, which were thence virtually declared irrecoverable.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xvi.

128. First. The landholders in the zemindary of Benares consist for the most part of village zemindars, paying the revenue of their lands to Government jointly with one or more putteedars, or partners descended from the same common stock. Some of these putteedars have had their interior puttees or shares rendered distinct; whilst those of the major part still continue annexed to, and blended or in common with, the share or shares of the principal of the family, or of the head men amongst the brethren, being either one or more, whose names have been usually inserted in the pottahs, cabooleats, and other engagements for the public revenue. With the general consent of the inferior putteedars, this mode was adhered to in the aforesaid settlement, leaving an option to such putteedars as might then or afterwards think themselves aggrieved, or be desirous of separating from their brethren, to prosecute for that purpose in the Adawlut. By this mode of procedure, they may obtain a separation of their family share of the estate, and procure a separate pottah, subject to the payment of a proportionate part of the jumma assessed on the joint estate; but, in the meantime, those of the brethren whose names stand inserted in the Government's pottah, are held and considered to be immediately responsible, through the aumils, to Government for the whole of that jumma. The only exception of this general rule exists in the pergunnah of Kurrendeh, where the decennial settlement could only be concluded by a considerable number of these zemindars being admitted to enter into cabooleats, in which they themselves agreed to the nomination of certain persons to act on their joint parts, under the description of serberakars, or managers. This expedient was acquiesced in, under the condition that the responsibility of the zemindars should remain undiminished, and that they might, whenever they pleased, dismiss these agents, after adjusting accounts with, and satisfying them as to any balance that might be justly due to them.

Second. There are also many talookdaries within the four sircars composing the zemindary of Benares, which have depending on them a greater or less number of village zemindars, many of whom still retain the right of disposing by sale of their own estates, subject, of course, to the payment of the usual jumma to the talookdar, and to the conditions specified in Clause Ninth, Section XXXV., Regulation XXII., 1795. The settlement of Government has been concluded (on the same principles as are prescribed respecting the zemindaries) with these talookdars, who are left to assess their village zemindars, either in proportion to their own sudder jumma, with some addition for charges of management, or according to the extent and value of the produce, as local custom or the good-will of the parties may direct.

Third. The circumstances of the pergunnah of Agowrie Burhur, in the sircar of Chunar, constitute in some degrée a deviation from the rule observed in the general settlement. This pergunnah appertained to its separate rajahs, until they were expelled by Rajah Bulwunt Sing. Their descendants appearing, and having performed some public services in 1781, Government ordered that Rajah Adil Sah, their then representative, should be restored. This order appearing afterwards to be repugnant to the principle of the general settlement concluded with the Rajah Mahipnarain Sing, the tenure of the family of Adil Sah was, by an order of Government under date the 11th of April, 1788, limited to the period of his natural life, during which the interior settlement of the pergunnah was, with his consent, and under his seal and the resident's signature, made with the talookdars and zemindars, most of whom were of his own blood and lineage; or with the birteeas, being the persons on whom his ancestors had conferred grants of lands; or with gherrooas, being such persons as he or his ancestors had put in possession of lands on mortgage. These several descriptions of landholders are considered as having a permanent interest in their tenures, which have therefore been included in the general account of the settlements concluded with zemindars. The remainder of the pergunnah has been let to farmers, on the conditions common to the rest of the four sircars. Rajah Adil Sah subsequently dying, Government, with the acquiescence of Rajah Mahipnarain, permitted his heirs to succeed him in the pergunnah, in the permanent settlement of which, however, they are restricted from making any alterations or innovations equally with the other aumils or tehseeldars.

Fourth. The pergunnah of Beleeah, in the sircar of Ghazeepoor, is similarly circumstanced as to the expulsion of its rajahs by Rajah Bulwunt Sing, and the intended restoration of Bhowayel Deo, their present representative. But his reinstatement having never taken place, he is allowed to live in the pergunnah, on a pension which he receives from Government; and the settlement has been made with such of his family, and of those Rajahs of Beleeah who preceded it, as could make out pretensions to permanent tenures or estates; and where such pretensions could not be established, or were not preferred, the settlement has taken place with the mokuddums, or those of the principal ryots who had long paid the revenue of their present tenures, being the villages of which they are inhabitants; it being meant that these mokuddumy tenures should be considered equally permanent, and be liable to the same conditions as those of the zemindars, and where neither of these descriptions of persons could be found, the villages were let to farmers, excepting such part of them as for want of farmers remained amauny.

Fifth. The zemindary part of the talooka of Mujehwa, in the pergunnah of Kuswar and sircar of Benares, has been let out in separate portions, under the seal of Phelwaun Sing (the principal talookdar, and who was acting at the same time as aumil and collector on the part of Government), and the confirmatory signature of the resident or of his assistant, to Phelwaun Sing himself and his relations; he being subject to the same restrictions, with regard to making alterations in the settlement without the sanction of Government, as are imposed on the heirs of Rajah Adil Sah, in the pergunnah of Burhur Agowrie, as specified in Clause Third.

Sixth. In the settlement of Kernadanry, in the pergunnah of Kuswar or Gungapoor, there is this peculiarity, that after the conclusion of it, Rajah Mahipnarain objecting to pottahs being granted by the resident to the parties with whom it was made, on the ground that the talooka in question formed part of his family zemindary of Gungapoor, it was in consequence settled between the rajah and the resident, in October, 1794, that although in consideration of the rajah's objections, the malguzars of this talooka of Kernadanry should not receive pottahs from Government in exchange for the cabooleats they had entered into, the rajah (who is their tehseeldar or collector) should not dispossess any of them without the sanction of the officers of Government, and in the event of complaints for exaction, that the case should be open to the same mode of inquiry as is established for similar complaints arising in the malguzary lands in general, so as to continue the above-mentioned talooka, in this respect, distinct from the neej or family zemindary lands of the rajah. These family lands consist of the jaghires of Budhoee and of Kera Mungrore, and of the rajah's part of the pergunnah of Kuswar or Gungapoor, inclusive of the talooka of Kerowna; and in consequence of objections offered by the rajah, no mofussil or interior settlement has been made in them by the authority of Government, and the administration of justice in all matters relating to their revenue is specially provided for in paragraphs 153, 154.

Seventh. The pergunnah of Lucknear, in the sircar of Ghazeepoor, is inhabited by a race of Raujepoots distinguished by the appellation of Singhers, who pay a moderate fixed revenue (which they assess amongst themselves) to the tehseeldar, or native collector, stationed with them on the part of Government, whose allowances they separately defray; and as neither the native nor the British Government had interfered with the interior assessment of this pergunnah, it was not included in the general arrangements that took place at the period of the quartennial and decennial settlements.

Eighth. In the pergunnah of Juanpoor Proper, and in that division of this sircar called the Buksheeat, there are a certain number of villages held by Mahomedans, in virtue of altumgha, muddudmaush, or jaghire grants, from the Emperor or from the soubahdars of Oude, but on which a peshcush by way of quit-rent was established during the administration of the native Government. These peshcushy tenures were continued at the period of the permanent settlement.

Ninth. That part of the tract of country called Singrowlee, situated to the southward of the Soane river, which extends as far as the Belea rivulet, is tributary to the zemindary of Benares, whilst the tract of the same district that lies beyond the Belea pays tribute to the independent Rajah of Burdee.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xvii.

129. The districts in the sircar of Juanpoor, in which salt is produced and manufactured, were let in farm, either inclusive of the land revenue or separately.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xviii.

130. In consideration of the habits prevalent amongst the newly-restored body of zemindars on their first reinstatement, it was thought advisable to continue them, at least for a period, under the superintendency of the aumil of Government, both in respect to the police and the payment of the revenue. But, at the same time, to provide against exactions being made from them by the aumils, it was, in addition to the penalty specified in paragraph 113, declared a rule, that all persons holding pottahs of Government who might prove any oppression against their respective aumils, should thereupon have the option of becoming huzoory, that is, to pay their own revenue directly to the public treasury, without the intervention in any shape of the agency of the aumil.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xix.

131. The settlement thus concluded was confirmed by Government, and extended to the lives of all the pottahdars, by an order of the Governor-General in Council under date the 11th of February, 1791, with the exception of the part of the ghur dewarry tax, described in paragraph 124, levied from the weavers under the denomination of khergui, which was abolished.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xx.

132. The enforcement of the prohibition in paragraph 113 against agore-betay having met with some opposition from certain brahmins and atteets, the Government's share of whose crops had always been ascertained in that mode, and who declared their intention of committing violence on themselves if it was not adhered to with regard to them, the resident, on the 17th of January, 1789, issued a publication disapproving of the conduct of these brahmins and atteets, and apprising them that the Regulations would be enforced. But the practice of agore-betay having prevailed only in a small portion of the country, and consequently there being little probability of many similar instances of opposition occurring, the resident thought it advisable to accompany this publication with an order to the aumils, authorizing and enjoining them not to insist on receiving a money rent from such of the above-mentioned brahmins and atteets as should so persevere in their objections, but to continue the practice of agore-betay with regard to them, until they should consent to the payment of a money rent as well as to the rate of the rent. This order was sanctioned by Government.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xxi.

133. The first period of the quartennial settlement having expired with the Fussily year 1200, several farmers and some of the landholders not choosing to avail themselves of the privilege of retaining their leases during their lives, as granted to them by the order of Government of the 11th of February, 1791, the lands which they held consequently became amauny. The death of renters, the abuses occasionally practised by the aumils, and the over-assessment of some places, had occasioned vacancies in other tenures, during the several years that had elapsed since the conclusion of the general settlement. In consequence of instructions from Government, under date the 19th of September, 1794, the resident proceeded to re-adjust the settlement of the lands which had been included in these leases, by restoring such of the renters as appeared to have been unduly dispossessed, by admitting the heirs of parties deceased, or reinstating the ancient zemindars, both in lands relinquished by farmers, or which had remained amauny in the hands of the aumils, and finally, by adopting means to improve the cultivation preparatory to issuing new permanent leases (which were accordingly granted) to the landholders and farmers in the pergunnahs of Nerwun, Dhoos, and Chownsa, the settlements made in which places in 1197 had in general failed, owing to the lands being too highly assessed, and to drought and other calamities of season. The settlement of Suktes Ghur also being in a similar predicament, was renewed by the resident in the month of October, 1792; and the experience of several years having evinced that some part of the pergunnah of Zemanea, in the sircar of Ghazeepoor, had been too highly assessed, adequate abatements were in consequence allowed.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xxii.

134. In the beginning of the Fussily year 1202, a circular order, under date the 1st of November, 1794, was issued to all the aumils, prohibiting them, under penalty of dismission from their aumildaries, from displacing or dispossessing any person holding a pottah from Government without the assent of the resident; and on the 20th of July, 1795, circular instructions were transmitted to the canongoes, enjoining them to report without delay the death of all such pottah-holders, that no lands might remain amauny under the aumils without the knowledge of Government.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xxiii.

135. In paragraph 130 it has been stated, that it was an original regulation of the general settlement concluded in 1197, that proof of the aumil having made undue exactions from or otherwise oppressed any of the landholders or farmers holding pottahs and paying revenue to Government, should entitle such injured party or parties to become huzoory, i.e., to pay their revenue into the treasury at Benares instead of through the medium of the aumil. [But for the more effectual protection and security of such pottah-holders, an option of thus becoming huzoory was given from the beginning of the Fussily year 1202, by a publication issued under date the 3rd of October, 1794, to all such pottah-holders as should previously enter into the required mal, fael, and hazir zaminee, or security for the punctual discharge of their revenue, for their peaceable deportment, and for their appearance whenever their attendance may be required. To enable them to procure these securities, they were allowed by the publication one moiety of the aumil's dehyek and bhuray on the amount of the revenue payable by them.] This publication was sanctioned by the Governor-General in Council, under date the 19th of September, 1794; but from the operation of it were excepted the lands under the rajah and his family, comprehending not only the places specified in Clause Sixth of paragraph 128, but those also of which he holds the aumildary or collectorship, viz., the pergunnah of Ralhoopoor and the talooka of Jahloopoor, and those villages in the vicinity of Benares called the dehaat amanut. But in case of oppression proved, the pottahdars of these last-mentioned places, and of all other mehals under the rajah in which the settlement has been made by Government, are entitled, in virtue of the original rule contained in paragraph 130, to become huzoory. The difference, therefore, between these aumildary mehals under the rajah and the rest of the country at large, consists in it not being merely optional with the pottahdars to separate from him under the publication above specified in this section. As to the administration of justice in these aumildary mehals under the rajah, the jurisdiction of the Courts of Judicature extends over them in common with the country at large, and consequently they do not form a part of the rajah's neej or family lands, the administration of justice in which is provided for by Regulation XV., 1795.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xxiv.

NOTE.—The passage in italics has been rescinded by Regulation VII., 1807, which provided new rules for zemindars becoming Huzoory.—See post, paragraph 148.

136. For determining questions concerning lands between putteedars or brethren, and partners, inheriting and being, or pretending to be, entitled to joint or distinct proportions of one zemindary, it has been observed as a general rule since the conclusion of the permanent settlement, to consider as superior, and immediately responsible to Government, the person or persons amongst such putteedars in whose name or names the Government's pottah has been made out, and to continue the other putteedars or partners in such situation as they shall have stood in since the Fussily year 1197, leaving them, if dissatisfied with such order, to prosecute in the Adawlut for any further claims.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xxv.

137. The right of Government to dispose of landed property at public sale for the recovery of balances of revenue is established by the tenour of the engagements of the zemindars, as noticed in Clause Second of paragraph 125; but in consideration of the local usages in that respect in the province of Benares, no such sales have hitherto taken place.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xxvi.

138. At the period of the settlement concluded in 1197 Fussily, the aumils pledged themselves in writing, and on the faith of their religion, to collect only according to the jumma specified in the pottahs issued to the talookdars and village zemindars and farmers, and to pay in the whole amount thereof to Government, after deducting the dehyek and half bhuray. But there then were, and have since remained, several spots of ground and mozahs or villages, of which no fixed settlement having been made, the collection of the amount of the tushkhees or ascertained funds which the canongoes estimated to be realizable therefrom was entrusted to the aumils. These funds had of course varied during the period that had elapsed since the conclusion of the settlement; and several of the aumils, on the expiration of their five years' leases at the close of the year 1200, claimed and received deductions from Government for alleged deficiencies in the funds of those amauny villages; whilst on the other hand, where the actual had exceeded the estimated receipts, it was presumable that the aumils or their officers had appropriated the surplus. From these considerations, and as the funds in the amauny or kham villages appertained altogether to Government (the aumils being entitled only to their dehyek and bhuray), the resident, on the 12th of January, 1795, published an order, that from the beginning of the Fussily year 1202, the tushkhees of the amauny or kham or cutcha villages in every pergunnah was to be ascertained by aumeens, or other persons empowered for that purpose on the part of Government, and that the amount of the funds, after deducting the dehyek and bhuray, was to be paid by the aumils to Government. Aumeens were accordingly deputed on the above-mentioned date to ascertain the state of these lands, with instructions to summon the putwarries of every village, and in the presence of the canongoes, and of the officers of the aumil, to ascertain the tushkhees or assessable amount on each village and spot then held amauny, in conformity to the rye or rates of 1187; and afterwards to prepare and bring with them the state of the jummabundy of each village, under the attestations of the canongoes, and the signatures of the putwarries and the counter-signatures of the officers of the aumils, that the payments of the aumils to Government might be regulated accordingly. The aumeens were likewise instructed, that if, in the course of their inquiries, it should appear that any of the aumils had granted pottahs to their dependents in any of these amauny lands at lower rates than those of the pergunnah or division in which they might be situated, such pottahs so granted by them were to be declared null and void, the aumils not having been empowered to dispose of any part of the revenue funds, but since the settlement in 1197 having been merely tehseeldaran-neshandar, or responsible collectors.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xxvii.

139. Inconveniences having been experienced from the applications made to the resident for grants exempting from the payment of revenue spots of ground in the vicinity of the city of Benares, on their being purchased by the native princes of India, or by wealthy natives, to convert into gardens or places of religious worship, the Governor-General in Council determined, on the 28th July, 1794, that no such grants should be made by the resident without the sanction of Government.—Reg. II., 1795, sec. xxviii.

RIGHTS OF PROPRIETORS UNDER THE SETTLEMENT.

140. As the lands of some few zemindars, and other actual proprietors of land, may have been continued amany or let in farm, in consequence of their refusing to pay the assessment required of them under the Regulations for the quartennial and decennial settlements, the Governor-General in Council notifies to the talookdars, zemindars, and other actual proprietors of land whose lands are held amany, that they shall be restored to the management of their lands, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which has been or may be required of them in conformity to the Regulations above mentioned, and that no alteration shall afterwards be made in that assessment, but that they and their heirs and lawful successors shall be permitted to hold their respective estates at such assessment for ever; and he declares to the talookdars, zemindars, and other actual proprietors of land whose lands have been let in farm, that they shall not regain possession of their lands before the expiration of the period for which they have been farmed (unless the farmers shall voluntarily consent to make over to them the remaining term of their leases and the Governor-General in Council shall approve of the transfer), but that at the expiration of that period, or in the event of any such farmer or farmers forfeiting his or their leases by falling in arrear, or otherwise, such proprietors of land shall be reinstated, on their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which may be required of them, or

(according to the nature of the case) to the conditions with respect to the arrear that may be due, as specified in Clause First, Section XVIII, Regulation VI, 1795, and no alteration shall afterwards be made in the said fixed annual assessment, but such proprietors of land, and their heirs and lawful successors, shall be allowed to hold their respective estates at such assessment for ever —Reg. XXVII., 1795, sec ii

141 In the event of the proprietary right in lands that are or may become the property of Government being transferred to individuals, such individuals, and their heirs and lawful successors, shall be permitted to hold the lands at the assessment at which they may be transferred for ever —Reg. XXVII, 1795, sec iii

142. First. The Governor-General in Council trusts that the proprietors of land, sensible of the benefits conferred upon them by the public assessment being fixed for ever, will exert themselves in the cultivation of their lands, under the certainty that they will enjoy exclusively the fruits of their own good management and industry, and that no demand will ever be made upon them, or their heirs or successors, by the present or any future Government, for an augmentation of the public assessment, in consequence of the improvement of their respective estates.

Second To discharge the revenue at the stipulated periods without delay or evasion, and to conduct themselves with good faith and moderation towards their putteedars, under-renters, and ryots, are duties at all times indispensably required by Government from the proprietors from whom the revenue is immediately receivable and a strict observance of those duties is now more than ever incumbent upon them, in return for the benefits which they will themselves derive from the orders now issued. The Governor-General in Council therefore expects, that the aforesaid proprietors of land will not only act in this manner themselves towards their putteedars, under-renters, and ryots, but also enjoin the strictest adherence to the same principles in the persons whom they may appoint to collect the rents from them, in whatever instances there may be occasion for such delegation of trust —Reg. XXVII, 1795, sec. iv

143 First. It being the duty of the ruling power to protect all classes of people, and more particularly those who from situation are most helpless, the Governor-General in Council, whenever he may deem it proper, will enact such Regulations as he may think necessary for the protection and welfare of the putteedars, under-renters, ryots, and other cultivators of the soil, and no talookdar, zemindar, or other proprietor of land, shall be entitled on this account to make any objection to the discharge of the fixed assessment which they may have respectively agreed to pay

Second. The Governor-General in Council having, on the 26th December, 1787, directed the sayer collections to be abolished, and a subsequent settlement having been made with the proprietors of land, exclusive of the articles of collection given up by that abolition, he now declares, that if he shall hereafter think it proper to re-establish the sayer collections or any other internal duties, and to appoint officers on the part of Government to collect them, no proprietor of land will be admitted to any participation thereof, or be entitled to make any claims for remissions of assessment on that account.

Third. The Governor-General in Council will impose such assessment as he may deem equitable on all lands at present alienated and paying no public revenue, which have been or may be proved to be held under illegal or invalid titles The assessment so imposed will belong to Government, and no proprietor of land will be entitled to any part of it.

Fourth The jumma of those zemindars, talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, which is declared fixed in the foregoing articles, is to be considered entirely unconnected with, and exclusive of, the produce of any lands set apart for the maintenance of pheris, passees, ghorites, or other description of watchmen, employed in services of police, and the Governor-General in Council reserves to himself the option of resuming the whole or part of the produce of such lands, should he at any time hereafter think fit to exonerate the proprietors of the land from being responsible for the peace, and to appoint officers on the part of Government to perform the duties relating to the police now required from them The Governor-General in Council, however, declares, that the produce of lands which may in that case be resumed, will be appropriated to no other purpose but that of defraying the expense of the police, or providing a maintenance for the pheris, passees, ghorites, or other description of watchmen employed therein.

Fifth. Nothing in this or any other Regulation shall be construed to render the lands, of which there are dispossessed proprietors, liable to sale for any arrears which have accrued, or may accrue, on the jumma that has been or may be assessed upon their lands, under the Regulations for the quartennial and decennial settlements, provided that such arrears have accrued, or may accrue, during the time that they have been, or may be dispossessed of the management of their lands. It is to be understood, however, that whenever all or any of the descriptions of dispossessed landholders shall be permitted to assume or retain the management of their lands, in consequence of the ground of their dispossession no longer existing, or of the Governor-General in Council dispensing with, altering, or abolishing those Regulations, the lands of such proprietors will be held responsible for the payment of the jumma that has been or may be assessed upon them in perpetuity, from the time that the management may devolve upon them.—Reg. XXVII., 1795, sec. v.

144. That no doubt may be entertained, whether proprietors of land are entitled, under the existing Regulations, to dispose of their estates without the previous sanction of Government, the Governor-General in Council notifies to the talookdars, zemindars, and other actual proprietors of land, that they are privileged to transfer to whomsoever they may think proper, by sale, gift, or otherwise, their proprietary right in the whole, or any portion of their respective estates, without applying to Government for its sanction to the transfer; and that all such transfers will be held valid, provided that they be conformable to the Mahomedan or Hindoo laws (according as the religious persuasions of the party or parties making such transfer may render the validity of it determinable by the former or the latter code), and that they be not repugnant to any Regulations now in force, which have been passed by the British administrations, or to any Regulations that they may hereafter enact.—Reg. XXVII., 1795, sec. vi.

145. From the limitation of the public demand upon the lands, the neat income, and consequently the value (independent of increase of rent obtainable by improvements) of any landed property, for the assessment on which a distinct engagement has been or may be entered into between Government and the proprietor, or that may be separately assessed, although included in one engagement, with other estates belonging to the same proprietor, and which may be offered for public or private sale entire, will always be ascertainable by a comparison of the amount of the fixed jumma assessed upon it (which, agreeably to the foregoing declarations, is to remain unalterable for ever, to whomsoever the property may be transferred), with the whole of its produce, allowing for the charges of management. But it is also essential, that a notification should be made of the principles upon which the fixed assessment charged upon any such estate will be apportioned on the several divisions of it, in the event of the whole of it being transferred by public or private sale, or otherwise, in two or more lots, or of a portion of it being transferred in one or in two or more lots, or of its being joint property, and a division of it being made among the proprietors; otherwise, from the want of a declared rule for estimating the proportion of the fixed jumma with which the several shares would be chargeable in such cases, the real value of each share would be uncertain, and consequently the benefits expected to result from fixing the public assessment upon the lands would be but partially obtained. The Governor-General in Council has accordingly prescribed the following rules for apportioning the fixed assessment in the several cases above mentioned; but as Government might sustain a considerable loss of revenue by disproportionate allotments of the assessment, were the apportioning of it in any of the cases above specified to be left to the proprietors, he requires that all such transfers or divisions as may be made by the private act of the parties themselves, be notified to the collector of the revenue, or such other officer as Government may in future prescribe, in order that the fixed jumma assessed upon the whole estate may be apportioned on the several shares in the manner hereafter directed, and that the names of the proprietors of each share, and the jumma charged thereon, may be entered upon the public registers, and that separate engagements for the payment of the jumma assessed upon each share may be executed by the proprietors, who will thenceforward be considered as actual proprietors of land. And the Governor-General in Council declares, that if the parties to such transfers or divisions shall omit to notify them to the collector of the revenue of the province, or such other officers as may be hereafter prescribed, for the purposes before mentioned, the whole of such estate will be held responsible to Government for the discharge of the fixed jumma assessed upon it, in the same manner as if no such transfer or division had ever taken place.

NOTE.—So much of the following rules as relates to the adjustment of the jumma on lands sold in satisfaction of decrees is repealed by Section I., Act IV., 1846.

First. In the event of the whole of the lands of a zemindar, talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or may be concluded under the Regulations above mentioned, being exposed to public sale by order of the Governor-General in Council for the discharge of arrears of assessment, or in consequence of the decision of a Court of justice, in two or more lots, the assessment upon each lot shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual produce as the fixed assessment upon the whole of the lands sold may bear to the whole of their actual produce. This produce shall be ascertained in the mode that is or may be prescribed by the existing Regulations, or such other Regulations as the Governor-General in Council may hereafter adopt, and the purchaser or purchasers of such lands, and his, or her, or their heirs and lawful successors, shall hold them at the jumma at which they may be so purchased for ever.

Second. When a portion of the lands of a talookdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or may be concluded under the Regulations before mentioned, shall be exposed to public sale by order of the Governor-General in Council for the liquidation of arrears of assessment, or pursuant to the decision of a Court of justice, the assessment upon such lands, if disposed of in one lot, shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to their actual produce as the fixed assessment upon the whole of the lands of such proprietor, including those disposed of, may bear to the whole of their actual produce. If the lands sold shall be disposed of in two or more lots, the assessment upon each lot shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual produce as the fixed assessment upon the whole of the lands of such proprietor, including those sold, may bear to the whole of their actual produce. The actual produce of the whole of the lands of such proprietor, whether the portion of them which may be sold be disposed of in one lot or in two or more lots, shall be ascertained in the mode that is or may be prescribed by the existing Regulations, or such other Regulations as the Governor-General in Council may hereafter enact, and the purchaser or purchasers of such lands, and his, or her, or their heirs or successors, will be allowed to hold them at the jumma at which they may be so purchased for ever; and the remainder of the public jumma, which will consequently be payable by the former proprietor of the whole estate on account of the portion of it that may be left in his, or her, or their possession, will continue unalterable for ever.

Third. When a talookdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or may be concluded, shall transfer the whole of his or her estate, in two or more distinct portions, to two or more persons, or a portion thereof to one person, or to two or more persons in joint property, by private sale, gift, or otherwise, the assessment upon each distinct portion of such estate so transferred shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual produce as the assessment upon the whole of the estate of the transferring proprietor, of which the whole or a portion may be so so transferred, may bear to the whole of its actual produce. This produce shall be ascertained in the mode that is or may be prescribed in the existing Regulations, or such other Regulations as Government may hereafter adopt; and the person or persons to whom such lands may be transferred, and his, or her, or their heirs and lawful successors, shall hold them at the jumma at which they may be transferred for ever; and where only a portion of such estate shall be transferred, the amount of the remainder of the public jumma, which will consequently be payable by the former proprietor of the whole estate on account of the lands that may remain in his or her possession, shall be continued unalterable for ever.

Fourth. Whenever a division shall be made of lands, the settlement of which has been or may be concluded with or on behalf of the proprietor or proprietors, and that are or may become the joint property of two or more persons, the assessment upon each share shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual produce as the fixed jumma assessed upon the whole of the estate divided may bear to the whole of its actual produce. This produce shall be ascertained in the mode that is or may be prescribed by the existing Regulations, or such other Regulations as the Governor-General in Council may hereafter adopt, and the sharers, and their heirs and lawful successors, shall hold their respective shares at the jumma which may be so assessed upon them for ever.—Reg. XXVII., 1795, sec. vii.

146. Nothing in this or any other Regulation passed previous to or on this date, shall be construed to authorize the public sale of the lands in any talookdary or zemindary, whilst the party or parties claiming the same, as the ancient proprietors, continue to stand excluded under the limitation specified in paragraph 123; or until, by the operation of the repeal of that limitation under paragraph 110, or in pursuance of the consequent provision in Section XVIII., Regulation VI., 1795, or some other consonant rule made, or that shall hereafter be made in consequence of the said repeal, such party or parties shall have been restored to the management of the revenue of his or their respective talookdaries or zemindaries.—Reg. XXVII., 1795, sec. viii.

147. For the sake of precision it is hereby declared, that wherever the term proprietor, or actual proprietor of any talook, zemindary, village, or other land paying revenue to Government, is or may be used, in this or any other Regulation extending to the province of Benares, and printed and published in the manner prescribed in Regulation XLI., 1793, such term is to be considered as applying to the person or persons holding under each separate lease or pottah from Government (whether he or they possess the entire proprietary right in such lands, or shall be only the principal amongst other putteedars, distinct or common), whose name or names standing inserted in such pottahs, and who having executed the counterpart cabooleats, has or have thereby become immediately responsible to Government, as well for the payment of the revenue as for the performance of the other stipulations and conditions contained in the quartennial and decennial deeds of settlement; without however affecting or prejudicing the rights, distinct or common, of any putteedars or sharers where any such shall exist, and which, in case of dispute with the pottahdars or holders of the pottahs, are to be determined by the Courts of Adawlut, according to what shall be ascertained to be the respective rights of the parties, agreeably to the principles of justice, and the laws, customs, and usages of the district, as referred to in Regulation II., 1795, as far as regards the parties in question.—Reg. XXVII., 1795, sec. x.

HUZOORY ZEMINDARS.

148. No security shall be required or taken from the zemindars on their becoming huzoory, either for their personal appearance or for their peaceable deportment, or for their punctual discharge of their revenue, the lands themselves being deemed sufficient security for the public revenue, and the zemindars being, of course, amenable to the general laws of the country for their peaceable and proper demeanour.—Reg. VII., 1807, sec. ii.

149. Whenever any zemindar shall become huzoory, he shall pay the amount of the revenue specified in the engagements contracted by him with Government, directly to the treasury of the collector, and shall not be considered to have any claim upon Government on account of the moiety of the dehyek and bhurray mentioned in the preceding rule, or on account of any part thereof.—Reg. VII., 1807, sec. iii.

150. Whenever any zemindar may be desirous of paying his revenue directly to the collector's treasury, the collector shall immediately comply with the application; unless he may be of opinion that, in consequence of the situation of the lands or of other circumstances, public inconvenience will be experienced from that arrangement; in which case he shall furnish the Board of Revenue with the necessary report on the subject, who are hereby empowered to determine whether the zemindar shall in future pay his revenue directly to the treasury of the collector, or through the medium of the tehseeldar, as heretofore.—Reg. VII., 1807, sec. iv.

151. The provisions respecting the duties to be performed by the zemindars in the maintenance of the peace within their respective estates, and the responsibility which attaches to them on that account, are to be considered to be in full force and effect.—Reg. VII., 1807, sec. v.

NOTE.—See Regulation XIV., 1807.

152. As the tehseeldars will, by the operation of the foregoing rules, be relieved from all duty and responsibility with respect to the support of the police within the limits of estates which may henceforward become huzoory, they will not, of course, be considered entitled to any part of the dehyek and bhurray at present receivable by them on account of such estates.—Reg. VII., 1807, sec. vi.

JAGHIRES OF THE RAJAH OF BENARES.

153. In the event of any complaints being preferred to the City Court or to any Zillah Court, relative to undue exactions of revenue, or any breach of agreement in respect to pottahs, or the resumption of kishnarpun, or other description of lands exempted from the payment of revenue, in the jaghire mehauls of Budhooe or of Kera Mungrore, or in the rajah's hereditary zemindary of Gungapore, the complaints are not to be taken cognizance of in the courts of justice, but the parties are to be desired to make application to the rajah or to his dewan; and in case of their not obtaining justice, they are to have recourse to the collector, who will proceed to bring such causes to a just and equitable termination, in the manner stated in the under-specified article of an agreement concluded by the resident with Rajah Mahipnarain, under date the 27th of October, 1794. An option, however, is reserved to the persons deeming themselves injured, to prefer their applications for redress in the first instance to the collector, who, in all cases, by reference to and communication with the rajah and his officers, is to cause substantial justice to be rendered to the parties.—Reg. XV., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 1.

154. Article Third of an agreement concluded by the resident at Benares with Rajah Mahipnarain, under date the 27th October, 1794. "In case of complaints relative to revenue causes or charity ground, &c. being preferred to the huzoor (i. e., the English Government) by any parties residing within the jaghire and altumgah, &c., the personal or private lands of Rajah Mahipnarain Sing, the inquiry thereinto shall be made in like manner as such cases were amicably conducted between Mr. Duncan and the rajah; that is, that since the gentleman holding the station of collector will have more concern and connection with such matters than the other gentlemen, the rule shall be, that with the privity and ascertainment of the said collector (who is to have regard to the honour and dignity of the said rajah), such causes are to be settled through the channel of the said rajah, or of the officers of the said rajah's cutcherry; it being at the same time understood and provided, that as it is a duty incumbent on the Honourable Company's Government to distribute and insure the attainment of justice to all the inhabitants of Benares, should it so happen, that, after referring such complaints to the rajah or to his officers in the cutcherry, the contentment of the parties complaining and aggrieved shall not be obtained, the rajah shall, relative to the adjustment of such causes, listen to and approve of the suggestions and advice of the collector, in like manner as hath been practised in the time of Mr. Duncan; and it is also incumbent on the said collector, in all proper and just cases, to show the utmost attention possible to the rajah's accommodation, and to hold in view the maintenance of his honour and dignity, such being entirely consistent with the wishes of Government, and if (which God forbid) any such subject should arise as cannot be settled between the said collector and the rajah aforesaid, the decision in such case shall depend on the Governor-General in Council."—Reg XV, 1795, sec. iii., cl. 2

155. The superintendence of the mehauls of the Rajah of Benares in the jaghires of Bhurdoee, Kera Mungrore, and that part of pergunnah Kuswar or Gungapore which is the rajah's family zemindary, shall be vested in such officer as the Governor-General in Council may, from time to time, by an order in council, appoint —Reg VII, 1828, sec. iii

156 The administration of justice in all matters connected with the revenue shall continue to be conducted through the agency of the rajah, under the restrictions herein provided; but the reservation of this privilege shall not be understood as divesting the population of any of the rights and interests connected with the occupation, possession, or transfer of land, whether by sale, gift, or inheritance, or the produce of it, which immemorially belong to them, and are enjoyed by similar classes throughout the rest of the province —Reg VII, 1828, sec. iv

157. First. No mofussil or detailed settlement having been formed within the mehauls in question by the authority of Government, the assessment of the land, and the settlement of the several villages comprised in them, shall be made through the channel of the rajah, who is to be guided in all matters relative thereto by the general rules in force within the province of Benares, applicable to such cases.

Second. In the selection of parties to engage, those individuals shall be considered entitled to preference, who, had a detailed settlement been extended to these mehauls, under the Regulations of 1795, would have been recognized as zemindars Such individuals shall be recorded under the designation of raees, and the tenures so belonging to them shall be considered heritable and transferable, subject to the conditions in regard to the payment of the jumma assessed upon them, and under which they may be admitted to engagements. When there may be no raees entitled to claim admission, or where the latter may refuse to engage on just terms, the settlement shall be made for a fixed period with farmers, unless the rajah should prefer making a ryotwarry settlement, and collecting the public dues, through his own officers, immediately from the ryots.

Third. The assessment of all lands not entitled to be considered rent-free, under the rules contained in Regulation XLI., 1795, shall be fixed with reference to their produce and capability, as ascertained at the time when the revision of the settlement may be made But the assessment shall not be raised above the amount heretofore paid, unless it shall clearly appear that the net profits derived from the land, by those who may be entitled to share in them, would, under the usage of the province and the rules applicable to such cases, authorize the increase demanded

Fourth. In admitting particular parties to engagements, such parties shall not be considered as invested with any rights over their co-sharers or under-tenants not previously possessed by them, excepting in so far as may be authorized by the Regulations for realizing the public revenue, all questions therefore between putteedars and sharers, inheriting or claiming to inherit joint or distinct portions of a tenure, or the produce thereof, shall, notwithstanding such admission, be considered open to adjustment on the principles observed in similar cases throughout the province, and all questions regarding the right to possession of khoodkasht and chuppurbund ryots, shall be adjusted on the same principles

Fifth. It shall be the duty of the rajah, on occasion of making or revising settlements of land revenue in any of the mehauls referred to in paragraph 153, to unite with the adjustment of the assessment, and the investigation of the extent and produce of the lands, the object of ascertaining and recording all material points connected with the rights, interests, and privileges of the various classes of his tenantry. His proceedings, therefore, shall embrace the formation of as accurate a record as possible of all persons found in possession of the soil, with a specification of the nature and extent of the interests respectively enjoyed by them. The record shall likewise specify the rates per beegah of each description of land or kind of produce in every distinct village All la-khiraj tenures shall, at the same time, be carefully registered, with a detail of every particular connected therewith The proceedings shall likewise contain the names of the putwarries and village watchmen, with a statement of the amount and nature of the allowance assigned to each.

Sixth. In cases where two or more persons may possess a joint property in any mehaul, or in the rent or produce thereof, or in cases where such property may be separately possessed by parties subject to common obligations, it shall be competent to the rajah either to make a joint settlement with the parties collectively, or with a portion of them selected to undertake the management as village malguzars, due regard being paid to the wishes of the coparceners, who, until regularly separated, shall continue to hold their lands as subordinate proprietors, subject to the payment of rent or revenue, at the rates and in the mode heretofore in use or otherwise provided for by the Regulations for the province of Benares.

Seventh. When parties enter into engagements who do not possess the entire proprietary right, but may be elected as managers by the coparcenary in general, the non-engaging parceners shall not be held answerable for the default of those individuals, save and except the portion of rent or revenue demandable from them respectively. The rights and interests, distinct or common, of the putteedars or sharers shall not be prejudiced in other respects by such engagements, and all disputes between the said sharers and the engaging proprietors shall be determined according to what shall be ascertained to be the respective rights of the parties, agreeably to the principles of justice, and the laws, customs, and usages of the province.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. v.

158. First. All proprietors of land in the province of Benares, being privileged to transfer to whomsoever they think proper, by sale, gift, mortgage, or otherwise, their proprietary right in the whole or any portion of their respective estates, provided that such transfers be conformable to the Hindoo or Mahomedan laws, according to the religious persuasions of the parties, and to the Regulations in force, it is hereby declared that all such assignments, within the tracts to which this enactment refers, shall be held equally valid, subject to the conditions in regard to leases, and the allotment of jumma prescribed by the Regulations; provided always, that the same be duly notified to the rajah, otherwise the consequences of omitting to make such notification on similar occasions to the collector, will, in like manner, attach to all such transfers; the rules and restrictions applicable to collectors being also applied to the rajah, subject to the orders of the superintendent, who shall, in this behalf, possess and exercise the powers and authority of the Board of Revenue.

Second. In all cases, either of transfer or inheritance, the rajah, on application being made for that purpose, shall proceed to record the mutation, and shall take such other steps for securing the rights and interests both of the public and of individuals, as the collectors are required to do on similar occasions in the Benares province.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. vi.

159. The decision of the rajah or his officers, on all points connected with the foregoing provisions, shall undergo the revision of the superintendent, to whom the whole of the proceedings on the settlement or transfer of any estate shall be certified, and who, after calling for such further information as may appear necessary, shall confirm, modify, or annul the same, as he thinks proper; and the orders thus passed by the superintendent shall be final, unless altered or set aside by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. vii.

160. The following rules are prescribed for the guidance of the rajah and his officers, in realizing the public revenue.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. viii.

161. The Regulations at present in force within the province of Benares, for enabling proprietors and farmers of land to realize their rents with punctuality, for prescribing the process by which the revenue authorities are to collect the revenue payable to Government from the lands, for the imprisonment of defaulters, and for securing the ultimate recovery of arrears by a sale of the landed property from which it may be due, are hereby extended, as far as they may be applicable, to the tracts referred to in paragraph 153.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. ix.

162. Exclusive of the powers vested in the rajah as zemindar, by which he may distrain and bring to sale, in the mode prescribed by the Regulations, the personal property of under-zemindars, farmers, ryots, or other description of landholder, for arrears of rent or revenue, he is hereby moreover authorized, as far as regards the collection of the same, to exercise the powers of a collector, as defined in the Regulations, within the tracts in question, subject to such restrictions and responsibility as may be now or hereafter imposed by this or any future enactment.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. x.

163. Whenever it may be necessary to resort to the sale of lands for the recovery of arrears of revenue, or whenever a sale of lands may be required in satisfaction of the decrees of the Courts of Judicature, the sale shall be held in the presence of the rajah or his deputy, either in the public cutcherry, or such other open or convenient place within the pergunnah to which the lands belong, as may be specified in the advertisement, and the course of proceeding directed in regard to public sales for arrears of revenue, shall be considered applicable, and the validity of such sales held contingent on the fulfilment of the several conditions therein specified.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xi.

164. The whole of the powers which are exercised by the Boards of Revenue over the collectors, in regard to sales of land, as well as in all matters relative to the collection of public revenue, are hereby vested in the superintendent, and the rajah shall consider himself, in the exercise of the privileges with which he is entrusted, as standing in the same relation towards that officer as the collectors at present stand towards the Board.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xii.

165. From the orders of the superintendent, in all such cases, there shall be no appeal but to the Governor-General in Council, and the Civil Courts are not competent to take cognizance of any complaint, from any party soever, contesting the validity of a sale, or claiming rights or interests connected with land, or the rents thereof, within the tracts in question.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xiii.

166. All complaints of a breach of the rules herein prescribed for the guidance of the rajah and his officers, in the exercise of the powers thereby entrusted to them, or of unnecessary severity in the execution of them, are declared cognizable by the superintendent, who shall cause substantial justice to be rendered to the parties in the same manner as would have been done under the Regulations, had such complaints been cognizable by the regular courts; provided only that when the offence alleged would authorize a criminal prosecution, the complaint shall be referred to the magistrate, who will proceed to the decision thereof under the Regulations in the same manner as if it had been originally preferred to him.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xiv.

167. Torture, personal violence, and every description of corporal punishment to enforce the payment of arrears of rent or revenue, within the tract in question, are hereby strictly prohibited; and any one offending against this prohibition, shall, on the complaint of a person so punished, be liable to prosecution before the Criminal Courts and shall be dealt with, on conviction, as the Regulations require in such cases.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xv.

168. In order to secure for the inhabitants of these mehauls the administration of civil justice on the principles in force throughout the rest of the province, a native commissioner shall be maintained by the rajah in each of the pergunnahs referred to in paragraph 153, for the purpose of taking cognizance, in the first instance, of the revenue causes hereafter specified.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xvi.

169. The nomination of individuals to the office of native commissioner will be made by the rajah, but previous to such appointments taking effect, he shall communicate what information he may have obtained regarding the age, character, and past employment of the individuals in question, to the superintendent, who shall withhold his concurrence in cases of notorious bad character or incapacity, having regard, however, as far as possible, in the mode of doing so, to the rajah's honour and dignity.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xvii.

170. No native commissioner appointed under this Regulation shall be removed from office without sufficient cause; and in all cases of removal, the rajah shall act in concert with and by the advice of the superintendent.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xviii.

171. The native commissioners shall be liable to a criminal prosecution for corruption, extortion, or other gross misdemeanor; and on conviction before the Sessions Court, shall be subject to fine and imprisonment, proportionate to the nature and circumstances of the case.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xix.

172. Persons invested with the powers of a native commissioner, under this Regulation, are authorized to receive, try, and determine, all suits preferred to them against any inhabitant of their respective jurisdictions relative to land of every description, or the rent, revenue, or produce thereof situated therein, provided the cause of action shall have arisen within the period of twelve years previously to the institution of suits.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xx.

173. In receiving, trying, and determining such cases, the native commissioners shall be guided by the rules contained in Regulation XXIII., 1814; and in points not expressly provided for in that Regulation, they shall observe, as nearly as may be practicable, the rules prescribed for the guidance of the Zillah and City Courts in the trial and decision of civil suits.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xxi.

174. The rule which prohibits native judicial officers from taking cognizance of cases in which a British subject, or a European foreigner, or an American, may be a party, shall not be held applicable to the native commissioners appointed under this Regulation.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xxii.

175. The decision of the native commissioners shall be executed by themselves, under the rules prescribed in the general Regulations for the execution of decrees; provided, however, that if the case be appealed, the commissioner shall be guided by such instructions relative thereto as he may receive from the superintendent.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xxiii.

176. The proceedings of the native commissioners shall be subject to the revision of the superintendent, who, in the event of an appeal being preferred to him within the period of six months from the date of any such decision, will call for the papers, and after directing such further investigation to be held as he may judge necessary, will confirm, modify, or annul, the order or decision of the native commissioner, as may appear proper; provided always, that it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to supersede the order of the superintendent, on being referred to by either party for that purpose.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xxiv.

177. The penalties prescribed by the Regulations for resistance of process in revenue or judicial matters, are hereby declared applicable to all cases of the same nature arising out of the process provided for by this enactment.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xxv.

178. It is hereby further declared and enacted, that, except when otherwise directed by the foregoing provisions, the revenue and judicial administration of the mehauls herein referred to shall be regulated by the principles and spirit of the existing Regulations, and where those may not be applicable, by equity and good conscience.—Reg. VII., 1828, sec. xxvi.

CEDED PROVINCES.

179. The following proclamation, relative to the settlement of the land revenue in the provinces ceded to the Honourable the English East-India Company by the Nawaub Vizier, was published on the 14th day of July, 1802, corresponding with the 29th Assaur of the Fusly year 1209, by the Honourable the late Lieutenant-Governor and the Board of Commissioners, in virtue of the powers vested in them by his Excellency the Most Noble the Governor-General; and the several articles contained in it are hereby confirmed and declared to be in force with the subsequent additions and explanations contained in paragraphs 180 to 185, which comprises the substance of the proclamation issued by the late Lieutenant-Governor and Board of Commissioners on the date above mentioned; with further provision, since made, for the settlement of the land revenue in the ceded provinces, under the extension of the authority of the Board of Revenue to the said provinces.

" PROCLAMATION.

" Whereas it is the intention of the British Government to adopt, at the expiration of the present Fusly year, such a plan for the settlement of the landed revenue of the ceded provinces as may be most conducive to the prosperity of the country and to the happiness of the inhabitants; and whereas it is of the utmost consequence to the success of the measure, as well as to the interests of the zemindars, talookdars, and all others concerned, that the nature and terms thereof should be made known as early as possible, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN :—

" First. At the commencement of the Fusly year 1210, the sayer of every denomination will be separated from the mal, or land revenue, and a settlement for the latter only concluded, in all practicable cases, with the zemindars, or other actual proprietors of the soil (unless when disqualified by notoriously bad character, or other good and sufficient cause), for a period of three years, at a fixed, equal, annual jumma; it being understood that such zemindars as are huzoor tehseel, or allowed to pay their kists immediately to the collector of the zillah, are to be responsible for the police of their respective zemindaries.

" Secondly. [At the expiration of the three years another settlement will again be made with the same persons (if willing to engage) for three years, at a fixed, equal, annual jumma; which jumma shall be formed by taking the difference between the annual amount of the first lease and the actual yearly produce of the land at the time of its expiration, and adding two-thirds of such difference to the annual rent of the first lease.]

NOTE.—The preceding rule was rescinded by sec. ii., Reg. V., 1805, paragraph 197.

" Thirdly. At the expiration of the sixth year a new settlement will be made with the same persons (if willing to engage) for a further period of four years, at a fixed, equal, annual jumma, formed by adding to the annual rent of the second three years, three-fourths of the net increase of revenue during any one year of that period.

" Fourthly. At the end of these ten years a permanent settlement will be concluded with the same persons (if willing to engage, and if no others who have a better claim shall come forward), for such lands as may be in a sufficiently improved state of cultivation to warrant the measure, on such terms as Government shall deem fair and equitable.

NOTE.—See Reg. IX., 1812, paragraph 204.

" Fifthly. Those zemindars who may decline entering into engagements for their estates, as also those whose offers may be rejected by Government, shall, for the present, continue to be allowed the same nankar which they have hitherto received from the Nawaub Vizier.

NOTE.—See sec. v., Reg. VII., 1822; and sec. xi., Reg. IX., 1833.

" Sixthly. With respect to such zemindaries as may have been mortgaged or transferred on security, and possession thereof actually given to the mortgagers or sureties, the settlement will be made with the person in possession of the land, as the temporary representative of the proprietor, leaving the latter to obtain possession, either by a private settlement of accounts or by a judicial process.

" Seventhly. The settlement of such small talooks or estates as may be only nominally included in large zemindaries, in the sudder jumma of which their jumma may be comprehended, will be made, separately and distinctly, with the proprietors of such small estates, and they will be allowed to pay their revenue directly to the tehseeldars on the part of Government.

" Eighthly. With respect to such lands as are without proprietors, or the proprietors of which decline entering into engagements, a village settlement shall be made for three years, at a fixed, equal, annual jumma, and a preference will be given to the mokuddums, purdhauns, or respectable ryots of the several villages.

"Ninthly. In the event of neither proprietors nor farmers being forthcoming, such lands as are in that predicament will be held khas.

"Tenthly. All authorized abwaubs are to be consolidated and incorporated with the land rent, and expressed in the pottahs and cabooleats, and nothing but what is there expressed shall be collected from the ryots or under-renters.

"Eleventhly. All persons who may enter into engagements for the settlement, must bind themselves, by written obligations, to grant pottahs of the above description to their ryots and under-renters.

"Twelfthly. All persons who may enter into engagements with Government, must previously give security for the fulfilment thereof, in an amount equal to one-fourth of their annual jumma.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxix.

180. First. The several collectors in the ceded provinces were authorized by the Board of Commissioners, under date the 28th of August, 1802, to deviate from the rule prescribed in the first clause of the foregoing proclamation, and to conclude the settlement for the first lease of three years at a fair and equitable annual increase, instead of a fixed, equal, annual jumma, in instances in which, from calamity of season, the landholders might be unwilling to engage for their lands at such a jumma, for the first year of the lease, as Government would have been otherwise entitled to demand, with a reference to the probable resources and produce of the lands during the whole of the lease.

Second. By an order of the Board of Commissioners, under date the 13th of August, 1802, the several collectors in the ceded provinces were further instructed, in concluding the settlement of their respective zillahs for the first lease of three years, to regulate the allowance of nankar to such of the zemindars as might engage for their lands, by deducting the amount of the nankar from the jumma, and taking engagements from the zemindars for the net residue, provided that the deduction for nankar should not exceed ten per cent. on the net jumma.

Third. In modification of the fifth clause of the proclamation issued under date the 14th of July, 1802, (paragraph 179,) whereby it was declared that the zemindars who might decline entering into engagements for their estates, as also zemindars whose offers might be rejected by Government, should for the present continue to be allowed the same nankar which they had heretofore received under the government of the Nawaub Vizier, it was subsequently determined by the Board of Commissioners, that the rate of allowance for nankar should not, in either of the cases stated, exceed ten per cent. on the jumma of the estate.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxx.

NOTE.—See sec. v., Reg. VII., 1822; and sec. xi., Reg. IX., 1833.

181. First. The whole of the lands in the ceded provinces shall be let on a lease for three years, at a fixed, equal annual rent, the amount of which must be determined by such accounts as the collectors may be at present in possession of or may be able hereafter to obtain; [but no settlement is to be considered final until it has received the previous sanction of the Board of Revenue.] In cases where, from the state of the country, it may not be practicable to conclude a settlement at a fixed, equal annual jumma or rent, without any obvious loss to Government, the collectors shall make the settlement at such an annual increase, during the first lease of three years, as may appear to them to be just and equitable.

NOTE.—The words in italics were rescinded by cl. 3, sec. xviii., Reg. VIII., 1805, see paragraph 183.

Second. The collectors shall insert the following stipulations in every engagement:—First, At the expiration of the first lease for three years, another settlement shall be concluded for the further period of three years, at a fixed, equal, annual jumma, [on the following terms: the difference shall be struck between the annual amount of the first lease and the actual net produce of the lands at the time when it expired, and two-thirds of such difference shall be added to the annual rent of the first lease, and will become that for the second three years.] Secondly, At the expiration of the second three years' lease, new engagements shall be entered into for the further period of four years, at a fixed, equal, annual jumma, the amount of which shall be determined by adding three-fourths of the net increase of revenue during any year of the second three years' lease to the jumma thereof. Thirdly, At the end of the ten years, a permanent settlement shall be concluded for such lands as may be in a state of cultivation sufficiently advanced to warrant the measure, on such terms as Government may deem fair and equitable; due regard being had to the actual state of the country, and its means and capability of further improvement. Fourthly, Persons fulfilling their engagements for the first three years, shall have the option of renewing the same for the second period on the prescribed terms, and so on for the third period.

NOTE.—The words in italics were rescinded by sec. ii., Reg. V., 1805; see also Regs. V., 1808, and IX., 1812.

Third. Persons holding claims to lands for which engagements have been entered into by the present possessors, and who did not prefer their claim to regain possession of the same within six months from the date (as recorded in the several zillahs) of issuing the proclamation by the Board of Commissioners of the 14th of July, 1802, such claimants shall not be entitled to be put in actual possession before the expiration of the first lease of three years; and claims not preferred within the aforesaid period of three years shall not entitle the claimant to regain possession until the expiration of the ten years. But this rule shall not be construed to restrict persons from preferring their claims at any time within the ten years.

Fourth. In all cases the settlement shall be made with the zemindars, provided they offer a fair and equitable jumma. Where a collector may judge it inexpedient to form a settlement with a zemindar, he shall hold proceedings on the subject, detailing at large his reasons for rejecting the claim, with every information he may have obtained relative to such zemindar, and at the same time receiving the zemindar's answer to the objections urged to his claim. The collector shall then transmit the whole of his proceedings to the Board of Revenue, and await their determination on the same.

Fifth. Where a zemindar may decline entering into engagements for his estate, he shall be allowed, for the present, the same nankar which he may have been accustomed to receive under the government of the Nawaub Vizier; and, in like manner, where the Board of Revenue may reject the claim of a zemindar to enter into agreements with Government, and such zemindar may have been in the receipt of nankar under the late Government, such rate of nankar shall be continued to him for the present; provided that, in either case, the rate of such allowance shall not exceed the sum of ten per cent. on the jumma of the estate.

Sixth. Where a zemindary may have been mortgaged, or transferred as security for a debt, and actual possession given to the mortgagee or surety, the settlement shall be made with such mortgagee or surety in possession, leaving the zemindar at liberty to adjust his accounts with the actual possessor, or to sue for redress in a court of justice.

Seventh. In large zemindaries containing several dependent talooks or estates, of which the actual proprietors may be now, and have been for a length of time, in undisturbed possession, the principal zemindars being no more than the immediate channel of receiving the dues of Government, the settlement shall be made with such dependent talookdars separate and distinct from the engagement of the principal zemindars; provided, however, that the talookdars shall be desirous of such separation or the zemindars shall require it.

Eighth. In the event of the zemindar considering himself aggrieved by a separation made in conformity to the above clause, or of a talookdar being dissatisfied at not being separated from a zemindary, agreeably to what he may have considered as his right, in either case, the party considering himself aggrieved shall be at liberty to sue for redress in a court of justice. The collectors shall not suffer such disputed claim to interfere with or delay the immediate conclusion of the settlement, which, in all doubtful cases, shall be made with the person in possession.

Ninth. Where zemindars, or other actual proprietors, shall decline entering into engagements for their respective estates, or where there are no proprietors, a village settlement shall be made for three years, giving the preference to the mokuddums, purdhauns, or any respectable ryot of the village; but no person, not an actual proprietor, shall (so far as may be practicable) be allowed to engage for more than one assilee village, and its dakhilee or dependent villages.

Tenth. Persons of every description, whether proprietors or not, shall give security equal to one-fourth of the stipulated amount of their annual engagements, in default of which their proposals shall be rejected.

Eleventh. All persons with whom a settlement may be made, shall bind themselves by a written obligation, under such reasonable penalty as the collectors may think proper to determine, to grant pottahs or leases to the ryots and under-renters of every description, specifying the amount they are respectively to pay; and counter engagements shall be executed by the ryots and under-renters of a similar tenour and purport.

Twelfth. In granting pottahs to the ryots and other under-renters, and in receiving cabooleats from them, all authorized and established abwaubs shall be consolidated with the land rent and formed into one jumma, which shall be expressed in a gross sum in the pottahs and cabooleats; and the imposing or levying new abwaubs shall be strictly prevented.

Thirteenth. All engagements entered into with Government shall be exclusive of sayer duties, and of all other collections not connected with the land revenue, hitherto levied under the denomination of zemindary and tannahdary duties. The cabooleats executed by zemindars and other actual proprietors of land, shall contain a clause restricting them from collecting sayer duties, or any other duties whatever, in their respective tenures. And the collectors are required to explain fully the nature and extent of this restriction, in order that persons desirous of entering into engagements may regulate their proposals accordingly. Nankar, and pensions of every description, shall be paid by Government from its own treasuries; and no deductions whatever shall be admitted on these or on any other accounts.

Fourteenth. Where neither the proprietors nor farmers may tender suitable conditions of agreement, a khas or bowlee settlement shall be made with the ryots, stipulating the shares they are to get from the different kinds of land, as follows:—In politch lands, or such as are in full cultivation, Government shall receive five passerees and the ryot three passerees. In chunchur lands, or such as have not been cultivated for two or three years, Government shall receive two and the ryot six passerees. In bunjer, or waste lands, Government shall receive one and the ryot seven passerees. Chunchur lands after one, and bunjer lands after two years, shall be considered equal to politch; and further, the bunjer lands after one year shall be taxed equal to chunchur. In the khas settlement, the bhaint or nuzzerana shall be abolished; the putwarries' wages shall be borne by the ryots; but the mussahut, or measuring and valuing the crops, shall be defrayed by Government, in consideration of the additional passeree received out of the politch crop. In all cases where crops are valued, it shall be done according to the price-current of the day. In the khas settlement the ryots shall engage that the cultivation of the lands shall not fall off, and that they shall not undertake the cultivation of new lands until they have accomplished that of the old.

Fifteenth. The collectors shall, in all cases whatever, take under their own immediate management the settlement and collections of all the large zemindaries; and further, that of all such other lands as they can superintend without detriment to their general avocations.

Sixteenth. The proprietors of such estates as shall pay their revenues immediately into the treasury of a collector, shall become responsible for entertaining an efficient police in their respective estates, subject to such general rules and regulations as may be hereafter enacted; with an exception as to cities, large towns, and principal gunges, the expenses of the police of which will be defrayed by Government.

NOTE.—See Reg. XIV., 1807.

Seventeenth. In cases where lands to a considerable amount shall be let in farm to one individual, and Government, from the report of the Board of Revenue, shall be of opinion that the other avocations of the collector will admit of the measure, the collections from such farm shall be paid immediately into the treasury of the collector, instead of being received through the medium of a tehseeldar.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. liii.

182. Where more proprietors than one possess an undivided estate, and the whole of them be not within the description of disqualified landholders, the settlement shall be made with them jointly, and they are required to elect a serberakar or manager, who shall have the exclusive management of their lands during the continuance of his appointment.—Reg. LII., 1803, sec. v., cl. 1.

183. Such part of Clause First of paragraph 181 as declares that no settlement shall be considered final in the ceded provinces until it has received the sanction of the Board of Revenue, is rescinded. Instead of the foregoing rule, it is hereby provided that no settlement shall be considered final in the ceded provinces until it shall have received the final sanction of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xviii., cl. 3.

184. With the view of obviating any misconstruction of the rule to be adopted in adding to the jummia a portion of the increased produce, in concluding the settlements to be formed at the commencement of the Fusly years 1213 and 1217, it is hereby declared, in explanation of the second and third clauses of the proclamation issued on the 14th of July, 1802 (paragraph 179), as well as of Clause Second of paragraph 181, that the amount of the nankar to which the zemindars were entitled under their original engagements for the first triennial settlement, shall be deducted from the actual yearly produce of their estates at the time of the expiration of each lease, and the actual increase of public revenue to be assessed agreeably to the clauses above specified, shall be calculated on the amount of the difference between the actual net produce after such deduction, and the annual amount of the former lease. It is at the same time provided, that the portion of the increased produce relinquished to the zemindars, under the above-mentioned clauses, on the formation of the successive settlements, shall be considered as precluding all claim, on the part of the zemindars, to any further proportion of such increased produce, on account of nankar, in addition to the deduction originally made and continued to them on this account.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxxi.

185. In pursuance of an order issued by the Board of Commissioners under date the 30th of September, 1802, a discretion is vested in the landholders to grant small portions of land exempt from the payment of revenue, for the support of their village watchmen, whenever they shall prefer making such grants to paying the watchmen a pecuniary allowance. Such grants, however, shall be resumable on the death or removal of the persons to whom they may be made; and the lands thus exempted from the payment of rent, as well as any other lands held by public officers or private servants exempt from rent, in lieu of wages, and not forming part of any authorized lakhiraj grants or tenures, within the provisions of Regulations XXXI. and XXXVI., 1803, shall be considered to form a component part of the malguzary lands of the estates to which they may respectively appertain, for the revenue assessed upon which they will consequently be held responsible, in common with all other malguzary lands included therein.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxxii.

186. The lands of some zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, having been held khas, or let in farm, in consequence of their refusing to pay the assessment required of them under the proclamation inserted in paragraph 179, the Governor-General in Council notifies to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, whose lands are held khas, that they shall be restored to the management of their lands, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which shall be required of them, in conformity to the prescribed rules for the settlement of the land revenue; and the Governor-General in Council declares to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, whose lands have been let in farm, that they shall not regain possession of their lands before the expiration of the period for which they have been farmed (unless the farmers shall voluntarily consent to make over to them the remaining term of their lease, and the Governor-General in Council shall approve of the transfer), but that, at the expiration of that period, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which shall be required of them, they shall be reinstated, under the general regulations in the management of their estates respectively.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxxiii.

187. It is well known to the zemindars, talookdars, and other descriptions of landholders in the provinces ceded by the Nawaub Vizier to the Honourable the English East-India Company, that from the earliest times until the present period the public assessment upon the lands has never been fixed; and that, according to established usage and custom, the rulers of those provinces, and their delegates, have exercised a discretionary authority in depriving them of the possession of their zemindaries, talooks, and other tenures, whereby their right of property therein has become precarious and of little value, whilst the lands, from being let in farm to strangers, or otherwise disposed of, have been impoverished, and the tenants and cultivators of the soil have been exposed to rapacity and oppression. With a view of promoting the interests of the landholders and to enhance the value of their estates, as well as to induce them to encourage their under-tenants and to extend cultivation, under the certainty that they will enjoy the fruits of their industry and good management, the Governor-General in Council has, by the rules contained in the preceding paragraphs, not only directed a settlement to be immediately made with the zemindars and other proprietors of land who shall be willing to engage for the revenue of their respective estates, but has also declared, that a permanent assessment shall be fixed, at the end of ten years, on such lands as shall be in a state of cultivation sufficiently advanced to render it proper to fix the assessment on the same in perpetuity; and the Governor-General in Council further declares the proprietary rights of all zemindars, talookdars, and other descriptions of landholders possessing a right of property in the lands composing their zemindaries, talooks, or other tenures, to be confirmed and established, under the authority of the British Government, in conformity to the laws and usages of the country, and to the Regulations which have been, or shall be hereafter, enacted by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxxiv.

188. To prevent any misconstruction of the declaration contained in the foregoing paragraph the Governor-General in Council deems it to be necessary to publish the following declarations to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land.

First. It being the duty of the ruling power to protect all classes of people, and more particularly those who, from their situation, are most helpless, the Governor-General in Council will, whenever he shall deem it proper, enact such Regulations as he shall judge to be necessary, for the protection and welfare of the dependent talookdars, ryots, and other cultivators of the soil; and no zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, shall be entitled, on this account, to make any objection to the discharge of the assessment on their lands, which they have respectively agreed, or may hereafter agree, to pay.

Second. The Governor-General in Council having abolished all the duties coming under the denomination of sayer, rahdary, zemindary, or any other denomination, levied on goods or merchandise of any description, with the exception of the established duties levied by Government in bazars and gunges; and it being provided by the first clause of the proclamation aforesaid, issued under date the 14th of July, 1802 (paragraph 179), as well as by Clause Thirteenth of paragraph 181, that all engagements for the land revenue entered into with Government shall be exclusive of sayer duties, and of all other collections not connected with the land revenue; the Governor-General in Council hereby declares, that if he should hereafter think it proper to establish any internal duties, and to appoint officers on the part of Government to collect them, no proprietor of land will be admitted to any participation thereof, or be entitled to make any claims for remissions of assessment on that account.

Third. The Governor-General in Council will impose such assessment as he shall deem equitable on all lands held exempt from the public revenue, which have been, or shall be proved to be so held under illegal or invalid titles. The assessment thus imposed will belong to Government, and no proprietor of land will be entitled to any part of it.

Fourth. The jumma of those zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, with whom a settlement shall have been made or shall be hereafter concluded, under the terms set forth in the aforesaid proclamation dated the 14th July, 1802 (paragraph 179), or in paragraph 181, shall be considered exclusive of any allowances which have been made to them in the adjustment of their jumma, for maintaining tannahs or police establishments, and also of the produce of any lands which they may have been permitted to appropriate for the same purpose; and the Governor-General in Council reserves to himself the option of resuming the whole or any part of such allowances, or of the produce of such lands, if he should at any time think it to be proper to exonerate the proprietors of land from the charge of keeping the peace, and to appoint officers on the part of Government to superintend the police of the country. The Governor-General in Council, however, declares that the allowances, or the produce of lands, which may be thus resumed, will be appropriated to no other purpose but that of defraying the expense of the police.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxxv.

189. That no doubt may be entertained, whether it be lawful for proprietors of land to dispose of their estates without the previous sanction of Government, the Governor-General in Council notifies to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, that they are at liberty to transfer to whomsoever they may think proper, by sale, gift, or otherwise, their proprietary rights in the whole or any portion of their respective estates, without applying to Government for its sanction to the transfer; and that all such transfers will be held valid, provided that they be conformable to the Mahomedan or the Hindoo laws (according as the religious persuasions of the parties to each transaction may render the validity of it determinable by the former or the latter code), and that they be not repugnant to any Regulations now in force, or which shall be hereafter enacted by the British Government. It is, at the same time, hereby declared, that no private transfer by sale, gift, or otherwise, nor any private mortgage or other assessment upon land assessed with the public revenue, will be admitted, in any respect, to affect the indefeasible right of Government to hold all such lands answerable, in the first instance, for the public revenue assessed thereupon.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxxvi.

NOTE.—So much of the following rules as relates to the adjustment of the jumma on lands sold in satisfaction of decrees is repealed by sec. 1., Act IV., 1846.

190. Whenever an entire estate (viz., the whole of any landed property, for the assessment on which a distinct engagement has been or shall be entered into between Government and the proprietor, or which shall be separately assessed, although included in one engagement with other estates belonging to the same proprietor) shall be disposed of by public or private sale, without any subdivision of such estate, no new allotment of the jumma will be requisite, and the purchaser will succeed to all the rights of the former proprietor in the entire estate. But it is essential that a declaration should be made of the principles upon which the public assessment or jumma charged upon any such estates will be apportioned on the several divisions of it, in the event of the whole of it being transferred by public or by private sale, or otherwise, in two or more lots, or of a portion of it being transferred in one, or in two or more lots, or of its being joint property, and a division of it being made among the proprietors. The Governor-General in Council has accordingly prescribed the following rules for apportioning the public assessment in the several cases above mentioned; and as Government might sustain a considerable loss of revenue by disproportionate allotments of that assessment, were the apportioning of it, in any of the cases above specified, to be left to the proprietors, it is hereby required, that all such transfers or divisions as may be made by the private act of the parties themselves, be notified to the collector of the revenue of the zillah in which the lands shall be situated, or such other officer as Government shall in future prescribe, in order that the public assessment or jumma charged upon the whole estate may be apportioned on the several shares in the manner hereafter directed, and that the names of the proprietors of each share, and the jumma charged thereon, may be entered in the public registers, and that separate engagements for the payment of the jumma assessed upon each share may be executed by the proprietors, who will thenceforward be considered as proprietors of distinct estates. If the parties concerned in such transfers or divisions of estates shall omit to notify them to the collector of the revenue of the zillah, or such other officer as shall be hereafter prescribed, for the purposes before mentioned, the whole of the original estate will be held responsible to Government for the discharge of the jumma assessed upon it, in the same manner as if no such transfer or division had ever taken place. The Governor-General in Council deems it to be necessary further to notify, in elucidation of the declarations contained in this rule, that if any zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, shall dispose of a portion of his or her lands as a dependent talook, or any other under-tenure, to remain as a dependency, subject to the payment of rent to the proprietor of the estate of which such talook may form a part, the jumma which may be stipulated to be paid by the dependent talookdar, or other under-tenant, will not be entered in the records of Government, nor will the transfer exempt such lands from being answerable, in common with the remainder of the estate, for the payment of the public revenue assessed upon the whole of it, in the event of the proprietor, or his or her heirs or successors, falling in arrear from any cause whatever; nor will such transfer be allowed in any case to affect the rights or claims of Government, any more than if it had never taken place.

First. In the event of the whole estate of a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or shall be concluded, being exposed to public sale, by order of the Governor-General in Council, for the discharge of arrears of the public assessment, or in consequence of the decision of a court of justice, in two or more lots, the assessment upon each lot shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual neat produce as the public assessment upon the whole of the lands sold may bear to the whole of their actual neat produce. The neat annual produce is to be understood to be the neat annual rent, or other neat produce receivable by the proprietor after deducting from the gross rent, or other gross produce, the actual expenses of collection, and other usual charges of management, inclusive of the expense of embankments, and similar incidental expenses, where such may be paid by the proprietor from his gross receipts; but exclusive of his malikanah, nankar, or other proprietary income, and all other personal appropriations of the gross produce of his estate, as such can have no claim to consideration in determining the neat produce for an equal division of landed property, or for the allotment of the public assessment thereon, in conformity to the rules prescribed. The neat produce, as here defined, shall be ascertained in the mode that is or shall be prescribed by the Regulations, and the purchaser or purchasers of such lands, and his, her, or their heirs and lawful successors, shall hold them at the jumma at which they may be so purchased, subject to the general rules in force at the time of sale for the periodical or permanent assessment of the land revenue.

Second. When a portion of the estate of a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or shall be concluded, shall be exposed to public sale, by order of the Governor-General in Council, for the liquidation of arrears of assessment, or pursuant to the decision of a court of justice, the assessment upon such lands, if disposed of in one lot, shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to their actual neat produce as the assessment upon the whole of the lands of such proprietor, included in the same estate, may bear to the whole of their actual neat produce. If the lands sold should be disposed of in two or more lots, the assessment upon each lot shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual neat produce as the assessment upon the whole of the lands of such proprietor, included in the same estate, may bear to the whole of their actual neat produce. The actual neat produce of the whole of the lands of such proprietor, whether the portion of them which may be sold be disposed of in one, or in two or more lots, shall be ascertained in the mode that is or shall be prescribed by the Regulations; and the purchaser or purchasers of such lands, and his, her, or their heirs or successors, will be allowed to hold them at the jumma at which they may be so purchased, subject to the general rules in force at the time of sale, for the periodical or permanent assessments of the land revenue.

Third. When a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or shall be concluded, shall transfer the whole of his or her estate, in two or more distinct portions, to two or more persons, or a portion thereof to one person, or to two or more persons in joint property, by private sale, gift, or otherwise, the assessment upon each distinct portion of such estate, so transferred, shall be fixed by the collector or other authorized officer of Government, at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual neat produce, as the assessment upon the whole of the estate of the transferring proprietor, of which the whole or a portion may be so transferred, may bear to the whole of its actual neat produce. This produce shall be ascertained in the mode that is or shall be prescribed in the Regulations, and the person or persons to whom such lands may be transferred, and his, or her, or their heirs and lawful successors, shall hold them at the jumma at which they may be so transferred, after the same shall have been duly sanctioned and registered, and engaged for, subject to the general rules in force at the time of transfer, for the periodical or permanent assessment of the land revenue.

Fourth. Whenever a division shall be made of lands, the settlement of which has been or shall be concluded with, or on behalf of, the proprietor or proprietors, and that are or may become the joint property of two or more persons, the assessment upon each share shall be fixed by the collector, or other authorized officer of Government, at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual neat produce, as the jumma assessed upon the whole of the estate divided may bear to the whole of its actual neat produce. This produce shall be ascertained in the mode that is or shall be prescribed by the Regulations, and the sharers, and their heirs and lawful successors, shall hold their respective shares at the jumma which may be so assessed upon them, after the same shall have been duly sanctioned, registered, and engaged for, subject to the general rules in force at the time of the division, for the periodical or permanent assessment of the land revenue.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxxvii.

191. The following rules are prescribed respecting the adjustment of the public assessment or jumma on the lands of zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, whose lands are or may be held khas, or let in farm by Government, in the event of their being disposed of by public sale, or transferred by any private act of the proprietor, or of their being joint property, and a division of them taking place amongst the proprietors.

First. If the whole, or a portion of the lands of a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, who may not have agreed to the payment of the assessment proposed to him or her, and whose lands are or shall be held khas, or let in farm by Government, shall be exposed to public sale, in one, or in two or more lots, pursuant to the decree of a court of justice, such lands, if khas, shall be disposed of at whatever assessment the Governor-General in Council shall deem equitable, and the purchaser or purchasers of such lands, and his, or her, or their heirs and lawful successors, shall hold the lands at the assessment at which they shall be so purchased, subject to the general rules in force at the time of sale, for the periodical or permanent assessment of the land revenue. If the lands, at the time of their being exposed to sale, shall be held in farm, and shall be put up in one, or in two or more lots, they shall be disposed of under the following conditions. The purchaser or purchasers shall receive, during the unexpired part of the term of the lease of the farmer, whatever such proprietor shall have been entitled to receive, in virtue of his or her proprietary rights, on account of the lands so purchased, and such purchaser or purchasers shall, at the expiration of the lease of the farmer, be put in possession of the lands, on his or their engaging to pay such assessment as Government may deem equitable, under the general rules in force for the assessment of the land revenue.

Second. If a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, whose lands are or may be held khas, or let in farm by Government, shall transfer, by private sale, gift, or otherwise, the whole or a portion of his or her lands in one, or in two or more lots, and such transfer be legal and valid under the Regulations, the person or persons to whom the lands may be so transferred shall be considered to have succeeded to the whole of the proprietary rights of the former possessor, and will accordingly be entitled to receive any malikanah or nankar to which the former proprietor was entitled on account of the lands so transferred. Persons to whom such lands may be so transferred will stand in the same predicament as the zemindars, independent talookdars, or other actual proprietors of land mentioned in paragraph 186, whose lands are held khas or have been let in farm in consequence of their refusing to pay the assessment required of them under the before-mentioned Regulations for the decennial settlement, and the declarations contained in that rule are to be held applicable to them.

Third. In the event of a division being made of lands that are or shall become the joint property of two or more persons, and which are or shall be held khas, or let in farm by Government, the proprietors of the several shares will stand in the same predicament, with regard to their respective shares, as the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land specified in paragraph 186, whose lands have been let in farm or are held khas by Government, in consequence of their having refused to pay the assessment required of them, and the declarations contained in that paragraph are to be considered applicable to them.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxxviii.

192. Nothing in the two preceding paragraphs shall be understood to preclude the revision and correction of allotments of the public assessment upon portions of estates disposed of by public sale or private transfer, or upon the partition of joint estates, in cases of evident error, collusion, or fraud, for which provision has been made by the rules for the sale and division of lands paying revenue to Government; nor shall anything in the foregoing paragraph be construed to authorize the collectors, or any other officers of Government, to determine finally the amount of the public assessment to be allotted upon the portion of an estate, whether publicly or privately disposed of or divided between sharers, without the sanction of the Board of Revenue, as more fully provided for by the Regulation above mentioned.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxxix.

CONSTRUCTION OF VARIOUS RULES RELATING TO THE SETTLEMENT.

193. By paragraph 181, respecting the settlement of the ceded provinces, it is enacted that "persons holding claims to lands, for which engagements have been entered into by the present possessors, and who did not prefer their claim to regain possession of the same within six months from the date (as recorded in the several zillahs) of issuing the proclamation by the Board of Commissioners of the 14th of July, 1802, such claimants shall not be entitled to be put in actual possession before the expiration of the first lease of three years, and claims not preferred within the aforesaid period of three years shall not entitle the claimant to regain possession until the expiration of ten years." It is also enacted in Article 4th, Clause Second, paragraph 181, "that persons fulfilling their engagements for the first three years shall have the option of renewing the same for the second period on the prescribed terms, and so on for the third period." Doubts have in consequence arisen, whether the restrictive clauses thus established in favour of farmers and others, to the exclusion, in certain cases, of the actual proprietors of the lands during the whole decennial term, were intended to apply only "to persons who (according to the terms of the first provision above cited) might not prefer their claims within the aforesaid period of three years," or whether the said restrictions should be considered applicable generally to the proprietors of estates, who, having been for any cause excluded from the management of their lands at the conclusion of the first temporary settlement of the ceded provinces, did not prefer a request within the term of three years to be admitted to the management of their lands at the expiration of that term. It is consequently become necessary to explain by a declaratory Regulation the real intent and meaning of the above provisions, as deducible from the proclamation and instructions published by the Lieutenant-Governor and Board of Commissioners in the ceded provinces, in virtue of powers vested in them for that purpose, and from the tenor of other clauses in the existing Regulations; the following rules have consequently been passed, to be immediately in force in the ceded provinces.—Reg. V., 1808, sec. i.

194. It is hereby declared, that Clause Third, paragraph 181, comprising the substance of instructions issued on the 14th July, 1802, by the Lieutenant-Governor and Board of Commissioners, in virtue of powers vested in them for that purpose, was intended to relate in the first place to the case "where any person, calling himself an actual proprietor of land, should enter into engagements for the same, but it should afterwards appear that another person was the real proprietor and willing to take the land upon the terms of the settlement." In such case, according to the express provisions of the instructions above cited, "the original engagements were to be annulled, and new ones entered into with the real proprietor, who was to be put in immediate possession," provided he preferred his claim within six months from the publication of the proclamation of the same date, as required by a further publication issued in conformity to instructions dated 7th of August, 1802. "In default of which," as declared in the said publication, "the establishing of his right would not entitle the proprietor to be put in possession at any time previous to the expiration of the first lease of three years, during the whole of which lease the lands were in such case to remain in the possession of the person with whom the settlement had been originally made." It was further provided by the said instructions, that "if persons having claims to land did not prefer and prove the same within the period of the first lease of the three years, the persons with whom the existing engagements had been made were to remain in possession until the expiration of the tenth year." The same clause of the paragraph above cited, was intended to relate in the second place to the case of farmers with whom a village settlement should be made (for lands supposed to be without proprietors), under the seventh article of the proclamation, recited in paragraph 179. And in regard to such farmers, it was provided by the instructions aforesaid, that "in like manner and on similar conditions, farmers of villages were to be held liable to be dispossessed, in the event of the actual proprietors proving their right to the land, and of their coming forward to enter into engagements for the same."—Reg. V., 1808, sec. ii.

195. The aforesaid paragraph 181, being expressly declared by paragraph 179 to comprise the substance of the proclamation (instructions) issued by the Lieutenant-Governor and Board of Commissioners on the date above mentioned (14th July, 1802), must be taken and understood according to the tenor and meaning of the said instructions as herein above recited. It is therefore declared, that Article 4th, Clause Second, paragraph 181, together with Clause Third of the said paragraph, so far as they relate to farmers, were intended to apply only to those estates of which a farming or other settlement had been made with persons not being the actual proprietors, on the presumption that the lands in question were not the immediate property of any individuals, or in consequence of persons not really owners of the lands entering into engagements as actual proprietors of the same. It consequently follows, that the restrictions in question were not intended to apply to the cases of persons who, at the conclusion of the original settlement of the ceded provinces, had been acknowledged by the officers of Government as the proprietors of the estates in question, but who had been excluded from the immediate management of the lands, in consequence of their refusal to accede to the jumma proposed to be assessed thereon, as under such acknowledgment those persons could have no further claim to prefer or title to establish. This construction of the rules in question is not only conformable to the clear intent of the instructions issued by the late Board of Commissioners to the Collectors for their guidance in the formation of the settlement of the ceded provinces, and with the principles which have uniformly actuated the Government of concluding the settlement in all practicable cases, and at the earliest period of time, with the proprietors, but likewise with specific enactments in other parts of the existing Regulations. For instance, in paragraph 186, it is enacted as follows:—"The lands of some zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, having been held khas or let in farm in consequence of their refusing to pay the assessment required of them under the proclamation inserted in paragraph 179, the Governor-General in Council notifies to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land whose lands are held khas, that they shall be restored to the management of their lands upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which shall be required of them, in conformity to the prescribed rules for the settlement of the land revenue; and the Governor-General in Council declares to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land whose lands have been let in farm, that they shall not regain possession of their lands before the expiration of the period for which they have been farmed (unless the farmers shall voluntarily consent to make over to them the remaining term of their lease and the Governor-General in Council shall approve of the transfer), but that at the expiration of that period, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which shall be required of them, they shall be re-instated, under the general Regulations, in the management of their estates respectively." In like manner, it is enacted in paragraph 202 as follows :—" Nothing contained in this Regulation shall be considered to affect any settlements which shall have been actually concluded for the whole or any part of the ensuing three years, 1213, 1214, and 1215, Fusly; neither shall any part of this Regulation be construed to preclude the operation of the rule prescribed by paragraph 186, under which the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, whose lands have been let in farm, are entitled, at the expiration of the present triennial settlement ending with the year 1212, Fusly, to be reinstated, under the general Regulations prescribed for such cases, in the management of their estates, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment required from them." The first of the two rules above cited would have been nugatory and superfluous, had it been intended that the acknowledged proprietors of estates who had been excluded from the immediate management of their estates, should only re-obtain possession on the expiration of the whole of the decennial term, as they would naturally be reinstated in the possession of their lands in the ordinary course on the expiration of that period, without any legislative provision for that purpose in their favour: and paragraph 202, specifically states, in allusion to the former rule, that the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, whose lands have been let to farm, are entitled, at the expiration of the first triennial settlement, to be reinstated in the management of their estates.—Reg. V., 1808, sec. iii.

196. Conformably to the foregoing construction of the existing Regulations, all persons who were acknowledged to be the actual proprietors of estates at the conclusion of the first settlement of the ceded provinces, and were excluded from the immediate management of their lands in consequence of their refusal to accede to the jumma required from them, were justly entitled to be reinstated in possession of their lands at the expiration of the first triennial lease, on their agreeing to the payment of the assessment required of them; and are, in like manner, entitled to the possession and management of their lands, under the same condition, at the expiration of the triennial lease now in force. It is accordingly hereby declared, that they shall be reinstated in the possession and management of their lands at the close of the current Fusly year, on their assenting to the jumma which may now be assessed on their respective estates. No part, however, of this Regulation shall be construed to extend to the case of the claimants of estates in the ceded provinces, whose proprietary right was disputed at the period of the conclusion of the first triennial settlement of those provinces, and who did not establish their claims in a court of justice before the expiration of the first triennial settlement. In all cases of this description, in which the lands were let to farm, the farmers are entitled, under the Regulation above noticed and the conditions of their lease, to the option of renewing the lease for the period of four years from the commencement of the Fusly year 1216, provided that they have hitherto duly fulfilled the conditions of their engagements.—Reg. V., 1808, sec. iv.

SETTLEMENT FOR 1213, 1214, 1215, FUSLY.

197. The rules contained in the second article of the proclamation published by the Honourable the late Lieutenant-Governor and the Board of Commissioners for the affairs of the provinces ceded by the Nawaub Vizier to the English East-India Company, under date the 14th of July, 1802 (and confirmed, with certain modifications, by Section XXIX., Regulation XXV., and Section LIII., Regulation XXVII., 1803, paragraphs 179, 181), which direct that the second triennial settlement of the land revenue ordered to be concluded in those provinces, and commencing with the year 1213 of the Fusly era, shall be increased in the proportion of two-thirds of the difference between the annual amount of the first triennial settlement concluded for the years 1210, 1211, and 1212, and the actual yearly produce of the land at the period of the expiration of the said settlement, are hereby rescinded; and the following rules are prescribed for concluding the ensuing triennial settlement of the land revenue in the ceded provinces for the years 1213, 1214, and 1215, of the Fusly era.—Reg. V., 1805, sec. ii.

198. In all instances (with the exceptions specified in paragraph 202) in which the zemindars or other landholders, or the farmers of land, with whom the settlement was concluded for the years 1210, 1211, and 1212, Fusly, or with whom a settlement shall have been concluded at any period of time during those years, shall have fulfilled their engagements with Government, the settlement of their estates or farms for the ensuing three years, 1213, 1214, and 1215, Fusly, shall be concluded with such zemindars, landholders, or farmers, at the same annual jumma as was payable by them under the first triennial or other settlement expiring with the current year 1212, Fusly.—Reg. V., 1805, sec. iii.

199. All zemindars, or other landholders or farmers of land, who shall have obtained remissions from Government on account of drought or other cause, shall be considered to have fulfilled their engagements, provided they shall have discharged the whole amount of the jumma of their respective estates or farms, with the exception of the amount of such authorized remissions. —Reg V., 1805, sec. iv.

200. In instances in which the first triennial settlement for the years 1210, 1211, and 1212, Fusly, shall have been concluded of an annual increase, under the orders of the late Lieutenant-Governor and the Board of Commissioners adverted to in paragraph 180, instead of an equal annual jumma, as prescribed by the original rules for concluding the settlement of the land revenue in the ceded provinces, the ensuing triennial settlement for the years 1213, 1214, and 1215, Fusly, shall be concluded at the jumma payable on account of the current year 1212, Fusly.—Reg. V., 1805, sec. v.

201. If any zemindar, or other landholder or farmer of land, shall decline entering into engagements for the ensuing triennial settlement on the terms prescribed by this Regulation, the Governor-General in Council reserves to himself the power of authorizing the conclusion of the settlement of the lands comprised in the estates or farms of such landholders or farmers for the years 1213, 1214, and 1215, Fusly, or for any proportion of the said period, with any other person or persons who shall be willing to enter into engagements for the payment of the revenue of the said lands.—Reg. V., 1805, sec. vi.

202. Nothing contained in this Regulation shall be considered to affect any settlements which shall have been actually concluded for the whole or any part of the ensuing three years, 1213, 1214, and 1215, Fusly; neither shall any part of this Regulation be construed to preclude the operation of the rule prescribed by paragraph 186, under which the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land whose lands have been let in farm, are entitled, at the expiration of the present triennial settlement ending with the year 1212, Fusly, to be reinstated, under the general regulations prescribed for such cases, in the management of their estates, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment required from them.—Reg. V., 1805, sec. vii.

POSTPONEMENT OF THE INTENDED PERMANENT SETTLEMENT.

203. The provision contained in paragraph 179 prescribes that, at the expiration of the existing settlement in the provinces ceded by the Nawab Vizier, a new settlement shall be made for the period of four years. The Governor-General in Council, however, hereby notifies to the zemindars and other actual proprietors of land in the ceded provinces, that the jumma which may be assessed on their estates in the last year of the settlement immediately ensuing the present settlement, shall remain fixed for ever, in case the zemindars shall now be willing to engage for the payment of the public revenue on those terms in perpetuity, and the arrangement shall receive the sanction of the Honourable the Court of Directors.—Reg. X., 1807, sec. v.

204. Such part of the preceding rule as declares provisionally that the jumma which may be assessed on the estates of the zemindars and other actual proprietors of land in the ceded provinces shall remain fixed for ever, is hereby rescinded.—Reg. IX., 1812, sec. ii.

205. It having been declared in paragraph 179, with reference to the settlement then depending, that at the end of ten years a permanent settlement would be concluded with the same persons (if willing to engage, and if no others having a better claim should come forward), for such lands as might be in a sufficiently improved state of cultivation to warrant the measure, on such terms as Government should deem fair and equitable, the said rule is hereby declared to be in full force and effect.—Reg. IX., 1812, sec. iii.

206. Under the provision contained in the preceding paragraph, it will of course be the duty of the Board of Commissioners to ascertain what estates may be in a state of cultivation to warrant the conclusion of a permanent settlement. In all such cases a revision shall be made of the jumma assessed on the said estates, on the principle of leaving to the proprietors a net income of ten per cent. on the jumma, exclusive of charges of collection; and a settlement shall be concluded with the proprietors, subject of course to the approval of the Governor-General in Council, accordingly. The jumma which may be so fixed on the estates of the zemindars and other actual proprietors of land shall, in conformity to the tenor of the proclamation originally issued by the late Lieutenant-Governor and Board of Commissioners, and afterwards incorporated into Regulation XXV., 1803, remain fixed for ever.—Reg. IX., 1812, sec. iv.

207. Under the rule contained in paragraph 205, it will likewise be the duty of the Board of Commissioners to submit to the Governor-General in Council a report, specifying the estates which may not appear to be yet in a sufficiently improved state of cultivation to admit of the conclusion of a permanent settlement, without a sacrifice of those resources which may hereafter be derived from them for the exigencies of Government. In all cases of that nature, the Governor-General in Council will determine, on consideration of the information which may be furnished by the Board of Commissioners, whether the settlement of such estates shall be made for the term of three or five years, or for any other period, according as may appear most conducive to the public interests.—Reg. IX., 1812, sec. v.

SETTLEMENT FROM FUSLY 1224 TO 1229, AND FROM 1229 TO 1234.

208. The existing settlement of the land revenue of the provinces ceded by the Nawaub Vizier to the British Government shall, in all cases in which it may have been concluded with zemindars or other acknowledged proprietors of land, continue in force until the expiration of the year 1229, Fusly, subject to the following provisions.—Reg. XVI., 1816, sec. ii.

209. If the russud, or progressive increase in the jumma, demandable from the zemindars under their engagements on account of the year 1224, Fusly, shall in any case have been remitted with the sanction of Government, the zemindars who may have received such remission shall be deemed entitled to the same indulgence during the ensuing quinquennial settlement.—Reg. XVI., 1816, sec. iii.

210. If any zemindars, who may have entered into engagements for the payment of the public revenue during the existing settlement, shall not be willing to continue to hold their lands on the terms specified in the preceding paragraphs, for a further period of five years, viz., to the expiration of the year 1229, Fusly, they shall notify the same to the collector of the zillah within which their lands may be situated, on or before the 1st March, 1817, corresponding with the 19th Phagoon, 1223, Bengal era; the 27th Phagoon, 1224, Fusly; the 20th Phagoon, 1224, Willaity; the 13th Phagoon, 1873, Sumbut; and the 12th Rubee-us-Sanee, 1232, Hijree.—Reg. XVI., 1816, sec. iv.

211. All zemindars who shall not make a notification to the effect and within the period above mentioned, shall be held and are hereby declared to be responsible for the payment of the same revenue during the ensuing five years, viz., until the expiration of the year 1229, Fusly, as may be specified in their engagements for the year 1224, Fusly; subject, however, to the qualification specified in paragraph 209.—Reg. XVI., 1816, sec. v.

212. With respect to the estates which are at present let to farm, and of which the leases will expire with the Fusly year 1224, the settlement of such mehauls shall be made with the actual proprietors, in all cases in which they may be willing to engage during the years 1225, 1226, 1227, 1228, and 1229, for the payment of an annual jumma equal to the amount payable by the farmers respectively on account of the year 1224, and shall make the necessary application to the collector of the district in which the lands may be situated, or to the Board of Commissioners, on or before the 1st March next.—Reg. XVI., 1816, sec. vi.

213. With respect to lands at present held khas, the settlement of all such lands shall be formed for the years 1225, 1226, 1227, 1228, and 1229, with the zemindars or other actual proprietors of land, supposing such persons to be willing to engage for the payment of the public revenue, on such terms as may appear reasonable.—Reg. XVI., 1816, sec. vii.

214. In cases in which the zemindars may decline to engage for the payment of the revenue demandable from their lands during the ensuing five years, or in which no acknowledged proprietors of the lands may be forthcoming, it will of course be the duty of the revenue authorities to consider whether the lands shall be let to farm, or whether the rents shall be collected directly from the great body of the ryots; or in other words, whether the lands shall be held khas, or whether a settlement shall be formed for the above period of five years for the several villages, with the head ryot, however denominated, of each village respectively.—Reg. XVI., 1816, sec. viii.

215. The existing settlement of the land revenue in the Ceded Provinces, with the exception hereinafter specified, shall, in all cases in which it may have been concluded with zemindars, or persons acknowledged as the proprietors or possessors of a permanent interest in the mehaul for which they have been engaged, continue in force until the expiration of the year 1234, Fusly, subject to the following provisions:—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. ii., cl. 1.

216. The Board of Commissioners in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, having, under instructions from the Governor-General in Council, caused proclamations to be issued in the several districts under their authority, declaring the resolution of Government to extend the existing leases as above, and requiring all zemindars and other persons aforesaid, who might be unwilling to continue their engagements for a further period of five years, to notify the same to the collector of the zillah, the said proclamations are hereby sanctioned and confirmed; and all zemindars and other persons aforesaid, who shall not have made a notification to the effect and within the period thereby required, shall be held and are hereby declared to be responsible for the same revenue for each of the ensuing five years, viz., until the expiration of the year 1234, Fusly, as may be demandable from them on account of the present year.—Reg. VIk, 1822, sec. ii., cl. 3.

217. The districts of Goruckpore and Azimgurh are excluded from the operation of the rules contained in the two preceding paragraphs: the zemindars and other persons aforesaid within the said districts shall be allowed to hold, from year to year, the mehauls for which they may now be under engagements, subject to the payment of the jumma demandable on account of the present year, until the revenue officers shall be prepared to commence a careful revision of the settlement of their respective estates; and all engagements into which such zemindars and other persons may have entered, or shall enter, with the local revenue authorities for continuing their present leases as aforesaid, are hereby confirmed.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. ii., cl. 4.

218. Provided also, that it be hereby declared and enacted as a general rule, that if any zemindar, or other malguzar as aforesaid, who may now or hereafter be under engagement for the payment of the revenue demandable by Government on account of any mehaul, shall be allowed by the revenue authorities to continue in the management of such mehaul after the expiration of such engagement, and shall do or direct any act relative to the cultivation or management of such mehaul, or the settlement, assessment, or collection of the rents of such mehaul, in or on account of any year subsequent to the term of such engagement, such zemindar or other malguzar aforesaid shall be held to be responsible on account of such year for the same revenue as may have been demandable from him for the year preceding, unless otherwise specially agreed upon: provided further, that it shall be competent for collectors, or other officers exercising the power of collectors, with the sanction of the Board, or commissioner to whom they may be subordinate, at any time, not being more than six months previous to the expiration of a settlement, to call upon the zemindars, or other malguzars as aforesaid, to declare whether or not they are willing to continue their engagements for the ensuing year; and if such zemindars or other malguzars shall not forthwith notify their refusal to do so, they shall be held to have agreed to such an extension of their leases at the existing assessment, and so on, from year to year, as aforesaid. Zemindars or other malguzars who may be allowed to hold on from year to year, shall not be chargeable with any additional revenue on account of any year, unless the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, shall notify his intention to revise the assessment on or before the commencement of such year, unless where otherwise specially provided.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. ii., cl. 6.

219. The existing settlement in the Ceded Provinces (with the exceptions and subject to the provisions hereinafter stated) shall be extended to a further period of five years, viz., for the years 1235 to 1239, Fusly, inclusive, in cases in which it may have been concluded with zemindars, lumberdars, or other persons recorded as the proprietors or possessors of a permanent interest in the mehaul for which they may have engaged, or as the representatives of such persons.—Reg. II., 1826, sec. ii. cl. 1.

220. If any zemindars and other persons aforesaid shall be unwilling to continue their engagements for a further period of five years, on the terms specified in this Regulation, they shall notify the same to the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of the collector, to whom they may be subject, on or before the 31st July next, corresponding with the 12th Sawun, 1233, Fusly era. And all zemindars and other persons aforesaid, who shall not make a notification to the effect, and within the period above mentioned, shall be held and are hereby declared to be responsible for the payment of the same revenue for each of the five years subsequent to the settlement now in force, viz., for the years 1235 to 1239, inclusive, as may be specified in their engagements for the year 1234, Fusly. And in such cases no alteration shall be made in the jumma demandable by Government on account of the mehauls held by such persons (excepting as hereinafter excepted) until the expiration of the said period of five years.—Reg. II., 1826, sec. ii., cl. 2.

221. The above rules shall not apply to the districts of Goruckpore and Azimgurh, for which special provision was made by paragraph 213; nor shall they be held in any district to affect the terms of any engagements which may have been specifically entered into on account of any year or years subsequent to the general settlement now in force.—Reg. II., 1826, sec. ii., cl. 3.

222. It shall be competent to collectors, and other officers exercising the powers of collectors, subject to the orders of the Board of Revenue to which they may be subordinate, to exclude from the operation of the preceding rules any mehful or mehauls of which a revised settlement may have been made, or be about to be made, under the rules of Regulation VII., 1822, or in regard to which there may, in the judgment of these authorities, exist any special reasons for effecting an early resettlement of the same; and in the case of mehauls of the last description, it shall be competent to the collectors, or other officers aforesaid, to make an immediate resettlement of the same on the expiration of the existing leases; or to grant to the persons under engagements renewed leases for such further term (not exceeding five years) as the Board may direct. Provided, however, that in all cases in which it may be determined to adopt special measures as above in regard to any mehaul or mehauls, the collector, or other officer aforesaid, shall give notice of such determination in writing to the person under engagements for the same, on or before the 1st of March, 1827. A perwannah delivered to or left at the usual residence of the malguzar, or a notification stuck up, under orders of the collector, in any conspicuous place within the mehaul, shall be held to be sufficient notice for the above purpose.—Reg. II., 1826, sec. ii., cl. 4.

223. Zemindars and other persons as aforesaid, whose engagements shall be continued for a further period of five years as above provided, as well as all other persons who may hereafter enter into engagements as proprietors, or as the representatives of proprietors, shall, after the expiration of the leases so extended or granted, hold the mehauls for which they may have engaged or may hereafter engage, and shall continue to be subject to the payment of the same annual jumma as may be chargeable on account of the last year of their lease, until the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, shall effect a detailed revision of the settlement in the mode prescribed by Regulation VII., 1822, or shall be otherwise specially authorized by Government to make a fresh assessment: provided also, that no zemindar, or other malguzar as aforesaid, shall be liable to pay on account of any year a higher jumma than that payable under the above rule, unless he shall have been apprized of the Board's approval of the new assessment on or before the month of Jeth preceding; nor shall any such zemindar or other malguzar be ousted from the management of any mehaul for which he may be under engagements without such notice, except by due course of law, on a decision in favour of the title of another party claiming the property of the same.—Reg. II., 1826, sec. iii.

224. With respect to estates which are at present let to farm, a settlement thereof shall be made on the expiration of the existing leases, for such a period as the Governor-General in Council may direct; a preference shall be given to the zemindars or other persons possessing a permanent property in the mehauls, if willing to engage for the payment of the public revenue on reasonable terms; provided also, that in cases wherein such mehauls may be let in farm, the term of the lease granted to the farmers shall not, excepting as hereinafter excepted, exceed twelve years. The above rules shall likewise be applicable to estates now held khas; so in any case wherein the zemindars and other proprietors may refuse to continue their existing engagements on equitable terms, it shall be competent to the revenue authorities to let the lands in farm for such period (with the restriction herein specified) as the Governor-General in Council shall appoint, or to assume the direct management of them, and to retain them under khas management during the period aforesaid, or such shorter period as may be judged proper; provided also, that in cases wherein it shall appear that the zemindars have wilfully reduced the cultivation of their lands, or otherwise deteriorated the mehaul under their management or in their occupancy, it shall be competent to the revenue authorities to exclude persons so offending, and to let the lands in farm for a period of fifteen years. Leases for a like period may also be granted to zemindars and farmers in cases where, from special local circumstances, the measure may appear necessary, with a view to the reclaiming of waste, the construction of works requisite for the extension of cultivation, or otherwise for the improvement of the country.—Reg. II., 1826, sec. iv.

CONQUERED PROVINCES.

SETTLEMENT.

225. The following articles of a proclamation which is hereby addressed by the Governor-General in Council to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land paying revenue to Government, in the conquered provinces situated within the Dooab (or country lying between the rivers Ganges and Jumna), and on the right bank of the river Jumna, ceded to the Honourable the English East-India Company by Dowlut Rao Scindiah; and in the territory situated in Bundlecund on the right bank of the river Jumna, ceded to the Honourable the English East-India Company by the Peshwa; are enacted into a Regulation.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. i.

PROCLAMATION.

226. "ART. I. Whereas, by Regulation IX., 1804, and Regulation VIII., 1805, the laws and regulations established by the British Government for the internal administration of the provinces ceded to the Honourable the English East-India Company by the Nawaub Vizier have been extended, with such modifications and qualifications as were deemed necessary, to the conquered provinces situated within the Dooab and on the right bank of the river Jumna, ceded to the Honourable the English East-India Company by Dowlut Rao Scindiah; and to the territory in Bundlecund, situated on the right bank of the river Jumna, ceded to the Honourable the English East-India Company by the Peshwa: And whereas it is the intention of the British Government, at the expiration of the current year 1212, Fusly, to adopt a plan for the settlement of the land revenue in the said territories upon principles of moderation and justice: And whereas it is of importance that the terms and conditions of such settlement should be made known throughout the territories aforesaid as early as may be practicable: And whereas it is essential to the security of the rights and interests of the zemindars and other landholders in the said territories, that the nature of their right of property in their respective estates, under the terms and conditions hereafter recited, should be publicly acknowledged and declared, it is accordingly hereby proclaimed as follows:—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. ii.

227. "Art. II. At the commencement of the year 1213, Fusly, the sayer of every denomination will be separated from the mâl, or land revenue; and a settlement will be concluded for the land revenue only, in all practicable cases, with the zemindars or other actual proprietors of the soil (unless when disqualified by notoriously bad character or other good and sufficient cause), for a period of three years, viz., for the years 1213, 1214, and 1215, Fusly (with the exception specified in the Fifth Article), at a fixed, equal, annual jumma; it being understood that such zemindars as are huzoor tehseel, or allowed to pay their kists immediately to the collector of the zillah, shall be responsible for maintaining the police of their respective zemindaries, with the exception of the police in cities, large towns, and principal gunges, the expense of which will be defrayed by Government. In instances, however, in which, from calamity of season or other good and sufficient cause, any landholder may be unwilling to engage for his lands at such a jumma, for the first year of the lease, as Government would otherwise be entitled to demand, with a reference to the probable resources and produce of the lands during the whole of the lease, the settlement will be concluded for the first lease of three years at a fair and equitable annual increase, instead of a fixed, equal, annual jumma. The cabooleats executed by zemindars and other actual proprietors of land, or farmers of land, shall contain a clause restricting them from collecting sayer duties, or any duties whatever, in their respective estates or farms. The collectors are required to explain fully the nature and extent of this restriction, in order that persons desirous of entering into engagements may regulate their proposals accordingly. No settlement shall be considered final, until it shall have received the sanction of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. iii.

228. "ART. III. At the expiration of the three years specified in the foregoing article, another settlement will be concluded with the same persons (if willing to engage) for a further period of three years, viz., for the years 1216, 1217, and 1218, Fusly (with the exception specified in the Fifth Article), at a fixed, equal, annual jumma, which jumma shall be formed by taking the difference between the annual amount of the first lease and the actual yearly produce of the land at the time of its expiration, and adding two-thirds of such difference to the annual rent of the first lease.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. iv.

229. "ART. IV. At the expiration of the year 1218, Fusly, a new settlement will be concluded with the same persons (if willing to engage) for a further period of four years, viz., for the years

1219, 1220, 1221, and 1222, Fusly (with the exception specified in the Fifth Article), at a fixed equal annual jumma; which jumma shall be formed by adding to the annual rent of the second three years three-fourths of the net increase of revenue during any one year of that period.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. v.

230. "ART. V. The settlement of the land revenue in the territory in Bundlecund, ceded to the Honourable the English East-India Company by the Peshwa, to be formed at the commencement of the year 1213, Fusly, will be concluded for one year only, in the first instance, under the general rules notified in this proclamation. The three succeeding settlements of the land revenue in the territory aforesaid will be concluded for the following periods of time: first, for the years 1214, 1215, and 1216, Fusly; secondly, for the years 1217, 1218, and 1219, Fusly; and thirdly, for the years 1220, 1221, and 1222, Fusly; under the terms and conditions specified in this proclamation.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. vi.

231. "ART. VI. At the end of the ten years expiring with the year 1222, Fusly, a permanent settlement will be concluded with the same persons (if willing to engage, and if no other persons having a better claim shall come forward), for such lands as may be in a sufficiently improved state of cultivation to warrant the measure, on such terms as Government shall deem fair and equitable.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. vii.

NOTE.—See sec. v. Reg. X., 1807; and Reg. X., 1812.

232. "ART. VII. Those zemindars who may decline entering into engagements for their estates, as also those zemindars whose offers may be rejected by Government, shall for the present be allowed the same nankar which they have hitherto received from the ruling power for the time being; provided the rate of such nankar shall not, in either of the cases above stated, exceed ten per cent. on the jumma of the estate.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. viii.

233. "ART. VIII. With respect to such zemindaries as may have been mortgaged or transferred on security, and possession thereof actually given, to the mortgagees or sureties, the settlement will be made with the person in possession of the land, as the temporary representative of the proprietor, leaving the latter to obtain possession, either by a private settlement of accounts or by a judicial process.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. ix.

234. "ART. IX. The settlement of such small talooks or estates as may be only nominally included in large zemindaries, in the sudder jumma of which their jumma may be comprehended, will be made separately and distinctly with the proprietors of such small estates; and they will be allowed to pay their revenue directly to the tehseeldars on the part of Government, or to the collector of the zillah, as may be deemed advisable; provided, however, that the talookdars or proprietors of such small talooks or estates shall be desirous of the separation, or the zemindars shall require it. In the event of a zemindar considering himself aggrieved by a separation made in conformity to the foregoing rule, or of a talookdar being dissatisfied at not being separated from a zemindary agreeably to what he may have considered as his right, in either case, the party considering himself aggrieved will be at liberty to seek redress in the courts of justice. The collectors, however, shall not allow any disputed claims to interfere with or delay the immediate conclusion of the settlement, which, in all doubtful cases, shall be made with the person in possession.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. x.

235. "ART. X. With respect to such lands as are without proprietors, or the proprietors of which may decline entering into engagements, a village settlement shall be concluded for three years from the commencement of the year 1213, or the year 1214, Fusly, according as the settlement may be concluded in the provinces ceded by Dowlut Rao Scindiah, or in the territory ceded by the Peshwa, at a fixed equal annual jumma; with the reservation contained in the concluding part of the second article relative to forming the settlement, in certain cases, at an annual increase. In instances in which a village settlement shall be concluded in Bundlecund at the commencement of the year 1213, Fusly, such settlement shall be formed only for one year. In all cases of the description mentioned in this article, a preference will be given to the mokuddums, purdhauns, or respectable ryots of the several villages.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xi.

236. "ART. XI. In instances in which neither proprietors nor farmers shall be forthcoming, or in which they shall not tender suitable conditions of agreement, a khas or bowlee settlement shall be concluded with the ryots for lands in such predicament, stipulating the shares to be received by the ryots from the different descriptions of land, as follows: in politch lands, or such as are in full cultivation, Government shall receive five pusserees and the ryot three pusserees: in chunchur lands, or such as have not been cultivated for two or three years, Government shall receive two, and the ryot six pusserees: in bunjur, or waste lands, Government shall receive one, and the ryot seven pusserees. Chunchur lands after one year, and bunjur lands after two years, shall be considered equal to politch. Bunjur lands after one year shall be considered equal to chunchur. In khas settlements, the bhaint or nuzzerana shall be abolished. The wages of the putwarries shall be paid by the ryots; but the expense of the mussahut, or measuring and valuing the crops, shall be defrayed by Government, in consideration of the additional pusseree received out of the politch crop. In all cases when crops are valued, the valuation shall be determined by the price-current of the day. In khas settlements, the ryots shall engage that the cultivation of the lands shall not fall off, and that they shall not undertake the cultivation of new lands until they have accomplished that of the land already engaged for by them.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xii.

237. "Art. XII. All authorized abwaubs shall be consolidated and incorporated with the land rent, and expressed in the pottahs and caboolcats; and nothing but what is there expressed shall be collected from the ryots or under-renters.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xiii.

238. "Art. XIII. All persons who may enter into engagements for the settlement shall bind themselves, by written obligations, to grant pottahs of the above description to their ryots and under-renters of every description, specifying the amount to be paid by such ryots and under-renters respectively; and counter engagements shall be executed by the ryots and under-renters of a similar tenour and purport.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xiv.

239. "Art. XIV. All persons who may enter into engagements with Government shall previously give security for the fulfilment thereof, in an amount equal to one-fourth of their annual jumma.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xv.

240. "Art. XV. In concluding the settlement of the land revenue in the territories mentioned in this proclamation, at the commencement of the year 1213, Fusly, the allowance of nankar to such of the zemindars as may engage for their lands shall be regulated by deducting the amount of the nankar from the jumma, and taking engagements from the zemindars for the neat residue; provided that the deduction for nankar shall not, in any instance, exceed ten per cent. on the neat jumma.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xvi.

241. "Art. XVI. Persons having claims to lands for which engagements have been entered into with the present possessors, and who shall not prefer their claim to regain possession of the same within six months from the date (as recorded in the respective zillahs) of issuing this proclamation, shall not be entitled to be restored to the actual possession of such lands before the expiration of the year 1213, Fusly, if the lands are situated in the zillah of Bundlecund; or before the expiration of the first triennial lease ending with the year 1215, Fusly, if the lands are situated in the zillah of Allyghur, the northern or southern division of the zillah of Saharunpore, or the zillah of Agra. Persons preferring such claims in the zillah of Bundlecund after the expiration of the year 1213, Fusly, and before the conclusion of the first triennial lease in that zillah ending with the year 1216, Fusly, shall not be entitled to regain possession of the lands claimed by them until such lease shall expire. Persons who shall not prefer their claims before the expiration of the first lease of three years (that is to say, before the commencement of the year 1216, Fusly, in the zillah of Allyghur, the northern or southern division of the zillah of Saharunpore, or the zillah of Agra, or before the commencement of the year 1217, Fusly, in the zillah of Bundlecund) shall not be entitled to regain possession of the lands claimed by them, until the expiration of the ten years, or the commencement of the year 1223, Fusly. But this rule shall not be considered to restrict persons from preferring their claims at any time within the ten years.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xvii.

242. "Art. XVII. In instances in which a collector shall judge it to be inexpedient to conclude a settlement with a zemindar, he shall hold proceedings on the subject, detailing at large his reasons for rejecting the claim, with whatever information he may have obtained respecting such zemindar; at the same time receiving the zemindar's answer to the objections urged to his claim. The collector shall then transmit the whole of his proceedings to the Board of Revenue, and shall await their determination thereon.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xviii.

243. "Art. XVIII. The collectors shall not, in any instance, intrust the settlement or the collection of the revenues of a considerable zemindary to a tehseeldar. The settlement of all zemindaries of the above description shall be concluded immediately by the collectors, to whom the revenue of such zemindaries shall also be immediately paid. In like manner, the collectors shall conclude the settlement, and receive immediately into their respective treasuries the collections of all other lands which they can bring under their immediate superintendence, without detriment to their general avocations.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xix.

244. "Art. XIX. In instances in which lands to a considerable amount shall be let in farm to one individual, and Government shall be of opinion, from the report of the Board of Revenue, that the other avocations of the collector will admit of the measure, the rent of such farm shall be paid immediately into the treasury of the collector, instead of being received through the channel of a tehseeldar.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xx.

245. "Art. XX. With the view of obviating any misconstruction of the rule to be adopted in adding to the jumma a portion of the increased produce, in concluding the settlements to be formed at the commencement of the Fusly years 1216 and 1219, or 1217 and 1220 (according as the settlements shall be concluded in the provinces ceded by Dowlut Rao Scindiah, or in the territory ceded by the Peshwa), it is hereby declared, in explanation of the Third and Fourth Articles of this Proclamation, that the amount of the nankar to which the zemindars will be entitled, conformably to the engagements entered into by them under this proclamation, shall be deducted from the actual yearly produce of their estates at the time of the expiration of each lease; and the actual increase of public revenue, to be assessed agreeably to the articles above specified, shall be calculated on the amount of the difference between the actual net produce after such deduction and the annual amount of the former lease. It is at the same time declared, that the portion of the increased produce relinquished to the zemindars under the above-mentioned articles on the formation of the successive settlements shall be considered as precluding all claim, on the part of the zemindars, to any further proportion of such increased produce on account of nankar, in addition to the deduction which will be made and continued to them on this account.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xxi.

246. "Art. XXI. A discretionary power is vested in the landholders to grant small portions of land, exempt from the payment of revenue, for the support of their village watchmen, whenever they shall prefer making such grants to paying the watchmen a pecuniary allowance. Such grants, however, shall be resumable on the death or removal of the persons to whom they may be made; and the lands thus exempted from the payment of rent, as well as any other lands held by public officers or private servants exempt from rent in lieu of wages, and not forming part of any authorized la-khiraj grants or tenures, within the provisions of Regulations XXXI. and XXXVI., 1803, shall be considered to form a component part of the malguzary lands of the estates to which they may respectively appertain, for the revenue assessed upon which they will consequently be held responsible, in common with other malguzary lands included therein.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xxii.

247. "Art. XXII. The Governor-General in Council hereby notifies to those zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land whose lands may be held khas or let in farm, in consequence of their refusing to pay the assessment required of them under this proclamation, that the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land whose lands may be held khas, shall be restored to the management of their lands, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which shall be required of them in conformity to the prescribed rules for the settlement of the land revenue; and that the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land whose lands may be let in farm, shall not regain possession of their lands before the expiration of the period for which they may be farmed (unless the farmers shall voluntarily consent to make over to them the remaining term of their lease, and the Governor-General in Council shall approve of the transfer); but that at the expiration of that period, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which shall be required of them, they shall be reinstated, under the general Regulations, in the management of their estates respectively.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xxiii.

248. "Art. XXIII. It is well known to the zemindars, talookdars, and other descriptions of landholders in the provinces situated in the Dooab and the right bank of the river Jumna, which have been ceded to the Honourable the English East-India Company by Dowlut Rao Scindiah and the Peshwa, that from the earliest times until the present period the public assessment upon the lands has never been fixed; and that, according to established usage and custom, the rulers of those territories and their delegates have exercised a discretionary and despotic authority, in depriving them of the possession of their zemindaries, talooks, and other tenures, whereby their right of property therein has become precarious and of little value; whilst the lands, from being let in farm to strangers or otherwise disposed of, have been impoverished, and the tenants and cultivators of the soil have been exposed to rapacity and oppression. With a view of promoting the interests of the landholders and to enhance the value of their estates, as well as to induce them to encourage their under-tenants and to extend cultivation, under the certainty that they will enjoy the fruits of their industry and good management, the Governor-General in Council has, by the rules contained in the preceding articles of this proclamation, not only directed a settlement to be immediately made with the zemindars and other proprietors of land who shall be willing to engage for the revenue of their respective estates, but has also declared that a permanent assessment shall be fixed at the end of ten years, on such lands as shall be in a state of cultivation sufficiently advanced to render it proper to fix the assessment on the same in perpetuity; and the Governor-General in Council further declares the proprietary rights of all zemindars, talookdars, and other descriptions of landholders possessing a right of property in the lands composing their zemindaries, talooks, or other tenures, to be confirmed and established under the authority of the British Government, in conformity to the laws and usages of the country, and to the Regulations which have been, or shall be hereafter enacted by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xxiv.

249. "ART. XXIV. To prevent any misconstruction of the declaration contained in the foregoing article, the Governor-General in Council deems it to be necessary to publish the following declarations to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land.

"First. It being the duty of the ruling power to protect all classes of people, and more particularly those who, from their situation, are most helpless, the Governor-General in Council will, whenever he shall deem it proper, enact such Regulations as he shall judge to be necessary for the protection and welfare of the dependent talookdars, ryots, and other cultivators of the soil; and no zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, shall be entitled, on this account, to make any objection to the discharge of the assessment on their lands which they have respectively agreed, or may hereafter agree to pay.

"Second. The Governor-General in Council having abolished all the duties coming under the denomination of sayer, rahdary, zemindary, or any other denomination, levied on goods or merchandise of any description, with the exception of the established duties levied by Government in bazars and gunges, which duties have been since abolished; and it being provided by the second article of this proclamation, that all engagements for the land revenue entered into with Government shall be exclusive of sayer duties, and of all other collections not connected with the land revenue, the Governor-General in Council hereby declares, that if he should hereafter think it proper to establish any internal duties, and to appoint officers on the part of Government to collect them, no proprietor of land will be admitted to any participation thereof, or be entitled to make any claims for remissions of assessment on that account.

"Third. The Governor-General in Council will impose such assessment as he shall deem equitable on all lands held exempt from the public revenue, which have been or shall be proved to be so held under illegal or invalid titles. The assessment thus imposed will belong to Government, and no proprietor of land will be entitled to any part of it.

"Fourth. The jumma of those zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, with whom a settlement shall be concluded under the terms set forth in the present proclamation, shall be considered exclusive of any allowances which may be made to them in the adjustment of their jumma, for maintaining thannahs or police establishments, and also of the produce of any lands which they may be permitted to appropriate for the same purpose; and the Governor-General in Council reserves to himself the option of resuming the whole or any part of such allowances, or of the produce of such lands, if he should at any time think it to be proper to exonerate the proprietors of land from the charge of keeping the peace, and to appoint officers on the part of Government to superintend the police of the country. The Governor-General in Council, however, declares that the allowances, or the produce of lands, which may be thus resumed, will be appropriated to no other purpose but that of defraying the expense of the police. —Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xxv.

250. "ART. XXV. That no doubt may be entertained whether it be lawful for proprietors of land to dispose of their estates without the previous sanction of Government, the Governor-General in Council notifies to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, that they are at liberty to transfer to whomsoever they may think proper, by sale, gift, or otherwise, their proprietary rights in the whole or any portion of their respective estates, without applying to Government for its sanction to the transfer; and that all such transfers will be held valid, provided that they be conformable to the Mahomedan or the Hindoo laws (according as the religious persuasions of the parties to each transaction may render the validity of it determinable by the former or the latter code), and that they be not repugnant to any Regulations now in force, or which shall be hereafter enacted by the British Government. It is at the same time hereby declared, that no private transfer by sale, gift, or otherwise, nor any private mortgage or other assessment upon land assessed with the public revenue, will be admitted in any respect to affect the indefeasible right of Government to hold all such lands answerable, in the first instance, for the public revenue assessed thereupon.—Reg. IX., 1805, sec. xxvi.

251. Sec. xxvii., Reg. IX., 1805.—Same as the rule for the ceded provinces in sec. xxxvii., Reg. XXV., 1803, paragraph 190.

252. Sec. xxviii., Reg. IX., 1805.—Same as sec. xxxviii., Reg. XXV., 1803, paragraph 191.

253. Sec. xxix., Reg. IX., 1805.—Same as sec. xxxix., Reg. XXV., 1803, paragraph 192.

POSTONEMENT OF THE INTENDED PERMANENT SETTLEMENT.

254. The rules contained in paragraphs 224 and 225, require that at the expiration of the existing settlement in the conquered provinces and in the zillah of Bundlecund, two more temporary settlements shall be made in the said conquered provinces and in the zillah of Bundlecund respectively. The Governor-General in Council, however, hereby notifies to the zemindars and other actual proprietors of land in the conquered provinces, that the jumma which may be assessed on their estates in the last-year of the settlement immediately ensuing the present settlement, shall remain fixed for ever, in case the zemindars shall now be willing to engage for the payment of the public revenue on those terms in perpetuity, and the arrangement shall receive the sanction of the Honourable the Court of Directors—Reg XI, 1807, sec v

255 Such parts of the preceding rule as declare provisionally that the jumma which may be assessed on the estates of the zemindars and other actual proprietors of lands in the above-mentioned territories shall remain fixed for ever, is hereby rescinded—Reg X, 1812, sec ii

256 It having been declared in paragraph 231, with reference to the settlement then depending, that at the end of ten years, that is, at the expiration of the Fusly year 1222, a permanent settlement would be concluded with the same persons (if willing to engage, and if no others having a better claim should come forward), for such lands as might be in a sufficiently improved state of cultivation to warrant the measure, on such terms as Government should deem fair and equitable, the said rule is hereby declared to be in full force and effect—Reg X., 1812, sec. iii

257. Under the provision contained in the preceding rule, it will, of course, be the duty of the Board of Commissioners to ascertain, previously to the expiration of the year 1222, what estates may be in a state of cultivation, to warrant the conclusion of a permanent settlement In all such cases, a revision shall be made of the jumma assessed on the said estates, on the principle of leaving to the proprietors a net income of ten per cent on the jumma, exclusive of charges of collection, and a settlement shall be concluded with the proprietors, subject of course to the approval of the Governor-General in Council, accordingly The jumma which may be so fixed on the estates of the zemindars and other actual proprietors of land shall, in conformity to the tenor of the proclamations originally issued, and afterwards incorporated into Regulation IX, 1805, remain fixed for ever—Reg X, 1812, sec iv

258 Under the rule contained in paragraph 256, it will likewise be the duty of the Board of Commissioners to submit to the Governor-General in Council a report, specifying the estates which may not appear to be yet in a sufficiently improved state of cultivation to admit of the conclusion of a permanent settlement, without a sacrifice of those resources which may hereafter be derived from them for the exigencies of Government In all cases of that nature, the Governor-General in Council will determine, on consideration of the information which may be furnished by the Board of Commissioners, whether the settlement of such estates shall be made for the term of three or five years, or for any other period, according as may appear most conducive to the public interests—Reg X, 1812, sec v

259 The existing settlement of the land revenue in the Conquered Provinces lying on the right and left banks of the river Jumna, with the exception of the southern division of the district of Seharunpore, and in the territory ceded to the British Government by his Highness the Peshwa in Bundlecund, shall in all cases in which it may have been concluded with zemindars or other acknowledged proprietors of land, continue in force until the expiration of the year 1232, Fusly, subject to the following provisions—Reg IX, 1818, sec ii, cl. 1

260 If any proprietors of estates within the said provinces and territory (with the exception of the tract of country aforesaid), who may have entered into engagements for the payment of the public revenue during the existing settlement, shall not be willing to continue to hold their lands on the terms specified in the preceding rule, for a further period of five years, viz, to the expiration of the year 1232, Fusly, they shall notify the same to the collector of the zillah within which the lands may be situated, on or before the 1st July, 1819.—Reg IX, 1818, sec ii, cl 2

261 All such zemindars who shall not make a notification to the effect and within the period above mentioned, shall be held and are hereby declared to be responsible for the payment of the same revenue during the five years subsequent to the settlement now in formation, viz, until the expiration of the year 1232, Fusly, as may be specified in their engagements for the year 1227, Fusly—Reg IX, 1818, sec ii, cl 3

262 With respect to estates which are at present let to farm, and of which the leases will expire with the Fusly year 1227, the settlement of such mehauls shall be made with the actual proprietors, in all cases in which they may be willing to engage, during the years 1228, 1229, 1230, 1231, and 1232, for the payment of an annual jumma, equal to the amount payable by the farmers respectively on account of the year 1227, and shall make the necessary application to the collector of the district in which the lands may be situated, or to the Board of Commissioners, on or before the 1st January, 1820—Reg IX, 1818, sec iii

263. In cases in which the proprietors of estates may decline to engage for the payment of the revenue demandable from their lands, during the years 1228, 1229, 1230, 1231, and 1232, or in which no acknowledged proprietors may be forthcoming, it will be the duty of the revenue authorities to take timely measures for ascertaining the assets of the estates, preparatory to the arrangements to be made for the above period, and it shall be competent in such cases to the said authorities, either to let the lands in farm for that period, or to assume the direct management of them.—Reg. IX., 1818, sec. iv.

264. The under-mentioned pergunnahs, forming the southern division of the district of Seharunpore, are excluded from the operation of the rules contained in the preceding paragraphs; and on the expiration of the present settlement of the said pergunnahs, a new settlement shall be made for a term of five years; provided, however, that in any cases in which the proprietors of estates shall be desirous, previously to the expiration of the present settlement, of entering into engagements, at an adequate jumma, for the years 1228, 1229, 1230, 1231, and 1232, F.S., and the revenue authorities shall possess, in regard to such mehauls, the information necessary to an assessment on proper principles, it shall be competent to the Board of Commissioners, at any time after the promulgation of this Regulation, to direct a settlement to be concluded with such proprietors for the period aforesaid, viz., for the years 1228, 1229, 1230, 1231, and 1232, F.S., subject to the confirmation of Government.

Pergunnahs referred to in the above rule:—

SETTLEMENT FROM 1233 TO 1237, FUSLY.

265. The existing settlement in the Conquered Provinces and in Bundlecund (with the exceptions and subject to the provisions hereinafter stated) shall be extended to a further period of five years, viz., for the years 1233 to 1237, Fusly, inclusive, in cases in which it may have been concluded with zemindars, lumberdars, or other persons recorded as the proprietors or possessors of a permanent interest in the mehaul for which they may have engaged, or as the representatives of such persons.—Reg. IX., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 1.

266. If any zemindars and other persons aforesaid shall be unwilling to continue their engagements for a further period of five years on the terms specified in this Regulation, they shall notify the same to the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of the collector, to whom they may be subject, on or before the 15th October next. And all zemindars and other persons aforesaid who shall not make a notification to the effect and within the period above mentioned, shall be held and are hereby declared to be responsible for the payment of the same revenue for each of the five years subsequent to the settlement now in force, viz., for the years 1233 to 1237, inclusive, as may be specified in their engagements for the year 1232, Fusly. And in such cases no alteration shall be made in the jumma demandable by Government on account of the mehauls held by such persons (excepting as hereinafter excepted) until the expiration of the said period of five years.—Reg. IX., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 2.

267. It shall be competent to collectors and other officers exercising the powers of collectors, subject to the orders of the Board of Revenue to which they may be subordinate, to exclude from the operation of the above rule any mehaul or mehauls of which a revised settlement may have been made, or be about to be made, under the rules of Regulation VII., 1822, or in regard to which there may, in the judgment of these authorities, exist any special reasons for effecting an early resettlement of the same; and in the case of mehauls of the last description, it shall be competent to the collectors, or other officers aforesaid, to make an immediate resettlement of the same on the expiration of the existing leases, or to grant to the persons under engagements renewed leases for such further term (not exceeding five years) as the Board may direct. Provided, however, that in all cases in which it may be determined to adopt special measures as above, in regard to any mehaul or mehauls, the collector, or other officer aforesaid, shall give notice of such determination in writing to the person under engagements for the same, on or before the 1st March, 1825. A perwannah delivered to, or left at the usual residence of the malguzar, or a notification stuck up, under orders of the collector, in any conspicuous place within the mehaul, shall be held to be sufficient notice for the above purpose.—Reg. IX., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 3.

268. The above rules shall not be held to affect the terms of any engagements which may have been specifically entered into on account of any year or years subsequent to the general settlement now in force.—Reg. IX., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 4.

269. Zemindars and other persons as aforesaid whose engagements shall be continued for a further period of five years as above provided, as well as all other persons who may hereafter enter into engagements as proprietors, or as the representatives of proprietors, shall, after the expiration of the leases so extended or granted, hold the mehauls for which they may have engaged or may hereafter engage, and shall continue to be subject to the payment of the same annual jumma as may be chargeable on account of the last year of their lease, until the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, shall effect a detailed revision of the settlement in the mode prescribed by Regulation VII., 1822, or shall be otherwise specially authorized by Government to make a fresh assessment. Provided also, that no zemindar, or other malguzar as aforesaid, shall be liable to pay on account of any year a higher jumma than that payable under the above rule, unless he shall have been apprised of the Board's approval of the new assessment, on or before the month of Jeth preceding: nor shall any such zemindar, or other malguzar, be ousted from the management of any mehaul for which he may be under engagements, without such notice, except by due course of law, on a decision in favour of the title of another party claiming the property of the same. Reg. IX., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 5.

270. With respect to estates which are at present let to farm, a settlement thereof shall be made on the expiration of the existing leases, for such a period as the Governor-General in Council may direct: a preference shall be given to the zemindars, or other persons possessing a permanent property in the mehauls, if willing to engage for the payment of the public revenue on reasonable terms. Provided also, that in cases wherein such mehauls may be let in farm, the term of the lease granted to the farmers shall not, excepting as hereinafter excepted, exceed twelve years. The above rules shall likewise be applicable to estates now held khas; so in any case wherein the zemindars and other proprietors may refuse to continue their existing engagements on equitable terms, it shall be competent to the revenue authorities to let the lands in farm for such period with the restriction herein specified as the Governor-General in Council shall appoint, or to assume the direct management of them, and to retain them under khas management during the period aforesaid, or such shorter period as may be judged proper. Provided also, that in cases wherein it shall appear that the zemindars have wilfully reduced the cultivation of their lands, or otherwise deteriorated the mehaul under their engagements in their occupancy, it shall be competent to the revenue authorities to exclude persons so offending, and to let the lands in farm for a period of fifteen years: leases for a like period may also be granted to zemindars and farmers in cases where, from special local circumstances, the measure may appear necessary with a view to the reclaiming of waste, the construction of works requisite for the extension of cultivation, or otherwise for the improvement of the country.—Reg. IX., 1824, sec. iii.

271. The rules contained in the third and following sections of Regulation VII., 1822, with the modifications above provided for, and the necessary alteration of dates and periods, are and shall be held to be equally applicable to the Conquered Provinces and to Bundlecund as to the Ceded Provinces; provided also, that such part of Clause Third, Section IX. of that Regulation as prescribes that engagements taken in the manner specified in that clause shall be restricted to the term of five years, shall not be held applicable to leases granted to farmers in the cases specified in the foregoing paragraph, and that it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue, with the sanction of Government, to grant leases, either to proprietors or farmers, for any period not exceeding fifteen years, whenever special circumstances shall, in their judgment, render it expedient to do so, as well in the Ceded as in the Conquered Provinces.—Reg. IX., 1824, sec. iv.

273. Mouzahs, standing transferred on the above date of May 1st, 1846, from districts or pergunnahs not permanently settled, to districts or pergunnahs permanently settled, shall not be held liable to any increased demand on the part of the Government, but shall be held for ever on the highest jumma determined at the time of settlement, or as it stands subsequently altered by Government prior to 1st May, 1846.—Act VIII., 1846, sec. ii.

274. Provided always, and it is hereby declared, that persons holding land on special grants, or on leases for longer periods than those specified in paragraph 272, shall continue to hold them according to the terms of their several grants or leases.—Act VIII., 1846, sec. iii.

275. Whenever a malguzar may be desirous to relinquish his lease on the expiration of the term of his engagement, he shall be at liberty to do so, provided that he give notice thereof in open Court and in writing to the collector and to the commissioner of the division within one year before the 1st of July immediately preceding the expiration of the engagement.—Act VIII., 1846, sec. iv.

276. When such notice shall not have been given as aforesaid, the malguzar shall be held bound to pay the jumma determined at the time of settlement, or as it stands subsequently altered by Government prior to the 1st of May, 1846, for the period which may be applicable to his case according to paragraph 272, and subsequently from year to year till the settlement be revised, or in perpetuity according to paragraph 273.—Act VIII., 1846, sec. v.

277. Provided, however, and it is hereby declared, that nothing in this Act shall bar the right of the Government to demand revenue from any resumed rent-free land, alluvial towfeer, or other land, which was not assessed at the time of settlement.—Act VIII., 1846, sec. vi.

CUTTACK.

SETTLEMENT.

278. Whereas it is necessary that fixed rules should be established for the settlement and collection of the public revenue in the zillah of Cuttack: And whereas the principles of justice and good faith require that the declarations made by the late Board of Commissioners to the several descriptions of zemindars, talookdars, farmers, and other holders of land, should be formally recognized and confirmed: And whereas it has been judged to be advisable to extend the Regulations in force for the settlement and collections of the public revenue in the province of Bengal, with certain modifications and exceptions, to the zillah of Cuttack: the following rules have been enacted, and are to be in force from the period of the promulgation of this Regulation.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. i.

279. On taking possession of the country, the commissioners deemed it to be necessary to adopt the surest means of preserving uninjured the rights of the different landholders in the territory called Mogulbundy, being that part of the zillah of Cuttack in which, according to established usage, as in Bengal, the land itself is responsible for the payment of the public revenue, and in which every landholder holds his lands subject to the conditions of that usage. With this view, the commissioners issued a publication, signifying that all those persons who were in possession of the lands at the close of the Umlee year 1210 (corresponding with the Willaity year 1210), should continue in possession during the year 1211. The commissioners also declared all demands for balances of former years to be cancelled, and they ordered the amount of the revenue payable by the respective zemindars on account of the year 1211, Umlee (corresponding with the Willaity year 1211), to be ascertained and established according to the rate of the receipts of former years, granting a deduction of the amount of some oppressive abwaubs and other exactions, and allowing for losses sustained by the ryots from the failure of the first crop of that season, and also for such part of the revenue of the current year as had been previously collected by the Mahratta Government.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. ii.

280. The arrangements adopted by the commissioners with respect to the settlement of the revenue for the years 1210 and 1211, Umlee (corresponding with the years 1210 and 1211, Willaity), together with the abatements from the jumma and the remissions of revenue granted by the commissioners in those years, are hereby confirmed.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. iii.

281. The following proclamation relative to the settlement of the land revenue in the Mogulbundy territory of the zillah of Cuttack was published on the 15th of September, 1804, by the Board of Commissioners, in virtue of the powers vested in them.

"PROCLAMATION.—Cuttack, September 15, 1804.

"First. Whereas it is the intention of the British Government to adopt, at the expiration of the present Umlee year, such a plan for the settlement of the landed revenue of the province of Cuttack as may be most conducive to the prosperity of the country and to the happiness of the inhabitants: And whereas it is of the utmost consequence to the success of the measure, as well as to the interest of the zemindars, talookdars, and all others concerned, that the nature and terms thereof should be made known as early as possible, notice is hereby given:—

"Second. That at the commencement of the Umlee year 1212, the sayer of every denomination will be separated from the mal or land revenue, and a settlement for the latter only concluded in all practicable cases with the zemindars or other actual proprietors of the soil (unless when disqualified by notoriously bad character, or other good and sufficient cause), for a period of one year, it being understood that all zemindars and other landholders, and all khandytes, shall for the present, and during the pleasure of Government, continue to perform the same duties of police for the prevention of robberies, murders, and crimes of that nature, and for the preservation of peace and good order within their respective limits, and to be subject to the same responsibility as heretofore.

"Third. That at the expiration of the year 1212 another settlement will be made with the same persons (if willing to engage, and they shall have conducted themselves to the satisfaction of Government) for three years, at a fixed equal annual jumma, which jumma shall be formed upon a just and moderate consideration of the receipts in the year 1212 and former years.

"Fourth. That at the expiration of the fourth year a new settlement will be made with the same persons (if willing to engage, and they shall have conducted themselves to the satisfaction of Government), for a further period of four years, at a fixed annual jumma, formed by adding to the annual rent of the preceding lease of three years, two-thirds of the net increase of revenue during any one year of that period.

"Fifth. That at the end of the lease for four years (which will be in the Umlee year 1219) a further settlement for the period of three years will be concluded with the persons in possession (if willing to engage, and they shall have conducted themselves to the satisfaction of Government), at a jumma to be formed by adding to the annual rent of the preceding lease of four years, three-fourths of the net increase of revenue during any one year of that period.

NOTE.—See Reg. I., 1813.

"Sixth. That at the end of these eleven years, which will be in 1222, a permanent settlement will be concluded with the same persons (if willing to engage, and they have conducted themselves to the satisfaction of Government, and if no others who have a better claim shall come forward), for such lands as may be in a sufficiently improved state of cultivation to warrant the measure, on such terms as Government shall deem fair and equitable.

NOTE.—See Reg. X., 1812, and sec. vi., Reg. III., 1815.

"Seventh. The nankar lands of those zemindars who may decline entering into engagements for their estates, as also of those whose offers may be rejected by Government, will be subject to the payment of revenue equally with other lands in the district; but such zemindars shall for the present continue to receive in money an equivalent for what they have hitherto received as nankar from the Mahratta Government.

"Eighth. That with respect to such zemindaries as may have been mortgaged or transferred in security, and possession thereof actually given to the mortgagees or securities, the settlement will be made with the person in possession of the land, as the temporary representative of the proprietor, leaving the latter to obtain possession, either by a private settlement of accounts or by a judicial process.

"Ninth. That the settlement of such small talooks or zemindaries as may be only nominally included in large zemindaries, in the sudder jumma of which their jumma may be comprehended, will be made separately and distinctly with the proprietors of such small estates, and they will be allowed to pay their revenue directly to the collector, or the person appointed by him to receive it; and in all cases where the revenue of a village has, for upwards of five years past, been paid direct to Government by the hereditary mokuddum, the settlement for such village will be made with the hereditary mokuddum.

"Tenth. That with respect to such lands as are without proprietors, or the proprietors of which decline entering into engagements, a village settlement shall be made, and a preference given to the hereditary mokuddums of those villages to which the lands belong; but no settlement is to be made with a mokuddum for lands not included in his mokuddamy.

"Eleventh. That in the event of neither proprietors, mokuddums, nor other respectable ryots, being forthcoming, such lands as are in that predicament will be held khas.

"Twelfth. That all authorized abwaubs are to be consolidated and incorporated with the land-rent, and expressed in the pottahs and cabooleats, and that nothing but what is there expressed shall be collected from the ryots or under-renters.

"Thirteenth. That all persons who may enter into engagements for the settlement must bind themselves by written obligations to grant pottahs of the above description to their ryots and under-renters.

"Fourteenth. That all persons who may enter into engagements with Government must previously give security for the fulfilment thereof in an amount equal to the largest kist of their annual jumma.

"Fifteenth. Several of the tributary rajahs have been accustomed to furnish guards, and be responsible for all robberies committed within the Mogulbundy lands bordering on their respective territories, and for which they have formerly been allowed to levy a tax, called chowpunny or mongum khandity: those rajahs are to continue to furnish the usual guards and be subject to the same responsibility as heretofore; but instead of being permitted to levy the above-mentioned tax, the said rajahs will, until further arrangements can be made, receive an equivalent in money from Government.

"Sixteenth. Such being the provisions made for the preservation of the rights of the zemindars, ryots, &c., &c., and for the effectual prevention of undue exaction, there cannot be a doubt that confidence in the protection of Government will be established amongst all ranks of people, that cultivation will be extended, and that the general prosperity of this province will rapidly increase."—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. iv.

282. The rules, orders, and declarations contained in the above proclamation, are hereby confirmed, with the following qualifications and explanations. With the view of obviating any misconstruction of the rule to be adopted, in adding to the jumma a portion of the increased produce, in concluding the settlements to be formed at the commencement of the Willaity years

1216 and 1220 (corresponding with the years 1216 and 1220 Umlee), it is hereby declared, in explanation of the third and fourth clauses of the proclamation issued on the 15th of September, 1804, that the amount of the nankar to which zemindars are or may be entitled, under their original engagements, for the first triennial settlement, shall be deducted from the actual yearly produce of their estates at the time of the expiration of each lease; and that the actual increase of public revenue to be assessed agreeably to the clauses above specified, shall be calculated on the amount of the difference between the actual net produce after such deduction, and the annual amount of the former lease. It is at the same time provided, that the portion of the increased produce relinquished to the zemindars under the above-mentioned clauses, on the formation of the successive settlements shall be considered to preclude all claim on the part of the zemindars to any further proportion of such increased produce on account of nankar, in addition to the deduction originally made and continued to them on this account.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. v.

283. The lands of some zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of lands having been held khas or let in farm, in consequence of their refusing to pay the assessment required from them under the proclamation inserted in paragraph 281, the Governor-General in Council hereby notifies to the zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land whose lands are held khas, that they shall be restored to the management of their lands, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which shall be required from them, in conformity to the prescribed rules for the settlement of the land revenue.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. vi.

284. In explanation of the provision contained in the 13th article of the above proclamation, it is hereby declared, that as a sufficient period of time will have elapsed during the first triennial settlement of the land revenue in the zillah of Cuttack (which will expire with the Willaity year 1215), to enable the proprietors and farmers of land to complete the adjustment and delivery of pottahs for the whole of their lands in the mode prescribed, the expiration of the Willaity year 1215 is the period fixed for the general delivery of pottahs.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. vii.

285. Nothing contained in this Regulation shall be construed to authorize the resumption of the rents of any lands assigned under grants from the Rajah of Berar, or from any zemindar, talookdar, or any actual proprietor of land in the zillah of Cuttack, as endowments of the temple of Juggernauth, or of Mutths in the vicinity of that temple, or for similar purposes; provided, however, that any fixed quit-rent which the holders of such lands are bound to pay by the conditions of their grants shall continue to be paid agreeably to former usage.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. viii.

286. Nothing contained in the foregoing proclamation shall be construed to authorize the resumption of the rents of any lands at present appropriated to the maintenance of certain sirdar pykes and other pykes for the support of the police; provided, however, that any fixed quit-rent which may be at present payable by such sirdar and other pykes, conformably to the tenour of their grants, shall continue to be paid agreeably to established usage.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. ix.

287. The commissioners having granted sunnuds to certain zemindars, entitling them to hold their estates at a fixed jumma in perpetuity, those sunnuds are hereby confirmed. The following is a list of the names of the zemindars to whom this provision is to be considered applicable:—

Zemindar of Killah Durpam,
Ditto ditto Sookindah,
Ditto ditto Muddoopore.

—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxxiii.

288. The commissioners having likewise granted a sunnud to Futtah Mahomed, jaghiredar of Malood, entitling him and his heirs for ever, in consideration of certain services performed towards the British Government, to hold his lands exempt from assessment, such sunnud is hereby confirmed.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxxiv.

289. The late Board of Commissioners having concluded a settlement of the land revenue with certain zemindars, whose estates are situated chiefly in the hills and jungles, for the payment of a fixed annual quit-rent in perpetuity, those engagements are hereby confirmed; and no alteration shall, at any time, be made in the amount of the revenue payable under the engagements in question to Government.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxxv., cl. 1.

290. The following is a list of the mehauls to which the provision in the preceding paragraph is applicable:—

Killah Aull,
Ditto Cojang,
Ditto Puttra,
Killah Humishpore,
Ditto Miritchpore,
Ditto Bishenpore.

—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxxv., cl. 2.

291. The zemindaries of Cordah and Cunka being mehauls of the description of those specified in the preceding paragraph, a settlement shall be concluded, as soon as circumstances may admit, for the revenue of those mehauls on the principle on which a settlement has been concluded with the zemindars of the mehauls specified in the preceding paragraph.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxxv., cl. 3.

292. All Regulations relating directly or indirectly to the settlement and collection of the public revenue, or to the conduct of the officers employed in the performance of that duty, whether European or native, in the province of Bengal, which are not superseded by the foregoing rules, are hereby extended to, and declared to be in force in the zillah of Cuttack. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize the division of the lands comprised in any estates in the zillah of Cuttack, in which the succession to the entire estate devolves, according to established usage, to a single heir: in cases of this nature, the courts of justice are to be guided by the provisions contained in Regulation X., 1800. Provided also, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to imply, that any part of the said Regulations are for the present to be considered to be in force in certain jungle or hill zemindaries occupied by a rude and uncivilized race of people, with the proprietors of which estates engagements were formed by the late Board of Commissioners for the payment of a certain fixed quit-rent or tribute to Government. The following is a list of the names of the mehauls to which this exemption from the operation of the general Regulations is to be considered applicable :—

|---|---|---|
| Killah Neelgery, | Killah Toalcherry, | Killah Rampore, |
| Ditto Bankey, | Ditto Attghurh, | Ditto Hindole, |
| Ditto Joormoo, | Ditto Kunjur, | Ditto Teegereah, |
| Ditto Nirsingpore, | Ditto Kindeapura, | Ditto Burrumboh, |
| Ditto Augole, | Ditto Neahgurh, | Ditto Deckenaul. |

—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxxvi.

293. The foregoing exemption from the operation of the general Regulations shall likewise, for the present, be considered to be applicable to the lands known by the appellation of the territory of Mohurbunge; but it shall be the duty of the collector of the zillah to conclude a settlement with the proprietor of that estate for the payment of a fixed annual quit-rent, on the principles on which a settlement has been concluded with the other hill or jungle zemindars specified in the preceding paragraph.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxxvii.

POSTPONEMENT OF THE INTENDED PERMANENT SETTLEMENT.

SETTLEMENTS FOR 1216, 1217, 1218, AND 1219, UMLEE.

294. The Governor-General in Council hereby notifies to the zemindars and other actual proprietors of land in the zillah of Cuttack, that the jumma which may be assessed on their estates in the last year of the settlement immediately ensuing the present settlement, shall remain fixed for ever, in case the zemindars shall now be willing to engage for the payment of the public revenue on those terms in perpetuity, and the arrangement shall receive the sanction of the Honourable the Court of Directors. This rule shall accordingly be carried into effect under the orders and superintendence of the Board of Revenue.—Reg. X., 1807, secs. v., vi.

295. Such parts of the preceding paragraph as declare provisionally that the jumma which may be assessed on the estates of the zemindars and other actual proprietors of lands in the above-mentioned territories shall remain fixed for ever, are hereby rescinded.—Reg. X., 1812, sec. ii.

296. It having been declared in clause 6, paragraph 281, with reference to the settlement then depending, that at the end of ten years, that is, at the expiration of the Fusly year 1222, a permanent settlement would be concluded with the same persons (if willing to engage, and if no others having a better claim should come forward), for such lands as might be in a sufficiently improved state of cultivation to warrant the measure, on such terms as Government should deem fair and equitable, the said rule is hereby declared to be in full force and effect.—Reg. X., 1812, sec. iii.

297. Under the provision contained in the preceding rule, it will of course be the duty of the Board of Revenue to ascertain, previously to the expiration of the year 1222, what estates may be in a state of cultivation to warrant the conclusion of a permanent settlement. In all such cases, a revision shall be made of the jumma assessed on the said estates, on the principle of leaving to the proprietors a net income of ten per cent. on the jumma, exclusive of charges of collection, and a settlement shall be concluded with the proprietors, subject of course to the approval of the Governor-General in Council accordingly. The jumma which may be so fixed on the estates of the zemindars and other actual proprietors of land shall, in conformity to the tenor of the proclamations originally issued, and afterwards incorporated into Regulation XII., 1805, remain fixed for ever.—Reg. X., 1812, sec. iv.

298. Under the rule contained in paragraph 296, it will likewise be the duty of the Board of Revenue to submit to the Governor-General in Council a report, specifying the estates which may not appear to be yet in a sufficiently improved state of cultivation to admit of the conclusion of a permanent settlement, without a sacrifice of those resources which may hereafter be derived from them for the exigencies of Government. In all cases of that nature, the Governor-General in Council will determine, on consideration of the information which may be furnished by the Board of Revenue, whether the settlement of such estates shall be made for the term of three or five years, or for any other period, according as may appear most conducive to the public interests.—Reg. X., 1812, sec. v.

299. Such parts of paragraph 294, and of the rules therein referred to, as direct that a settlement shall be made on the commencement of the ensuing Fusly year in the zillah of Cuttack, for the period of four years, and that the jumma which may be assessed on the lands in the last year of that settlement shall remain fixed in perpetuity, provided that the arrangements shall receive the approbation of the Honourable Court of Directors, are hereby rescinded.—Reg. VI., 1808, sec. ii.

300. A settlement shall be made in the zillah of Cuttack, and in the pergunnah of Puttaspore, &c., for the period of one year, viz., the Umlee year 1216.—Reg. VI., 1808, sec. iii.

301. On the expiration of the Umlee year 1216, a settlement shall be made in the said zillah and places on the principle prescribed in paragraph 294, for the period of three years, and the assessment which may be fixed on the lands in the year 1219 shall remain fixed for ever, in case the zemindars shall now be willing to engage for the payment of the public revenue on those terms in perpetuity, and the arrangement shall receive the sanction of the Honourable Court of Directors.—Reg. VI., 1808, sec. iv.

SETTLEMENTS FOR 1220, 1221, AND 1222, UMLEE.

302. A settlement shall be made in the zillah of Cuttack, and in the pergunnah of Puttaspore and its dependencies, for the period of one year, viz., the year 1220, Umlee.—Reg. I., 1813, sec. ii., cl. 1.

303. On the expiration of the Umlee year 1220, a settlement shall be made in the said zillah and places for the period of two years, viz., 1221 and 1222.—Reg. I., 1813, sec. ii., cl. 2.

304. On the expiration of the year 1222, the Board of Revenue will, of course, conform to the provision contained in paragraph 298, respecting the future settlement of the said district and places.—Reg. I., 1813, sec. ii., cl. 3.

SETTLEMENT FOR 1223, UMLEE.

305. The existing settlement of the land revenue of the district of Cuttack, the pergunnah of Puttaspore and its dependencies, shall continue in force until the expiration of the year 1223, Umlee, subject to the following provisions.—Reg. III., 1815, sec. ii.

306. If any zemindar or farmer who has entered into engagements for the payment of the public revenue, during the existing settlement, shall not be willing to continue those engagements to the expiration of the ensuing year 1223, Umlee, he shall notify the same to the collector of Cuttack, or to the collector of Hidgellee, according as his lands may be situated within the respective local jurisdiction of those officers, on or before the 1st August next; corresponding with the 18th Sawun, 1222, Bengal era; the 11th Sawun, 1222, Fusly; the 19th Sawun, 1222, Willaity; the 11th Sawun, 1872, Sumbut; and the 24th Shaban, 1230, Higeree.—Reg. III., 1815, sec. iii.

307. All zemindars and farmers, who shall not make a notification to the effect, and within the period above mentioned, shall be held, and are hereby declared to be responsible for the payment of the same revenue, during the year 1223, Umlee, as may be specified in their engagements for the present year 1222, Umlee.—Reg. III., 1815, sec. iv.

308. The collectors of Cuttack and Hidgellee shall make such arrangements for the management during the year 1223, Umlee, of any lands which may be relinquished by the zemindars or farmers under the option vested in them by paragraph 306, as may appear to be most advisable under the instructions of the Board of Revenue, and with the sanction of Government.—Reg. III., 1815, sec. v.

309. Nothing contained in this Regulation shall be construed to deprive the zemindars of the benefit of the pledge conveyed in paragraph 281, and confirmed by paragraph 296, purporting, that at the expiration of the Umlee year 1222, a perpetual settlement will be concluded for such estates as may be in a sufficiently advanced state of cultivation to warrant the adoption of that measure without an undue sacrifice of the public resources; and it will consequently be the duty of the Board of Revenue to report, as soon as circumstances may admit, what estates may be in a state of cultivation to warrant the conclusion of a permanent settlement, either with or without an increase on the assessment of 1222, Umlee, as the condition and produce of the several estates may suggest.—Reg. III., 1815, sec. vi.

SETTLEMENT FOR 1224, 1225, AND 1226, UMLEE.

310. The existing settlement of the land revenue of the district of Cuttack, and of the pergunnah of Puttaspore and its dependencies, shall, in all cases in which it may have been concluded with zemindars or other acknowledged proprietors of land, continue in force until the expiration of the year 1226, Umlee, subject to the following provisions.—Reg. VI., 1816, sec. ii.

311. If any zemindars who have entered into engagements for the payment of the public revenue during the existing settlement shall not be willing to continue those engagements to the expiration of the ensuing year 1226, Umlee, they shall notify the same to the collector of Cuttack, or to the collector of Hidgellee, according as the lands may be subject to the authority of either of those officers, on or before the 1st July next, corresponding with the 19th Assaur, 1223, Bengal era; the 21st Assaur, 1223, Fusly; the 20th Assaur, 1223, Willaity; the 6th Assaur, 1873, Sumbut; and the 4th Sabaun, 1231, Higeree.—Reg. VI., 1816, sec. iii.

312. All zemindars who shall not make a notification to the effect and within the period above mentioned shall be held, and are hereby declared to be responsible for the payment of the same revenue during the ensuing three years, viz., until the expiration of the year 1226, Umlee, as may be specified in their engagements for the year 1222, Umlee, and is demandable from them on account of the present year 1223, Umlee, under the provisions of paragraphs 305 to 309.—Reg. VI., 1816, sec. iv.

313. With respect to the lands which were let to farm in the year 1222, Umlee, and which were by special indulgence continued in the occupancy of the farmers during the year 1223, Umlee, under the provisions of paragraphs 305 to 309, as well as lands now held khas, the settlement of all such lands shall be formed for the ensuing three years with the zemindars or other actual proprietors of land, supposing such persons to be willing to engage for the payment of the public revenue on such terms as may appear reasonable, according to the most accurate information obtainable regarding the produce of their lands.—Reg. VI., 1816, sec. v.

314. In cases in which the zemindars may decline to engage for the payment of the revenue demandable from their lands during the ensuing three years, or in which no acknowledged proprietors of lands may be forthcoming, it will of course be the duty of the collector to consider whether the lands should be let to farm, or whether the rents should be collected directly from the great body of the ryots; or in other words, whether the land shall be khas, or whether (which will probably be found to be the most convenient and beneficial method) a settlement should be formed for the above period of three years for the several villages with the head ryot, however denominated, of each village respectively.—Reg. VI., 1816, sec. vi.

SETTLEMENT FOR 1227, 1228, AND 1229, AND FROM 1229 to 1234, UMLEE.

315. The existing settlement of the land revenue of the district of Cuttack, and of the pergunnah Puttaspore and its dependencies, shall in all cases in which it may have been concluded with zemindars, or other acknowledged proprietors of land, continue in force until the expiration of the year 1229, Umlee, subject to the following provisions.—Reg. XIII., 1818, sec. ii.

316. If any zemindars or other proprietors of estates within the said district and pergunnah and its dependencies, who may have entered into engagements for the payment of the public revenue during the existing settlement, shall not be willing to continue those engagements to the expiration of the year 1229, Umlee, they shall notify the same to the collector of Cuttack, or to the collector of Hidgellee, according as the lands may be subject to the authority of either of those officers, on or before the 1st March, 1819; corresponding with the 19th Phagoon, 1225, Bengal era; the 19th Phagoon, 1226, Fusly; the 20th Phagoon, 1226, Willaity; the 5th Phagoon, 1875, Sumbut; and the 3rd Jumadi-ool-awal, 1234, Higeree.—Reg. XIII., 1818, sec. iii.

317. All zemindars who shall not make a notification to the effect, and within the period above mentioned, shall be held, and are hereby declared to be responsible for the payment of the same revenue, during the ensuing three years, viz., until the expiration of the year 1229, Umlee, as may be demandable from them on account of the present year, under the provisions of paragraphs 310 to 314, or under distinct engagements entered into by such proprietors.—Reg. XIII., 1818, sec. iv.

318. With respect to estates which are at present let to farm, and of which the leases will expire with the present year, as well as estates now held khas, the settlement of all such lands shall be formed for the ensuing three years with the zemindars, or other actual proprietors of land, supposing such persons to be willing to engage for the payment of the public revenue, on such terms as may appear reasonable, according to the most accurate information obtainable regarding the produce of their lands.—Reg. XIII., 1818, sec. v.

319. In cases in which the zemindars or other proprietors may relinquish the management of their estates under the option given to them by paragraph 316, or who may otherwise decline to engage for the payment of the revenue demandable from their lands during the ensuing three years, and in cases in which no acknowledged proprietors of lands may be forthcoming, it will of course be the duty of the revenue authorities to take timely measures for ascertaining the assets of the estates, and it shall be competent in such cases to the said authorities to let the lands in farm for such period, not exceeding ten years, as the Governor-General in Council shall appoint, or to assume the direct management of them. In all such cases the recusing zemindars shall be entitled, from and after the commencement of the ensuing Umlee year, to receive an allowance as malikana, at such rate as the Board of Revenue, the commissioner in Cuttack, or other officer exercising the powers of the said Board, shall in each case determine; anything in the existing Regulations notwithstanding: Provided, however, that the said allowance shall not in any case be less than five per cent. on the net amount realized by Government from the lands, nor shall it exceed ten per cent. on that amount, without the special sanction of the Governor-General in Council: Provided further, that if the said recusing zemindars, or other proprietors, shall in any case be in the receipt of any allowance in lieu of the nankar, formerly granted to them by the Mahratta Government, under the provisions of Regulation XII., 1805, the amount of such nankar allowance shall be deducted from the malikana to which they are by this paragraph declared to be entitled.—Reg. XIII., 1818, sec. vi.

320. The existing settlement of the land revenue in the district of Cuttack, with the exception hereinafter specified, shall, in all cases in which it may have been concluded with zemindars, or persons acknowledged as the proprietors or possessors of a permanent interest in the mehaul for which they have engaged, continue in force until the expiration of the year 1234, Umlee, subject to the following provisions:—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. ii., cl. 1 & 2.

321. The commissioner in Cuttack, having, under instructions from the Governor-General in Council, caused proclamations to be issued, declaring the resolution of Government to extend the existing leases as above, and requiring all zemindars and other persons aforesaid, who might be unwilling to continue their engagements for a further period of five years, to notify the same to the collector of the zillah, the said proclamations are hereby sanctioned and confirmed; and all zemindars and other persons aforesaid who shall not have made a notification to the effect and within the period thereby required, shall be held and are hereby declared to be responsible for the same revenue for each of the ensuing five years, viz., until the expiration of the year 1234, Umlee, as may be demandable from them on account of the present year.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. ii., cl. 3.

322. The pergunnah of Puttaspore and its dependencies are excluded from the operation of the rules contained in paragraphs 320 and 321: the zemindars and other persons aforesaid within the said districts shall be allowed to hold, from year to year, the mehauls for which they may now be under engagements, subject to the payment of the jumma demandable on account of the present year, until the revenue officers shall be prepared to commence a careful revision of the settlement of their respective estates; and all engagements into which such zemindars and other persons may have entered, or shall enter, with the local revenue authorities for continuing their present leases as aforesaid, are hereby confirmed.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. ii., cl. 4 & 5.

323. Provided also, that it be hereby declared and enacted as a general rule, that if any zemindar, or other malguzar as aforesaid, who may now or hereafter be under engagement for the payment of the revenue demandable by Government on account of any mehaul, shall be allowed by the revenue authorities to continue in the management of such mehaul after the expiration of such engagement, and shall do or direct any act relative to the cultivation or management of such mehaul, or the settlement, assessment, or collection of the rents of such mehaul, in or on account of any year subsequent to the term of such engagement, such zemindar or other malguzar aforesaid shall be held to be responsible on account of such year for the same revenue as may have been demandable from him for the year preceding, unless otherwise specially agreed upon: provided further, that it shall be competent for collectors, or other officers exercising the power of collectors, with the sanction of the Board, or commissioner to whom they may be subordinate, at any time, not being more than six months previous to the expiration of a settlement, to call upon the zemindars, or other malguzars as aforesaid, to declare whether or not they are willing to continue their engagements for the ensuing year; and if such zemindars or other malguzars shall not forthwith notify their refusal to do so, they shall be held to have agreed to such an extension of their leases at the existing assessment, and so on, from year to year, as aforesaid. Zemindars or other malguzars who may be allowed to hold on from year to year shall not be chargeable with any additional revenue on account of any year, unless the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, shall notify his intention to revise the assessment on or before the commencement of such year, unless where otherwise specially provided.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. ii., cl. 6.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF MALGUZARS FOR THE JUMMA FIXED BY THE SETTLEMENT.

324. Every malguzar in the province of Cuttack, and every body of malguzars in the said province having as such body joint engagements with the Government, and being persons acknowledged as the proprietors or possessors of a permanent interest in the mehaul for which they have engaged, shall be answerable for the jumma fixed by the terms of the settlement now existing for every mehaul of such malguzar, or body of malguzars, until a new settlement of such mehaul shall be completed and confirmed according to the provisions of Regulation VII. of 1822, and Regulation IX. of 1833, of the Bengal code.—Act VI., 1837, sec. i.

325. Provided always, that if any such malguzar, or body of malguzars, shall, before the 1st day of August, 1837, notify to the collector of the district within which any mehaul of such malguzar, or body of malguzars, as aforesaid, may be situated, that it is the intention of such malguzar, or body of malguzars, to relinquish the existing engagements of such malguzar, or body of malguzars, in respect of such mehaul, at the expiration of the term for which those engagements have been made, it shall be lawful for such malguzar, or body of malguzars, to relinquish the said engagements at the expiration of the said term.—Act VI., 1837, sec. ii.

SETTLEMENT WITH THE GHAUTWALS OF BEERBHOOM.

326. A settlement having lately been made on the part of Government with the Ghautwauls in the district of Beerbhoom, it is hereby declared that they and their descendants in perpetuity shall be maintained in possession of the lands, so long as they shall respectively pay the revenue at present assessed upon them, and that they shall not be liable to any enhancement of rent so long as they shall punctually discharge the same and fulfil the other obligations of their tenure.—Reg. XXIX., 1814, sec. ii.

327. The ghautwaullee lands shall be considered, as at present, to form a part of the zemindary of Beerbhoom; but the rents of Ghautwauls shall be paid direct to the assistant collector stationed at Soory, or to such other public officer as the Board of Revenue, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, may direct to receive the rents.—Reg. XXIX., 1814, sec. iii.

328. The difference between the amount of the revenue assessed on the Ghautwauls and the fixed assessment of revenue in this portion of the zemindary of Beerbhoom payable to Government, shall be paid to the zemindar of Beerbhoom, and his heirs and successors, in perpetuity.—Reg. XXIX., 1814, sec. iv.

329. Should any of the Ghautwauls at any time fail to discharge their stipulated rents, it shall be competent for the Governor-General in Council to cause the ghautwaullee tenure of such defaulter to be sold by public sale in satisfaction of the arrears due from him, in like manner, and under the same rules as lands held immediately of Government, or to make over the tenure of such defaulter to any person whom the Governor-General in Council may approve, on the condition of making good the arrear due; or to transfer it by grants assessed with the same revenue, or with an increased or reduced assessment, as to the Government may appear meet; or to dispose of it in such other form and manner as shall be judged by the Governor-General in Council proper. Should any increase of revenue be obtained from the operation of any arrangements of the nature above described, such increase shall be paid, in conformity to the tenor of the preceding article, to the zemindar of Beerbhoom, his heirs and successors.—Reg. XXIX., 1814, sec. v.

REVISION OF SETTLEMENTS.

330. Whereas the existing settlement of the land revenue in the Ceded Provinces will expire with the present Fusly year, and it has therefore become necessary to declare and enact the principles and rules according to which the demand of the State is thereafter to be regulated, and the manner in which future settlements and revisions of settlements are to be conducted: and whereas a moderate assessment being equally conducive to the true interests of Government and to the well-being of its subjects, it is the wish and intention of Government, that in revising the existing settlement, the efforts of the revenue officers should be chiefly directed, not to any general and extensive enhancement of the jumma, but to the objects of equalizing the public burdens, and of ascertaining, settling, and recording the rights, interests, privileges, and properties, of all persons and classes, owning, occupying, managing, or cultivating the land, or gathering or disposing of its produce, or collecting or appropriating the rent or revenue payable on account of land, or the produce of land, or paying or receiving any cesses, contributions, or perquisites, to or from any persons resident in, or owning, occupying, or holding parcel of any village or mehaul; and whereas, with these views and intentions, the Governor-General in Council has considered it to be expedient and proper, with the exception hereinafter specified, to continue the existing assessment in all cases in which the settlement has been formed with zemindars or other persons acknowledged as proprietors or possessors of a permanent interest in the mehauls for which they may have engaged, until a new settlement can be made, combining with the revision of the Government jumma, and the deliberate investigation of the facts, by the determination of which its amount must be regulated, a full inquiry into, and a careful settlement of the rights and interests of all classes connected with the land: and whereas the same principles are applicable to the district of Cuttack, the pergunnah of Puttaspore, and its dependencies, of which the settlement will expire with the present Umlee year: and whereas it has appeared expedient to make special provision for the early settlement of the district of Goruckpore, the chukla of Azimgurh, the pergunnah of Puttaspore, and its dependencies: and whereas it is also advisable to provide for the revision of the settlement of the Conquered Provinces, and of the province of Bundlecund, pending the continuance of the existing leases: and whereas it is the desire of Government that the proceedings held, and the records formed by the collectors, when making settlements, or otherwise specially employed in conducting inquiries of the above nature, should be such as that all demands, claims, and suits may be adjudged and determined according to the facts therein stated, until the same shallhave been formally altered, or it shall be shown, by the result of a full investigation in a regular suit, that the proceeding or record of the collector was erroneous or incomplete: and whereas it is necessary to declare and define the powers and authority to be vested in collectors in the conduct of the said inquiries, and the adjustment of the differences arising out of or made known by them: and whereas it further appears advisable that the revenue officers should, in certain cases, be vested with authority judicially to receive, hear, investigate, and determine suits, claims, and demands of the above description: and whereas it appears to be expedient to declare and explain the views and intentions of Government relative to the rights to be enjoyed and exercised by the sudder malguzars, or persons admitted to engage for the payment of the Government revenue, and by persons collecting the rents of the land or revenue of Government, without being subject to the payment of any portion of it to the public treasury, such as jagheerdars, and other owners or managers of lakhiraj lands; and it is particularly necessary, in the case of estates held in putteedaree or bhyachara tenure, to make further provision for protecting the sharers who have not been admitted to engagements with Government against the encroachments of the sudder malguzar, and likewise to secure the latter against the consequences of the embezzlement or misappropriation by the former of the funds whence the Government revenue ought to be discharged:—for the purposes and objects above specified the following rules have been enacted, to be in force from the date of their promulgation, throughout the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, in the district of Cuttack, the pergunnah of Puttaspore and its dependencies.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. i.

331. The rules contained in the following paragraphs, with the necessary alteration of dates and periods, are and shall be held to be equally applicable to the Conquered Provinces and to Bundlecund as to the Ceded Provinces.—Reg. IX., 1824, sec. iv.

332. The provisions contained in the following rules are declared to extend to all lands (including jagheers, mocurrurees, and other tenures held free of assessment or at a quit-rent under special grant) not included within the limits of estates for which a permanent settlement has been concluded in the manner prescribed by Regulation VIII., 1793, and Regulations II. and XXII., 1795, as far as the same may be applicable.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. ii., cl. 1.

333. The said provisions shall likewise be in force in all estates which may now or hereafter be held khas during the period for which they may be so managed.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec ii., cl. 2.

334. The provisions aforesaid shall also apply to the Sunderbuns, the hill lands of Bhaugulpore, and other extensive forests and wastes, not included within the limits of pergunnahs, mouzahs, or other revenue divisions, specified at the time of settlement as belonging to the mehauls then assessed; as well as to all estates bordering on such forests or wastes.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. ii., cl. 3.

335. If any zemindar or other malguzar who may now or hereafter be under engagement for the payment of the revenue demandable by Government on account of any mehaul, shall be allowed by the revenue authorities to continue in the management of such mehaul after the expiration of such engagement, and shall do or direct any act relative to the cultivation or management of such mehaul, or the settlement, assessment, or collection of the rents of such mehaul, in or on account of any year subsequent to the term of such engagement, such zemindar or other malguzar aforesaid shall be held to be responsible on account of such year for the same revenue as may have been demandable from him for the year preceding, unless otherwise specially agreed upon: provided further, that it shall be competent for collectors or other officers exercising the power of collectors, with the sanction of the Board, or commissioner to whom they may be subordinate at any time, not being more than six months previous to the expiration of a settlement, to call upon the zemindars, or other malguzars as aforesaid, to declare whether or not they are willing to continue their engagements for the ensuing year; and if such zemindars or other malguzars shall not forthwith notify their refusal to do so, they shall be held to have agreed to such an extension of their leases at the existing assessment, and so on, from year to year, as aforesaid. Zemindars or other malguzars who may be allowed to hold on from year to year, shall not be chargeable with any additional revenue on account of any year, unless the collector or other officer exercising the powers of collector shall notify his intention to revise the assessment on or before the commencement of such year, unless where otherwise specially provided.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. ii., cl. 6.

336. With respect to estates which are at present let to farm, a settlement thereof shall be made on the expiration of the existing leases for such a period as the Governor-General in Council may direct. A preference shall be given to the zemindars, or other persons possessing a permanent property in the mehauls, if willing to engage for the payment of the public revenue on reasonable terms: provided also, that in cases wherein such mehauls may be let in farm, the term of the lease granted to the farmers shall not exceed twelve years. The above rules shall likewise be applicable to estates now held khas. So in any case wherein the zemindars and other proprietors may refuse to continue their existing engagements, or to enter into new engagements on equitable terms, it shall be competent to the revenue authorities to let the lands in farm for such period, not exceeding twelve years, as the Governor-General in Council shall appoint, or to assume the direct management of them, and to retain them under khas management during the period aforesaid, or such shorter period as may be judged proper: provided further, that if in any case it shall appear to the revenue authorities that the continuance or admission of any rajah, zemindar, talookdar, or other person who may have engaged, or may claim to engage, for any mehaul or mehauls in or to the management of such mehaul or mehauls, would endanger the public tranquillity, or otherwise be seriously detrimental, it shall be their duty to report the circumstance to Government, and it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in Council, to cause such mehaul or mehauls to be held khas or let in farm, for such term as may appear expedient and proper, not exceeding the period above specified.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. iii.

337. In admitting particular parties to engage, it was in no degree the intention of Government to compromise private rights or privileges, or to vest the sudder malguzars with any rights not previously possessed by them, excepting in so far as their interest in the land for which they may have engaged might be improved by the limitation of the Government demand, or otherwise by the resignation in their favour of rights previously vested in Government itself, or as it may have been found necessary, with a view to the punctual realization of the public dues, to vest the sudder malguzar by special Regulation, with authority of distraint, or other powers of coercion over the under-tenants. On the contrary, it is the anxious desire of Government, and the bounden duty of its officers, to secure every one in the possession of the rights and privileges which he may lawfully possess, or be entitled to possess. In pursuance of this principle, it is hereby declared and enacted, that nothing in the above provisions for extending the existing leases, or in the stipulations of the existing settlements, do or shall be construed to bar the revenue officers, duly empowered in that behalf, from interfering to adjust the respective rights of the sudder malguzars and their under-tenants; nor shall any claims to a remission or abatement of revenue be admitted on the ground of any decision or order passed in that behalf, but if such decision or order shall operate materially to reduce the profits derived by any zemindar or malguzar from the mehaul owned or managed by him, it shall be competent for such zemindar or malguzar to relinquish his engagements, and the revenue officers shall in such case proceed to make a settlement of the mehaul de novo.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. iv.

338. The provisions contained in the existing Regulations regarding the allowance to be made to zemindars and other malguzars who may be excluded from the management of mehauls owned or claimed by them, whether as malikana or nankar, are hereby rescinded.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. v., cl. 1.

339. The proprietors of estates let in farm or held khas shall be entitled to receive an allowance of malikana at such rate as the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, may determine; anything in the existing Regulations notwithstanding: the said malikana to be apportioned in cases in which several proprietors may have heretofore held an estate under one common assessment, whether in joint tenancy or otherwise, according to the shares of each respectively; provided also, that the malikana allowance granted to the proprietor or proprietors of any mehaul shall not in any case be less than five per cent. on the net amount realized by Government from the lands; nor shall it exceed ten per cent. on that amount without the special sanction of the Governor-General in Council: provided further, that if the said proprietors shall in any case be in the receipt of any perquisite, or the profits of any lands in lieu of the nankar formerly granted to them by the native governments, or otherwise, in consideration of their proprietary tenure, the amount of such allowance shall be deducted from the malikana to which they are by this rule declared to be entitled: provided also, that this rule shall not apply to such zemindars as may continue in the occupancy of their tenures, whilst the mehaul in which they are included is held khas or farmed, or of any part of them,—that is to say, zemindars who may cultivate or lease their lands, and pay the revenue to the farmer or Government officer; nor, without the special sanction of Government, to any malguzar, zemindar, or other proprietor or holder of land, who may directly or indirectly continue to draw any allowance from the ryots of the lands farmed or held khas: provided also, that malguzars not being actual proprietors of the land included in the estate for which they may have formerly been under engagements, though recorded in the accounts of past settlements as zemindars, talookdars, or the like, or being proprietors of a part only of such land, shall not receive the above allowance on the jumma of the estate, but shall receive such allowance in lieu of their title of management, as it may appear to Government to be equitable to assign, in addition to the malikana to which they may be entitled on account of any lands held by them in actual property, and of which they may not retain the occupancy: and no malikana shall be granted to any sudder malguzar on account of lands, the occupants of which may deny his right of property, until he shall have established his right by a regular suit in a court of justice, or to the satisfaction of the Board. But in such cases, such provision will be made for the intermediate support of the party, as the Governor-General in Council may, on the recommendation of the Board, see fit to direct.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. v., cl. 2.

340. Provided also, that if any zemindar or sudder malguzar shall have been called upon by a collector, or other officer exercising the powers of a collector, to state the highest amount of jumma, for the payment of which he may be willing to engage, and shall have stated the same accordingly, the sum so stated by such zemindar or sudder malguzar, and not the jumma ultimately realized by Government, shall form the basis on which his malikana allowance shall be adjusted; and in such case it shall and may be lawful for the revenue authorities to limit the said allowance to five per cent. on the said sum, or to a portion thereof, according to the extent of the proprietary interest possessed by the said zemindar or sudder malguzar. Provided also, that if a zemindar or sudder malguzar when so called upon shall fail to specify or tender any sum as aforesaid, then and in that case the net revenue derived by Government from the mehaul on account of the year preceding that in which the collector or other officer aforesaid may make the said requisition, shall be taken as the sum by which the amount of malikana (not being less than five, nor more than ten per cent. on the same) shall be adjusted.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. v., cl. 3.

341. The foregoing rules concerning malikana are intended to have a prospective effect only, and to be applicable solely to settlements made under this Regulation, and to recusance tendered at the completion of such settlements.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xi.

342. In cases wherein the existing engagements may be continued under the rule contained in paragraph 335, it shall and may be lawful for the collectors, with the sanction of the Board of Commissioners, to enter at any time in the course thereof on a revision of the settlement, notwithstanding such continuance of the existing leases, and to adopt such measures as may be requisite for ascertaining and determining the extent and produce of the lands, and the amount of jumma properly demandable therefrom, and for procuring and recording the fullest possible information in regard to the rights, interests, privileges, and properties of the agricultural community, and to determine the same, with the same powers and authority as they now are or may hereafter be entitled to exercise in forming the settlement of estates open to re-assessment.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. vi., cl. 1.

343. The said revision of the settlement shall be made village by village, and mehaul by mehaul; and such number of mehauls shall be revised in each year as the Board, under the orders of the Governor-General in Council, may direct.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. vi., cl. 2.

344. Such revision of the settlement shall not operate to disturb the existing engagements during the period for which they may be continued under the provisions of paragraph 335, in so far as such engagements relate to the amount of jumma demandable by Government; but the said engagements shall be held and considered to include only such villages and lands as may be specified in the proceedings or accounts of the settlement last concluded; and if, on the revision of the settlement of any mehaul, it shall be found that there has been any material error, or concealment of lands belonging to such mehaul, the collector shall be authorized, subject to the orders of the Board, separately to assess the lands so withheld from the knowledge of the revenue authorities, in the same manner and with the same powers as he would assess an unsettled mehaul: provided also, that nothing in this or the preceding rules shall be construed to prevent the revenue officers from passing and enforcing such orders, in regard to the rights and interests to be enjoyed by the different classes or persons connected with any mehaul, during the period for which the existing settlement has been extended, as they may or shall be authorized to pass or enforce, when adjusting the assessment of an unsettled mehaul.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. vi., cl. 3.

345. It shall in like manner be competent to the collectors in the Conquered Provinces, and in the province of Bundlecund, to enter on a revision of the settlement under the provisions contained in the three preceding paragraphs, during the continuance of the existing lease.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. vi., cl. 4.

346. When a collector in the Ceded Provinces, or in the province of Cuttack, shall have completed the revision of the settlement of any mehauls under the rules contained in the four preceding paragraphs, it shall and may be lawful for him, subject to the orders of the Board of Revenue and of Government, to grant to the proprietors, if willing to engage on adequate terms, renewed leases for such further term of years subsequent to the year 1234, Fusly or Umlee, as the Governor-General in Council may direct.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. vii., cl. 1.

347. The assessment to be demanded on account of the years subsequent to the year 1234, Fusly, to which leases renewed as above may extend, shall be fixed with reference to the produce and capabilities of the land, as ascertained at the time when the revision of the settlement shall be made, unless under special circumstances justifying a prospective enhancement of the Government demand: provided also, that the amount of such assessment shall not be raised above that of the present jumma, unless it shall clearly appear, that the net profits to be derived from the land by the zemindars, and others who may be entitled to share in the profits arising out of the limitation of the Government demand, will exceed one-fifth of that amount; and in cases wherein any increase may be demanded, the assessment shall be so regulated as to leave the zemindars and others aforesaid a net profit of twenty per cent. on the amount of the jumma payable by or through them respectively, no abatement on the existing jumma will be allowed, unless on the clearest grounds of necessity.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. vii., cl. 2.

348. Neither the foregoing, nor any other of these rules shall be understood to prescribe, that the amount of jumma to be demanded from any mehaul shall be calculated on an ascertainment of the quantity and value of actual produce, or on a comparison between the costs of production and value of produce.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. ii.

349. The pottahs granted on such revised settlements shall be held only to secure the malguzars from further demand during the term of their respective leases, on account of the lands specified in it, or described in the settlement roobakarree of the collector, with such allowance for error as may be distinctly declared at the time of settlement. Zemindars and other persons entering into engagements will be required, therefore, to afford the fullest and most correct information in regard to the rukba of the mehauls for which they may engage.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. vii., cl. 3.

350. In like manner it shall and may be lawful for collectors in the Conquered Provinces and in the province of Bundlecund, to grant renewed leases for a further term of years subsequent to the expiration of the existing settlement, subject to the same rules, restrictions, and provisions, as are enacted in the preceding paragraphs relatively to the Ceded Provinces.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. vii., cl. 4.

351. If any zemindar or other sudder malguzar, the settlement of whose estate may be revised under the above rules, shall refuse to enter into suitable engagements for a further period beyond the term of the then current lease, or if, after such revision, the revenue authorities shall, under any other circumstances, deem it expedient to postpone taking further engagements for the payment of the revenue of any mehauls until the expiration of the current leases, it shall be competent to them to do so; and in such case, the several rules contained in paragraph 336, relative to estates of which the settlement will expire with the present year, shall, on the expiration of the said leases, be and be held applicable to such mehauls.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. vii., cl. 5.

352. The same rules shall also be applicable to the several mehauls within the district of Goruckpore, the chuklah Azimgurh, the pergunnah Puttaspore and its dependencies, as they may respectively become, or be declared open for re-settlement.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. vii., cl. 6.

353. Where the waste land belonging to or adjoining any mehaul is very extensive, so as considerably to exceed the quantity required for pasturage, or otherwise usefully appropriated, it shall be competent to the revenue officers to grant leases for the same, to any persons who may be willing to undertake the cultivation, in perpetuity, or for such periods as the Governor-General in Council shall determine; and to assign to the zemindars, or others who may establish a right of property in the lands so granted, an allowance equivalent to ten per cent. on the amount payable to Government by the lessees, in lieu and bar of all claims to or in the waste lands so granted, or such other perquisites or privileges as by the custom of the country they may appear in such cases entitled to receive.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. viii.

354. It shall be the duty of the collectors, and other officers exercising the powers of collectors, on the occasion of making or revising settlements of the land revenue, to unite, with the adjustment of the assessment and the investigation of the extent and produce of the lands, the object of ascertaining and recording the fullest possible information in regard to landed tenures, the rights, interests, and privileges of the various classes of the agricultural community. For this purpose their proceedings shall embrace the formation of as accurate a record as possible, of all local usages connected with landed tenures, as full as practicable a specification of all persons enjoying the possession and property of the soil, or vested with any heritable or transferable interest in the land, or the rents of it, care being taken to distinguish the different modes of possession and property, and the real nature and extent of the interests held, more especially where several persons may hold interests in the same subject-matter of different kinds or degrees. This record shall, in putteedary or bhyachara villages, or the like, include an accurate register of all the coparceners, not merely the heads of divisions, such as the puttees, thokes, or behrees, but also as far as possible of every person who occupies land, disposes of its produce, or receives rent as proprietor or as agent for one or more proprietors holding land and disposing of its produce, or receiving the rents of it in common, with a detailed statement of the interior arrangements adopted by the brotherhood, for the distribution of the profits derived from sources common to the coparceny where any such exist, and for determining the share of the Government jumma, and of the village expenses which each parcener is to contribute, or the other modes in which the engaging parcener or intermediate putteedars and behreedars collect from the cultivators. A record shall likewise be formed of the rates per beegah of each description of land or kind of produce demandable from the resident cultivators not claiming any transferable property in the soil, whether possessing the right of hereditary occupancy or not, and the respective shares of the sudder malguzar, or other manager, and the cultivator, in lands cultivated under kunkoot, bataie, or similar engagements, with a distinct specification of all cesses or extra collections made by the malguzar, or village manager, or other. The names of all the village putwaries and village watchmen shall also be registered, with a statement of the amount and nature of the allowance assigned them. And all lakhiraj tenures shall be carefully recorded, with a specification of the nature of the tenure. The information collected on the above points shall be so arranged and recorded, as to admit of an immediate reference hereafter by the Courts of Judicature; it being understood and declared, that all decisions on the demands of the zemindars shall hereafter be regulated by the rates of rent and modes of payment avowed and ascertained at the settlement, and recorded in the collector's proceedings, until distinctly altered by mutual agreement, or after full investigation in a regular suit; and all cesses or collections not avowed and sanctioned, nor taken into account in fixing the Government jumma, shall be held illegal and unauthorized, unless now or hereafter specially sanctioned by Government.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. ix., cl. 1; Reg. IX., 1825, sec. vii.

355. Provided also, that it shall be competent to collectors and other officers as aforesaid (subject to the orders of the Board of Revenue) to grant pottahs to the several mofussil zemindars and ryots, or other owners or occupants of land, for the land owned or occupied by them, specifying the amount to be paid by them, and all the conditions attaching to their tenure; and a register of all pottahs so granted shall form a part of the roobakaree of settlement.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. ix., cl. 2.

356. Provided, however, that if from the number of estates of which the leases may at once expire in any district, or from any other special cause, it shall be found necessary, for the security of the Government revenue, to take engagements from any zemindar, malguzar, or farmer, without completing the detailed inquiries above directed, it shall be competent to the Boards of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of such a Board, to cause engagements for the revenue to be taken in the manner heretofore in use, reporting the circumstance to the Governor-General in Council; but the term of the engagements so taken shall not exceed five years, and the rules relative to the revision of the settlements of mehauls, of which the existing leases have been extended under the provisions of paragraph 335, shall be equally applicable to estates for which such engagements shall be taken.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. ix., cl. 3.

357. The restriction, in the foregoing rule, of the term of engagements to the period of five years, shall not be held applicable to leases granted to farmers in the cases specified in paragraph 270, and it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue, with the sanction of Government, to grant leases either to proprietors or farmers for any period not exceeding fifteen years, whenever special circumstances shall in their judgment render it expedient to do so, as well in the ceded as in the conquered Provinces.—Reg. IX., 1824, sec. iv.

358. After the settlement of any village or mehaul shall have been made in the manner specified in the foregoing paragraphs, the rules and provisions of Section XXXIX., Regulation IX., 1810, shall be applicable to all cesses and collections not sanctioned in the manner specified in that section.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. ix.

359. Neither the foregoing, nor any other of these rules shall be understood to prescribe, that the judicial investigation into and decision on questions of disputed private claims shall be conducted simultaneously with the ascertainment of and determination on the amount of the Government demand. The Governor-General in Council will hereafter determine the order in which the above matters shall be respectively disposed of.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. iii.

Coparcenary Estates.

360. Of several parties possessing separate heritable and transferable properties in any parcel of land, or in the produce or rent thereof, such properties consisting of interests of different kinds, it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to determine and direct which of such parties shall be admitted to engage for the payment of the Government revenue; due provision being made for securing the rights of the remaining parties. It is further hereby declared and enacted, that it is and shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, in confirming the settlement of any mehaul in perpetuity, or for a term of years, to determine and prescribe the manner and proportion in which the net rent or profit arising out of the limitation of the Government demand shall be distributed among the different parties possessing an interest in the lands appertaining to such mehaul, or in the rent or produce of such lands or mehaul.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. x., cl. 1.

361. In cases wherein any land appertaining to a mehaul hitherto recognized as the talooka, zemindaree, or the like, of one or more sudder malguzars, may be owned or occupied by other persons holding under the sudder malguzar, and possessing an heritable and transferable property therein, or an hereditary right of occupancy subject to the payment of a fixed rent, or of a rent determinable by a fixed principle, if the title of the said sudder malguzar to engage for the revenue be upheld, and generally in cases wherein the tenure of an intermediate malguzar or manager between the Government and the proprietors or hereditary occupants of the soil may be maintained, whether the Government revenue be collected from the zemindar, talookdar, or other hereditary intermediate malguzar, or the mehaul be farmed or held khas, it shall be competent to the collector, or other officer who may be employed in adjusting the jumma to be assessed on such mehaul, with the sanction of the Board previously obtained, and subject to the orders and directions of that authority, to make a mofussil settlement with each of the proprietors or occupants aforesaid for the land possessed by him, and to grant such proprietors or occupants pottahs, defining the condition on which they are to hold their land, whether subordinate to the sudder malguzar, or to the farmer or officer of Government employed in the khas management; and in all such cases, if engagements for the Government revenue of the mehaul be taken from the intermediate hereditary malguzar, the particulars of the mofussil settlement, when approved by the Board, shall be indorsed on the pottah to be granted to the sudder malguzar, or shall be so incorporated with the engagement taken from him as to form part of the same.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. x., cl. 2.

362. In cases in which two or more persons may possess a joint property in any village, mehaul, or parcel of land, or in the rent or produce of any village, mehaul, or land, or in any part of such village, mehaul, land, rent, or produce, the property of such persons consisting of interests of the same kind, whether of the same extent or otherwise, as well as in cases wherein such property in any mehaul, village, land, produce, or rent, may be separately possessed by parties subject by prescriptive usage to common obligations, whether existing or contingent, it shall be competent to the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, subject to the orders and direction of the Board and of the Governor-General in Council, either to make a joint settlement with the parties collectively, or a majority of them, or with an agent appointed by them, or a majority of them, or to select one or more of them to undertake the management of the mehaul as sudder malguzars, due advertence being had to the wishes of all the coparceners, and to the past custom of the village or villages comprised in the mehaul.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. x., cl. 3.

363. When it shall be determined to make joint settlement for any village, mehaul, or parcel of land, with the parties possessing therein a joint property as aforesaid, the collector, or other officer making the settlement, shall give notice of his intention, by a written proclamation to be stuck up in some public place within the village, mehaul, or land, and shall require all persons possessing therein a property as aforesaid to attend, either in person or by representative duly authorized in the matter, within a reasonable period, at a stated place and time, and to declare their agreement or non-agreement to the jumma proposed to be assessed on the village or land.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. x., cl. 4.

364. If any person or persons, when summoned as above, shall refuse, neglect, or omit to attend, either in person or by representative, such person or persons shall be held to be bound by the decision of the majority of those who may attend, in agreeing or disagreeing to the jumma, and his or their interests and estate shall, unless otherwise specially allowed, be held responsible for the Government revenue, and be liable to sale in the event of any arrear accruing on account of the settlement.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. x., cl. 5.

365. If any person or persons shall attend, and shall object to the jumma proposed to be assessed, then, should a settlement be made with the other parties present, the objecting parties shall be left in the enjoyment of the same rights and interests as they would enjoy in the event of the mehaul being farmed or held khas; and in so far as regards the lands to which such rights and interests attach, the other parceners, if their engagements be extended thereto, shall be considered farmers of the Government revenue, to hold the same under leases of such term as may be determined and agreed upon under the general rules applicable to lands for which the proprietors may refuse to engage.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. x., cl. 6.

366. When any mehaul, or portion of a mehaul, held by a number of cultivating proprietors in putteedaree or bhyachara tenure, or the like, shall be let in farm or held khas, the rent demandable from the proprietors of such mehaul or portion of mehaul, on account of the land occupied and cultivated by themselves, shall be adjusted by the rates payable by ryots, or other resident cultivators not having an heritable and transferable property in the soil, for lands of a similar description in the same or in the adjoining villages, with a deduction of five per cent. on account of malikana, or such other rate, not being less than five per cent., as Government may determine. —Reg. VII., 1822, sec. x., cl. 7.

367. When it shall be determined to make a settlement of a mehaul of the above description with one or more of the parceners selected to manage, collect, and account for the public revenue as sudder malguzar, then and in that case the interests of the non-engaging parceners shall not be held answerable for the default of the sudder malguzars, save and except in so far as may be specifically provided. Such parceners shall, until regularly separated, continue to hold their lands as subordinate proprietors, subject to the payment of rent or revenue to the sudder malguzar at the rates and in the mode heretofore in use, excepting in so far as that usage may be affected by the determination of Government in regard to the distribution of the net rent or profit derived from the limitation of the Government demand, or by the rules now in force, or hereafter to be enacted, for vesting the sudder malguzars with specific powers over the subordinate tenants in the collection of the rent or revenue demandable from them. The responsibility attaching to the persons selected as sudder malguzars, and the conditions under which they are to hold that title of management, will in each case be specifically declared at or after the time when the settlement is confirmed. The conditions and limitations under which the subordinate proprietors shall be admitted to separate engagements will also be similarly declared.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. x., cl. 8.

368. Provided further, that in all cases wherein different parcels of land belonging to any mehaul may be separately owned and occupied by different proprietors, or by different bodies of proprietors, it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, to cause a separate settlement to be made for the land owned and occupied by each proprietor, or by each body of proprietors, and each parcel of land for which a separate settlement may be so made shall be held exclusively responsible for the revenue assessed upon it. Provided also, that if the several parties possessing a joint property, or separate properties subject to a common obligation as aforesaid, or any of them, shall apply to a collector, or other officer making or revising a settlement, to have separate possession of their several share or shares in such joint property, or to be admitted to separate engagements, it shall be competent to such collector or other officer, with the sanction of the Board, or other authority to which he may be subordinate, to make a partition of the property among the different parties according to their respective interests, and to make a separate settlement with each of them, or with such as may desire to enter into separate engagements.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. x., cl. 9.

369. In all cases wherein any proprietors may be excluded from engagements, the collector shall be careful to let it be known that all persons possessing a property in the mehaul are entitled to have their names recorded in the roobakarree of settlement, with the amount or rate of the assessment demandable from each.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. x., cl. 10.

370. The collector's proceedings in forming the registry above directed shall be founded on the basis of actual possession, and that officer shall in every instance be careful to record the precise nature of the authority on which the entries in his books may be made. In conformity with the above principle, it shall be competent to the collectors or other officers when making or revising settlements, or otherwise deputed to investigate and determine the circumstances of any mehaul, and the nature of the tenures connected with it, to correct the errors or omissions of former settlements by admitting to engagements, or entering on the public records, the names of the persons found in the bonâ fide possession of land, or in the receipt of rent under a proprietary title; and in such cases the collector will hold an official proceeding, explaining fully the grounds on which he may act.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xi.

371. In cases in which the proportion of the Government jumma and village expenses payable by each proprietor, and by each body of proprietors comprised in the several puttees, behrees, and other divisions of an estate held under putteedaree or bhyachara tenure, or the like, may have been originally fixed on a measurement of the lands occupied by each, with reference to the quantity in cultivation, and may be liable by the usage of the country to periodical adjustment on the same principle, if the collector or other officer making or revising the settlement shall be satisfied, by examination of the putwarries' accounts or otherwise, that the contributions paid by any proprietor, or body of proprietors as aforesaid, are materially in excess of the amount justly demandable from them, it shall be competent to him, with the previous sanction of the Board, to cause a new distribution to be made of the revenue and charges payable by each with reference to the above principle, and to such resolutions as Government may have passed relative to the apportionment of the net rent or profits arising out of the limitation of the Government demand, and in the performance of this duty to employ the canoongoe, and such person or persons as he may judge it advisable to appoint, and to settle the jumma payable by the different parties according to the award of such person or persons, or otherwise as shall appear to be just and equitable.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xii., cl. 1.

372. In like manner, in cases in which the several proprietors shall be entitled not only to an adjustment from time to time of the jumma payable on account of the lands occupied by them, but likewise to a periodical partition of the lands of the village, with reference to the share recorded as belonging to each, it shall be competent to the collector to cause a fresh partition of the lands, and adjustment of the jumma, to be made as above prescribed, and at the same time to fix and declare the period from which the arrangement as finally settled is to have effect, and to adjust the claims of the parties relative to the revenue intermediately paid by them, as may appear equitable; provided, however, that no such partition or adjustment shall be final until confirmed by the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board; provided also, that if any parties shall dispute the existence of the usage under which the partition of the lands shall have been made, and shall claim to be restored to possession of the lands which the collector may have transferred to another, or shall consider himself entitled to the benefit of a new partition of the lands comprised in the mehaul to which he may belong, in any case in which the collector may have refused to order it, it shall be competent to the said party to bring a regular suit in the Zillah Court against the person or persons to whom the lands may have been transferred, or the person or persons who may resist the partition, to try the justness of the collector's decision; but if the existence of the usage shall be admitted or established, it shall not be competent to the Courts of Judicature to question the accuracy of the partition of the land, or adjustment of the jumma; and whenever the decision of a collector for the partition of any land shall be set aside, it will of course belong to the revenue authorities to re-adjust the jumma with reference to the interests of the parties as defined and settled by the final decision of the Courts of Judicature, and to the conditions of the tenure, and to any general or special resolution of Government relative to the distribution of the net rent or profit arising out of the limitation of the public assessment.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xii., cl. 2.

Judicial Powers of Collectors.

373. Collectors, and other officers exercising the powers of collectors, shall not, unless where specially authorized in the manner prescribed in this or some other Regulation, do any act tending to disturb possession, but shall leave the Adawlut to investigate in a regular suit all claims of persons not in possession, but deeming themselves entitled to be so.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xiii.

374. Collectors making or revising settlements shall, in cases in which any dispute may exist in regard to the nature of the tenure of any person occupying the soil, be competent to declare in an official proceeding, to be incorporated in the roobakarree of settlement, the nature and extent of the interests actually possessed by such occupant, referring to the denomination heretofore applied to him only as one means of proof in regard to the nature of the interest, but stating at length, with specification of any examination he may take for his satisfaction, the grounds of his determination; so also in cases of dispute regarding the extent of the interest belonging to any sharer in a village or villages held under putteedaree, bhyachara, or the like tenure, such sharer having actual possession of a portion of such village or villages, or being in the actual receipt as proprietor of a share of the joint profits of the land, it shall be competent to the collector to decide the point in the first instance in his roobakarree of settlement, and to enforce his decision, leaving the party who may deem himself aggrieved to seek redress by a regular suit in the Courts, to try the right; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize the Courts to interfere with the decision of the collector in regard to the amount or proportion of jumma to be assessed on any parcel of land, or in respect to the quantity and description of land to be assigned in partition to the holder of any specific share of a joint estate.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xiv., cl. 1.

375. The above rule shall not be construed to empower collectors, unless otherwise authorized, to take cognizance of any claim, to receive a larger portion of the common profits than the claimant has hitherto enjoyed, or to hold a larger portion of the village or villages than he has hitherto occupied.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xiv., cl. 2.

376. The decisions passed by the collectors under the above powers, if not altered or annulled by the Board or by Government, shall be maintained by the Courts, unless on investigation in a regular suit it shall appear that the possession held under such a decision is wrongful; and nothing herein contained shall be understood to authorize any Court to interfere with the decision of the revenue authorities relative to the jumma to be assessed on any mehaul, or portion of a mehaul, or to the extent and description of lands belonging to any mehaul that may be assigned on the partition of the same to the several parceners concerned.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xiv., cl. 3.

377. If any person shall complain to a collector, or other officer making or revising the settlement of any mehaul, that he has been wrongfully dispossessed from any lands, premises, crops, orchards, pasture-grounds, fisheries, wells, watercourses, tanks, reservoirs, or the like, within such mehaul, or of the rents, produce, or profits of such lands, premises, &c., the like as aforesaid, or that he has been wrongfully disturbed in the possession thereof, it shall be competent to the collector, or other officer aforesaid, to inquire into the matter, and if the party so complaining shall appear to have been in possession in the year preceding that in which the complaint is brought, and there shall otherwise be reason to believe that he has been violently or wrongfully dispossessed or disturbed, it shall be competent to the collector to restore or confirm him, recording the grounds of his determination in a roobakarree; and the opposite party shall in such case be left to bring a regular suit in Court to try the question of right. In like manner should a collector, or other officer as aforesaid, find that there exist in any mehaul, of which he may be making or revising the settlement, any disputes relative to the possession of lands, premises, or the like, which it may be expedient to adjust, it shall be competent to the collector, or other officer aforesaid, to pass a decision determining the point of possession, leaving the question of right, if further disputed, to be settled by the result of a regular suit in the Adawlut.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xiv., cl. 4.

378. The above provisions will be held to apply to all cases in which a zemindar or undertenant, whether farmer or ryot, having, by special deed or prescriptive title, a right of occupancy, shall have been wrongfully ousted from the occupancy of lands held and cultivated by him in the preceding year, or in which the rents and profits of any land which were received by such dispossessed party in the preceding year shall be withheld from him without a legal award, or a voluntary act of the party involving the transfer, renunciation, or relinquishment of such rents and profits. But the above rule shall not apply to any case in which the complaining party may have executed any deed purporting to be a relinquishment of possession, unless it shall have been established by some judicial proceeding that such deed was extorted by force and terror, nor to any cases wherein the complainant shall have in any way lost or relinquished possession previously to the commencement of the year preceding that in which the complaint may be preferred.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xiv., cl. 5.

379. In the settlement of any resumed mehaul held or pretended to be held under sunnuds from the ruling power, or from the aumils, or other officers of the Government, whether such lands shall have been heretofore subject to the payment of revenue or otherwise, it shall be competent to the collector or other officer making the settlement to hear, try, and determine all claims to the property and possession of the land comprising such mehaul, or the rents or produce thereof, anything in the existing Regulations notwithstanding, and subject to the orders and direction of the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, to give possession to, and conclude a settlement with, the party who may appear to have the best title, leaving other claimants to establish their claims by a regular suit in the Zillah Court, by which, according to the value of the interest at stake, all decisions passed by the revenue authorities under this paragraph may, on such suit being fully heard, sued, and determined, and not otherwise, be revised, annulled, or altered. The above rule shall not extend to lands held free of assessment under grants made by or at the request of the proprietors themselves, or their representatives, the settlement of which shall ordinarily be made with the parties in possession, if willing to engage on adequate terms.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xv.

380. It shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to grant to a collector making or revising the settlement of any mehaul, whether the same may have been held by a lakhiraj tenure resumed, or being malguzary, may have become open to resettlement in ordinary course, special authority to hear, try, and determine as above, all claims to the property and possession of the lands lying within such mehaul, or the rent or produce thereof, and to give possession to the party who may appear to have the best title, subject to the orders and direction of the Board, and further subject, as above, to the revision of the Zillah Court on a regular suit; provided also, that whenever special authority may be given to any collector as aforesaid, notice of the order of Government shall be published by a proclamation within the mehauls, to which the authority so given may extend; and it shall be the duty of the collectors and the Boards to see that such proclamation is duly made. But no decision passed by a collector under this or any other rule whereby such notification is required, shall be disturbed by any Court of Judicature, otherwise than after a full and regular investigation of merits on the plea that proclamation was not made.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xvi.

381. It shall be competent to collectors and other officers engaged in making or revising the settlement of any pergunnah, mouzah, or other local division, on the application of persons claiming a right of property in lands held free of assessment, or at a mocurruree jumma, under unquestioned grants from the ruling power, or from the aumils, or other officers of Government, and situate within or adjoining to such pergunnah, mouzah, or other local division, to receive, try, and determine the claim; and if satisfied that the applicants do possess, or are entitled to possess, a hereditary and transferable property in the land, or the produce or rent thereof, the collector or other officer, with the sanction of Government previously obtained, shall be authorized to conclude a settlement with them on behalf of the lakhirajdar or mocurrureedar, for such period as the Governor-General in Council may direct, and shall grant to each of the said proprietors pottahs, defining the conditions on which they are to hold their lands, subordinate to the lakhirajdar or mocurrureedar. It shall further be competent to the collector, under the orders of the Board of Revenue, to fix and declare the amount of malikana, or other proprietary allowance, to be paid by such lakhirajdars or mocurrureedars to the said proprietors, in the event of their being divested of the occupancy and management of their lands: provided, however, that either party who may be dissatisfied with the decision of the collector as to the question of the right of property, shall be at liberty to contest the same in a regular suit in the Adawlut; but the Court shall not interfere to alter the terms on which the settlement may have been made by the collector with proprietors, or the amount of malikana granted to such persons.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xvii.

382. The collector shall in cases of doubt be the judge of the question of jurisdiction, subject to the orders of the Board and of Government, and the Courts of Judicature shall not disturb possession given by the collector, except on a regular suit, and on a decision as to the right.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xviii.

383. It shall be competent to collectors when prosecuting the above inquiries, or hearing and trying the above suits or otherwise, when authorized in that behalf by the Board to which they may be subordinate, to require all sudder malguzars, and other persons owning, occupying, managing, or cultivating any lands within or in the vicinity of the mehaul to which their inquiries may extend, or gathering or disposing of the produce thereof, or collecting, enjoying, or appropriating any rent or revenue, derived therefrom, as well as the gomashtahs, or other agents employed by such persons in the management or cultivation of the land, or in the collection of the rent, produce, or revenue thereof, to attend and produce all accounts or other papers which they may respectively possess relative to such lands, produce, rent, or revenue, and to examine the said persons on oath, or hulufnamah, to the truth of the accounts produced, or on any other matter relating to such accounts, or regarding the lands, produce, rent, or revenue of the mehaul, or the rights and interests attaching to such lands, produce, rent, or revenue; provided, however, that no person shall be compelled to answer on oath or solemn declaration any interrogation regarding matters wherein he may have an immediate personal interest in concealing the truth, or in uttering what is false, not being an interest arising out of fear, favour, or reward, or any corrupt bargain or agreement with another party.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xix., cl. 1.

NOTE.—See Act XX., 1848, in respect of the Lower Provinces.

384. The rules contained in Sectoin XI., Regulation II., 1819, relative to the mode of serving process on persons who may be required to attend and produce accounts under the provisions of that Regulation shall be and be held applicable to processes issued by collectors or other officers under the rules contained in this Regulation. In like manner, the provisions of Section XII., of the said Regulation shall be applicable to all putwarries, gomashtahs, or other persons, by whom the accounts of any lands, regarding which the said inquiries may have been instituted, may be kept, and who, after being duly summoned as aforesaid, may neglect or omit to produce any of the accounts required from them, or to give their evidence regarding them, or who may deliberately give a false deposition on oath, or solemn declaration, when summoned and examined as aforesaid, or who may alter, fabricate, falsify, or mutilate the accounts which they may be required to produce; provided further, that collectors and other officers employed in the settlement of the land revenue, or in any of the inquiries specified in this Regulation, shall be vested with all the powers and authority which are or may be lawfully exercised by collectors in cases depending before them under Regulation II., 1819, and the rules contained in Clause third, Sections XIII., XIV., and XIX., of the said Regulation, shall be and be held applicable to all persons who may be summoned by any collector or other officer aforesaid, or who may resist the process of a collector issued under the rules of this Regulation, or who may refuse to take an oath, or subscribe a solemn declaration when required, or who may deliberately give a false deposition on oath, or under a solemn declaration taken instead of an oath, or may cause or procure another to do so.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xix., cl. 2.

385. To prevent doubts as to the period for which collectors and other officers aforesaid are to possess the powers vested in them by these rules, in regard to any mehauls of which the settlement may have been, or may be about to be made or revised, it is hereby declared and enacted, that they shall be held and considered to be engaged in making and revising such settlement, from the date on which they have issued or may issue orders for adjusting the boundaries, for measuring any of the lands, or for making a census of the inhabitants of any village or portion of a village belonging to such mehaul, of which intimation shall be given to the magistrate or joint magistrate within whose division the village shall be situated, up to the day on which they may be informed that the settlement, as made and revised by them, has been finally confirmed by Government.—Reg. IV., 1828, sec. ii., cl. 4.

NOTE.—For the general rules upon this subject, see "REALIZATION OF RENT."

386. The powers specified in paragraphs 370 to 372, 374 to 378, and 380 to 384, shall be ordinarily exercised by collectors when employed in making or revising settlements of the land revenue, and shall extend to all the lands comprised in the pergunnah in which he may be so employed; but it shall be competent to the Government, by an order in council to be publicly proclaimed in the district, to restrict the authority of collectors and other officers making settlements in such manner, and to such extent, as he may, from time to time, judge expedient. In like manner, it shall be competent to Government to vest such collectors as may from time to time be judged fit, with a special authority to receive, try, and determine in the first instance, subject to a regular suit in the Adawlut as above provided, all or any of the questions of the nature specified in the aforesaid paragraphs, though the said collectors may not be engaged in making or revising a settlement of the land revenue, and to vest in such of the collectors as may be thought proper, authority (either generally, or within such limits as may be from time to time determined) to receive, try, and determine by summary process all suits for rent which may be preferred by zemindars, talookdars, or other sudder malguzars or farmers of land, or by any person in their behalf, against any dependent talookdar, zemindar, under-renter, ryot, or other under-tenant of whatever denomination, as well as all applications by ryots and the under-tenants contesting the demand of a sudder malguzar or farmer; and all complaints preferred by ryots or other under-tenants of whatever description, against landholders or farmers of land, or their respective agents or representatives, on account of excessive demand or undue exaction of rent, whether levied by distraint or otherwise, as well as all suits relative to the adjustment of accounts between landholders and farmers of land or under-tenants of whatever description, with their sureties, or with any agents or persons employed by them in the management of land, or the collection or payment of the rent of land, and to all other matters immediately connected with the demand, receipt, or payment of the rent of land, whether malguzary or lakhiraj, or with the rent of orchards, pasture grounds, and fisheries, commonly denominated phulkur, bunkur, and julkur, or with any other asset of the land revenue, not included in the sayer abolished, together with all complaints of the non-delivery of pottahs when demandable under the Regulations, or complaints of the prescribed receipts not being given for actual payment of rent, and, generally, complaints of any deviation from the Regulations, or from the established usage of the country relative to the matters aforesaid, or any violation of subsisting engagements in disputes respecting the rent and occupancy of land, between landholders or farmers of land and their under-tenants of whatever denomination.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xx., cl. 1.

387. The appointment of the collector to the discharge of the above duties, and the extent of the jurisdiction to be assigned to him, shall be notified by proclamation in the district, after such manner as the Governor-General in Council may direct; and after the publication of such notice all summary suits, actions, applications, and complaints of the above nature, and referring to lands or the rents, produce, or accessions of land lying within the jurisdiction assigned to the collector as above, which may be preferred in the Zillah or City Adawlut by any sudder malguzar, zemindar, talookdar, farmer, ryot, or other proprietor or under-tenant of land, shall, immediately on being received, be referred for trial to the collector, to whom also all such summary suits depending at the time shall be transferred; provided also, that in such cases, parties having suits or complaints to prefer, of which the cognizance may be vested as above in the collector, shall be at liberty to prefer them to that officer in the first instance. It shall in like manner be competent to the Governor-General to fix, by an order in Council the period at which the special powers given as above to a collector, and the authority to be ordinarily exercised by those officers on the occasion of making settlements, shall cease and determine.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xx., cl. 2.

388. No complaint or application of the nature specified in the preceding rules shall be received by a collector under the rules of this Regulation, unless the plaint or application shall have been preferred within the period of one year after the cause of action shall have arisen.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xx., cl. 3.

389. It shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to vest any collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, within the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares, with the several powers specified in paragraphs 386, 387, and 388, in the manner specified in paragraph 387, within such local limits as may, from time to time, appear to be advisable; and the several provisions contained in the following paragraphs shall apply to the several pergunnahs or other local divisions so placed under the jurisdiction of the collector, or other officer aforesaid.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. iii.

390. In summary suits for rents and the like, wherein special rules have been prescribed for regulating the process of the Courts, the collectors shall be guided by the same rules, and shall exercise the same powers and authority as are or may be lawfully exercised by the zillah and city judges. In other cases falling under their cognizance, according to the provisions of this Regulation, the ordinary process for securing the attendance of the defendant or party otherwise impleaded shall be to issue a notice reciting the matter and requiring the defendant or other party to attend in person, or by representative, at such time and place as may be made choice of by the collector for conducting the investigation; should any party fail to attend after being served with a notice of the above description, or should the return of the nazir or person employed to serve the notice be, that after diligent search the party or parties cannot be found, proclamation shall be made in writing, to be stuck up at or near the ordinary residence of the party, stating that after fifteen days from the date of publishing the same the case will be liable to be brought up for trial and judgment; and any party implicated, who having been served with the notice above described shall fail to attend, or who shall continue to absent himself, will be as much bound by the judgment that may be passed as if he or they had been in attendance to plead.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxi.

391. Sections XVIII. and XIX., Regulation VIII., 1819, are hereby extended to all the provinces immediately subject to the presidency of Fort William, and the provisions of the said sections shall be applicable to the proceedings of collectors held under this Regulation; provided, however, that whenever it shall be desired to apprehend a defaulter residing out of the jurisdiction of the collector, by whom the suit relative to the alleged arrear may be cognizable, the process of arrest shall be served through the judge of the district where the alleged defaulter may reside.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxii.

392. It is hereby declared and enacted, that in so far as concerns the summoning and examination of witnesses, the penalties for false testimony, for resistance of process, contempts, and all other similar matters connected with cases under cognizance before the collectors of land revenue, or other officer, by virtue of the powers vested in them by this Regulation, or any other Regulation whereby collectors are vested with judicial powers, their cutcherry or office for the time being shall be deemed and held to be a Court of Civil Judicature.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxiii., cl. 1.

393. Provided also, that the regular suits which may be brought to contest decisions passed by collectors, under the powers vested in them by paragraphs 370, 371, 372, and 374 to 388, shall be of the nature of an appeal to Court in its regular jurisdiction from a summary award. It shall not therefore be necessary for the collector or other officer of Government to be a party in the action.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxiii., cl. 2.

394. Collectors of the land revenue are hereby empowered to execute all awards made by them under the rules of this Regulation in cases wherein a specific sum of money shall be adjudged to be due, or any costs or damages be awarded; the collector decreeing the same shall proceed to levy the amount for the party in whose favour it may be adjudged, by the process in use for the recovery of arrears of the Government revenue. In cases of summary awards for arrears of rent, the collector shall have the power of selling the lands on which the arrear has accrued; but he shall not in any other cases sell any lands, houses, or other real property, in satisfaction of any judgment passed in favour of any individual, on a summary inquiry. In cases wherein possession of lands, houses, watercourses, or the like, may be adjudged, it may and shall be lawful for the collector making the award to deliver over possession in the same manner, and with the same powers in regard to all contempts, resistance, and the like, as are or may be lawfully exercised by the Courts in giving possession to an auction purchaser; and the Zillah or City Adawlut shall support the collectors in the exercise of the above power, and shall give effect to any orders passed by them in pursuance of it, in the like manner as if the same had been passed by themselves. Collectors are further hereby empowered to place one or more peons, mirdahs, suwars, or the like, to aid in the maintenance of possession for the party to whom it may be awarded, in case of his deeming such a measure necessary or expedient.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxiii., cl. 3.; Act VIII., 1835, sec. i.

395. It shall and may be lawful for a collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, preparatory to making or revising a settlement as aforesaid, to depute any tehseeldar, canoongoe, aumeen, or other fixed or temporary officer, to any village or mehaul, whether the same be managed by a zemindar or farmer, or be held khas, to inquire into the various matters which such collector or other officer is required or empowered to investigate, in order to form a settlement in the mode prescribed by this Regulation. Any such native officer so deputed as above shall be deemed to be vested with the power of summoning and examining putwarries, gomashtahs, or other persons by whom the accounts of the village or mehaul may be kept, in the same manner and with the same powers as is provided for officers deputed under Section XXV., Regulation XII., 1817. Furthermore, in case the collector or other officer may so prescribe, the said tehseeldar, or other person, shall be empowered to make a measurement of the village or mehaul into which they may be deputed, and to summon any mocuddums, purdhans, ryots, or other residents, and to call upon them to point out the boundaries of such village or mehaul, and to furnish information as to all matters relating to the land, and the rights and interests attaching thereto; and any person contumaciously withholding information from an officer deputed as aforesaid, shall be liable, on the same being established to the collector's satisfaction, to the same penalty as is prescribed for putwarries refusing to attend or give evidence.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxiv., cl. 1.

396. Provided also, that any person who may by force or threats obstruct or resist the execution of any legal process, requisition, or order of a collector or other revenue officer, shall, in addition to the penalties prescribed by the existing Regulations for such act, be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, or to imprisonment in the Dewanny jail for a period not exceeding two months; the said fine or other penalty to be adjudged by the collector, after proceeding duly held and recorded, and the sentence to be immediately reported to the Board to which he may be subject.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxiv., cl. 2.

397. Provided further, that all police-officers shall aid and support the execution of all process and orders issued by a collector, or other officer aforesaid, on the responsibility of the officer issuing or executing the same; and if any affray or breach of the peace shall occur in consequence of any resistance or obstruction being made, or attempted to be made, to the legal process or order of a collector or other revenue officer, the parties resisting or obstructing such process or order shall be punishable for the affray or breach of the peace, and the revenue officers shall not be liable to any criminal prosecution on that account.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxiv., cl. 3.

398. It shall be competent to the parties in all suits, the cognizance of which is hereby vested in the collectors of revenue, to employ any agent, vakeel, or representative, whom they may think proper to appoint, to act and plead in their behalves, provided such agent, vakeel, or representative, be duly empowered by the parties. The rate of remuneration to such agent or vakeel shall be left to be adjusted between himself and his constituent; but no greater sum shall be awarded on this account for costs payable by the party against whom the judgment may be passed, than what may be deemed by the collector a fair equivalent for the attendance of such agent.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxv.

399. No other pleadings shall be required from the parties in such suits than a plaint and answer; provided, that if the parties should at any time wish to file an amended plaint or an amended answer, or any explanatory motion, such subsidiary pleadings shall be received.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxvi.

400. The mookhtarnamas or vakalutnamas, and the pleadings and final decree in such suits, shall be written on stamped paper of the value of eight annas, whatever may be the amount of the suit; and no fees shall be taken on exhibits tendered in the cause, or for the witnesses required by the parties; nor shall it be necessary for the parties to present a written motion on stamped paper for the filing of such exhibits, or for the summoning of such witnesses.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxvii.

401. It shall be competent to the collectors to hear and determine such suits in whatever part of the district they may occasionally be or reside, provided that every hearing and decision be in public cutcherry, or in some other place open to the public, and in the presence of the parties, or of their constituted agents or vakeels, if in attendance.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxviii.

Appeals to the Board of Revenue.

402. The decisions of the collectors on all such suits shall be appealable to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board. The petition of appeal shall be presented either to the collector or to the Board, at the option of the party, and shall be written on stamped paper of the value of two rupees; but no petition of appeal shall be received after the expiration of three months from the date of the decision, unless sufficient cause shall be shown for the delay to the satisfaction of the Board; provided also, that the Board shall not be required in ordinary cases to go into a regular investigation of the merits, but shall be authorized to dismiss the appeal without further investigation, in all cases in which, on a consideration of the final roobakarree of the collector, they may not see ground to consider the decision of that officer to be unjust, erroneous, or doubtful, or his proceedings in the case irregular or imperfect; provided also, that in all cases in which the collector may dismiss the suit for non-attendance, or on some other ground of default, without an investigation of the merits of the case, it shall be competent to the Board to direct a new trial, and in cases in which he may neglect or delay the investigation or decision of a suit without sufficient cause, it shall be competent to the Board to interfere, and to cause the collector to proceed upon the inquiry into and determination of it.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxix., cl. 1.

403. No pleadings, except the petition of appeal, shall be required in such appeals, nor shall any fees be taken by the Board on the exhibits originally filed, or on any further documents which the Board may think it necessary to call for.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxix., cl. 2.

404. If the parties choose to employ in the pleading of such appeals the same agents or vakeels who were previously employed by them in the original suit, no further mookhtarnamah or vakalutnamah shall be required of them.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxix., cl. 3.

405. The respondent shall receive notice of the appeal, but shall not be compelled to appear in person, or by vakeel, and the appeal shall be decided on the merits of the case, notwithstanding his absence, in the same manner as if he had attended.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxix., cl. 4.

406. The decision of the Board shall be final in as far as concerns the result of the summary inquiry of the collector, and shall be rendered in a Persian roobakarree, written on stamped paper of the value of two rupees.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxix., cl. 5.

Regular Suits in Civil Courts to try the Merits of Collectors' Decisions.

407. Any person, however dissatisfied with the summary judgment of the collector or the Board, and desirous of a more full and formal decision, shall be at liberty to prefer a regular suit to try the merits of the case in the Zillah or other similar or superior Court in which it may be cognizable. In such cases the summary judgment of the collector, if not reversed or stayed by the Board, shall be carried into effect, notwithstanding the institution of the regular suit.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxix., cl. 6.

408. All persons having claims or complaints to prefer of the nature of those made cognizable by collectors under the provisions of this Regulation, and not wishing to avail themselves of the summary process authorized in that Court, shall be at liberty to institute their claims or complaints in the first instance, by a regular suit before the local moonsiff, or in the Zillah or City Adawlut, according as the suit may be cognizable in these Courts respectively, under the general Regulations for the administration of civil justice.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxx.

409. Whenever a regular suit may be instituted in a Civil Court, with a view to set aside or alter a summary judgment passed by a collector, the proceedings held on the summary inquiry shall be called for by precept from the Court, and filed on the record of the case.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxi., cl. 1.

410. Such suits shall be cognizable or referable according to their amount to principal sudder aumeens, sudder aumeens, and moonsiffs. All sudder aumeens and moonsiffs shall, in cases tried by them, be held and bound by the decisions passed, and records prepared, by collectors or other revenue officers under the provisions of this Regulation, unless the same shall have been rescinded or altered by the Board, or by the Zillah, or other similar or superior Court on a regular suit.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxi., cl. 2; Act XXV., 1837, sec. ii.

411. No suit shall be entertained in any Court for contesting the justice of any award made before the passing of this Act (10th June, 1848) by the revenue authorities under any of the preceding rules, after the expiration of twelve years from the date of the final award.—Act XIII., 1848, sec. i.

412. After the expiration of three years from the passing of this Act, no such suit shall be entertained for contesting the justice of any such award made before the passing of this Act.—Act XIII., 1848, sec. ii.

413. No such suit shall be entertained for contesting the justice of any such award made after the passing of this Act, after the expiration of three years from the date of the final award.—Act XIII., 1848, sec. iii.

414. The collectors shall transmit to the Boards such periodical reports of the causes decided by or depending before them as the Boards may direct; and the Boards will also furnish to Government such abstracts of those reports, and such reports in the cases received and determined by them in appeal, as the Governor-General in Council shall from time to time require.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxii.

Reference to Arbitration.

415. It shall be competent to collectors, or other officers exercising the powers of collectors, to refer to arbitration any disputes cognizable by them under the provisions of this Regulation, as well as any questions or disputes of any kind respecting land or the tenures therein, or the rights dependent thereon that may come before them, provided the parties consent to that mode of adjustment; and, on award being made, to cause the same to be executed. In referring cases to arbitration under the above provision, and in their general proceedings relative to such suits, the collector shall be guided by the rules contained in Regulation XVI., 1793, and the other corresponding enactments, and in Regulation VI., 1813, in so far as the same may be applicable, and shall be competent to vest in the arbitrators the same powers and authority in regard to the summoning and examination of witnesses, and the administration of oaths and affirmations, and to enforce the orders passed by the arbitrators under such powers in the same manner as the Courts of Judicature are empowered to do; and all awards made on such references shall, when confirmed by the collector, have the same force and validity as a regular decree of the Adawlut, and shall not be liable to be reversed or altered, unless the award shall be open to impeachment on the ground of corruption, or gross partiality, or shall extend beyond the authority given by the submission of the parties, and such ground of impeachment shall be established in a regular suit in the zillah, city, or other superior Court wherein the case may be cognizable.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxiii., cl. 1.

416. In referring any dispute to arbitration, the collector shall be careful to specify in his proceedings, and in the deed of arbitration to be executed by the parties, the precise matter submitted to the arbitrators, and if the award first made by the arbitrators shall not include all the points submitted to them, or shall be otherwise incomplete, it shall be competent to the collector again to refer the matter to them, with directions to perfect their award.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxiii., cl. 2.

417. The pergunnah canoongoes and tehseeldars may be appointed arbitrators in any case referred to arbitration under the above rules; anything in the existing Regulations notwithstanding.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxiii., cl. 3.

418. Whenever any judicial question may be depending before a collector or other officer employed in making settlements under the foregoing provisions, in which the interests of justice may, in the opinion of such officer, require that the case be decided by arbitration, it shall be lawful for him to fix, under the instructions with which he may be furnished by the superior revenue authorities, a period within which the parties must produce the award.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. v.

419. In that case, if the parties shall refuse or neglect to produce such award within the term limited, it shall be lawful for the collector or other officer to summon a punchayet, to be composed of three or five impartial and otherwise competent persons, of good repute, for the trial of the matter at issue.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. vi.

420. After duly considering the statements and evidence offered by the parties, or in case of the default or recusance of either, the statements and evidence produced by the party in attendance, the punchayet shall declare their opinions, and judgment shall be recorded according to the sentence of the majority. The superior revenue authorities will from time to time issue such rules of practice for the guidance of the officers employed on this duty, or the punchayets, as they may consider necessary.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. vii.

421. No appeal shall be allowed from such decisions which shall be immediately executed and maintained, unless the commissioner, subject to the control of the Sudder Board of Revenue, should think proper, for any special reason, to direct that the case shall be submitted to another punchayet for decision.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. viii.

422. Any suit brought before any Court of justice to set aside a decision made in conformity with the above rules shall be nonsuited with costs.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. ix.

423. In like manner, any suit brought before any Court of justice against the arbitrators, collectively or individually, appointed in conformity with the rules prescribed, to recover from them the value of the property lost by the decision founded on their award, shall be nonsuited with costs.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. x.

Powers of Collectors to settle Disputed Possession.

424. When a collector, or other officer exercising any of the powers vested in collectors by the rules of this Regulation, relative to complaints of dispossession, or disturbance of the possession of lands or premises, shall learn, either by a reference from the magistrate, or by a report from any other public officer or otherwise, that any disputes exist within the tract placed under his jurisdiction, relative to any lands, premises, crops, orchards, pasture-grounds, fisheries, wells, watercourses, tanks, reservoirs, or the like, likely to terminate in the breach of the peace, it shall and may be lawful for the collector, or other officer aforesaid, to require the contending parties to attend in person or by representative, at a stated time and place, and after investigating the case in the presence of the parties, or their representatives, or such of them as may attend, or referring it to arbitration as above prescribed, to decide the case in the same manner as if it had been brought before him by the complaint of one of the parties; provided also, that if the fact of previous lawful possession cannot be ascertained, it shall be competent to the collector, subject to the orders and direction of the Board, to decide on the question of right, and to give possession to one of the contending parties, leaving the other party to contest the decision by a regular suit in court; but no such decision shall be passed by any collector until he shall have instituted a careful inquiry into the fact of possession, and the Board shall be careful to see that this restriction is observed; provided further, that in such cases it shall be competent to the collector to attach the disputed lands, premises, &c., as aforesaid, and to appoint an officer to the management of the same, retaining in deposit the rents and produce, or such portion thereof as may remain after discharging any public revenue demandable therefrom, with the charges of management, until one of the contending parties shall be placed in possession.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxiv., cl. 1.

425. During the period that collectors or other officers may be engaged in making or revising settlements, the powers vested in magistrates or joint magistrates in cases of forcible dispossession or disturbance in the possession of land or other property, shall be suspended, and they shall be guided, in respect to such mehauls, by the provisions of the following paragraph.—Reg. IV., 1828, sec. ii., cl. 4.

426. Whenever any magistrates or joint magistrates shall have before them any suit, complaint, or information relative to any dispute regarding lands, premises, crops, watercourses, or the like, which may appear likely to terminate in a breach of the peace, or which it may otherwise be desirable to bring to an immediate decision, it shall be the duty of such magistrate or joint magistrate, in cases in which the collector shall be vested with the cognizance of such actions, to certify the case to that officer, and the collector will then forthwith proceed to investigate and determine the case under the rules above prescribed: provided also, that in all cases of forcible dispossession, or forcible disturbance of possession, the collector shall invariably transmit to the magistrate or joint magistrate a copy of the first proceeding held by him in the case, and also a copy of the roobakarree containing his final award. All police-officers are required to give immediate and efficient support to collectors and other revenue officers in the execution of their duties.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxiv., cl. 2; and Reg. IV., 1828, sec. ii., cl. 4.

427. The collector shall in all such cases use every proper means for inducing the parties to refer their disputes to arbitration, in like manner as the Dewanny Courts are directed to do.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxiv., cl. 3.

Construction of Certain Terms.

428. Whenever the term "Board of Revenue," or "Board of Commissioners," may occur in this or any other Regulation, the same shall be held and considered to apply to any Board, committee, or commission, and to any member of such Board, committee, or commission, that may be vested by the Governor-General in Council with the powers and authority of the Board of Revenue, save and except in so far as may be otherwise specially declared and provided. In like manner, all rules in this or any other Regulation, whereby any duties or powers may be prescribed for, or vested in collectors, shall be held and considered to be equally applicable to any officer exercising the authority of collector under the orders, or with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxv.

LAND REVENUE.

REALIZATION OF REVENUE.

SALE.

1. If the whole or a portion of a kist or instalment of any month of the era, according to which the settlement and kistbundy of any mehaul have been regulated, be unpaid on the first of the following month of such era, the sum so remaining unpaid shall be considered an arrear of revenue.—Act I., 1845, sec. ii.

2. Arrears of tuccavy, or any money advanced by Government to proprietors or farmers of land, for making or repairing embankments, reservoirs, or water-courses, or other improvements to their estates or farms, are to be recovered by the same process as is prescribed for exacting payment of arrears of revenue, and under the same rules and restrictions, as far as they may be applicable. —Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xl.; Reg. III., 1794, sec. viii.

3. There shall be no demand of interest or penalty upon any arrear of land revenue.—Act XII., 1841, sec. ii.

4. Upon the promulgation of this Act, the Sudder Board of Revenue at Calcutta shall determine upon what dates all arrears of revenue and all demands, which by the Regulations and Acts in force are directed to be realized in the same manner as arrears of revenue, shall be paid up in each permanently settled district or zillah under their jurisdiction, in default of which payment the estates in arrear in those districts, except as hereinafter provided, shall be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder. And the said Board shall give notice of the dates so fixed in the official Gazettes, and shall direct corresponding publication to be made, as far as regards each district, in the language of that district, in the office of the collector or deputy collector, or other officer duly authorized to hold sales under this Act, in the Courts of the judge, magistrate (or joint magistrate, as the case may be), principal sudder aumeens, sudder aumeens, and moonsiffs, and at every thanna station of that district; and the dates so fixed shall not be changed except by the said Board by advertisement and notifications, in the manner above described, to be issued at least three months before the close of the official year preceding that in which the new date is, or dates are, to take effect.—Act I., 1845, sec. iii.

5. In districts not permanently settled, and in the province of Benares, no sale shall take place for arrears of land revenue or other demands of Government without the special sanction of the Sudder Board of Revenue previously obtained in each several case of sale. Provided that the said Board, at the time of authorizing such sale, shall fix the latest day on which in each case such arrears or demands shall be received.—Act I., 1845, sec. iv.

6. Provided always, that no estates shall be sold for the recovery of arrears or demands, of the descriptions mentioned below, otherwise than after a notification in the language of the district, specifying the nature and amount of the arrear or demand, and the latest date on which payment thereof shall be received, shall have been affixed for a period of not less than fifteen clear days preceding the date fixed for payment, according to paragraphs 4 and 5, as the case may be, in the office of the collector or other officer duly authorized to hold sales under this Act in the Court of the judge within whose jurisdiction the land advertised lies, in the Courts of the principal sudder aumeens and sudder aumeens of the district, and in the moonsiff's Court and police thanna of the division in which the estate to which the notification relates, or a part of it, is situated, the same to be certified by the receipt of the officer at whose office such notification may have been affixed, and also at the cutcherry of the malguzar of the estate, or at some conspicuous place upon the estate, the same to be certified by the peon or other person employed for the purpose.

First. Arrears due from estates in the province of Benares.

Secondly. Arrears due from estates not permanently settled.

Thirdly. Arrears other than those of the current or of the preceding year.

Fourthly. Arrears due on account of estates other than that to be sold.

Fifthly. Arrears of estates under attachment by order of any judicial authority.

Sixthly. Arrears due on account of tuccavee, poolbundee, or other demands not being land revenue, but recoverable by the same process as arrears of land revenue.—Act I., 1845, sec. v.

7. The collector or other officer duly authorized to hold sales under this Act shall, as soon as possible after the latest day of payment fixed in the manner prescribed in paragraphs 4 and 5, issue notifications in the language of the district, to be affixed in his own office and in the Court of the judge of the district, and to be published in the official Gazettes, specifying the estate or estates which will be sold as aforesaid, and the day on which the sale of the same will commence, which day shall not be less than fifteen or more than thirty clear days from the date of affixing the notification in the office of the collector or other officer as aforesaid. And except as hereinafter provided, all estates, so specified, shall, on the day notified for sale, or on the day or days following, be put up to public auction by and in the presence of the collector or other officer as aforesaid, and shall be sold to the highest bidder. And no payment or tender of payment made subsequent to sunset of the said latest day of payment, shall bar or interfere with the sale, either at the time of sale or after its conclusion.—Act I., 1845, sec. vi.

8. Whenever an estate is notified for sale as provided by the preceding paragraph, the collector or other officer as aforesaid shall affix a proclamation, in the language of the district, in his own office, and as soon thereafter as may be in the moonsiff's Courts and police thannas within which the estate, or any part of it, is situated, and also at the cutcherry of the malguzar of the estate, or at some conspicuous place upon the estate, forbidding the ryots and under-tenants to pay rent to the defaulting proprietor or proprietors from the date of the day after that fixed for the last day of payment, on pain of not being entitled to credit in their accounts with the purchaser for any sums paid after the date aforesaid.—Act I., 1845, sec. vii.

9. No claim to abatement or remission of revenue, unless the same shall have been allowed by the authority of Government, nor any private demand or cause of action whatever held or supposed to be held by any defaulter against Government, shall bar a sale, or render a sale under this Act void or voidable; nor shall the plea that money belonging to the defaulter, and sufficient to pay the balance or part of it, was in the collector's hands, bar a sale, or render a sale under this Act void or voidable, unless such money stand in the defaulter's name alone and without dispute, and unless, after application in due time made by the defaulter, the collector shall have neglected or refused, on insufficient grounds, to transfer it to the credit of the estate.—Act I., 1845, sec. viii.

10. Collectors shall, at any time before sunset of the latest day of payment, receive as a deposit from any party not being a proprietor of the estate in arrear, the amount of the arrear of revenue due from it, to be carried to the credit of the said estate at sunset as aforesaid, unless before that time the arrear shall have been liquidated by a proprietor of the estate. And in case the party so depositing, whose money shall have been credited to the estate in the manner aforesaid, shall be a plaintiff in a suit pending before a court of justice for the possession of the same or any part thereof, it shall be competent to the judge of the zillah in which such estate is situated, to order the said party to be put into temporary possession of the said estate, subject to the rules in force for taking security in the case of appellants and defendants. And if the party depositing, whose money shall have been credited as aforesaid, shall prove before a competent Civil Court that the deposit was made in order to protect an interest of the said party, which would have been endangered, or damaged, by the sale of the estate, he shall be entitled to recover the amount of the deposit with interest, from the proprietors of the said estate.—Act I., 1845, sec. ix.

11. No estate shall be liable to sale for the recovery of arrears which have accrued during the period of its being under the management of the Court of Wards, and no estate, the sole property of a minor or minors, and descended to him or them by the regular course of inheritance duly notified to the collector for the information of the Court of Wards, but of which the Court of Wards has not assumed the management under Regulation VI., 1822, shall be sold for arrears of revenue accruing subsequently to his or their succession to the same, until the minor or minors, or one of them, shall have attained the full age of eighteen years. And no estate held under attachment by the revenue authorities, otherwise than by order of judicial authority, shall be liable to sale for arrears accruing whilst it was so held under attachment; and no estate held under attachment by a revenue officer, in pursuance of an order of judicial authority, shall be liable to sale for the recovery of arrears of revenue accruing during the period of such attachment, until after the end of the year in which such arrears accrued.—Act I., 1845, sec. x.

12. It shall be competent to the collector, at any time before the sale of an estate shall have commenced, to exempt such estate from sale; and in like manner it shall be competent to the commissioner of revenue, at any time before the sale of an estate shall have commenced, to exempt such estate from sale by a special order to the collector to that effect in each case; and no sale of an estate shall be legal if held after the receipt of an order of exemption in respect to such estate. Provided, however, that the collector or commissioner shall duly record in a proceeding the reason for granting such exemption; and provided also, that an order for exemption so issued by the commissioner shall not affect the legality of a sale which may have taken place before the receipt by the collector of the order for exempting it from sale.—Act I., 1845, sec. xi.

13. Sales shall ordinarily be made by the collector or other officer duly authorized by Government in that behalf in the land revenue cutcherry at the sudder station of the district; provided, however, that it shall be competent to the Sudder Board to prescribe a place for holding sales other than such cutcherry, whenever they shall consider it beneficial to the parties concerned.—Act I., 1845, sec. xii.

14. In case the collector, or other officer as aforesaid, shall be unable from sickness, from the occurrence of a holiday, or from any other cause, to commence the sale on the day of sale fixed as aforesaid, or if, having commenced it, he be unable, from any cause, to complete it, he shall be competent to adjourn it to the next day following, not being Sunday or other close holiday, recording his reasons for such adjournment, forwarding a copy of such record to the commissioner of revenue, and announcing the adjournment by a written proclamation stuck up in his cutcherry, and so on, from day to day, until he shall be able to commence upon, or to complete the sale; but with the exception of adjournment so made, recorded, and reported, each sale shall invariably be made on the day of sale fixed in the manner aforesaid.—Act I., 1845, sec. xiii.

15. That on the day of sale fixed according to paragraph 7, sales shall proceed in regular order; the estate to be sold bearing the lowest number on the towjee or registers in use in the collector's office of the district being put up first, and so on, in regular sequence; and it shall not be lawful for the collector or other officer as aforesaid to put up any estate out of its regular order by number, except where it may be necessary to do so on default of deposit, as provided in the following paragraph.—Act I., 1845, sec. xiv.

16. The party who shall be declared the purchaser of an estate at any such public sale as aforesaid, shall be required to deposit immediately, or as soon after the conclusion of the sale of the estate as the collector may think necessary, either in cash, Bank of Bengal notes, or post bills, or Government securities duly indorsed, twenty-five per cent. on the amount of his bid; and in default of such deposit, the estate shall forthwith be put up again and sold.—Act I., 1845, sec. xv.

17. The full amount of purchase-money shall be made good by the purchaser before sunset of the thirtieth day from that on which the sale of the estate bought by him took place, reckoning that day as one of the thirty; or if the thirtieth day be a Sunday, or other close holiday, then on the first office day after the thirtieth: and in default of payment within the prescribed period as aforesaid, then and afterwards, as often as such default shall occur, the deposit shall be forfeited to Government, the estate shall be re-sold, and the defaulting purchaser shall forfeit all claim to the estate, or to any part of the sum for which it may subsequently be sold; and in the event of the proceeds of the sale which may be eventually consummated being less than the price bid by the defaulting bidder aforesaid, the difference shall be leviable from him by any process authorized for realizing an arrear of public revenue, and it shall be so levied and credited to the defaulting proprietor of the estate sold; and if default of payment of purchase-money shall have occurred more than once, the defaulting bidders shall be held jointly and severally responsible for such difference to the extent of the amount of their respective bids. Provided always, that every such re-sale shall be made after notification and in the forms prescribed by paragraph 7; and that such notification shall not be issued until the expiration of three clear days after the day on which the default shall have occurred. Provided also, that payment, or tender of payment, by or on behalf of the proprietor of the arrear for which the estate was first sold, and of the arrear which may have subsequently become due, if such payment, or tender of payment, be made before sunset of the day preceding the day of the notification of re-sale, and after the defaulting purchaser shall have made the deposit required by the preceding paragraph, shall bar such re-sale.—Act I., 1845, sec. xvi.

18. It shall be lawful for the commissioner of revenue to receive an appeal against any sale made under this Act, if preferred to him on or before the fifteenth day from the date of sale, reckoning as in the preceding paragraph; or if preferred to the collector for transmission to the commissioner, on or before the tenth day from the day of sale, and not otherwise; and the commissioner shall be competent, in every case of appeal so preferred, to annul any sale of an estate made under this Act, which shall appear to him not to have been conducted according to the provisions of this Act, awarding, at the same time, to the purchaser a payment from the proprietor of any moderate compensation for his loss, if the sale shall have been occasioned by neglect of the proprietor, such compensation not to exceed interest, at the current rate of Government securities, on the amount of deposit or balance of purchase-money during the period of its being retained in the collector's office; and the order of the commissioner shall, in such cases, be final.—Act I., 1845, sec. xvii.

19. It shall be competent to the commissioner of revenue, on the ground of hardship or injustice, to suspend the passing of final orders in any case of appeal from a sale, and to represent the case to the Sudder Board of Revenue, who, if they see cause, may recommend to the local Government to annul the sale; and the local Government in any such case may annul the sale, and cause the estate to be restored to the proprietor on such conditions as may appear equitable and proper.—Act I., 1845, sec. xviii.

20. All sales of which the purchase-money has been paid up as prescribed in paragraph 17, and against which no appeal shall have been preferred, shall be final and conclusive at noon of the thirtieth day from the day of sale, reckoning the said day of sale as the first of the said thirty days. And sales against which an appeal may have been preferred, and the appeal dismissed by the commissioner, shall be final and conclusive from the date of such dismissal, if more than thirty days from the day of sale, or if less, then at noon of the thirtieth day, as above provided.—Act I., 1845, sec. xix.

21. Immediately upon a sale becoming final and conclusive, the collector, or other officer as aforesaid, shall give to the purchaser a certificate of title in the following form:—

I certify that A. B. has purchased at public auction, under Act No. I. of 1845, Mehaul C., and that his purchase has taken effect on and since the —— day of —— (being the date of the day after that fixed for the last day of payment).

(Signed) D. E., Collector.

And the said certificate shall be deemed in any court of justice sufficient evidence of the title to the estate sold being vested in the person or persons named, from the date specified: and the collector shall also notify such transfer by written proclamation in his own cutcherry, and in those of the moonsiff and darogah of the jurisdictions within which any part of the estate sold shall be situated, and also at the cutcherry of the malguzar of the estate, or in some conspicuous place on the estate; and shall apply the purchase-money first to the liquidation of all arrears due upon the latest day of payment; and secondly, to the liquidation of all outstanding demands debited to the mehaul in the public accounts of the district, holding the residue, if any, in deposit on account of the late recorded proprietor or proprietors of the estate sold, to be paid to their receipt on demand in the manner following: to wit, in shares proportioned to their recorded interest in the estate sold, if such distinction of shares were recorded, or if not, then as an aggregate sum to the whole body of proprietors upon their joint receipt. Provided that if, prior to payment of any surplus that may remain of the purchase-money after liquidation of all Government arrears and dues to the proprietor of the estate sold, or his representative, the same may be claimed by creditors in satisfaction of debts due by him to them, or by any one creditor, such surplus shall not be payable to any such claimant, nor shall it be withheld from the proprietor by attachment, except under precept, and in satisfaction of decrees of Court for such debts; and if the balance of purchase-money have in any such case been paid away in liquidation of the proprietor's just debts by order of any Court, and a decree shall afterwards pass for annulling the sale, the proprietor shall not be restored to possession until the amount so paid away be returned by him with interest.—Act I., 1845, sec. xx.

22. All purchasers of lands at the public sales are required to attend the collector of the zillah wherein the lands may be situated, either in person or by their representatives duly authorized, and to execute the usual kabooleeat and kistbundy for the public revenue assessed upon the lands purchased by them.—Reg. I., 1801, sec. x.

23. Any suit brought to oust the certified purchaser as aforesaid, on the ground that the purchase was made on behalf of another person, not the certified purchaser, though by agreement the name of the certified purchaser was used, shall be dismissed with costs.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxi.

24. Sales made of entire estates for the recovery of arrears of public assessment are not liable to be annulled by the courts of judicature, on the ground that one or more of the sharers may not have obtained possession of his or their interest in the property. The consideration of, and decision on, the expediency of selling the entire estate, or of disposing in the first instance of any particular part of it, is hereby declared to reside in the Board of Revenue, subject to the control exercised by the Government, in its executive capacity, in matters connected with the public revenue.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. xxiv.

25. No means existing by which any certain or accurate computation can be formed à priori of the real value of any estate, or portion of estate, which may be exposed to sale for the recovery of arrears of public assessment, or of the adequacy of the price which may be offered for such estate, or portion of estate; it is hereby declared, that sales made at public auction for that purpose are not liable to be annulled by the courts of judicature, on the ground that the proceeds of the sales have materially exceeded the amount of the arrears due from the proprietor of the lands to Government. The Board of Revenue and the Commissioners will be guided in cases of that nature by their own discretion, subject of course to any instructions with which they may at any time be furnished by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. xxv.

26. The annulment of a sale by a commissioner shall be publicly notified by the collector or other officer as aforesaid, in the same manner as the becoming final and conclusive of sales is required to be notified by paragraph 21, and the amount of deposit and balance of purchase-money shall be forthwith returned to the purchaser, with interest thereon at the highest rate of the current public securities, from the dates on which they were respectively paid in to the date on which the refund is actually made.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxii.

27. The party certified as the proprietor of an estate by purchase at public sale for the recovery of arrears of revenue shall be answerable for all instalments of the revenue of Government which may fall due subsequently to the latest day of payment aforesaid.—Act. I., 1845, sec. xxiii.

28. No sale for arrears of revenue or other demands realizable in the same manner, made after the taking effect of this Act, shall be set aside by a Court of Justice, except upon the ground of its having been made contrary to the provisions of this Act: and except the contravention thereto shall have been declared and specified in an appeal made to the commissioner under paragraph 18, and except the action in the Civil Court be instituted within one year from the date of the sale becoming final and conclusive, as provided in paragraph 20: and no person shall be entitled to contest the legality of a sale after having received any portion of the purchase-money: provided, however, nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to debar any person considering himself wronged by any act or circumstance connected with a sale under this Act, from his remedy in a personal action for damages against the individual by whose act or omission he considers himself to have been wronged.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxiv.

29. In the event of a sale being reversed by a final decree of a Court of Justice, the purchase-money shall be refunded to the purchaser by Government, together with interest at the highest rate of the current public securities.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxv.

30. The purchaser of an estate sold under this Act, for the recovery of arrears due on account of the same, in the permanently settled districts of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares, shall acquire the estate free from all incumbrances which may have been imposed upon it after the time of settlement, and shall be entitled, after notice given under Section X., Regulation V., 1812, to enhance at discretion (anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding) the rents of all under-tenures in the said estate, and to eject all tenants thereof, with the following exceptions:—

First. Tenures which were held as istemraree or mocurreree at a fixed rent more than twelve years before the permanent settlement.

Secondly. Tenures existing at the time of the decennial settlement, which have not been, or may not be, proved to be liable to increase of assessment on the grounds stated in Section LI., Regulation VIII., of 1793.

Thirdly. Lands held by khood kasht or kudeemee ryots having rights of occupancy at fixed rents, or at rents assessable according to fixed rules under the Regulations in force.

Fourthly. Lands held under bonâ fide leases, at fair rents, temporary or perpetual, for the erection of dwelling-houses, or manufactories, or for mines, gardens, tanks, canals, places of worship, burying-grounds, clearing of jungle, or like beneficial purposes, such lands continuing to be used for the purposes specified in the leases.

Fifthly. Farms granted in good faith at fair rents and for specified areas by a former proprietor, for terms not exceeding twenty years, under written leases, registered within a month from their date. Provided that a written notice, specifying full particulars of the position, rent and area of the lands, the terms of the lease and the names of the parties shall at the same time be given by the latter to the collector in every case, and the collector shall be at liberty to object to the same in the event of his seeing reason to believe that the security of the public revenue will be materially affected thereby. The exception declared in this rule shall not extend to leases objected to by the collector, by a notification to be fixed up in his office, with the sanction of the commissioner, within three months of the date of the notice so made to him by the parties. Provided also, that a purchaser of an estate at a sale for arrears of revenue shall be at liberty by suit in court to set aside all such farms, although the same be under written and duly registered leases, and although such notice may have been given as aforesaid, if the same shall not have been granted in good faith at fair rents.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxvi.

31. The purchaser of an estate sold under this Act for the recovery of arrears due on account of the same in districts other than those mentioned in the preceding paragraph, shall acquire the estate free from all incumbrances which may have been imposed upon it after the time of settlement, and shall be competent to avoid and annul all tenures which may have originated with the defaulter or his predecessors, being representatives or assignees of the original engager, as well as all agreements with ryots or the like settled or credited by the first engager or his representatives, subsequently to the last settlement, as well as all tenures which the first engager may, under the conditions of his settlement, have been competent to set aside, alter, or renew, saving always and except bonâ fide leases of ground for the erection of dwelling-houses, or buildings, or for offices thereunto belonging, or for gardens, tanks, canals, water-courses, or the like purposes, which leases or engagements shall, so long as the land is duly appropriated to such purposes, and the stipulated rent paid, continue in force and effect. Provided that nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to entitle any purchaser of land at a public sale to demand a higher rate of rent from any persons whose tenure or agreement may be annulled as aforesaid than was demandable by the former malguzar, except in cases in which such persons may have held their lands under engagements, stipulating for a lower rate of rent than would have been justly demandable for the land, in consequence of abatements having been granted by the former malguzars from the old established rates by special favour, or for a consideration, or the like, or in cases in which it may be proved that according to the custom of the pergunnah, mouzah, or other local division such persons are liable to be called upon for any new assessment, or other demand not interdicted by the Regulations of Government.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxvii.

32. It shall be competent to the local Government, when it shall seem proper, at any time before a sale for arrear shall have been actually made, to direct it to be made, subject to the leases, assignments, or other encumbrances with which a proprietor in possession, his ancestors, or predecessors, may have burthened his assessed estate, or to such of them as shall appear proper. In all such cases, notice of the condition imposed by the local Government shall be given by the collector at the time of calling up the lot for sale, and such further notification shall be made as the local Government may direct. Provided, however, that in case the sale so restricted shall not realize an amount equal to the arrear due at the time of sale, or there shall appear ground to apprehend, that by reason of the restriction the future realization of the revenue will be endangered, it shall be competent to the local Government, at any time before such restricted sale shall have become final and conclusive in the manner laid down in paragraph 20, to direct the sale to be cancelled, and a new sale of the estate to be made without other restrictions than those contained in the exceptions specified in paragraph 30. If, after the sale has become final and conclusive, occasion should again arise to bring to sale for arrears an estate purchased with a restriction of the above description, it shall at all times be competent to the local Government to direct that the mehaul shall be sold without any other restriction than those contained in the exceptions specified in paragraph 30, or with the reservation before reserved. In the former event, should the purchase-money realized by the unrestricted sale exceed in a large amount the sum obtained at the restricted sale, it shall further be competent to the local Government to direct a portion or the whole of the excess to be paid to persons whose interests, having been reserved at the first, shall become void at the second sale.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxviii.

33. Excepting copartners of estates under butwarra who may have saved their shares from sale under Sections XXXIII. and XXXIV., Regulation XIX., 1814, any recorded or unrecorded proprietor or copartner who may purchase, in his own name or in the name of another, the estate of which he is proprietor or copartner; or who, by re-purchase or otherwise, may recover possession of the said estate after it has been sold for arrears under this Act; and likewise any purchaser of an estate sold for other arrears or demands than those accruing upon itself, shall by such purchase acquire the estate subject to all its incumbrances existing at the time of sale, and shall not acquire any rights in respect to ryots and under-tenants which were not possessed by the previous proprietor at the time of the sale of the said estate.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxix.

34. Arrears of rent which, on the latest day of payment, may be due to the defaulter from his tenants, shall, in the event of a sale, be recoverable by him after the said latest day by any process except distraint which might have been used by him for that purpose on or before the said latest day.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxx.

35. If a collector shall at any time, being so instructed by either the Government or the Board, purchase on account of Government an estate exposed to sale for the recovery of arrears of revenue, the rules applicable to the management of ordinary malguzary mehauls held khas or farmed, shall be considered applicable to such estate, and also to all other estates the property of Government, according as they may be held khas, or let in farm.—Reg. XI., 1822, sec. xxxvi.

36. Any collector, or officer exercising the powers of collector in respect of sales, shall be competent to punish any contempt committed in his presence in open cutcherry or office for the time being, by fine, to an extent not exceeding two hundred Company's rupees, commutable, if not paid, to imprisonment in the civil jail for a period not exceeding one month; and the magistrate to whom such an offender may be sent by a collector as aforesaid shall carry his sentence into effect. Provided that an appeal from any order passed under this paragraph shall lie to the revenue commissioner, whose decision shall be final.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxxi.

37. A default to make good a bid by making the deposit required by paragraph 16 shall be held to be a contempt.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxxii.

38. The operation of this Act shall be confined to the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares, now subject to the general Regulations, and to the Ceded and Conquered Provinces similarly subject to the general Regulations, under the Government of the presidencies of Fort William in Bengal; and nothing in this Act contained shall affect land in the town of Calcutta, or the settlements of Singapore, Penang, or Malacca.—Act I., 1845, sec. xxxiii.

DEMAND—ATTACHMENT.

39. Regulation XII., 1796, and Regulation V., 1800, in so far as the same are applicable to public sales for the recovery of arrears of revenue, together with such parts of Sections III., XXIV., and XXV., Regulation XIV., 1793; Sections VII. and XXXI., Regulation VI., 1795; Section XXIII., Regulation VII., 1799; Section XXXI., Regulation XXVII., 1803, and of any other of the Regulations in force which prescribe, or shall be construed to prescribe, that the revenue officer shall issue any tullub chittee, dustuk, or other process of demand on persons from whom arrears of revenue, or other demands similarly recoverable, may be due, or that they shall attach the estates or farms in the possession or management of such defaulters, before bringing their property to a public sale, as well as such part of the above-mentioned and any other Regulations which restrict, or can be construed to restrict, the powers of the revenue officers in selecting lands for sale on account of arrears of public revenue, or the period of sale, and which may not be re-enacted by this Regulation, are hereby rescinded.—Reg. XI., 1822, sec. ii., cl. 2.

NOTE.—Notwithstanding the absolute rescission by the latter part of the foregoing paragraph, the course laid down in the following provisions appears to be still followed, and the enactments still appear in works of authority published in India, see "Directions for Revenue Officers, North-Western Provinces," "Abstract of the Revenue Regulations, Calcutta, 1826," and "Marshman's Guide to the Revenue Regulations," in which the apparently rescinded provisions are retained, under the impression, that the course they prescribe is still optionally open to the revenue officers. Such provisions are printed in italics.

40. When a collector shall have occasion to require payment of an arrear of revenue from any zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, or any farmer of land, he is to demand the discharge of it by a writing under his official seal, and attested by his signature and that of his dewan, specifying the amount of the arrear and the date on which it became due, and requiring it to be paid at the treasury of the collectorship within a certain number of days after the day on which the writing may be served, in the manner herein specified. In fixing the day for the payment of the arrear, the collector is to advert to the distance of his place of residence from the estate or farm of the defaulter, and allow a reasonable time for him to convey the money to the public treasury. The collector is to deliver the writing to a single peon, with directions to proceed either to the principal cutcherry of the defaulter in the estate or farm on account of which the arrear may be due, or to the usual place of abode of the defaulter, if it be within the limits of his zillah, according as he may deem advisable. The defaulter, or his head officer in attendance in such cutcherry, is to grant, and the peon is to take, a receipt for the writing, specifying the date on which he may present it. The defaulter, or his officer above mentioned, is to pay to the peon two annas per day for his subsistence (excepting in districts where custom has fixed the subsistence-money of peons at a lower rate, in which case such lower rate and no more, shall be exacted), for the time allowed for delivering the writing and returning to the collector. The name of the peon who may be deputed, the amount of his subsistence-money, and the number of days for which he is to receive it, are to be endorsed on the writing. If the peon deputed to serve the demand for the arrears shall not meet with, or be able to gain admittance to, the defaulter or his head officer, by the evening of the day following the day on which he may arrive at his usual place of abode, or at his cutcherry above specified, or if the defaulter or his head officer shall refuse or omit to give the receipt above required to the peon immediately upon his presenting the writing, he is on the same evening to fix up the writing on the outer door or gate of such place or cutcherry, and return to the collector, to whom he is to report the date on which he may have fixed it up. Written demands for arrears so presented to a defaulter or his head officer, or fixed up at his usual place of abode, or his cutcherry before mentioned, shall be considered to have been duly served upon him.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. iii.

41. In the event of any arrear of revenue being undischarged on the first day of the month succeeding that for which the arrear may be due, the collector, if the revenue be payable into his treasury, or if not, the tehseeldar or other public officer to whom the same may be payable, is immediately to require payment thereof in the mode prescribed by the preceding rule; and if the arrear shall not be discharged according to such requisition, or assurance given for the immediate payment thereof to the collector's satisfaction, he shall proceed without delay to attach the estate of the proprietor from whom the arrear may be due, or such portion thereof as he may consider fully sufficient to make good by a sale the arrear due, with interest; or if the arrear be due from a farmer, shall proceed without delay both to attach his farm and arrest his person (as well as the person of his surety, if he have given security) in the mode prescribed.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxiii., cl. 2.

42. No collector shall attach the estate or farm of any proprietor or farmer of land for arrears of revenue during the three first months of the Bengal, Fusly, or Willaity year (according to the era current in the several zillahs), without the express sanction and order of the Board of Revenue, on a report of the case to be made to them by the collector: nor shall the attachment be subsequently made without such sanction and order, unless the collector shall judge the same expedient, with a view to induce payment of the arrear by the defaulter, or to prevent his misappropriation of the remaining rents of the year, or to obtain accurate information of the assets of the estate for the purpose of disposing of a portion of it by public sale at the close of the year; in either of which cases, the attachment is to take place after the third month of the year; except that, whenever the attachment may be judged advisable for the purposes above stated, the whole estate shall be attached instead of a portion thereof. Provided further, that the exception from the rule for attachment during the three first months of the year shall not be considered applicable to attachments made in the preceding year, and continued after the expiration of it, with a view to the lands being brought to sale for the recovery of the arrear due from them.—Reg. I., 1801, sec. ii.

43. In all cases where the collectors may not judge it advisable to attach the estate or farm of the defaulter for an arrear of revenue, and where the result of the fullest inquiry they may be able to make in such cases shall induce them to believe the arrear wilful, or owing to the neglect, mismanagement, or misconduct of the defaulter, they are to report the same, with a summary of the inquiry made by them, to the Board of Revenue; in like manner as they are required by paragraph 58, to make such report to the Board of Revenue, in cases wherein they may judge it proper to suspend the attachment of estates or farms in arrear, on account of any calamity of season or cause of failure not originating in the neglect, mismanagement, or misconduct of the defaulter. The report so required is still to be made by the collectors whenever they may not carry into execution the general rule for attachments, after the expiration of the third month of the year; but as a full discretion is now vested in them (subject to the control of the Board of Revenue) for suspending the enforcement of that rule, in all cases where they may judge the same expedient, it is expected that they will be particularly careful to inform themselves, as far as possible, in all instances of arrear, of the real cause of arrear, whether want of good faith on the part of the defaulter, or actual inability from a failure in his rents or otherwise, so that the proper remedy may be applied to the ascertained circumstances of the case, and neither the public interests be injured by unmerited indulgence, or those of the individual suffer from undue severity. When the collectors, from the reports of their mofussil officers, or from other information obtained by them, may have good reason to believe that a defaulter has done his utmost to pay his revenue, but has been prevented by real inability, not proceeding from any personal deficiency, the attachment of his lands, whilst productive of expense and inconvenience to him, can produce no adequate advantage to Government. On the other hand, if it be known that the defaulter has the means of making good his arrear, or that the attachment of his lands will afford assets for the payment of it which might otherwise be misappropriated, the attachment would be evidently just and expedient, and whatever expenses or other consequences might arise from it to the defaulter would be chargeable to his own misconduct. The local officers of Government can alone make this discrimination; and the Board of Revenue, in their reports to the Governor-General in Council upon the towjee accounts of the collectors, are required to notice their attention or otherwise to this important part of their duty.—Reg. I., 1801, sec. ii.

44. After the attachment of the lands of defaulting proprietors, or the attachment of the farms of defaulting farmers, if the arrear due, with any further arrear that may become due from the same proprietor or farmer, be discharged at any period before the end of the current Bengal, Fusly, or Willaity year (as the estate or farm may be situated in Bengal, Behar, or Orissa), together with any expense attending the attachment, which may not have been defrayed from the collections, the attachment shall be immediately withdrawn, and a full and fair account rendered of all receipts and disbursements during the continuance of it. Moreover, all receipts from the estate or farm attached, after paying the establishment of officers required to collect the rents, as provided for in paragraph 57, shall be carried to the credit of the defaulter during the current year, in discharge of the arrear due from him. The whole of the provisions in the above paragraph are also to be considered in full force; except that the injunction to the aumeen to collect according to the engagements subsisting between the defaulter and his under-tenants, is not to be considered applicable to engagements evidently collusive, which may have been contracted in expectation of the attachment, with a view to prevent the officers of Government from receiving the just rents during the continuance of it. In such cases, the aumeen is to collect according to the established rates and usages of the pergunnah, as he is directed to do in cases where no engagement exists between the defaulter and his under-tenants. It is further hereby declared, that no anticipation of the rent will be admitted in cases of attachment. The landholders and farmers are forbidden to demand or receive, and the ryots and other under-tenants are forbidden to pay, any part of the rents receivable by the former and payable by the latter, before the stipulated or usual period of payment, according to the kistbundy or other engagement, or established local usage; and no person hereafter making anticipated payments against this prohibition, or producing receipts for such, whether collusive or otherwise, shall be entitled to credit for the amount from the officers of Government who may attach the lands or farm, or from the landholder or farmer making the attachment, if it be made for arrears due from an under-tenant. Nor shall credit be allowed for any payment made to a defaulter after proclamation of the attachment of his estate or farm, until further proclamation be made that such attachment has been withdrawn; unless it can be clearly shown that such proclamation, which is to be made as public as possible throughout the attached lands immediately on the attachment's taking place, was notwithstanding unknown to the party making payment to the defaulter at the time when such payment may have been made. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be understood to exonerate the defaulter from crediting to his under-tenants, or otherwise accounting for, all sums received by him, whether in anticipation of the rents or subsequent to the attachment of his estate or farm, the above restrictions having reference to the attachment only.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxiii., cl. 3.

NOTE.—See "UNDER-TENURES."

45. Landed property of defaulting farmers which can be attached, is to be brought under attachment at the same time that their farms are attached, subject to the same provisions for withdrawing the attachment on payment of the arrear. The attachment is to be made under the rules prescribed in paragraph 67 for the attachment of lands of sureties.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxiii., cl. 6.

46. If any arrear remain due from a farmer of land at the close of the current year, any land or property belonging to the defaulter or his surety is to be brought to public sale as soon as possible after the close of the year. The sale shall be public, and shall be conducted by the collector, his deputy, or duly authorized assistant, and ten days' notice shall be given of such sales by advertisement, to be stuck up at the cutcherry of the Zillah Court or local Adawlut, and that of the collector.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxiii., cl. 6; and Act VIII., 1835, sec. ii.

47. It will be at the option of the Governor-General in Council either to cancel the lease of a defaulting farmer from the commencement of the ensuing year, or to compel the defaulter or his surety to perform the conditions of the lease until the term of it shall expire. If the Governor-General in Council shall annul the lease, the defaulter, after making good the arrear due from him to Government, is to be at liberty to prosecute the dependent talookdars, under-farmers, or ryots, included in his farm, for any arrears of rent due to him on account of the period during which his lease remained in force.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxiii., cl. 6.

48. Instances having occurred in which, from the very small extent of certain estates, from their dispersed situation and inconsiderable produce, it has been found impossible to attach them without an expense altogether disproportionate to the arrear and value of the estates, the proprietors of which have in consequence withheld the amount due from them, though well able to discharge it; to provide for such cases, the Board of Revenue are hereby vested with authority to order the distress and sale of the personal property of defaulters, as far as may be necessary for the recovery of arrears of revenue or other public demands, whenever, from the reports of the collectors or other information before them, they may consider it just and expedient to have recourse to this mode of recovery, instead of attaching the lands of the defaulters; and whenever such distress and sale may be ordered by the Board of Revenue, it is to take place in the mode prescribed for the distress and sale of the personal property of under-tenants for arrears of rent, under a strict observance of the rules established for this purpose. Provided that this special rule be considered applicable only to the particular cases above referred to, in which the general rule for attachments cannot with facility be put in execution, and be not in any instance understood to vest the collectors with authority to sell the personal property of any proprietor or farmer of land paying revenue to Government, without the express sanction of the Board of Revenue. In applying for such sanction, the collectors are to make a full report of the circumstances under which they may judge it advisable to have recourse to this special rule; and are to state any pleas which may have been offered for the arrear, with their opinion whether the same are well founded or otherwise. Provided further, that nothing in this paragraph, the operation of which is restricted to the province of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, shall be considered applicable to the province of Benares, where the rule for the distress and sale of personal property, contained in paragraph 113, and which has reference to the state of landed property and other circumstances peculiar to that province, is to remain in force as heretofore.—Reg. I., 1801, sec. iv.

ARREST AND IMPRISONMENT.

49. Proprietors of land shall not be liable to be confined for arrears of public revenue, or for any demands of the nature of those specified in paragraph 2, excepting in the cases mentioned in the following paragraph.—Reg. III., 1794, sec. iii.

50. If the whole of the lands of a proprietor shall be sold for the discharge of arrears of revenue, or any of the demands specified in paragraph 2, and the proceeds of the sale shall not be sufficient to make good the arrears, or if the lands of a defaulting proprietor shall be put up to sale and no person shall offer to purchase them; in the first case, the person of the defaulter, and any personal property which he may possess, and in the second, his person and property of every description, shall be liable for the balance to the operation of all the rules regarding defaulting proprietors. Whenever a collector may confine a proprietor under this paragraph, after all his lands have been disposed of, he is immediately to report the circumstances to the Board of Revenue, who are to submit them for the information of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. III., 1794, sec. xiv.

51. If the lands subject to the payment of revenue to Government, belonging to any defaulting proprietor or farmer of land, or any surety or purchaser of land, which may be sold for arrears of revenue, shall not produce a sum sufficient for the liquidation of the public demand, any other real or personal property which the defaulter may possess is to be sold to make good the deficiency, under the same rules as his lands subject to the payment of revenue are directed to be sold, as far as those rules may be applicable to such property. And if any property shall be ordered to be put up to sale, and the sale shall be countermanded in consequence of the proprietor discharging the claim upon him, or other cause, he is nevertheless to be held responsible for all expenses that may be incurred, in the same manner as if the sale of it had taken place; and in the event of his omitting to discharge the amount, it is to be levied by the same process as the demand for which the property originally ordered to be sold may have been directed to be levied.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xliv.

52. When arrears shall become due from proprietors or farmers of land, whose revenue may be made payable to a tehseeldar, or other officer appointed by Government to collect it, such officer is to demand the payment of the arrears by the same process as collectors are required to observe in requiring the discharge of arrears. If the defaulter shall not liquidate the arrears by the prescribed period, the tehseeldar or other officer is to report the amount of the arrear to the collector, who is to proceed to the recovery of it by the same process as he is directed to observe in recovering arrears due from proprietors or farmers paying revenue immediately to the treasury of the zillah.—Reg. III., 1794, sec. xiii.

53. In like manner, if the tehseeldar, or other mofussil officer intrusted with the collections, shall have reason to believe that any defaulting farmer whose revenue may be payable to him or his surety is prepared to abscond, so as not to allow time for his making report to the collector, as directed in the preceding rule, he is authorized to arrest such defaulter and his surety, without waiting for the collector's process under paragraph 54, by a similar process under his own seal and signature, and to cause the party arrested to be immediately conveyed to the collector, to be further proceeded against in the mode prescribed.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxiii., cl. 2.

54. When a collector shall proceed to the confinement of a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land or farmer of land, for the recovery of arrears, he shall depute two peons, but no greater number than two, with a writing under his official seal, and attested with his signature, specifying the amount of the arrear due from the defaulter, and the date on which it became payable, and requiring him to deliver himself into the custody of the peons, that they may convey him to the gaol of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah. The peons are to carry the defaulter direct to the gaol. Immediately upon the arrival of the defaulter at the gaol, the collector is to apply to the Court by motion in writing, to be made in open Court, if the Court shall be sitting, through the pleader of Government, for the confinement of the defaulter. If the Court shall not be sitting, the motion is to be presented to the judge out of Court. The motion is to specify the amount of the arrear due from the defaulter, and the date on which it became payable. Upon receipt of the motion, the judge is immediately to order the defaulter to be confined in the gaol of the Dewanny Adawlut, and detain him there until he shall have discharged the arrear for which he may have been taken into custody, and all subsequent arrears that may become due during his confinement, or until the collector shall apply to the Court, by motion made as above directed, to have him released. Peons deputed to take defaulting proprietors or farmers of land into custody under this paragraph, are to receive from the defaulter two annas per day each for their subsistence (excepting in districts where custom has fixed the subsistence-money of peons at a lower rate, in which case such lower rate, and no more, shall be exacted) for the time allowed for taking him into custody and conveying him to gaol. The names of the peons who may be deputed, the amount of the subsistence-money, and the number of days for which they are to receive it, are to be endorsed on the writing. If the defaulter shall not reside or be within the limits of the zillah wherein the lands on account of which the arrear shall be due may be situated, the collector is to order the two peons whom he may charge with the writing to proceed direct to the collector of the zillah in which the defaulter may be or reside, and such collector shall immediately send with them a peon to point out the place of residence of the defaulter. The two peons shall take the defaulter into custody, and convey him to the gaol of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah in which they may so apprehend him. The collector who may issue the writing shall forward to the vakeel of Government in such zillah the prescribed motion for the confinement of the defaulter, so that he may have it ready to present to the judge immediately upon the arrival of the defaulter at the gaol. The collector is to be careful, likewise, to specify in the writing for taking the defaulter into custody, the name of the zillah to the gaol of which he is to be conducted. With the above exceptions as to the mode of serving the process, and the gaol in which the defaulter is directed to be confined, all the other rules regarding his case are to be considered equally applicable to it, as if he had been imprisoned in the gaol of the zillah wherein the lands on account of which the arrear shall be due may be situated. All suits or complaints which the defaulter may have to prefer against the collector or his officers, or the ameen who may be deputed to take charge of his lands, are accordingly to be lodged in the Dewanny Adawlut of the last-mentioned zillah, and the judge of the zillah, in the gaol of which the defaulter may be confined, is to give effect to all decrees or orders which may be transmitted to him by the judge of the zillah in which the suits or complaints of the defaulter may be so preferred.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. v.

55. Instead of carrying the defaulter forthwith to the gaol of the Dewanny Adawlut, as directed in the preceding rule, the collector, if the defaulter show any disposition to adjust and satisfy the demand upon him, is at liberty to keep him in the custody of peons during a period not exceeding ten days from the date of his arrival at the collector's station; at the expiration of which period, if the arrear be not paid or satisfaction given for the immediate payment thereof, so as to induce the collector to release the defaulter, he is to be brought before the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut, and confined in the gaol of that court as directed in the above rule. This qualification is not meant to restrict the collectors from observing the above rule in any instances where the defaulter may show no disposition to adjust and satisfy the demand upon him; or where, for any other reason, it may appear to them objectionable to suspend the confinement of the defaulter or his surety.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxiii., cl. 2.

56. If the farmer shall have given security, and the collector have no reason to believe that he will abscond, he is not to issue the process prescribed in paragraph 54, for the confinement of the defaulter or his surety, until the defaulter has been served with the written demand for the arrear; but if the collector have reason to believe that the defaulter or his security is prepared to abscond, he is authorized to issue the process prescribed both against the defaulter and his surety, without having issued the previous demand.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxiii., cl. 2.

57. When a collector shall proceed to confine a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land or farmer of land, he is to depute an ameen, with a proper establishment of officers, to collect the rents and revenues from the estate or farm of the defaulter. The collector is to transmit the establishment to the Board of Revenue, who are to submit it to the Governor-General in Council, with a recommendation that it be confirmed or altered, as may appear to them advisable. The expense of the establishment of the ameen, when approved, and all other charges attending his deputation which may be admitted, shall be defrayed by the defaulter, and disbursed from the collections made from his estate or farm. The dewan, or head native officer of the defaulter, or any other person whom he may think proper to appoint, is to keep a counterpart of the accounts of the receipts and disbursements of the ameen. The ameen is to collect according to the engagements that may subsist between the defaulter and his dependent talookdars, under-farmers and ryots, and shall not make any alterations whatever in such engagements, or exact more than the amount specified in them, whether they be conformable to Regulation XLIV., 1793, or not. The ameen shall be liable to a prosecution in the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, for any alteration or infringement of such engagements in opposition to this rule. In cases in which no engagements may exist between the defaulter and his dependent talookdars or ryots, the ameen is to collect from them according to the established rates and usages of the pergunnah. The ameen shall likewise be subject to a prosecution by the proprietor of the estate or the farmer, for embezzlement or injuries done to the estate or farm, during the time that the collection of the rents and revenues of it may be entrusted to him. If the estate or farm of the defaulter shall be too inconsiderable to admit of its being charged with the expense of the appointment of an ameen, it shall be committed to the nearest tehseeldar, or other officer, employed under the collector in the business of the collections, who shall perform the duties above prescribed to the ameen, and under the same restrictions and penalties.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. vi.

58. If the crops in any farm shall have been damaged or destroyed by drought, inundation, or other calamity of season, or from any cause not originating in the neglect, mismanagement, or misconduct of the farmer, and such farmer shall fall in arrears, so as to subject himself to be confined, and the collector shall be satisfied, from the best information which he may be able to obtain, that the defaulter is unable to make good the arrears by the period limited in the written demand for the payment of them, either from the collections on account of such year from his farm, or from his private funds or property, or by a loan, he is directed to suspend the exercise of the powers vested in him for the confinement of the defaulter. But the collector is immediately to report the circumstances of the case to the Board of Revenue, with his reasons for not proceeding against the defaulter as required, and is to be guided by their instructions. The Board of Revenue may suspend enforcement of the current kists, as well as of the interest due thereupon, in such cases; but are not to grant any ultimate remission of the amount demandable on the permanent assessment without the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, as already directed in Section LXIII. of Regulation II., 1793.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. viii.; Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxiii., cl. 7.

59. Every proprietor or farmer of land who may be in confinement for arrears of revenue, and who may deem the demand not warranted by his engagements with Government, is permitted to prosecute the collector by whom he may have been imprisoned, in the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah wherein the lands on account of which the arrears shall be claimed may be situated, to try the justness of the demand. If no part of the arrear claimed shall be found to be due from him, the judge shall release him, and decree such costs and damages against the collector as he may deem equitable, upon a consideration of the circumstances of the case. If only a part of the demand shall appear due, the Court is to discharge the prisoner upon his paying such part. In both cases, however, the Court, previous to releasing such person, shall take good security from him to perform the final decision in appeal, in the event of the cause being appealed by the collector in consequence of orders from the Board of Revenue, or without their orders. If the collector shall represent to the Court that an appeal will not be preferred from the decision, or if an appeal shall not be lodged within the time limited for preferring appeals, the judge shall release the person so confined without taking such security.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xii.

RESISTANCE OF PROCESS.

60. If a collector shall issue the process prescribed in paragraph 54 against any zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, to convey him to gaol on account of arrears of the public revenue, and the defaulter shall refuse to obey, or resist, or cause to be resisted, the peons deputed by the collector to convey him to gaol, or escape after being taken by them into custody, or abscond, or shut himself up in his own or any house, or in any building, or retire to any place, so that the process cannot be served upon him, the collector who may issue the writing is immediately to represent the circumstances, through the vakeel of Government, to the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah wherein the lands on account of which the arrears shall be due may be situated; and upon the peons deputed to execute the process, or any two or more credible persons, making oath or affirmation to the truth of the circumstances stated in the representation of the collector, the judge, provided he shall be satisfied in his own mind from such depositions of the witnesses, and their answers upon oath to any questions which he may put to them, that the charge is well founded, shall require the defaulter, by a publication in writing, to deliver himself into the custody of the Court within four weeks, calculating from the day following the date of publication. The publication is to be written in the Bengal language, if the estate of the defaulter shall be in Bengal or Orissa; or in the Hindoostanee language and Nageree character, if it should be situated in Behar; and shall be fixed up, as early after the date of it as may be practicable, at his usual place of abode, or the principal cutcherry in the estate on account of which the arrears may be due, in the office of collector and the court-room of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah. The collector is to continue the ameen directed to be deputed by paragraph 57 to collect the rents and revenues of the estate of the defaulter, in the same manner as if the process issued under paragraph 54 had been duly served and obeyed by him.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xv.

61. If the defaulter shall not surrender himself before the expiration of the period limited in the publication directed to be made in paragraph 60, or if he shall deliver himself up within the prescribed time, and after receiving his answer to the charge, and hearing the evidence which he may produce in his defence and that which the collector may adduce in support of his representation, if it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the defaulter is guilty of the charge, the Court is to decree the proprietary right of the defaulter and his heirs in the estate on account of which the arrears may be due forfeited to Government. If the defaulter shall not appeal from the decree to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut within the time limited for referring appeals to that Court, the Court is immediately to transmit to the Governor-General in Council a copy of the decree, and of all the proceedings respecting the charge. If an appeal shall be received from the decision of the Zillah Court, and the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut should confirm the decree, they are immediately to transmit a copy of their decree and proceedings, and of the decree and proceedings received from the Zillah Court, to the Governor-General in Council. If the judge of the Zillah Court shall decree the charge not proved, he is nevertheless to detain the defaulter in confinement, in the same manner as if the process prescribed in paragraph 54 had been duly served upon him and he had obeyed it; and the collector is immediately to obtain from the Court a copy of the decree and proceedings, and transmit them, with a letter containing his objections to the decision, to the Board of Revenue, who are to order the collector to appeal from it, or not, as may appear to them proper. If the board shall order an appeal to be preferred, and it shall be lodged within the limited time, and the appeal shall be received in the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, and the Court should reverse the decision of the Zillah Court, and declare the proprietary right in the estate forfeited, the Court is immediately to transmit a copy of their decree and proceedings, and of the decrees and proceedings received from the Zillah Court, to the Governor-General in Council. That no doubt may be entertained from what decrees passed by the Zillah Court under this paragraph an appeal is to be allowed to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, it is declared that an appeal shall not lie to the last-mentioned Court, unless the annual produce of the estate of the defaulter on account of which the arrears may have been demanded, calculating according to the amount paid or payable by the dependent talookdars, under-farmers, and ryots, to the defaulter, on account of the year in which the decision of the Zillah Court may be passed, shall exceed five thousand rupees; and the collectors are enjoined to insert generally in the representation which they are directed to make to the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah in the preceding paragraph, whether the produce of the estate on account of the year above mentioned, according to the best information they may have been able to obtain, exceeds or falls short of five thousand rupees, but without specifying the actual amount of the produce. If the defaulter shall not deliver himself up within the prescribed time, or if he shall surrender himself by the limited period and the collector shall have stated the produce of the estate to be under five thousand rupees and the defaulter shall not deny the truth of the collector's statement in his answer to the charge, an appeal shall not lie from the decision of that Court to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut. If the collector shall represent that the produce of the estate for the year before mentioned exceeds or falls short of five thousand rupees, and the defaulter should appear within the limited time, and in his answer to the charge object to the statement, the judge is to try the objections, and pass such decision upon them as may appear to him equitable. If an appeal from the decree of the Zillah Court should be presented to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, and the admission or rejection of the appeal should depend upon the produce of the estate for the year before mentioned, exceeding or falling short of five thousand rupees, the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut is to examine the decisions passed by the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah respecting the produce of the estate, and either adjudge the cause to be appealable or not, as may appear to them equitable. Decrees that may be passed under this paragraph by the Dewanny Adawlut of any zillah, or the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, adjudging the proprietary right in the estate of a defaulter to be forfeited to Government, shall not be carried into execution in any case whatever, without an order from the Governor-General in Council confirming the decree, and directing in what manner the proprietary right in the estate shall be disposed of. It shall be at the option of the Governor-General in Council, within four weeks after the receipt of a decree adjudging the proprietary right of any defaulter in an estate forfeited, either to order the decree to be executed, or to commute the forfeiture for such fine as, upon a consideration of the situation and circumstances in life of the defaulter, he may think adequate to the offence for which the decree may be passed. In the event of the Governor-General in Council commuting the forfeiture for a fine, the Court which shall have transmitted the decree and proceedings to the Governor-General in Council, upon receiving notice of the fine that he may impose, are to levy the amount of it by the same process by which they are directed to enforce decrees of the Court, and to pay the amount to the collector of the zillah. But if the Governor-General in Council shall not, within four weeks after the decree shall have been received by him, either order it to be executed or commute the forfeiture for a fine, the decree is to stand good against the defaulter. The process which a collector may institute against a defaulter in the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah under this paragraph, as well as the prosecution or defence of any appeal from the decision of such Court which may be preferred to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut in which the collector may be appellant or respondent, is to be carried on at the public expense, and to be conducted by the vakeel of Government, whom the collector is to furnish with the necessary instructions.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xvi.

62. If the defaulter mentioned in the preceding paragraphs shall be allowed to retain the proprietary right in his estate, Government is to account to him for the amount received through the ameen; and if it shall exceed the public revenue that was due from the estate, the expenses attending the deputation of the ameen and the fine which may be imposed upon the defaulter, the overplus is to be returned to him. If the sum received through the ameen shall be inadequate to the payment of the several demands above mentioned, and the defaulter shall not make good the deficiency, a portion of his lands is to be sold for the discharge of it.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xvii.

63. If the decree adjudging the proprietary right in the estate of the defaulter forfeited shall be confirmed under paragraph 61, it shall be at the option of the Governor-General in Council, either to confer such right upon the heirs of the defaulter, on their agreeing to make good all sums whatever that may be due to Government from the defaulter on account of the estate, and to pay the fixed revenue assessed upon it, or to dispose of it at public sale subject to the payment of such revenue. If the estate shall be conferred upon the heirs of the defaulter, he is to be immediately released if he should be in confinement. If the estate shall be disposed of at public sale, the proceeds of the sale are to be appropriated towards the discharge of the demands of Government, either on account of the public revenue, the expense of attending the deputation of the ameen, or other charges incurred in consequence of the default of the former proprietor. If no such demand shall be outstanding at the time of the sale, or if any such demand should be due and the proceeds shall exceed the amount of it, the whole of the proceeds in the first-mentioned case, and the overplus in the second, is to be carried to the public account, or applied in any other manner that the Governor-General in Council may direct.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xviii.

64. If a collector shall issue the process prescribed in paragraph 54 against any farmer of land to convey him to gaol on account of arrears of public revenue, and the defaulter shall refuse to obey, or resist, or cause to be resisted, the peons deputed by the collector to convey him to gaol, or escape after being taken by them into custody, or abscond, or shut himself up in his own or any house, or in any building, or retire to any place, so that the process cannot be served upon him, the collector who may issue the writing shall immediately represent the circumstances, through the vakeel of Government, to the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah wherein the lands on account of which the arrears shall be due may be situated; and upon the peons deputed to execute the process, or any two or more credible persons, making oath or affirmation to the truth of the circumstances stated in the representation of the collector, the judge, provided he shall be satisfied in his own mind from such depositions of the witnesses, and their answers upon oath or affirmation to any questions which he may put to them, that the charge is well founded, is to require the defaulter, by a publication in writing, to deliver himself into the custody of the Court within four weeks, calculating from the day following the date of the publication. The publication is to be written in the Bengal language, if the farm of the defaulter shall be in Bengal or Orissa; or in the Hindoostanee language and Nageree character, if it be situated in Behar, and shall be fixed up, as early after the date of it as may be practicable, at his usual place of abode, if it be within the limits of the zillah, or the principal cutcherry in the farm, and in the office of the collector and the court-room of the Dewanny Adawlut. The collector is to continue the ameen directed to be deputed in paragraph 57 to collect the rents and revenues of the farm of the defaulter, in the same manner as if the process issued under paragraph 54 had been duly served and obeyed by him. If the defaulter shall not surrender himself before the expiration of the period limited in the publication, or if he shall deliver himself up within the prescribed time, and after receiving his answer to the charge, and the evidence that he may have to produce in his defence, and that which the collector may adduce in support of his representation, if it shall be proved, to the satisfaction of the Court, that the defaulter is guilty of the charge, the Court shall decree the lease of the farmer annulled from the expiration of the Bengal, Fusly, or Willaity, year (according as the farm may be situated in Bengal, Behar, or Orissa) in which the decree may be passed. If the defaulter shall not appeal to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut within the time limited for preferring appeals, the Court is immediately to transmit to the Governor-General in Council a copy of the decree, and of all the proceedings respecting the charge. If an appeal shall be received from the decision of the Zillah Court, and the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut shall confirm the decree of the Zillah Court, they are immediately to transmit a copy of their decree and proceedings, and of the decree and proceedings received from the Zillah Court, to the Governor-General in Council. If the judge of the Zillah Court shall decree the charge not proved, he is nevertheless to detain the defaulter in confinement, in the same manner as if the process in paragraph 54 had been duly served upon him and he had obeyed it, and the collector is immediately to obtain from the Court a copy of the decree and proceedings, and transmit them, with a letter containing his objections to the decision, to the Board of Revenue, who are to order the collector to appeal from it or not, as may appear to them proper. If the Board shall order an appeal to be preferred, and it shall be lodged within the time limited, and the appeal shall be received in the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, and that Court should reverse the decision of the Zillah Court and adjudge the lease annulled, the Court are immediately to transmit a copy of their decree and proceedings, and of the decrees and proceedings received from the Zillah Court, to the Governor-General in Council. That no doubt may be entertained from what decrees passed by the Zillah Courts under this paragraph an appeal shall be admitted to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, it is declared, that an appeal shall not lie to the last-mentioned Court, unless the jumma paid or payable to Government by the defaulter, on account of the year in which the decree of the Zillah Court may be passed, shall exceed five thousand rupees; and the collector is enjoined to state generally, in the representation which he is above directed to make to the Zillah Court, whether the jumma paid or payable by the defaulter in such year exceed or is less than five thousand rupees, but without specifying the exact amount of it; and the rules prescribed in paragraph 61 regarding objections that may be offered to the statement of the produce of the estates of contumacious proprietors, which the collectors are therein directed to present to the Zillah Court, are to be held applicable to the statement of the jumma payable by defaulting farmers, required to be submitted by the collectors in this paragraph. Decrees that may be passed under this paragraph by the Dewanny Adawlut of any zillah, or the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, adjudging the lease of a farmer annulled, shall not be carried into execution, in any case whatever, without an order from the Governor-General in Council confirming the decree. It shall be at the option of the Governor-General in Council, within four weeks after the decree may be received by him, either to order the decree to be executed, or to commute the forfeiture of the lease for such fine as, upon a consideration of the situation and circumstances in life of the defaulter, he may think adequate to the offence for which the decree may be passed; or if the defaulter shall not be desirous of being continued in his farm, to fine him as above prescribed, and compel him to retain the farm during the remainder of the lease, and to hold him and his surety responsible for the discharge of their engagements until the term of them shall expire. If a fine shall be imposed on the defaulter, the Court which shall have transmitted the final decree and proceedings to the Governor-General in Council, upon receiving notice of the fine, is to levy the amount of it by the same process by which they are directed to enforce decrees of the Court, and to pay the amount to the collector of the zillah. But if the Governor-General in Council shall not, within four weeks after the decree shall have been received by him, either order it to be executed or commute the annulling of the lease for a fine, the decree shall stand good against the defaulter. The process which a collector may institute in the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah under this paragraph, as well as any appeal that may be preferred from the decision of the Zillah Court to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut in which the collector may be appellant or respondent, are to be defended or carried on at the public expense and by the vakeel of Government, whom the collector is to furnish with the necessary instructions.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xix.

65. If the lease of the defaulter mentioned in the preceding rule shall be annulled, he shall receive credit for the collections of the ameen, after deducting the charges incurred by his deputation which may be admitted; and if any balance shall then remain due from him to Government at the close of the year in which the lease may be cancelled, both he and his surety are to be held responsible for the payment of it, and the collector is to serve the surety with the written demand prescribed in paragraph 40 for the amount; and in the event of it not being discharged by the time limited in the writing, the collector is to proceed against the surety, and the defaulter also, if he shall be forthcoming and should not have been previously confined, in the manner in which he is directed to proceed in paragraph 54, against defaulters who have not discharged a third part of the instalment of any one month by the fifteenth of the ensuing month. If there shall be a surplus after discharging all the demands above mentioned, it is to be paid to the defaulter. The defaulter shall be at liberty to prosecute in the Zillah Court the dependent talookdars, under-farmers, and ryots in the lands included in the farm, for any arrears of rent or revenue that may be due from them to him, on account of the period during which his lease remained in force.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xx.

66. If a collector shall issue the process prescribed in paragraph 54 against the surety of any proprietor or farmer of land to convey him to gaol, and such defaulting surety shall refuse to obey, or resist, or cause to be resisted, the peons deputed by the collector to convey him to gaol, or escape after being taken by them into custody, or abscond, or shut himself up in his own or any house or in any building, or retire to any place, so that the process cannot be served upon him, the collector who may issue the process is immediately to represent the circumstances, through the vakeel of Government, to the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah wherein the lands on account of which the arrears shall be due may be situated; and upon the peons deputed to execute the process, or any two or more credible persons, making oath or affirmation to the truth of the circumstances stated in the representation of the collector, the judge, provided he shall be satisfied in his own mind from such depositions of the witnesses, and their answers upon oath or affirmation to any questions which he may put to them, that the charge is well founded, is to require the defaulter, by a publication in writing, to deliver himself into the custody of the Court within four weeks, calculating from the day following the date of the publication. The publication is to be written in the Bengal language, if the estate or farm, on account of which the money may be due from the defaulter shall be in Bengal or Orissa, or in the Hindostanee language and Nageree character, if it be situated in Behar, and shall be fixed up, as early after the date of it as may be practicable, at his usual place of abode, if it be within the limits of the zillah, and in the principal cutcherry in the estate or farm, the office of the collector, and the court-room of the Dewanny Adawlut. If the defaulter shall not surrender himself before the expiration of the period limited in the publication, or if he shall deliver himself up within the prescribed time, and after receiving his answer to the charge, and the evidence that he may have to produce in his defence, and that which the collector may adduce in support of his representation, if it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the defaulter is guilty of the charge, the Court shall adjudge him to pay a fine according to the nature of the offence, and his situation and circumstances in life. If the defaulter shall not appeal to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut within the time limited for preferring appeals to that Court, the Court is immediately to transmit to the Governor-General in Council a copy of the decree and of all the proceedings respecting the charge. If an appeal shall be received from the decision of the Zillah Court, and the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut shall confirm the decree of the Zillah Court, they are immediately to transmit a copy of their decree and proceedings, and of the decree and proceedings received from the Zillah Court, to the Governor-General in Council. If the judge of the Zillah Court shall decree the charge not proved, he is nevertheless to detain the defaulter in confinement, in the same manner as if the process prescribed in paragraph 54 had been duly served upon him and he had obeyed it; and the collector is immediately to obtain from the Court a copy of the decree and proceedings, and transmit them, with a letter containing his objections to the decision, to the Board of Revenue, who are to order the collector to appeal from it, or not, as may appear to them proper. If that Board should order an appeal to be preferred, and it shall be lodged within the limited time, and the appeal shall be received in the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, and that Court should reverse the decision of the Zillah Court, and adjudge the defaulter to pay a fine, the Court is immediately to transmit a copy of its decree and proceeding, and of the decree and proceedings received from the Zillah Court, to the Governor-General in Council. And that no doubt may be entertained from what decrees passed by the Zillah Courts, under this paragraph, an appeal shall lie to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, it is declared, that an appeal shall not lie to the last-mentioned Court, unless the fine adjudged to be paid by the defaulter shall exceed five thousand rupees. Decrees that may be passed under this paragraph by the Dewanny Adawlut of any zillah or by the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, adjudging a fine to be paid by a surety, are not to be carried into execution, in any case whatever, without an order from the Governor-General in Council confirming the decree. It shall be at the option of the Governor-General in Council, within four weeks after the decree may be received by him, either to order the decree to be executed or to alleviate the fine. The Court which shall have transmitted the final decree and proceedings to the Governor-General in Council, upon receiving notice of the fine that may be imposed upon the defaulter, is to levy the amount of it by the same process by which it is directed to enforce decrees of the Court, and to pay the amount to the collector of the zillah. But if the Governor-General in Council shall not, within four weeks after the decree shall have been received by him, either order it to be executed or alleviate the fine, the decree shall stand good against the defaulter; and the Court which shall have transmitted the final decree and proceedings to the Governor-General in Council, upon receiving directions for that purpose, is to levy the amount of the fine in the manner above prescribed. The process which the collector may institute in the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah under this paragraph, as well as the appeals that may be preferred from the Zillah Court to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, in which the collector may be appellant or respondent, are to be defended or carried on by the vakeel of Government and at the public expense.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxi.

SURETIES.

67. When a collector shall proceed to confine the surety of any proprietor or farmer of land, he is immediately to cause such portion of the defaulter's lands as he may estimate to be sufficient to make good the amount of the demand, in the event of their being sold, to be attached, under the rules prescribed in paragraph 57, for the attachment of the lands of defaulting proprietors. If the surety shall not possess any landed property in his zillah, the collector is to depute an ameen into the zillah in which the defaulter may have landed property, with a letter stating the amount of the demand on him and the property to be attached. The collector of such zillah is immediately to order a peon to point out the property to the ameen, who is to keep it in attachment until the Board of Revenue shall sanction the sale of it. The ameen is to apply the amount of the collections from the lands, after deducting the expenses of his establishment, towards the discharge of the public revenue, which he is to pay to the collector of the zillah in which the lands may be situated. If any surplus shall remain after making good the public dues, it is to be appropriated towards the discharge of the demand on account of which the attachment of the lands may have been made. If the property of the surety that may be attached shall be too inconsiderable to admit of its being charged with the expense of an ameen, the collector to whom the money due from the surety may be payable is to apply to the collector of the zillah in which the lands may be situated to order the nearest tehseeldar or native officer employed under him in the business of the collections to take charge of the lands, and the collector to whom the application shall be made is to comply with it, and the tehseeldar or native officer to whose charge he may commit the lands is to perform the duties prescribed to the ameen in paragraph 57, and under the same restrictions and penalties. The collector of the zillah in which the lands may be situated is not to be liable to any prosecution on account of the attachment; but the collector in conformity to whose application the attachment may take place is to be responsible for the consequences, in the same manner as if the lands had been situated in his own zillah.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxiv.

SUITS AGAINST COLLECTORS.

68. That proprietors and farmers of land may be enabled to recover sums that may be exacted from them by the collector, on the part of Government, above what they may be bound to pay by their engagements; and that they may be indemnified from all loss they may sustain by such exactions, it is declared, that if a collector shall demand a sum of money from a proprietor or farmer of land on account of arrears, and the proprietor or farmer shall deny, by a writing to that effect addressed to the collector, the justness of the whole or a part of the demand, but to prevent any further process being issued against him shall discharge the whole of the demand, the proprietor or farmer shall be at liberty to sue the collector in the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah for the recovery of the sum which he may consider to have been unjustly taken from him, and the Court shall give judgment in favour of the complainant for all such sums as may be proved to have been unduly exacted from him, and the amount of such judgment shall be refunded to him from the public treasury of the zillah, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, from the date of the exaction to the date of the decree. All the rules respecting suits instituted against a collector for sums actually received by him, on the part of Government, from any proprietor or farmer of land, or from the surety of any farmer, are to be considered applicable to suits that may be instituted against a collector under this paragraph.—Reg. III., 1794, sec. xii.

69. Any person confined for arrears of revenue, or other demands of Government under this Regulation, is to be at liberty to apply to the judge of the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, by the collector of which he may have been confined, to require such collector to show cause why he is continued in confinement. If the prisoner shall dispute the justness of the demand, the judge is not to inquire into the merits of the case, but is to leave the prisoner to prosecute the collector under paragraph 59, which is hereby extended to demands on sureties and purchasers of land, as far as it can be applied to them. If, however, the prisoner shall admit the justness of the demand for which he was confined, as well as any other claims that may be made upon him, for sums stated to have become due from him subsequent to his confinement, and shall assert that the whole of such sums have been discharged by him, the judge is to proceed to inquire whether the prisoner has actually paid such sums or not. Upon examination of the prisoner's accounts of his payments (which examination is to be considered as a continuation of the original suit or process, and not as a new suit or process), if it shall appear to the judge that the demands for which he may be in confinement have been liquidated, he is to release him, upon his giving security to make good any sum which the collector may state to be still due from him, in the event of the cause being appealed, and the sum being awarded in favour of Government. If the collector shall not object to the adjustment of accounts made by the Court, or if he shall object to them, and the person confined shall omit to give the security above required, and the collector shall not appeal within the time limited for preferring appeals, the judge is to release the prisoner without taking any security. If it shall be found that the whole, or a part of the sum for which such person may be in confinement, remains undischarged, and he shall acquiesce in the adjustment of accounts made by the Court, and shall have been confined on account of such demand for a term exceeding one year, the judge is empowered to release him, upon his giving good security to pay the sum remaining due from him, by instalments, during the course of one year after his release. The collector and the prisoner are to be allowed to appeal from the decision which may be passed by the Court under this paragraph, in the event of either of them being dissatisfied with it, under the rules regarding appeals prescribed in Regulations V. and VI., 1793. The rules prescribed to collectors in the following paragraph regarding the decisions therein specified, are to be considered applicable to all decisions passed under this paragraph.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxix.

70. Upon a decision being passed in the Dewanny Adawlut of any zillah by which the whole, or any part of a sum of money that may have been demanded, or actually received by a collector, as an arrear of revenue, from any proprietor or farmer of land, shall be adjudged not to be due, the collector is to apply immediately to the Court, through his vakeel, for a copy of the proceedings and decree. The Court is to order copies of the proceedings and decree to be delivered to the collector with all practicable despatch. The collector is to forward the papers, without delay, to the Board of Revenue, with a letter stating his objections to the decree. If the Board shall be of opinion that the decision is not well founded, they are to authorize the collector to appeal the cause to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut. If the Board of Revenue are satisfied with the decision of the Dewanny Adawlut, they are to direct the collector not to prefer an appeal to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut. In all cases in which the Board of Revenue may order the collector to prefer an appeal to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, the collector is to be indemnified by Government for all costs and damages that may have been awarded against him by the Zillah Court. On the other hand, if the Board of Revenue shall deem the decision of the Zillah Court equitable, and not direct an appeal, the collector is to defray all the costs and damages that may have been awarded against him in that Court. The collector is nevertheless to be at liberty to appeal the cause, but at the risk of paying all costs and damages that may be adjudged against him in appeal, in the event of his being ultimately cast. Appeals in which the collectors may be engaged in the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut in consequence of orders from the Board of Revenue, are to be carried on by the vakeel of Government and at the public expense.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxx.

71. If a collector shall be prosecuted under paragraphs 59 or 69, and the prosecutor shall be cast, or be dissatisfied with the decision of the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, and appeal to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, and an appeal should be admitted, it shall be carried on at the public expense, and be conducted by the vakeel of Government, who is to be furnished with the necessary instructions for that purpose by the collector.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxxi.

72. In every case in which a collector may be prosecuted in the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah under these rules, for sums demanded or received by him on behalf of Government from any proprietor or farmer of land, or from any surety, or from any purchaser of land; or for any sums demanded or received, or taken by him, directly or indirectly, for his own use, from any of the above-mentioned descriptions of persons, over and above what he may be entitled to demand on behalf of the public, or for any acts done in his official capacity that may be repugnant to this Regulation, or which may not be warranted by it, and in appeals that he may have preferred without the orders of the Board of Revenue, he is to appoint any of the authorized vakeels of the Court before which the suit may be brought to plead the cause.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxxii.

73. In prosecutions that may be instituted in the Dewanny Adawlut of any zillah against the collector of the zillah, for sums of money demanded, or directly or indirectly received or taken by him for his own use, from any proprietor or farmer of land, or any surety, or any purchaser of land; or for any acts done in his official capacity that may be repugnant to this Regulation, or which may not be warranted by it, and that shall not involve any claims to sums received or demanded by him on behalf of Government, in conformity to this Regulation (which claims are to be made the subject of distinct suits, and are to be tried in the manner and under the rules prescribed in this Regulation), the collector is not to forward the proceedings and decree to the Board of Revenue. The suit is to be considered entirely as a dispute of a private nature between the collector and the prosecutor, and the collector is to defend it at his own risk and expense, in the same manner as individuals amenable to the Courts, and not employed by Government, are required to defend suits instituted against them.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxxiii.

74. The collectors are not to derive any pecuniary advantage whatever from suits that they may institute, or which may be preferred against them in any of the courts of justice in their official capacity; with the exception of suits in which they may be engaged under paragraph 73, the sums awarded to them in which they are to apply to their own use. On the other hand, it is not intended that the collectors should sustain any loss in levying the dues of Government, in cases in which their conduct may be adjudged by a final judicial decree to be conformable to this Regulation. The collectors are accordingly to bring to the credit of Government, in their monthly accounts, all sums whatever (with the exception above specified) that may be adjudged to them as costs or damages by any of the Courts of civil justice; and they are to insert at the foot of their monthly accounts, or in a separate account, or in their monthly accounts under a distinct head, according as the Board of Revenue may deem advisable, all sums which they may disburse, in conformity to this Regulation, on account of process or suits directed to be carried on by the vakeel of Government, the costs and damages in which are expressly directed to be defrayed by the public, or in suits the costs and damages in which may be ultimately defrayable by Government, but for which the collectors are directed to be held responsible in the first instance. But they are, in no case, to charge these disbursements in their accounts, without previously obtaining the special sanction of the Board of Revenue for that purpose. Until such sanction is procured, the collectors are to be held answerable for the disbursements.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxxiv.

75. If a collector shall have been compelled to pay costs or damages in any suit under this Regulation, and upon his stating the case to the Board of Revenue it shall appear to them, upon a consideration of the circumstances of it, that he ought not to be made responsible for the amount, the Board are to transmit the case to the Governor-General in Council, who will determine whether the collector shall be made responsible for such costs or damages or not.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxxv.

76. Security is not to be demanded from the collectors for their personal appearance, in any suit in which they may be engaged under this Regulation; nor shall any security be required from them for the payment of costs, or for the performance of the decrees or orders of the Court, in suits which are directed by this Regulation to be carried on by the vakeel of Government and at the public expense. In suits for sums demanded or received by the collector on behalf of Government, for the costs and damages in which he is declared eventually responsible, the Courts are to require the same security from the collector for the payment of the costs and damages, as would be taken in similar cases from individual suitors; but they are not to require any security from him for the performance of their decrees respecting the sums which may constitute the subject of the suits, as Government will be answerable for the due performance of them. In the suits described in paragraph 73 which may be instituted against the collector, he is to give the same security for the payment of the costs, and the performance of the decrees and orders of the Courts, as would be required from individual suitors in similar cases. If a collector shall refuse or omit to pay, within the limited period, any sum of money that may be ordered to be levied from him, either on account of the suits described in paragraph 73 or as costs or damages in any other suits, for the expenses incurred in which he is declared eventually responsible, the Court is to levy the amount from his surety by the customary process. If the Court shall not be able to obtain payment from his surety, the judge is to report the circumstances to the Governor-General in Council, who will order the amount to be paid from the public treasury, and deduct it from the allowances which may be receivable by the collector from Government. In all other cases, if a collector shall omit or refuse to obey any order or decree of a Court of judicature, the Court from which the process shall have issued is to fine him according to the nature of the offence. In the event of the collector refusing or omitting to pay the fine, the Court is to report the circumstances to the Governor-General in Council, who, provided he shall approve of the fine, will order the amount to be stopped from the allowances which may be receivable by such collector from Government.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxxvi.

77. The Board of Revenue are to issue such instructions as they may think advisable to the collectors, regarding the mode of inserting in their monthly accounts the sums which may be paid to them as costs and damages, in consequence of the orders or decrees of any of the Courts of civil judicature, or noting at the foot of their accounts, or charging under a separate head in their monthly accounts, the sums which they may disburse as costs or damages which are expressly directed to be defrayed by Government, whatever may be the final decision in the cause, or that may be ultimately defrayable by Government, although in the first instance the collectors are to be held responsible for them; and to require such vouchers as they may deem necessary for such receipts and disbursements, as well as for the sums which the Courts may adjudge to be repaid from the public treasury, or not to be due to the public.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxxvii.

78. When any process or order shall be issued by any of the Courts of civil judicature to the collector of a zillah, in suits instituted under this Regulation, the judge or register of the Court immediately serving the process or order is to transmit it under a cover sealed in the form of a letter, and superscribed with his name and official appellation, and addressed to the collector. The collector is to acknowledge the receipt of the process or order, on the day on which he may receive it, by a letter addressed to the judge or register of the Court by which it may have been served.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxxviii.

79. To facilitate the communication between the collectors and the vakeels in the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, who may be entrusted with the conduct of any appeals (including appeals from decisions in the suits described in paragraph 73), in which they may be engaged under this Regulation, either whilst they may continue in the office of collector of the zillah in which such suits may have arisen, or after their removal from the office, the collectors are permitted to forward, free of postage, any instructions which they may have to transmit to the vakeels of the court. The instructions are to be enclosed under a cover, sealed and directed to the vakeel. The instructions, so sealed and directed, are to be transmitted, under a sealed cover, addressed to the register of the Court in which the cause may be depending, and superscribed with the name and official appellation of the person despatching it. The register of the Court, immediately upon receiving the instructions, is to deliver them sealed to the vakeel to whom they may be directed. Any person who may be removed from the office of collector of a zillah, and may have suits depending in the Dewanny Adawlut of such zillah after his removal from the office, is likewise empowered to forward instructions to his vakeel through the Court. In like manner the vakeels in any of the courts to whom the pleading of suits may be committed under this Regulation by persons holding the office of collector, or after they have been removed from the office, are authorized to forward any papers which they may have to convey to their employers by the public dawk, free of postage. The papers are to be enclosed in a cover, sealed with the seal of the vakeel, and the judge or register of the Court is to transmit the papers, so sealed, in a cover addressed to the person to whom they are to be forwarded, and superscribe the cover with his official signature.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xxxix.

80. No collector is to be liable to prosecution for any official acts of his predecessor; but persons who may be removed from the office of collector of the revenue of a zillah are to carry on, in the same manner as if they had continued in the office, all suits of the nature of those described in paragraph 73, in which they may be engaged; and all suits preferred against them in the zillah courts for sums that they may have demanded or received on behalf of Government, and for the costs and damages in which they are declared eventually answerable, as well as all suits, being appeals from decisions in suits of the last-mentioned description, excepting such of those appeals as they may have preferred, or in which they may have become a party, in consequence of orders from the Board of Revenue.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xli.

81. If the collector of a zillah shall die or be removed from his office, his successor is to carry on all unfinished process or suits in the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of such zillah, directed by this Regulation to be conducted by the vakeel of Government and at the public expense; and all appeals from the decrees of the Zillah Court in such cases, as also all appeals from the decrees of the Zillah Court, in which the former collector may have been engaged, in consequence of orders from the Board of Revenue, and which are ordered to be pleaded by the vakeel of Government and at the public expense.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xlii.

82. In cases in which the Board of Revenue may judge it expedient, or in which they may receive orders for the purpose from the Governor-General in Council, they are to take upon themselves the superintendence of the prosecution or defence of any appeal in the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut which a collector may prefer or be engaged in, pursuant to their orders, instead of leaving the superintendence of the appeal to him.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xliii.

83. If any proprietor or farmer of land, against whom the collector may issue the process specified in paragraph 54, shall be or reside in either of the cities of Patna or Moorshedabad, the collector is to order the two peons whom he may charge with the writing for the apprehension of the defaulter, to proceed to the judge of such city, who is to order a peon to accompany them, to point out the place of residence of the defaulter. The two peons are to take the defaulter into custody, and convey him to the gaol of the Dewanny Adawlut of the city in which they may so apprehend him. The remainder of paragraph 54 with regard to cases in which defaulters shall not reside or be within the limits of the zillah, wherein the lands on account of which the arrears may be due shall be situated, is to be considered equally applicable as if the defaulter had been apprehended in any zillah instead of in such city. If any defaulter of either of the descriptions before mentioned in this paragraph shall be or reside within the limits of the town of Calcutta, the collector is to forward the written demand for the amount claimed from the defaulter to the Board of Revenue, who are to submit it to the Governor-General in Council. Upon the receipt of the writing, the Governor-General in Council will either order the defaulter to be apprehended and conveyed to the gaol of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, from the collector of which the written demand may have issued, or adopt such other measures as may appear to him proper. If the Governor-General in Council shall cause the defaulter to be apprehended and conveyed to the gaol of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah above mentioned, he is thenceforward to be considered exactly in the same predicament as if he had been apprehended within the limits of such zillah, and conveyed to gaol by the collector of it under paragraph 54.—Regulation XIV., 1793, sec. xlv.

84. If a proprietor or farmer of land, or a surety or a purchaser of land, shall deem himself aggrieved by any act which may be done by a collector, in conformity to special orders from the Governor-General in Council or the Board of Revenue; or if a collector shall demand a sum of money, on behalf of Government, from any of the above-mentioned descriptions of persons, and the stated defaulter shall admit the demand to be conformable to the engagements or stipulations under which the collector may make the demand, but deny their validity, or have any objections to make to them, either wholly or in part, under any Regulations passed by the Governor-General in Council, the collector is not to be liable to any prosecution on account of such act, or the demands that he may make conformably to such engagements or stipulations, which are to be held valid, until they are set aside or altered by a final judicial decision; and the proprietor or farmer of land, or surety or purchaser of land, is to discharge the demands that may be made upon him by the collector under such engagements or stipulations, until the decision shall be passed. In the cases above specified, Government is to be considered as a party in the cause with its subjects, and the proprietor or farmer of land, or the surety or purchaser, is to present a petition to the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah in which the cause may be cognizable, stating his objections to the act, or to the engagements or stipulations, and praying that the Governor-General in Council will order the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah to try the points or matters contested under the Regulations. The judge to whom the petition may be presented is to forward it immediately to the Governor-General in Council, who, provided he shall not think it proper to afford the redress that may be solicited by the petitioner, and the Courts of justice shall be competent to try the cause, will direct the Court in which it may be cognizable to proceed to the trial of it. If the Governor-General in Council shall order the cause to be tried, the judge of the Court is to send a written notification of the order to the complainant, and the cause is to be considered as filed in the Court from the date of the notification. The Court is then to proceed to try the suit, under the same rules and regulations as are prescribed for the trial of suits between individuals. The collector of the zillah is to carry on, under the orders of the Board of Revenue, all suits that may be instituted against Government in conformity to this paragraph, and to issue the necessary instructions to the vakeel of Government in the Zillah Court, and in the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, should the cause be appealed. In the event of Government being cast in the Zillah Court, the collector is to send copies of the decree and proceedings of the Court (which are to be delivered by the Court to the collector as soon as may be practicable upon his applying for them), with a letter stating his objections to the decision, to the Board of Revenue, who are to submit them, with their opinion on the case, to the Governor-General in Council, who will order an appeal to be preferred from the decision, or not, as he may deem advisable. All costs and damages that may be awarded against Government in suits instituted under this paragraph are to be defrayed from the public treasury.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xlvi.

85. The rules respecting collectors are to be considered equally applicable to the assistants of collectors, or other persons who may be appointed by the Governor-General in Council to officiate as collector of any zillah during the temporary absence of the collector, or whilst the office may be vacant.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xlvii.

LIMITATIONS.

86. No part of these rules is to be construed to authorize the confinement of the persons, or the sale of the lands of disqualified proprietors, whose estates may be intrusted to a manager under Regulation X., 1793, for arrears of public revenue incurred whilst their respective estates were under the charge of managers, in conformity to the rules contained in that Regulation. Nor to empower the collectors to take a female proprietor of land into custody, or order any such proprietor to attend them in person, under any pretext whatever. Nor to take into custody any proprietor of land with whom a settlement has been or may be concluded, or any farmer of land or his surety, except in the cases in which they are expressly authorized to issue process against their persons. Arrears of revenue that may become due from female proprietors of entire estates, who may be exempted from the operation of Regulation X., 1793, and acknowledged as the ostensible managers of their own lands, and from proprietors of joint undivided estates committed to the charge of a manager, are to be recovered by the sale of their lands, or any other property which they may possess.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xlviii.

RULES IN FORCE IN BENARES AND IN THE CEDED AND CONQUERED PROVINCES (NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES).

NOTE.—The rules for Benares and the Ceded and Conquered Provinces are generally concordant, as the references at the end of each paragraph will show; where, however, there are differences, the corresponding rules are printed in succession with each other, with a heading denoting the provinces in which they are respectively in force.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

87. Tehseeldars, or native collectors, shall be appointed to collect the public dues from those lands, for the payment of the revenue from which settlements may not have been concluded with the zemindars or other actual proprietors; and generally, to collect the revenues of such lands as the collectors may deem it expedient to place under them.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 1.

88. The tehseeldars shall be selected by the collectors, who are required to pay the utmost attention to their character and responsibility. The name of the person proposed for that office shall be submitted by the collector to the Board of Revenue, and no actual appointment shall take place without the previous sanction of that board.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 2.

89. In all practicable cases, the amount of the revenue to be collected by each tehseeldar shall not be less than two lacks of rupees, nor exceed the sum of three lacks of rupees per annum, including every description of collections intrusted to his management. Where it may be deemed expedient by a collector to intrust a tehseeldar with a collection exceeding the sum of three lacks of rupees, he shall report the same to the Board of Revenue, in order that they may submit such reference for the orders of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 3.

90. The collectors shall be careful to prevent persons holding more than one situation as tehseeldar, by obtaining these appointments in other pergunnahs or in other districts, in the names of their connections or dependents. The collectors shall also be careful that the persons appointed tehseeldars are principals, and not employed as agents for their sureties.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 4.

91. The tehseeldars shall give good and sufficient security (to be approved of by the Board of Revenue) for the due and faithful performance of the trust reposed in them, to the amount of the largest kist recoverable by them, respectively, in each year.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 7.

92. A tehseeldar falling in arrear to the amount of one whole kist, shall be liable to be removed and a report of the arrear so incurred shall be made, without delay, to the Board of Revenue.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 8.

93. Tehseeldars shall make the usual advances of tuccavy at the proper periods, for the purchase of seed, cattle, and implements of husbandry; taking bonds for the same, bearing interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum. The tuccavy bonds shall be attested by the choudries, canongoes, and mokuddums; and the number of begahs for the cultivation of which the advance is made shall be specified in the bond.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 9.

94. All engagements whatever concluded immediately by the tehseeldars, shall be made and granted in the name and on the part of Government; inasmuch as the tehseeldar acts for, and is to be regarded in all cases as the officer of Government.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 10.

95. Where a person paying revenue to Government may be dissatisfied with the conduct of a tehseeldar, and shall prove, to the satisfaction of the collector, that the tehseeldar has been guilty of misconduct towards him, such person shall be entitled to the privilege of paying his revenue direct to the treasury of the collector; provided that the complainant shall give good and sufficient security for the regular discharge of his kists. But no separation of this nature shall take place without a previous reference to the Board of Revenue: and the collectors shall be careful that the authority and influence of the tehseeldars be not lessened on light and insufficient grounds.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 11.

Benares and Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

96. Whenever any of the present tehseeldars in the province of Benares or in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces shall die or shall resign or shall be removed from office on account of misconduct, under the powers vested in the Governor-General in Council by the general Regulations, the Governor-General in Council will fix the personal allowances which it may be proper to grant to their successors, and likewise the amount which it may be proper to allow to them for the maintenance of establishments, as receivers of the public revenue, on a consideration of the amount of the revenue to be collected by such tehseeldars, of the extent of the country comprised within the limits of their respective tehseeldaries, and of other local circumstances. It shall accordingly be the duty of the collector of the district in which any tehseeldar may die or resign, or be dismissed from office, to report to the Governor-General in Council, through the Board of Revenue, the amount of the personal salary which the collector would propose to be granted, on the principles above stated, to the new tehseeldar, and of the establishment which he would propose to be allowed for the collection of the public revenue.—Reg. XXI., 1806, sec. ii.

97. Tehseeldars appointed under these rules shall be vested with the same powers as the present tehseeldars are or may be empowered to exercise, as receivers of the public revenue, under the Regulations established in the above-mentioned provinces respectively.—Reg. XXI., 1806, sec. iii.

98. Tehseeldars shall be responsible for the jumma of the mehauls included within their respective tehseeldaries; provided however, that if any losses shall be proved, to the satisfaction of the Governor-General in Council, to have arisen from the impracticability of realizing any balances due from zemindars, farmers, or others, by the sale of their property or by other legal means; or if the Governor-General in Council shall, in any particular case, deem it just and proper to grant remissions in favour of any of the said zemindars, farmers, or others, the tehseeldars shall obtain abatements proportioned to the amount of such losses or remissions. Provided also, that the tehseeldars shall obtain abatements from the jumma specified in their engagements, in proportion to the actual losses which may be proved to the Governor-General in Council to have been sustained in lands held amauny.—Reg. XXI., 1806, sec. iv.

99. The personal salary and amount of the establishment which may be granted to the tehseeldars as receivers of the public revenue, shall be paid to them by the collectors, and shall be charged to the Revenue department.—Reg. XXI., 1806, sec. v.

NOTE.—See paragraph 39, and the note thereto appended.

100. The tehseeldars are to place shaenas, or watchmen, on the crops, at the expense of the parties to whom they may belong, and are not to allow them to be cut down or carried away, until the zemindar or farmer in the mushuckhusy lands (lands for the payment of the revenue assessed on which a settlement has been concluded), or the ryots in the lands held amauny, shall have given security for the revenue payable therefrom on account of the year. If such security shall be given before the ripening of the first crops, the tehseeldar is not to station watchmen over the crops, nor is any charge to be incurred on account of watchmen by the persons who may be responsible for the revenue due from the lands; but where such security is not tendered, watchmen are to be stationed, and an allowance, the amount of which is to be regulated by the local custom, is to be made to them, and included in the deh khurch, or village charges, of which the accounts are kept by the putwarries. To prevent all undue exactions under the head of shaenagee, or allowance to shaenas or watchmen, the tehseeldar is to furnish each watchmen with a dustuck or writ, prescribing the duty he is to perform. On this dustuck the serishtadars or canongoes are to indorse the name of the watchman, the rate of allowance which, according to established custom, he is to receive, and from whom it is to be levied; and the serishtadars or canongoes, at the end of every month, are to transmit, under their official signature, a list of all such shaena dustucks as they shall have thus attested during the course thereof, together with the rates of shaenagee thereby allowed. The collector is to revise these allowances, and may order them to be reduced whenever they shall appear to him exorbitant.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. ii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 12.

Benares.

101. The tehseeldars are not to issue a dustuck, or written demand for the payment of any kist or instalment, until it be due. Accordingly, in those places where by ancient custom the revenues are payable by two instalments in each month, viz., at the amawus, or middle, and the poornmaushy, or end of the month, he is not to issue a dustuck for such kists before the expiration of the day of payment; and where the revenues are payable by monthly instalments, he is not to issue a dustuck for the instalment of any month before the elapse of it. But when any person shall have failed to pay in his kist before, or on the date on which it may become due, the tehseeldar is to issue a dustuck, and to cause it to be served on the party in arrear, who, until he shall have discharged the amount, is to pay to the peon employed in serving the dustuck, for the first three days, one anna per day, which rate shall afterwards be increased half an anna per day until the kist be paid, or until the dustuck be withdrawn, as hereafter provided for. But the defaulter shall not be subject to any further charge for the khorack, or subsistence of the peon, or other account.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. iii.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

102. The tehseeldars are not to issue a dustuck, or written demand for the payment of any kist or instalment, until it be due. But when any person shall have failed to pay in his kist before, or on the date on which it may become due, the tehseeldar is to issue a dustuck, and to cause it to be served by a single peon on the party in arrear, who, until he shall have discharged the amount, is to pay to the peon employed in serving the dustuck two annas per day (excepting in districts where custom has fixed the subsistence of peons at a lower rate; in which case, such lower rate, and no more, shall be exacted) until the kist be paid, or until the dustuck be withdrawn, as hereafter provided for. But the defaulter shall not be subject to any further charge for the khorack, or subsistence of the peon, or on other account.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. iii.

Benares and Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

103. Tehseeldars are strictly prohibited from employing muzcoory peons to serve the above-mentioned or any other dustucks. This duty shall be performed solely by peons entertained on monthly wages, and who shall have given security for their good conduct, and whose wages shall be paid by Government out of the tullubana or subsistence-money that may be levied from the persons on whom they may serve the dustucks.* Every tehseeldar is to report to the collector the number and names of the peons thus entertained by him, as well as such occasional dismissions, vacancies, and appointments, as may occur in this part of his establishment; and the collector is to furnish the tehseeldars with a correspondent number of chupprassies or badges which such peons are to wear, and without which they are not to perform any official act. On each of these badges shall be inscribed in the Persian language, and in the Hindostanee language and Nageree character, "Chupprassy of the tehseeldar of ———" (name of the mohaul or district under the charge of the tehseeldar in whose service the peon may be employed).—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. iv.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. iv. (* NOTE.—In the latter rule, the words, "the tehseeldar making good the sum necessary to sustain such charge in all cases of deficiency" are added here.)

Benares.

104. Every dustuck issued by a tehseeldar for enforcing payment of a kist, shall be attested by the serishtadars officiating in the tehseeldary cutcherry, who, on the eighth of each succeeding month, are to transmit to the collector an attested list of all such dustucks as may have been thus issued; and the peons, on their return with their dustucks, shall account to the serishtadars for the tullubana collected by them in conformity to their dustucks; and after retaining one moiety of the amount for their own subsistence, shall pay the other half to the serishtadars, receiving from them regular receipts for the sums so paid. The peons are immediately to deliver these receipts into the dufter or office of the tehseeldar, who, on the twentieth of every succeeding month, is to forward an attested list of them to the collector. The collector is to cause the list to be examined and checked by the attested list of the dustucks issued, which he will have previously received from the serishtadars, and to have entered monthly in the moolky treasury accounts the neat realized amount of the reserved moiety of such tullubana, and to allow the serishtadars to apply the same towards the discharge of so much of their monthly wages as may be payable from that treasury.—Ben. Reg. VI., 1795, sec. v.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

105. Every dustuck issued by a tehseeldar for enforcing payment of a kist shall be attested by the canongoes officiating in the tehseeldary cutcherry, who, on the eighth of each succeeding month, are to transmit to the collector an attested list of all such dustucks as may have been thus issued; and the peons, on their return with their dustucks, shall deliver in an account to the canongoes of the tullubana collected by them in conformity to their dustucks, and shall pay the amount into the treasury of the tehseeldar, receiving from the treasurer regular receipts for the sums so paid. The peons are immediately to deliver these receipts into the dufter or office of the tehseeldar, who, on the twentieth of every succeeding month, is to forward an attested list of them to the collector, carrying the surplus collections on this account to the credit of Government. The collector is to cause the list to be examined and to be checked by the attested list of the dustucks issued, which he will have previously received from the canongoes, and to have entered monthly in the treasury accounts the neat realized amount of such tullubana.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. v.

Benares and Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

106. The tehseeldars are declared liable to be removed from their offices by the collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, and to be prosecuted on the ground of their engagements, either during the course or at the end of the year.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. vi.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. vi.

107. The kists or instalments for each month receivable from the tehseeldars and the huzoory malguzars are to be paid between the first and the seventh of each succeeding month; and for all arrears not then paid, the collector, at his discretion, on a consideration of the credit and responsibility of the parties, is either to issue his dustuck, or to send only a written notice by letter, or a verbal intimation, through the vakeels of the parties (who are always to be in attendance at his cutcherry) to pay in their kists. But to those who shall not have paid the amount due from them by the fourteenth of the month, the collector shall issue dustucks, under his seal and signature, on the fifteenth of the month, and the peons serving such dustucks shall be directed to bring the party or parties to whom they are addressed, without delay, to the collector's cutcherry, and also from the date of their dustuck to levy tullubana for the first three days, at the rate of two annas per day, to be augmented at the rate of one anna per day until the kist be discharged, or until the dustuck be withdrawn, as hereafter provided for. Such dustucks, and all other summonses of the collector, are to be served by the badge peons on his establishment of public officers hired at monthly wages, who shall be allowed to retain one anna per day for their subsistence out of the tullubana which they may levy. In cases, however, of unavoidable necessity, the collector is permitted to employ muzcoory peons, who are to be allowed out of the tullubana which they may collect two annas per day for their subsistence. And on particular occasions, when from the distance of situation or the necessity for despatch, the collector shall deem it proper, instead of a peon, to employ a horseman (sowar) in the serving of any written demand for revenue, the tullubana to be collected by the horseman shall begin at the rate of four annas per day, and augment at the rate of two annas per day, until the demand specified in the dustuck be liquidated. The horseman shall be allowed to retain out of his tullubana four annas per day for his own maintenance and the subsistence of his horse; but no sowars are to be employed by the collector in the serving of dustucks, excepting those who form part of his public establishment and are entertained on monthly wages. All peons, whether employed on monthly wages or those termed muzcoory, and also sowars, are to give security, not to exact or receive, under any pretence, any sum or sums, or to accept of any subsistence for themselves or their horses, from any person or persons to whom they may be thus sent to demand payment of revenue, under the penalty of being made to refund double the amount, either by the collector, on such exaction or receipt coming to his knowledge, or in case of their being afterwards prosecuted on this account in the City Court, or either of the Zillah Courts.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. vii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. vii. (NOTE.—The words underlined are omitted in the latter rule.)

108. The tullubana collected as above prescribed is to be accounted for, at the end of every month, by the collector's nazir and the jemadar of the sowars, to the treasurer of the moolky treasury, and the said nazir and jemadar are then to pay in the amount thereof, according to an attested statement under the collector's official seal and signature. This statement is to remain as a voucher in the said treasury; from the gross receipts specified in which there is only to be deducted the subsistence-money allowed to the peons or horsemen, as authorized in the preceding paragraph.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. viii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. viii. (NOTE.—The latter rule substitutes "collector's treasury" for "moolky treasury.")

109. With respect to the lands the revenue assessed on which is not paid huzoory, or immediately to the collector, the tehseeldar, at the expiration of the fifth day from the date of his dustucks having been served without success on the party or parties in arrear, is to cause similar written demands, under the same attestations, and subject to the same progressive rate of tullubana, to be served on their sureties, if they shall have given sureties; and when the revenue in demand, together with the tullubana, shall be realized from the principal or surety, either at their places of abode, in consequence of the dustuck being served upon them, or at the tehseeldar's cutcherry, to which the peons are to escort them, by such time (consistently with the period fixed in the ensuing paragraph for their being sent in to the collector) as shall be specified by the tehseeldar in the dustuck, such dustuck or dustucks, together with the peons serving the same, shall thereon be immediately withdrawn.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. x.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. x. (NOTE.—The words underlined are omitted in the latter rule.)

110. The tehseeldars are not to confine in gaol, or put into stocks or irons, any persons, whether principals or sureties, who may be in arrears on account of the revenue; but in case of any such defaulter not paying up the demand on him by the tenth day after a dustuck shall have been served on a principal, or by the fifth day after the dustuck issued on his surety, such party or parties are invariably to be sent with a written report of the circumstances to the collector. In such instances, and also in similar cases of huzoory malguzars, on whom he may have sent a dustuck or written demand and summoned in the first instance, the collector, after inquiring into the circumstances, shall within ten days after the arrival of such defaulter or defaulters at his cutcherry (during which period of ten days he may either confine their persons, or only keep over them the peons with whom they arrived), either discharge him or them, on his or their paying the amount in demand, or satisfying the collector that he or they will make good such payment before the expiration of the current Hindoo month; or otherwise the collector is to cause the party or parties in question, after the expiration of the ten days, to be conveyed to the public gaol of the nearest Court of Dewanny Adawlut, and the collector is to apply to the Court, by motion in writing to be made in open Court (if the Court shall be sitting) through the pleader of Government, for the confinement of the defaulter. If the Court shall not be sitting, the motion is to be presented to the judge out of Court. The motion is to specify the amount of the arrear due from the defaulter, and the date on which it became payable. Upon receipt of the motion, the judge is immediately to order the defaulter to be confined in the gaol of the Dewanny Adawlut, and detain him until he shall have discharged the arrear for which he may have been taken into custody, and all subsequent arrears that may become due during his confinement, or until the collector shall apply to the Court, by motion made as above directed, to have him released.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xi.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xi.

111. If the crops in any estate or farm shall have been damaged or destroyed by drought, inundation, or other calamity of season, or from any cause not originating in the neglect, mismanagement, or misconduct of the proprietor or farmer, and such proprietor or farmer shall fall in arrears, so as to subject himself to be confined under the preceding paragraph, and the collector shall be satisfied, from the best information which he may be able to obtain, that the defaulter is unable to make good the arrears by the end of the current month, as required in the said paragraph, either from the collections on account of such year from his estate or farm, or from his private funds or property, or by a loan, he is directed to suspend the exercise of the powers vested in him by the preceding paragraph for the confinement of the defaulter. But the collector is immediately to report the circumstances of the case to the Board of Revenue, with his reasons for not proceeding against the defaulter, and to wait for, and be guided by, the instructions which he may receive from them.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xiii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xiii.

112. In all cases of the default or confinement of parties from whom revenue may be due, the collector is to issue directions to the tehseeldar of the district in which the lands of the defaulter may be situated, to levy the public revenue by realizing, in concert with the serishtadars, the defaulter's full share of the assessment on the crops to the end of the year, or until such time as he or his surety, in case he shall have given security, shall have paid up the balance, together with the charges of the peons who may have taken him into custody.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xiv.; Reg. XXXVII., 1803, sec. xiv., cl. 1.

113. Whenever a proprietor or farmer of land may subject himself to confinement, and his estate or farm to attachment, for arrears of revenue under the provisions herein contained, but if the collector shall be of opinion that, instead of confining the person of the defaulter and attaching his estate or farm, the arrear due from him will be more speedily discharged by distraining and selling any personal property belonging to the defaulter and his surety, according to the prescribed process, whereby landholders and farmers are authorized to recover arrears of rent from their under-tenants by distraining and selling the personal property of the latter, or if in any case, notwithstanding the confinement of a defaulting proprietor or farmer, and the attachment of his estate or farm for an arrear of revenue, such arrear be not discharged, and the defaulter or his surety shall possess any personal property from which the same can be made good, the collector may, in all such cases, direct the tehseeldar of the district in which the personal property of the defaulter and his surety may be forthcoming, or if it be a huzoory mahal, any officer whom he may think proper to appoint for the purpose, to cause the personal property of the defaulter and his surety to be distrained and sold, as far as necessary, for the recovery of the arrear due, in the mode and under the restrictions prescribed by the Regulations with regard to the distress and sale of the personal property of under-tenants, for the recovery of arrears of rent due from them to proprietors and farmers. The collector also, in all cases wherein he may judge it expedient, is empowered to vest the tehseeldars with discretionary authority to proceed against defaulters within their respective tehseeldaries, by the established process of distress and sale, without waiting for his previous sanction; but, in such cases, the tehseeldars will be held personally answerable, if the amount for which the distress may be levied is found not to have been justly due; and in all cases wherein property may be distrained and brought to sale by the tehseeldars, they will be held responsible for any wilful deviation from the Regulations, as prescribed with regard to the agents of landholders and farmers.—Reg. V., 1800, sec. xxii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xiv., cl. 2.

114. This sequestration of the profits of the party or parties in arrear is to extend also to the profits of all those of the brethren or putteedars whose names may be inserted in the pottah of Government, and who shall have executed the corresponding cabooleat, without, however, infringing the rights of the inferior putteedars or sharers, or in talookas, of the dependent village zemindars or under-renters, or in any case, or under any description of tenure, of the common ryots, from whom the collections are to be made by the tehseeldar according to their engagements with the defaulter or defaulters; or where no such engagements exist, according to the established rules and usages of the village or talooka; and in addition to the accounts to be kept by the serishtadars, the defaulter may appoint a person to keep a counterpart of the accounts of the receipts and disbursements.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xv.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xv., cl. 1.

115. Whenever the estates of defaulting proprietors, or the farms of defaulting farmers, may be attached under paragraphs 112 to 114, if the arrear due, with any further arrear that may become due from the same proprietor or farmer, be discharged from the collections or otherwise at any period before the end of the current Fusly year, together with the amount of any expense attending the attachment, such attachment shall be immediately withdrawn, and a full and fair account rendered of all receipts and disbursements during the continuance of it.—Reg. V., 1800, sec. xxiii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xv., cl. 2.

116. The injunction to the tehseeldar to collect from the ryots according to their engagements with the defaulter is not to be considered applicable to engagements evidently collusive, which may have been contracted in expectation of the attachment, with a view to prevent the officers of Government from receiving the just rents during the continuance of it. In such cases, the tehseeldar is to collect according to the established rates and usages of the pergunnah, as he is directed to do in cases where no engagement exists between the defaulter and his under-tenants. It is further hereby declared, that after the promulgation of this Regulation no anticipation of the rent will be admitted in cases of attachment. The landholders and farmers are prohibited from demanding or receiving, and the ryots and other under-tenants are prohibited from paying, any part of the rents receivable by the former and payable by the latter before the stipulated or usual period of payment, according to the kistbundy or other engagements, or established local usage; and no person hereafter making anticipated payments against this prohibition, or producing receipts for such, whether collusive or otherwise, shall be entitled to credit for the amount from the officers of Government who may attach the lands or farm, or from the landholder or farmer making the attachment, if it be made for arrears due from an under-tenant, under the provisions herein contained. Nor shall credit be allowed for any payment made to a defaulter after proclamation of the attachment of his estate or farm, until further proclamation be made that such attachment has been withdrawn, unless it can be clearly shown that such proclamation, which is to be made as public as possible throughout the attached lands immediately on the attachment taking place, was notwithstanding unknown to the party making payment to the defaulter at the time when such payment may have been made. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be understood to exonerate the defaulter from crediting his under-tenants, or otherwise accounting for all sums received by him, whether in anticipation of the rents, or subsequently to the attachment of his estate or farm, the above restrictions having reference to the attachment only.—Reg. V., 1800, sec. xxiv.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xv., cl. 3.

117. All complaints for any breach of the rules contained in the preceding rules, either by direct infraction of them or by unnecessary severity in the execution of them, are declared cognizable in the City and Zillah Courts, to which any of the parties may apply at all times, either in person or by vakeel. In such cases, the judge is to cause the collector or tehseeldar

(according as the act complained of may have been done by the former or the latter) to be immediately served with a copy of the complaint, fixing a date, according to the distance of place, for the party complained against to deliver in his answer. On the receipt of such copy and notice, the collector or tehseeldar, respectively, within the period limited in the notice, shall give in his answer to the Court, stating therein the amount in demand from the party or parties on whom the dustuck shall have been issued; and if the said party or parties shall not thereon dispute the justice of the demand, the judge shall stop all further proceedings in the cause. On the contrary, if the plaintiff or plaintiffs, in their replication or that of their vakeel delivered into Court, shall not allow of the justice of the demand, and shall thereon tender to the Court sufficient malzaminy or security, as well for the sum actually in demand as for such further amount as may become due from the growing kists during the trial, and condition to abide by such decree as the Court may pass, including all costs and charges, in case the plaintiff or plaintiffs be cast, the judge shall issue a written precept addressed to the tehseeldar or collector (according as the former or the latter may be the defendant), to withdraw the dustuck and peon from the plaintiff or plaintiffs in the cause. In conformity to the precept, the defendant shall withdraw his process on the party or parties complaining, and give in his answer, when if no part of the claim shall be found to be due from the complainant, the judge shall discharge him, and decree such costs and damages against the tehseeldar or the collector as he may deem equitable, upon a consideration of the circumstances of the case; and the damages so decreed shall be defrayed either by Government or the party prosecuted, according to the rules for such cases hereafter laid down. If only a part of the demand shall appear due, the Court is to discharge the prisoner upon his paying such part. In both cases, however, the Court, previous to releasing the prisoner, shall take good security from him to perform the final decision in appeal, in the event of the cause being appealed by the tehseeldar or collector, in consequence of orders from the Board of Revenue or without their orders. If the tehseeldar or collector shall state to the Court that an appeal will not be preferred from the decision, or if an appeal shall not be lodged within the time limited for preferring appeals, the judge shall release the person so confined without taking such security.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xvi.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xvi., cl. 1.

118. Such part of the above rule as authorizes the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut, on security being given by the plaintiff, to issue a precept for his discharge from confinement and personal restraint, shall not be considered as directing the attachment of the plaintiff's estate or farm to be withdrawn, unless the arrear of revenue claimed from him by the collector or tehseeldar be paid; nor shall the distress and sale of any personal property belonging to the plaintiff be stopped on account of his having instituted a suit against the collector or tehseeldar contesting the justice of the demand upon him. Provided, however, that if any proprietor or farmer of land, from whom an arrear of revenue may be demanded, shall, by a written representation to the collector, deny the justness of such demand, but to prevent any coercive process being issued against him shall discharge the demand, and shall afterwards establish, by a suit of the Dewanny Adawlut, that the amount so paid by him, or any part thereof, was not justly due, the amount of the excess so established shall be immediately repaid from the public treasury, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, from the date on which such excess may have been received to the date of repayment.—Reg. V., 1800, sec. xxiii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xvi., cl. 2.

119. At the expiration of the year, if an arrear shall remain due from any talookdar or zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, the collector is to communicate the amount to the Board of Revenue, accompanied by a detailed account of the causes of the failure; when, as far as regards the lands of proprietors, if the deficiency shall clearly appear to have proceeded from his or their embezzlement or misappropriation of the funds arising from the produce, and that there be no immediate prospect of the party or parties, or his or their sureties, making good the amount, the Board of Revenue, provided from the communications of the collector it shall appear to them expedient so to do, and the Governor-General in Council shall approve of the measure, may authorize the collector to transfer the rights of the defaulting landholder to such one or more of his putteedars, or sharers, as shall be able and willing, in consideration of such transfer, to pay up the balance due to Government. In such case the defaulter is not to be entirely excluded, but is to retain, as an inferior putteedar, such a portion of neej-jote ground as, with the approbation of the collector, the putteedars who may succeed him shall be willing to allow him to hold, at the established rate of rent payable by the most inferior of the family putteedars of the same village or talooka; provided, however, that no putteedar in arrear on account of rent to the defaulter shall be allowed to take advantage of this option, which the collector is successively to tender in preference to the others, in proportion to the greater or less interest they may severally possess in the estate, until one or more of them accept or they all decline it.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xvii., cl. 1.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xvii., cl. 1.

120. Where such transfer of a defaulter's rights to one or more of his putteedars or sharers shall not prove effectual in realizing the balance, or in cases where the deficiency cannot be proved to have arisen from embezzlement on the part of the landholder, but where the cause may not be of such a nature as to induce the Governor-General in Council to remit the amount, the Board of Revenue, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, may direct the collector either to continue the defaulter in possession, on his engaging, in such manner as shall be deemed satisfactory, to pay up his balance with the future revenue, or sequester to the use of Government the ensuing year's profits of the defaulter, in the manner and under the restrictions specified in paragraph 114. The last-mentioned measure shall be adopted where there is a reasonable prospect of at least realizing thereby the assessment payable to Government in the ensuing years; and in such instances, it shall be the duty of the collector, in like manner, in all cases in which lands are held amauny, to acquire the fullest information, and to propose to the Board of Revenue such improvements of the jydaad, or funds, as may appear practicable, by making advances for tuccavy, gilandazee, the cutting down of jungles, or by the construction of embankments or water-courses, so as not only to prevent any diminution of the produce of the lands, but to improve and increase it.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xvii., cl. 2; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xvii., cl. 2.

121. The profits arising from the surplus collections, over and above the former fixed jumma adjusted by the permanent* settlement, after defraying the charges of improvement, whilst Government think fit to leave the lands amauny, shall be appropriated entirely to the use of the public, in the cases of all defaulting proprietors who may be dispossessed under the preceding paragraph, for embezzlement or misappropriation of the funds for the payment of the public revenue; and such zemindars shall not be reinstated, until, from their own means, they shall have paid up, or given satisfactory security for discharging the balance incurred, as well as to repay to Government the principal of the amount it shall have advanced for improving the estate. But in the other case stated in the preceding paragraph, in which embezzlement shall not have been clearly proved against the defaulting landholders, the profits or surplus collections shall be set off against the arrears due from them, and they shall be entitled to reinstatement, as soon as the arrears shall thus, or otherwise from their own funds, have been discharged, or when they shall deliver in satisfactory security for the amount, inclusive of the whole or the part of the charges of improvement incurred during their dispossession, for which Government, on a review of the circumstances of the case, shall think fit to render them responsible.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xvii., cl. 3; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xvii., cl. 3. *Note.—(The word "permanent" is omitted in the latter rule.)

122. The rules in the three preceding paragraphs are to be understood with this reservation, that in all cases where talookdars, zemindars, or other land-owners, shall be dispossessed for arrears of revenue, Government shall have the option of letting their lands on lease, either for a term or in perpetuity, to any person or persons, in case of the dispossessed proprietors omitting or refusing to resume the management of their lands under the conditions that may be offered to them.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xvii., cl. 4; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xvii., cl. 4.

123. Where arrears shall be due by farmers near the close of the year, the recovery of which, either through themselves or their sureties, shall not have been effected by its expiration, the collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, is to have recourse, in the first instance, to the ancient zemindars of the village or talooka in question; who, on paying up the farmer's balance, either immediately, or on finding security to pay it by instalments in the course of the ensuing year, shall be reinstated in their zemindary.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xviii., cl. 1.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

124. Where arrears shall be due by farmers near the close of the year, the recovery of which, either through themselves or their sureties, shall not have been effected by its expiration, the collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, is to have recourse, in the first instance, to the person who shall appear to him to have the best claim to the village or talooka in question, who, on paying up the farmer's balance, or on giving good security to pay it by instalments in the course of the ensuing year, shall be reinstated in the estate. This, however, is not intended to decide the question of right to such estate, as any person who may consider himself to have a better claim to it than the person whom the collector shall have put in possession, is at liberty to prefer the same to the judge of the Zillah Court of Adawlut within whose jurisdiction the lands shall be situated.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xviii., cl. 1.

125. Where there are no ancient zemindars, or where they decline to take on themselves the balance of the farmer, the latter may be continued, on his stipulating, in such manner as shall be deemed satisfactory, to pay off his balance with the future revenue; or otherwise the farm is to be re-let in perpetuity, or for such term as Government may direct, to such other person or persons as, in consideration of such lease, shall immediately pay up or find satisfactory security for the removed farmer's balance, or the part of it the payment of which shall be required.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xviii., cl. 3.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

126. Where there are not any original proprietors, or where they shall decline taking upon themselves the balance of the farmer, the collector shall offer the village or talook to the mocuddums or purdhauns, and shall conclude the settlement with them for the same, on their agreeing to the terms specified in paragraph 124. In instances in which there are not any original proprietors, or where they shall decline taking upon themselves the balance of the farmer, and in which the mocuddums or purdhauns shall also decline to take upon themselves a similar responsibility, the farmer shall be continued, on his stipulating, in such manner as shall be deemed satisfactory, to pay off his balance with the future revenue; or otherwise the farm is to be relet, for such term as Government may direct, to such other person or persons as, in consideration of such lease, shall immediately pay up, or find satisfactory security for the removed farmer's balance, or the part of it, the payment of which shall be required.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xviii., cl. 2.

Benares.

127. Where neither the ancient zemindars shall be reinstated, nor the farmer in arrear be continued, nor any new farmer undertake to discharge the balance incurred, or such part thereof as Government may require, the lands are to continue amauny, under the same kind of management and regard to their improvement, as is directed in paragraph 120 to be observed, in respect to lands from which zemindars shall have been dispossessed.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xviii., cl. 3.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

128. Where neither the original proprietor shall be reinstated, nor the settlement be made with the mocuddums or purdhauns, nor the farmer in arrear be continued, nor any new farmer undertake to discharge the balance incurred, or such part thereof as Government may require, the lands are to continue amauny, under the same kind of management and regard to their improvement, as is directed in paragraph 120 to be observed in respect to lands from which zemindars shall have been dispossessed.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xviii., cl. 3.

Benares and Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

129. The Board of Revenue, in all cases in which they may judge it advisable (in addition to such recourse as is authorized to be had on the surety), may recommend to the Governor-General in Council the sale of the property of farmers in arrears, in conformity to the tenor of their engagements.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xviii., cl. 4; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xviii., cl. 4.

130. If a tehseeldar shall issue the process prescribed in paragraphs 101 or 109 against any zemindar or other actual proprietor of land, or any farmer or surety, for payment of the amount of the instalment in demand, or of any other sum or arrears of revenue due, and the party to whom such process may be addressed shall refuse to obey, or resist, or cause to be resisted, the peon deputed to serve such process, or abscond from the peon after he shall have served such process, or retire to any place so that the process cannot be served on him, the tehseeldar who may issue the writing is immediately to represent the case to the collector, and to transmit a sooruthaul, or circumstantial report of it, under the seal of the cauzy and the attestations of the serishtadars or canoongoes; whereupon, if the party thus accused shall not intermediately have made his appearance at the collector's cutcherry, the collector shall issue a summons to him requiring him to repair to his cutcherry for the explanation of his conduct, and for the payment of his kist, along with the two peons or the single sowar, either of whom the collector, at his discretion, may depute to serve this summons. Upon the arrival of the party at the cutcherry of the collector, the latter is to inquire into the circumstances of the case, and as may appear to him proper on a consideration of them, either order the offender to be committed to temporary confinement for any term not exceeding ten days, or to exact sufficient hazir or fael zaminy from him. If the non-attendance of the party in the first instance shall be found to have arisen from any misconduct in the tehseeldar's peon who served the process, he is to be dismissed, and declared incapable of being again employed in any revenue capacity whatsoever, and accordingly no tehseeldar shall afterwards employ him; and the tehseeldar shall also be removed, in case the resistance of the party served with the process shall appear to the collector to have arisen from the injustice of the demand of revenue made on him. Of all orders for the confinement or dismission of peons or tehseeldars, the collector is to make a separate monthly report to the Board of Revenue, who are thereon to issue such further instructions for his guidance as they may think proper.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xx.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xx.

131. In all cases in which the collector shall order any zemindar or farmer to be confined, under the authority vested in him by the preceding paragraph, he shall cause a notice thereof, and of the date from which such imprisonment is to commence, to be made through the vakeel of Government to the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut within whose jurisdiction the lands of such zemindar or farmer shall be situated; and such notices are to be filed of record in the Courts, to guard against any undue protraction of the term of such commitments.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xxi.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxi.

132. If the party (being a talookdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land) against whom the collector shall have issued process at the instance of the tehseeldar, as prescribed in paragraph 130, shall refuse to obey, or resist, or avoid compliance with the requisition of the process; or if, in the first instance, the collector shall have issued the process prescribed against any huzoory zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, on account of arrears of public revenue, and the defaulter shall refuse to obey, or resist, or cause to be resisted, the peons deputed by the collector to convey him to gaol, or escape after being taken by them into custody, or abscond, or shut himself up in his own or any house, or in any building, or retire to any place, so that the process cannot be served upon him, the collector is immediately to represent the circumstances, through the vakeel of Government, to the Dewanny Adawlut within the jurisdiction of which the lands on account whereof the arrears shall be due may be situated; and upon the peon or peons deputed to execute the process, or any two or more credible persons making oath or affirmation to the truth of the circumstances stated in the representation of the collector, the judge, provided he shall be satisfied in his own mind from such depositions of the witnesses, and their answers upon oath or affirmation to any questions which he may put to them, that the charge is well founded, shall require the defaulter, by a publication in writing, to deliver himself into the custody of the Court within four weeks, calculating from the day following the date of publication. The publication is to be written in the Hindoostanee language and Nageree character, and shall be fixed up, as early after the date of it as may be practicable, at his usual place of abode, or the principal cutcherry in the estate on account of which arrears may be due, and the office of the collector, and the court-room of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah; and in the meantime, the collector is to cause the rents and revenues of the estate of the defaulter to be realized on behalf of Government, in the manner specified in paragraphs 112 to 116.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xxii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxii.

133. [Same as paragraph 61.]—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xxiii.; and Reg. XXVII., 1803. (NOTE.—The latter rule substitutes the following for the concluding part of paragraph 61.) It shall be at the option of the Governor-General in Council either to order the decree to be executed, or to commute the forfeiture for such fine as, upon a consideration of the situation and circumstances in life of the defaulter, he may think adequate to the offence for which the decree may be passed. In the event of the Governor-General in Council commuting the forfeiture for a fine, the Court which shall have transmitted the decree and proceedings to the Governor-General in Council, upon receiving notice of the fine that he may impose, are to levy the amount of it, by the same process by which they are directed to enforce decrees of the Court, and to pay the amount to the collector. The process which a collector may institute against a defaulter in the Court of Adawlut of the zillah under this paragraph, as well as the prosecution or defence of any appeal from the decision of such Court which may be preferred to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, in which the collector may be appellant or respondent, is to be carried on at the public expense, and to be conducted by the vakeel of Government, whom the collector is to furnish with the necessary instructions.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xxiii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxiii.

134. If the defaulter mentioned in paragraph 132, shall be allowed to retain the proprietary right in his estate, Government is to account to him for the amount received from it during the sequestration; and if it shall exceed the public revenue that was due from the estate, the expenses attending the sequestration, and the fine which may be imposed on the defaulter, the overplus is to be returned to him. If the sum received through the officers of Government appointed to make the collections during the sequestration shall be inadequate to the payment of the several demands above mentioned, and the defaulter shall not make good the deficiency, a portion of his lands is to be sold for the discharge of it.—Ben. Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xxiv.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxiv.

135. [Same as paragraph 63].—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xxv.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxv.

136. If the party (being a farmer) against whom the collector shall have issued his process at the instance of the tehseeldar, as prescribed in paragraph 130, shall refuse to obey, or resist, or avoid compliance with the requisition of the process; or if, in the first instance, the collector shall have issued the process prescribed against any huzoory farmer, on account of arrears of the public revenue, and the defaulter shall refuse to obey, or resist, or cause to be resisted, the peons deputed by the collector to convey him to gaol, or escape after being taken by them into custody, or abscond, or shut himself up in his own or any house, or in any building, or retire to any place so that the process cannot be served upon him, the collector is immediately to represent the circumstances, through the vakeel of Government, to the Dewanny Adawlut of the city or zillah wherein the lands on account of which the arrears shall be due may be situated; and upon the peon or peons deputed to execute the process, or any two or more credible persons making oath or affirmation to the truth of the circumstances stated in the representation of the collector, the judge, provided he shall be satisfied in his own mind from such depositions of the witnesses, and their answers upon oath or affirmation to any questions which he may put to them, that the charge is well founded, is to require the defaulter, by a publication in writing, to deliver himself into the custody of the Court within four weeks, calculating from the day following the date of the publication. The publication is to be written in the Hindostanee language and Nageree character, and shall be fixed up, as early after the date of it as may be practicable, at his usual place of abode, or the principal cutcherry in the farm, and in the office of the collector and the court-room of the Dewanny Adawlut; and in the mean time the collector is to cause the rents and revenues of the farm of the defaulter to be realized on behalf of Government, as prescribed in paragraphs 112 and 114. If the defaulter shall not surrender himself before the expiration of the period limited in the publication, (&c., as in paragraph 64, Ben. Reg. VI., 1715, sec. xxvi.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxvi. The latter rule substitutes the following for the concluding part of paragraph 64). It shall be at the option of the Governor-General in Council, either to order the decree to be executed, or to commute the forfeiture of the lease for such fine as, upon a consideration of the situation and circumstances in life of the defaulter, he may think adequate to the offence for which the decree may be passed; or if the defaulter shall not be desirous of being continued in his farm, to fine him as above prescribed, and compel him to retain the farm during the remainder of the lease, and to hold him and his surety responsible for the discharge of their engagements until the term of them shall expire. If a fine shall be imposed on the defaulter, the Court which shall have transmitted the final decree and proceedings to the Governor-General in Council, upon receiving notice of the fine, is to levy the amount of it by the same process by which they are directed to enforce decrees of the Court, and to pay the amount to the collector. The process which the collector may institute in the Adawlut of any zillah, under this paragraph, as well as any appeal that may be preferred from the decision of the Zillah Court to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, in which the collector may be appellant or respondent, are to be defended and carried on at the public expense, and by the vakeel of Government, whom the collector is to furnish with the necessary instructions.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxvi.

137. If the lease of the defaulter mentioned in the preceding paragraph shall be annulled, he shall receive credit for the collections made by the officers of Government, after deducting the charges incurred which may be admitted, and if any balance shall then remain due from him to Government at the close of the year in which the lease may be cancelled, both he and his surety are to be held responsible for the payment of it, and the collector is to serve the surety with the written demand for the amount, requiring it to be paid at the treasury of the collectorship within a certain number of days after the day on which the writing may be served by the peon to be deputed for that purpose; and in the event of its not being discharged by the time limited in the writing, the collector is to proceed against the surety, and the defaulter also if he shall be forthcoming and should not have been previously confined, in the manner in which he is directed to proceed in paragraph 110 against defaulters in arrear on account of revenue. If there shall be a surplus after discharging all the demands above mentioned, it is to be paid to the defaulter, who shall be at liberty to prosecute in the City or Zillah Court the talookdars, zemindars, putteedars, distinct and common, and the under-farmers and ryots, in the land included in the farm, for any arrears of rent or revenue that may be due from them to him, on account of the period during which his lease remained in force.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xxvii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxvii.

138. [Same as paragraph 66.]—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xxviii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxviii. The latter rule substitutes the following for the concluding part of paragraph 66. It shall be at the option of the Governor-General in Council, either to order the decree to be executed or to alleviate the fine. The Court which shall have transmitted the final decree and proceedings to the Governor-General in Council, upon receiving notice of the fine that may be imposed upon the defaulter, is to levy the amount of it, by the same process by which it is directed to enforce decrees of the Court, and to pay the amount to the collector. The process which the collector may institute in the Court of Adawlut of the zillah under this paragraph, as well as the appeals that may be preferred from the Zillah Court to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, in which the collector may be appellant or respondent, are to be defended or carried on by the vakeel of Government, and at the public expense.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxviii.

NOTE.—See paragraph 39 and note.

139. When a collector shall proceed to confine the surety of any proprietor or farmer of land, in the cases authorized, he is immediately to cause such portion of the surety's lands as he may estimate to be sufficient to make good the amount of the demand, in the event of their being sold, to be attached under the rules prescribed in paragraphs 112 and 114 for the attachment of the lands of defaulting proprietors. If the surety shall not possess any landed property within the province of Benares, but shall possess lands in either of the provinces of Bengal, Behar, or Orissa, the collector is to depute an aumeen into the zillah in which such property may be situated, with the letter specifying the amount of the demand on him and the property to be attached. The collector of such zillah is immediately to order a peon to point out the property to the aumeen, who is to keep it in attachment until the Board of Revenue shall sanction the sale of it. The aumeen is to apply the amount of the collections from the lands, after deducting the expenses of his establishment, towards the discharge of the public revenue, which he is to pay to the collector of the zillah in which the lands may be situated. If any surplus shall remain after making good the public dues, it is to be appropriated towards the discharge of the demand on account of which the attachment of the lands may have been made. If the property of the surety that may be attached shall be too inconsiderable to admit of its being charged with the expense of an aumeen, the collector to whom the money due from the surety may be payable is to apply to the collector of the zillah in which the lands may be situated, to order the nearest tehseeldar or native officer employed under him in the business of the collections to take charge of the lands, and the collector to whom the application shall be made is to comply with it; and the tehseeldar or native officer to whose charge he may commit the lands is to perform the duties prescribed to the aumeen in paragraph 57, and under the same restrictions and penalties. The collector of the zillah in which the lands may be situated is not to be liable to any prosecution on account of the attachment, but the collector, in conformity to whose application the attachment may take place, is to be responsible for the consequences, in the same manner as if the lands had been situated in his own jurisdiction.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xxx.

NOTE.—See paragraph 39 and note.

140. When a collector shall proceed to confine the surety of any proprietor or farmer of land in the cases authorized, he is immediately to cause such portion of the defaulter's lands as he may estimate to be sufficient to make good the amount of the demand in the event of their being sold, to be attached under the rules prescribed in paragraphs 112 and 114 for the attachment of the lands of defaulting proprietors. If the surety shall not possess any landed property within the zillah in which the lands of the defaulter shall be situated, but shall possess lands in any other zillah within the ceded provinces, or within either of the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, or Benares, the collector is to depute an aumeen into the zillah in which such property may be situated, with a letter specifying the amount of the demand on him and the property to be attached. The collector of such zillah is immediately to order a peon to point out the property to the aumeen, who is to keep it in attachment until the Board of Revenue shall sanction the sale of it.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxx., cl. 1.

141. The expense of the establishment of the aumeen, and all other charges attending his deputation, shall be defrayed by the surety, and disbursed from the collections made from his estate or farm. The dewan or head native officer of the surety, or any other person whom he may think proper to appoint, is to keep a counterpart of the accounts of the receipts and disbursements by the aumeen. The aumeen is to collect according to the engagements that may subsist between the surety and his dependent talookdars, under-farmers, and ryots, and shall not make any alterations whatever in such engagements, or exact more than the amount specified in them. The aumeen shall be liable to a prosecution, in the Court of Adawlut of the zillah, for any alterations or infringement of such engagements. In cases in which no engagements may exist between the surety and his dependent talookdars or ryots, the aumeen is to collect from them according to the established rules and usages of the pergunnah. The aumeen shall likewise be subject to a prosecution by the proprietor of the estate, or the farmer, for embezzlement or injuries done to the estate or farm during the time that the collection of the rents and revenues of it may be intrusted to him. The aumeen is to apply the amount of the collections from the lands, after deducting the expenses of his establishment, towards the discharge of the public revenue, which he is to pay to the collector of the zillah in which the lands may be situated. If any surplus shall remain after making good the public dues, it is to be appropriated towards the discharge of the demand on account of which the attachment of the lands may have been made.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxx., cl. 2.

142. If the property of the surety that may be attached shall be too inconsiderable to admit of its being charged with the expense of an aumeen, the collector to whom the money due from the surety may be payable is to apply to the collector of the zillah in which the lands may be situated, to order the nearest tehseeldar or native officer employed under him in the business of the collections, to take charge of the lands; and the collector to whom the application shall be made is to comply with it, and the tehseeldar or native officer to whose charge he may commit the lands is to perform the duties prescribed to the aumeen in the preceding paragraph, and under the same restrictions and penalties. The collector of the zillah in which the lands may be situated is not to be liable to any prosecution on account of the attachment; but the collector, in conformity to whose application the attachment may take place is to be responsible for the consequences, in the same manner as if the lands had been situated in his own jurisdiction.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxx., cl. 3.

Benares and Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

143. When lands are ordered to be sold, the collector (unless the lands shall have been previously committed to the charge of a tehseeldar or other native officer, in which case such officer is to perform the duties hereafter specified in this paragraph) is immediately to issue instructions to the tehseeldar of the pergunnah to hold the lands in attachment, collect the rents and revenues under the rules and restrictions prescribed regarding lands under attachment in paragraph 114, and to prevent waste being committed by the defaulter, and furnish any information that may be required for the adjustment of the jumma to be assessed on the lands directed to be sold.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xxxi.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxxi.

NOTE.—See paragraph 39 and note. The corresponding rule for the Lower Provinces in sec. xxv., Reg. XIV., 1793, was rescinded by cl. 1, sec. ii., Reg. XI., 1822.

144. Any person confined for arrears of revenue, or other demands of Government, either pursuant to a judicial decree or without such decree, is to be at liberty to apply to the judge of the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the city or zillah, to require the collector to show cause why he is continued in confinement. If the person making such application shall be confined under a decree passed by the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, or of the City or a Zillah Court, and the time prescribed for appealing from the decision shall have elapsed, the judge is not to enter into the merits of the case, but only to inquire whether the prisoner has discharged the amount of the decree, and the sums which may have become due from him subsequent to his confinement. If the prisoner shall not be confined under a judicial decree, but under the process which the collector is empowered to observe before conveying persons to gaol for claims of Government, and he shall dispute the justness of the demand, the judge is not to inquire into the merits of the case, unless the party should renew his complaint, after the expiration of the period during which the collector, by the discretionary power vested in him by paragraph 110, is authorised to confine parties in arrear; which rule is hereby extended to demands on sureties and purchasers of land, as far as it can be applied to them. If, however, the prisoner shall admit the justness of the demand for which he was confined, as well as any other claims that may be made upon him for sums stated to have become due from him subsequent to his confinement, and shall assert that the whole of such sums have been discharged by him, or otherwise apply to the Court under paragraph 117, the judge is to proceed to inquire into the merits of the case. Upon examination of the prisoner's accounts of his payments, if it shall appear to the judge that the demands for which he may be in confinement have been liquidated, he is to release him, upon his giving security to make good any sum which the collector may state to be still due from him, in the event of the cause being appealed and the sum being awarded in favour of Government. If the collector shall not object to the adjustment of accounts made by the Court, or if he shall object to them and the person confined shall omit to give the security above required, and the collector shall not appeal within the time limited for preferring appeals, the judge is to release the prisoner without taking any security. If it shall be found that the whole, or a part of the sum for which such person may be in confinement, remains undischarged, and he shall acquiesce in the adjustment of accounts made by the Court, and shall have been confined on account of such demand for a term exceeding one year, the judge is empowered to release him, upon his giving good security to pay the sum remaining due from him, by instalments, during the course of one year after his release. The collector and the prisoner are to be allowed to appeal from the decision which may be passed by the Court under paragraph 117 and this paragraph, in the event of either of them being dissatisfied with it, under the rules regarding appeals.

The rules prescribed to the collector in the following paragraph, respecting the decisions therein specified, are to be considered applicable to all decisions passed under paragraph 117 and this paragraph.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xxxv.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xxxii.

145 to 153. [Same as paragraphs 70 to 78].—Reg. VI., 1795, secs. xxxvi. to xliv.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, secs. xxxiii. to xli. The words " City Court " are introduced in the Benares rules in addition to the Zillah Court.

154. To facilitate the communication between the collector and the vakeels in the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, who may be entrusted with the conduct of any appeals (including appeals from decisions in the suits described in paragraph 73) in which the collector may be engaged under this Regulation, either whilst he may continue in the office of collector of the district in which the suits may have arisen or after his removal from the office, the collector is permitted to forward, free of postage, any instructions regarding such appeals, which he may have to transmit to the vakeels of those courts. The instructions are to be enclosed under cover, sealed and directed to the vakeel. The instructions, so sealed and directed, are to be transmitted under a sealed cover, addressed to the register of the Court in which the cause may be depending, and superscribed with the name and the official apellation of the collector, or that which he bore when the cause of action arose. The register of the Court, immediately upon receiving the instructions, is to deliver them sealed to the vakeel to whom they may be directed. Any person who may be removed from the office of collector, and who may have a suit or suits depending in the Dewanny Adawlut of the city or any zillah, after his removal from the office, is likewise empowered to forward instructions to his vakeel, respecting such suit or suits, through the Court. In like manner the vakeels in any of the Courts to whom the pleading of suits may be committed, by persons holding the office of collector, or after they have been removed from the office, are authorized to forward any papers which they may have to convey to their employers by the public dawk, free of postage. The papers are to be enclosed in a cover, sealed with the seal of the vakeel; and the Judge of the Court is to transmit the papers so sealed, in a cover sealed and addressed to the person to whom they are to be forwarded, and superscribe the cover with his official signature.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. xlv.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xlii.

155 to 161. [Same as paragraphs 3, 80, 81, 82, 51, 84, 85].—Reg. VI., 1795, secs. xlvi. to lii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, secs. xliii. to xlix. The words " City Court " are introduced in the Benares rules in addition to the Zillah Court.

162. No part of this Regulation is to be construed to authorize the confinement of the person of any joint proprietor of an estate committed to the charge of a manager (as is now the case with certain estates in the pergunnah of Kerenda) whilst such manager remains responsible. Nor to empower the collector to take a female proprietor of land into custody, or order any such proprietor to attend him in person, under any pretext whatever.—Reg. VI., 1795, sec. liii.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. l.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

NOTE.—See paragraph 39 and note.

163. No attachment of an estate or farm shall be made without the sanction of the Board of Revenue; except in the cases where the collector may deem the same expedient to induce the payment of the arrear by the defaulter, or to obtain accurate information of the assets of the estate for the purpose of disposing of a portion of it by public sale at the close of the year, or to prevent his misappropriation of the remaining rents of the year. Where an attachment may be deemed advisable for the purposes above stated, the entire estate shall be attached. Estates or farms shall in no case be liable to attachment during the three first months of the Bengal, Fusly, or Willaity, year (according to the era current in the several districts), without the sanction of the Board of Revenue to that effect being first had and obtained by the collector. But this rule shall not be considered as applicable to attachments which have been made in the preceding year and continued after the expiration of it, with a view to the lands being brought to sale for the recovery of the arrear due from them.—Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. lii.

CUTTACK.

164. Every proprietor of land and farmer of land is to cause the whole of the instalments of each month to be paid into the treasury of the collector of the zillah, or to the tehseeldar or other officer who may be appointed to receive the public revenue assessed on the estate or farm, on or before the first day of the following month, without waiting for the amount being demanded by the collector, or tehseeldar, or other officer.—Reg. X., 1818, sec. iii.

165. In the event of any arrear of revenue being undischarged on the first day of the month succeeding that for which the arrears may be due, the collector shall in ordinary cases either issue his dustuck by a peon, or send a written notice by letter through the agents of the parties in attendance at his cutcherry, requiring payment of the kist due within a certain period after the day on which the writing may be served. In fixing that period, reference shall be had to the distance of his place of residence from the estate or farm of the defaulter, so as to allow him a reasonable time to convey the money to the public treasury; and in determining which of the above modes of process shall be adopted, the collector shall be guided by a consideration of the credit and responsibility of the parties; provided, however, that in cases in which it may appear to the collector unnecessary to issue a written demand previously to the adoption of ulterior measures for the recovery of any arrear of revenue, it shall be competent to him altogether to omit that process.—Reg. X., 1818, sec. iv.

166. If the arrear demanded be not discharged by the time prescribed in the requisition issued by the collector, or where a written demand may not have been issued by the 10th of the month, the collector shall issue dustucks under his seal and signature, and the peons serving such dustucks (if the amount in demand be not paid) are to bring the party or parties to whom they are addressed, whether proprietor, farmer, or the surety of either, without delay to the collector's cutcherry. The peons serving these dustucks shall be paid at the rates already established in the province. On the arrival of the defaulters, or their sureties, at the collector's station, the collector shall make inquiry into the circumstances of the case, and if the amount demandable be not paid, may keep the party or parties under arrest (in charge of the peons with whom they arrived or otherwise), during fifteen days from the date of their arrival; provided, however, that the collector may discharge the defaulter or his surety at any time within this period, on their satisfying him that they will make good the payment required from them before the expiration of the current Hindoo month. But if such satisfaction be not given, and the collector shall not judge proper, under the discretion vested in him by the existing Regulations, in regard to cases in which the proprietor or farmer of land may be unable to discharge the arrear, from calamity of season, or other cause not originating in his or their neglect, mismanagement, or misconduct, to suspend the imprisonment of the defaulter or his surety, he shall, at the expiration of the fifteen days above specified, cause the party or parties to be conveyed to the jail of the nearest Court of Dewanny Adawlut, and shall apply to the Court by motion in writing, specifying the amount of the arrear due from the defaulter, and the date on which it became payable. The motion shall be made in open Court (if the Court shall be sitting), through the pleader of Government or other vakeel retained for the purpose, for the confinement of the defaulter; but if the Court shall not be sitting, the motion shall be presented to the judge out of Court. On receipt of the motion, the judge shall immediately order the defaulter to be confined in the jail of the Dewanny Adawlut, and detained until he shall have discharged the arrears for which he may have been taken into custody, and all subsequent arrears that may become due during his confinement, or until the collector shall apply to the Court as above directed to have him released. In all cases in which defaulting farmers or proprietors of land, or the sureties of either, shall be put in confinement, it shall be optional with the collector, at his own discretion, to attach their lands and make the collections according to subsisting engagements, excepting such as are evidently collusive, to the end of the current year, or, at the request of the parties, to allow the estate to remain under the management of an agent appointed by them: provided, however, that in neither case, if the neat collections prove insufficient to discharge the arrears due, the estate shall be considered liable to sale by public auction, under the existing rules.—Reg. X., 1818, sec. v., cl. 1.

167. Provided also, that the collector may proceed to attach the estate of the defaulting proprietor or farmer, or the surety of either, without arresting his or their persons, in conformity with the rules established for that process by Regulation VII. of 1799, in any month of the year. —Reg. X., 1818, sec. v., cl. 2.

168. Provided further, that if the collector shall be of opinion that, instead of confining the person of the defaulter or the surety, and attaching his estate or farm, the arrear due from him will be more speedily discharged by distraining and selling any personal property belonging to the defaulter or his surety; or if in any case, notwithstanding the confinement of a defaulting proprietor or farmer or surety, and the attachment of his estate or farm for an arrear of revenue, such arrear be not discharged, and the defaulter or his surety shall possess any personal property from which the same can be made good, the collector may cause the personal property of the defaulter or his surety to be distrained and sold, as far as shall be necessary for the recovery of the arrear due, in the mode and under the restrictions prescribed by the Regulations with regard to the distress and sale of personal property of under-tenants, for the recovery of arrears of rent due from them to proprietors and farmers.—Reg. X., 1818, sec. v., cl. 3.

169. Provided, likewise, that whenever any portion of an instalment of revenue, payable in any month, remains undischarged on the first of the following month, the collector may forthwith, or at any subsequent period (such arrear still remaining undischarged), with or without serving on the defaulter, whether a proprietor or farmer, a written demand, advertise lands the property of the defaulter or his surety for public sale, reporting the same with all convenient expedition to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board; but the collector shall in no case proceed to the actual sale of the landed property of a defaulting proprietor or farmer, or the surety of either, without the express sanction of the Board, or other authority aforesaid, previously obtained; and it shall be the duty of the revenue authorities to avoid having recourse to the public sale of the landed property of defaulters and their sureties, except in cases in which they may be satisfied that such a measure is necessary to the realization of the dues of Government, and that the other measures authorized in the preceding paragraphs would prove insufficient for that purpose.—Reg. X., 1818, sec. v., cl. 4.

170. Under the ample powers now vested in the collectors of Cuttack and Hidgellee, for ascertaining the assets of estates lying within the district and pergunnahs, to which this Regulation extends, by the process of attachment, and for bringing defaulters into their presence as soon as an arrear becomes due, it is expected, that in all instances of arrears accruing within the said district and pergunnahs, the above-named functionaries will be particularly careful to inform themselves, as far as possible, of the real cause of the arrear, viz., whether want of good faith on the part of the defaulter, or actual inability from a failure in his rents, from calamity of season, or from any other cause. When the collector, from the report of his Mofussil officers, from personal observations, or from other information obtained by him, shall be satisfied that the defaulter, whether proprietor or farmer, is unable from real inability, not proceeding from any personal deficiency, to make good his arrears by the periods specified in paragraphs 166 to 169, either from the collections from his estate or farm, or from his private funds or property, he is directed to suspend the exercise of the powers vested in him for the confinement of the defaulter, the attachment of his estate, the distraint and sale of his or his surety's personal property, and immediate advertisement of his or his surety's landed property for sale by public auction; but the collector shall on such occasions immediately report all the circumstances of the case to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, and shall be guided by the instructions which he may receive from the Board or other authority aforesaid. In forwarding his monthly towjees also to the Board, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, the collector shall state particularly the number of cases in which he has found it necessary to resort to coercive measures of the nature authorized in preceding paragraphs, as well as those in which he has considered it just and expedient to suspend the exercise of his powers; and the Board, or other authority aforesaid, are hereby required to notice in their reports to the Governor-General in Council on the towjee accounts of the district and pergunnahs aforesaid, the attention or otherwise of the collector to this important part of his duty.—Reg. X., 1818, sec. vii.

171. Nothing contained in this Regulation shall be understood to alter or affect any of the provisions of existing Regulations relative to the collection of the land revenue in the zillah of Cuttack, excepting where they are virtually or expressly superseded or modified by any of the above enactments.—Reg. X., 1818, sec. viii.

JOINT AND PUTTEEDARY ESTATES.

172. Whenever an arrear of revenue shall accrue on account of any mehaul for which an engagement may have been taken by the proprietors or persons recorded as proprietors, not being an estate of which the assessment has been fixed in perpetuity, and the malguzars shall fail to discharge the same within one month of the date on which it became due, then if there shall appear to be any objection to the sale of the estate, and the arrears cannot otherwise be recovered (on which points the decision of the revenue authorities is to be held conclusive), it shall be competent to the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, with the sanction of the Board, and subject to the orders of Government, to annul the existing engagements with the malguzars, and to let the mehaul in farm for such period, not exceeding fifteen years, as the Governor-General in Council may appoint, or to hold the mehaul under khas management for a like period. In such cases, if the mehaul shall yield a higher jumma than that for which the malguzars may have engaged, the excess shall in the first place be appropriated to the liquidation of the arrear due on account of it, or such portion thereof as the farmer may not have separately agreed to discharge, or as may not otherwise have been recovered, and, out of any surplus remaining, the malguzars shall receive such malikana, not being less than five per cent. nor more than ten per cent. on the assessment of the last year of their engagement, as the Governor-General in Council may direct.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. iv.

173. A putteedary estate in this Act is held to be an estate which consists of two or more separate portions or puttees, or of which there may be proprietors possessed of separate properties and holding direct of the Government, but not parties in their own names to the contract with the Government for payment of the public revenue. The proprietor who is a party in his own name is called a lumberdar; and the proprietor who is not a party in his own name is called a putteedar. —Act. I., 1841, sec. ii.

174. The following modes of duress may be enforced against all putteedars whose tenure and interest may have been defined by a settlement formed according to Regulation VII., of 1822, as modified by Regulation IX., of 1833 ("SETTLEMENT"), whether every such putteedar be in sole occupation of his puttee, or hold it in common with others.

1st. Issue of dustucks in the same manner, and under the same limitation, as authorized by the rules in force for lumberdars.

2nd. Arrest, detention, imprisonment, distraint and sale of personal property as now authorized to be enforced against lumberdars.

3rd. Transfer of the defaulting puttee in perpetuity to the members of any other puttee which may not be in arrear.

4th. Annulment of the settlement as regards the defaulting puttee, and lease thereof to the members of any other puttee which may not be in arrear, or to a stranger for any term not exceeding fifteen years.

5th. Sale of the defaulting puttee by public auction, in which case the members of the remaining puttees who may not be in arrear are authorized to bid.—Act. I., 1841, sec. iii.

175. On occasion of the sale by public auction of any puttee, if the lot shall have been knocked down to a stranger, any putteedar or other member of the coparcenary not being himself in arrear may claim to take the said puttee at the sum last bid, provided that the said demand of pre-emption be made on the day of sale and before the collector shall have left the office, and provided that the claimant fulfil all the other conditions of the sale.—Act I., 1841, sec. iv.

176. The above methods shall be employed by the collector or other officers vested with the powers of collector, under such limitation and control as Government or other superior revenue authorities shall see fit to prescribe or enforce.—Act I., 1841, sec. v.

177. The sale of any puttee by public auction shall be effected in respect to the notice to be issued, the authority to be obtained, and the mode of conducting the sale according to the rules prescribed by law from time to time for the sale of an entire mehaul, and the puttee, after the sale shall have been duly confirmed, shall be the absolute property of the purchaser, save and except the rights of those ryots whose right to the permanent occupancy of their lands may have been recognized, and the rates of rent payable by whom may have been adjusted and recorded at the last settlement.—Act I., 1841, sec. vi.

178. In case of the lease or other temporary transfer of any puttee as above said, no member of that puttee shall be entitled to cultivate any land therein during the term of such transfer; or in case of absolute sale, no member of the puttee shall be entitled to hold or cultivate any land therein from and after the month of Bysack next succeeding such sale, unless the said member of such sold or transferred puttee shall first execute a written engagement to pay rent to the purchaser or transferee at the rate demanded by the purchaser or transferee. Provided, that it shall be competent to the collector, subject to the orders of the Commissioner and the Sudder Board of Revenue, if the rate cannot be fixed by private bargain between the parties, to cause the same to be fixed by a jury of the vicinage in the mode directed by Sections V. to X., Regulation IX., of 1833 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraphs 418 to 423).—Act I., 1841, sec. vii.

179. A copy of the jumma wasil bakee and detailed kuteonee of the tehseeldar, signed and sealed by him, and countersigned by the canoongoes and putwarry, exhibiting in detail the amount paid by and arrear due from each puttee, shall be taken to be sufficient evidence of the arrear due from that puttee, and these papers shall invariably be filed with the collector's proceedings.—Act I., 1841, sec. viii.

180. The collector shall be empowered to give possession to all purchasers and transferees under this Act in the mode authorized by Clause Third, Section XXIII., of Regulation VII., of 1822 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 394).—Act I., 1841, sec. ix.

181. Nothing contained in this Act shall bar the indefeasible right of Government to hold the entire body of proprietors and the entire estate responsible for the amount of the whole jumma, and to enforce the existing Regulations for the transfer or sale of the whole estate whenever it shall appear to them just and expedient. In every such case it is hereby declared, that the entire proprietary rights of every member of the coparcenary shall be annulled and forfeited, and the provision of paragraph 178 shall be applicable to every member of the coparcenary.—Act I., 1841, sec. x.

182. The Governor-General in Council may extend the provisions of this Act to any district to which with reference to the nature of the tenures prevalent therein its extension may be expedient, although no settlement of such district may have been made under Regulations VII., of 1822, and IX., of 1833 ("SETTLEMENT"), and the order of Government shall be sufficient authority for such extension.—Act I., 1841, sec. xi.

NOTE.—See rules for the recovery of arrears from separated puttees, or shares, in secs. xiii., xiv., xv., Reg. IX., 1811 ("DIVISION OF ESTATES," paragraphs 61, 62, 63).

LAND REVENUE.

UNDER-TENURES, AND TENANTS' ENGAGEMENTS—TENURE OF LAND BY EUROPEANS.

LOWER PROVINCES.

NOTE.—The fundamental rules in respect of talooks and under-tenures in the Lower Provinces are included among the rules for the decennial settlement, in Regulation VIII., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT").

1. The rules contained in Regulation VIII., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraphs 17 to 27), for the separation of certain talookdars, the actual proprietors of the lands composing their talooks, from the zemindaries to which they were attached at the period of the decennial settlement, having been construed to entitle talookdars of that description, who did not apply for separation at the time of the decennial settlement, to be separated on their application at any subsequent period; and it being necessary, for the security of purchasers at the public sales, that some period should be fixed for the operation of the above rules, to prevent their being at all times liable to deprivation of a part of their purchases, it is hereby required, that all talookdars who, as proprietors of the lands composing their talooks, may consider themselves entitled, under Section V., Regulation VIII., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 17), or any other part of that Regulation, to be separated from the zemindaries to which their talooks are attached, shall prefer a written application to the collector of the zillah in which their talooks may be situated for the separation thereof, within one year from the date of this Regulation, under penalty of forfeiting all title to separation under Regulation VIII., 1793, if they shall omit to apply, as directed, within the prescribed period; at the expiration of which, the operation of the section above mentioned shall be considered extinct with regard to all talooks for which no claim to separation may have been then preferred, and such talooks shall thereafter be considered as dependent talooks, not entitled to be separated from the zemindaries to which they may be attached, though in other respects the rights of the talookdars are not meant to be in any degree affected by this Regulation. It is further hereby declared, that the rules regarding separable talooks contained in Regulation VIII., 1793, were never meant to be applied to any new talooks constituted since the period of the decennial settlement. By Section IX., Regulation I., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 10), the zemindars and all other proprietors of land have been declared at liberty to transfer by sale, gift, or otherwise, their proprietary rights in the whole or any portion of their respective estates; but by Section X. ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 11) of the same Regulation, it is required that all such transfers be notified to the collector of the zillah, that the fixed jumma assessed upon the whole estate may be apportioned on the several shares in the manner therein prescribed; that the names of the proprietors of each share and the jumma assessed thereon may be entered upon the public registers, and that separate engagements for the payment of the jumma assessed upon each share may be executed by the proprietors, who are thenceforward to be considered separate proprietors of distinct estates; but until such notification and separation shall have been made, the whole of the estate is declared responsible to Government for the discharge of the fixed jumma assessed upon it, in the same manner as if no transfer had taken place. This declaration is also repeated in Section XXVIII., Regulation XIX., 1814, which contains the specific rules established by Government for the division of estates paying revenue, and the allotment of the jumma upon the several portions thereof. If, therefore, any zemindar shall have disposed of his proprietary rights in any portion of his zemindary subsequently to the promulgation of the Regulation above mentioned, whether under the denomination of an independent talook or otherwise, and the talookdar, or other person to whom the portion of an estate may have been so transferred, shall have omitted to obtain a separate allotment of the public assessment thereon, in the mode prescribed by the Regulations, such transfer, as far as respects the rights of Government, must be considered altogether invalid; and if the land so privately transferred, but not separately assessed, should have been since, or shall be hereafter, included in any public sale for arrears of revenue, the illicit and imperfect private transfer must be deemed to have been altogether done away. In such cases, the lands transferred, until publicly registered and separately assessed, form part of an undivided estate, and, as such, are liable to be sold for any arrear of revenue which may be due from any part of the estate. Provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph be considered applicable to dependent talooks, or other tenures dependent on the estate to which they are attached, and from which, by their title-deeds or otherwise, they are not to be entitled to be separated as a distinct estate. Paragraph 3 authorizes and confirms such tenures, subject to the restrictions contained in paragraph 3, with the explanation in paragraph 8.—Reg. I., 1801, sec. xiv.

Under-Tenures.

NOTE.—The following rules, so far as they relate to the avoidance of under-tenures after a public sale for arrears of revenue, are superseded by secs. xxvi. and xxvii., Act I., 1845 ("REALIZATION OF REVENUE," paragraphs 30, 31); but under the provisions of sec. xi., Reg. V., 1812 (paragraph 72), they would seem to be still applicable, in all cases of attachment, to managers under the Court of Wards and to farmers.

2. Whenever the whole or a portion of the lands of any zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, shall be disposed of at public sale for the discharge of arrears of the public assessment, all engagements which such proprietors shall have contracted with dependent talookdars whose talooks may be situated in the lands sold, as also all leases to under-farmers, and pottahs to ryots for the cultivation of the whole or any part of such lands (with the exception of the engagements, pottahs, and leases, specified in paragraphs 4 and 5), shall stand cancelled from the day of sale, and the purchaser or purchasers of the lands shall be at liberty to collect from such dependent talookdars, and from the ryots or cultivators of the lands let in farm, and the lands not farmed, whatever the former proprietor would have been entitled to demand according to the established usages and rates of the pergunnah or district in which such lands may be situated, had the engagements so cancelled never existed.—Reg. XLIV., 1793, sec. v.

3. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit any zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, selling, giving, or otherwise disposing of any part of his lands as a dependent talook.—Reg. XLIV., 1793, sec. vi.

4. Nor to authorize the assessment of any increase upon the lands of such dependent talookdars as were exempted from any increase of assessment at the forming of the decennial settlement, in virtue of the prohibition contained in Clause First, Section LI., Regulation VIII., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 59). The revenue payable by such dependent talookdars is declared fixed for ever, and their lands are accordingly to be rated at such fixed assessment in all divisions of the estate in which their talooks are included.—Reg. XLIV., 1793, sec. vii.

5. Nor to prohibit actual proprietors of land granting, without the sanction of Government or its officers, to any person not being a European who is not a British subject, a lease or pottah for ground for any term of years, or in perpetuity, for the erection of dwelling-houses, or buildings for carrying on manufactures, or for gardens, or other purposes, and for offices for such houses or buildings.—Reg. XLIV., 1793, sec. viii.; and Act IV., 1837.

Pottahs.

6. The ryots in the different parts of the country frequently omitting or refusing to take out or receive pottahs, although the persons from whom they are entitled to demand them are ready to grant them on the terms prescribed by the Regulations, it is declared, that if a proprietor or farmer of land, or a dependent talookdar, shall fix up in the principal cutcherry or cutcherries of his estate or farm a notification in writing, under his seal and signature, specifying that pottahs at the established rates will be immediately granted to all ryots who may apply for them, and stating where, and when, and by whom, the pottahs will be delivered, the notification shall be considered as a legal tender of a pottah, and the proprietor of land, the farmer, or the dependent talookdar, shall be deemed to have complied with the orders in Section LIX., Regulation VIII., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 66), and the persons so tendering pottahs shall be entitled to recover the rents due to them from such ryots, either by the prescribed process of distraint, or by suit in the Dewanny Adawlut.—Reg. IV., 1794, sec. v.; Reg. V., 1812, sec. iii.

7. If a dispute shall arise between the ryots and the persons from whom they may be entitled to demand pottahs, regarding the rates of the pottahs (whether the rent be payable in money or kind), it shall be determined in the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah in which the lands may be situated, according to the rates established in the pergunnah for lands of the same description and quality as those respecting which the dispute may arise.—Reg. IV., 1794, sec. vi.; Reg. V., 1812, sec. iii.

8. The rules in the preceding paragraph are to be considered applicable not only to the pottahs which the ryots are entitled to demand in the first instance, under Regulation VIII., 1793, but also to the renewal of pottahs which may expire or become cancelled under paragraph 2. And to remove all doubts regarding the rates at which the ryots shall be entitled to have such pottahs renewed, it is declared, that no proprietor or farmer of land, or any other person, shall require ryots whose pottahs may expire or become cancelled under paragraph 2, to take out new pottahs at higher rates than the established rates of the pergunnah for lands of the same quality and description, but that ryots shall be entitled to have such pottahs renewed at the established rates, upon making application for that purpose to the person by whom their pottahs are to be granted, in the same manner as they are entitled to demand pottahs in the first instance by Regulation VIII., 1793.—Reg. IV., 1794, sec. vii.; Reg. V., 1812, sec. iii.

NOTE.—See further rules, commencing with paragraph 57.

Under-Tenures.

9. Whenever the whole or a portion of the lands of any talookdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, shall be disposed of at public sale for the discharge of arrears of the public assessment, all engagements which such proprietor shall have contracted with dependent tenants whose tenancies may be situated in the lands sold, as also all leases to under-farmers, and pottahs to ryots for the cultivation of the whole or of any part of such lands (with the exception of the engagements, pottahs, and leases, specified in paragraph 11) shall stand cancelled from the day of sale, and the purchaser or purchasers of the lands shall be at liberty to collect from such dependent tenants, and from the ryots or cultivators of the lands let in farm and the lands not farmed, whatever the former proprietor would have been entitled to demand, according to the established usages and rates of the pergunnah or district in which such lands may be situated, had the engagements so cancelled never existed.—Reg. L., 1795, sec. v.

10. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit any talookdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, selling, giving, or otherwise (as far as he may be legally competent) disposing of any part of his lands as a dependent tenancy, whether as a zemindary or putteedary.—Reg. L., 1795, sec. vi.

11. Nor to prohibit actual proprietors of land granting, without the sanction of Government or its officers, to any person not being a European who is not a British subject, a lease or pottah for ground, for any term of years, or in perpetuity, for the erection of dwelling-houses, or buildings for carrying on manufactures, or other purposes, and for offices for such houses or buildings, or for gardens.—Reg. L., 1795, sec. vii.; and Act IV., 1837.

Ryotty Pottahs.

12. To prevent undue demands being made on the ryots or cultivators of the soil, by the aumils, zemindars, farmers, or others, entitled to levy from them the hakimee or Government's proportion of the produce, aumeens were deputed by the resident at Benares, on the 12th February, 1795, to cause pottahs to be granted to the ryots agreeably to certain forms, by which their payments were to be regulated. For reasons hereafter stated, these aumeens were recalled before they had completed the issue of the prescribed pottahs. The instructions to these officers, with alterations and additions, calculated for the more effectual accomplishment of the object of those instructions, are now enacted into a Regulation, and are to be considered as the rules respecting ryotty pottahs throughout the districts in the province of Benares, to which the settlement concluded by the resident extended.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. i.

13. Orders were repeatedly issued to the aumils and canongoes to cause the zemindars and farmers to issue to their ryots bilmokta pottahs (i. e. pottahs with the maal and abwab consolidated), for the nukdy or money part of the rent payable to them, and to specify therein where the rent is estimated according to the produce, the mode of the betay or division of the crop, and also the proportions in which the division was to be made (viz., whether in equal proportions, or in the proportions of seven to nine, or of five to two, or of two to one, or according to whatever local zebetaneh or custom might be prevalent in each place); and the aumils were also repeatedly enjoined to issue similar pottahs, in those parts of the pergunnahs which continued amauny. There being ground to believe, however, that notwithstanding these orders the prescribed pottahs had not been duly issued, aumeens were deputed, on the 12th of February, 1795, to cause them to be granted throughout all that part of the four sircars to which the general settlement had extended. The aumeens thus deputed were accordingly furnished with instructions to cause the talookdars, zemindars, and farmers, in the mushukhusy mozahs, or villages for which a settlement had been concluded, and the aumils in the villages which remained amauny, to grant the prescribed pottahs to the ryots and cultivators, in conformity to a draft prepared for the purpose; the pottahs to be granted to every ryot and cultivator in the mushukhusy villages to specify with precision the rates of payment according to the two last years as far as regarded the nukdy or money part thereof, and also the modes and proportion of the betay where the payments of the ryots were estimated in kind or upon the produce; and in the event of the rates to be thus inserted in the pottahs being anywhere disputed between the aumils or malguzars on the one part, and the ryots on the other, such disputed rates were directed to be regulated and adjusted on reference to the accounts of the putwarries, and with the assistance of the canongoes; so that consideration being had to the present condition of the ground and the caste of the cultivator, the bilmokta rye or rate, inclusive of maal and abwab on account of such ground, might be fixed at the same rate as that at which a cultivator of the same caste would have been assessed for it in the Fusly year 1187. —Reg. LI., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 1.

14. Under these instructions, where the custom of mootry (or the payment of one general rate for different kinds of ground and of crop) was found to prevail, the aumeens were directed to continue it, and even to endeavour to extend it, wherever the parties concerned might voluntarily agree to its adoption.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 2.

15. In pottahs issued for a money rent, with the exception of those granted for mootry tenures, the number of begahs, the description of begah (viz., whether the begah computed by the rod of three deras ilahee, the begah of the measure prevalent in the pergunnah, or the dherawat, or begah ascertained by estimate), and the bilmokta rye or consolidated rate of assessment on each of such begahs were directed to be specified, so as to preclude the necessity of superadding to such rate the kesraat, or difference of rate proportionate to the variation in the extent of the several descriptions of begahs. For this purpose it was ordered, that the malguzars and ryots, with the assistance of the opinions of the canongoes and the approbation of the aumeens, should fix at once the bilmokta rye, or consolidated rate, in one sum, in proportion to the extent of the begah, leaving it to the parties to determine on which of these three descriptions of begahs the calculation of the rye should be made, instead of confining them to one description of begah, as had been prescribed by the rule contained in Section IV., Regulation II., 1795. ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 115). —Reg. LI., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 3.

16. In the event of any of the putteedars being desirous of obtaining pottahs for the land cultivated by them, the aumeens were instructed to cause the pottahdars, or persons holding pottahs of Government, to grant pottahs accordingly, in conformity to the principles above prescribed. But if such putteedars should not apply for pottahs, the aumeens were informed that they were not to cause pottahs to be granted to them, but were to leave them to continue to pay as formerly, i. e., subordinately to, and in conjunction with, their principals.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 4.

17. In the mushukhusy lands, these pottahs were directed to be issued with the concurrence of the aumeen and under the signatures of the grantors (i. e., the pottahdars of Government), and to be attested also by the canongoes. In the villages which were continued amauny, it was directed that the said pottahs should be issued by the aumils, under their signature and the attestation of the canongoes, and that they should also be countersigned by the aumeens; as, for the future, the aumils neither had, nor were to possess any authority to augment or diminish the rental of Government, their duties being limited to the realizing of the fixed revenue, the preservation of the peace throughout their respective limits, and the execution of such orders as might occasionally be addressed to them.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 5.

18. The zeyl, or detailed particulars, annexed to the form of pottah, with which the aumeens were furnished, contained an enumeration of the different modes of ryotty payments, whether of mootry, nukdy, herkowla, or betay, and of purtee, keel, and jungle, &c., one or other of which would necessarily be found applicable to the land and circumstances of every cultivator; and it was pointed out to the aumeens, that the pottahs of those ryots only whose cultivation was carried on agreeably to the practice termed mootry, and no other, were to specify the amount of the rent annexed to their pottahs under that single head only; whilst, in instances in which ryots cultivated not only on mootry but also on nukdy and betay agreements, this form of pottah also prescribed how the particulars of the zeyl were, under such circumstances, to be subjoined, at the same time that it comprehended, under the several heads of cultivation, a specification of the denomination of begah, in order that, as all the three descriptions of begahs particularized in paragraph 15 were more or less in use in the province, it might be left to the option of the malguzars and ryots to adopt in their engagements whichever of these three standards they might prefer, the aumeens being required only to see that the description of begah agreed on should in every instance be specified.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 6.

19. The following is a translate of the general form of pottah with which the aumeens were furnished:—

"A pottah of engagement and stipulation in the name of ———, according to the zeyl, without abwab or serf. The fota or rent for the entire year of the cultivation shall be taken bilmokta, or according to one rate; and exclusive of that, neither a daam or dhirm shall be taken.

"ZEYL, OR ANNEXED SPECIFICATION OF RENT.

"Nukdy or money rent.

"1*st.* Mootry 12 begahs (either of 3 dera ilahee, or pergunnah begahs, or dherawat or estimated begahs), at 3 rupees 2 annas per begah, Rs. 37 8 0.

"2*nd.* Kwyraur, &c. (being for the more valuable articles of cultivation) 13 begahs (whether of 3 dera ilahee, or pergunnah measurement, or dherawat), viz.:—

|---|---|---|---|
| Sugar-cane 10 begahs, at 5 rupees 1 anna per begah ..... | 50 | 10 | 0 |
| Tobacco 2 begahs, at 6 rupees per begah..... | 12 | 0 | 0 |
| Moolee or vegetables 1 begah, at 2 rupees 1 anna per begah ..... | 2 | 1 | 0 |
| | 64 | 11 | 0 |

And where, from the change in the cultivation, a new pottah shall become necessary, it shall be granted according to the rates of the two last years, with the privity of the canongoes, according to the shirabundy, or established rates of the pergunnah, and I (the zemindar or farmer) shall certainly not object to give a pottah.

"3*rd.* Herkowla, or for common nukdy cultivation, 12 begahs (either the 3 dera ilahee, or of pergunnah measurement, or of dherawat), at different rates:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1st. 2 begahs at 1 8 ..... | 3 | 0 | 0 |
| 2nd. 3 begahs at 1 12 ..... | 5 | 4 | 0 |
| 3rd. 3 begahs at 1 4 ..... | 3 | 12 | 0 |
| 4th. 2 begahs at 1 0 ..... | 2 | 0 | 0 |
| 5th. 1 begah at 1 2 ..... | 1 | 2 | 0 |
| 6th. 1 begah at 0 12 ..... | 0 | 12 | 0 |
| | 15 | 14 | 0 |

"Bhawullee or betay, i. e., where the rent is in proportion to the crop.

"The begah to be of 3 dera ilahee measurement, or pergunnah, or dherawat measurement, and the rent to be assessed by kunkoot or appraisement, either at half-and-half, or 9 to 7, or 5 to 2, or 2 to 1, according to the local usage, and the money assessment thereon to be according to the current market price, as fixed for each harvest by Government.

"Purtee, and keel, and jungle land, according to the good-will of the parties, either on a nukdy or betay engagement."

—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 7.

20. On the departure of these aumeens, the strongest assurances were published to all the zemindars and farmers, that the object of their deputation was solely to insure from them that justice to their ryots which Government had bound itself to observe to them, by concluding with them a permanent settlement, the conditions of which would on no account be infringed. A considerable degree of jealousy, however, was manifested by the zemindars and farmers during the progress of the aumeens, several of whom represented the difficulties which they experienced in the execution of their instructions, both from the above and other causes. These difficulties are stated in the following paragraphs, with a view to future eventual arrangements.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 1.

21. The aumeen in the tuppah of Ophroude, in the pergunnah of Chourassy, represented that several places in that tuppah were without putwarries; and as similar complaints were received from other parts of the district, the aumeens were, in reply, directed to cause the proprietors and farmers to appoint putwarries wherever they were wanted; and in the meantime to oblige the gomastahs of the said proprietors or farmers, or the officers entertained for keeping such written or other village accounts as are kept, to produce them to the Courts of judicature or to the collector, in the instances in which either are empowered by the Regulations to require them.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 2.

22. Several ryots in the pergunnah of Chownsa and other parts, who had been used to divide the grain with the zemindar or farmer in the mode called agore, according to the produce, would not take pottahs specifying either any rent per begah, or even the number of begahs which they cultivated; circumstances that are adverted to, and in some measure provided for, in Section XXI., Regulation II., 1795 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 130).—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 3.

23. The aumeen in the tuppah of Kone, in the pergunnah of Chourassy, represented that sundry zemindars had mortgaged a part of their lands to other zemindars, and had, in consideration thereof, given them pottahs at lower rates than the established ones, so as merely to prove equal to the payment of Government's jumma, whilst the mortgagees caused the grounds in question to be cultivated by other ryots, from whom they took the usual rate of rent. The aumeens desired instructions whether they should cause pottahs to be given to these mortgagees according to those which they held from the zemindars, or whether the pottahs should be issued at such rates as the mortgagees exacted from the ryots. In reply to this application, the aumeens were directed to cause pottahs of the last-mentioned description to be issued to the ryots, not, however, by the proprietors, but by the mortgagees; and they were further informed that this rule was to be observed in all similar cases.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 4.

24. It appearing by a representation from the aumeen at Mureeahoo, that the zemindars and farmers concealed the revenue lands in their occupancy by pretending to have assigned them, in larger proportions than was ever usual, to the putwarries, for their maintenance or otherwise, the aumeen was instructed not to admit of this abuse, but to cause pottahs to be issued for all grounds over and above the usual quantity granted to the putwarries for their maintenance in their official situations.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 5.

25. The aumeen in the pergunnah of Baleeah represented that, although his instructions required that the rate of rent should be fixed bilmokta, or in one sum, there were circumstances which rendered the observance of this rule in some instances impracticable; such as various abwabs proportionally added in the betay ryotty tenure to the money result of the jumma or valuation of the crop, according to the market prices of grain, these abwabs being often at the rate of one anna or of two annas per rupee on the valuation of the crop, on account of batta, and perhaps of three annas for the deh-khurch per begah; whilst in several other villages these articles of batta and khurch were levied uniformly at a certain rate per rupee on the amount of the valuation of the crop, as aforesaid. That it was therefore evident that these money rates could not be taken into account, so as to admit of their amount being ascertained in a betay pottah, farther than by fixing their proportional rates in the rupee on the amount of the valuation of the crop, or on the begah of the cultivation, as the local custom might in either case require. This aumeen was accordingly instructed to confine himself to the insertion of these proportionate rates of abwabs.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 6.

26. It appeared that in sundry villages in the pergunnah of Kureendeh it had been and continued the custom amongst the malguzars and assamees (i. e., the zemindars or farmers and the ryots) to carry on their cultivation and keep their accounts according to the practice termed by them kutcha dherawat gortaur, that is, where the begahs are measured by steps, of which one begah is equal only to eight pukhta biswas, and two and half of kutcha begahs to one pukhta begah. The aumeen in that pergunnah having hereon reported that the ryots in such places could not be made, without great difficulty, to comprehend the advantage of calculating by the pukhta instead of the kutcha begah, directions were given that their own customs should be continued, on condition that the description of the begah, and the mode of measurement, should be clearly specified in the pottahs to be granted in such places.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 7.

27. In the said pergunnah of Kureendeh it was on the same day ordered, in reply to a query from the aumeen, that where the serberakars or managers (mentioned in Section XVII., Regulation II., 1795 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 128), were on terms of good understanding with the zemindars, they might, if they pleased, affix their signatures to the pottahs to be granted to the ryots, but that wherever it became a question which of them should have the preference, it must be allowed to the serberakar as long as the latter remained responsible for the revenue.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 8.

28. The same aumeen having reported that in Pehaurpoor, and some other villages in Kureendeh, he had issued the pottahs in the terms of his instructions, although in fact it had been and still was customary for the zemindars, putteedars, and other chupperbund assamees or ryots, to meet together, and to lay on such a money assessment on the Government's half of the grain as might make up the public revenue; it was thereupon ordered, that those who preferred this mode might adhere to it, and even have this condition inserted in their pottahs, without the stipulation that such assessment should be founded on the market price, as is the rule in general for all other places.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 9.

29. The aumeen in the pergunnah of Mohammedabad reported that certain persons in that district, claiming to be the descendants of the ancient zemindars of villages now rented to farmers, refused to receive pottahs for the ground which they cultivated from the latter, alleging that they should thereby suffer degradation.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 10.

30. The deputation of the aumeens and their proceedings having been reported to the Governor-General in Council, he observed in his reply of the 26th June, 1795, that difficulties similar to those stated by the aumeens in Benares had been experienced in enforcing the Regulations regarding pottahs in the other three provinces. That, in many places, the ryots had omitted to take out pottahs, or objected to receive those tendered to them agreeably to the Regulations; and that, owing to the variation in the rates in the different pergunnahs and districts and other local circumstances, disputes had been occasioned, where both the proprietor and the cultivator of the lands were before satisfied with the rates of assessment that had been mutually agreed upon between them. That the rules regarding pottahs contained in paragraphs 6 to 8, for the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, had in consequence been passed, under which, if any dispute arose between a proprietor or a farmer of land and a ryot, regarding the rates of pottahs, the latter, by application to the Court of Judicature, could always obtain a pottah at the ancient and established rates of the districts, and that where no such dispute subsisted, the interference of Government was of course unnecessary. That, from these considerations, and as the variations in the rates in the different districts, and in the quality of the lands in Benares, might render it extremely difficult for the aumeens to fix the rates and the terms of the pottahs to the satisfaction of both parties, and as there might be considerable danger of their often favouring one or other of them, the Governor-General in Council directed the aumeens to be recalled, and ordered that rules similar to those contained in paragraphs 6 to 8 should be adopted in Benares, it being presumed that the operation of them would gradually lead to the defining and fixing the rates to be paid for land in the different districts and villages where any dispute might subsist respecting them, without incurring the inconveniences liable to arise from attempting to effect this object at once by the deputation of aumeens.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. iv.

31. In pursuance of the directions in the preceding paragraph, the pottah aumeens were recalled on the 8th of July, 1795; and with respect to the progress which they made in granting pottahs, wherever it shall appear that they have caused pottahs to be granted in deviation from the letter and spirit of the instructions under which they acted, such pottahs are to be deemed invalid, and are to be so adjudged in any court of justice; whilst, on the other hand, the operation of those in which the parties have acquiesced are to be admitted. This last-mentioned rule can be productive of no injury to either party, as all the pottahs, with the exception of those for the mootry tenures, are liable to annual renewal, in consequence of the alteration that unavoidably takes place in the annual cultivation of the ryots.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. v.

32. On the recall of the aumeens, they were directed to make it known that it was expected and required of the talookdars, zemindars, and farmers, that they should complete the issuing of the pottahs to their ryots in the form and manner required in paragraphs 13 to 19. The proprietors and farmers of land are accordingly hereby allowed until the expiration of the Fusly year, 1204, for granting these pottahs; and after that period no engagements for rent (exclusive of the exceptions in the cases specified in paragraphs 22, 28, and 29, the usages detailed in which are to be admitted), contrary to those ordered in paragraphs 20 to 29, or such other as the collector, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, may prescribe, shall be held valid; and the parties prosecuting under such informal engagements shall be nonsuited with costs.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. vi.

33.* To provide against the ryots refusing or omitting to take out or receive pottahs, although the persons from whem they are entitled to demand them be ready to grant them, in the form and on the terms that now are, or may be hereafter prescribed by this or any future Regulation, it is declared, that, if a proprietor or farmer of land shall fix up in the principal cutcherries in his estate or farm, a notification in writing, under his seal and signature, specifying that pottahs, according to the form prescribed in paragraph 19, or such other form as the collector, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, shall have approved and at the established rates, will be immediately granted to all ryots who may apply for them, and stating where, and when, and by whom the pottahs will be delivered, the notification shall be considered as a legal tender of a pottah, and the proprietor of land, or the farmer, shall be deemed to have complied with the order; and the persons so tendering pottahs shall be entitled to recover the rents due to them from such ryots as fully and effectually, to all intents and purposes, as if there existed written engagements between the parties.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. vii.

34.* The approbation of the collector in respect to the pottahs is to be considered to extend to the form only; as far as regards which he is, under the orders of Government, authorized either to adhere to that contained in paragraph 19, or to adopt such other forms as the local circumstances of the district may in any part thereof render more expedient. But in all cases of deviation from the form aforesaid, the collector is to signify his approbation of the new form of pottah introduced, by superscribing it with his name and official appellation; and thereupon he is to register a copy of such form or forms in the Dewanny Adawlut of the city or zillah within the jurisdiction of which such pottahs are to be issued, and to cause a copy thereof to be deposited in each of the principal cutcherries of the estate, or farm, or talooka, in which such pottahs are to be granted —Reg LI., 1795, sec. viii.

35.* If a dispute shall arise between the ryots and the persons from whom they may be entitled to demand pottahs, regarding the rates of the pottahs (whether the rent be payable in money or kind), it shall be determined in the Dewanny Adawlut of the city or zillah in the jurisdiction of which the lands may be situated, according to the rules established in the pergunnah, or tuppeh, or talooka, for lands of the same description and quality, and for the same caste of cultivators, as those respecting which the dispute may arise.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. ix.

* Note —Paragraphs 33 to 35 are adaptations to Benares, of secs v to vii, Reg IV, 1794, the original rules have been modified, and partly rescinded, by sec iii., Reg V., 1812, but the rules in this Regulation have not been specifically altered.

36 The rules in the preceding paragraph are to be considered applicable not only to the pottahs which the ryots are entitled to demand in the first instance, but also to the renewal of pottahs which may expire or become cancelled; and it is declared that no proprietor or farmer of land, nor any other person, shall require ryots whose pottahs may expire or become cancelled, to take out new pottahs at higher rates than the established rates of the pergunnah for lands of the same quality and description, due consideration being had, as far as may be required by the custom of the district, to the alteration of the species of culture and the caste of the cultivator. Under this rule, khoodkasht or chupperbund ryots will be entitled to have their pottahs renewed at the established rates, upon making application for that purpose to the person by whom the pottahs are to be granted, as are also paykasht ryots, provided the proprietor or farmer chooses to permit them to continue to cultivate the land, which they have the option to do or not, as they may think proper, on the expiration of all paykasht leases, whereas khoodkasht ryots cannot be dispossessed as long as they continue to pay the stipulated rent.—Reg. LI., 1795, sec. x.

CEDED AND CONQUERED PROVINCES.

Under-Tenures, Pottahs.

37. Zemindars, or other proprietors of land, may grant leases, or fix the rent of any land tenure, for any period not exceeding the terms of their own respective engagements with Government. Provided always, that in case any lease shall be granted, or the rent of the land be fixed for any longer period, the lease or engagement fixing the rent shall be null and void only for the excess beyond such terms respectively.—Act XVI., 1842.

38. Every zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land or farmer of land, who may have entered into engagements with Government for the public revenue of his zemindary, or other estate or farm, shall be at liberty to let the lands of his zemindary, or other estate or farm, under the restrictions prescribed by the Regulations, in whatever manner he shall think proper, consistently with the rights of the dependent talookdars, ryots, or other descriptions of under-tenants and cultivators of the soil; but every engagement contracted with dependent talookdars, under-renters, tenants, and ryots, or tenants of whatever denomination, shall be specific as to the amount and conditions of it; and all sums received by any actual proprietor of land, or any farmer of land, of whatever description, over and above what is specified in the engagements of the persons paying the same, shall be considered as extorted, and be repaid with a penalty of double the amount.—Reg. XXX., 1803, sec. ii.

39. No person contracting with a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor or farmer of land, or employed by him in the management of the collections, shall be authorized to take charge of the lands or collections, without an aumilnamah or written commission signed by such zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor or farmer of land.—Reg. XXX., 1803, sec. iii.

40. The impositions upon the ryots, under the denomination of abwaub, mhatoot, and other appellations, from their number and uncertainty, being intricate to adjust and a source of oppression to the ryots, all proprietors and farmers of land were required by the proclamation published on the 14th of July, 1802, by the Honourable the late Lieutenant-Governor and Board of Commissioners, in the ceded provinces, to consolidate the whole of the authorized abwaubs with the assul jumma, and to grant pottahs to their under-renters and ryots for a specific sum. As a sufficient period of time will have elapsed, during the second triennial settlement of the land revenue in the ceded provinces (which will expire with the Fusly year 1215), to enable the proprietors and farmers of land to complete the adjustment and delivery of pottahs for the whole of their lands in the mode prescribed, the expiration of the Fusly year 1215 is hereby declared to be the period fixed for the general delivery of pottahs, as hereafter specified.—Reg. XXX., 1803, sec. iv.

41. No actual proprietor of land, or dependent talookdar, or farmer, or tenant of land, of whatever description, shall impose any new abwaub or mhatoot upon the ryots, under-tenants, or cultivators, under any pretence whatever. Every exaction of this nature shall be punished by a penalty equal to three times the amount imposed; and if, at any future period, it be discovered that new abwaub or mhatoot have been imposed, the person imposing and receiving the same shall be liable to this penalty for the entire period of such impositions.—Reg. XXX., 1803, sec. v.

42. It is expected that in time the proprietors of land, dependent talookdars, and farmers of land, and the ryots, will find it for their mutual advantage to enter into agreements, in every instance, for a specific sum, for a certain quantity of land, leaving it to the option of the latter to cultivate whatever species of produce may appear to them likely to yield the largest profit. Where, however, it may be the established custom to vary the pottah rent for lands according to the articles produced thereon, and the actual proprietors of land, dependent talookdars, or farmers of land, and ryots, in such places, shall prefer an adherence to this custom, the engagements entered into between them shall specify the quantity of land, species of produce, rate of rent, and amount thereof, with the term of the lease, and a stipulation that, in the event of the species of produce being changed, a new engagement shall be executed for the remaining term of the first lease, or for a longer period if agreed on; and in the event of any new species being cultivated, a new engagement, with the like specification and clause, shall be executed accordingly.—Reg. XXX., 1803, sec. vi.

43. The rents to be paid by the ryots, by whatever rule or custom they shall be regulated, shall be specifically stated in the pottah, which, in every possible case, shall contain the exact sum to be paid by them.—Reg. XXX., 1803, sec. vii., cl. 1.

44. In cases where the rate only can be specified, such as where the rents are adjusted upon a measurement of the lands after cultivation, or on a survey of the crop, or where they are made payable in kind, the rate and terms of payment, and proportion of the crop to be delivered, with every condition, shall be clearly specified.—Reg. XXX., 1803, sec. vii., cl. 2.

45. If a dispute shall arise between the ryots, or other under-tenants, and the persons from whom they may be entitled to demand pottahs, regarding the rates of the pottahs (whether the rent be payable in money or kind), it shall be determined in the Court of Adawlut of the zillah in which the lands may be situated, according to the rates established in the pergunnah for lands of the same description and quality as those respecting which the dispute may arise, or according to the legal and established rights of the parties, whether the same be ascertainable by written engagements or defined by the laws and regulations, or defined upon general or local usage, which may be proved to have existed from time immemorial, these rules not being meant to define or limit the actual rights of any description of landholders or tenants, which can be properly ascertained and determined by judicial investigation only.—Reg. XXX., 1803, sec. ix.

46. The rules in the preceding paragraph shall be considered applicable, not only to the pottahs which the ryots and other under-tenants are entitled to demand in the first instance, under the proclamation published by the late provisional Government in the ceded provinces, dated the 14th July, 1802, under the Eleventh and Twelfth Clauses of Section LIII., Regulation XXVII., 1803 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 181), and under these rules, but also to the renewal of pottahs or leases which may expire or become cancelled under paragraphs 49 to 56.—Reg. XXX., 1803, sec. x.

47. A ryot, when his rent has been ascertained and settled, may demand a pottah from the actual proprietor of land, dependent talookdar, or farmer, of whom he holds his lands, or from the person acting for him; and any refusal to deliver the pottahs, upon being proved in the Court of Adawlut of the zillah, shall be punished by the Court, by a fine proportioned to the expense and trouble of the ryot in consequence of such refusal. Actual proprietors of land, dependent talookdars, and farmers, are also required to cause a pottah for the adjusted rent to be prepared and tendered to the ryot; either granting such pottah themselves or intrusting their agent to grant the same. No farmer, however, shall grant a pottah extending beyond the period of his own lease; nor shall any agent grant a pottah without authority from the proprietor or dependent talookdar, or the manager of disqualified proprietors.—Reg. XXX., 1803, sec. xi.

48. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize any zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, or any farmer of land, or any other person whatever, to demand an increase of rent from any mocurrerydar, istimrardar, or other description of under-tenant of land, who, at the period of the cession of the Nawaub Vizier to the English East-India Company, on the 10th of November, 1801, shall have been entitled to hold his tenure at a fixed annual rent, and shall have actually held the same at a fixed invariable amount, for twelve complete years before that period. On the contrary, any such under-tenants, provided they shall clearly establish that, by the conditions of their tenures, they were not liable to any increase of rent, and that they actually paid a fixed invariable annual rent during the above period, are hereby declared exempt from all enhancement of their fixed rent by any proprietor or farmer of land, or by any officer of Government, during the continuance of their tenures, according to the terms and conditions thereof.—Reg. XXX., 1803, sec. xii.

49. Zemindars, independent talookdars, or other actual proprietors of land with whom a permanent settlement shall be concluded, shall not be restricted from cancelling engagements into which they may have entered with any dependant talookdar at any time during such engagements, or from granting a new lease to such dependant talookdar; provided the parties concerned shall be mutually desirous of cancelling the former lease and of entering into a new one for a term, and shall voluntarily consent to the same; and provided further, that the transaction shall not be founded in collusive or fraudulent motives, intended to affect the rights or interests of Government or of any person or persons. Whenever it shall appear that a former lease has been cancelled, and that a new lease has been granted before the commencement of the last year of the former lease, without the mutual consent of the parties concerned, or that the parties had been influenced by collusive or fraudulent motives in entering into new engagements of the above nature, such engagements are declared to be null and void, and the former engagements shall be restored, subject to the operation of the Regulations relating to them.—Reg. XLVII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 3.

50. Where a division of a joint estate shall be made at the request of the proprietors, or pursuant to the decree of a court of justice, the fixed public revenue assessed upon the whole estate shall be apportioned on the several shares, agreeably to the principles prescribed in Section XXXVII., Regulation XXV., 1803 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 190), without regard to any engagements which may subsist between the proprietors and their dependant talookdars, under-farmers, ryots, or other under-tenants of whatever description. But the sharers shall not demand from the dependant talookdars, under-farmers, or ryots, or other under-renters, in their respective shares, any sum beyond the amount specified in the engagement, lease, or pottah, which may have been entered into between them and the proprietors jointly, previously to the division of the estate, provided that such engagement, lease, or pottah, be not repugnant to the rules prescribed in the preceding paragraph, and such dependant talookdars, under-farmers, ryots, or other under-renters, shall duly perform their part of it; but it shall remain in full force (excepting in the event of the lands being disposed of at public sale for the discharge of arrears of the public assessment) until the term of it shall have expired.—Reg. XLVII., 1833, sec. iii.; Reg. XIV., 1812, sec. iv.

51. If the whole or a portion of any estate shall be transferred by public sale (excepting it be so disposed of for the discharge of arrears of the public revenue) or by private sale, gift, or otherwise, or shall devolve to any person upon the death of the former proprietor, according to the Hindoo or Mahomedan law of inheritance, the person or persons to whom the lands shall be so transferred or may so devolve shall not demand from the dependant talookdars, under-farmers, ryots, or other under-tenant, in the lands transferred, any sum beyond the amount specified in the lease, pottah, or other engagements, which may have been entered into between them and the former proprietor, previously to the transfer or devolution; provided that such engagement be not repugnant to the rules prescribed, and that such dependant talookdars, farmers, ryots, or other under-tenants, duly perform their part of it; but it shall remain in full force until the term of it shall have expired.—Reg. XLVII., 1803, sec. iv.; Reg. XIV., 1812, sec. iv.

NOTE.—The two preceding paragraphs are extensions to the Ceded Provinces of secs. iii. and iv., Reg. XL., 1793, which original enactments were rescinded by sec. iii., Reg. XVIII., 1812.

52. Whenever the whole or a portion of the lands of any zemindar, independant talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, shall be disposed of at public sale for the discharge of arrears of the public assessment, all engagements which such proprietor shall have contracted with dependant talookdars or other dependant landholders, whose talooks or tenures may be situated in the lands sold, as also all leases to under-farmers and pottahs to ryots, for the cultivation of the whole or any part of such lands (with the exception of the pottahs and leases specified in paragraph 55), shall stand cancelled from the day of sale, provided the public sale for arrears of assessment shall have taken place before the expiration of the second month of the current Fusly year, or from the commencement of the ensuing year, in case such public sale shall have taken place at any time after the second month of the current year; and the purchaser or purchasers of the lands, in all such cases, shall be at liberty to collect from such dependant talookdars or other dependant landholders, and from the ryots or cultivators of the lands let in farm and the lands not farmed, whatever the former proprietor would have been entitled to demand, according to the established usages and rates of the pergunnah or district in which such lands shall be situated, had the engagements so cancelled never existed; provided, however, that all dependant talookdars or other dependant landholders, and all ryots or cultivators of land, whose leases and pottahs may become cancelled by a public sale, on account of arrears of assessment, under this paragraph, shall be entitled to receive and to demand from the purchaser new pottahs, in conformity to the tenth and eleventh articles of the proclamation published by the Honourable the late Lieutenant-Governor and the Board of Commissioners in the ceded provinces, under date the 14th of July, 1802, with the Eleventh and Twelfth Clauses of Section LIII., Regulation XXXVII., 1803 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 181), and under the rules prescribed in paragraphs 38 to 48, or any other rule which may be hereafter passed, for the protection and welfare of dependant talookdars, ryots, and other cultivators of the soil, in pursuance of the First Clause of Section XXXV., Regulation XXV., 1803. ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 188).—Reg. XLVII., 1803, sec. v.

NOTE.—See paragraphs 64, 65.

53. Provision is made in paragraph 48, for preventing any increase of assessment being demanded from any mocurrerydar, istimrardar, or other description of under-tenant of land, who, at the period of the cession of the Nawaub Vizier to the English East-India Company on the 10th of November, 1801, shall have been entitled to hold his tenure at a fixed annual rent, and shall have actually held the same at a fixed invariable amount for twelve complete years before that period. It is accordingly hereby declared, conformably to the above provision, that no zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, or farmer of land, or any other person whatever, shall demand an increase of rent from any dependant talookdar, or other description of under-tenant of land dependant on him, although he should himself be subject to the payment of an increase of jumma to Government, excepting upon proof that he is entitled so to do, either by the special custom of the district or by the conditions under which the under-tenant holds his tenure; or that the under-tenant, by receiving abatements from his jumma, has subjected himself to the payment of the increase demanded, and that the lands are capable of affording it.—Reg. XLVII., 1803, sec. vi., cl. 1.

54. If, in any instance, it be proved that a zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land or farmer of land, has exacted more from an under-tenant than he is entitled to, the Court shall adjudge him to pay a penalty of double the amount of such exaction, with all costs of suit to the party injured.—Reg. XLVII., 1803, sec. vi., cl. 2.

55. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit any zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, selling, giving, or otherwise disposing of any part of his lands as a dependant talook, under the notification contained in Section XXXVII., Regulation XXV., 1803 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 190); but such transfer will not be allowed, in any case, to affect the rights or claims of Government.—Reg. XLVII., 1803. sec. vii.

56. Nor to prohibit actual proprietors of land granting, without the sanction of Government or its officers, to any person not being a European who is not a British subject, a lease or pottah for ground for any term of years, or in perpetuity, for the erection of dwelling-houses or buildings for carrying on manufactures, or for other purposes, and for offices for such houses or buildings, or for gardens.—Reg. XLVII., 1803, sec. viii.; Act IV., 1837.

NOTE.—See further rules commencing with paragraph 60.

RULES IN FORCE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES AND BENARES.

57. As instances may occur wherein a sale for arrears of revenue may take place after the second month of the year, and when the proprietor, antecedent to the attachment of his lands for sale, may have granted leases for the current year to farmers, ryots, or other tenants, or may otherwise have concluded a settlement with his under-renters for the current year, the Governor-General in Council, with a view to obviate any hardship which such under-renters or tenants might sustain from the immediate operation of paragraph 2, and to promote the general encouragement of agriculture, hereby enacts, that in such cases the operation of the rule above mentioned, whereby on a public sale of lands for the discharge of arrears of the public assessment, the engagements, pottahs, and leases of the late proprietor (with certain exception) are cancelled from the day of sale, shall be suspended till the close of the Bengal, Fusly, or Willaity, year in which the sale may have taken place; and the purchaser, during such period, shall not be entitled to demand from any under-renter or tenant, of whatever denomination, more than the late incumbent could have legally demanded. Provided, however, that this suspension be not considered applicable to any engagements, pottahs, or leases, evidently collusive; nor in any case, unless the sale shall have taken place after the second month of the year, according to the era current in the province wherein the lands may be situated.—Reg. I., 1801, sec. ix.

NOTE.—The foregoing rule is applicable to Benares, under the provision in sec. xv., Reg. I., 1801, but has not been re-enacted for the Ceded Provinces.

58. Proprietors of land are competent to grant leases for any period, even to perpetuity, and at any rent which they may deem conducive to their interests. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to empower persons holding a restricted interest in estates, whether for life or for other limited period, or subject to control or restriction in the use or disposal of the property, to grant leases extending beyond the term of their own interest in the property, or exceeding their power or authority over it.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. ii.; and Reg. XVIII., 1812, sec. ii.

59. When a division of a joint estate shall be made on the application of the proprietors, or pursuant to the decree of a Court of justice, the fixed public revenue assessed upon the whole estate shall be apportioned on the several shares agreeably to the principles prescribed in Section X., Regulation I., 1793; and Section VII., Regulation XXVII., 1795 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraphs 10 and 145), without regard to any engagements that may subsist between the proprietors and their dependant talookdars (excepting the dependant talookdars described in paragraph 4), under-farmers, or ryots. But all leases made in conformity to paragraphs 61 and 62, shall remain in full force, notwithstanding the division of a joint estate among the sharers, or the sale of the whole or a portion of any estate in satisfaction of a decree of Court, or the devolving of the same by inheritance, or the private transfer thereof by sale, gift, or otherwise.—Reg. XVIII., 1812, sec. iii.

GENERAL RULES.

60. It being a frequent practice with the under-tenants to lodge unfounded complaints in the Foujdary Adawlut against persons attaching their property, as well as against the whole of the officers employed in collecting their rents, and likewise to cause their being summoned as witnesses in causes with the merits and circumstances of which they are totally unacquainted, for the sole purpose of creating embarrassment and delay in the collection of the rents, the Courts of Justice are required at all times to discourage and punish such culpable practices, as far as the powers vested in them by the Regulations may admit. Section X. of Regulation IX., 1793 ("MAGISTRATES," paragraph 49), is to be strictly enforced in all cases of litigious and unfounded complaints, of the nature herein referred to, before the magistrate; and in instances of the zemindary officers or others employed in the collections being improperly summoned as witnesses in the Civil Courts, the party who summoned them should be compelled, under Section VI., Regulation IV., 1793 ("PROCEDURE ON THE TRIAL OF ORIGINAL SUITS," paragraphs 10, 75, and 76), to make them such allowance for their expenses as may be sufficient for their full indemnification. It is further hereby declared, that if any person shall wantonly, and without good cause, be the means of summoning to the Courts of Justice, civil or criminal, the principal officer, or any officer engaged in collecting the rents of any zemindar, talookdar, or other landholder or farmer of land, and a loss of rent, or other evident damage, shall be sustained by the landholder or farmer, in consequence of such wanton and unnecessary summons, an action shall lie against the party who caused the summons for such loss or damage, and on proof thereof in the Dewanny Adawlut, or before a moonsiff, sudder ameen, or principal sudder ameen, if the case be cognizable by them, the party injured shall be entitled to recover the amount with all costs of suit.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xii.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xii.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. xxxviii.

61. In all instances, the Courts of Justice will determine the rights of every description of landholder and tenant when regularly brought before them, whether the same be ascertainable by written engagements, or defined by the laws and Regulations, or depend upon general or local usage which may be proved to have existed from time immemorial; but it is hereby declared, that no part of the existing Regulations was meant to deprive the zemindars and other landholders of the power of summoning, and if necessary, compelling the attendance of their tenants for the adjustment of their rents, or for any other just purpose, or of measuring any land within their respective estates which may be liable to measurement, under the conditions upon which such land may have been leased or held. For the just exercise of such rights and powers, the landholders are not required to make any previous application to the Courts of Justice; and any person opposing them therein will, on proof in the Dewanny Adawlut, be liable to full damages and all costs, besides being subject, for any breach of the peace, to prosecution and punishment in the Criminal Courts. But the landholders, their agents and representatives, will be held answerable for any abuse or unjust exercise of the powers hereby declared to be vested in them, and on proof thereof by the party aggrieved in the Dewanny Adawlut, will be liable to full costs and damages, besides a fine to Government if the case shall appear to deserve it.* The execution of specific engagements and delivery of receipts for payments, in all instances, will tend most to the security of the landholders and their tenants in removing all doubt of the exact terms of agreement between them, or of the amount paid and due; and the provisions in Regulation VIII., 1793, for this purpose, are to be pointed out to them by the Courts of Justice as well as by the collectors, on every proper occasion, as their mutual safeguard against all undue demands on the one side and evasions on the other, which the rules in that Regulation were expressly enacted to prevent. As a further security to the zemindars in maintaining their rights over the dependant talookdars continued under them, the latter are hereby required to register in the sudder cutcherry of the zemindary to which their talooks may be attached, all transfers of such talooks, or portions of them, by sale, gift, or otherwise, as well as all successions thereto, and divisions among heirs in cases of inheritance; and whenever any distribution of the jumma of a dependant talook may become necessary on a division thereof, the written consent of the zemindar to whom such rent may be payable is to be previously obtained, without which no distribution of a talookdary jumma will be valid, or exonerate the entire talook from its responsibility to the zemindar. Moreover, the zemindars who, by Section XLVIII. of Regulation VIII., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 56), were directed to deliver to the collectors a record of the engagements entered into between them and their dependant talookdars at the period of the decennial settlement, specifying the names of the talookdars, their talooks, and the jumma of each, are to deliver a similar record annually, or whenever it may be required, including any alterations which have been registered in their respective cutcherries under this rule.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xv., cl. 8; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xiv., cl. 8; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxxii., cl. 8. (*NOTE.—The part following the mark (*) is omitted in the Ceded Provinces rule).

62. By Section VI., Regulation XIV., 1793 ("REALIZATION OF REVENUE," paragraph 57), it is provided, that in cases of attachment, the aumeen shall collect according to the engagements subsisting between the defaulter and his under-tenants; but this is not to be considered applicable to engagements evidently collusive, which may have been contracted in expectation of the attachment, with a view to prevent the officers of Government from receiving the just rents during the continuance of it. In such cases, the aumeen is to collect according to the established rates and usages of the pergunnah, as he is directed to do in cases where no engagement exists between the defaulter and his under-tenants. It is further hereby declared, that after the promulgation of this Regulation, no anticipation of the rent will be admitted in cases of attachment. The landholders and farmers are forbidden to demand or receive, and the ryots and other under-tenants are forbidden to pay any part of the rents receivable by the former and payable by the latter before the stipulated or usual period of payment, according to the kistbundy or other engagement, or established local usage; and no person hereafter making anticipated payments against this prohibition, or producing receipts for such, whether collusive or otherwise, shall be entitled to credit for the amount from the officers of Government who may attach the lands or farm, or from the landholder or farmer making the attachment, if it be made for arrears due from an under-tenant under the provisions contained in this Regulation. Nor shall credit be allowed for any payment made to a defaulter after proclamation of the attachment of his estate or farm, until further proclamation be made that such attachment has been withdrawn; unless it can be clearly shown that such proclamation, which is to be made as public as possible throughout the attached lands immediately on the attachment's taking place was, notwithstanding, unknown to the party making payment to the defaulter at the time when such payment may have been made. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be understood to exonerate the defaulter from crediting to his under-tenants, or otherwise accounting for, all sums received by him, whether in anticipation of the rents or subsequent to the attachment of his estate or farm, the above restrictions having reference to the attachment only.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxiii., cl. 3; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xxiv.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. xv., cl. 3.

63. The proprietors of land shall henceforward be considered competent to grant leases to their dependant talookdars, under-farmers, and ryots, and to receive correspondent engagements for the payment of rent from each of those classes, or any other classes of tenants, according to such form as the contracting parties may deem most convenient and most conducive to their respective interests; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to sanction or legalize the imposition of arbitrary or indefinite cesses, whether under the denomination of abwaub, muthote, or any other denomination. All stipulations or reservations of that nature shall be adjudged by the Courts of Judicature to be null and void: but the Courts shall, notwithstanding, maintain and give effect to the definite clauses of the engagements contracted between the parties, or in other words, enforce payment of such sums as may have been specifically agreed upon between them.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. iii.

64. No person deputed to attach lands on the part of Government shall be deemed entitled to annul existing leases within the year in which the attachment may have taken place, on the ground that such leases were evidently collusive, without a decision to that effect in a Court of Judicature; the case to be tried as a summary suit.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. iv.

65. By paragraphs 5, 9, and 52, it is provided, that in cases in which leases may be cancelled on the occasion of public sales made for the recovery of arrears of assessment, the purchaser shall be entitled to collect, during the year in which the sale took place, whatever the former proprietor would have been entitled to receive, "according to the established usages and rates of the pergunnah or district in which such lands may be situated." There being, however, reason to believe that the pergunnah rates are in many instances become very uncertain, the following rules shall be observed on all occasions of that nature:—Reg. V., 1812, sec. v.

66. If any known established pergunnah rates shall exist, the same shall serve to determine the amount of the rent which should be received by persons deputed to attach the lands on the part of Government, or by the purchasers at the public sales.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. vi.

67. In cases in which no established rates of the pergunnah or local division of the country may be known, pottahs shall be granted, and the collections made, according to the rate payable for land of a similar description in the places adjacent; but if the leases and pottahs of the tenants of an estate generally, which may consist of an entire village or other local division, be liable to be cancelled under the rules above noticed, new pottahs shall be granted, and the collections made at rates not exceeding the highest rate paid for the same land in any one year within the period of the three last years antecedent to the period at which the leases may be cancelled.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. vii.

68. In the case of a dependent talookdar, if the rent of the lands be computed according to the rates payable by ryots or cultivators for land of a similar quality and description, a deduction shall be allowed from the gross rent in the adjustment of the jumma of such dependent talook, at the rate of ten per cent. for the talookdar's profit or income, over and above a reasonable allowance for charges of collection, according to the extent of the talook.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. viii.

69. By the former and present Regulations, persons purchasing land at the public sales are competent under certain restrictions to annul engagements contracted between the late proprietor of the lands and his under-tenants: but it is hereby declared, that no cultivator or tenant of land shall be liable to pay an enhanced rent, though subject to enhancement under subsisting Regulations, unless written engagements for such enhanced rent have been entered into by the parties, or a formal written notice have been served on such cultivator or tenant at the season of cultivation, viz., on or before the month of Jeth, notifying the specific rent, under the landholder's right of enhancing it, to which he will be subject for the ensuing Fusly or for the current Bengal year. —Reg. V., 1812, sec. ix.

70. Unless such notification be duly served, no greater rent shall be exigible by process of distress or confinement of persons, nor recoverable by suit, than the cultivator or tenant was bound to pay under his previous engagements: and if more be levied from him, he shall be entitled to a refund of the excess with damages, on proof of the circumstances before the collector.* In all practicable cases, the required notification shall be served personally on the tenant; but if he shall abscond or conceal himself, so that it cannot be served personally upon him, it shall be affixed at his usual place of residence: which latter process shall, in such case, be deemed and taken to be a sufficient service of the notification in question.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. x.

* NOTE.—By secs. ii. and iii., Reg. VIII., 1831, the cognizance of summary suits for arrears or exactions of rent is transferred to the collectors, who are to try them under Regs. XIV., 1824, and VIII., 1831. From their decisions, the only appeal is by regular suit, which, as well as original suits instituted in preference to summary proceedings, as authorized by sec. iv., Reg. II., 1821, are cognizable by the Courts. See "REALIZATION OF RENT," paragraphs 75 to 104.

71. If the ryot or tenant upon whom the notice directed in the two preceding paragraphs is directed to be served, shall have no place of usual residence in the zillah where the land to which such notice or demand has reference is situate, the mode of serving such notice shall be by affixing it at the usual cutcherry of such land, or other conspicuous place thereon, or at the village chouree choupal, or other conspicuous place in the village.—Act VIII., 1848.

72. The provisions contained in the preceding rules shall be considered equally applicable to sequestrators on the part of Government, to managers on the part of the Court of Wards, and to farmers, whenever estates, or portions of estates, may be let to farm under the authority of the Board of Revenue.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. xi.

TENURE OF LAND BY EUROPEAN BRITISH SUBJECTS.

73. It shall be lawful for any subject of her Majesty to acquire and hold in perpetuity, or for any term of years, property in land, or in any emoluments issuing out of land, in any part of the territories of the East-India Company.—Act IV., 1837, sec. i.

74. All rules which prescribe the manner in which such property as is aforesaid may now be acquired and held by natives of the said territories shall extend to all persons who shall under the authority of this Act acquire or hold such property.—Act IV., 1837, sec. ii.

75. No person whatever, being the owner, holder, or farmer of any property in land, or in any emoluments issuing out of land, in any part of the said territories, whether in perpetuity or for a term, or being a local agent or manager of any such property, is, by reason of his place of birth, or by reason of his descent, exempt from any public charge or assessment, or from any duty connected with the police, or with the salt or opium revenue, or from any duty whatsoever of a public nature to which he would otherwise be subject, as the owner or holder of such property, or as a local agent or manager thereof.—Act II., 1853, sec. i.

76. For the non-payment of any such public charge or assessment, or for the breach of any such duty as aforesaid, or for any neglect or misconduct in the discharge thereof, every person, whatever may have been his place of birth, or his descent, shall be subject to the same laws, regulations, and procedure, and to the same jurisdictions as if he were a native of the said territories.—Act II., 1853, sec. ii.

LAND REVENUE.

PUTNEE TALOOKS.

1. By the rules of the perpetual settlement, proprietors of estates paying revenue to Government, that is, the individuals answerable to Government for the revenue then assessed on the different mehauls, were declared to be entitled to make any arrangements for the leasing of their lands in talook or otherwise, that they might deem most conducive to their interests. By the rules of Regulation XLIV., 1793 ("UNDER-TENURES," paragraphs 2 to 5), however, all such arrangements were subjected to two limitations: first, that the jumma, or rent, should not be fixed for a period exceeding ten years; and secondly, that in case of a sale for Government arrears, such leases or arrangements should stand cancelled from the day of sale. The provisions of Section II., Regulation XLIV., 1793, by which the period of all fixed engagements for rent was limited to ten years, have been rescinded by Section II., Regulation V., 1812; and in Regulation XVIII. of the same year it is more distinctly declared, that zemindars are at liberty to grant talooks or other leases of their lands, fixing the rent in perpetuity at their discretion, subject, however, to the liability of being dissolved on sale of the grantor's estate for arrears of the Government revenue, in the same manner as heretofore. In practice, the grant of talooks and other leases at a rent fixed in perpetuity had been common with the zemindars of Bengal for some time before the passing of the two Regulations last mentioned; but, notwithstanding the abrogation of the rule which declared such arrangements null and void, and the abandonment of all intention or desire to have it enforced as a security to the Government revenue in the manner originally contemplated, it was omitted to declare in the rules of Regulations V. and XVIII. of 1812 ("UNDER-TENURES"), or in any other Regulations, whether tenures at the time in existence and held under covenants or engagements entered into by the parties in violation of the rule of Section II., Regulation XLIV., 1793, should, if called in question, be deemed invalid and void as heretofore. This point it has been deemed necessary to set at rest by a general declaration of the validity of any tenures that may be now in existence, notwithstanding that they may have been granted at a rent fixed in perpetuity, or for a longer term than ten years, while the rule fixing this limitation to the term of all such engagements, and declaring null and void any granted in contravention thereto, was in force. Furthermore, in the exercise of the privilege thus conceded to zemindars under direct engagements with Government, there has been created a tenure which had its origin on the estates of the Rajah of Burdwan, but has since been extended to other zemindaries, the character of which tenure is, that it is a talook created by the zemindar, to be held at a rent fixed in perpetuity by the lessee and his heirs for ever; the tenant is called upon to furnish collateral security for the rent, and for his conduct generally, or he is excused from this obligation at the zemindar's discretion; but even if the original tenant be excused, still, in case of sale for arrears, or other operation leading to the introduction of another tenant, such new incumbent has always in practice been liable to be so called upon at the option of the zemindar; by the terms also of the engagements interchanged, it is amongst other stipulations provided, that in case of an arrear occurring, the tenure may be brought to sale by the zemindar, and if the sale do not yield a sufficient amount to make good the balance of rent at the time due, the remaining property of the defaulter shall be further answerable for the demand. These tenures have usually been denominated putnee talooks, and it has been a common practice of the holders of them to underlet on precisely similar terms to other persons, who, on taking such leases, went by the name of durputnee talookdars; these again sometimes similarly underlet to seputneedars, and the conditions of all the title-deeds vary in nothing material from the original engagements executed by the first holder. In these engagements, however, it is not stipulated whether the sale thus reserved to himself by the grantor is for his own benefit, or for that of the tenant; that is, whether, in case the proceeds of sale should exceed the zemindar's demand of rent, the tenant would be entitled to such excess; neither is the manner of sale specified, nor do the usages of the country nor the Regulations of Government afford any distinct rules, by the application of which to the specific cases the defects above alluded to could be supplied, or the points of doubt and difficulty involved in the omission be brought to determination in a consistent and uniform manner. The tenures in question have extended through several zillahs of Bengal, and the mischiefs which have arisen from the want of a consistent rule of action for the guidance of the Courts of Civil Judicature in regard to them have been productive of such confusion as to demand the interference of the legislature: it has accordingly been deemed necessary to regulate and define the nature of the property given and acquired on the creation of a putnee talook as above described, also to declare the legality of the practice of under-letting in the manner in which it has been exercised by putneedars and others, establishing at the same time such provisions as have appeared calculated to protect the under-lessee from any collusion of his immediate superior with the zemindar or other for his ruin, as well as to secure the just rights of the zemindar on the sale of any tenure under the stipulations of the original engagements entered into with him. It has further been deemed indispensable to fix the process by which the said tenures are to be brought to sale, and the form and manner of conducting such sale; and whereas the estates of zemindars under engagements with Government are liable to be brought to sale at any time for an arrear in the revenue, payable by monthly kists to Government, it has seemed just to allow any zemindar who may have granted tenures with a stipulation of the right to sell for arrears, the opportunity of availing himself of this means of realizing his dues in the middle of the year, as well as at the close, instead of only at the end of the Bengal year, as heretofore allowed by the Regulations in force; it has further been deemed equitable to extend this rule to all cases in which the right of sale may have been reserved, even though, in conformity with the Regulations heretofore in force, the stipulation for sale contained in the engagements interchanged may have restricted such sale to the case of a demand of rent remaining unpaid at the close of the Bengal year. It has been likewise deemed advisable to explain and modify some of the existing rules for the collection of rents, with a view to render them more efficacious than at present, as well as to provide against sundry means of evasion now resorted to by defaulters. The following rules have accordingly been enacted by his Excellency the Most Noble the Governor-General in Council, to take effect from the date of their promulgation throughout the several districts of the province of Bengal, including Midnapore.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. i.

2. It is hereby declared, that any leases or engagements for the fixing of rent now in existence, that may have been granted or concluded for a term of years, or in perpetuity, by a proprietor under engagements with Government, or other person competent to grant the same, shall be deemed good and valid tenures, according to the terms of the covenants or engagements interchanged, notwithstanding that the same may have been executed before the passing of Regulation V., 1812, and while the rule of Section II., Regulation XLIV., 1793, which limited the period for which it was lawful to grant such engagements to ten years, and declared all that might be entered into for a longer term to be null and void, was in full force and effect; and notwithstanding that the stipulations of the said leases may be in violation of the rule in question: provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to exempt any tenures held under engagements from proprietors of estates paying revenue to Government, from the liability to be cancelled on sale of the said estates for arrears of the said revenue, under the rule of Section V., Regulation XLIV., 1793 ("UNDER-TENURES," paragraph 2), unless specially exempted from such liability by the rule in question, or by any other specific rule of the Regulations in force.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. ii.

3. The tenures known by the name of putnee talooks, as described in the preamble, shall be deemed to be valid tenures in perpetuity, according to the terms of the engagements under which they are held. They are heritable by their conditions; and it is hereby further declared, that they are capable of being transferred by sale, gift, or otherwise, at the discretion of the holder, as well as answerable for his personal debts, and subject to the process of the Courts of Judicature, in the same manner as other real property.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. iii., cl. 1.

4. Putnee talookdars are hereby declared to possess the right of letting out the lands composing their talooks in any manner they may deem most conducive to their interest, and any engagements so entered into by such talookdars with others shall be legal and binding between the parties to the same, their heirs and assignees: provided, however, that no such engagements shall operate to the prejudice of the right of the zemindar to hold the superior tenure, answerable for any arrear of his rent, in the state in which he granted it, and free of all incumbrance resulting from the act of his tenant.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. iii., cl. 2.

5. In case of an arrear occurring upon any tenure of the description alluded to in paragraph 3, it shall not be liable to be cancelled for the same, under the rule contained in the seventh clause of Section XV., Regulation VII., 1799 ("REALIZATION OF RENT," paragraph 68), for leases conveying a limited interest in the land; but the tenure shall be brought to sale by public auction, and the holder of the tenure will be entitled to any excess in the proceeds of such sale, beyond the amount of the arrear of rent due; subject, however, to the provisions contained in paragraphs 32 to 39.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. iii., cl. 3.

6. If the holder of a putnee talook shall have underlet in such manner as to have conveyed a similar interest to that enjoyed by himself, as explained in the preamble, the holder of such a tenure shall be deemed to have acquired all the rights and immunities declared in paragraphs 3 to 5 to attach to putnee talooks, in so far as concerns the grantor of such under-tenure. The same construction shall also hold in the case of putnee talooks of the third or fourth degree.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. iv.

7. The right of alienation having been declared to vest in the holder of a putnee talook, it shall not be competent to the zemindar or other superior, to refuse to register, and otherwise to give effect to such alienations, by discharging the party transferring his interest from personal responsibility, and by accepting the engagements of the transferee. In conformity, however, with established usage, the zemindar or other superior shall be entitled to exact a fee upon every such alienation, and the rate of the said fee is hereby fixed at two per cent. on the jumma or annual rent of the interest transferred, until the same shall amount to one hundred rupees, which sum shall be the maximum of any fee to be exacted on this account. The zemindar shall also be entitled to demand substantial security from the transferee or purchaser, to the amount of half the jumma or yearly rent, payable to him from the tenure transferred; the condition of furnishing such security on requisition being understood to be one of the original liabilities of the tenure. The above rules shall apply equally to the case of a sale made in execution of a decree or judgment of court, as to all other alienations, but it shall not apply to the case of sale for an arrear in the rent due to the zemindar or other superior, under the rules hereinafter contained. The purchaser at such a sale shall be entitled to have his name registered, and to obtain possession without fee, though, of course, liable to be called on to give security under the conditions of the tenure purchased.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. v.

8. It shall be competent to the zemindar or other superior to refuse the registry of any transfer until the fee above stipulated be paid, and until substantial security to the amount specified be tendered and accepted: provided, however, that if the security tendered by any purchaser or transferee should not be approved by the zemindar, and the party tendering it shall be dissatisfied with such rejection, he shall be competent to appeal therefrom by petition or common motion in the Civil Court of the district, which authority, if satisfied of the sufficiency of the security tendered, shall issue an injunction on the zemindar to accept it, and give effect to the transfer without delay. It is hereby provided, that the rules of this and of the preceding paragraph shall not be held to apply to transfers of any fractional portion of a putnee talook, nor to any alienation other than of the entire interest, for no apportionment of the zemindar's reserved rent can be allowed to stand good, unless made under his special sanction.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. vi.

9. In case of the sale of a putnee tenure in execution of a judgment of Court, if the purchaser do not within the period of one month from the sale conform to the rules of paragraph 7, in order to obtain the transfer of his tenure by the superior to whom the rent fixed upon it is payable, the zemindar or other superior shall be entitled, of his own authority, to send a suzawul to attach and hold possession of the tenure, until the forms prescribed be observed. In case, also, of the sale of a putnee tenure for arrears of the rent due upon it, under these rules, if security be required by the zemindar, and the purchaser fail to furnish the same within one month of the date of sale, the zemindar shall similarly be entitled to send a suzawul to attach and hold possession of the interest which may have passed on the sale, to the exclusion of the purchaser, until the prescribed security be given. Attachments made under this rule shall be regarded as trusts for the benefit and at the risk of the purchasers; consequently, after deducting the rent due and the expense of attaching, any surplus that may be yielded by the collections shall be held in deposit for such purchaser: but if the collections for the time fall short of the rent, the tenure and person of the proprietor shall be liable in the same manner as if no attachment had been made, and the accounts produced by the zemindar or other superior making the attachment, shall be received as primâ facie evidence to warrant process for an arrear so accruing.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. vii.

10. Zemindars, that is, proprietors under direct engagements with the Government, shall be entitled to apply in the manner following for periodical sales of any tenures, upon which the right of selling or bringing to sale for an arrear of rent may have been specially reserved by stipulation in the engagements interchanged, on the creation of the tenure. The exercise of this power shall not be confined to cases in which the stipulation for sale may have been unrestricted in regard to time, but shall apply equally to tenures held under engagements stipulating merely for a sale at the end of the year, in conformity with the practice heretofore allowed by the Regulations in force.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. viii., cl. 1.

11. On the first day of Bysakh, that is, at the commencement of the following year from that of which the rent is due, the zemindar shall present a petition to the collector, containing a specification of any balances that may be due to him on account of the expired year, from all or any talookdars, or other holders of an interest of the nature described in the preceding paragraph. The same shall then be stuck up in some conspicuous part of the kucheree, with a notice, that if the amount claimed be not paid before the first of Jyte following, the tenures of the defaulters will on that day be sold by public sale in liquidation. Should, however, the first of Jyte fall on a Sunday or holiday, the next subsequent day, not a holiday, shall be selected instead; a similar notice shall be stuck up at the sudder kucheree of the zemindar himself, and a copy or extract of such part of the notice as may apply to the individual case shall be by him sent, to be similarly published at the kucheree, or at the principal town or village upon the land of the defaulter. The zemindar shall be exclusively answerable for the observance of the forms above prescribed, and the notice required to be sent into the mofussil shall be served by a single peon, who shall bring back the receipt of the defaulter, or of his manager, for the same; or in the event of inability to procure this, the signatures of three substantial persons residing in the neighbourhood, in attestation of the notice having been brought and published on the spot. If it shall appear from the tenor of the receipt, or attestation in question, that the notice has been published at any time previous to the fifteenth of the month of Bysakh, it shall be a sufficient warrant for the sale to proceed upon the day appointed. In case the people of the village should object or refuse to sign their names in attestation, the peon shall go to the kucheree of the nearest moonsiff, or if there should be no moonsiff, to the nearest thannah, and there make voluntary oath or affirmation of the same having been duly published, certificate to which effect shall be signed and sealed by the said officers, and delivered to the peon.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. viii., cl. 2; Act XXXIII., 1850, sec. i.

12. Ten days' notice shall be given before proceeding to sale, by proclamation to be stuck up at the kucheree of the collector or independent deputy collector, and at the Zillah Court or local Adawlut within the jurisdiction of which the lands to be sold, or the greater portion of them, as the case may be, shall be situate.—Reg. I., 1820, sec. ii., cl. 2; Act. VI., 1853, secs. vi., viii.

13 On the first day of Kartick, in the middle of the year, the zemindar shall be at liberty to present a similar petition, with a statement of any balances that may be due on account of the rent of the current year, up to the end of the month of Asin, and to cause similar publication to be made of a sale of the tenures of defaulters, to take place on the first of Aughun, unless the whole of the advertised balance shall be paid before the date in question, or so much of it as shall reduce the arrear, including any intermediate demand for the month of Kartick, to less than one-fourth, or a four-anna proportion of the total demand of the zemindar, according to the kistbundee, calculated from the commencement of the year to the last day of Kartick.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. viii., cl. 3.

14. All sales of saleable tenures applied for under these rules shall be made in public kucheree by the collector, deputy collector, or head assistant to the collector or deputy collector, within which the lands may be situated; the land shall be sold to the highest bidder, and every one not the actual defaulter shall be free to bid, not excepting the person in satisfaction of whose demand the sale may be made, nor the under-tenants of the defaulter; fifteen per cent. of the purchase-money shall be paid immediately the lot is knocked down, and the officer conducting the sale shall be competent to refuse to accept a bid, or to knock down a lot to any bidder, unless he has assurance to his satisfaction that the amount required to be deposited is in hand for the purpose, or will be produced within two hours. If the fifteen per cent. be not paid in cash, or in notes of the Bank of Bengal, within two hours of the sale, or an equivalent amount in Government securities be not lodged, the lot shall be resold on the same day, and if the remainder of the purchase-money be not paid by noon of the eighth day, notice shall be given of resale on the following day, that is, on the ninth from the first sale, by proclaiming the same by beat of drum through the bazar of the sudder station of the zillah, after which the lot shall be resold at the appointed time at the risk of the first purchaser, who shall forfeit the advance of fifteen per cent. already made, and be further answerable for any sum in which the proceeds of the second sale may fall short of the antecedent one; such deficiency to be levied by the process for the execution of decrees of the Civil Courts. Any such forfeited deposit shall be applied to defray the expenses of the sale, and the surplus shall be forfeited to Government.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. ix.; Act XXV., 1850.

15. At the time of the sale, the notice previously stuck up in the kucheree shall be taken down, and the lots be called up successively in the order in which they may be found in that notice. A person shall attend on the part of the zemindar, with a particular statement of the payments made up to the day of sale, on account of the balance of each advertised lot, together with the receipt for, or certificate of, the notice directed to be published in the mofussil, nor shall any lot be put up to sale until the statement produced shall have been inspected, and the existence of a balance for the year ascertained therefrom, nor until the receipt for the notice shall have been read; the observance of which forms shall be recorded in a separate roobakaree to be held upon each lot sold. If the sale be of the description provided for in paragraph 13, the kistbundy of the defaulter shall likewise be produced, in order that it may be seen that the balance remaining unpaid exceeds a four-anna proportion of the demand up to the date of sale; nor shall the sale take place unless this be ascertained. The zemindar shall be exclusively responsible for the correctness and authenticity of the papers to be thus exhibited, nor shall the public officer making the sale be answerable in any respect, except for its fairness and publicity, and for the observance of the rules herein prescribed for his guidance.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. x.

16. The proceedings of the collector or deputy collector of land revenue, or head assistant to the collector or deputy collector, in the sale of putnee talooks or other saleable tenures, or in the performance of acts preparatory to or connected with the sale of such talooks, shall be subject to an appeal to the commissioner of revenue for the division, on the ground of the irrelevancy of the Regulation, as in other cases of a summary nature provided for in Section IV., Regulation VIII., 1831 ("Realization of Rent," paragraph 76). The provisions of Section XXIII., Regulation VII.,

17. Any talook or saleable tenure that may be disposed of at a public sale, under these rules, for arrears of rent due on account of it, is sold free of all incumbrances that may have accrued upon it by act of the defaulting proprietor, his representatives or assignees, unless the right of making such incumbrances shall have been expressly vested in the holder by a stipulation to that effect in the written engagements under which the said talook may have been held. No transfer by sale, gift, or otherwise, no mortgage or other limited assignment, shall be permitted to bar the indefeasible right of the zemindar to hold the tenure of his creation answerable in the state in which he created it, for the rent, which is in fact his reserved property in the tenure, except the transfer or assignment should have been made with a condition to that effect, under express authority obtained from such zemindar.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xi., cl. 1.

18. In like manner, on sale of a talook for arrears, all leases originating with the holder of the former tenure, if creative of a middle interest between the resident cultivators and the late proprietor, must be considered to be cancelled, except the authority to grant them should have been specially transferred; the possessors of such interests must consequently lose the right to hold possession of the land, and to collect the rents of the ryots; this having been enjoyed merely in consequence of the defaulter's assignment of a certain portion of his own interest, the whole of which was liable for the rent.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xi., cl. 2.

19. Provided, nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to entitle the purchaser of a talook, or other saleable tenure intermediate between the zemindar and actual cultivators, to eject a khodkasht ryot, or resident and hereditary cultivator, nor to cancel bonâ fide engagements made with such tenants by the late incumbent or his representative, except it be proved in a regular suit, to be brought by such purchaser for the adjustment of his rent, that a higher rate would have been demandable at the time such engagements were contracted by his predecessor.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xi., cl. 3.

20. The rules of the three preceding paragraphs being declaratory of the principle to be observed on all occasions wherein saleable tenures are made responsible for the zemindar's reserved rent, will equally apply to the case of talooks heretofore sold, as to those that may be sold henceforward, if the sale shall have been fair, and the process observed in conducting it shall have been that recognized and in use in the district at the time of selling. Nothing, however, herein contained shall operate to the prejudice of any agreement, express or implied, now subsisting between the purchaser of a talook and the lessees of his predecessor. Neither shall the rule for the fall of under-tenures be considered to apply to any private transfer by a talookdar of his own interest, nor to a public sale in execution of a decree, nor to the case of a relinquishment by the talookdar in favour of the zemindar, nor to any act originating with the former holder, other than default as aforesaid; all such operations involve only a transfer of the tenure in the state in which it may be held at the time, and the new incumbent succeeds to no more than the reserved rights of the former tenant, such as they may be, and is of course subject to any restriction put upon the tenure by his act.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xii.

21. With reference to the injury that may be brought upon the holder of a talook of the second degree by the operation of the preceding rules, in case the proprietor of the superior tenure purposely withholds the rent due from himself to the zemindar, after having realized his own dues from the inferior tenantry, it is deemed necessary to allow such talookdars the means of saving their tenures from the ruin that must attend such a sale, and the following rules have accordingly been enacted for this purpose.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 1.

22. Whenever the tenure of a talookdar of the first degree may be advertised for sale in the manner required by paragraphs 11 to 13 for arrears of rent due to the zemindar, the talookdars of the second degree, or any number of them, shall be entitled to stay the final sale, by paying to the collector the amount of balance that may be declared due by the person attending on the part of the zemindar on the day appointed for sale; in like manner they shall be entitled to lodge money antecedently, for the purpose of eventually answering any demand that may remain due on the day fixed for the sale, and should the amount lodged be sufficient, the sale shall not proceed, but after making good to the zemindar the amount of his demand, any excess shall be paid back to the person or persons who may have lodged it.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 2; Reg. VII., 1832, sec. xvi., cl. 1.

23. If the amount so lodged shall be rent due by the inferior talookdar to the holder of the advertised tenure, the same shall be stated at the time of making the deposit, and the amount shall be carried to the account of the tenant or tenants lodging it, and be deducted from any claim of rent that may at the time be pending, or be thereafter brought forward against him or them by the proprietor of the advertised tenure, on account of the year or months for which the notice of sale may have been published.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 3.

24. If the person or persons making such a deposit, in order to stay the sale of the superior tenure, shall have already paid the whole of the rent due from himself or themselves, so that the amount lodged is an advance from private funds, and not a disbursement on account of the said rent, such deposit shall not be carried to credit in or set against future demands for rent, but shall be considered as a loan made to the proprietor of the tenure preserved from sale by such means, and the talook so preserved shall be the security to the person or persons making the advance, who shall be considered to have a lien thereupon, in the same manner as if the loan had been made upon mortgage; and he or they shall be entitled, on applying for the same, to obtain immediate possession of the tenure of the defaulter, in order to recover the amount so advanced from any profits belonging thereto. If the defaulter shall desire to recover his tenure from the hands of the person or persons who, by making the advance, may have acquired such an interest therein, and entered on possession in consequence, he shall not be entitled to do so, except upon repayment of the entire sum advanced, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, up to the date of possession having been given as above, or upon exhibiting proof, in a regular suit to be instituted for the purpose, that the full amount so advanced, with interest, has been realized from the usufruct of the tenure.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 4.

25. Should the balance claimed by a zemindar on account of the rent of any under-tenure remain unpaid upon the day fixed for the sale of the tenure, the sale shall be made without reserve in the manner provided for in paragraphs 14 and 15; nor shall it be stayed or postponed on any account, unless the amount of the demand be lodged. It shall, however, be competent to any party desirous of contesting the right of the zemindar to make the sale, whether on the ground of there having been no balance due, or on any other ground, to sue the zemindar for the reversal of the same, and upon establishing a sufficient plea, to obtain a decree, with full costs and damages. The purchaser shall be made a party in such suits, and upon decree passing for reversal of the sale, the Court shall be careful to indemnify him against all loss, at the charge of the zemindar or person at whose suit the sale may have been made.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xiv., cl. 1.

26. In cases also in which a talookdar may contest the zemindar's demand of any arrear, as specified in the notice advertised, such talookdar shall be competent to apply for a summary investigation, at any time within the period of notice; the zemindar shall then be called upon to furnish his kabooleat and other proofs at the shortest convenient notice, in order that the award may, if possible, be made before the day appointed for sale. Such award, if so made, will of course regulate the ulterior process; but if the case be still pending, the lot shall be called up in its turn, notwithstanding the suit; and if the zemindar or his agent in attendance insist on the demand, the sale shall be made on his responsibility, nor shall it be stayed, or the summary suit be allowed to proceed, unless the amount claimed be lodged in cash, or in Government securities, or in notes of the Bank of Bengal, by the talookdar contesting the demand; and if such deposit be not made, the alleged defaulter will have no remedy, but by a regular action for damages and for a reversal of the sale.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec xiv., cl. 2.

27. With reference to doubts which have arisen regarding the power of the zillah and city judges to conduct the summary inquiries allowed by the preceding paragraph, since the promulgation of Regulation VIII., 1831, it is hereby further declared, that all summary investigations and awards which may have been made by them previous to the promulgation of this enactment, in conformity to the provisions of the aforesaid paragraph, shall not be impugned, on the ground that such cases should have been investigated and decided by the collectors of land revenue under the provisions of the Regulation last mentioned.—Reg. VII., 1832, sec. xvi., cl. 3.

28. So soon as the entire amount of the purchase-money shall have been paid in by the purchaser, at any sale made under these rules, such purchaser shall receive from the officers conducting the sale a certificate of such payment. The purchaser shall then proceed with the certificate in question to procure a transfer to his name in the kucheree of the zemindar, and upon furnishing security, if required, to the extent of half the jumma or annual rent, he shall receive the usual amuldustuk, or order for possession, together with the notice to the ryots and others to attend and pay their rents henceforward to him. The zemindar shall also be bound to furnish access to any papers connected with the tenure purchased, that may be forthcoming in his kucheree, and should he in any manner delay the transfer in his office, or refuse to give the orders for possession, notwithstanding that good and substantial security shall have been furnished, or tendered, on requisition, the new purchaser shall be entitled to apply direct to the officer conducting the sale, and he shall receive the orders for possession, and shall be put in possession of the lands, provided, however, that if the delay be on account of the zemindar's contesting the sufficiency of the security tendered, the rule contained in paragraph 8 shall be observed.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xv., cl. 1.; Reg. VII., 1832, sec. xvi., cl. 1.

29. When the new purchaser shall proceed to take possession of the lands of his purchase, if the late incumbent himself, or the holders of tenures or assignments derived from the late incumbent, and intermediate between him and the actual cultivators, shall attempt to offer opposition, or to interfere with the collections of the new purchaser, from the lands composing his purchase, the latter shall be at liberty to apply immediately to the officer conducting the sale for the aid of the public officers in obtaining possession of his just rights. A proclamation shall then issue, declaring, that the new incumbent having, by purchase at a sale for arrears of rent due to the zemindar, acquired the entire rights and privileges attaching to the tenure of the late talookdar, in the state in which it was originally derived by him from the zemindar, he alone will be recognized as entitled to make the zemindaree collections in the mofussil, and no payments made to any other individual will on any account be credited to the ryots, or others, in any summary suit, for rent, brought under the provisions of Section XV., Regulation VII., 1799 ("REALIZATION OF RENT"), or in any application to stay process by distraint, under the rules of Regulation V., 1812 ("REALIZATION OF RENT"), or on any other occasion whatever, when the same may be pleaded.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xv., cl. 2.; Reg. VII., 1832, sec. xvi., cl. 2.

30. Should the late incumbent, or his late under-tenants, continue to oppose the entry of the new purchaser notwithstanding the issuing of such a proclamation, or should there be reason to apprehend a breach of the peace on the part of any one, the aid of the police-officers, and of all other public officers who may be at hand, and capable of affording assistance, shall be given to the new purchaser, on his presenting a written application for the same; and in the event of any affray or breach of the peace occurring, the entire responsibility shall rest with the party opposing the lawful attempt of the purchaser to assume his rights.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xv., cl. 3.

31. Under-tenures held under engagements similar to those executed between the zemindar and putneedar, having been declared not to be voidable for an arrear of the rent fixed upon them in perpetuity, it will be necessary that the person to whom the said rent may be payable should (in case he be desirous of holding the tenure answerable in the manner provided for by stipulation in the deeds interchanged) proceed according to the rules of Section XV., Regulation VII., 1799 ("REALIZATION OF RENT"), and the general Regulations, to have the sale effected at the end of the year in the same manner as heretofore. But it is hereby provided, that every such sale shall be public, and be conducted by the collector, deputy collector, or head assistant to the collector or deputy collector, under these rules, as far as the same may be applicable; ten days' notice shall be given of such sales, by advertisement, to be stuck up at the kucheree of the collector.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xvi.; Reg. VII., 1832, sec. xvi., cl. 1.

32. The following rules have been enacted for the disposal of the proceeds of any sale made under the preceding rules.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xvii., cl. 1.

33. One per cent. shall first be deducted from the net proceeds realized, and shall be carried to the account of Government, for the purpose of meeting the expense of any extra establishments which it may be necessary to maintain, for carrying into effect the foregoing provisions. Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xvii., cl. 2.

34. The balance on account of which the sale may have been made shall next be made good in full (with interest and all charges incurred in bringing the talook to sale) to the zemindar or other person to whom the same may be due: provided, however, that no former balances, beyond those of the current year (or of that immediately expired, if the sale be at the commencement of the following year), shall be included in the demand to be thus satisfied. Such antecedent balances, if the zemindar shall have omitted to avail himself of the process within his reach for having them satisfied at the time, will have become in fact mere personal debts of the individual talookdar, and must be recovered in the same way as other debts by a regular suit in the Court.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xvii., cl. 3.

35. Any excess that may remain after satisfying the demand of the zemindar, in the manner above described, shall be held in deposit in the treasury of the collector, or assistant collector, of the district, to answer the claims of the talookdars of the second degree, or of others who, by assignment of the defaulter, may be at the time in possession of a valuable interest in the land composing the talook sold, or in any part of it.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xvii., cl. 4; Reg. VII., 1832, sec. xvi., cl. 1.

36. It shall be competent to any one conceiving himself to possess such an interest, to bring forward his claim to the price he may have paid for the same, or for a just compensation for the loss sustained by him in consequence of the sale, by instituting a regular suit at any time within two months from the date of sale. If the Court shall, on investigation, consider the plaintiff's claim to be an equitable one, the Court will award to the claimant either the price he may have originally paid, or the value of the interest at the time of sale, or any other amount that may be deemed just and equitable under all the circumstances. If there be more claimants than one, payment shall not be made from the deposit, until the whole of the claims be settled; and in case the value assessed upon the whole should exceed the amount in deposit, such amount shall be divided proportionately, and the remainder stand as a personal debt against the defaulter, to be realized from him by the usual process for the execution of decrees.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xvii., cl. 5.

37. Provided, however, that no talookdar of the second degree, or other possessor of an assigned interest upon the land of the tenure sold, who may be holding under a stipulation for the payment of an annual amount in the way of rent, shall be entitled to recover compensation for the loss of such tenure or assignment upon its becoming cancelled by sale of the superior talook, except after exhibiting proof that the whole amount of the rent demandable from himself has been paid or lodged for the purpose prior to the date of sale.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xvii., cl. 6.

38. Should no claims upon the purchase-money of a talook, sold as above, be brought forward by any under-tenants or assignees, within the period of two months from the date of sale, or should the amount claimed by those who may have sued not equal the entire deposit, the defaulter whose tenure may have been sold shall be at liberty to petition the collector or other officer for the amount so held in deposit, or for the excess thereof, as the case may be, and if there be no claims to afford ground of detention for the whole or any part of the deposit, the amount which is free shall be paid to his receipt. In the same manner, upon executing a decree passed in favour of any under-tenants or assignees, they shall receive certificates, declaring the amount adjudged to them out of the deposit; and upon these certificates, the amount shall be paid severally to their receipts by the collector.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xvii., cl. 7; Reg. VII., 1832, sec. xvi., cl. 1.

39. It shall be competent to any party interested in a deposit to withdraw the whole or any part thereof, on substituting Government securities, bearing interest, in lieu of the money so held in deposit; such securities to be taken at the rate of discount or premium of the day, as shown by the Government Gazette last received.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xvii., cl. 8.

40. After the passing of this Act [23rd August, 1850], it shall not be necessary for the zemindar to present a petition to the Civil Court for the sale of a putnee tenure, but a petition to the collector shall be sufficient.—Act XXXIII., 1850, sec. i.

41. All sales of putnee tenures before the 23rd August, 1850, which were held without presenting a petition to the Civil Court, and for the reversal of which no suit was commenced before the 4th day of April in the year 1850, shall be deemed as valid as if such petition to the Civil Court had been presented.—Act XXXIII., 1850, sec. ii.

42. Every putneedar whose tenure shall have been sold before the above date, without such petition having been presented to the Civil Court, and the sale of which is hereby declared valid, shall be entitled to recover in a suit against the zemindar, or person at whose instance the sale has been effected, or his representatives, the amount of any actual loss or damage sustained by such putneedar, by reason only of such sale having been made without the presentation of such petition to the Civil Court.—Act XXX., 1850, sec. iii.

NOTE.—For rules as to the sale of putnee talooks situated in two or more collectorates, or within a district assigned to an independent deputy collector, see Act VI., 1853, "REALIZATION OF RENT," paragraphs 113 to 124.

REALIZATION OF RENT.

PERSONS ENTITLED TO PROCEED FOR RECOVERY OF ARREARS.

1. Zemindars, independent talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, and farmers of land who hold their farms immediately of Government, are empowered to distrain, without sending notice to any court of justice or any public officer (excepting the after-notice directed to be given in the cases of defaulters employed in the manufacture of salt, as specified in paragraph 28), the crops and products of the earth of every description, the grain, cattle, and all other personal property, whether found in the house or on the premises of the defaulter, or in the house or on the premises of any other person, within or without the limits of the estate or farm of the distrainer, belonging to their under-renters and ryots, and the talookdars paying revenue through them, for arrears of rent or revenue, and to cause the said property to be sold for the discharge of such arrears. The same powers are likewise vested in dependent talookdars, and zemindars, and in putteedars, distinct or common, for the recovery of arrears of rent from their under-farmers and ryots, and also in under-farmers who farm lands from zemindars, independent talookdars, or other actual proprietors of land, or dependent talookdars, putteedars, or other actual proprietors of land, or farmers of land who hold their farms immediately of Government, to enable such under-farmers to enforce payment of arrears of rent or revenue from their dependent talookdars, zemindars, putteedars, or under-farmers, or ryots. The several descriptions of landholders and farmers of land above specified are to exercise the powers hereby vested in them, under the following rules and restrictions.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. ii.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. ii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 1.

2. Upon the death of any person vested with the power of distraint, his heirs or successors, who may be entitled to the arrears due to him, shall be at liberty to distrain the property of the defaulters and their sureties, in the cases authorized, for the recovery of the same. It is to be understood, likewise, that managers of the estates of disqualified landholders, and managers of undivided estates belonging to two or more proprietors, all of whom do not come within the description of disqualified landholders, are authorized to exercise the same powers for the recovery of arrears of rent or revenue, as the proprietors of estates committed to their charge would be entitled to exercise, were they to be entrusted with the management of their own estates; subject, however, to the several rules, restrictions, and penalties therein specified.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xxx.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxviii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxviii.

3. The zemindars, talookdars, and other landholders and farmers of land, empowered by paragraph 1, to distrain the crops, cattle, and other personal property of their under-tenants for arrears of rent, are authorized to delegate to their naibs, gomashtahs, and other agents employed in the collection of their rents, the power of distraining in their behalf in the mode prescribed by the Regulations, under the responsibility declared in paragraph 91, and the naibs, gomashtahs, and other agents, to whom such power may be delegated by their principals, are authorized to proceed for the recovery of arrears of rent due to their constituents, in the same manner as the latter are authorized to proceed, subject to their own responsibility in addition to that of their principals, for any wilful deviation from the Regulations.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. ii.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. ii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 2.

POWERS IN ESTATES HELD KHAS OR UNDER THE COURT OF WARDS.

4. The rules for the recovery of arrears of rent due to proprietors and farmers of land, are to be considered equally applicable to the managers of the estates of disqualified landholders and of joint undivided estates, as well as to collectors or other public officers holding lands in attachment for the purpose of adjusting the public assessment on them, or for any other purpose, or making a khas collection on the part of Government, where no settlement has been made with any proprietor or farmer: and the authorized agents of such managers, collectors, or other public officers, provided they be so commissioned and instructed, are to exercise the same authority as is vested in the agents of proprietors and farmers of land by paragraph 1.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xix.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xviii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxxvi.

5. When lands are attached by a collector or other officer of Government, or become subject to a khas collection on the part of Government under any Regulation authorizing the same, or are held under the management of serberakars appointed by the Court of Wards, or by any means come under the immediate management of the officers of Government, so that the rents are collected by them from the ryots, jotedars, dependent talookdars, under-farmers, or other descriptions of under-tenants, the collector, in addition to the power vested in him, and in the officers employed under him, by paragraph 4, is authorized, without any previous application to the Dewanny Adawlut, to proceed against defaulting under-renters, of whatever denomination, from whom arrears of rent may be due, and their sureties, in the same manner as he is authorized by Section XXIII., Regulation VII., 1799, to proceed against sudder farmers paying revenue immediately to Government, and their sureties, if he shall consider this mode of procedure more likely to be effectual in causing payment of the arrear due from them; and in such cases he is authorized to issue the process directed in Section V. of Regulation XIV., 1793, on the report of the tehseeldar, or other officer employed to make the collections, as in cases of arrears due from proprietors or sudder farmers, whose revenue may be made payable to a tehseeldar; or the tehseeldar, or other collecting officer, may, in particular cases, where he may have reason to apprehend the elopement of the defaulter or his surety, himself arrest and convey him to the collector, under the provisions contained in the second clause of Section XXIII., Regulation VII., 1799. In all such cases, however, the collector, before he delivers over the parties to the Dewanny Adawlut, is to satisfy himself that the arrear stated by the tehseeldar or other mofussil officer is justly due; and he is at liberty to keep the alleged defaulter under mofussil peons during the inquiry that may be necessary for this purpose, although the period should exceed the ten days limited by the above section; but all such inquiries are to be brought to a conclusion with the least possible delay.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxv., xxvi.

Special Rule for the Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

6. When the lands of disqualified landholders, paying revenue to Government, shall come under the immediate management of the officers of Government, in pursuance of the Court of Wards Regulation, so that the rents are collected by such officers from the ryots, dependent talookdars, under-farmers, or other descriptions of under-tenants, the collector shall proceed against defaulting under-renters, of whatever denomination, from whom arrears of rent may be due, and their sureties, conformably to the rules prescribed for the recovery of arrears of rent due to proprietors and farmers of land paying revenue to Government, which rules shall be considered equally applicable to the managers of the estates of disqualified landholders.—Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xli.

PERSONS LIABLE TO DISTRAINT FOR RECOVERY OF ARREARS.

7. Under-tenants of every description are to be considered defaulters for any arrears of rent withheld beyond the day on which the same may have become payable according to their kistbundies, or other engagements, or where there may be no written specification of the exact term of payment beyond the period when the rent demandable from them may be payable according to established local usage. For all such arrears which may not be paid on demand, defaulters are declared liable to immediate distress, whether the amount shall have been demanded from their sureties or otherwise. In instances wherein the distrainer may proceed to levy distress from an under-tenant who has given security, without having previously demanded the arrear from the surety, it will be incumbent on the tenant to give notice of the distress to his own surety, so as to enable him to discharge the arrear before the sale of the property attached; or the distrainer, if he think proper, may give notice to the surety, and require him to make payment of the arrear. The distrainer may also at his option distrain in the prescribed mode either the property of the defaulter or his surety, or the property of both, so that the whole distress be not excessive in proportion to the arrear; but no distress shall be levied on the property of the surety until the arrear shall have been ineffectually demanded from the defaulter, unless the latter shall have absconded or be otherwise not forthcoming; in which case, and in the event of the surety's not discharging the amount due on demand, distress may be levied from his property for the recovery of it, in like manner as if the defaulter had been present, and served with the demand in the first instance.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. iii.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. iii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. v.

8. Persons who tenant or under-farm lands in the name of their children, dependents, or others, or in the names of fictitious persons, and give themselves as the ostensible sureties for the performance of the agreement, but retain the actual management of the lands, and in fact are themselves the under-farmers or ryots of such lands, shall, to all intents and purposes, be considered as the under-farmers or ryots of such lands, and their property shall be liable to be distrained and sold for arrears, in the same manner as if the engagement for the lands had stood in their own names.—Reg. XVII, 1793, sec. xxvii; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxv., Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec xxv.

PROHIBITION OF CONFINEMENT AND CORPORAL PUNISHMENT.

9. Landholders and farmers of land are prohibited confining or inflicting corporal punishment on any under-farmer, ryot, or dependent talookar, zemindar, or putteedar, or their sureties, to enforce payment of arrears of rent or revenue. If any landholder or farmer shall offend against this prohibition, the person so punished or confined shall be at liberty either to prosecute the offender for assault or imprisonment in the Criminal Court, or to institute a suit against him in the Dewanny Adawlut of the jurisdiction, which Court shall award damages against such offender, according to the circumstances of the case, with costs of suit.—Reg. XVII, 1793, sec. xxviii., Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxvi.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxvi.

RESTRICTIONS ON DISTRAINT.

10. Persons vested with the power of distraint shall not distrain or sell the lands, houses, or other real property of their under-farmers and ryots, or the talookdars, zemindars, or putteedars, paying revenue through them. All such distraints and sales are declared illegal and void. The defaulter shall stand acquitted of the arrear for which the distress may be levied, the property shall be restored to him, and the distrainer shall be obliged to pay to him damages adequate to the loss which he may prove to have sustained in consequence of such attachment or sale, with all costs of suit.—Reg. XVII, 1793, sec. iii.; Reg XLV., 1795, sec. iii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. iii

11. Ploughs and other implements of husbandry, bullocks and other cattle employed in agriculture, together with the tools of artisans, shall not be subject to distress and sale on account of arrears of rent, although the tenant from whom such arrears may be demanded shall not possess other property sufficient to make good the arrear.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. xiv.

12. The seed grain of under-farmers, ryots, and dependent talookdars, zemindars, or putteedars, shall not be distrained for arrears, provided the defaulter shall possess, and the distrainer shall have it in his power to attach other cattle, grain, or property, sufficient for the discharge of the arrear. Distrainers are enjoined to attend strictly to this rule; and every deviation from it shall be punished by an award to the party aggrieved of damages adequate to the injury he may have sustained, with all costs of suit—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. iv., Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. iv.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec iv.; Reg V., 1812, sec. xiv.

13 The distress levied shall not be excessive, or, in other words, the property seized shall be as nearly as possible proportionate to the amount of the arrear. If any person vested with the power of distraint shall attach any property the value of which shall be disproportionate to the arrear, and it shall be proved that he could have seized other property of less value, and which would have been sufficient for the liquidation of such arrear, the Court of Dewanny Adawlut shall award to the owner damages according to the circumstances of the case, with all costs of suit.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xvi.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec xiv.; Reg. XXVIII, 1803, sec. xiv.

14. If any person vested with the power of distraint shall attach, or cause to be sold, the property of any under-farmer, ryot, or dependent talookdar, zemindar, or putteedar, for arrears of rent or revenue, and it shall appear upon trial that no arrear was due, the distrainer shall be compelled to restore the property to the owner, or to make good to him the value of it if it shall have been sold, damaged, injured, or destroyed, or shall not be forthcoming, and to pay to him, as damages, a sum adequate to the value of such property and all costs of suit.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. vi.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. vi; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. vi.

15. If the defaulter shall tender the arrears demanded of him, in the presence of two creditable witnesses, to the person deputed to attach his property, such person shall receive the arrears, and shall not proceed to the attachment.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. vii., Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. vii., Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. vii.

16. If the defaulter shall tender payment of the arrear demanded of him, in the presence of two creditable witnesses, after his property shall have been attached and prior to the day fixed for its being put up to sale, and also of the necessary expenses attending the attachment, the distrainer shall receive the amount of such arrear and expenses immediately upon the same being tendered, and shall forthwith release the property. In case of any dispute arising respecting the expense of the attachment, it shall be determined by the commissioner for the sale of distrained property of the district in which the distress may have been levied. The Courts of Dewanny Adawlut are, upon complaint made to them, to punish any distrainer who may act contrary to these provisions, by awarding against him, in favour of the party injured, damages, according to the circumstances of the case, with all costs of suit.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xi.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. ix.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. ix.

17. Whenever any zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, or any person farming land directly from Government, shall be desirous of distraining the property of his tenant with a view to the recovery of an arrear of rent, such zemindar or other person shall, either previously or at the time of the distress, serve the said tenant with a written demand for the amount of it, accompanied with a jumma wassil baukee, exhibiting the grounds on which the demand is so made; and no process for the distress and sale of property on account of arrears of rent shall be deemed legal and valid, unless the rule here prescribed shall have been duly observed. In all practicable cases the prescribed demand and jumma wassil baukee account shall be served personally on the tenant; but if he abscond or conceal himself, so that they cannot be served personally upon him, they shall be affixed at his usual place of residence: which latter process shall, in such case, be deemed and taken to be a sufficient service of the demand and account in question.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. xiii.

18. If any ryot or tenant of land, upon whom such notice or demand as is specified in the foregoing rule is to be served, shall have no place of usual residence in the zillah where the land to which such notice or demand has reference is situate, the mode of serving such notice or demand with a jumma wassil baukee shall be by affixing it at the mal cutcherry of such land, or other conspicuous place thereon, or at the village chouree, choupal, or other conspicuous place in the village.—Act VIII., 1848.

19. Distrainers shall deliver to the person whom they may depute to attach the property of a defaulter a writing, under their signature, specifying the amount of the arrear for which the attachment may be issued and the date on which such arrear became due. The person so deputed shall produce this writing as his authority for making the attachment: and on the day on which he may attach the property, shall deliver a copy of it to the stated defaulter, endorsing thereon a list or inventory of the property attached and the name of the place where it may be lodged or kept, with a notice to the defaulter, setting forth the amount of the arrear due, and stating the intention of the distrainer to bring the attached property to immediate public sale for the discharge of it, unless the amount and expenses of attachment be previously paid. If the defaulter shall be absent, a copy of the above writing, with the prescribed endorsement, shall be fixed up or left at his usual place of residence, before the expiration of the third day calculating from the day of the attachment. If any person vested with the power of distraint shall cause any property to be attached, without furnishing the agent whom they may employ for that purpose with the writing above directed, or if such agent shall be furnished with the writing prescribed, and shall omit to deliver a copy of it, with the required endorsement, to the defaulter, or in the event of his absence, to leave such copy at his usual place of residence within the period limited, the distrainer shall not be entitled to recover the arrear for which the distress may have been levied, and he shall be compelled to restore the property to the defaulter, or the value of it, if it shall have been sold, damaged, injured, or destroyed, or shall not be forthcoming, and to pay all costs of suit.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. viii.; Reg. XXXV., 1795, sec. iii.; Reg. VII., 1799, sec. iv.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. viii.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. iv.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. viii.

20. If the defaulter, on receiving this notice, shall neglect to pay the amount due from him or to give such assurance of early payment as may be satisfactory to the distrainer, or if the defaulter shall have absconded or be otherwise absent, so that the notice cannot be served on him, the distrainer is to transmit an inventory of such part of the attached property as can be brought to immediate sale to the nearest public officer empowered to sell distrained property, with a written request that he will cause the same to be publicly sold for the discharge of the arrear due, the amount of which is also to be specified in the application, together with the place where the property may be in attachment; and if it be the intention of the distrainer to remove it, under the discretion vested in him by the following rule, the place to which such removal is intended.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. iv.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. iv.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. viii.

21. Distrainers shall not drive or convey distrained cattle or other property out of the limits of the pergunnah in which it may have been attached. The distrainer shall either leave the property upon the premises in the charge of any person he may think proper, or drive or convey it with due care to a proper place, as near as possible to the premises within the limits of the pergunnah.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xii.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. x.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. x.

22. Distrainers who shall attach the crops or any ungathered products of the earth belonging to their under-farmers, ryots, or the talookdars, zemindars, or putteedars, paying revenue through them, shall cause such crops or products to be reaped or gathered in due season, and store the same in proper houses, barns, or granaries upon the premises, or if there shall be no such places on the premises, in any barn or proper place which can be procured as near thereto as possible within the limits of the pergunnah. The expense of reaping, or gathering and storing such crops or products, shall be paid by the owner upon his redeeming the property, or from the proceeds of the sale in the event of its being sold.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xiii.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xi.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. ix.

23. Distrainers shall not work the bullocks or cattle, or make use of the goods or effects distrained. They shall provide the necessary food for the cattle or live stock, the expense attending which shall be paid by the owner upon his redeeming the property, or from the proceeds of the sale in the event of its being sold.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xiv.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xii.

24. If property distrained shall be stolen or lost, or be damaged, injured, or destroyed by the weather or otherwise, whilst in the possession of the distrainer, owing to his not having taken the necessary precautions for the due keeping and preservation of it, he shall make good the loss or damage to the owner.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xv.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xiii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xiii.

25. All attachments shall be made after sunrise and before sunset. If any person vested with the power of distraint shall seize, or attempt to seize, the property of any defaulter after sunset and before sunrise for the discharge of arrears of rent or revenue, such distrainer shall not be entitled to recover the arrear; and if the property shall have been attached, shall be compelled to restore it to the defaulter, or the value of it, if it shall have been sold, damaged, injured, or destroyed, or shall not be forthcoming, with all costs of suit.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xvii.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xv.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xv.

26. Distrainers are empowered to force open any stable, cow-house, barn, golah, granary, or other building, and to enter any dwelling-house, the outer door of which may be open (excepting the apartments in such dwelling-house which may be appropriated for the zenana or residence of women), and to break open the door of any room in such dwelling-house, for the purpose of attaching any property belonging to a defaulter which may be lodged therein. And if any person shall enter a dwelling-house, or break open any stable, cow-house, barn, golah, granary, or other building not occupied by or in the possession of the defaulter, to distrain property belonging to him, and no such property shall be found therein, the distrainer shall be liable to prosecution by the occupant or possessor for entering such house or breaking open such stable or other building, and the Court shall award to him damages according to the circumstances of the case, with all costs of suit.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xxi.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xix.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xix., cl. 1.

27. When a distrainer may have reason to suppose that the property of a defaulter is lodged within a dwelling-house, the outer door of which may be shut, or within any apartments appropriated to women, which by the usage of the country are considered private, he is at liberty to represent the same to the police darogah within whose jurisdiction the house may be situated, and on such representation the police darogah is to proceed in person, or depute the mohurrir or jemadar of the thana to the spot, in the presence of whom the distrainer is authorized to force open the outer door of the dwelling-house in which he may have reason to suppose the defaulter's property to have been lodged, in like manner as he is already authorized to break open the door of any room within a dwelling-house except the zenana. He may also, in the presence of the police-officer, after due notice given for the removal of any women within the zenana, and after furnishing means for their removal in a suitable manner, if they be women of rank, who, according to the customs of the country, cannot appear in public, enter the zenana apartments for the purpose of attaching any of the defaulter's property deposited therein. But such property, if found, shall be immediately removed from such apartments, after which they are to be left free to the former occupants; and nothing herein contained is to be understood to authorize any distrainer or his agent to force open the door of a dwelling-house, or to enter the apartments of women which, by the usage of the country, are considered private, in any other mode than is herein prescribed, a wilful deviation from which will subject the offender to heavy damages, besides forfeiture of the arrear of rent on account of which the distress may be levied.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. x.; Reg. V., 1800, sec, x.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xix., cl. 2; Reg. XX., 1817, sec. xxvii.

28. The several descriptions of landholders and farmers of land specified in paragraph 1 are empowered, under the restrictions herein contained, to attach and sell the property of persons employed in the manufacture of salt for the recovery of arrears of rent or revenue, without previously stating the claim to any salt agent or other officer employed in the salt department. But such distrainers shall, as soon as possible after they shall have attached the property of any molungee, or other person employed in the manufacture of salt, send information of such attachment in writing to the salt agent in whose division the defaulter may have been employed, or to the native superintendent of the salt chokey to which the defaulter may be attached; and in such cases, the property is not to be sold, until sufficient time has been given to enable the Company's officers to satisfy the demand before the day of sale.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xxxi.; Reg. VII., 1799, sec. iv.

NOTE.—For rules as to the recovery of arrears of rent during the season of the manufacture of salt from persons engaged in that manufacture, see secs. xix. and xx., Reg. X., 1819 ("SALT," paragraphs 26, 27, 28).

Special Rule for Benares.

29. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit persons entitled to distrain from attaching the standing crops of the under-ryots who cultivate on the betay tenure, and appropriating the moiety in value or kind, or such other proportion thereof as they shall be entitled to, under the rules contained in Regulation II., 1795 ("SETTLEMENT"), leaving to such ryots who shall deem themselves aggrieved by any act of the landholder or superior renter exercising this right, his remedy by application to the Adawlut.—Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxx.

RESISTANCE TO, AND FRAUDULENT EVASION OF, PROCESS.

30. If any under-farmer, ryot, or dependent talookdar, zemindar, or putteedar, shall make a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of his property to prevent the attachment of it for arrears, the Court of Dewanny Adawlut, upon proof thereof being made before it, shall cause the property to be delivered up to the distrainer, and compel the person to whom such transfer or conveyance shall have been made to pay to the distrainer damages adequate to the value of one-half of the property, with costs of suit.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xviii.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xvi.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xvi.

31. If any under-farmer, ryot, or dependent talookdar, zemindar, or putteedar, shall resist the attachment of his property, or shall forcibly or clandestinely take it away after it shall have been attached, the Court of Dewanny Adawlut shall cause him, and all persons who may be proved to have been his aiders or abettors, to be imprisoned in the gaol until he shall restore the property to the distrainer, or the arrear shall have been liquidated by the distraint and sale of other property, or otherwise discharged, with the expenses attending the attachment, and costs of suit.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xix.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xvii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xvii., cl. 1.

32. In addition to the penalties provided by the foregoing rule, it is provided that if any under-tenant, of whatever description, shall resist, or cause to be resisted, the attachment of his property for arrears of rent, in the mode prescribed by the Regulations, so as to prevent the attachment from taking place, or shall forcibly or clandestinely take away such property after it shall have been attached, such offender shall, on proof before the Dewanny Adawlut, be made liable to damages to the distrainer equal to twice the amount of the property rescued from attachment, and the property so taken away may be re-attached by the distrainer wheresoever it may be found. The offender, and all persons concerned with him in resisting the attachment, are moreover declared liable to be apprehended and prosecuted before the criminal courts, for any breach of the peace committed by them in such resistance to the attachment. In cases of resistance, or anticipated resistance, application may be made to the police for aid in making or maintaining a distraint, and the police darogahs are in such cases to proceed as directed in Section XXVII., Regulation XX., 1817 ("POLICE," paragraphs 243 to 248).—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. ix.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. ix.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xvii., cl. 2.; Reg. XX., 1817, sec. xxvii.

33. If any person, not being the owner, shall be convicted of forcibly or clandestinely taking away property that has been distrained, the Court of Dewanny Adawlut, upon proof thereof being made before it, shall cause such person or persons to be imprisoned until they restore the property, or make good the value of it to the distrainer, and pay to him, as damages, a sum equal to the value of such property, and all costs of suit.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xx.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xviii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xviii.

PREVENTION OF ATTACHMENT BY INSTITUTING A SUIT.

34. If any person not being a defaulter, or responsible for him, shall claim as his right property which has been distrained for arrears of rent due from the said defaulter, and shall within five days, reckoning from the day after attachment, enter into a bond before the collector of the zillah or the commissioner for the sale of distrained property, with good security, binding himself to institute before the collector, within fifteen days from the date of such bond, a summary suit against the distrainer and defaulter for the trial of the right, and to restore the property or make good its value in case the claim be disallowed, with all costs of suit and damages, the distrainer shall immediately withdraw the attachment —Act X, 1846, sec i

35 But no claim to crops upon the ground or to any gathered product of the ground attached in the possession of the defaulter, whether founded upon a previous sale, mortgage, or otherwise, shall bar the prior claim of rent due for the ground upon which such crop or product may have been grown, it being the undoubted right of the owner of the land, or his representative, to consider the produce of it mortgaged to him for the rent of the land in the first instance, and in default of his rent being paid as engaged for (or determinable by local rates and usage, where there may be no specific engagement), to distrain and sell such part of the product as may be necessary to make good the arrear due to him —Reg VII, 1799, sec ix, Reg V, 1800, sec ix

36 If the claimant shall not, within the said fifteen days, institute such summary suit, it shall be lawful for the distrainer to recover the value of the property distrained, together with the expenses of the attachment, by attachment and sale of the personal property of the claimant, or his surety, or both, unless the claimant shall restore the property, or, if the distrainer prefer it, make good its value —Act X, 1846, sec ii

37 No suit to set aside the summary award of the collector under paragraphs 34 and 35 shall be brought after the expiration of one year from the date of such award —Act X, 1846, sec iii

38 If an attachment for arrears shall have been issued against the property of any tenant of any description, whether denominated under-farmer, ryot, or dependent talookdar, who may not have given security for the payment of his rent or revenue, and such tenant shall dispute the justness of the demand and shall within five days, reckoning from the day following the attachment, or if the property attached consists of crops or other ungathered products of the earth, within five days, calculating from the day following the date on which such crops or products may be stored, enter into a bond before the collector of the zillah, or the commissioner vested with power to sell distrained property, or before the distrainer himself, with good security, binding himself to institute a summary suit before the collector, or a regular suit in the Civil Court, within fifteen days from the date of such bond, for the trial of the demand, and to pay whatever sum may be adjudged to be due from him, with interest upon it at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, to be calculated from the date on which the arrear that may be awarded became payable to the date of the decree, with all costs of suit, the distrainer shall immediately withdraw the attachment and restore the property to the defaulter If the stated defaulter shall fail to execute the bond within the period prescribed, the distrainer shall be at liberty to keep the property under attachment, and to cause it to be sold in the manner hereafter directed, unless the arrear, with the expenses of the attachment, shall be discharged previously to the day of sale If the defaulter shall execute the bond, but omit to institute the suit within the time prescribed, the distrainer shall demand payment of the arrear from the surety, and in the event of his not discharging the amount immediately, the distrainer shall be at liberty to issue an attachment against the personal property both of the surety and the defaulter, or the personal property of either of them, excepting always the articles specified in paragraph 11, and to cause it to be sold, unless the arrear and the expenses of the attachment shall be discharged previously to the day of sale —Reg V, 1812, secs xv, xx; Reg II, 1821, sec iv

39 If an attachment for arrears shall have been issued against any tenant who may have given security for the payment of his rent or revenue, and such tenant shall dispute the justness of the demand, and the surety, within five days, reckoning from the day following the day of the attachment, or if the property attached shall consist of crops or other ungathered products of the earth, within five days calculating from the day following the date on which such crops or products may be stored, shall deliver a writing, attested by two witnesses, to the collector of the district, or the commissioner vested with power to sell distrained property, or to the distrainer himself, engaging that either he or the stated defaulter will institute a summary suit before the collector, or a regular suit in the Civil Court, within fifteen days from the date of such writing, to try the demand, and to pay the amount that may be adjudged against them with interest upon it at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, to be calculated from the date on which the arrear that may be awarded became payable to the date of the decree, with all costs of suit, the distrainer shall immediately withdraw the attachment If the surety shall fail to execute such writing within the prescribed period, the distrainer shall continue the property under attachment, and cause it to be sold in the manner hereafter directed unless the arrear and the expenses attending the attachment shall be discharged previously to the day of sale If the surety shall execute the writing, but fail to have the suit instituted, either in his own name or that of the defaulter, within the above-mentioned period of fifteen days, the distrainer shall demand payment of the arrears from the surety, and in the event of his omitting to discharge the amount immediately, the distrainer shall be at liberty to issue an attachment against the personal property both of the surety and the defaulter, or the personal property of either of them, excepting always the articles specified in paragraph 11, and to cause it to be sold in the manner hereafter directed, unless the arrears and the expense attending the attachment shall be discharged before the day of sale. If the surety of the stated defaulter shall refuse or omit to enter into the writing required, or if he shall happen to be at a distance, so as to render it impossible for him to execute such writing within the prescribed time, and such defaulter in either of these cases shall give the security required from the defaulters, specified in paragraph 38, the distrainer shall withdraw the attachment, and the rules contained in the foregoing paragraph shall in every respect be considered applicable to the parties concerned.—Reg. V., 1812, secs. xvi. and xx.; Reg. II., 1821, sec. iv.

40. If a part only, and not the whole, of the demand be contested, it shall be competent to the individual whose property is distrained to release it from distraint, on paying a part of the demand, and giving security to contest the remainder.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. xii.

41. Should any ryot, farmer, or dependent talookdar, whose property may have been distrained, be unable to give security to the amount of the demand, together with interest upon it at the rate of one rupee per mensem, with costs of suit and expenses of attachment, he will of course be at liberty to institute a suit against the distrainer in the Dewanny Adawlut to try the demand, and for the recovery of damages on account of any injury which he may have sustained by the illicit sale of his property.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. xvii.

COMMISSIONERS FOR SALE OF DISTRAINED PROPERTY.

42. It shall be lawful for the collector, or officer duly exercising the powers of a collector, in each district subject to the presidency of Fort William in Bengal, to appoint, by a sunnud under his signature and seal, in the terms of the schedule hereunto appended, and conformably to such instructions as he may receive in that behalf, any person or persons to exercise the function of selling property distrained for the recovery of arrears of rent in each pergunnah or sub-division of his district; and to authorize such persons to remunerate themselves by deducting a percentage, not in any case exceeding ten per centum on the amount of the proceeds of the sale.—Act I., 1839, sec. ii.

43. No such commission shall be drawn, nor any charge made to the defaulter, beyond expenses actually and necessarily incurred in the event of the sale being stopped by his discharge of the arrear due from him, or otherwise. It is expected that this allowance to the officers intrusted with the sale of distrained property will insure the faithful discharge of the trust reposed in them; and any collusion with the defaulter, distrainer, or purchaser, or other misconduct in the execution of the duty committed to them, will render them liable to immediate dismission from their offices in the mode provided by the Regulations, besides subjecting them to the other penalties therein specified, and full damages to the party injured.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. v.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. v.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xx., cl. 2.

44. No person vested with the power of disposing of distrained property shall sell property that may have been distrained for arrears due to himself. Persons of this description having occasion to levy arrears by distress, are to apply to some other person duly empowered for the sale of the property.—Reg. XXXV., 1795, sec. viii.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxvii., cl. 2; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxvii., cl. 3.

45. All Regulations, and parts of Regulations, of the Bengal code, which give powers to or prescribe rules for the guidance of persons appointed to conduct the sale of property distrained for the recovery of arrears of rent, or which assign any penalty or other punishment for misfeasance in the discharge of such duty, shall be applicable to all parties appointed for the sale of such property under this Act.—Act I., 1839, sec. iii.

PROCESS OF APPRAISEMENT AND SALE.

46. After the expiration of the fifth day and before the elapse of the eighth day, calculating from the day following the day on which the attachment of the property of a defaulter shall have taken place, or if the property attached shall consist of crops or other ungathered products of the earth, after the elapse of the fifth day and before the expiration of the eighth day, commencing from the day following the day on which such crops or products may have been stored as directed in paragraph 22, the distrainer shall apply to the commissioner for the sale of distrained property to have the same appraised and sold. Upon the receipt of such application, the commissioner shall proceed as follows. He shall fix up on the outer door of his own house, and at the place at which he may determine to dispose of the property, a list of the property attached, with a notice which shall specify, Firstly, the place at which the property is to be sold, which shall be on the spot where it may be lodged by the distrainer, or at the nearest gunge, bazaar or haut, or any place of public resort where the commissioner may be of opinion it is likely to sell to the best advantage; Secondly, the day on which it is to be sold, which shall be as early a day as may be compatible with a due observance of the other directions for the appraisement of the property and the publication of the intended sale; and Thirdly, the time of the day when the sale is to be made, which shall be during the hours of business when the greatest number of people may be supposed to assemble. Publication of the intended sale shall be made by beat of drum, on one market-day at the least before the market-day on which the sale may take place, as well as on the morning of the day of sale; and the sale is in no instance to take place before the expiration of five complete days after the attachment, exclusive of the day on which the attachment may have been made. The same principle is to be observed with respect to the sale of ungathered products after the distrainer shall have gathered and stored them, as required by paragraph 22, and which are not to be sold until publication shall have been made as above directed.—Reg. XXXV., 1795, sec. v.; Reg. VII., 1799, sec. iv.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xx.; Reg. V. 1800, sec. ix.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xx.

47. Whenever property shall have been distrained with a view to the sale of it for the recovery of arrears of rent, it shall be appraised, previously to such sale, by persons conversant with the purchase and sale of articles of the quality and description of those so distrained, and a certificate of the appraisement shall be furnished by the appraisers, under their signatures, which shall be communicated to the tenant at least three days before the sale.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. xviii.

48. The commissioner for the sale of distrained property shall nominate two creditable persons, competent by their profession, trade, or occupation, to appraise the property. The persons so appointed shall appraise the property according to the current price which the several articles may then bear in the country, and shall deliver the particulars of the appraisement in writing, and attest the same with their signatures, and shall certify in writing, at the foot of the paper, that they have appraised the property according to the best of their knowledge and judgment. The commissioner shall affix his seal to the paper of appraisement, and cause it to be stuck up on the outer door of his own house, and at the place where the property is to be sold. The property shall be brought to the place of sale on the morning of the day of sale, in order that it may be examined by the persons intending to bid, unless it shall consist of grain or other products of the earth, the removal of which would be attended with considerable expense, in which case samples only, indiscriminately taken from each article, shall be brought to the place of sale, and exposed for the purpose above mentioned. The property shall be put up to sale in one lot, or in two or more lots, as the commissioner may think advisable. The property shall be disposed of for the highest price that may be offered for it. If the property shall sell for more than the amount of the arrear, the overplus, after deducting the charges attending the attachment and sale of it, shall be returned to the defaulter. If the proceeds of the sale shall be insufficient for the discharge of the arrear, and the expenses attending the attachment and sale, the distrainer shall be at liberty to attach other property belonging to the defaulter, and to cause it to be sold to make good the deficiency. The commissioner is, in every case, to examine the distrainer's statement of the expenses consequent to the attachment and sale of the property, and to reject any part of it that may appear to him unreasonable. If any person vested with the power of distraint shall sell or dispose of property which he may have attached for arrears of rent or revenue, in any other mode than that herein prescribed, he shall forfeit the arrear for which the distress may be levied to the defaulter, and make good to him the value of the property sold or disposed of, with all costs of suit.—Reg. XXXV., 1795, sec. v.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xx.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xx., cl. 1.

49. The commissioner is to be careful to prevent any unfair practices, either in the appraisement or sale of property. Upon proof being made, before a Civil Court, of his conniving at any such practices, the Court shall cause him to make good any loss or injury that the defaulter may have thereby sustained, with costs of suit, and shall immediately report the circumstances of the case to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, for the information of the Governor-General in Council, who, provided there shall appear to him sufficient reason for so doing, shall dismiss such commissioner from his office.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xxiii.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxi.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxi.

50. The distrainer, the commissioner, and the appraisers, are prohibited purchasing, directly or indirectly, any part of the property. Any commissioner or appraiser offending against this prohibition, shall be compelled to restore the property to the defaulter, or the full value of it in the event of its being injured, damaged, destroyed, or not forthcoming, and shall forfeit the purchase-money, which shall be appropriated to the liquidation of the arrear, and pay all costs of suit; and the Court shall report the circumstances to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, for the informa- tion of the Governor-General in Council, who, if there shall appear to him sufficient ground for so doing, shall dismiss such commissioner from his office. Distrainers acting contrary to the prohibition contained in this paragraph shall be compelled to restore the property to the defaulter, or the full value of it if it shall have been injured, damaged, or destroyed, or shall not be forthcoming, and shall likewise forfeit to him the arrear for which the property may have been attached and pay all costs of suit.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xxiv.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxii.

NOTE.—Such parts of the preceding rules as are printed in italics would seem to be superseded by the operation of paragraphs 42 to 45.

51. Neither the defaulter, nor any person on his behalf, shall be permitted to bid for or purchase the property.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xxv.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxiii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxiii.

52. If at the time of sale a price shall not be offered for the distrained property equal to its appraised value, the sale shall be postponed until the ensuing market-day, when the property shall be actually sold, whatever price (not less than the amount bidden on the first day of sale) may be offered for it.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. xix.

53. The property shall be paid for in ready money at the time of the sale, and the purchaser shall not be permitted to carry away any part of the property which shall not have been paid for. Should the purchaser fail in the payment of the whole or part of the purchase-money within five days, calculating from the day following the sale, the whole of the property, or the part of it which may be unpaid for, shall be resold by the commissioner, on such day as he shall fix, for the best price that may be offered for it. The defaulting purchaser shall forfeit to the distrainer ten per cent. on the amount of the price at which he shall have purchased the property so resold, and make good to him any loss that may arise, as well as the expenses that may be incurred on the resale. If any profit shall accrue on the resale, it shall be carried to the credit of the defaulter.—Reg. XXXV., 1795, sec. vii.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxiv.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxiv.

PROCESS OF ARREST.

54. Any zemindar, talookdar, or proprietor or farmer of land, to whom an arrear of rent may be due from a dependent zemindar, talookdar, kutkinadar, jotedar, or other under-tenant of whatever denomination, which cannot be realized by distraining the personal property of such under-tenant, and his surety (if he shall have given security), is at liberty, after demanding such arrear from the defaulter, and from his surety if forthcoming, or without any express demand if he have reason to believe that the defaulter or his surety is prepared to abscond, to cause the immediate arrest of such defaulter and his surety in the manner following.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xv., cl. 1.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xiv., cl. 1.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxxii., cl. 1.

55. The proprietor or farmer to whom the arrear may be due, or his authorized agent, is at liberty to present a petition to the collector within whose jurisdiction the party may reside, setting forth in specific terms the arrear due from the defaulter, and praying that he and his surety (in case he shall have given security) may be taken into custody, unless the amount be paid.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xv., cl. 2.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xiv., cl. 2.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxxii., cl. 2.

56. The petition for the arrest of defaulting under-tenants or their sureties, shall specify, besides the name and residence of the defaulter and surety, and the mehaul for which the balance of rent is claimed, the annual jumma of such mehaul, the amount demandable for the kists of the current year which may have become payable, the amount received from the tenant or his surety, and the balance actually due for the payment of which the arrest is desired. The petition shall also state whether the arrear claimed has been demanded from the defaulter or his surety, and the result.—Reg. XIX., 1817, sec. xv., cl. 2.

57. Whenever a dependent talookdar, kutkinadar, jotedar, or other under-tenant, or the surety of any such under-tenant, from whom an arrear of rent may be due, and who may have failed to discharge the same on demand, may reside, or be in a zillah or city, different from that wherein the land for which the arrear of rent is due may be situated, it shall be competent to the zemindar, or other proprietor or farmer of the land, to whom the arrear of rent may be owing, or his authorized agent, to present a petition specifying the particulars stated in the preceding paragraph, and praying for the arrest of the defaulter, or his surety, to the collector of the district in which the defaulter or his surety may reside or be; and the collector receiving the same shall immediately issue the process of arrest.—Reg. XIX., 1817, sec. xv., cl. 1.

58. In addition to the foregoing rules, it is hereby provided that any zemindar, talookdar, farmer, or other person entitled to receive rent, who may desire to take out summary process against the person of a defaulter, shall be at liberty to make application for the purpose either to the collector of the district within which the land may be situated, or of the district wherein the defaulter may be at the time resident, at his option. In the event of his applying to the collector of the district, within which the defaulter may not be resident, the process shall be transmitted by dawk to the collector of the district where he may reside, in order to be there served in the usual form.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xix.

59. Whenever it shall be desired to apprehend a defaulter residing out of the jurisdiction of the collector, before whom the suit relative to the alleged arrear may be cognizable, the process of arrest shall be served through the collector of the district where the alleged defaulter may reside. —Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxii.

60. If the defaulter or surety against whom process of arrest may be issued under paragraph 57 may be found within the jurisdiction of the collector by whom the same shall have been issued, and after being arrested he shall not pay the arrear demanded, or satisfy the party causing his arrrest, and shall in consequence be brought to the collector serving the process, the said collector shall call upon him to show cause why he should not be sent to the collector of the district in which the land for which the arrear is claimed (or the greater part of it, if in two jurisdictions) may be situated, and if sufficient cause be not assigned, or substantial security given for attending the collector of the district in which the land is situated within a limited period, the party arrested shall be sent in custody of mohussil peons (at the charge of the party claiming the arrear) to the collector of the district in which the land may be situated. A statement of the case, with the original petition of arrest, and all other papers connected with it, shall at the same time be transmitted for the information of the collector to whom the party in arrest may be sent in such cases. The petition of arrest, and all papers connected with it, shall likewise be sent to the collector of the district in which the land may be situated, whenever the party arrested may assign sufficient cause for not being sent as directed, or may give security for his attendance, which shall be accepted whenever substantial security may be offered.—Reg. XIX., 1817, sec. xv., cl. 3.

61. The defaulter, if apprehended, shall be sent over in custody; or if he should not be found, so that the process cannot be served, a return shall be made accordingly, and the deposition of the peon employed shall further be taken, to be sent along with the return for the satisfaction of the collector issuing the process, as to the efforts made to apprehend the defaulter.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xix.

62. When a defaulting tenant or his surety may be brought to the collector of the district in which the land is situated, or may attend under security for his appearance, in pursuance of paragraph 60, the collector shall proceed, as directed in similar cases, by the Regulations in force, when the defaulter or surety may have been arrested within his own jurisdiction.—Reg. XIX., 1817, sec. xv., cl. 4.

63. On the petition of arrest being presented to the collector (and to save time, it is allowed to be presented either in or out of Court, and by any authorized agent), the collector, if the defaulter or surety be within his jurisdiction, is immediately to issue a dustuck for the arrest of such party, and to bring him before the collector, unless he pay the arrear demanded; and if such payment be not made on the service of the dustuck, or within twenty-four hours afterwards (which time is to be allowed to the party arrested to adjust the demand), the officer charged with the dustuck is to complete the execution thereof by conveying the party to the collector. Provided, however, that if the party arrested shall, by a written application, request a longer period than twenty-four hours to adjust the demand against him, and the party causing the arrest shall, by a written superscription or endorsement on such application, acquiesce therein, the officers charged with the dustuck shall delay the execution accordingly; and whenever the party at whose instance the dustuck may have been issued shall, by a written derkhaust, declare himself satisfied, and desire the arrest to be withdrawn, it shall be immediately withdrawn accordingly, the officers charged with the dustuck (who are never to exceed two in number, unless in any particular case a greater number be considered necessary to prevent escape) being at the same time paid the tullubaneh due to them according to the established rate of two annas per diem, or any lower rate that may have been the customary allowance to persons deputed with revenue processes.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xv., cl. 3; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xiv., cl. 3; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxxii., cl. 3.

64. Whenever a dependent talookdar, kutkinadar, or other under-tenant of land, or his surety, may be arrested on the demand of an arrear of rent, under the summary process authorized by the Regulations, and may deny that the arrear demanded, or any part of it, is owing, and such under-tenant or surety shall tender sufficient security for his personal attendance during the prescribed summary inquiry, it shall be competent to the collector to receive such security, and to admit the tenant or surety to bail, until the inquiry directed to be made in such cases, by examining the accounts and vouchers of the parties, shall be completed, and a decision passed thereupon.—Reg. XIX., 1817, sec. xvi., cl. 2.

65 When a defaulter or his surety may be brought to the collector, the collector shall call upon him to answer the demand against him, and if he deny it, or any part of it, shall enter upon a summary inquiry into the merits of it, by examining the vouchers and accounts of the parties.—Reg VII, 1799, sec xv, cl 4, Reg V, 1800, sec xv, cl 4, Reg XXVIII, 1803, sec xxxii, cl 4

66 The collector, after completing his inquiry, is to discharge the defendant, with full costs and damages, if it appear that no arrear is due from him, or that the arrear demanded has been wilfully mis-stated by the plaintiff, and a considerable proportion of the demand is not justly due to him But if it appear that the arrear demanded, or a considerable proportion thereof, be justly due from the defendant, he is to be kept in close custody until he pay the amount, with all costs, and interest on the arrear at the rate of one per cent per mensem, or until the plaintiff make application to the collector for his release The plaintiff is to pay to such defendants, whilst in confinement, the same allowance for their subsistence as is fixed for other prisoners in the gaol of the Dewanny Adawlut, by Section VIII of Regulation IV, 1793, viz, such allowance as the collector may think proper on consideration of the rank and situation of the prisoner, not exceeding four annas, nor less than one anna per diem, and the payment is to be made in the same manner and under the same provisions as prescribed in the above section —Reg VII, 1799, sec xv, cl 5, Reg V, 1800, sec xiv, cl 4, Reg XXVIII, 1803, sec xxxii, cl 4

67 When an under-farmer, jotedar, or other under-tenant, arrested as above described, shall not immediately discharge the arrear demanded from him, and shall in consequence be taken in custody to the collector, the proprietor or farmer of land to whom such arrear may be owing is at liberty to attach the farm, jote, or other tenure of such defaulter, and to manage the same by his own agents, or in such manner as he may think proper, until the rent due to him, with the further rent that may become due after the attachment, and interest upon the whole arrear, at the rate of one per cent per mensem, shall have been liquidated from the produce But in such cases of attachment, the proprietor or farmer making the same shall not exact more from the cultivators of the soil, and other descriptions of inferior tenantry, whose rents for the current year may have been payable to the defaulter than the defaulter himself would have been entitled to receive from them if the attachment had not taken place (cases of collusion and illegality under the Regulations excepted), and in the event of the defaulter making good the arrear due from him, with interest at the rate of one per cent per mensem, at any time within the current year, the attachment shall be immediately withdrawn, and a full and fair account rendered to him of all receipts and disbursements during the continuance of it —Reg VII, 1799, sec xv, cl 6, Reg V, 1800, sec xiv, cl 6, Reg XXVIII, 1803, sec xxxii, cl 6

68 If the arrear be not liquidated within the current Bengal, Fusly, or Willaity, year (according to the era current in the province), either by the payments of the defaulter or his surety, or by the attachment of his tenure, the zemindar, talookdar, or other proprietor of the land, or the farmer in whose farm the defaulter's tenure may be included (if such farmer's lease extend beyond the current year), is at liberty, at the commencement of the ensuing year, to make such provision for the future receipt of the rents payable to him from the land tenanted by the defaulter as he may judge proper, and may be consistent with the rights of all other persons concerned. If the defaulter be an under-farmer for the past year only, or whose lease may have expired with the past year, he can of course have no claim to any further lease, and although his lease may not have expired, if he shall have neglected to fulfil the conditions of it by the payment of his stipulated rent, it must be considered liable to be annulled, or otherwise, at the option of the lessor If the defaulter be a dependent talookdar, or the holder of any other tenure which, by the title-deeds or established usage of the country, is transferable by sale or otherwise, it may be brought to sale, by application to the collector, in satisfaction of the arrear of rent, and the purchaser will become the tenant for the new year, or if the defaulter be a leaseholder or other tenant, having a right of occupancy only so long as a certain rent, or a rent determinable on certain principles according to local rates and usages, be paid, without any right of property or transferable possession, the proprietor of whom such tenure is held, or the farmer or other person to whom such proprietor may have leased or committed his rights, must be understood to have the right of ousting the defaulting tenant from the tenure he has forfeited by a breach of the conditions of it In such cases (viz, in the several cases enumerated in this paragraph, under the stated exception when a sale of landed property may be desired), proprietors and farmers of land are at liberty to exercise the just powers appertaining to them, without any previous application to the courts or collectors, but they will be held responsible for all acts done by them or by their agents which may exceed their just powers, and infringe the rights of under-tenants of whatever description, whether founded on pottahs or other written deeds and engagements, or on long prescription and established local usage This Regulation is not meant to define or limit the actual rights of any description of landholders or tenants which can be properly ascertained and determined by judicial investigation only, but merely to point out in what manner defaulting tenants may be proceeded against in the event of their not paying the rents justly due from them, leaving them to recover their rights, if infringed, with full costs and damages, in the established courts of justice, under the provisions already stated in this Regulation for bringing such causes to a determination with the least possible delay.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xv., cl. 7; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xiv., cl. 7; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxxii., cl. 7.

69. When a summary suit for arrears alleged to be due may have been instituted against a talookdar, or against a farmer, or against the holder of any other intermediate tenure between the zemindar and the actual cultivators, it shall be competent to the party who may have instituted such suit (whether the alleged defaulter shall have been arrested or not), to send a sezawul of his own authority to attach and collect the rents of the actual cultivators immediately from themselves: provided, however, that such power of attachment shall not be exercised, unless the arrear of rent claimed in the summary suit shall have been actually due for one entire month before the date of attachment, and shall not be less in amount than the entire kist of the month on account of which the arrear may be claimed.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xviii., cl. 2; Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxii.

NOTE.—The provisions of paragraphs 58, 61, 69, 70, 71, and 72, were originally enacted for the Lower Provinces only, but were extended to all the provinces immediately subject to the presidency of Fort William by sec. xxii., Reg. VII, 1822.

70. After process of arrest may have been taken out in the usual form, if the return of the nazir be, that after diligent search the party cannot be found, it shall be optional with the plaintiff to move the collector by his vakeel or authorized agent to solicit a postponement of the case for a month, in order to cause another process to be served at any time in the course of it that may afford the chance of securing the person of the defaulter, and then to have a notice issued, and the case brought to judgment; or to cause proclamation to be made without such postponement, that after fifteen days from the date of notice, the collector will proceed to a summary investigation of the balance, and in case of the non-attendance of the defendant, will pass judgment summarily upon the documents and proofs that may be exhibited by the plaintiff ex parte.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xviii., cl. 3; Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxii.

71. When an arrear may be adjudged to be due in the manner above provided, the zemindar or other plaintiff in the suit shall be at liberty to cancel, of his own authority, any lease, farm, or other limited interest intermediate between himself and the actual cultivator, on account of which the rent may have been claimed; but no summary award for arrears shall be considered to warrant the subjecting real property belonging to the defendant in such an action to sale in execution, except in cases in which the balance may be due on account of a putnee talook, or of any other talook which may have been declared by the Regulations to be liable to sale for arrears; such talook will of course be liable to be sold for the arrears which may have accrued upon it in the mode prescribed; but if the zemindar or other plaintiff should be desirous of having any other estate, or house, or landed property of a defaulter, brought to sale in satisfaction of his claim of rent, it will be necessary for him to institute a regular suit for the purpose, notwithstanding the existence of the summary award in his favour.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xviii., cl. 4.

72. The provisions contained in paragraphs 69 and 71, so far as they relate to the power of attaching and cancelling (under the circumstances therein described) the leases, farms, or other limited interests of persons holding intermediately between the proprietor and the actual cultivator, are hereby declared not to extend to khoodkasht ryots or other resident cultivators of the soil. For any arrears which may be alleged to be due from those classes of persons, the party claiming them may proceed at any time during the year by distraint, or by process of arrest and summary suit, under the existing rules; proprietors, talookdars, or farmers, however, to whom an arrear of rent may be due at the end of the year from any khoodkasht ryot or other resident cultivators of the soil, are at liberty to institute a summary suit to establish the existence of such an arrear, taking out process of arrest in the usual form. If the defendant shall not attend or cannot be arrested, the forms of process and proceeding prescribed in paragraph 70 shall be considered to be applicable to the case, and any summary judgment previously obtained on account of rent of the year just closed shall be received as evidence of such arrear, upon the plaintiff's showing that judgment in question has remained unexecuted. If an arrear shall be adjudged by the collector to be due, and the amount shall not be immediately paid into Court, the plaintiff shall be authorized by the collector to make such new arrangement as he may judge proper for the future management of the lands in question.—Reg. VIII., 1819, sec. xviii., cl. 5.

73. The provisions for the arrest of defaulting under-tenants and their sureties from whom arrears of rent may be due to proprietors and farmers of land, and for a summary inquiry to be made by the collectors when the parties so arrested for arrears of rent may be brought before them, are, from the terms and objects of such provisions, evidently intended to be applicable only to recent arrears of rent due in the course of the current year or immediately after the close of it; and it is hereby declared, that the summary inquiry and process authorized, shall not be applied to any arrear of rent, or other demand which may have been due more than a complete year before the delivery of the petition of arrest and application for such summary inquiry and process: Provided, however, that this restriction shall not be considered to preclude the collectors from including in the adjustment of recent arrears in such cases any arrear which may be found due beyond the period of one year, if the same shall appear equitable.—Reg. II., 1805, sec. iv.

POWERS OF LANDHOLDERS OVER NATIVE AGENTS.

74. The foregoing provisions, for the arrest and confinement of defaulters, are likewise declared to extend, so far as they can be applied, to the sudder and mofussil amlah, or native agents of every description, employed by the landholders and farmers in the management of their estates or farms, or collection of their rents. Any landholder or farmer having demands upon such agents whilst in his service, or immediately after their resignation or dismission from his service, whether for money in their hands, or for accounts which they may refuse to render, or for any matter relating to the discharge of their respective trusts whilst in his employ, may proceed against them for their arrest and confinement, in like manner as he is authorized to proceed against defaulting under-tenants; and the collectors are to take the same measures for the aid of the landholders and farmers in such cases, as they are directed to take for the recovery of arrears from defaulting tenants.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xx.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xix.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxxvii.

SUMMARY SUITS.

NOTE.—For the powers of collectors in respect of summary suits regarding rent, while they are engaged in making or revising settlements, see "SETTLEMENT," paragraph 386.

75. From and after the date of the promulgation of this Regulation [1st November, 1831], it shall not be competent to the judicial authorities to take cognizance of summary suits or claims relating to arrears or exactions of rent, unless the complaint be preferred as a regular suit, in the mode prescribed by Regulation IV., 1793, and the corresponding enactments.—Reg. VIII., 1831, secs. ii., iii.

76. Summary claims connected with arrears or exactions of rent shall be preferred in the first instance to the several collectors of land revenue, whose decisions in such cases shall be final, subject to a regular suit, unless the ground of appeal be the irrelevancy of the Regulation to the case appealed, on which ground only the commissioner of revenue for the division is authorized to receive an appeal, if preferred to him within one month of the date of the summary decision. The commissioner of revenue, after receiving the appeal, and calling for the proceedings in the case, shall dismiss the same with costs, if the stated ground of irrelevancy shall not appear to be established. If, on the other hand, the case should appear to be of a nature not properly cognizable as a summary suit, the commissioner of revenue shall reverse the irregular judgment given by the collector, and pass such further orders thereupon as he may think just and proper, in pursuance of the Regulations in force, which may be applicable to the circumstances of the case.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. iv.

77. In modification of the existing rules regarding summary suits, it is hereby provided, that the summary jurisdiction to be exercised by collectors shall be restricted to the object of enforcing payments of the rents paid in past years, to the entire exclusion of all claims to increase, except on proof of bonâ fide written engagements to such increase.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. x.

78. It shall be competent to a collector to whom a summary suit may be preferred, to reject the same by an order to be written on the back of the petition, to be returned to the party, referring him to a regular suit; and the said petition shall be received by the judicial authorities as a petition of plaint in like manner as if the claim had been originally preferred to them in the form of a regular suit.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. ix., cl. 1.

79. Provided, however, that it shall be competent to a commissioner of revenue, on summary appeal, to direct the collector to receive and decide such suits, as well as to give such general instructions relative to the admission or rejection of suits referring to the matters in question, as local or other circumstances may in his judgment render necessary.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. ix., cl. 2.

80. The collector shall possess the same powers as are vested in the Civil Courts for causing the attendance of parties and witnesses, and generally for all process which it may be necessary to issue in such suits; except the execution of decrees, respecting which the rule in paragraph 90 is to be observed.—Reg. XIV., 1824, sec. iv.

81. It shall be competent to the parties in all suits, the cognizance of which is hereby vested in the collectors of revenue, to employ any agent, vakeel, or representative, whom they may think proper to appoint, to act and plead in their behalf, provided such agent, vakeel, or representative, be duly empowered by the parties. The rate of remuneration to such agent or vakeel shall be left to be adjusted between himself and his constituent; but no greater sum shall be awarded on this account for costs payable by the party against whom the judgment may be passed, than what may be deemed by the collector a fair equivalent for the attendance of such agent.—Reg. XIV., 1824, sec. vi.

82. No other pleadings shall be required from the parties in such suits than a plaint and answer; provided that if the parties should, at any time, wish to file an amended plaint, or an amended answer, or any explanatory motion, such subsidiary pleadings shall be received.—Reg. XIV., 1824, sec. vii.

83. Summary claims of the nature above adverted to, which may be preferred to a collector conformably to paragraph 76, shall be written on paper bearing a stamp of one-fourth the value which would have been required had the claim been instituted in any Civil Court as a regular suit; provided, however, that the collector shall have a discretion to receive a complaint on paper, bearing a stamp of eight annas, from any independent talookdar, farmer, or ryot, if the complainant is bonâ fide unable to pay the price of the prescribed stamp, or if the collector should for other reasons consider the indulgence proper.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. vii.

84. The mokhtarnamas or vakalutnamas, and the pleadings and final decree in such suits, shall be written on stamped paper of the value of eight annas, whatever may be the amount of the suit; and no fees shall be taken on exhibits tendered in the cause, or for the witnesses required by the parties, nor shall it be necessary for the parties to present a written motion on stamped paper for the filing of such exhibits, or for the summoning of such witnesses.—Reg. XIV., 1824, sec. viii.

85. It shall be competent to the collectors to hear and determine such suits in whatever part of the district they may occasionally be or reside, provided that every hearing and decision be in public cutcherry, or in some other place open to the public, and in the presence of the parties, or of their constituted agents or vakeels, if in attendance.—Reg. XIV., 1824, sec. ix.

86. Whenever, from the great accumulation of suits connected with claims to arrears or exactions of rent, or from any other cause, it shall seem advisable, the several collectors are hereby authorized, with the previous sanction of the commissioner of the division, to refer to the tehsildars within their respective districts any such claims, with a view to their being adjusted and reported upon; and the several tehsildars shall be guided in the performance of this duty by the rules which were declared applicable to the proceedings of collectors in similar references, prior to the enactment of Regulation XIV., 1824.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. xiii.

87. It shall be the duty of the Boards of Revenue to obtain from the collectors such periodical returns regarding the execution of their duty in the decision of summary suits as may appear best calculated to satisfy these Boards that no delay occurs in the performance of it.—Reg. V., 1812, sec. xxii.

88. In furnishing periodical reports of suits decided and depending, which may have been instituted under this Regulation, and generally in the performance of other duties connected with its provisions, the several collectors shall be guided by the instructions which they may receive from the revenue commissioners or the Sudder Boards of Revenue.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. xviii.

89. The rules contained in Section XXXI., Regulation VII., 1822 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraphs 409, 410), are hereby declared applicable to the decisions passed by collectors under the provisions of this Regulation.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. xix.

90. Such part of Clause Third, Section XXIII., Regulation VII., 1822 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 394), as relates to the execution of awards in cases where a specific sum of money shall be adjudged to be due, or any cost or damage be awarded, is declared equally applicable to the awards which may be made by collectors under this Regulation.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. xx.

91. Assistants to collectors are not competent to exercise the powers vested in collectors by this Regulation, unless specially empowered by the Governor-General in Council. When thus empowered, they shall be competent to decide suits referred to them by the collector, subject always to such revision or control on his part as he may see fit to exercise, and subject ultimately to an appeal to the commissioner of revenue under the provisions of paragraph 76.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. xxi.

SALES IN EXECUTION OF SUMMARY DECREES, OR OF A DEFAULTER'S REAL PROPERTY.

92. All sales in execution of summary decrees for rent, and all sales of a defaulter's real property, under the provisions of paragraph 68, are to be made in public by the collector, deputy collector, or head assistant to the deputy collector of the district, under the rules applicable to the sale of putnee tenures contained in Section IX., Regulation VIII., 1819; and Section XVI., Regulation VII., 1832. Ten days' notice shall be given of such sales by advertisement, to be stuck up at the cutcherry of the Zillah Court or local Adawlut, and that of the collector. If the lands subject to sale shall be situate in two or more collectorates, the sale is to be made as provided for in paragraphs 113 to 124.—Act VIII., 1835; Act VI., 1853, sec. x.

REGULAR SUITS.

93. If any gomashtah, agent, servant, or officer of any person vested with the power of distraint, shall attach or cause to be sold the property of any under-farmer, ryot, or dependent talookdar, zemindar, or putteedar, or their sureties, or do any act in the attachment or sale of it contrary to this Regulation, the party aggrieved shall have his remedy against the principal of the offender for such illegal attachment, sale, or act, whether the same took place or was done by the orders or with the knowledge of such principal or not. Provided that nothing herein contained shall extend to subject a distrainer to imprisonment, in the event of any person deputed by him to attach property entering the zenana or apartments of women, or breaking open a dwelling-house, in opposition to the prohibition contained in paragraph 26, unless it shall be proved that such acts were done by the order, or with the consent or knowledge of such distrainer.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xxxii.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxix.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxix.

94. But neither the landholders and farmers themselves, nor their agents, are to be made liable to the penalties prescribed for a deviation from any part of the Regulations relative to the distraining for land-rents, unless such deviation shall clearly appear to have been wilful and intentional, or to have proceeded from gross neglect and inattention to the rules prescribed for their guidance. Where no such wilful deviation or gross neglect shall appear, satisfaction to the party aggrieved for the actual damage sustained by him, from the prescribed process not having been strictly adhered to, shall alone be adjudged against the distrainer; nor shall any judgment be given for such damages, if the distrainer can show that he tendered sufficient amends to the party injured as soon as the irregularity in his proceedings was discovered, or at any time before the action for damages was brought against him, and that such tender was refused.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. ii.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. ii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 2.

95. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit any person whose property may have been distrained or sold from instituting a suit in the Civil Courts against the distrainer for any injury which they may think they have hereby sustained; nor to prevent the several descriptions of landholders or farmers of land, or other persons vested with the power of distraint, from prosecuting in the Civil Courts for arrears due to them from any under-farmer, ryot, or dependent talookdar, dependent zemindar, putteedar, or their sureties, should they prefer the last-mentioned mode of procedure to distraining and selling the personal property of the defaulter, or in the cases authorized, of his surety, for the recovery of the arrears.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xxxiii.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxxi.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxx.

96. Persons confined under paragraph 66, and desirous of bringing the demand upon them to a regular judicial investigation and decision in the Civil Courts, are at liberty to institute a suit against the landholder or farmer, at whose instance they may have been confined, for this purpose; and should the amount denied by them be found upon trial not to have been due, they shall receive a judgment for full costs and damages against the party by whom it may have been claimed. They shall also be entitled to a similar judgment, with interest at the rate of one per cent. per mensem upon the amount paid by them, and found not to have been justly due from them, if they shall discharge the demand upon them with a view to obtain their release from arrest, or from subsequent confinement, under the preceding paragraph, and shall afterwards, on a suit in the Civil Court for recovery of the amount so paid, establish that it was not due from them at the time of the demand.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xvi.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xv.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxxiii.

97. Regular suits for the recovery of arrears of rent may be instituted, in the first instance, for the more formal investigation of the merits of the case, either before the moonsiffs or in the Zillah and City Courts, according to the amount at issue, and the zillah and city judges are hereby enjoined to encourage, as much as possible, that mode of procedure, as well in the suits above adverted to, as in all other claims for arrears of rent which may be cognizable by summary process under the existing rules, whenever it may, in their opinion, lead to a more prompt and satisfactory determination of the points at issue.—Reg. II., 1821, sec. iv.

98. With a view to give additional encouragement to parties having claims to arrears of rent to prefer regular suits on account of the same, it is hereby declared that the plaint in all such regular suits, if under the existing Regulations they would have been cognizable as summary suits, may be written on paper bearing a stamp of one-fourth the prescribed value; provided, however, that this rule shall not be considered applicable to a suit instituted with a view to set aside a previous summary decision, which suit shall be subject to the ordinary provisions for the payment of stamp duty.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. viii.

99. All suits that may be instituted under these rules are to be heard and determined previous to any other suits which may be depending.—Reg. XVII., 1793, sec. xxxiv.; Reg. XLV., 1795, sec. xxxii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxxi.

REGULAR SUITS IN APPEAL FROM SUMMARY DECISIONS.

100. Proprietors and farmers of land, whose claims to arrears of rent may be rejected by the collector on the summary inquiry, are also at liberty to institute a regular suit in the Dewanny Adawlut for the recovery thereof; and if, on trial, the amount claimed by them shall be found to have been due when the summary judgment was given against them in the first instance, they shall be entitled to receive back any sums paid by them for costs or damages under such judgment, and to a decree from the Zillah Court for the arrears of rent due to them, with interest at the rate of one per cent. per mensem, and full costs incurred by them, as well on the summary inquiry as on the regular suit.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xvii.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xvi.; Reg. XXXVIII., 1803, sec. xxxiv.

101. Any person who may be dissatisfied with the summary judgment of a collector, and may be desirous of a more full and formal investigation of the merits of the case, shall be at liberty to prefer a regular suit in the local Zillah or City Court; and on the institution of such suit the proceedings held on the summary inquiry shall be filed on the record of the regular suit. —Reg. XIV., 1824, sec. x.; Reg. V., 1812, sec. xxiii.

102. Such suits shall be cognizable according to their amount by the principal sudder ameens, sudder ameens, and moonsiffs.—Reg. XIV., 1824, sec. x.; Reg. VII., 1832, sec. x.

103. The existing Regulations not providing any limited period beyond which the investigation of a regular suit to contest the justice of a summary award, in matters connected with arrears or exactions of rent, shall be admitted, it is hereby declared that the admission of regular suits to contest the summary awards of the revenue authorities in such matters shall be restricted to the period of one year from the date of the delivery, or of the tender to the party against whom the award is made, of the collector's decision.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. vi.

104. Provided, moreover, that in all cases of appeal, the records of cases which can be ascertained to have been decided concerning the same cause of action, and regarding any matter cognizable under this Regulation, shall be produced and read, and that the decision in appeal shall be considered to be equally applicable to all such suits, though not appealed. Provided, however, that in all such cases due notice shall be given to the parties concerned, to attend, either in person or by vakeel, to prosecute or defend their several interests.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. xvii.

JURISDICTION OF REVENUE COURTS.

105. Within the British territories under the Government of the East-India Company, no person whatever is or shall be, by reason of place of birth or by reason of descent, in any proceeding whatever connected with arrears or exactions of rent, excepted from the jurisdiction of the Revenue Courts, anything in Act No. XI. of 1836 contained notwithstanding.—Act III., 1839, sec. i.

106. No such proceeding which may have been instituted before the passing of this Act in any such court [18th February, 1839], and no decree which may have been passed before the passing of this Act in any such proceeding by any such court, shall be treated as invalid by reason of the place of birth, or by reason of the descent of any party to such proceeding or to such decree.—Act III., 1839, sec. ii.

JURISDICTION OF MOONSIFFS.

107. Paragraph 95, which authorizes persons whose property may have been distrained to sue for any injury sustained thereby in the Civil Courts, and allows landholders and farmers of land to sue defaulters or their sureties in the Civil Courts for arrears of rent, instead of distraining their property, if such mode of procedure be preferred by them, was not meant to restrict the native tribunals from taking cognizance of any suits of the above description according to their amounts, whether preferred to them in the first instance, or referred to them by the judges of the Dewanny Adawlut.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec xiii.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xiii.; Reg. XXVIII., 1803, sec. xxx.

108. In those districts in which moonsiffs may be appointed under the provisions of Regulation V., 1831, those moonsiffs shall be competent, in addition to the authority now possessed by moonsiffs generally of receiving, trying, and deciding claims to arrears of rent preferred by regular suit, in like manner to dispose of all claims preferred by under-tenants or others who may be desirous of resisting the distraint of their property or the attachment of their persons, or who may prefer a claim for damages on account of such acts. In all cases cognizable by them, they are to hear and determine suits respecting rent or revenue before any others that may be depending.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. xi.; Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xiii.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xiii.

109. Within the said territories no person whatever shall, by reason of place of birth, or by reason of descent, be, in any civil proceeding whatever connected with arrears or exactions of rent, excepted from the jurisdiction of the courts of the moonsiffs.—Act III., 1839, sec. iii.

SETTLEMENT OF JURISDICTION WHEN SUITS RELATING TO THE SAME MATTER ARE BROUGHT BOTH BEFORE THE COURTS AND COLLECTORS.

110. Inconvenience having been experienced from the circumstance of two or more claims regarding the same matter having been preferred to different tribunals, it is hereby provided, that if it should be brought to the notice of the judge that a suit regarding any matter cognizable under this Regulation is pending in his or in any of the courts subject to his control, in a matter regarding which a suit had been previously instituted before the collector, the judge shall direct such suit to be transferred to the collector, who in such case is authorized and required to decide both suits.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. xiv.

111. In like manner, if it be brought to the notice of the collector that a suit is pending before him in a matter regarding which a regular suit has been previously filed in the Judge's Court, he shall suspend his proceedings, and forward the record of the case to the judge, who will make over both cases to some tribunal subject to his authority, or dispose of the cases himself.—Reg. VIII., 1831, sec. xv.

112. It shall further be the duty of the judge, and of all the judicial authorities subject to his control, in all practicable cases, to refer suits concerning the same cause of action, and regarding any matter cognizable under this Regulation, to be decided by one and the same tribunal, and the subordinate judicial authorities are required to suspend their proceedings, and to submit them to the judge, whenever they may have reason to know that another cause concerning the same matter, relating to arrears or exactions of rent, is pending before another court, or as a summary suit before the collector.—Reg. VIII., 1831., sec. xvi.

JURISDICTION IN SUITS, AND POWER OF SALE WHEN THE LANDS ARE SITUATED IN TWO OR MORE DISTRICTS, OR IN THE DISTRICT OF AN INDEPENDENT DEPUTY COLLECTOR.

113. Whereas doubts may be entertained as to who ought to exercise jurisdiction in summary suits relating to arrears or exactions of rent, and to possess the power of selling lands in execution of such decrees, when lands situate in one zillah or other district of one collector form part of an entire estate paying revenue to the collector of another district; and whereas the same doubts may arise in respect of sales of a defaulter's real property, under the provisions of paragraph 68, and also in cases where lands held in putnee, or other tenure at one entire rent, are situate in two or more collectorates,—in order, therefore, to remove such doubts, and to define who are the proper officers to exercise such jurisdictions in cases where lands are situated in a district assigned to an independent deputy collector, and to prevent any such decision or sale already made from being held invalid, upon the ground of its having been made by an officer of a wrong district, it is enacted as follows:—Act VI., 1853, preamble.

114. If the lands which may be the subject of any such sale, or to the rent of which any such suit may relate, be all situate in one collectorate, the collector of such collectorate is the collector to conduct the sale, or to hear and decide the suit. If one talook or tenure shall comprise lands situate in two or more collectorates, or if any lands situate in two or more collectorates be held under one lease or engagement, or at one entire rent, the collector in whose collectorate the greater part of such lands shall be situate, is the collector to conduct the sale of such talook, or tenure, or of such lands, and to hear and decide any summary suit relating to arrears or exactions of rent in respect thereof.—Act VI., 1853, sec. i.

115. If a collector, to whom application shall be made to exercise any of the powers above mentioned, shall entertain any doubt as to whether the lands, or the greater part of them, are situate within his collectorate, he shall report the case for the order of the Board to which he is subordinate, and if ordered by such Board to proceed in the matter, such order shall be conclusive upon the question of his jurisdiction.—Act VI., 1853, sec. ii.

116. The word "collectorate" in this Act means the zillah or other district to which a collector is appointed, and no lands situate beyond the limits of such zillah or district shall be deemed to be situate within the collectorate, by reason of their forming part of an estate paying revenue to the collector thereof.—Act VI., 1853, sec. iii.

117. An independent deputy collector may, within his deputy collectorate, exercise all the powers and jurisdictions of a collector with which he may be intrusted, in the same manner and to the same extent as a collector may do within his collectorate, and with reference to the exercise of such powers and jurisdictions, his deputy collectorate shall be deemed a collectorate, and he shall be deemed to be a collector within the meaning of this Act.—Act VI., 1853, sec. iv.

118. An independent deputy collector is an officer appointed by Government to act as deputy collector, independently of a collector, whether his office is one for the receipt of revenue or not. A deputy collectorate is the district within which an independent deputy collector is directed by Government to act.—Act VI., 1853, sec. v.

119. In cases of sales by an independent deputy collector, under the above-mentioned Regulations or Act, any notice thereby required to be stuck up at the cutcherry of the collector may be stuck up at the cutcherry of the deputy collector.—Act VI., 1853, sec. vi.

120. An independent deputy collector may exercise the powers assigned to him over any part of his deputy collectorate in public cutcherry, in whatever part of his deputy collectorate the same may be situate or held.—Act VI., 1853, sec. vii.

121. Any notice required to be given by advertisement to be stuck up at the cutcherry of the Zillah Court or local Adawlut, shall be stuck up at the Zillah Court or local Adawlut within the jurisdiction of which the lands to be sold, or the greater portion of them, as the case may be, shall be situate.—Act VI., 1853, sec. viii.

122. No order or decision already made in any summary suit, and no sale which has not been questioned before a Court of competent judicature before the passing of this Act [30th April, 1852], on the ground of having been decided or made by a collector of land revenue, his deputy or duly authorized assistant, having no jurisdiction therein, shall be liable to be annulled or disputed on that ground.—Act XXII., 1852.

123. No order, decision, or sale, made in the discharge of any of the duties aforesaid, before the passing of this Act [15th April, 1853], shall be disputed, or deemed invalid, upon the ground that the collector, deputy collector, or other officer making the same, was not the collector, deputy collector, or officer of the proper district; or upon the ground that the cutcherry at which notice of such sale was given was not the cutcherry of the proper district, unless proceedings shall, previously to the passing of this Act, have been commenced for the purpose of disputing the validity of such order, decision, or sale, upon such ground.—Act VI., 1853, sec. ix.

124. Paragraphs 112 to 118 shall not extend to any case in which a petition for the sale of any saleable tenure was presented on the 1st day of Bysack, 1260, of the Bengal era, nor to any case in which any proceedings were pending at the time of the passing of the said Act.—Act IX., 1853.

SCHEDULE.

I, A. B., collector of ——— zillah ——— (or exercising the powers of a collector in virtue of the powers vested in me by Act No. I., 1839), appoint you, C. D., commissioner for the sale of property distrained for the recovery of arrears of rent, in the manner prescribed by the Regulations of Government. You are to reside at E., in pergunnah F., and are to exercise the authority vested in you by these Regulations, or by any others which may be hereafter transmitted to you for your guidance, in strict conformity thereto; and are to keep a regular and complete record of your proceedings, to be produced when called for by me, or by the courts of justice. You are hereby authorized to remunerate yourself for your trouble by deducting and appropriating ——— per centum on the amount of the proceeds of sale.—Act I., 1839, Schedule.

DIVISION OF ESTATES.

1. The division of every zemindary, independent talook, or other estate paying revenue immediately to Government, which may be ordered to be divided into two or more distinct estates, and the apportioning of the fixed jumma on the whole of the estate on the several shares, are to be executed under the superintendence of the collector of the district in which the estate may be situated.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. iii.

2. If all the proprietors of a joint undivided estate shall be desirous to have their estate divided into two or more separate estates, they are to make a written application for that purpose to the collector of the district, under their seals and signatures, and attested by four credible witnesses, specifying the shares which belong to them respectively, and whether they are desirous of having separate possession of their respective shares, or whether any two or more of them propose to hold their shares as a joint estate. On receipt of the written application above noticed, the collector shall proceed to divide the estate into the number of shares requested, reporting the same to the Board of Revenue. All authorized expenses incurred in making the division are to be borne by the proprietors, in the proportion which the jumma of their respective shares, after the division has been completed, may bear to the jumma of the whole estate.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. iv., cl. 1.

3. If one, two, or more of the proprietors of a joint estate held in common tenancy shall be desirous to have separate possession of his or their respective share or shares, or if two or more of them shall be desirous to have their shares separated and to hold them as a joint estate, they are to make a written application for that purpose to the collector, under their seals and signatures, and attested by four credible witnesses. The collector, on receipt of the application, shall publish an advertisement, notifying the same to all parties concerned, and specifying that he shall proceed to make the division applied for in fifteen days from the date of the publication of the advertisement, unless any person or persons in possession of the estate, or any part thereof, shall, before the expiration of that time, deny, by a writing under his or their seals and signatures, and attested by two credible witnesses, the right of such claimant or claimants to the share or shares so claimed by him or them; in which case, the collector is not to proceed to the division until the disputed title be established in a Court of Justice, or admitted by the party or parties so disputing it, by a writing to that effect under his or their seals and signatures, and attested by four credible witnesses.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. iv., cl. 2.

4. In the event of no denial being offered to the claim for separation in the form stated, and within the period limited in the foregoing paragraph, the collector shall proceed to make the division applied for in the mode hereafter described, reporting the same for the information of the Board of Revenue; and all authorized expenses incurred in making the division are to be borne by the proprietors at large, in the proportions which the jumma of their respective shares, after the division has been completed, shall bear to the jumma of the whole estate. This last rule, however, is not to be understood to preclude the parties concerned from entering into a private adjustment among themselves of the proportions in which such expenses shall be severally borne by them; and whenever the whole amount demandable on that account shall be tendered to the collector by one or more of the parties, he shall receive the same accordingly; and on the contrary, if the amount be not so tendered, he is to enforce the rule as above laid down, and is to levy the amount (if it be not paid) by the same process against the sharer or sharers failing in the payment of their proportions as is prescribed for levying arrears of revenue.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. iv., cl. 3.

5. The whole of the above provisions for the division of estates held in common tenancy are to be considered equally applicable to the separation of portions of estates consisting of distinct mehauls. Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. iv., cl. 4.

6. Whenever the Courts of Justice may pass a decree awarding to any person the proprietary right in a portion of an estate paying revenue to Government (whether fractional or consisting of specific lands), and may issue a precept to the collector requiring him to divide the estate, and (provided it be not held khas or let in farm by Government) to put the parties in possession of the shares to which they may be entitled under the decree, they shall make it a general rule to direct, at the same time, that the party or parties who may have withheld the right so decreed shall defray the whole of the expense which may be incurred in the subsequent process of dividing, separating, and giving possession of, and apportioning the public revenue on the portion of the estate or lands so decreed. Provided, however, that if any special reasons shall appear for a deviation from this general rule, the Courts shall be at liberty to direct the expense in question to be defrayed by all or any of the parties to the decree, in such proportions as the Court passing the decree may, from a consideration of the particular circumstances of the case, deem equitable. Copies of all orders which the Courts may pass under this rule are invariably to be transmitted to the collector for his guidance, together with the precept which the Court may issue to him, requiring him to divide the estate, and to put the parties in possession of the shares to which they may be entitled under the decree.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. v.

7. If two or more estates that may have originally formed specific and ascertained portions of the same zemindary, talook, or chowdrai, shall come into the possession of one person, or if one, two, or more persons shall possess two or more shares of any such estate, such person or persons shall be entitled to have such shares united and to hold them as one estate. Application for the union of estates is to be made to the collector of the zillah in writing, under the seal and signature of the proprietor or proprietors, and attested by two credible witnesses; and the collector (provided he see no objection) shall comply with the application, and cause the necessary entries to be made in the records of his office, reporting the circumstances to the Board of Revenue.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. vi.

8. When a division of an estate shall be ordered to be made, each of the portions into which the property shall be directed to be divided shall be formed of entire and (as far as the situation of the lands and other local circumstances may admit) contiguous mehauls or villages, so that each estate may be as compact as possible. Provided that if the property so ordered to be divided shall not consist of a sufficient number of villages to admit of one or more whole village or villages being included in each estate, the division of the village or villages of which the property may consist is to be made, so as to render each estate as compact as possible.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. vii.

9. The public revenue shall be assessed on each estate into which the property shall be ordered to be divided in conformity with the rules prescribed in Regulation I., 1793, with respect to estates situated in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa; Regulation XXVII., 1795, in the province of Benares; Regulation XXV., 1803, in the Ceded Provinces; Regulation IX., 1805, in the Conquered Provinces; and with Regulation XII., 1805, in the province of Cuttack (see "SETTLEMENT"); but in selecting the mehauls or villages to be included in each separate estate, the advantages or disadvantages arising from situation, the vicinity of roads or navigable rivers, the nature and quality of the soil and produce, the quantity of waste land, the depth at which water may be procurable, the number of tanks, the state of the embankments and water-courses, and every other local circumstance affecting the present or likely to influence the future value of the lands, are to be duly considered, and the mehauls or villages to be included in each estate fairly and impartially selected accordingly.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. viii.

10. If a dwelling-house belonging to one sharer shall be situated in a mehaul or village which may be included in the estate of another, the proprietor of such house shall be at liberty to retain it, with the offices, buildings, and ground immediately attached to it, upon paying to the proprietor of the mehaul or village an equitable rent for the ground; and the limits of the ground, and the rent to be paid for it, shall be particularised in the paper of partition.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. ix.

11. Tanks, reservoirs, water-courses, and embankments, shall be considered as attached to the land for the benefit of which they were originally made. In cases in which, from the extent, situation, or construction of works of this nature, it shall be found necessary to continue them the joint property of the proprietors of two or more of the estates, the paper of partition is to specify, as far as circumstances may admit, the proportion of the benefit which each estate is entitled to derive therefrom, and of the expense of the repairs with which it is to be charged.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. x.

12. Places of worship that may have been held in common previous to the division of a zemindary or other estate, shall be continued on the same footing, unless the parties shall otherwise agree amongst themselves, in which case they are to signify their determination, in writing, to the aumeen, who shall insert it in the paper of partition.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xi.

13. When an estate shall be ordered to be divided, the collector shall appoint a creditable aumeen to make the division, who shall receive a per centage (as hereafter specified) on the amount of the jumma of the whole estate, as a remuneration for his trouble and the expense of establishment.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xii.

14. The collector is empowered and directed to administer the following declaration to the aumeen previous to his proceeding to make the division:—

"I, A. B., appointed to make the division of the estate of ———, in the zillah of ———, solemnly declare, that I will fairly and impartially, and as expeditiously as may be practicable, make the division of the property, and apportion the public revenue upon each distinct estate into which it is directed to be divided, to the best of my knowledge and judgment, according to the Regulations passed by the Governor-General in Council; that I will not, directly or indirectly, receive, or allow any other person to receive, any fee, present, or reward whatever, from any of the sharers, or any persons on their behalf, on account of the division, or any matter connected therewith; that I will not derive any advantage or emolument from my appointment, excepting such as may be expressly allowed to me and be authorized by this Regulation; and that I will deliver to the collector all such papers and accounts as may come into my possession respecting the estate which I am appointed to divide."—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xiii., cl. 1; and Reg. XVIII., 1817, sec. ii.

15. If the aumeen shall be convicted before the magistrate of the zillah of receiving or allowing any other person to receive, directly or indirectly, any money or effects, or other property, from the sharers, or from any person or persons on their behalf, in opposition to his affirmation, he shall be sentenced to pay a fine to Government of three times the amount of the money or value of the property so received by him, or by any other person with his permission, and to imprisonment not exceeding six months; and all prosecutions before the magistrate under this rule shall be for a criminal misdemeanour at the instance of the collector of the district, through the vakeel of Government. It is, however, at the same time hereby further declared, that the aumeen shall be also liable to a suit for the same offence in the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, and shall on conviction be compelled to restore the money or property to the party from whom it may have been received, with all costs to the party prosecuting, and be imprisoned until he shall make good the decree, or the amount of it shall be liquidated by the sale of his property.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xiii., cl. 2.

16. The collector is to deliver to the aumeen a sunnud of appointment under his official seal and signature, in which are to be specified the name of the estate, the names of the different sharers, their respective proportions, the number of separate estates into which the property is to be divided, and the shares included in each estate, together with a copy of the Regulations under which he is to make the division, and of any entries in the official records which may relate to the property to be divided. —Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xiv.

17. It shall be lawful for the Sudder Board of Revenue at Calcutta, with the sanction of the Governor of Bengal, and for the Sudder Board of Revenue at Allahabad, with the sanction of the functionary exercising the authority of Government in the North-Western Provinces, to fix the remuneration of an aumeen, or other person employed to effect a partition of an estate under the Regulations enacted for that purpose, and to cause the same to be levied from the parties concerned in the same manner as an arrear of revenue, at such periods, and in such proportions as the said boards may severally think fit.—Act XI., 1838, sec. ii.

18. Upon the arrival of the aumeen on the spot, he is to survey in person the different parts of the property, so as to enable him to select the lands to be included in each estate, in conformity to the rules prescribed in paragraphs 8 to 12.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xvi.

19. The proprietors, or their local naibs or representatives, are to furnish the aumeen with the accounts of the gross produce of each mehaul and village, and all other accounts or information requisite to enable him to assess the public revenue on each of the estates into which the property is to be divided, in conformity to the rules herein prescribed.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xvii., cl. 1.

20. The proprietors, or their local naibs or representatives, are to swear to the truth of the accounts before the aumeen; or if they shall be of the description of persons whom the Courts of Judicature are empowered to exempt from taking oaths, the collector is to authorize the aumeen to receive from them a solemn declaration to the truth of the accounts. If the proprietors shall omit to furnish the required accounts, the persons withholding them shall be liable to such daily fine until they produce them, as the Board of Revenue may judge it proper to impose, upon a consideration of the case and their situation and circumstances in life, and the amount of the fine shall be levied by the collector by the same process as is prescribed for levying arrears of revenue.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xvii., cl. 2.

21. The proprietors, or their local naibs or representatives, are likewise to cause the putwarries and other zemindary officers to attend the aumeen to explain the accounts, and furnish him with such information as he may require for dividing the estate and apportioning the public jumma, under the penalty of being fined in the same manner as for omitting to produce their accounts. Putwarries refusing to deliver their accounts, or otherwise acting contrary to the rules enacted for their guidance, shall be proceeded against according to the Regulations.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xvii., cl. 3.

22. When the aumeen has completed the division of the property and allotted the public revenue on each estate, he is to submit to the collector the papers of the division and allotment, which are to specify the names of the mehauls or villages included in each separate estate into which the property may have been divided, the gross produce of each mehaul and village for the three years preceding the year in which the division may be ordered to be made, and the proportion of the public jumma which he may have assessed thereon, with such observations regarding the manner in which he may have selected the lands included in each estate, and the accounts from which he may have apportioned the public revenue of them, as may be necessary for the information of the collector, together with a detail of the adjustment which he may have made respecting the tanks, places of worship, or other matters specified in paragraphs 10 to 12.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xviii.

23. The collector shall examine the documents which may be delivered to him by the aumeen, and after receiving any objections or remarks which may be offered to him by the sharers in person or by their vakeels, he shall draw out a paper of partition, specifying the mehauls or villages included in the several estates into which the property may have been divided, the gross produce of each mehaul or village, the allotment of the public jumma upon each, the name or names of the proprietor or proprietors of each estate, and where an estate is to be held as the joint property of two or more persons, their respective shares in the estate, together with the stipulations which may have been made respecting any of the matters mentioned in paragraphs 10 to 12, and transmit a copy of the paper to the Board of Revenue, with such observations as may be necessary to enable them to judge whether the division of the property and the allotment of the jumma on each estate into which it may have been divided have been made agreeably to the Regulations.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xix., cl. 1.

24. Previously to forwarding the paper of partition as required by the preceding paragraph, the collector shall furnish the sharers with a copy of it. In the event of the whole of the sharers, by a written declaration under their seals and signatures, and attested by four credible witnesses, declaring their satisfaction with the partition statement so communicated to them, or in the event of none of the sharers offering any objection thereto within fifteen days after they shall have respectively received the copies delivered to them, the collector, on receipt of the general declaration of satisfaction in the former case, or in the latter, on the expiration of the period above stated, shall proceed to put the parties in possession of their respective shares, reporting the same to the Board of Revenue, and submitting to them a copy and translation of the partition statement and allotment of the assessment; but such allotment of the assessment shall not be deemed conclusive until it shall have been confirmed by the Board of Revenue, who are authorized to make any alterations therein which may appear to them necessary for the purpose of carrying into effect the proportionate rule of allotment prescribed in the Regulation cited in paragraph 9. The Boards of Revenue are severally empowered to confirm or make such alterations in the division of the property and the allotment of the public revenue on each estate, or other matters specified in the paper of partition, as may appear to them proper, except in cases of a reduction of the fixed assessment. The Board of Revenue may order further inquiries to be made before they pass their determinations on the division, in cases in which it may appear to them necessary.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xix., cl. 2.

25. In the event of any objections to the partition statement being offered by the sharers, or any one of them, within the period of fifteen days specified in the preceding paragraph, the collector shall not put the parties in possession, but shall transmit without delay a copy and translation of such objections to the Board of Revenue, together with a copy and translation of the partition statement, and of the whole, or such part of the aumeen's report as may be applicable to the points objected to, and such further information as may be necessary to enable the Board to form a satisfactory opinion on the case.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xix., cl. 3.

26. The determination of the Board of Revenue on the paper of partition shall be final; and the collector, on receiving notification thereof, shall put the parties in possession of their respective estates, and immediately make the necessary entries in the records of his office, after comparing the documents delivered by the aumeen with the former entries regarding the estate, and correcting or supplying any errors or omissions which may be discovered in those entries.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xx., cl. 1.

27. No objections from the sharers to the partition communicated to them by the collector in the first instance shall be received by the Board of Revenue, after the prescribed period of fifteen days, without good cause for the delay being shown to their satisfaction.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xx., cl. 2.

28. Whenever the objections to the collector's partition which may be preferred to the Board of Revenue shall clearly appear to be groundless, vexatious, and litigious, it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue to impose such fine upon the defaulter as may be deemed proper, on consideration of the circumstances of the parties and the nature of the case. Such fine shall be recovered by the same process as is prescribed for the recovery of arrears of Revenue.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xx., cl. 3.

29. If any of the sharers in a joint undivided estate shall, [by withholding the requisite accounts and papers, or] by any other voluntary act, impede or oppose the division of the estate, when the same may have been ordered and proceeded upon in the mode prescribed by the Regulations, the party or parties so offending shall, on the report of the collector to the Board of Revenue, be liable to such fine as the Board, on consideration of the circumstances of the case, may judge proper to impose, and the fine so ordered shall also be levied in the mode prescribed by the Regulations for the recovery of arrears of revenue. It is hereby further explained, that whenever a daily fine may be imposed under any of these rules [for the purpose of causing the delivery of accounts], or otherwise, and such fine may be imposed by the collector, the operation of such daily fine (provided it be approved by the Board of Revenue), or of such part thereof as may receive their approbation, shall commence from the date when the fine may have been first notified to the party on whom it is imposed; unless, in any case, it should be otherwise ordered by the Board of Revenue, or be otherwise provided by the original order of the collector.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxi. (NOTE.—The above rule, so far as it relates to the production of accounts, has been superseded by the rules in secs. xxviii. to xxxii., Reg. XII., 1817, and Act XX., 1848.)

30. In the cases specified in paragraphs 2 and 3, if all the proprietors of the estate to be divided shall agree to make the division themselves, and to allot the public jumma upon each estate and to adjust all other matters respecting the division agreeably to the Regulations, they shall present a petition to that effect, under their seals and signatures and attested by four credible witnesses, to the collector, who shall issue directions to the aumeen accordingly. But the proprietors shall produce the required accounts before the aumeen, and swear or subscribe a solemn declaration to the truth of them; and the division of the lands, and apportioning of the jumma, and every other matter relating thereto, shall be settled in the presence and subject to the inspection of the aumeen, who shall be responsible for the Regulations being in every respect observed. In like manner, if all the proprietors of the estate which may be ordered to be divided in the cases specified in paragraphs 2 and 3, shall agree to refer the division of the estate, and the apportioning of the public jumma and the adjustment of all other matters respecting the division, to an arbitrator or arbitrators, they shall present a petition to that effect to the collector, attested by four credible witnesses, and specifying the name of the arbitrator or arbitrators whom they may choose, and where two or more arbitrators are chosen, the name of the umpire. Upon the receipt of the petition, the collector shall direct the aumeen to cause the parties to execute arbitration bonds. The proprietors shall produce the necessary accounts before the arbitrators, and swear, or subscribe a solemn declaration to the truth of them, before the aumeen; and the division of the lands, and the allotment of the jumma, and every other matter relating thereto, shall be settled by the arbitrator or arbitrators, in the presence and subject to the inspection of the aumeen, who shall be responsible for his or their proceeding according to the Regulations. When the sharers, or the arbitrator or arbitrators in the cases above specified, shall have adjusted the division of the property and the allotment of the public jumma on each estate, and all matters relating thereto, and the whole shall have undergone the revision of the aumeen, he shall submit all the documents and papers specified in paragraph 22 to the collector, who upon the receipt of them shall proceed in the same manner as if the division had been made without the interference of the parties, or the arbitrator or arbitrators; and all the rules herein contained regarding divisions made solely by the aumeen, shall be held applicable to divisions made by the parties or arbitrators under this paragraph.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxii.

31. All the rules herein prescribed which relate to the expenses incurred in making a partition, shall equally apply to the remuneration of the aumeen who may be appointed to superintend the partitions made by the parties themselves or their arbitrators, under the provisions contained in the preceding paragraph; but with this difference, that the aumeen employed in superintending such private partitions shall only be entitled to receive one-half of the amount of remuneration which the aumeens employed in making public partitions are entitled to under paragraph 17.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxiii.

32. To remove, as far as may be possible, every inducement to fraud or partiality in the division of landed property, it shall be a rule, that where two or more of the estates shall consist of the same proportions of the whole property divided, the parties entitled to them shall (excepting in the case subsequently specified) draw lots for the divisions in the public cutcherry, before the collector, who shall be held responsible that in drawing the lots no unfair means are practised. Agreeably to this rule, if any landed property shall be ordered to be divided into four estates, each consisting of a four annas share or four-sixteenths, or into three estates, one consisting of an eight annas share or eight-sixteenths, and the other two each of four annas or four sixteenths, of the whole property, after the division and allotment of the public revenue and every other matter relating to the division shall have been finally adjusted, the proprietors of the four shares in the first case, and of the two four annas shares in the second, shall draw lots for the divisions, unless they shall settle amongst themselves which division of the property each party is to receive, and present a petition to the collector under their respective seals and signatures, and attested by two credible witnesses, specifying the divisions which each of them may have agreed to take, in which case the collector shall put them in possession of the divisions which they may respectively select.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxiv.

33. No butwarra, while in progress, shall be quashed by the Board of Revenue, or by any officer invested with the powers of the said Board, except as hereinafter provided.—Act XX., 1836, sec. ii.

34. It shall be lawful for the said Board, or for any of the said officers, to give six months' notice in writing of an intention to quash any butwarra; and such notice shall be affixed at the offices of the collector of the district and moonsiff of the jurisdiction within which the lands under partition, or part of those lands, may be situated; and if within six months after such notice, no party to the said butwarra shall deliver to the said collector a written declaration that he, the said party, objects to the quashing of the said butwarra, it shall be lawful for the said Board or the said officer to quash the said butwarra.—Act XX., 1836, sec. iii.

35. Every butwarra which, before the 1st day of October, 1836, may have been quashed by the said Board, or by any of the said officers, shall be taken by all Courts to have been lawfully quashed. —Act XX., 1836, sec. iv.

36. To guard against collusion or error in the distribution of the public jumma on landed property which may be ordered to be divided into two or more distinct estates, it is declared, that if it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Governor-General in Council, within ten years after confirmation of the partition, that the jumma was fraudulently or erroneously apportioned at the time of the division, he reserves to himself the power of ordering a new allotment of the jumma upon the several estates into which it may have been divided, conformably to the principles prescribed in the Regulations cited in paragraph 9, an estimate of the gross produce of each estate at the time of the division to be made agreeably to the best evidence and information which may be procurable respecting it; and further, of ordering the parties whose estates may appear to have been under-assessed to pay the sharers upon whose estates the assessment may have been excessive, the sum of which they may be found to have been defrauded by the over-assessment, and in the event of their omitting to discharge the amount, to cause it to be levied by the collector by the process prescribed for the recovery of arrears of revenue.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxv.

37. The period of ten years shall be calculated from the date on which the partition of the lands and allotment of the jumma may receive the confirmation of the Board of Revenue; and no such partition and allotment is to be considered to be final or valid (as in substance provided by the existing Regulations), until it shall have been formally and expressly sanctioned by that authority. —Reg. XI., 1811, sec. iv., cl. 1.

38. In like manner, tahoods executed for portions of estates, and the correspondent engagements, shall not be considered to constitute distinct estates until the acceptance of them shall have been formally and expressly sanctioned by the Government or the Board of Revenue.—Reg. XI., 1811, sec iv., cl. 2.

39. If any of the sharers in landed property ordered to be divided, from indisposition or other cause, shall be unable or shall not choose to attend the collector or the aumeen in person, in the cases required, they shall depute a vakeel duly appointed with powers to perform all such acts as they themselves are authorized or required to perform, until the division of the property shall be finally adjusted.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxvi.

40. If all the sharers in landed property ordered to be divided shall be females not deemed competent to the management of their own estates, or minors, or persons otherwise disqualified for the charge of their own lands, the collector shall report the same to the Board of Revenue, who are enjoined to be careful that the rights of such proprietors are duly attended to in the division. In instances where more proprietors than one possess an undivided estate, and part of such proprietors shall come under any of the descriptions of disqualified landholders above mentioned, having guardians, such guardians shall vote and act for them in all matters relating to the division of their lands.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxvii.

41. Landed property for the payment of the public revenue assessed upon which engagements have been or may be concluded with the proprietors, and which may be ordered to be divided under these rules, shall remain under charge of the manager appointed by the proprietors of joint undivided estates; and the whole of it shall be held answerable for the payment of the public revenue assessed upon it (except in the cases hereafter specified) until the division shall have been finally adjusted and ratified, and the proprietors put into possession of the distinct estates into which it may be ordered to be divided.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxviii.

42. In cases where the landed property to be divided is held khas or let in farm by Government, the partition, inasmuch as regards the allotment of the lands, shall be made agreeably to the rules herein prescribed, as far as they may be applicable to lands so circumstanced, and the farmer or the native collector of the revenue on the part of Government shall produce all the accounts and papers which he may possess respecting the lands, upon receiving a requisition to that effect from the aumeen. Such property, when divided, will be subject to the rules contained in the Regulations cited in paragraph 9.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxix.

43. In order to obviate doubts respecting the descriptions of joint estates to which the several provisions herein contained are meant to be applied, it is hereby explained, that the whole of the said provisions are applicable to joint estates held in common tenancy, viz., where all the sharers have a common right and interest in the whole of the estate, without any separate title to distinct lands or mehauls forming part of the estate held under one general assessment. Many of these provisions, however, such as those which direct a compact division of the lands, the selection of lands of equal value for the several sharers, and other circumstances relative to an equal partition of the estate, have evidently an exclusive reference to the division of landed property between tenants in common or copartners with equal rights in every part of the estate, and cannot be applied to portions of estates consisting of specific mehauls or lands held by purchase, or otherwise, from the former proprietor, and separable from his estate under the Regulations, subject to a proportionate allotment of the public assessment conformably to the rules prescribed in the Regulations cited in paragraph 9, but remaining annexed to the original estate, until the distinct assessment of the separable portion shall have been adjusted and separately engaged for. In such cases, the provisions herein contained which respect the adjustment of the assessment, the accounts to be delivered and examined for this purpose, the responsibility of the whole original estate until a distribution of the assessment shall have been finally determined and ratified, and the power which the Governor-General in Council reserves to himself of ordering a new allotment of the assessment, in the event of its being proved to his satisfaction, within ten years, that the allotment made was fraudulent or erroneous, are alone to be considered applicable with the further provisions herein contained. But all new allotments of the assessments in the cases herein referred to, as in all other cases whatever, shall be reported for the sanction of the Board of Revenue, and shall not be deemed conclusive or valid until confirmed by the Board, or in the event of any reduction of the fixed assessment, until approved by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxx.

44. A register, according to the annexed form, shall be kept in the English language of all confirmed partitions. This register shall merely show the name, the recorded proprietor or proprietors, and the jumma of the estate as it stood when the partition was commenced, with the names, the recorded proprietors, and the jumma of the several portions thereof made into distinct estates by the partition when confirmed, together with the date of the confirmation; and whenever any such distinct estate (created by partition) shall fall in balance, so as to require a sale of the land for the discharge of the arrear at any period within ten years of the date of the confirmation of such partition, it shall be the duty of the collector, by every means in his power, to trace the cause of such balance towards ascertaining whether it has arisen from any fraudulent or erroneous allotment of the assessment at the time of the division, and whatever may appear to be the cause, to make a special and full report upon the case to the Board to whose authority he may be subject, and who will determine, upon the receipt of such report, whether the sanction of the Governor-General in Council shall be obtained for directing a new allotment of the jumma upon the several portions into which the original estate was divided, or otherwise.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxxi.

45. With the view of discouraging all artificial delays in giving possession of their proper shares to sharers entitled to separation in joint estates held in common tenancy, it is hereby enacted, that whenever it shall appear to the Board of Revenue, that a partition duly proceeded upon is not or cannot be completed within the period originally fixed in the sunnud to the aumeen, by reason of any impediments thrown in the way of its completion by the party or parties holding possession of the estate, it shall be competent to the Board, upon an application being preferred to them to that effect by the sharer who is out of possession (either through the collector or directly to the Board), to direct immediate possession to be given to such sharer of a certain quantity of the lands of the estate, the assets of which shall be just sufficient (as far as the same can be ascertained) to produce the amount of the jumma payable by such sharer when separated (and which in all cases of fractional shares is of course known), with an advance of from fifteen to twenty per cent. (viz., ten per cent. for malikana, and not less than five nor more than ten per cent. for charges of collection) and no more. This possession is not, however, to be considered as a final allotment, but the partition is still to proceed in the regular manner, with the view to the adjustment of any inequalities of proportion which the assets of the lands thus delivered to the possession of the sharers may be ultimately found to bear to the assets of the estate at large, as well as the adjustment of all other points affecting the value of the several shares when divided, so that on the completion of the partition the final allotment of land to the several parties, separated according to the jumma payable by them, may in every respect be conformable to the rules prescribed in paragraphs 8 and 9.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxxii.

46. Whenever the partition of a joint estate held in common tenancy shall have been commenced or ordered to be made, whether on the direct application of the parties to the collector, or under a precept from a Court of Justice, if the estate should fall in balance at any time before the partition be completed and confirmed, it shall be in the option of any one or more of the sharers (whether in actual possession of their shares or otherwise) to tender to the collector his or their proportions of the balance due, which the collector shall receive and pass to the credit of his or their shares accordingly; and in the event of a sale of any part of the estate (yet undivided) becoming ultimately necessary for the liquidation of any remaining balance, the portion or portions of the defaulting sharer or sharers only shall be sold, and not those of the sharers who shall have paid their proportions of the balances; and, in all such cases, the partition shall go on and be completed for the benefit of the purchaser at the public sale, and who, on making the purchase, will be entitled to separate possession of the portion or portions of the estate which would have been allotted under the partition to the defaulting proprietors (and which in all such instances are to be sold entire), and will in every respect succeed to all their rights.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxxiii.

47. To provide also, as far as practicable, against any injurious consequences to individuals from delays and difficulties which are observed to attend the allotment of the public revenue upon specific mehauls forming part of an estate held under a general assessment, when ordered to be separated therefrom, the following rules are to be observed in regard to such mehauls.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxxiv., cl. 1.

48. Whenever the proprietor of a specific mehaul in a joint estate shall be entitled to separation under the Regulations, and the separation and allotment of the public revenue upon such distinct mehaul shall have been commenced upon, or ordered to be commenced upon, if the estate of which it forms a component part should fall in balance at any time previous to the completion and confirmation of such allotment, so as to require a sale of the whole or any portion of the estate, it shall be in the option of the proprietor of the mehaul in question (and to whom immediate possession thereof is to be given, if it be not already in his possession), to tender to the collector his share of the balance due, calculated on the proportion which the produce of such specific mehaul, with a deduction of from fifteen to twenty per cent. (viz., ten per cent. for malikana, and not less than five nor more than ten per cent. for charges of collection) may bear to the jumma of the whole estate. Upon such tender being made and the collector being satisfied, from the inquiries made by him and the evidence and documents before him, that the produce of the mehaul has not been underrated, he shall receive the amount tendered and pass it to the credit of the mehaul accordingly; and in the event of a sale of any part of the estate becoming ultimately necessary for the liquidation of any remaining balance, such sale shall be made with the expressed exception of the specific mehaul in question, and the separation and final allotment of the jumma thereupon shall go on and be completed in the prescribed manner, for the benefit of all the parties concerned therein. Provided, moreover, that if the payment made by the proprietor of the specific mehaul under this rule shall, on a final adjustment of the jumma of the parties, be found to exceed the true proportion of the balance demandable from him, such proprietor shall be entitled to repayment of the excess from the collector, who shall at the same time proceed to recover the amount thereof from the defaulting proprietor or proprietors (upon whom a less amount than their just proportions will have been levied) by the same process as he would recover any other arrear of revenue: or if it shall, on the contrary, appear that the proprietor of the specific mehaul has paid less than he ought to have paid, the deficiency shall be recovered from him, and any excess which may have been levied from the defaulting proprietor or proprietors shall be made good to them.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxxiv., cl. 2.

49. In the execution of the duties vested in the Board of Revenue by these rules, as in all other cases, they shall be guided by whatever special orders or instructions they may at any time receive from the Governor-General in Council, to whom they shall apply in all cases which they may consider unprovided for by the Regulations.—Reg. XIX., 1814, sec. xxxv.

PUTTEEDARY ESTATES, NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES.

50. Any putteedar or sharer of a joint undivided estate, having the exclusive and acknowledged right to and possession of one or more distinct village or villages in such estate, shall be at liberty, under the following reservations and exceptions, to cause the said village or villages to be separated from the general estate; and the jumma of such village or villages shall be allotted after an exact measurement of the lands comprised therein, by deducting from the gross produce thereof an allowance, according to circumstances, from five to ten per cent. for the expense of management, and ten per cent. of the net income of the proprietor, leaving the remainder as the jumma of Government. Provided always, that the quantity of land in actual cultivation at the time of separation be not less than five-sixths of the land capable of tillage in the said village or villages, and that no objection be offered to the fairness and adequacy of the assessment on the part of the other sharers in the general estate of which such village or villages formed a part.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. ii.

51. The account of the measurement directed in the preceding paragraph shall exhibit the whole of the actual gross produce of the lands, and shall be formed under the immediate superintendence of the collector. The original thereof shall be attested by the proprietor requiring the separation, the putwary of the village, the mirdahs, canongoes, and tehseeldar of the pergunnah. Copies of all such measurements shall be kept in the office of the canongoes, and annually bound in a book, to be attested with the official seal and signature of the collector, and then returned to those officers for deposit among their records.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. iii.

52. The measurement directed in paragraph 50 shall be made entirely at the expense of the party requiring the division; and the rules laid down in Regulation XIX., 1814, as far as they regard the mode of payment of persons employed in dividing lands, are to be applied in this case.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. iv.

53. Any putteedar in the actual possession and occupancy of a defined share in a joint undivided estate (whether such share be defined by a specific quantity of land, or a specified fractional part of a rupee or of a begah), who may be desirous of having a separate allotment made of the proportional jumma to which he would be liable in the proportion of his interest in the estate, shall be at liberty to prefer to the collector an application to this effect, and the collector, on receipt thereof, shall proceed to allot the separate assessment of such share, in the mode prescribed by paragraph 50, for the allotment of entire villages. Provided, however, that if the specific interest of the party in the estate shall be disputed by the other sharers, no separate allotment shall take place until his specific interest shall have been ascertained by award of arbitration, as provided in a subsequent part of these rules for claimants not in possession, or by the decree of a Court of Judicature.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. v.

54. Whenever all the occupant putteedars of a joint undivided estate shall desire or consent to an allotment of the jumma on the shares in their respective occupancy, and shall deliver to the collector, in writing, a petition signed by the whole of them, containing a statement of the proportional allotment affixed by themselves on each share, it shall be competent to the collector, with the approbation of the Board of Revenue, after having satisfied himself, by a minute and accurate inquiry, that the statement in question is the bonâ fide declaration of the subscribing parties, that the signatures are voluntary and authentic, and that Government is not liable to suffer in its interests by the measure, to take separate engagements for each puttee from the owner thereof, as a distinct proprietor, at the jumma so fixed by the putteedars conjointly; and no non-occupant putteedar shall be entitled afterwards to assent to or dissent from the allotment.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. vi.

55 Whenever all the occupant putteedars of a joint undivided estate shall desire such an allotment, but may not agree among themselves in regard to their respective proportions of the jumma so to be allotted, the collector, on receipt of an application to that effect under the seals or signatures of the whole of such putteedars, and after satisfying himself of the voluntary concurrence of all the subscribing parties, shall proceed to allot the proportional jumma of each respective share, by causing an actual and exact measurement to be made of the entire estate and of each share by an aumeen to be deputed for the purpose, or by the tehseeldar, canongoes, and mirdahs of the pergunnah; and the expense of such measurement shall be defrayed by all the putteedars in the proportion of their respective interests.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. vii.

56. The Board of Revenue shall instruct the collectors from time to time as to the mode by which the duties directed in the preceding paragraphs may be best conducted; and all divisions and allotments made under these rules shall be recorded in the canongoe's office, and attested by the parties and by the local mofussil officers, in the same manner as is directed by paragraph 51 in regard to the measurement of distinct villages. It is moreover to be understood, that all the provisions of the existing Regulations in regard to aumeens deputed by a collector shall be held applicable to aumeens deputed under paragraphs 50, 53, and 55.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. viii.

57. No division of a share in an estate or allotment of jumma therein shall be considered valid until expressly sanctioned by the Board of Revenue; and the Governor-General in Council reserves to himself the power of revising the assessments made under paragraphs 50, and 53 to 55, at any time within the period of ten years after the making thereof, on proof to his satisfaction of fraud, collusion, or gross error.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. ix.

58. Any person claiming to be a putteedar or joint sharer in an estate, but not having actual possession of any specific portion thereof, shall be at liberty to prefer his claim before the collector, who will thereupon serve on the party or parties who have engaged for the estate in proprietary right, a written notice setting forth the claim, and calling upon such party or parties for an admission or denial of the claim; and if the said party or parties admit, by a writing authenticated by his or their seal or signature, and attested by the canongoes, the right of the claimant to a specific portion of the estate, it shall be competent to the collector to give the claimant possession of such specific portion, and to proceed to a separate allotment of the jumma of such portion, under the provisions of paragraphs 50 or 53, according as such portion may consist either of one or more distinct village or villages, or of a defined share in the entire estate.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. x.

59. In the event of the claim being denied or the specific interest of the claimant being disputed, the collector shall recommend to the several parties to submit the matter in dispute to the arbitration of three or more of the neighbouring zemindars, assisted by the canongoes of the pergunnah; and on the parties consenting to appoint arbitrators, it shall be competent to the collector to tender to the parties for execution arbitration bonds in the form prescribed by Regulation XXI., 1803; and on the due execution of the arbitration bonds by the parties, to refer the matter for decision to the arbitrators; and all the provisions of the said Regulation shall be applicable to awards given by arbitrators appointed under this rule. Provided, however, that if either party refuse to concur in submitting the matter to arbitration, the claimant shall be left to prosecute his claim by regular suit in the Courts of Judicature.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. xi.

60. The arbitrators in all cases referred to them for amicable adjustment under the foregoing paragraph, and the Courts of Judicature in all suits for putteedaree shares of an estate, shall make it a rule, on giving a decision in favour of the claimant, to specify in the award or decree the precise share to which the claimant may be entitled, whether it consist of one or more distinct village or villages, or of a defined portion of the general estate. The collector, on production of such award or decree, shall proceed to the separate allotment of the jumma of the share thus awarded or decreed under the provisions of paragraphs 50 or 53, according as they may be respectively applicable to the case.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. xii.

61. After the separate allotment of the jumma upon any one or more share or shares of an estate, or upon all the shares of an estate, shall have been made in conformity to the provisions of paragraphs 50, and 53 to 55, according as the provisions of either may be applicable to the case, and shall have been confirmed by the Board of Revenue under paragraph 57, the share or shares upon which a separate proportion of the general jumma may have been so allotted shall not be held liable for any default or arrear of revenue, except such as may accrue on the separate proportion of jumma thus allotted upon such share or shares. And in the event of its being necessary to have recourse to a sale of lands for the recovery of any arrear of revenue due from such an estate, the share or shares from which the arrear may be due shall alone be liable to be sold.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. xiii.

62. In consideration of the peculiar nature of the putteedaree tenures to which these rules are meant to apply, it is hereby declared, that whenever the Board of Revenue shall deem it expedient not to proceed to the absolute sale of such defaulting share, it shall be competent to the said Board to authorize a conditional transfer of such share to the proprietor of any other share of the same general estate, by way of mortgage or conditional sale, for the amount of the arrear, or of such portion of it as may be equal to the value of the defaulter's share, or with a reservation for a further payment to the owner, if the value of the share, in the Board's judgment, exceed the amount of the arrears: and the defaulting proprietor or proprietors of the share so transferred, and his or their legal representative or representatives, shall be entitled to reclaim possession of such share or shares, on repayment of the consideration for which it may have been so transferred, with legal interest, at any time within five years from the date of the transfer.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. xiv.

63. If the person to whom such defaulting share shall have been so transferred shall, on tender of repayment before two competent witnesses, refuse to accept the same and to surrender possession of the land, the party tendering it shall be at liberty to deposit the amount in the Zillah Court; and the judge shall, on such deposit being made, proceed as is directed by Regulation XXXIV., 1803, in regard to the redemption of conditional sales by the act of the party. If payment of the principal and interest shall not be tendered within five years, the puttee will of course become the bonâ fide property of the mortgagee.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. xv.

64. No final process shall issue from the collector's office for the actual division of lands or allotment of jumma under any of the rules herein contained, until the parties soliciting such division or allotments shall have deposited with the collector a fee equal to one per cent. on the estimated gross produce of the land so to be divided, as soon as the same may have been ascertained, according to the provisions applicable to the case of such division or allotment.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. xvi.

65. The fee required in the preceding paragraph shall be annually accounted for to the Board of Revenue, who will, after inspecting the annual register directed to be prepared by paragraph 51, direct its appropriation to the benefit of the native officers, in such proportions as may appear proper, on a due consideration of the accuracy and industry of those officers in preparing the register, and the general execution of the duties prescribed for facilitating the division of landed property —Reg. IX., 1811, sec. xvii.

66. Nothing contained in the foregoing rules shall be construed to prevent persons availing themselves of the provisions contained in Regulation XIX., 1814, in cases in which they may not wish to apply for and obtain a separation of their puttees or shares under the present rules, or in cases in which these rules may not be applicable.—Reg. IX., 1811, sec. xviii.

LAND REVENUE.

REGISTRY OF ESTATES AND REVENUE RECORDS.

QUINQUENNIAL REGISTERS.

1. Every five years, the collectors of the land revenue in the several zillahs shall prepare a register of all the estates in their respective zillahs, of whatever denomination or description, the proprietors of which pay the public jumma or revenue assessed upon their estates immediately to Government.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. ii., cl. 1; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 1; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 1.

2. By the term estate is to be understood any land subject to the payment of public revenue, for the discharge of which a separate engagement has been or may be entered into with Government by the proprietor or by a farmer, or which may have been separately assessed with the public revenue, although no engagement shall have been executed to Government, as in cases where the estate may be held khas by a sezawul or other officer on the part of Government, or be managed by a serberakar for the benefit of a disqualified proprietor.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xiii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 2.

3. The names of the estates in each zillah are to be arranged in alphabetical order, according to the English alphabet.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. iii.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. iii.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

4. The names of the estates in each zillah shall be arranged according to the amount of the annual jumma assessed on each estate, commencing with the estate yielding the most considerable revenue to Government.—Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. iii.

---

5. Estates having names are to retain the names by which they are at present distinguished.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. iv.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. iv.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. iv.

6. Where it is the practice to vary the appellation of estates upon every change of the proprietors, such estates are henceforth to bear the names by which they are at present distinguished.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. v.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. v.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. v.

7. Estates that have not been distinguished by any particular appellation shall be named by the proprietor or proprietors, and shall henceforth retain the name which may be so given to them. If any dispute shall arise between the proprietors of a joint estate regarding the name to be given to the estate, it shall be determined by a majority of the proprietors, or in the event of the absence or disqualification of any such proprietors, by a majority of those present who may be qualified to vote; with this provision, that where the votes and interest in the estate may be equal, or the proprietor shall neglect to give a name to the estate upon the requisition of the collector, he shall name the estate without reference to the Board of Revenue.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. vi.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. vi.

8. Estates that have not been distinguished by any particular appellation are to be named by the proprietor or proprietors, and henceforth to retain the name which may be so given to them. If any dispute shall arise between the proprietors of a joint estate, regarding the name to be given to the estate, the collector shall name the estate without reference to the Board of Revenue.—Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. vi.

---

9. Where estates, in addition to their names, bear the distinguishing appellation of talook, tuppa, &c., they are to be placed on the register according to the initial letters of their names, and any such distinguishing appellations are to be inserted immediately after the names as follows:—

"Akberpore (tuppa or talook)," &c.

Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. vii., cl. 1.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. vii., cl. 1.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. vii. cl. 1.

10. Where a zemindary, talook, chowdrai, or other land tenure, from whatever cause, shall have been, or may be divided into a number of puttees or shares, each consisting of a specific and ascertained proportion of the original estate, and the putteedars or sharers shall have the separate possession of their shares, and shall have entered into distinct engagements with Government for the payment of the public revenue assessed upon their respective shares, so as to render each share a distinct estate, the shares are to be placed under the head of the zemindary, talook, chowdrai, or other land tenure, of which they originally constituted a part, as follows:

"Akberpore:
"Six annas,
"Three annas,
"Seven annas."—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. vii., cl. 2; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. vii., cl. 2; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. vii., cl. 2.

11. If any lands, villages, or mohauls in an estate, not forming an ascertained and specific proportion of the whole estate, shall have been or may be transferred, either by public sale or by any private act of the proprietor, and the new proprietor shall have entered into, or may execute separate engagements to Government for the public revenue, the lands so transferred (which, agreeably to paragraph 2, will form a separate estate) are not to be inserted under the head of the zemindary, talook, chowdrai, or other land tenure, of which they originally formed a part, as directed with regard to the estates described in the preceding paragraph, but they are to be considered as original and distinct estates, and to be named under the rules above prescribed for the naming of estates.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. vii., cl. 3; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. vii., cl. 3; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. vii., cl. 3.

12. If parts of the same estate shall be situated in different zillahs, and one engagement only shall have been executed by the proprietor to Government for the whole estate, in such case the portions in each zillah are to be registered as kismuts or parts of the estate, without any specification of the proportion that they may bear to the whole estate, which, under such circumstances, may not be ascertainable.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. vii., cl. 4; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. vii., cl. 4.

13. Under the head of each estate shall be specified the names of all the pergunnahs, or other local divisions, arranged as directed in paragraph 3, together with the exact number of villages or other subdivisions appertaining to the estate.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. vii., cl. 5; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. vii., cl. 4; Reg. V., 1800, secs. xi., xii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. vii., cl. 5.

14. Where estates consist of one, two, or more villages, not comprising a whole pergunnah, the name of the pergunnah in which the estate may be situated shall be specified.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. vii., cl. 6; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. vii., cl. 5; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. viii.

15. The collectors are enjoined to take the utmost care that the names of the pergunnahs (or other local divisions where there may be no pergunnah), as well as the number of villages or other subdivisions stated to be in each, are exactly conformable to the pergunnah register; and are to furnish their native officers appointed to prepare the counterpart registers with particular instructions for this purpose.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xi.

16. The name or names of the proprietor or proprietors of every estate shall be inserted opposite to the estate, and if the estate be let in farm, the name of the farmer is to be specified.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. ix.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. ix.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. ix.

17. The quinquennial register to be first formed for the zillahs in Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares, shall commence with the Bengal, Fusly, and Willaity, year 1202, and shall exhibit the estates in the several zillahs, and the required particulars respecting them, as they may stand at the commencement of that year, of the era current in each province. Upon this register being completed, a similar register shall be forthwith formed, to commence with the year 1197, and show the estates in the several zillahs or sircars as they stood at the commencement of that year of each era, being the first of the decennial settlement. The quinquennial register to be formed at the commencement of the year 1207 of the era current in each province, and every succeeding five years, is to exhibit the estates in each zillah as they may stand at that and each subsequent period.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. x.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. x.

18. The register to be first formed, and to commence with the Bengal, Fusly, and Willaity, year 1202, is to be numbered two; the register to be next formed, commencing with the year 1197 of each era, is to be numbered one; the register to be formed at the commencement of the year 1207 of the respective eras is to be numbered three; and every subsequent quinquennial register in the order in which it may be formed.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xi.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xi.

Ceded Provinces.

19. The periodical register to be first formed for the zillahs in the provinces ceded by the Nawaub Vizier to the English East-India Company shall commence with the Fusly year 1215, and shall exhibit the estates in the several zillahs, and the required particulars respecting them, as they may stand at the commencement of that year. Upon this register being completed, a similar register shall be forthwith formed, to commence with the Fusly year 1210, and show the estates in the several zillahs as they stood at the commencement of that year. The periodical register to be formed at the commencement of the Fusly year 1210, and every succeeding five years, shall exhibit the estates in each zillah as they may stand at that and each subsequent period.—Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. x.

20. The register to be first formed, and to commence with the Fusly year 1215, shall be numbered two; the register to be next formed, commencing with the Fusly year 1210, shall be numbered one; the register to be formed at the commencement of the Fusly year 1220, shall be numbered three; and every subsequent periodical register in the order in which it may be formed.—Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xi.

21. The register for each zillah is to be written on English paper, of the exact size of that on which the form hereafter directed to be prepared by the Board of Revenue may be written, and is to be bound up in one volume, on the back of which there shall be the following inscription:—"Register of estates paying revenue to Government in the zillah of ———, at the commencement of the year ———, Bengal (Fusly or Willaity) era ———, corresponding with the year of our Lord ———, Number ———."—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xii.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xii.

22. When the draft of the quinquennial register is completed, it is to be transcribed into a book of the prescribed dimensions, each leaf of which shall be previously paged, and be signed by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares], and on the last leaf of the book the judge is to specify in his own handwriting the number of pages contained in it; and no register shall be considered as authentic, but such as may be entered in a book so paged and attested.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xiii.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xiii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xiii.

23. It shall be the duty of the keepers of the native records to keep an exact counterpart of the English register in each zillah, in a volume of such dimensions as the Board of Revenue may prescribe, and which shall be paged, and be attested by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares], in the same manner as the books containing the English registers; and no other counterparts of the registers of estates shall be considered as authentic, but such as may be entered in a book so paged and attested.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xiv.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xiv.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xiv.

24. The counterpart registers are to be kept in the Persian language.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xv.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xv.; Reg. V., 1800, sec. xv.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xv.

25. For the purpose of recording the divisions of estates, or the transfers of estates, or portions of estates, or the union of estates that originally formed a part of the same zemindary, talook, chowdrai, or other land tenure which may take place during the five years subsequent to the forming of each quinquennial register, the collectors are to prepare a book, of such dimensions as the Board of Revenue may prescribe, and which shall be denominated the "Register of intermediate mutations in landed property," and have the following inscription on the back:—"Register of intermediate mutations in landed property between the commencement of the year ———, and the expiration of the year ———, Bengal (Fusly or Willaity) era." Previous to any entries being made in this register it is to be paged, and the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares] is to sign each leaf of it, and on the last leaf specify in his own handwriting the number of pages contained in the book. The collector shall cause to be entered in this register all divisions of estates, or transfers of estates, or portions of estates, and every union of estates which originally constituted a part of the same zemindary, talook, or chowdrai, that may take place during the five years subsequent to the formation of each quinquennial register, with the authority by which the same may have been made, and all the particulars necessary for making the required entries in the next quinquennial register, and shall attest the entry with his signature.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xvi.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xvi.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xvi.

26. The "Register of intermediate mutations in landed property," prescribed in the foregoing paragraph, shall include all alterations in any of the entries in the quinquennial registers which may take place within the periods at which these registers are directed to be prepared: all alterations in the amount of the annual revenue assessed upon estates should therefore be stated in the registers of intermediate mutations, whether proceeding from an allotment of the fixed assessment upon portions of divided estates, in conformity to Section X., Regulation I., 1793; Section VII., Regulation XXVII., 1795; and Section XXXVII., Regulation XXV., 1803 (see "SETTLEMENT," paragraphs 10, 145, and 190), or from an increase or decrease of the assessment upon any estate, as fixed at the period of the settlement, or subsequently thereto. In all such cases, the particulars of the allotment, increase, or decrease, are to be clearly stated in the register of intermediate mutations; and whenever an abatement of revenue may be inserted, the authority for such abatement is to be invariably quoted, with the date on which it may have been granted by the Governor-General in Council, and communicated by the Board of Revenue.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xiv.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xvi., cl. 2.

27. Whenever any estates, or portion of estates, shall be directed to be separated from one zillah and annexed to another, the collector of the zillah from which the separation may be ordered to take place is to transmit to the collector of the zillah to which the annexation is to be made, a copy of the entries in the last quinquennial register formed prior to the separation, which may relate to the several estates, or portions of estates to be separated; and of any entries respecting them in the register of intermediate mutations which may have taken place subsequent to the forming of the last quinquennial register. These documents are to be entered by the collector of the zillah to which the annexations may be directed to be made, in the register of intermediate mutations in his zillah, as materials for forming the next quinquennial register.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xvii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xvii.

28. The Governor-General in Council will direct the order for the separations and annexations specified in the preceding article to be notified to the Courts of Judicature from the jurisdiction of which the separation is to take place, and also to the Courts to the jurisdiction of which the annexation is to be made. Upon the arrival of the period when the separation and annexation is to be carried into effect, the collector of the zillah from which the separation may be made is to transmit to the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of his zillah, copies of the entries in the last quinquennial register and register of intermediate mutations, which may relate to the estates or portions of estates to be separated from his zillah, and the collector to whose zillah the annexation may be made, is to transmit copies of the above-mentioned entries (with which he is directed to be furnished by the preceding paragraph) to the judge of his zillah. Immediately upon the receipt of these papers, the Courts from the jurisdiction of which the separations may be made, are to transmit the papers, in the causes depending before them, which, in consequence of the separation, may become cognizable in any other Zillah Court, to such Court, and to cause notification thereof to be communicated to the parties in writing.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xviii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xviii.

29. To facilitate reference, as well as the preparing of the new quinquennial register at the end of every five years, the collector is to insert in the preceding quinquennial register, in red ink, opposite to the name of the estate in the property in which any alteration may have taken place, the number of the page in the register of intermediate mutations in which the alteration may be noted, and at the end of the note of the alteration in the last-mentioned register he is to insert, in red ink, the number of the page in which the estate may be registered in the quinquennial register; and every such entry shall be signed by the collector, who shall be responsible for the entry being truly and accurately made. The note of the alteration to be entered in the register of intermediate mutations is to specify the requisite particulars for completing the entries in the next quinquennial register, or refer to them if they be contained in the preceding quinquennial register. The collectors are strictly enjoined never to allow the register of intermediate mutations to fall in arrear, but to make the necessary entries immediately upon any mutation in property, or any separation or annexation of lands from or to their respective zillahs being notified to them through any of the channels specified in paragraphs 34 to 40.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xix.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xvii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xix.

30. A counterpart of the register of intermediate mutations in landed property is to be kept by the keepers of the native records, in the same form as the English register, and in a book, the leaves of which are, in like manner, to be paged and attested by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut. —Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xx.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xviii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xx.

31. When a quinquennial register shall have been transcribed fair into the book attested by the judge, as directed in paragraph 22, if it shall be discovered that the entries respecting any estate are erroneous or incomplete, or that there are any material inaccuracies of the transcriber, the entries are not to be altered or erased, but are to stand, and the collector is to cause the errors or omissions to be noted in the register of intermediate mutations, and attest the entry with his signature, and insert in red ink, opposite to the erroneous or incomplete entry in the quinquennial register, the number of the page in the register of intermediate mutations in which the errors or omissions are noted, and at the end of the note specify the number of the page of the quinquennial register in which the property may be registered. Errors, or omissions in the register of intermediate mutations are to be noted in a similar manner.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxi.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xix.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxi.

32. Erroneous or incomplete entries in the counterparts of the registers to be kept by the keepers of the native records are to be noted by them in the same manner as the collector is directed to note erroneous entries in the English registers. But the note of every such entry in the counterpart of the register of intermediate mutations in the Persian language shall, in addition to the attestation of the keepers of the native records, be signed by the collector.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxii.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xx.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxii.

33. If the proprietary right in an estate, or the part of an estate, shall be under litigation in a Court of Justice, at the time of forming the first or any subsequent quinquennial register, the party in possession is to be registered as the proprietor.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxiii.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxi.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxiii.

34. The collectors will be furnished, through the following channels, with the necessary information regarding the mutations in landed property, and the annexations to, or separations from, their respective zillahs, for making the requisite entries in the register of intermediate mutations.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxiv., cl. 1; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxii., cl. 1; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxiv., cl. 1.

35. The Zillah and City Courts are required by Section IX., Regulation IV., 1793, Section IV., Regulation VIII., 1795, and Section XI., Regulation III., 1803 ("PROCEDURE ON THE TRIAL OF ORIGINAL SUITS," paragraph 99), to transmit to them copies of all decrees that they may pass, or which may be sent to them to be enforced by the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, in any respect relating to the proprietary right in lands paying revenue to Government.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxiv., cl. 2; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxii., cl. 2; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxiv., cl. 2.

36. The Board of Revenue are to furnish them with the necessary particulars regarding all such lands as may be disposed of by them at public sale at Calcutta.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxiv., cl. 3.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec xxii., cl. 3.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxiv., cl. 3.

37. In cases in which lands may be ordered to be sold at their cutcherries, they will have in their own possession the authority for the sale, and all the necessary information regarding the property transferred.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxiv., cl. 4; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxii., cl. 4; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxiv., cl. 4; Reg. XXVI., 1803, sec. xxvii.

38. They will likewise have in their possession the requisite information respecting the division or the union of estates which may take place under Regulation XIX., 1814, that Regulation directing that the division and union of all estates are to be made under their superintendence.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxiv., cl. 5; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxii., cl. 5; Reg. XLIII., 1803, sec. xxiv., cl. 5.

39. By Section X., Regulation I., 1793, Section VII., Regulation XXVII., 1795, and Section XXXVII., Regulation XXV., 1803 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraphs 10, 145, 190), transfers of estates, or portions of estates, must be notified to them before the name of the new proprietor can be inserted in the register directed to be kept by these rules.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxiv., cl. 6; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxii., cl. 6; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxiv., cl. 6.

40. The keepers of the registers established by Regulation XXXVI., 1793, are required by that Regulation to furnish them with the particulars of all transfers of landed property that may be entered in their registers.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxiv., cl. 7; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxii., cl. 7.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxiv., cl. 7.

41. If a collector shall have occasion to require from the proprietor or the farmer of an estate, or from a putteedar distinct or common, or from a dependent talookdar or under-farmer, any information that may be necessary to enable him to form a quinquennial register, or to make the requisite entries in the register of intermediate mutations, and such person shall omit to furnish it by the time required, after having been served by the collector with a written requisition for that purpose under his official seal and signature, and shall not show sufficient cause for such omission, the collector may impose of his own authority such daily fine, to be payable daily until compliance with the requisition, as he may think adequate to the situation and circumstances in life of the defaulter, not exceeding in any case the daily fine of fifty rupees; and the amount of such fine, accruing due from time to time, may be levied without further confirmation, by the same process as is prescribed for the recovery of arrears of revenue.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxv.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxiii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxv.; Act XX., 1848, sec. i.

NOTE.—See additional rules in Act XX., 1848.

42. The collectors of the several zillahs are to transmit, as early as may be practicable, to the Board of Revenue, an attested copy of the quinquennial registers, both in the English and Persian languages, each in a book of the prescribed size, paged and attested by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah [the judge of the city in Benares], in the same manner as the original register, as directed in paragraph 22, and within one month after the expiration of the third, sixth, ninth, and twelfth months of the Bengal, Fusly, or Willaity year (according to the era current in their respective districts), an attested copy of the entries in the register of intermediate mutations that may have taken place during the three preceding months.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxvi.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxiv.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxvi.

43. The copies of the several registers which the collectors are required by the preceding paragraph to furnish to the Board of Revenue, shall be transmitted by the collectors at the periods therein specified, in the English and Persian languages, to the accountant of the Board of Revenue, who is to report to the Board any instances of the prescribed quarterly copies not having been received at the fixed periods, or of the quinquennial copies not having been received within the year at the commencement of which the quinquennial registers are directed to be prepared; and is to return to the collectors, for correction, any copies of registers received from them which may not have been prepared according to the prescribed form. The accountant is also to compare the assessment stated in the registers of estates paying revenue with the accounts of the permanent or existing settlements deposited in his office, as well as with any accounts or information which may from time to time be communicated to him by the Board of Revenue of any authorized alterations in the assessment, whether from allotments of the fixed assessment upon divisions of estates, or from any increase or decrease of assessment from whatever cause; and the secretary to the Board of Revenue is to be careful that the accountant is regularly informed of all such alterations which may be authorized. When the collector may have omitted only to quote the authority for such alterations in his register of intermediate mutations, the copy of the register is to be returned to him by the accountant to supply the omission; but if, in any case, it shall appear to the accountant that the collector has stated any alteration in the assessment of an estate without due authority, he is to report the same to the Board of Revenue, with any explanation given by the collectors, for such orders as may be necessary, or for the determination of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xvi.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxvi., cl. 2.

44. The Zillah and City Courts of Dewanny Adawlut are authorized, whenever they may have occasion to refer to any of the registers prescribed, to require from the collectors the production of the original register, or an attested copy of such part thereof as may contain the required information. The collectors, on the receipt of such requisition, are immediately to transmit the original register, if it can be sent without inconvenience, under the care of one of their native officers, in whose custody it is to remain till returned; or if the original register cannot be conveniently sent, are to transmit without delay an accurate copy of such part thereof as may be required, under the attestation of their official signature. In like manner, the Board of Revenue, on the requisition of the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, are to furnish any zillah register received by them which may be required by that Court; or a copy, attested by the signature of their secretary or accountant, of any part thereof which may be required. In the event of any register required by a Court of Justice not having been prepared, and the period fixed for its preparation having elapsed, the collector is to explain to the Court the cause of such register not having been prepared, and the explanation so given is to be transmitted by the Court receiving it to the Governor-General in Council Any person succeeding to the office of collector, or invested with the temporary charge of such office, is also required, immediately on his taking charge, to ascertain whether the prescribed registers have been duly prepared; and if not, to report the same to the Board of Revenue, with any explanation he may have received of the omission, for the information of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xv.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxvi., cl. 3.

45. The Board of Revenue and the collectors are enjoined to be particularly attentive to the preservation of the quinquennial register and registers of intermediate mutations, both in the English and Persian languages; and they are directed to have the fair copies of each, which are to be deposited amongst the public records, bound up with such materials as may be best calculated to prevent their being destroyed by insects.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxvii.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxv.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxvii.

46. The Board of Revenue are to prepare forms for the quinquennial register and the register of intermediate mutations, so that the first-mentioned register may exhibit the required particulars respecting each estate, and as far as may be practicable, the sircars, pergunnahs, or other established divisions of the country in which the estates in the several zillahs may be situated, and after submitting the forms for the approbation of the Governor-General in Council, they are to circulate copies to the collectors. The approved forms are not to be altered without the sanction of the Governor-General in Council; but the Board of Revenue are to suggest any improvements in the forms that may occasionally occur to them; and in the event of their being adopted, they shall take place from the period fixed for forming the next quinquennial register, or at such other period as may be deemed advisable. Upon the receipt of this Regulation, the collectors are to proceed to collect the necessary papers and information for forming the quinquennial register, which is to commence with the year 1202 of the era current in each province [1215 in the Ceded Provinces], and to register all mutations in property in their respective zillahs that may take place subsequent to the receipt of the Regulation. When the quinquennial register for the above-mentioned year is completed, or earlier if practicable, the collectors are to proceed to prepare the quinquennial register, which is to commence with the year 1197 [1210 in the Ceded Provinces], the first of the decennial settlement, and to complete the register of intermediate mutations to the expiration of the year 1201 [1214 in the Ceded Provinces].—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxviii.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxvi.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxviii.

47. The quinquennial register to be formed in each of the zillahs in Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares, at the commencement of the Bengal, Fusly, and Willaity, year 1207, and in the provinces ceded by the Nawaub Vizier to the English East-India Company at the commencement of the Fusly year 1220, and at the commencement of every succeeding five years, is to be prepared from the preceding quinquennial register, and the entries of subsequent mutations in property in the register of intermediate mutations, with the omission or addition of any estates, or portions of estates, that may have been separated from the zillah or annexed to it, subsequent to the forming of the last quinquennial register; the materials for each quinquennial register will thus be ready upon the arrival of the period for preparing it, and the register will be completed by the mere transcript of them into the book arranged according to the prescribed form.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxix.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxvii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxix.

PERGUNNAH REGISTER OF MALGUZARY AND LA-KHIRAJ.

48. The collectors of the land revenue of the several zillahs, on receipt of this Regulation, shall proceed to form a register of all the lands in their respective districts, of whatever description, to be denominated "pergunnah register of lands, malguzary and la-khiraj," and to be prepared as hereafter directed.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. ii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxi.

49. The register shall contain a distinct head for each pergunnah; or where no pergunnah division may have been established, for such local division as may have been established instead of a pergunnah, whether a tuppah, turruf, or of whatever other known denomination; but wherever the pergunnah division may exist, the lands within such division shall be registered under the head of the pergunnah.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. iii., cl. 1; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxii., cl. 1.

50. The register of each pergunnah (or other local division where there may be no pergunnah) shall be divided into two parts, the one for malguzary lands, or lands assessed for the public revenue, the other for la-khiraj lands, or lands exempted from the public assessment.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. iii., cl. 2; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxii., cl. 2.

51. The malguzary part of the register shall comprise the following particulars of all lands within the pergunnah paying revenue to Government, to be specified distinctly for each estate situated therein.

1. Name of the estate to which the lands appertain, as entered in the register of estates paying revenue to Government, prescribed by paragraph 1, with a reference to the number under which the estate may have been entered in such register.
2. Name of the proprietor or proprietors of the estates as also entered in the register of estates prescribed by the preceding rules.
3. A detailed statement of the several villages, portions of villages, or other subdivisions of each estate within the pergunnah; with an accurate enumeration of them, for the purpose of being referred to in the register of estates, as provided in paragraph 15.
4. The ruckbah, or measurement of each village or other subdivision, whenever the same may be ascertainable by public measurements to settle disputes, or otherwise.
5. The gross rents of any village or other subdivision, which may have been ascertained by a khas collection, attachment, or otherwise.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. iii., cl. 3; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxii., cl. 3.

52. The la-khiraj part of the pergunnah register shall comprise the following particulars of all lands within the pergunnah not paying revenue to Government, to be specified distinctly for each la-khiraj tenure situated therein.

1. Denomination of the tenure as entered in the register of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue to Government, prescribed by Regulations XIX. and XXXVII., 1793; XLI. and XLII., 1795; and XXXI. and XXXVI., 1803 ("LA-KHIRAJ"), with a reference to the number under which the tenure may have been entered in such register.
2. Name of the holder or holders of the tenures as also entered in the register of exempted lands prescribed by the above Regulations.
3. A detailed statement of the several villages, portions of villages, or other subdivisions of each tenure within the pergunnah, with an accurate enumeration of them, for the purpose of being referred to in the register of exempted lands, as provided in paragraph 15.
4. The ruckbah, or measurement of each village or other subdivision, wherever the same may have been reported by the holders of la-khiraj tenures under the requisitions contained in the Regulations above mentioned, or may be otherwise ascertainable.
5. The gross rents of any village or other subdivision, the gross produce of which may have been ascertained.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. iii., cl. 4; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxii., cl. 4.

53. The first general pergunnah register shall be prepared for the current Bengal, Fusly, and Willaity year, 1207, in the districts wherein these eras are current respectively [Fusly, 1215 in the Ceded Provinces]; and shall exhibit the required particulars respecting the malguzary and la-khiraj lands in the several pergunnahs, as they stood at the commencement of that year, of each era, so as to correspond with the quinquennial register of estates paying revenue to Government, No. 2, and the periodical registers of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue, No. 2, which, by the Regulations above referred to, are ordered to commence with the year 1207 of the era current in each province [Fusly, 1215, in the Ceded Provinces]. This original pergunnah register is to be numbered 1. A similar general register is to be prepared at the commencement of the Bengal, Fusly, and Willaity year, 1212 [Fusly, 1220 in the Ceded Provinces], to be numbered 2; and thereafter, at the commencement of every fifth succeeding year, to be numbered in the order in which it may be formed.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. iv.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxiii.

54. For the purpose of recording any alterations in the particulars required to be entered in the quinquennial pergunnah registers, which may take place during the interval of five years, the period prescribed for the formation of them, an intermediate pergunnah register shall be kept under the same heads as directed for the general registers, in which all pergunnah annexations or separations, all divisions or transfers of estates, all new information obtained respecting the measurement or rents of land, all resumptions of la-khiraj exemptions, and generally all alterations in any of the particulars required to be entered in the pergunnah register of lands, malguzary and la-khiraj, shall be duly recorded, as soon as possible after such alterations may have taken place; with a note of reference to such parts of the last formed quinquennial register as may be affected thereby. Provided, however, with respect to all transfers or divisions of estates in which an allotment of the public assessment may be necessary, under the rules prescribed in Section X., Regulation I., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 10), or any other Regulation, that no such transfer or division shall be registered until the assessment has been allotted as required by the Regulations; nor shall any entry in the pergunnah register be considered to affect the rights of Government, either with regard to lands assessed with the public revenue, or the lands held exempt from such assessment.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. v.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxiv.

55. The Board of Revenue are to furnish the collectors of the several zillahs with a form for the pergunnah register, which is to be kept in the Persian language, by the keepers of the native records, with the assistance of such other native officers as may be appointed for this purpose. But the collectors are to attest every page of the register prepared by them after ascertaining that it is accurate; and are to cause the quinquennial register to be bound up, as soon as completed, in a volume or volumes of uniform dimensions, each leaf of which having been previously paged, is to be signed by the zillah judge (or by the city judge in the province of Benares), with a specification, on the last leaf of each volume, of the total number of pages contained in it, in the handwriting of the judge, as prescribed by the existing Regulations with respect to the other registers thereby required. The intermediate register is also to be bound up, paged, and attested, at the end of every Bengal, Fusly, or Willaity year, in the same manner as above directed with regard to the quinquennial register; and the collectors are enjoined to be careful that the intermediate register is at no time allowed to fall in arrear.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. vi.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxv.

56. The pergunnah register to commence with the current year [Fusly, 1215, in the Ceded Provinces] is to be prepared from the papers which have been already furnished by the proprietors and farmers of lands paying revenue, or by the holders of land exempt from the payment of revenue, for the registers of these lands respectively, required to be kept by paragraph 1, and by Regulations XIX. and XXXVII., 1793, and Regulations XLI. and XLII., 1795, and Regulations XXXI. and XXXVI., 1803 ("LA-KHIRAJ"), as well as from any other materials which may have been procured for the quinquennial registers of estates paying revenue and the periodical registers of exempted lands, directed to be prepared at the commencement of the current Bengal, Fusly, and Willaity year, 1207 [Fusly, 1215, in the Ceded Provinces]. Should any further papers or information be found requisite for the exact ascertainment of portions of estates situated within different pergunnahs, or the precise number and names of villages appertaining to the several estates in each pergunnah, or for the purpose of ascertaining any of the particulars to be specified under the three first heads of the malguzary part of the pergunnah register, or the four first heads of the la-khiraj part of the register, as stated in paragraphs 51 and 52, the collectors are authorized to require the same from the proprietors, farmers, and under-tenants of malguzary lands, or from the holders of la-khiraj lands, in the same manner as they are authorized by the Regulations above mentioned to require from such persons any information that may be necessary to enable them to form the registers therein prescribed, and under the same penalties for non-compliance. But the collectors are not to require from the proprietors or farmers of malguzary lands, or from their under-tenants, any papers or information respecting the measurement or rents of such lands, nor from the holders of la-khiraj lands any papers or information respecting the rents of lands of this description, for the purpose of entering the same in the pergunnah register; it being intended only that the measurement and rents of malguzary lands, and the rents of la-khiraj lands, should be entered in the register, when the same may be ascertained by public measurements, khas collections, attachments, or such other occasional means as may furnish the necessary information for completing these subsidiary heads of the pergunnah register, which are to be left blank until such information may be obtained.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. vii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxvi.

57. The information required to be furnished for the register of intermediate mutations in landed property and the register of intermediate resumptions or other occurrences respecting grants of exempted lands, will furnish the collectors with the necessary materials for the intermediate pergunnah register prescribed by paragraph 54; but if any further information should be requisite, they are authorized to require the same, under the provisions and restrictions specified in the preceding paragraph.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. viii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxvii.

58. The general register for the current year and subsequent intermediate register, if duly kept up, must furnish the collectors with full materials for the quinquennial pergunnah register to be prepared in the year 1212 [1220 in the Ceded Provinces], and at every future period. They are also to be careful to avail themselves of any occasional means of authentic information from public measurements, attachments, or otherwise; and it is expected that, in the course of time, their pergunnah registers will contain an accurate statement of the lands and rents throughout their respective districts. To promote the former object, they are further directed to note the boundaries of villages, or other subdivisions, whenever the same may be ascertained; and also, as far as practicable, the limits of the pergunnahs (or other local divisions where there may be no pergunnahs) within their respective collectorships. No change in the existing limits of pergunnahs, or in the mehauls composing them, is to be made by the collectors without the sanction of the Governor-General in Council; but if any collector should judge it expedient to alter the existing boundaries of a pergunnah, for the purpose of rendering it more compact, or otherwise, or to separate any village, talook, or other mehaul from the pergunnah to which it may be now attached, and annex it to any other pergunnah, he shall state his reasons at large for such alterations to the Board of Revenue, who will submit the same to the Governor-General in Council, with their opinion upon the expediency of the alterations proposed, for his determination. Provided that whenever any such pergunnah separation or annexation may take place, it shall in no respect affect the rights of the proprietor or occupant of any village, talook, or other mehaul included therein; and provided further, that the above restriction against the alteration of existing pergunnahs without the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, shall not be considered to preclude the collector from re-annexing to their proper pergunnah any mehauls which may have been separated therefrom by the landholders since the commencement of the Bengal, Fusly, or Willaity year 1197 [Fusly, 1209, in the Ceded Provinces], and formed into separate turruffs or otherwise.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. ix.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxviii.

59. Whenever any lands may be ordered to be separated from one zillah and annexed to another, the collector of the zillah from which the separation may be made is to transmit to the collector of the zillah to which the annexation is to be made, an attested copy of all entries relative to the lands transferred in the last formed quinquennial pergunnah register, as well as any entries relative thereto in the subsequent intermediate register, together with any other information that may have been obtained respecting such lands. These documents will enable the collector of the zillah to which the lands may be annexed to make the necessary entry of them in his intermediate pergunnah register, as well as in the new general register, that may be prepared by him.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. x.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xxxix.

60. Whenever any new village may be established upon lands paying revenue to Government, the name of which shall not have been included in the list of villages delivered to the collectors for the purpose of preparing the prescribed registers of these lands, the proprietor of the estate in which such new village may be situated, or the farmer if the estate be let in farm by Government, or the serberakar or khas-officer who may have the management of the estate, if it be a serberakary or khas mehaul, is to give notice to the collector immediately on the establishment of such new village, that the same may be entered in the public registers. In default thereof, or in the event of its appearing that any village or other portion of an estate subject to the payment of revenue has been wilfully omitted in the village statements which the collectors are authorized to require for the purpose of preparing the public registers, the village, or other portion of an estate so wilfully omitted, shall be liable to forfeiture to Government, if the statement which ought to have contained it shall have been furnished by the proprietor; or if furnished by a farmer, serberakar, sezawul, or other officer, the person who may have furnished the same shall be liable to a fine to Government, in such amount as the Governor-General in Council, on consideration of the circumstances of the case, may think proper to impose. The collectors are to report all cases of this nature to the Board of Revenue, who are to submit the same, with their sentiments, for the determination of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xx.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xl.

61. That the collectors may be regularly informed of all future changes in the property of malguzary estates or la-khiraj tenures within their respective zillahs, for the purpose of entering the same in the prescribed registers, all persons succeeding to the property of any malguzary estate or la-khiraj tenure, whether by inheritance, purchase, gift, or otherwise, are required to notify such succession, immediately after the same may have taken place, to the collector of the zillah in which the estate or tenure succeeded to may be situated; and to furnish such information as may be necessary to enable the collector to make the prescribed entries in the public registers. The collectors, on receiving the notification, are to make such inquiry as may appear necessary to ascertain the truth of the alleged succession to, or transfer of the property: and if the same shall appear to have taken place, are to make the requisite entries in the intermediate pergunnah register, in the intermediate register of mutations in lands paying revenue, and the intermediate register of occurrences respecting lands held exempt from the payment of revenue; provided, with regard to all such entries, that they shall not in any degree affect the rights of any party whose name may be registered therein as the ostensible proprietor of the land, or whose name may not have been registered as the proprietor, but who may establish a right of property in the Dewanny Adawlut, or otherwise. Any person succeeding to the property of a malguzary estate or la-khiraj tenure, who may not give the notification above required to the collector, or any person who may wilfully misrepresent to the collector his having succeeded to the property of an estate or tenure, to which, on inquiry, it may appear he has not succeeded, shall, for such omission or misrepresentation, be liable to a fine to Government, to be fixed by the Governor-General in Council on a report from the collector, through the Board of Revenue, of the nature and circumstances of the case. When the person succeeding to the estate or tenure may be a minor, or otherwise disqualified from giving himself the notice required, his guardian, or whoever may act for him in the management of the estate or tenure succeeded to, is to give the information required, under the prescribed penalty.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xxi.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xli.

62. A sufficient number of officers shall be appointed to assist the native record-keepers appointed under paragraphs 67 to 73 in keeping the pergunnah register herein prescribed, as well as the Persian counterparts of the registers of estates paying revenue, and lands exempted from the payment of revenue, and in preparing the copies of these counterpart registers directed to be transmitted to the accountant of the Board of Revenue. The collectors shall furnish the Board of Revenue with a statement of the additional establishments of native officers which they may consider indispensably necessary to enable them to perform the duties above mentioned, and of the allowances proposed to be granted to such officers respectively. The collectors are at the same time to report to the Board of Revenue what parts of their present establishments can be appropriated to the payment of such allowances, and whether they would recommend any of the native officers now acting under them to be employed as proposed. They are also to report whether any and what number of native writers will be required to keep up the English registers of estates paying revenue, and lands exempted from payment of revenue, in addition to their assistants, who are to be employed upon this duty as far as their other business will permit; and it is expected that the collectors themselves will give constant attention to the English registers for all entries in which they are declared responsible, particularly to the registers of intermediate mutations, resumptions, and other occurrences in which the utmost accuracy is essentially necessary, and the transactions entered in which being occasional only, the entries can be easily made by the collectors themselves in the original registers.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xvii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xlii.

63. On receipt of the reports required from the collectors by the preceding paragraph, the Board of Revenue are to submit to the Governor-General in Council the necessary establishments of native officers for keeping up the several registers prescribed; and if any additions to the present establishments should appear to them indispensably necessary for the purpose, they are to state the same to the Governor-General in Council for his determination. The officers so appointed, or who may be hereafter appointed for the purposes specified in the preceding paragraph, shall not be removable without proof of misconduct, to the satisfaction of the Board of Revenue. They are to be exclusively employed in preparing and copying the prescribed registers, whilst any part of these shall be in arrear; and after completing the register directed to be prepared for the current year, are, with the least possible delay, to complete the registers in arrear for former years; but the preparation of the current year's registers is not to be delayed for those of former years, unless the collectors shall judge it advisable in any instance, from the forward state of their registers for past years, or otherwise; in which case they are to report the same to the Board of Revenue, and to be guided by their instructions.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xviii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xliii. (NOTE.—The words underlined are omitted in the latter rule.)

64. No part of the preceding rules is to be considered to preclude any person who may deem himself entitled to any estate, or portion of an estate, paying revenue to Government, which may be entered in the periodical register, or the registers of intermediate mutations, as the property of any other person or persons, from suing for the same in the Court of Dewanny Adawlut in which the claim may be cognizable.—Reg. XLVIII., 1793, sec. xxx.; Reg. XIX., 1795, sec. xxviii.; Reg. XLII., 1803, sec. xliv.

Cuttack.

65. The collectors of the revenue in the zillah of Cuttack shall be guided, in preparing the different registers of landed property in that zillah, by the Regulations in force for that purpose in the province of Bengal; provided, however, that the first periodical register to be prepared shall commence with the Willaity year 1216, and shall exhibit the estates, and the required particulars respecting them, as they may stand at the commencement of that year. The periodical register to be formed at the commencement of the Willaity year 1211, and every succeeding five years, shall exhibit the estates as they may stand at that and each subsequent period.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. x.

66. The register to be first formed, and to commence with the Willaity year 1216, shall be numbered two; the register to be next formed, commencing with the Willaity year 1211, shall be numbered one; the register to be next formed at the commencement of the Willaity year 1221, shall be numbered three: and every subsequent periodical register in the order in which it may be formed. —Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xi.

REVENUE RECORDS AND RECORD KEEPERS.

67. An office shall be established in each zillah for keeping all records and papers in the native languages, which in any respect relate to the public revenue.—Reg. XXI., 1793, sec. ii.; Reg. XXX., 1795, sec. ii.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. ii.

68. The office shall be superintended by two natives, who shall form a part of the establishment of the collector, and shall be styled "Keepers of the revenue records in the native languages." They shall be appointed by the Governor-General in Council, and shall not be removable but for misconduct proved to his satisfaction. The office, however, is expressly declared not to be hereditary. —Reg. XXI., 1792, sec. iii.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. iii.

69. The keepers of the records are to keep a register, in the Bengal and Persian languages, in Bengal and Orissa, and in the Persian language in the other provinces, of all accounts, papers, and documents, in any respect relating to the public revenue, in a book or books which shall be paged, and each leaf of which shall be attested by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, and who shall insert in his own handwriting, on the last leaf of each book he may so attest, the number of pages contained in it. The accounts and papers now deposited in the several zillahs are to be first entered in the register, and the keepers of the records are to prepare a list of them, for that purpose, immediately upon the receipt of this Regulation.—Reg. XXI., 1793, sec. iv.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. iv.

70. The keepers of the records, or one of them, shall indorse on the back of every paper which may be registered, the number of the page in which it may be registered, and attest the indorsement with his or their official signature.—Reg. XXI., 1793, sec. v.; Reg XXIII., 1803, sec. v.

71. The keepers of the records are to be careful that the accounts and other records are not destroyed by insects, damp, or otherwise, and that they are not removed from the office of the collector without his express orders.—Reg. XXI., 1793, sec. vi.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. vi.

72. If any papers or records entered in the register shall be destroyed, in consequence of the neglect or any omission of the keepers of the records, or if any such records or papers shall not be forthcoming, and they shall not be able to give a satisfactory account of them, they shall be liable to dismission from their office.—Reg. XXI., 1793, sec. vii.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. vii.

73. The keepers of the records are enjoined to attend to all rules or orders respecting the duties of their office, which may be prescribed to them by any Regulation printed and published by order of Government, and also to any directions respecting the better keeping, preserving, or registering the accounts and other records of the zillah, which may be issued to them by the collector, under whose superintendence they are to perform the duties of their office.—Reg. XXI. 1793, sec. viii.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. viii.

FEES FOR REGISTRY.

74. Fees, at the following rates, shall be levied by the collectors of the revenue on the registry of any division or union of an estate or estates, or of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue. —Reg. XV., 1797, sec. ii., cl. 1; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. ix., cl. 1.

75. On any division of an estate, or union of estates, paying revenue to Government, that may take place under the Regulations, at the rate of one-quarter or four annas per cent. on the annual jumma of revenue payable to Government from the property included in the union or division.— Reg. XV., 1797, sec. ii., cl. 2; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. ix., cl. 2.

76. On any division of lands exempt from the payment of public revenue, or any union of such lands, forming originally part of the same grant, made by the proprietor or proprietors of the grant, at the rate of two and a half per cent. on the amount of the annual produce of the property included in the union or division.—Reg. XV., 1797, sec. ii., cl. 3; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. ix., cl. 3.

77. Fees, at the following rates, shall be levied by the collectors on the registry of any transfer of the whole or the part of an estate or estates, or lands held exempt from the payment of revenue, by deed of sale, or gift, or otherwise.—Reg. XV., 1797, sec. iii., cl. 1; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. x., cl. 1.

78. If the estate shall be subject to the payment of revenue to Government, one quarter, or four annas per cent. on the annual jumma or revenue payable to Government from the property transferred.—Reg XV., 1797, sec. iii., cl. 2; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. x., cl. 2.

79. If the lands shall be held exempt from the payment of revenue to Government, two and a half per cent. on the amount of the annual produce of the lands transferred.—Reg. XV., 1797, sec. iii., cl. 3; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. x., cl. 3.

80. Throughout these rules, by the annual jumma payable to Government is to be understood the amount of the revenue payable to Government, for the year in which the division, union, or transfer may be registered, according to the permanent settlement; or the engagements of the farmers, if the lands be farmed; or the estimated receipts, if no settlement of the lands shall have been concluded on the part of Government, either with the proprietors or with farmers; and by the annual produce of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue, is to be understood the amount of the rents received and receivable by the proprietor or the possessor of the lands, on account of the year preceding the year in which the division, union, or transfer, may be registered; and the person in possession of such accounts shall be bound to produce them on a written requisition from the collector, and shall be subject, for non-compliance therewith, to the payment of such daily fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, until the accounts be produced, as the collector may think proper to impose, on a consideration of the situation and circumstances in life of the party.—Reg. XV., 1797, sec. iv.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. xi.; Act XX., 1848.

NOTE.—See further rules in Act XX., 1848.

81. The amount of the fees and fines leviable under these rules shall be payable to the collector on his demand; and if not discharged, shall be leviable by the same process as the payment of arrears of revenue due to Government may be enforced.—Reg. XV., 1797, sec. v.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. xii.

82. No person shall be liable under these rules to the payment of a greater sum than one hundred rupees, on account of any transfer of an estate, or part of an estate, or of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue; or any division of an estate, or the union of any estates, or of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue; and accordingly, when the fee on any such transaction would, calculating according to the rates above prescribed, amount to a greater sum than one hundred rupees, the excess above that sum shall not be demanded or received.—Reg. XV., 1797, sec. vi.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. xiii.

83. The fees on the division of any estate, or the union of estates paying revenue to Government, leviable under paragraphs 74, 75, and 76, shall be paid, on the registry of the same, by the party or parties who are bound to pay the charges attending the division of estates, under the rules prescribed in Regulation XIX., 1814, and in the same proportions. If the property divided or united be lands held exempt from the payment of revenue, the fees shall be paid by the parties in whose names the property may be registered, in the proportion of their respective interests therein.—Reg. XV., 1797, sec. vii.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. xiv.

84. The fees on the transfer of landed property, by deed of sale, or gift, or otherwise, leviable under paragraphs 77, 78, and 79, shall be paid by the party to whom the property may be transferred, on the transfer being entered in the public registers of lands.—Reg. XV., 1797, sec. viii.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. xv.

85. All sums which may be received by the collectors under these rules shall be carried to the account of Government, and the collectors are required to grant receipts to the parties for the amount which may be paid by them respectively.—Reg. XV., 1797, sec. ix.; Reg. XXIII., 1803, sec. xvi.

LAND REVENUE.

COURT OF WARDS.

Lower Provinces.

1. The Board of Revenue was on the 20th August, 1790, constituted a Court of Wards, with powers to superintend the conduct and inspect the accounts of the managers of estates of persons disqualified for the management of their own lands.—Reg. X., 1793, Preamble.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

2. The Board of Revenue is hereby constituted a Court of Wards for the superintendence of the persons and estates of zemindars, and other actual proprietors of land paying revenue to Government, who are or may be disqualified for the management of their own lands in consequence of their coming under any of the descriptions of disqualified landholders specified in paragraph 6.—Reg. LII., 1803, sec. ii.; Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxix.

Benares.

3. Regulation LII., 1803, with the addition contained in Section XXIX., Regulation VIII., 1805, is hereby extended to the province of Benares, and the Board of Revenue is constituted a Court of Wards for that province, under the above rules.—Reg. VI., 1822, sec. ii.

General Rule.

4. The Commissioners of Revenue and Circuit appointed under Regulation I., 1829, shall, until otherwise specifically provided for by law, possess and exercise within the several districts comprised in their respective divisions, the powers and authority now vested in the Boards of Revenue and Courts of Wards, subject to the control and direction of a Sudder or Head Board, to be ordinarily stationed at the presidency, unless otherwise directed by the Governor-General in Council; and to such restrictions and provisions as the Governor-General in Council or the said Sudder Board, with his authority or sanction, may prescribe. And such of the provisions of the existing Regulations for defining the powers of the Courts of Wards, or of single members thereof, as may be inconsistent with the arrangements prescribed by Regulation I., 1829, are and shall be considered annulled.—Reg. I., 1829, sec. iv., cl. 1, and sec. vi.

Lower Provinces.

5. The superintendence of the Court of Wards extends to the persons and estates of all proprietors disqualified, under the rules prescribed for the decennial settlement, for the management of their own lands, viz., all proprietors of entire estates paying revenue immediately to Government, who are or may be females not deemed competent to the management of their own estates; as well as minors, idiots, lunatics, or others, rendered incapable of managing their estates by natural defects or infirmities of whatever nature. To prevent misconstruction, it is declared that, by the terms "all proprietors of entire estates paying revenue immediately to Government," are meant, every such disqualified person who may be the sole proprietor of an estate, and any two or more persons, being proprietors of the whole of an estate, both or all of whom may be so disqualified.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. ii.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces and Benares.

6. With the exception specified in paragraph 8, the superintendence of the Court of Wards shall extend to the persons and estates of all proprietors of entire estates paying revenue immediately to Government, who are or may be females not deemed by the Governor-General in Council competent to the management of their own estates, minors, idiots, lunatics, or others, rendered incapable of managing their estates by natural defects or infirmities of whatever nature; as well as all proprietors of such estates, who are or may be deemed disqualified on account of notoriously bad character. To prevent misconstruction, it is declared, that by the terms "all proprietors of entire estates paying revenue immediately to Government," are meant every such disqualified person who may be the sole proprietor of an estate, and any two or more persons, being proprietors of the whole of an estate, both or all of whom may be so disqualified.—Reg. LII., 1803, sec. iii.

General Rules.

7. The superintendence of this Court is not to extend to proprietors of estates not paying revenue immediately to Government, nor to joint proprietors of estates paying revenue immediately to Government, both or all of whom may not be of the descriptions specified in paragraph 5. To such proprietors, managers, and guardians, these rules are in no respect to be held applicable.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. iii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. iv.

8. The ordinary jurisdiction of the Court of Wards is declared to extend to such estates only as devolve to disqualified landholders, in the regular course of inheritance, on the demise of the party from whom they inherit the same; and all landed estates, whether subject to or exempt from the payment of revenue, which have or may become the property of any disqualified landholder by purchase, gift, or in virtue of any other right, excepting that of inheritance as aforesaid, are declared exempt from the jurisdiction and authority of the Court of Wards, and if subject to the payment of public revenue, shall be liable to sale for arrears thereof, and all other demands on the part of Government, in the same manner as if the proprietor or proprietors were not under any disqualification. Provided, however, that it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to commit to the charge of the Court of Wards any estate paying revenue to Government, being the sole property of any disqualified person, or of any two or more persons, both or all of whom may be disqualified, although the same shall not have descended to such person or persons in the regular course of inheritance as aforesaid, and also any la-khiraj lands belonging to such proprietor or proprietors, whenever the same shall appear to him for the interests of Government and the proprietor or proprietors; and such estate and lands so committed to the charge of the Court of Wards shall be exempt from sale for arrears of revenue accruing whilst they shall be under the charge of the Court, and shall be considered in all respects, as far as regards the management of them by the Court, the same as if they had devolved to the proprietor or proprietors in the regular course of inheritance as aforesaid, and the proprietor or proprietors shall in all respects be treated by the Court accordingly.—Reg. III., 1796, sec. ii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. vii.

9. The collectors of the revenue are to ascertain and report to the Board of Revenue, both now and hereafter, what proprietors in their respective zillahs may come within the descriptions of disqualified landholders specified in paragraph 5, and the following rules are prescribed for ascertaining the existence of the stated ground of disqualification in the first instance, and also for enabling proprietors of certain descriptions, who may have been declared disqualified, to recover the management of their estates when the ground of their disqualification may be removed.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. iv.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. viii.

10. If a proprietor of land shall be reported disqualified solely from being a female, the Board of Revenue, in their capacity of a Court of Wards, shall immediately proceed to take the estate under their care, reporting the circumstance to the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. v., cl. 1; Reg. LI., 1803, sec. ix., cl. 1.

11. The Court of Wards are empowered to invest female proprietors of land with the management of their own estates in cases in which the Court may be fully satisfied that they are competent to the charge from their capacity and habits of business. The Court are immediately to report to the Governor-General in Council every instance in which they may exercise the powers vested in them by this rule, with the grounds on which they may deem the proprietors qualified for the management of their lands.—Reg. L., 1793, sec. iii.; Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxix., cl. 3.

12. Female proprietors who may be exempted from the operation of the Regulations regarding disqualified landholders, in virtue of the rule contained in the preceding paragraph, are to execute the same engagements as other proprietors who are held qualified for the management of their lands.—Reg. L., 1793, sec. iv.; Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxix., cl. 4.

13. If a collector shall report a proprietor of land to be disqualified on the ground of minority, the Board of Revenue, in their capacity of a Court of Wards, provided they shall see no reason to doubt the nonage of the proprietor, are to take the estate under their care, and report the circumstances to the Governor-General in Council. If a collector shall report any proprietor to be a minor, and the proprietor, or any person on his behalf, shall deny that he is under age, such proprietor or person shall be at liberty to represent the circumstances to the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah wherein the estate may be situated, the judge of which shall forward the representation to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, which Court shall issue a precept, under the seal of the Court and attested by the register, to the judge of the zillah, to call the proprietor before the Court, and ascertain his age by the evidence, on oath or affirmation, of not less than three credible persons well acquainted with him, and also by such other inquiries as may appear to the Court calculated to ascertain the truth, and certify its proceedings, including any representations or evidence that the proprietor, or any person on his behalf, may have to adduce, with its opinion on the case, to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, which Court shall determine whether such proprietor be a minor or not. The decision of the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut shall be final, and the Court shall certify a copy of its decision to the Governor-General in Council, who will order the estate to be put under the charge of the Court of Wards or not, according as the proprietor may be adjudged by the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut to be a minor or otherwise.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. v., cl. 2; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. ix., cl. 2.

14. If a proprietor of land shall be deemed disqualified on the ground of lunacy, idiotism, or other disqualifying natural defect or infirmity, the Board of Revenue are to order the collector to represent the circumstances, through the vakeel of Government, to the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, the judge of which shall transmit a copy of the representation to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut. This Court shall issue a precept to the judge of the zillah within the jurisdiction of which the proprietor may reside, to bring him before the Court, to ascertain his actual state by ocular proof; and the Court shall further take the declaration, upon oath or affirmation, of no less than three credible persons acquainted with the party, setting forth their opinion of his condition, with the grounds of it. The Court is to transmit all its proceedings, with its opinion on the case, to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, which Court shall determine finally whether the stated ground of disqualification be well founded or not, and certify a copy of its decision to the Governor-General in Council, who will order the Court of Wards to take the estate of the proprietor under their care or not, according as the proprietor may be adjudged by the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut to be disqualified or otherwise.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. v., cl. 3; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. ix., cl. 3.

NOTE.—The parallel rule for the Lower Provinces in cl. 4, sec. v., Reg. X., 1793, was rescinded by sec. ii., Reg. VII., 1796.

15. If a proprietor of land shall be deemed disqualified on the ground of notoriously bad character, the Board of Revenue shall instruct the collector to submit a statement of the circumstances, through the vakeel of Government, to the judge of the Adawlut of the zillah, who shall forward it to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut. This Court shall issue a precept to the judge of the zillah to inquire into the circumstances of the case, in the presence of the party or his vakeel, who are respectively to be allowed to produce any evidence which they may have to adduce. The Court shall report the result of its proceedings, with its opinion on the case, to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, which Court shall finally determine whether the stated ground of disqualification be well founded or not, and report its decision to the Governor-General in Council, who will order the estate to be committed to the charge of the Court of Wards or not, according as the proprietor may be adjudged by the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut to be disqualified or otherwise.—Reg. LII., 1803, sec. ix., cl. 4.

General Rules.

16. Persons not born in a state of idiotism, but who may have been declared by the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut disqualified as lunatics, are to be produced annually before the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut in the jurisdiction of which they may reside, or oftener if he shall think fit, in order to ascertain whether they be restored to sanity or otherwise; and if, in any instance, the ground of disqualification shall appear to the judge to be completely removed, he shall immediately report the same, with a full relation of the circumstances of the case, to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, which Court shall finally determine whether the ground of disqualification be removed or not. The Court is to communicate its decision to the Governor-General in Council, who will order the Court of Wards to deliver over charge of the estate to the proprietor or not, according as the ground of his disqualification may be adjudged by the Court removed or otherwise.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. v., cl. 5; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. ix., cl. 5.

17. Any person who may have been adjudged disqualified, on any of the grounds specified in paragraphs 13, 14, 15, and who may deem the ground of his disqualification removed, shall be at liberty to represent the circumstances to the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, who shall forward the representation to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut. This Court shall issue a precept to the judge of the Zillah Court, to inquire into the case, and to receive such evidence as the disqualified proprietor may have to offer in support of his representation. The Court is to report the result of its inquiry, with its opinion thereon, to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, which Court shall determine finally whether the ground of disqualification be or be not removed, and report its decision to the Governor-General in Council, who will order the Court of Wards to restore the proprietor to the management of his lands or not, according as the ground of disqualification may be adjudged by the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut to be removed or otherwise.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. v., cl. 6; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. ix., cl. 6.

18. The several Courts of Wards are hereby vested with a discretion to refrain from interfering with the estates of minors, or other disqualified proprietors, in cases wherein they may deem their interposition unnecessary or inexpedient; provided, however, that no estate, the sole property of a minor, and descended to him by the regular course of inheritance, shall, during his minority, be sold for arrears of revenue accruing subsequently to his accession to the same: but the revenue authorities shall, on an arrear so accruing, be authorized to farm the estate for a period not exceeding ten years, and it will of course be competent to the Courts of Wards to assume charge of such estates at any time during the minority of the proprietor, notwithstanding they may have originally refrained from interfering.—Reg. VI., 1822, sec. iv.

19. The trusts of manager for disqualified landholders and guardian to them, are to be considered altogether distinct, but, as hereafter specified, they may in some instances be vested in the same person, and the rules contained in the following paragraphs, relative to managers and guardians respectively, are founded on this distinction.—Reg. X., 1793, section vi.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. x.

20. Where the trusts of manager and guardian are vested in different persons, the former is to have the care of the estates real and personal; the latter, the care of the person, maintenance, and if a minor, the education of the ward.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. vii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xi.

21. [The manager, who shall be denominated serberakar, shall be chosen by the collector, subject to the approbation of the Court of Wards; and his commission shall be signed by the collector and authenticated by his official seal. In recommending persons for this trust, capacity for the business, goodness of character, and sufficient responsibility, are to be particularly attended to.]* The managers of the estates of disqualified landholders shall be chosen without any regard to their connexion with the proprietors, or to the will of the disqualified proprietors themselves in the election of such managers, who are to be considered, in every respect, the officers of Government acting under the collectors; and the latter will be held responsible for the nomination of proper persons, both as to character and capacity for the trust.—Reg. VII., 1799, part of sec. xxvi.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xii. *(NOTE.—The words in brackets originally formed part of sec. viii., Reg. X., 1793, which section was rescinded by sec. xxvi., Reg. VII., 1799,—the provisions of the latter section, however, not being inconsistent with the first part of the rescinded section, the two were consolidated in the Oude Regulation.)

22. The manager, previous to the receipt of his commission, is to give security for his appearance during the continuance of it, and is to execute the following obligation:—

> "I, A. B., having voluntarily taken on myself the management of the estate of C., disqualified proprietor of D., do hereby solemnly promise and engage to manage the said estate diligently and faithfully for the said proprietor; to use every means in my power to improve the same for his or her benefit; and to act, in every respect, to the best of my judgment, for his or her interest, in like manner as if the estate were my own and I were acting for myself. I also promise and engage to render a true and just account of whatsoever may be received by me from or on account of the estate committed to my management; and in the event of it being proved that I have been guilty of any embezzlement, or of any abuse of trust injurious to the property of the above-mentioned proprietor, I do hereby bind myself, my heirs and successors, to make good treble the amount of the embezzlement or injury so proved against me. I further promise and engage to adhere strictly to such Regulations as may be passed for the guidance of managers by the Governor-General in Council, and to such orders as I may receive from the Court of Wards, and to derive no personal advantage whatever, directly or indirectly, from the trust committed to me, beyond the allowance by them granted to me."—Reg. X., 1793, sec. ix.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xiii.

23. An allowance to the manager, proportionate to the extent of his trust, and adequate to a full compensation for his trouble, is to be proposed by the collectors and fixed by the Court of Wards; and if it be proved, to the satisfaction of the Court of Wards, that any manager shall have appropriated to his own use, directly or indirectly, any sum of money, or other property, above his fixed allowance, he is declared liable for such embezzlement to the fine specified in his obligation, besides dismission from his trust; and the fine is to be appropriated to the benefit of the estate under his charge.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. x.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xiv.

24. An establishment of necessary officers, to act under the manager, is also to be proposed by the collectors and fixed by the Court of Wards. The persons to be employed on this establishment are to be nominated by the manager himself, but approved by the collector, who may object to such as may appear to him disqualified by character or otherwise, and require the manager to appoint others. These orders are to be considered applicable to the manager's sudder establishment, and also to his mofussil establishment, in estates of considerable extent, where mofussil officers may be necessary. Any officer, sudder or mofussil, who may be proved, to the satisfaction of the Court of Wards, to have appropriated to his own use, directly or indirectly, any sum of money, or other property, beyond his fixed allowance, is to be deemed guilty of embezzlement, and to be liable to the same fine as the manager in similar cases, besides dismission from his office.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xi.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xv.

25 The assessment of lands, the property of disqualified proprietors, is to be fixed in like manner as that of other lands; and the following orders have been passed for the guidance of the managers and collectors regarding the payment of this assessment, as well as respecting the general appropriation of the receipts of the managers from the lands under their charge.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xii., cl. 1; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xvi., cl. 1.

26. An allowance of ten per cent. on the public revenue assessed on the lands of disqualified proprietors, or of ten per cent. on the actual revenue paid to Government, in the event of the whole of the assessment not being realized, is to be fixed for the support of the proprietors, and such persons of their families as may be entitled to receive a provision from them, and the appointed manager of such lands shall be authorized to pay this allowance monthly, in proportion to his actual monthly payments of revenue to the collector, and no further. Instead of paying the whole of his receipts to the collector, he is to pay the monthly kists of Government's revenue only to the collector, or such part thereof as he may be able to discharge from his collections, after defraying the charges of his approved establishment and the allowance of the proprietors; but he is to deliver a monthly account current of his receipts and disbursements to the collector, who is to audit the disbursements therein specified, and see that the receipts, after defraying the necessary charges and providing the authorized allowance of the proprietor, have been fairly appropriated to the payment of the revenue due to Government. As the lands of disqualified proprietors are not held answerable for the payment of the revenue assessed thereon, in the event of the neat collections of any year proving inadequate to the payment of the fixed assessment, in addition to the allowance of the proprietor, and of there being a surplus collection in any future year, the collector shall take care that such surplus is appropriated to the discharge of the arrear due to Government, and the proportion of the proprietor's allowance which must also, according to the rule laid down, be at the same time in arrear; or if no such balance be outstanding, he shall see the surplus expended by the manager for the improvement of the lands, or otherwise for the benefit of the estate under his charge.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xii., cl. 2; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xvi., cl. 2.

27. By the foregoing rules, ten. per cent. on the revenue assessed or realized is fixed as the general allowance for the support of disqualified proprietors, and such persons of their families as may be entitled to receive a provision from them; but as, in some instances, this allowance may be more than adequate to the expense of suitably maintaining and educating minors, or maintaining other disqualified proprietors, as well as of making a provision for their relations entitled thereto; or, on the other hand, may not be sufficient for these purposes, in some instances where there may be other funds arising from la-khiraj lands, or other resources independent of the malguzary lands, which might be appropriated thereto, the collectors are vested with a discretionary power to reduce the ten per cent. allowance in the former case, and to increase it in the latter, as on a consideration of the rank and circumstances of the parties and the amount of their allowances and other income, they may think proper. They are, however, to report any instances of the exercise of this power in their monthly communications to the Court of Wards, and previous to authorizing any increase of the fixed allowance, are to ascertain with accuracy, that there are la-khiraj lands, or other resources independent of the malguzary lands, fully adequate to make good the same, without which no excess is to be admitted, unless the Governor-General in Council should think proper to grant a dispensation from the general rule, in any particular case that may appear to require it. In the event of any reduction of the allowance fixed for the support of disqualified proprietors, the difference is to be applied by the manager to the benefit of the estate under his charge, to which purpose he is also to apply the income arising from resources independent of the malguzary lands, which the collector, under the discretion above vested in him, may judge unnecessary for the education or maintenance of the proprietors, and the necessary provision of their relations entitled thereto.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xiii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xvii.

28. Where a distinct guardian may be appointed, as hereafter specified, the manager is to pay to him the amount of the allowance fixed for the maintenance or education of the proprietors, and of the provision for persons of their families entitled thereto, as well as the amount of any resources independent of the produce of the malguzary lands, which the collectors, under the discretion vested in them by the foregoing article, may think it proper to allot for these purposes.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xiv.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xviii.

29. Agreeably to the distinction laid down in paragraph 20, the manager is to have the entire care of the estate, real and personal. He will, therefore, have the exclusive charge of all lands, malguzary or la-khiraj, as well as all houses, tenements, goods, money, and moveables of whatever nature, belonging to the proprietor whose estate may be committed to his charge, excepting only the house wherein such proprietor may reside, the moveables wanted for his or her use, and the money allowed for the support of the proprietor, and his or her family entitled to a provision, which are to be left to the care of the guardian, where distinct guardians may be appointed. Both managers and guardians, on their receiving charge of any property, are to sign an exact inventory of the same, which is to be deposited in the treasury of the collectorship.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xv.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xix.

30. The manager, agreeably to the terms of his obligation, is to manage the estate committed to him diligently and faithfully, for the benefit of the proprietor, and in every respect to act to the best of his judgment for the proprietor's interest, in like manner as if the estate were his own. In instances, however, where he may act for a proprietor under age, not otherwise disqualified, he is not to grant any lease extending beyond the life of the proprietor, or contrary to Regulation XLIV., 1793 ("UNDER-TENURES"), or to dispose of any part of the permanent property committed to his custody, without the sanction of the Court of Wards.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xvi.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xx.

31. In addition to the monthly account current required in paragraph 26, the manager, at the expiration of every year, is to deliver to the collector an annual account current of his receipts and disbursements, upon oath, with vouchers for the latter (unless the Court of Wards shall be satisfied that it will be for the benefit of their general trust to admit the manager to deliver in such accounts under a solemn declaration of their being true and faithful accounts, in which case they are empowered to receive the accounts under such declaration instead of an oath), and the collector is to audit the disbursements, and take care that the whole of the surplus receipts be duly appropriated, in the manner specified in paragraph 26.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xvii.; Reg. LIII., 1803, sec. xxi.

32. Where portions of the same estate belonging to a disqualified landholder may be situated in different zillahs, the Court of Wards are empowered to authorize the monthly and annual accounts of the whole estate required to be furnished by the manager, to be rendered to the collector of the zillah in which the principal portion of the estate may be situated, instead of delivering separate accounts for each portion to the collector of the zillah in which it may be included.—Reg. L., 1793, sec. v.; Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxix., cl. 5.

33. In cases in which it shall appear to the Court of Wards that the produce of the estate of a disqualified proprietor is insufficient to provide for the expense of a separate establishment for the management of it, in conformity to the preceding rules, the Court are empowered to take such measures as, from the circumstances of the case, may appear to them best calculated for providing for the security of the public revenue and the maintenance of the proprietors of the lands.—Reg. L., 1793, sec. ii.; Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxix., cl. 2.

34. In cases in which, from the contiguity of a number of small estates belonging to disqualified proprietors, two or more of them can be conveniently superintended by one manager, the Court are empowered to entrust as many of the estates to the management of the same person as may appear to them advisable.—Reg. L., 1793, sec. vi.; Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxix., cl. 6.

35. If the collector should think it unnecessary or unadvisable to appropriate such surplus receipts to the improvement of the lands already under the manager's charge, he shall cause the same to be applied by the manager to the purchase of other landed property, or to interest loans on mortgages, or to the purchase of Government paper securities, as circumstances may render preferable; in which cases he shall transmit the title-deeds and mortgage-deeds of the land purchases or mortgages to the Court of Wards, to be deposited in the general treasury; but as interest will occasionally become payable on the Government paper securities, he shall deposit them in the public treasury under his charge, giving in all cases a receipt to the manager, as well for the title and mortgage deeds as the paper securities. The Court of Wards are also to obtain the sub-treasurer's receipt for the two former when deposited in the general treasury, and are to transmit an attested copy thereof to the collector, to be delivered by him to the manager. The manager shall also deliver any existing title or mortgage deeds or Government securities belonging to the estate under his charge to the collector, who shall, in like manner, return a receipt for the same, and transmit them to the Court of Wards, or deposit them in his public treasury as above directed. Any interest becoming payable on Government securities is to be paid to the manager, to be appropriated by him, in common with other resources, independent of the produce of the malguzary lands, as before mentioned.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xviii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxii.

36. Any just debts now outstanding against, or hereafter adjudged against the estates of disqualified landholders, must necessarily be satisfied (if required so to be by the creditors), as far as may be consistent with the rights of Government, to whom the produce of the malguzary lands is mortgaged, in the first instance, for the payment of the public revenue assessed thereon. The circumstances of all such debts, however, are to be immediately reported to the collector, and by him without delay to the Court of Wards, with his sentiments on the best mode of satisfying the same, for their instructions, previous to any payment being made by the manager in discharge of them. In the event of any debts being compounded for a less sum than the full amount, the estate is to be debited by the manager for the actual payment only.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xix.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxiii.

37. Agreeably to paragraph 20, it will be the province of guardians appointed for disqualified landholders to take care of the person, maintenance, and if a minor, the education of the wards.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xx.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxiv.

38. The rules contained in paragraph 21, for the election of managers, are to be applied also to the choice of guardians: with these differences, that the guardianship shall in no instance be entrusted to the legal heir, or other person interested in outliving the ward, and that female minors shall have guardians of their own sex. Further, under these restrictions, landholders whose heirs are disqualified may appoint guardians to such heirs by will in writing; and such guardians (provided they be duly qualified), if willing to accept the trust and execute the obligation hereafter specified, shall be preferred. Such testamentary appointments, however, shall in all instances be reported, with the sentiments of the collector, for the confirmation of the Court of Wards, and shall not be deemed valid till confirmed by them.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxi.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxv.

39. Landholders disqualified on account of minority, idiotism, lunacy, or other natural defect or infirmity, rendering them incapable of attending to the care of their own persons and maintenance, will alone require guardians. Female, as well as male proprietors, not so disqualified, may themselves receive and disburse the allowance fixed for their maintenance.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxvi.

40. For persons of the descriptions above mentioned, it is expected that some friend of the party will gratuitously discharge the trust of guardian, appropriating the fixed allowance to the maintenance, and if a minor, to the education also of the ward. Should it, however, in any instance, be found necessary to make a pecuniary compensation to a person to act as guardian, such compensation, after being approved by the Court of Wards, is to be provided from the allowance fixed for the maintenance of the ward.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxiii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxvii.

41. The guardian, previous to the receipt of his commission, is to give security for his appearance during the continuance of it, and is to execute the following obligation:

"I, A. B., having voluntarily taken on myself the guardianship of C., disqualified proprietor of D., do hereby solemnly promise and engage to execute the trust committed to me zealously and faithfully, to the best of my judgment, and according to the regulations which have been or may be prescribed for the guidance of guardians by the Governor-General in Council. I will conscientiously appropriate the allowance fixed for the maintenance, and (if the ward be a minor) the education of my ward, to his (or her) benefit, and will derive no advantage therefrom myself, directly or indirectly, beyond the compensation granted me for my superintendence. I also promise and engage to render a true and just account of whatsoever may be received by me on account of my ward above mentioned; and in the event of it being proved that I have been guilty of any embezzlement, or of any breach of trust injurious to his (or her) property, I hereby bind myself, my heirs and successors, to make good treble the amount of the embezzlement or injury so proved against me."—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxiv.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxviii.

42. An establishment of necessary servants, to act under the guardian, is to be proposed by the guardian to the collector, and fixed by the Court of Wards, and the several rules and restrictions in paragraph 23, regarding the establishments of managers, are to be considered equally applicable to the establishments of guardians. The expense of the latter is to be defrayed from the allowance fixed for the support of the proprietors.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxv.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxix.

43. The guardian is to deliver a monthly account current of his receipts and disbursements to the collector, who shall audit the disbursements therein specified, and see that the receipts have been fairly and duly appropriated. The guardian is also to deliver an annual account current upon oath (unless the Court of Wards shall be satisfied that it will be for the benefit of their general trust to admit the guardian to deliver in such accounts under a solemn declaration of their being true and faithful accounts, in which case they are empowered to receive the accounts under such declaration instead of an oath), with vouchers, to be in like manner audited by the collector; and in the event of any money remaining in his hands which the collector shall think unnecessary for the guardian's expenses in the ensuing year, he shall cause the same to be repaid to the manager, to be applied by him to the benefit of the estate under his charge.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxvi.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxx.

44. In cases of minority, where the minor may be a male, the superintendence of his female relations is not to be allowed after the expiration of the fifth year; and on his attaining the age of tuition, it must be the first care of the guardian to procure proper teachers to give him an education suitable to his situation in life.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxvii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxxi.

45. Minority, with respect to both Hindoos and Mahomedans, is limited to the expiration of the eighteenth year.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxviii.; Reg. XXVI., 1793, sec. ii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxxii.

46. The guardians of female minors who, agreeably to paragraph 38, are to be of the same sex, are also to take care that their wards, when arrived at the age of tuition, receive an education suitable to their condition.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxix.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxxiii.

47. The trusts of guardian and manager may be united in persons to whom the inheritance cannot possibly descend, if circumstances should render the same eligible; but in this case, the trustee shall be considered as acting in two distinct characters, and shall execute the obligations of both manager and guardian, and deliver the accounts required from each distinctly.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxx.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxxiv.

48. Both manager and guardian shall sign and seal all papers with their own names and seals, adding to the former their designation of manager or guardian. They shall on no account sign or seal the name of their ward, or of his (or her) deceased parents, but shall deliver all family seals belonging to the ward to the collector, to be deposited in the treasury of the collectorship.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxxi.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxxv.

49. Minors, and other disqualified landholders having guardians, as described in paragraph 39, shall not be sued but under the protection and joint name of their guardians; but in cases in which a guardian may be a party jointly with his ward in any civil suit, the securities required by the Regulations to be taken from parties in suits shall not be demanded from the guardian.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxxii., cl. 1; Reg. LV., 1795, sec. ii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxxvi., cl. 1; Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxix., cl. 7.

50. They may, however, during the term of their disqualification, sue the collectors, their guardians or managers, before the Court of Wards, for fraud, by any person willing to undertake their cause, provided he shall previously give security for the payment of all costs and damages in case of being nonsuited; in return for which, the person so suing shall receive any fine and costs that may be adjudged against the collector, guardian, or manager, in the cause undertaken by him. The Court of Wards may order the collector to inquire into and report upon any such charges against guardians or managers; but the collector is not to pass judgment, which is to be given by the Court of Wards. If the Court of Wards or the collector shall have occasion to require the attendance of any persons in the course of such inquiries, they shall make application to the judge of the proper Dewanny Adawlut to summon them to attend, and the Court of Wards and collectors are empowered to administer oaths or affirmations to such persons, if necessary, under the rules and restrictions prescribed to the Zillah and City Courts for the administration of oaths or affirmations. The Court of Wards are to transmit copies of any judgments which may be given by them, under this rule, against a collector, guardian, or manager, to the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, and they shall be considered as judgments of the Court and be enforced accordingly. An appeal, however, shall lie from such judgments immediately to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, provided the petition of appeal be preferred to the Zillah Court, or to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, or to the Court of Wards, within three months after the date of the decision; and the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut is empowered to admit an appeal after that period, provided the petition of appeal be presented to that Court, and the appellant shall show good cause, to its satisfaction, for not having preferred the appeal within the prescribed time.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxxii., cl. 2; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxxvi., cl. 2.

51. No adoption by disqualified landholders is to be deemed valid without the previous consent of the Court of Wards, on application made to them through the collector.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxxiii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxxvii.

52. When the collectors report to the Board of Revenue the disqualification of any landholder, they are at the same time to state the condition of the party, the particulars of his or her estate, real and personal, as far as can be ascertained, and the person who may appear to them most eligible for manager and guardian, with the grounds of such opinion. In cases of testamentary appointments of guardians, they are also to notice the same, adding whether there be any and what objections to the confirmation of such appointments.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxxiv.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxxviii.

53. The collectors are further to make such monthly or annual reports to the Court of Wards as may be required by them, and they, as well as managers and guardians, are to observe all instructions transmitted to them by the Court of Wards, not contrary to these or such other rules as may be hereafter enacted by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxxv.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xxxix.

54. If a proprietor shall have been declared disqualified and shall have been afterwards restored, or if the estate of any disqualified proprietor shall legally devolve to or come into the possession of any person not disqualified for the management of it, such proprietor, or his or her heir or successor, is declared entitled to sue the collector, the guardian (if such disqualified proprietor shall have had a guardian), or the manager, in the proper Zillah or City Court, for any acts done by them respectively whilst the estate may have been under the charge of the Court of Wards, in opposition to this or any other Regulation that may be hereafter enacted regarding disqualified proprietors and their estates, or to any order issued by the Court of Wards, or for any breach of their respective trusts. The rules regarding the suits specified in Section XXXIII., Regulation XIV., 1793 ("Realization of Revenue," paragraph 73), which the collectors are required to defend at their own risk and expense, are to be considered applicable to suits that may be instituted against collectors under this rule.—Reg. X., 1793, sec. xxxvi.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. xl.

55. The several Courts of Wards established within the territories subject to the presidency of Fort William are hereby declared competent to farm estates falling under their jurisdiction for a term not exceeding ten years, or to adopt such other form of management, not involving an assignment of the minor's interests, for a period exceeding the above, as may in their discretion seem most expedient; any thing in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding. It is hereby further declared and provided, that all farms heretofore made by or in pursuance of orders from the Courts of Wards, whether under the special authority of the Governor-General in Council, or under the Court's own construction of its general powers, shall, to all intents and purposes, be held and considered to be legal and valid, and no exception shall be taken or allowed by any Court of Justice against such farms, on the ground of there having hitherto been no rule in any Regulation published according to the provisions of Regulation XLI., 1793, specifically authorizing the practice.—Reg. VI., 1822, sec. iii., cl. 1.

56. Farmers and others holding under the revenue authorities, in their capacity of Courts of Wards, shall be subject to the same rules and regulations as are applicable to other persons holding similar tenures and interests under collectors of the land revenue.—Reg. VI., 1822, sec. iii., cl. 2.

57. The persons of disqualified landholders shall be exempted from arrest and confinement for arrears of revenue, incurred whilst their respective estates were under the charge of managers, in conformity to the rules herein contained. The collectors are also prohibited from ordering any disqualified female proprietor of land to attend them in person, under any pretext whatever.—Reg. XIV., 1793, sec. xlviii.; Reg. LII., 1803, sec. vi.

NOTE.—Estates under the Court of Wards are exempted from sale on account of arrears of revenue, by sec. x., Act I., 1845 ("REALIZATION OF REVENUE," paragraph 11). For rules as to the recovery of rent in estates under the Court of Wards, see "REALIZATION OF RENT," paragraphs 4 to 6.

LA-KHIRAJ AND MOCURRERY.

ORIGINAL RULES FOR GRANTS NOT BADSHAHI.

VALIDITY OF GRANTS.

Bengal, Behar, and Orissa.

NOTE.—Sec. xxiv., Reg. XII., 1805, enacts, that "all the provisions contained in Reg. XIX., 1793, which are not superseded" by any of the rules specially enacted for Cuttack, and which are inserted in their respective places in the following arrangement, "are declared to be in force in the zillah of Cuttack."

1. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, made previous to the 12th August, 1765, the date of the Company's accession to the Dewanny, by whatever authority, and whether by a writing or without a writing, shall be deemed valid, provided the grantee actually and bonâ fide obtained possession of the land so granted previous to the date above mentioned, and the land shall not have been subsequently rendered subject to the payment of revenue by the officers or the orders of Government. If it shall be proved, to the satisfaction of the Court, that the grantee did not obtain possession of the land so granted previous to the 12th August, 1765, or that he did obtain possession of it prior to that date, but that it has been since subjected to the payment of revenue by the officers or the orders of Government, the grant shall not be deemed valid.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. ii., cl. 1.

2. In the event, however, of a claim being preferred by any person to hold land exempt from the payment of revenue, under a grant made previous to the date of the Company's accession to the Dewanny, and of it being proved, to the satisfaction of the Court in which the suit may be instituted in the first instance, or to which it may be appealed, that the grantee held the land exempt from the payment of revenue previous to that date, but that it was subjected to the payment of revenue posterior thereto by an officer of Government, and the Court shall entertain doubts as to the competency of such officer, under the powers vested in him, to subject the lands to the payment of revenue, the Court shall suspend its judgment and report the circumstances to the Governor-General in Council, to whom a power is reserved of determining whether such officer was or was not competent to subject the land to the payment of revenue; and upon receiving the determination of the Governor-General in Council, the Court is to decide accordingly. No such claim, however, to hold exempt from the payment of revenue land that may have been subjected to the payment of revenue for the twelve years preceding the date on which the claim may be instituted, shall be heard by any Zillah or City Court, unless the claimant can show good and sufficient cause for not having preferred the claim to a competent jurisdiction within the twelve years, and proceeded in it, as required by Section XIV., Regulation III., 1793 ("CIVIL COURTS, CONSTITUTION AND JURISDICTION," paragraph 72).—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. ii., cl. 2.

3. But no part of the two preceding paragraphs is to be construed to empower the Courts to adjudge any person, not being the original grantee, entitled to hold exempt from the payment of revenue land now subject to the payment of revenue, under a grant made previous to the Company's accession to the Dewanny, the writing for which may expressly specify it to have been given for the life of the grantee only; or supposing no such specification to have been made in the writing, or the writing not to be forthcoming, or no writing to have been executed, where the grant, from the nature and denomination of it, shall be proved to be a life tenure only according to the ancient usages of the country.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. ii., cl. 3.

4. Nor to entitle the heirs of any person now holding land exempt from the payment of public revenue under a grant made previous to the Dewanny, to succeed to and hold such land exempt from the payment of revenue upon the demise of the present possessor, where the writing for such grant may expressly specify it to have been given for the life of the grantee only; or supposing no such specification to have been made in the writing, or the writing not to be forthcoming, or no writing to have been executed, where, from the nature and denomination of the grant, it shall be proved to be a life tenure only, according to the ancient usages of the country. Nor to entitle the heir to any such person to hold the lands exempt from the payment of revenue after his demise, supposing the writing for the grant not to specify whether it was to be considered hereditary or otherwise; unless it shall be proved, to the satisfaction of the Court, that the grant, from the nature and denomination of it, is hereditary according to the ancient usages of the country. But upon the demise of the present possessor of any such grant, which may be adjudged not hereditary under this rule, if it shall appear that one or more successions, in virtue of whatever right, shall have taken place before the date of the Dewanny, the lands shall not be subjected to the payment of revenue under the decree without the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to whom a copy of the proceedings and decree of the Court is to be transmitted, and to whom is reserved a power of of declaring the lands subject to the payment of revenue or not, as may appear to him proper.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. ii., cl. 4.

5. The present possessors of lands now exempt from the payment of revenue, under such life grants made previous to the Dewanny and declared by the preceding paragraph not to be hereditary, are prohibited from selling, or otherwise transferring them, or mortgaging the revenue of them for a longer period than their own lives, and all such transfers and mortgages are declared illegal and void. It is to be understood, however, that if any such life grants shall have been confirmed as hereditary tenures by Government, or by the officers of Government empowered so to confirm them, they are not to be liable to the payment of revenue on the death of the present possessor, and are to be excepted from the other rules contained in this and the preceding paragraph. If doubts shall arise in any Court as to the competency of the authority of any officer of Government to confirm any such life grant as hereditary, the Court is to suspend its judgment, and report the circumstances to the Governor-General in Council, to whom a power is reserved of determining, finally, whether such officer possessed competent authority to confirm the grant as hereditary or not, and the Court, upon receiving the determination of the Governor-General in Council, is to decide accordingly.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. ii., cl. 5.

6. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, which may have been made since the 12th August, 1765, and previous to the 1st December, 1790, corresponding with the 18th Aughun, 1197, Bengal era, the 10th Aughun, 1198, Fusly, the 18th Aughun, 1198, Willaity, by any other authority than that of Government, and which may not have been confirmed by Government, or by any officer empowered to confirm them, are declared invalid.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. iii., cl. 1.

7. If doubts shall be entertained by any Court as to the competency of the authority of any officer to confirm any such grant, the Court is to suspend its judgment, and report the circumstances of the case to the Governor-General in Council, to whom a power is reserved of determining, finally, whether the officer possessed competent authority to confirm the grant, or otherwise, and the Court, upon receiving the determination of the Governor-General in Council, shall decide accordingly.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. iii., cl. 2.

8. The rule contained in paragraph 6 is not to be considered to extend to authorize the subjecting to the payment of revenue land held exempt from the payment of it under grants made previous to the commencement of the Bengal year 1178, or the Fusly or Willaity year 1179 (according as the land may be situated in Bengal, Behar, or Orissa), under the signature of the chiefs of the late provincial councils and the seals of those councils, agreeably to an authority vested in them by Government for granting land to be held exempt from the payment of revenue, the annual produce of which did not exceed one hundred rupees.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. iii., cl. 3.

9. Nor to authorize the subjecting to the payment of revenue any land, the grants for which, whether for the life of the grantee or otherwise, were made previous to the commencement of the Bengal year 1178, or the Fusly or Willaity year 1179 (according as the land may be situated in Bengal, Behar, or Orissa), where the quantity of land granted shall not exceed ten begahs, and the produce of it is bonâ fide appropriated as an endowment on temples, or to the maintenance of Brahmins, or other religious or charitable purposes. This rule is declared to extend, also, to all grants of land whatever, not exceeding ten begahs, made previous to the Dewanny, the produce of which may be now so appropriated.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. iii., cl. 4.

10 to 15. [Section II., Regulation XLI., 1795.] Same as paragraphs 1 to 5, substituting "1st July, 1795," and "the date of the cession of the provinces of Benares to the Company," for "12th August, 1765," and "the date of the Company's accession to the Dewanny."

16. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, which may have been made since the 1st July, 1775, and previous to the beginning of the Fusly year 1196, by any other authority than that of Government, and which may not have been confirmed by Government or by any officer empowered to confirm them, are declared invalid.—Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 1.

17. [Clause Second, Section III., Regulation XLI., 1795.] Same as paragraph 7.

18. The rule contained in paragraph 16 is not to be considered to extend to authorize the subjecting to the payment of revenue any land, the grants for which, whether for the life of the grantee or otherwise, were made previous to the 1st of July, 1775, where the quantity of land granted shall not exceed ten begahs, and the produce of it is bonâ fide appropriated as an endowment on temples, or to the maintenance of Brahmins, or other religious or charitable purposes. This rule is declared to extend also to all grants of land whatever not exceeding ten begahs, made previous to the above date, the produce of which may be now so appropriated.—Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 3.

Ceded Provinces.

19. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, made previously to the 10th day of November, 1789, corresponding with the 15th day of Kautick, 1196, Fusly, or the 21st day of Suffer, 1204, Higeree, by whatever authority, and whether by a writing or without a writing, shall be deemed valid, provided that the grantee actually and bonâ fide obtained possession of the land so granted, and held it exempt from the payment of revenue previously to the date above mentioned, and that the land shall not have been subsequently rendered subject to the payment of revenue by the officers, or the orders of the Government. If it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Court, that the grantee did not obtain possession of the land so granted, or did not hold it exempt from the payment of revenue previously to the date above specified, or that he did obtain possession of it prior to that date, but that it has been since subjected to the payment of revenue by the officers or the orders of Government, the grant shall not be deemed valid.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 1.

20. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, which may have been made subsequently to the 10th day of November, 1789, and prior to the 1st day of January, 1801, by whatever authority, and which may have been confirmed or expressly admitted antecedently to the 1st day of January, 1801, by the authority of the existing Government, shall be deemed valid, provided the grantee actually and bonâ fide obtained possession of the land so granted, and held the same exempt from the payment of revenue previously to the 1st of January, 1801, and the land shall not have been afterwards rendered subject to the payment of revenue by the officers or the orders of Government. If it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Court, that the grantee did not obtain possession of the land so granted, or did not hold it exempt from the payment of revenue previously to the 1st of January, 1801, or that he did obtain possession of it prior to that date, but that it has been since subjected to the payment of revenue by the officers or the orders of Government, the grant shall not be deemed valid.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 2.

21. In the event of a claim being preferred by any person to hold land exempt from the payment of revenue, under a grant made previously to the 10th day of November, 1789, or under a grant made subsequent to that date, but prior to the 1st day of January, 1801, and confirmed or admitted by the authority of the existing Government, and of its being proved to the satisfaction of the Court in which the suit may be instituted in the first instance, or to which it may be appealed, that the grantee held the land exempt from the payment of revenue previously to the date specified, but that it was afterwards subjected to the payment of revenue by an officer of Government, and the Court shall entertain doubts as to the competency of such officer, under the powers vested in him, to subject the land to the payment of revenue, the Court shall suspend its judgment, and report the circumstances to the Governor-General in Council, to whom a power is reserved of determining whether such officer was or was not competent to subject the land to the payment of revenue; and upon receiving the determination of the Governor-General in Council, the Court is to decide accordingly. In like manner, the Governor-General in Council reserves to himself the power of determining, in cases of doubt, whether any officer of the Nawaub Vizier who may have made, confirmed, or admitted, grants of land exempt from the payment of revenue, in the name or on the part of the Nawaub, was competent to exercise such authority. The Courts of Judicature will accordingly suspend their judgment in cases of the above nature, and report the circumstances for the decision of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 3.

22. But no part of the three preceding paragraphs is to be construed to empower the Courts to adjudge any person, not being the original grantee, entitled to hold land now paying revenue to Government, exempt from the payment of revenue, under any grant made previously to the 1st day of January, 1801, the writing for which may expressly specify it to have been given for the life of the grantee only; or supposing no such specification to have been made in the writing, or the writing not to be forthcoming, or no writing to have been executed where the grant, from the nature and denomination of it, shall be proved to be a life tenure only, according to the ancient usage of the country.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 4.

23. Nor to entitle the heirs of any person now holding land exempt from the payment of public revenue, under whatever grant, to succeed to and hold such land exempt from the payment of revenue upon the demise of the present possessor, where the writing for such grant may expressly specify it to have been given for the life of the grantee only; or supposing no such specification to have been made in the writing, or the writing not to be forthcoming, or no writing to have been executed where, from the nature and denomination of the grant, it shall be proved to be a life tenure only, according to the ancient usages of the country. Nor to entitle the heirs to any such person to hold the lands exempt from the payment of revenue after his demise, supposing the writing for the grant not to specify whether it was to be considered hereditary or otherwise, unless it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Court, that the grant, from the nature and denomination of it, is hereditary, according to the ancient usages of the country. But, upon the demise of the present possessor of any such grant, which may be adjudged not hereditary under this rule, if it shall appear that one or more successions, in virtue of whatever right, shall have taken place before the 1st day of January, 1801, the lands shall not be subjected to the payment of revenue under the decree, without the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to whom a copy of the proceedings and decree of the Court is to be transmitted, and to whom is reserved a power of declaring the lands subject to the payment of revenue, or not, as may appear to him proper.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 5.

24. The present possessors of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue, under all life grants declared by the preceding paragraph not to be hereditary, are prohibited from selling, or otherwise transferring them, or mortgaging the revenue of them for a longer period than their own lives; and all such transfers and mortgages are declared illegal and void.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. ii., cl 6.

25. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall authorize the subjecting to the payment of revenue any quantity of land, not exceeding ten begahs, held exempt from the payment of revenue under a grant made prior to the 1st day of January, 1801, and bonâ fide appropriated as an endowment for temples, or for other religious or charitable purposes. Moreover, if any land so held and appropriated, exceeding ten begahs, shall become liable to assessment under the rules herein contained, and the judge of the Court before which the suit for the assessment of such land may be depending, or the collector of the district, if no judicial suit respecting it be depending, shall be of opinion that the immediate assessment of such land would be productive of distress, he shall report the same, with the circumstances of the case, for the consideration of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 7.

26. The Courts of Justice shall not take cognizance of any claim to hold exempt from the payment of revenue, either under the present Regulation or under Regulation XXXVI., 1803, land which may have been subjected to the payment of revenue for the period of twelve years prior to the 10th of November, 1801; nor of any claim to hold land exempt from the payment of revenue, which may have been subjected to the payment of revenue for the twelve years preceding the date on which the claim may be instituted, unless the claimant can show good and sufficient cause for not having preferred his claim to a competent jurisdiction within that period.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 8.

27. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, which may have been made since the 1st day of January, 1801, corresponding with the 19th Poose, 1207, Bengal era, the 1st Maug, 1208, Fusly, and the 19th Poose, 1208, Willaity, by any other authority than that of the British Government, and which may not have been confirmed by the Governor-General in Council, or by an officer empowered to confirm them, are declared invalid.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. iii., cl. 1.

28. [Clause Second, Section III., Regulation XXXI., 1803]. Same as paragraph 7.

Conquered Provinces.

29. Regulation XXXI., 1803, is hereby extended to the zillahs specified in Section III.; but instead of the dates stated in that Regulation, viz., the 10th November, 1789, and the 1st January, 1801, the following dates are substituted for the zillahs aforesaid, viz., the 1st January, 1792, or 22nd Poose, 1199, Fusly, in lieu of the 10th November, 1789; and the 1st January, 1803, or 23rd Poose, 1210, Fusly, in lieu of the 1st January, 1801.—Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxi.

Cuttack.

30 to 37. [Section XVIII., Regulation XII., 1805.] Same as paragraphs 19 to 26, but substituting "the 14th day of October, 1791, corresponding with the 30th Assin, 1198, Bengal era, the 3rd Cautick, 1848, Sumbut, and the 15th Suffer, 1207, Higeree," for "the 10th day of November, 1789," &c.; "the 14th October, 1803," for "the 1st January, 1801;" and "the Rajah of Berar" for "the Nawaub Vizier."

38. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, which may have been made since the 14th day of October, 1803, corresponding with the 29th Assin, 1210, Bengal era, the 14th Cautick, 1211, Fusly, the 29th Assin, 1211, Willaity, the 14th Cautick, 1860, Sumbut, and the 27th Jumadee-us-Sanee, 1218, Higeree, by any other authority than that of the British Government, and which may not have been confirmed by the Governor-General in Council, or by an officer empowered to confirm them, are declared invalid.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xix.

39. [Section XX., Regulation XII., 1805]. Same as paragraph 7.

40. This Regulation, as far as regards lands alienated previous to the 1st December, 1790, respects only the question whether they are liable to the payment of revenue or otherwise. Every dispute or claim regarding the proprietary right in lands alienated previous to that date, and which, in conformity to this Regulation, may become subject to the payment of revenue, is to be considered as a matter of a private nature, to be determined by the Courts of Dewanny Adawlut, in the event of any dispute or claim arising respecting it between the grantee and the grantor, or their respective heirs or successors. The grantees, or the present possessors, until dispossessed by a decree of the Dewanny Adawlut, are to be considered as the proprietors of the lands, with the same right of property therein as is declared to be vested in proprietors of estates or dependent talooks (according as the land may exceed or be less than one hundred begahs, as specified in paragraphs 45, 46, and 70 to 72), subject to the payment of revenue, and they are to execute engagements for the revenue with which their lands may be declared chargeable, either to Government, or to the proprietor or farmer of the estate in which the lands may be situated, or to the officer of Government (according as the revenue of the estate in which the land may be situated may be payable by the proprietor or a farmer, or collected khas), under the rules for the decennial settlement. If by the decision of the Dewanny Adawlut the proprietary right in the land shall be transferred, the person succeeding thereto is, in like manner, to be responsible for the payment of the revenue assessed or chargeable thereon.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. iv.

41. By continuing the proprietary right in the land to the grantee or possessor, in the cases specified in the preceding paragraph, instead of dispossessing him of the land altogether, agreeably to former usage, and assessing the land in the mode prescribed in paragraphs 45 and 46, a liberal provision will be left to him. Where the grant may have been made before the Bengal year 1178, or the Fusly or Willaity year 1179, the proprietor will hold his land as an estate paying a fixed revenue of only half the amount assessed on other malguzary lands in the country; and where the grant may have been made subsequent to the above-mentioned periods, he will hold the land as subject to the payment of the same revenue as other lands assessed with revenue, under the rules for the decennial settlement, as hereafter directed.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. v.

42. This Regulation, as far as regards lands alienated previous to the commencement of the Fusly year 1196, respects only the question whether they are liable to the payment of revenue or otherwise. Every dispute or claim regarding the proprietary right in lands alienated previous to that date, and which in conformity to these rules may become subject to the payment of revenue, is to be considered as a matter of a private nature to be determined by the Courts of Dewanny Adawlut, in the event of any dispute or claim arising respecting it between the grantee and the grantor, or their respective heirs or successors. The grantees, or the present possessors, until dispossessed by a decree of the Dewanny Adawlut, are to be considered as the proprietors of the lands, with the same right of property therein as is declared to be vested in proprietors of estates subject to the payment of revenue, and they are to execute engagements for the revenue with which their lands may be declared chargeable, either to Government, or to the proprietor or farmer of the estate in which the lands may be situated, or to the officer of Government (according as the revenue of the estate in which the land may be situated may be payable by the proprietor or a farmer, or collected khas), under the rules for the permanent settlement. If by the decision of the Dewanny Adawlut the proprietary right in the land shall be transferred, the person succeeding thereto is, in like manner, to be responsible for the payment of the revenue assessed or chargeable thereon.—Reg. XLI., 1795, sec iv.

43. By continuing the proprietary right in the land to the grantee or possessor, as specified in the preceding paragraph, instead of dispossessing him of the land altogether, agreeably to former usage, and assessing the land in the mode prescribed in paragraphs 53 and 54, a liberal provision will be left to him. Where the grant may have been made subsequent to the 1st July, 1775, and previous to the 31st August, 1781, the proprietor will hold his land as an estate paying a fixed revenue of only half the amount assessed on other malguzary lands in the country; and where the grant may have been made subsequent to the last-mentioned period, and previous to the commencement of the Fusly year 1196, he will hold the land subject to the payment of the same revenue as other lands assessed with revenue under the rules for the permanent settlement, as hereafter directed. Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. v.

Ceded Provinces.

44. This Regulation, as far as regards lands alienated previously to the promulgation of it, respects only the question, whether they are liable to the payment of revenue or otherwise. Every dispute or claim regarding the proprietary right in lands alienated previously to the promulgation of this Regulation, and which, in conformity thereto, may become subject to the payment of revenue, is to be considered as a matter of a private nature, to be determined by the Courts of Adawlut, in the event of any dispute or claim arising respecting it between the grantee and the grantor, or their respective heirs or successors. The grantees or their present possessors, until dispossessed by a decree of the Adawlut, are to be considered as the proprietors of the lands, with the same right of property therein as is declared to be vested in proprietors of estates subject to the payment of revenue: and they are to execute engagements for the revenue with which their lands may be declared chargeable, under the rule stated in paragraphs 61 and 62. If the proprietary right in the land shall be transferred by the decision of the Adawlut, the person succeeding thereto is, in like manner, to be responsible for the payment of the revenue assessed or chargeable thereon. —Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. iv.

ASSESSMENT OF RESUMED LA-KHIRAJ.

Bengal, Behar, and Orissa.

45. The revenue assessable, under paragraph 50, on land not exceeding one hundred begahs of the measurement that may prevail in the pergunnah wherein it may be situated, and whether lying in one village, or two or more villages, and that may have been alienated by any one grant made previous to the 1st December, 1790, and which may be adjudged or become liable to the payment of revenue, shall belong to the person responsible for the discharge of the revenue of the estate or dependent talook in which the land may be situated, notwithstanding any thing said in Section VIII., Regulation I., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 8); and he shall not be liable to the payment of any additional revenue on account of the assessment which may be chargeable on such lands, during the continuance of the engagement under which he may pay the revenue of such estate or dependent talook, when the land may be so adjudged liable to the payment of revenue. If the estate or dependent talook shall be held khas, when the lands are decreed liable to the payment of revenue, the amount is to be collected by, and paid to whomsoever the rents and revenue of the estate or talook may be payable, until a settlement shall be concluded for the revenue of it, either with the proprietor or a farmer. The land which may be so adjudged subject to the payment of the revenue is to be considered as a dependent talook.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. vi.

46. The revenue assessable, under paragraphs 47, 48, and 49, on land exceeding one hundred begahs of the measurement that may prevail in the pergunnah wherein it may be situated, and whether lying in one village, or two or more villages, and alienated by any one grant made previous to the 1st December, 1790, and which may be adjudged or become liable to the payment of revenue, is declared to belong to Government. The lands specified in this paragraph which may be adjudged liable to the payment of revenue are to be considered as independent talooks.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. vii.

47. The amount of the revenue payable from the lands specified in the preceding paragraph is to be adjusted according to the following rules.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. viii., cl. 1.

48. If the grant shall have been made previous to the Bengal year 1178, or the Fusly or Willaity year 1179 (according as the lands may be situated in Bengal, Behar, or Orissa), the revenue to be paid to Government shall be equal to one-half of the annual produce of the land, calculating according to the rates at which other lands in the pergunnah of a similar description may be assessed. If any part of the land shall be uncultivated, the proprietor is to be required to bring it into cultivation, and to pay such russud or progressive increase, to be regulated with a reference to the reduced rate of the assessment on the cultivated land, as the Board of Revenue, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council may deem reasonable. The produce of the land shall be ascertained by a survey and measurement, one-half of the expense attending which is to be defrayed by the proprietor, in the event of his agreeing to the jumma required of him, and the other moiety by Government; or by such other mode of investigation as the collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, may judge advisable. If the proprietor shall refuse to agree to the assessment, the lands are to be let in farm or held khas, under the rules prescribed in Regulation VIII., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT"). If the proprietor shall agree to pay the revenue that may be required of him, the amount shall not be liable to any variation in future, but he, and his heirs and successors, shall hold the lands at such fixed revenue for ever.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. viii., cl. 2.

49. If the grant shall have been made subsequent to the Bengal year 1178, or the Fusly or Willaity year 1179 (according as the lands may be situated in Bengal, Behar, or Orissa), the revenue or jumma to be paid to Government from the land shall be assessed agreeably to the rules prescribed in Regulation VIII., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT"), for forming the settlement of estates paying revenue to Government, and the produce shall be ascertained, and the expense of the investigation defrayed, in the manner specified with regard to the lands in the preceding paragraph. If the proprietor shall refuse to agree to the assessment, the lands are to be let in farm or held khas, under the rules for the decennial settlement. If the proprietor shall agree to pay the revenue that may be required of him, the amount shall not be liable to any variation in future, but he, and his heirs and successors, shall hold the land at such fixed revenue for ever.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. viii., cl. 3.

50. The rules in the preceding paragraph are to be held applicable to the lands specified in paragraph 45, with this difference, that the proprietor, farmer, dependent talookdar, or officer of Government to whom the revenue may be payable, shall ascertain the produce of the land without subjecting the grantee to any expense, and submit the accounts of it to the collector, who shall fix the revenue to be paid from the lands in perpetuity, reporting the amount for the confirmation of the Board of Revenue, who are empowered, in cases in which it shall appear to them proper, to increase or reduce the amount. If the proprietor shall agree to pay the revenue required of him, he, and his heirs and successors, shall hold the lands as a dependent talook, subject to the payment of such fixed revenue for ever.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. ix.

51. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, whether exceeding or under one hundred begahs, that have been made since the 1st December, 1790, or that may be hereafter made by any other authority than that of the Governor-General in Council, are declared null and void, and no length of possession shall be hereafter considered to give validity to any such grant, either with regard to the property in the soil or the rents of it. And every person who now possesses, or may succeed to the proprietary right in any estate or dependent talook, or who now holds or may hereafter hold any estate or dependent talook in farm of Government, or of the proprietor, or any other person, and every officer of Government appointed to make the collections from any estate or talook held khas, is authorized and required to collect the rents from such lands at the rates of the pergunnah, and to dispossess the grantee of the proprietary right in the land, and to re-annex it to the estate or talook in which it may be situated, without making previous application to a Court of Judicature, or sending previous or subsequent notice of the dispossession or annexation to any officer of Government; nor shall any such proprietor, farmer, or dependent talookdar, be liable to an increase of assessment on account of such grants which he may resume and annul during the term of the engagements that he may be under for the payment of the revenue of such estate or talook when the grant may be so resumed and annulled. The managers of the estates of disqualified proprietors, and of joint undivided estates, are authorized and required to exercise, on behalf of the proprietors, the powers vested in proprietors by this paragraph.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. x.

52. Proprietors or farmers of land, or dependent talookdars, who may deem themselves entitled to the revenue of any land of the description of that specified in paragraph 45, situated in their respective estates, farms, or talooks, are to institute a suit for the recovery of it in the Court of Dewanny Adawlut. Any proprietor or farmer of land, or dependent talookdar, or other person, subjecting such lands to the payment of revenue, without having previously obtained a judicial decree for that purpose, shall be liable to be sued for damages by the parties injured. Where estates or dependent talooks may be held khas, the right of suing for the recovery of the revenue from the lands specified in paragraph 45, is to be considered as vested in the party to whom the collections from the estate or talook may be payable. If the estate or talook be held khas by Government, the tehseeldar or other officer is to sue for the revenue chargeable on such lands in the room of the proprietor, but under the directions of the collector.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xi.

Benares.

53. The revenue assessable under paragraph 58 on land not exceeding fifty begahs of the measurement that may prevail in the pergunnah wherein it may be situated, and whether lying in one village, or two or more villages, and that may have been alienated by any one grant made previous to the Fusly year 1196, and which may be adjudged or become liable to the payment of revenue, shall belong to the person or persons responsible for the discharge of the revenue of the estate or putteedary in which the land may be situated, notwithstanding anything said in Section V., Regulation XXVII., 1795 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 143), and he shall not be liable to the payment of any additional revenue on account of the assessment which may be chargeable on such lands during the continuance of the engagements under which he may pay the revenue of such estate or putteedary, when the land may be so adjudged liable to the payment of revenue. If the estate or putteedary shall be held amauny or khas when the lands are declared liable to the payment of revenue, the amount is to be collected by and paid to whomsoever the rents and revenue of the estate or talook may be payable, until a settlement shall be concluded for the revenue of it, either with the proprietor or a farmer.—Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. vi.

54. The revenue assessable under the three following paragraphs, on land exceeding fifty begahs of the measurement that may prevail in the pergunnah wherein it may be situated, and whether lying in one village, or two or more villages, and alienated by any one grant made previous to the Fusly year 1196, and which may be adjudged or become liable to the payment of revenue, is declared to belong to Government, but is to be paid through the proprietor of the estate from which the alienation was originally made, under Clause Third, Section XIV., Regulation II., 1795 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 125).—Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. vii.

55. [Clause First, Section VIII., Regulation XLI., 1795.] Same as paragraph 47.

56. If the grant shall have been made previous to the 31st August, 1781, the revenue to be paid to Government [&c., as in paragraph 48, substituting "amauny" for "khas," and omitting the words "under the rules prescribed in Regulation VIII., 1793].—Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. viii., cl. 2.

57. If the grant shall have been made subsequent to the 31st August, 1781, the revenue or jumma to be paid to Government from the land shall be assessed agreeably to the rules prescribed in Regulation V., 1795, for forming the settlement [&c., as in paragraph 49, inserting the words "amauny or" before "khas," and the words "and quartennial" after "decennial"].—Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. viii., cl. 3.

58. The rules in the preceding paragraphs are to be held applicable to the lands specified in paragraph 53, with this difference, that the proprietor, farmer, putteedar, or officer of Government [&c., as in paragraph 50, substituting "puttee" for "talook"].—Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. ix.

59. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, whether exceeding or under fifty begahs, that have been made since the beginning of the Fusly year 1196 [&c., as in paragraph 51, omitting the words "or dependent talook," and "of joint undivided estates," and substituting "putteedar" for "dependent talookdar"].—Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. x.

60. [Section XI., Regulation XLI., 1795 ] Same as paragraph 52, substituting "putteedar" for "dependent talookdar."

Ceded Provinces.

61. The revenue assessable on all lands which shall be adjudged or become liable to the payment of revenue under the present Regulation, is declared to belong to Government.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. v., cl. 1.

62. The revenue payable to Government shall be regulated by the rules prescribed by Regulation XXVII., 1803 ("SETTLEMENT"), for concluding the settlement of lands paying revenue to Government; and by any subsequent rules which may be prescribed relative to the assessment of lands subject to the payment of revenue to Government. If the proprietor shall not agree to the assessment so fixed, a report of his objections, and of the circumstances of the case, shall be made by the collector of the district, through the Board of Revenue, for the information of the Governor-General in Council, who will determine on the amount of the assessment; and if the proprietor shall refuse to engage for the same, the lands shall be let in farm, or held khas, under the rules contained in the existing Regulations.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. v., cl. 2.

63. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue that may be made after the promulgation of this Regulation, by any other authority than that of the Governor-General in Council, are declared null and void [&c., as in paragraph 51].—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. vi.

64, 65. [Clauses First and Second, Section XXII., Regulation XII., 1805.] Same as paragraphs 61 and 62, substituting "this Regulation" for "Regulation XXVII., 1803."

66. The collectors of the revenue are to defend all suits that may be instituted against Government, by any individual claiming a right to hold lands exempt from the payment of public revenue, and such suits are to be defended by the vakeel of Government under the instructions of the collector; and in the event of Government being cast, either wholly or in part, or if the collector shall be dissatisfied with the decree in any respect, all the rules contained in Section XXX., Regulation XIV., 1793, Section XXXVI., Regulation VI., 1795; Section XXXIII., Regulation XXVII., 1803 ("REALIZATION OF REVENUE"), and the other sections in those Regulations respecting decisions given against a collector in any City or Zillah Court, in suits instituted against him by any proprietor or farmer of land, for sums of money demanded or actually received by him as arrears of revenue, are to be held applicable to such decree; with this difference, that the suit, from the commencement of it, is to be defended at the expense of Government, and in the event of the Board of Revenue not deeming it proper to order an appeal against the decision of the Zillah Court to be preferred to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, they are to report their reasons for not preferring the appeal to the Governor-General in Council, who will direct the cause to be appealed, or not, in either case, as may appear to him proper.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xv.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xv.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. x.

67. If it shall appear to any Court of Judicature during the course of a trial, that a grant for land to be held exempt from the payment of revenue, dated prior to the 1st December, 1790, has been forged, or that the name of the original grantee has been erased and any other name substituted, or that any name not in the original grant has been inserted, or that the denomination of the tenure in the original grant has been erased or altered, or that the date of the grant has been changed, or that the grant has been antedated, the grant shall be adjudged null and void, as far as regards the exemption of the land from the payment of revenue, and the land shall be subjected to the payment of revenue accordingly.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xvii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xvii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xii. (NOTE.—The Benares rule substitutes the date "beginning of 1196, Fusly;" the rule for the Ceded Provinces omits the date entirely.)

68. Any person by whom any of the frauds specified in the preceding paragraph may appear to have been committed, or who may have been concerned therein, shall, provided the Court is of opinion that there are sufficient grounds for a criminal prosecution, be committed or held to bail (according to the circumstances of the case), to take his trial before the Sessions Court.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xviii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xviii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xiii.

Grants Transferable.

69. Grants of land which, from the terms of the grant or the nature of the tenure, are hereditary, and are declared valid by these rules, or which have been or may be confirmed by the British Government, or any of its officers possessing competent authority to confirm them, are declared transferable by gift, sale, or otherwise; and all persons succeeding to such grants by whatever mode, are required to register their names in the office of the collector within six months after they may succeed to the grant. But all such purchases are to be considered as made at the risk of the purchaser; and in the event of the grant not proving to be hereditary, or not to have been made or confirmed by the British Government, or its officers possessing competent authority, the transfer is not to preclude the land from being subjected to the payment of revenue under these rules.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xx.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xx.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xv.

REGISTRY.

70. When land of the description specified in paragraph 46 shall be finally adjudged liable to the payment of revenue, the name of the pergunnah (or other local division where there may be no pergunnah), sircar, and soubah, in which the land may be situated, with the exact number of villages or other subdivisions comprised therein, as particularized in the pergunnah register directed to be kept by Regulations VIII., 1800, and XLII., 1803 ("REGISTRY OF ESTATES"), the amount of the public revenue payable therefrom, the name or names of the proprietor or proprietors, and a copy of the decree, are to be entered in the register of intermediate resumptions directed to be kept by paragraph 86; and opposite to such entry the collector is to insert, in red ink, the number of the page in the periodical register, directed to be kept by paragraph 73, in which the lands may stand recorded: and in the periodical register he is to specify, in red ink, the number of the page in the register of intermediate resumptions in which the decree adjudging the land subject to the payment of revenue, and the other entries above specified, may be inserted. These entries in the register of intermediate resumptions are likewise to be inserted in the register of intermediate mutations in landed property, paying revenue to Government ("REGISTRY OF ESTATES," paragraphs 25, 26), in order that the land may be recorded in its proper place as an estate paying revenue to Government, in the next quinquennial register which may be formed. The collector is to insert, in red ink, opposite to the entries relating to such lands in the periodical register and the register of intermediate resumptions, the number of the page in the register of intermediate mutations in which the above required entries may be made; and he is also to specify, in red ink, opposite to such entries in the register of intermediate mutations, the number of the page in the periodical register and the register of intermediate resumptions in which the entries respecting the lands may be

71. When land of the description specified in paragraph 45 shall be finally adjudged liable to the payment of revenue, the name of the pergunnah or other local division in which it may be situated, the name or names of the proprietor or proprietors, the amount of the jumma, and a copy of the decree, are to be entered in the register of intermediate resumptions; and opposite to such entry the collector is to insert, in red ink, the number of the page in the periodical register in which the lands may stand recorded; and in the periodical register he is to insert, in red ink, the number of the page in the register of intermediate resumptions, in which the decree adjudging the land subject to the payment of revenue, and the other entries above specified, may be inserted. The lands mentioned in this and the preceding paragraph not being liable to the payment of revenue to Government, no entry respecting them is to be made in the register of intermediate mutations, or the quinquennial register of malguzary estates.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxi., cl. 2; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxi., cl. 2; Reg. VIII., 1800, secs. xi., xii.

72. When land now subject to the payment of revenue shall be finally adjudged to be exempted from the payment of revenue, the name of the pergunnah (or other local division where there may be no pergunnah), sircar, and soubah, in which the land granted may be situated, with the exact number of villages, or other subdivisions, comprised therein, as particularized in the pergunnah register, the name or names of the proprietor or proprietors, the amount of the jumma, and a copy of the decree, are to be entered in the register of intermediate mutations, and the collector is to insert, in red ink, opposite to such entry, the number of the page in the last-formed quinquennial register, in which such village or villages, or the village or villages in which the lands may be situated may be recorded, that the lands included in the grant may be omitted in the quinquennial register which may be next formed, and also the number of the page in the register of intermediate resumptions in which such entries are also to be recorded, that they may be inserted in their proper place in the periodical register of land held exempt from the payment of revenue; and the collector shall insert, in red ink, opposite to such entries, the number of the page in the register of intermediate mutations from which they may have been taken. The rules in this paragraph are to be observed, likewise, in case the Governor-General in Council should deem it proper, from particular circumstances, to renew any former grants, the land included in which may be now subject to the payment of revenue.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxi., cl. 3; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxi., cl. 3; Reg. VIII., 1800, secs. xi., xii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xvi., cl. 2.

73. That Government and its officers may, at all future periods, have in their possession a complete register of the lands throughout the provinces held exempt from the payment of revenue, under grants of the nature of those herein described, and with a view to prevent any such grants being made in future, a register of all lands held exempt from the payment of revenue under grants made previously to the dates specified in paragraphs 77, 78, 79, or since exempted from the payment of revenue by the authority of Government, shall be formed every five years in each zillah. The register is to specify the denomination of each grant, whether bermooter, bishunpereet, kishnarpun, or other tenure; the names of the grantor, the original grantee, and the person in possession, and if the person in possession be not the original grantee, his relationship to him if any relationship exists, and in virtue of what right he succeeded to the grant; the date of the grant; the name of the pergunnah (or other local division where there may be no pergunnah), sircar, and soubah, in which the land granted may be situated, with the exact number of villages or other subdivisions comprised therein, as particularized in the pergunnah register. The collectors are enjoined to take the utmost care that the names of the pergunnahs (or other local divisions where there may be no pergunnahs), as well as the number of villages or other subdivisions stated to be in each, are exactly conformable to the pergunnah register; and are to furnish their native officers appointed to prepare the counterpart registers with particular instructions for this purpose. The register shall be denominated the "periodical register of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue under grants not being badshahee or royal grants."—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxii.; Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xi.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xvii.

74. Upon the receipt of this Regulation, the Board of Revenue are to prepare a form for the periodical register, and transmit a copy of it for the guidance of the collectors, who are strictly enjoined to adhere to it.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxiii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxiii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xviii.

75. All persons actually holding lands exempt from the payment of public revenue, whether exceeding or under one hundred begahs, in virtue of grants made previous to the dates specified in paragraphs 77, 78, 79, and whether made or confirmed by the Government of the country for the time being, or any other authority, shall be allowed one year from the date of the publication prescribed in the following paragraph, to register the required particulars respecting their grants in the office of the collector of the revenue of the zillah in which the lands may be situated.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxiv.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxiv.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xix.

Bengal, Behar, and Orissa.

76. To prevent any pleas being hereafter urged of ignorance of the rule contained in the preceding paragraph, the collector of each zillah, upon the receipt of this Regulation, is to cause the following publication, which shall be written in the Bengal and Persian languages in Bengal and Orissa, and in the Persian language, and the Hindostanee language and Nageree character, in Behar, and attested with their official seals and signatures, to be fixed up in the principal cutcherry of every proprietor and farmer of land in the zillah paying revenue immediately to Government; and of every native collector in lands held khas by Government; and where the estate of any proprietor with whom a settlement may have been concluded, or the farm of any farmer, or lands held khas, shall consist of two or more whole pergunnahs, or portions of pergunnahs, he shall cause the publication to be fixed up in the principal cutcherry in each pergunnah, or portion of a pergunnah, comprised in such estate, farm, or khas lands, and take a receipt, specifying the date on which the publication may be fixed up, from such proprietor, farmer, or native officer, who shall respectively be held responsible for the paper remaining so affixed for one year from the date of it.

"In conformity to Regulation XIX., 1793, every person being actually in possession of bermooter, bishunpereet, or other land, now exempt from the payment of revenue, in the estate of ———, or the farm of ———, or the khas lands under the charge of ———, whether exceeding or under one hundred begahs of the measurement of the pergunnah in which the land may be situated, and whether comprising or lying in one village, or two or more villages, and which may be held in virtue of any grant made previous to the 1st December, 1790, corresponding with the 18th Aughun, 1197, Bengal era; the 10th Aughun, 1198, Fusly; the 18th Aughun, 1198, Willaity; and whether made or confirmed by the Government of the country for the time being, or its officers, or any other authority, are required to register the following particulars respecting such lands in the office of the collector of the zillah, before the expiration of one year from the date of this publication. If any holders of such grants, who shall not so register their grants, either in person or by vakeel, with a vakalutnamah attested by two credible witnesses, and given for the express purpose of registering the grant, the lands will be considered liable to the payment of revenue, in the same manner as if they had been adjudged to be so by a final decree of a Court of Judicature. Persons having claims only to hold land exempt from the payment of revenue, but who do not now hold the lands exempt from the payment of revenue, are not to register the land so claimed by them.

"Denomination of the grant, whether bishunpereet, bermooter, or other tenure.

"Name of the grantor.

"Name of the original grantee.

"Name of the present possessor, and if he be not the original grantee, his relationship to him, and whether he succeeded to the land hereditarily, or by purchase, or what other mode.

"Date of the deed, if the grant be in writing, and if not, the date on which the grant was made.

"The name or names of the village or villages comprised in the grant, or in which the land may be situated.

"The measurement of each village, or the villages, or the land included in the grant.

"The pergunnah or pergunnahs in which the lands may be situated.

"A copy of the original grant, or other writings, under which the land may be held."—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxv.

77. To prevent any pleas being hereafter urged of ignorance of the rule contained in paragraph 75, the collector, upon the receipt of this Regulation, is to cause the following publication, which shall be written in the Persian language, and the Hindostanee language and Nageree character, and attested with his official seal and signature, to be fixed up in the principal cutcherry of every proprietor and farmer of land paying revenue immediately to Government, and of every native collector in lands held amauny or khas by Government, and take a receipt, specifying the date on which the publication may be fixed up, from such proprietor, farmer, or native officer, who shall respectively be held responsible for the paper remaining so affixed for one year from the date of it.

"In conformity to Regulation XLI., 1795, every person being actually in possession of maafy mujray, or kishnarpun, baghaut, or other land now exempt from the payment of revenue, in the estate of ———, or the farm of ———, or the amauny or khas lands under the charge of ———, whether exceeding or under fifty begahs of the measurement of the pergunnah in which the land may be situated, and whether comprising or lying in one village, or two or more villages, and which may be held in virtue of any grant made previous to the Fusly year, 1196, and whether made or confirmed by the Government of the country," &c., as in the preceding paragraph.—Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxv.

Bengal, Behar, Benares, and Orissa.

78. It appearing that the publications directed in the two preceding paragraphs have not, in every instance, been made as therein directed, the collectors are hereby further directed, immediately on the receipt of this Regulation, to ascertain whether the publications above specified have been duly made as prescribed throughout their respective collectorships; and if not, they are to cause the same to be made without delay, in the manner prescribed, as well as in their own cutcherries, and in the cutcherries of the Dewanny Courts situated within their respective zillahs; allowing the further period of one year from the date of such publications for the registry of the lands therein specified. After the expiration of such period, any unregistered land found to be held exempt from the payment of revenue is to be assessed, under the provisions of paragraph 83, whenever the same may be discovered; and the collectors are to enter lands so assessed (together with all other la-khiraj lands which may be brought upon the public assessment) in their succeeding quinquennial register of estates paying revenue, as well as in their register of intermediate mutations.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xix.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

79. To prevent any pleas being hereafter urged of ignorance of the rule contained in paragraph 75, the collector of each zillah, upon the receipt of this Regulation, is to cause the following publication, which shall be written in the Persian language and the Hindoostanee language and Nageree character, and attested with their official seals and signatures, to be fixed up in the principal cutcherry of every tehseeldar, and of every proprietor and farmer of land in the zillah paying revenue immediately to Government, and of every native collector in lands held khas by Government; and where the estate of any proprietor with whom a settlement shall have been concluded, or the farm of any farmer, or lands held khas, shall consist of two or more whole pergunnahs or portions of pergunnahs, he shall cause the publication to be fixed up in the principal cutcherry in each pergunnah or portion of a pergunnah comprised in such estate, farm, or khas lands, and take a receipt, specifying the date on which the publication may be fixed up, from such proprietor, farmer, or native officer, who shall respectively be held responsible for the paper remaining so affixed for one year from the date of it. The collectors are further required to cause the prescribed publication to be fixed up in their own cutcherries, and in the cutcherries of the Courts of Judicature within their respective zillahs, for general information.

"In conformity to Regulation XXXI., 1803, every person being actually in possession of bermooter, bishunpereet, kishnarpun, or other land now exempt from the payment of revenue, in the estate of ———, or the farm of ———, or the khas lands under the charge of ———, and which may be held in virtue of any grant made previously to the 1st day of January, 1801, corresponding with the 1st Maug, 1208, Fusly, the 19th Poose, 1208, Willaity, and whether made or confirmed by the Government of the country for the time being or its officers, or any other authority," &c., as in paragraph 76.—Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xx.

80. On receipt of this Regulation, the collectors are required to issue the publications directed in the preceding paragraph, in the form therein prescribed, requiring all persons holding lands exempt from the payment of revenue to Government, to register such lands within the period of one year from the date of the publications.—Reg. VII., 1808, sec. ii.

81. After the term of one year from the date of the publications directed to be issued in the preceding paragraph, any lands held free of assessment which may have been omitted to be registered are hereby declared liable to the payment of revenue to Government.—Reg. VII., 1808, sec. iii.

Cuttack.

82. The period of one year, reckoning from the expiration of the current Willaity year 1212, shall be allowed to the proprietors to register their grants. On the expiration of that period of time, the collectors shall prepare the first periodical register of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue; and the second, third, and each successive register, at the expiration of every five years.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxiii.

General Rule.

83. If any person in possession of any such grant of land now held exempt from the payment revenue shall omit to register it by the time prescribed in the publication, together with as accurate a detail of the particulars thereby required as he may be able to furnish, the land included in the grant shall, by such omission, become subject to the payment of revenue, in the same manner as if it had been adjudged liable to the payment of revenue by a final decree of a Court of Judicature, and the collector, if the land shall exceed one hundred begahs, shall proceed to assess the lands accordingly; and if it shall be under one hundred begahs, the party to whom the revenue of the land may be payable under paragraph 45 is empowered to assess the lands as therein directed. The Governor-General in Council, however, reserves to himself the power of admitting any grant upon the register after the expiration of the prescribed time, in the event of the possessor of the land showing good and sufficient cause, to his satisfaction, for not having registered it within the limited period; and the Board of Revenue are to report to the Governor-General in Council every case in which persons who may have omitted to register their grants as required may appear to them entitled to have their grants admitted upon the register.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxvi.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxvi.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxi. (NOTE.—The Benares rule substitutes "fifty" for "one hundred begahs," and the Ceded Provinces rule omits the parts underlined.)

Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares.

84. The collectors shall receive a commission of twenty-five per cent. on the amount of the annual jumma which may be assessed in perpetuity on lands finally resumed and declared liable to be assessed with public revenue, under the preceding paragraph. The commission shall be paid to the collector who shall discover and report to the Board of Revenue the omission of the registry of the lands, unless the Governor-General in Council should deem it equitable, in any particular case, to give the whole or a part of the commission to any other collector.—Reg. LVIII., 1795, sec. ii.

General Rules.

85. After the expiration of the period limited for registering grants, all grants not registered within the prescribed time, and which may not be subsequently admitted on the register by the Governor-General in Council, are declared invalid as far as regards the exemption from the payment of revenue, and the land shall be assessed with revenue, as directed in paragraph 83.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxvii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxvii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxii.

86. It is expressly declared, however, that the registry of grants under these rules is not to be considered as an admission of the right of the person in whose name they may be registered to the property in the soil, or of his title to hold the lands exempt from the payment of revenue. Any person will be at liberty to sue him in the Dewanny Adawlut for the former, and he will be liable to be sued for the recovery of the latter by the collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, in the event of it appearing to that Board that the lands are liable to the payment of revenue.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxviii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxviii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxiii.

87. Upon the expiration of the period for registering the grants in each zillah, the collector is to prepare a draft of the register, in the form which may be prescribed by the Board of Revenue, and to cause it to be transcribed into a book of such dimensions as they may direct. The book shall have the following inscription on the back of it:—"Periodical register, formed under Regulation XIX., 1793 [XLI., 1795, or XXXI., 1803], of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue, under grants not badshahi, or royal, made previous to the 1st December, 1790, in the zillah of ———, at the commencement of the year ———, Bengal (Fusly, or Willaity) era, corresponding with the year of our Lord ———, Number ———." Each leaf of the book shall be paged, and be signed by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares]; and on the last leaf of the book he is to note, in his own handwriting, the number of pages in the book, and subscribe the note with his signature; and no register is to be deemed authentic but such as may be entered in a book so paged and attested. The first periodical register is to be numbered one.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxix.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxix.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxiv. (NOTE.—The Benares rule substitutes the date "Fusly year 1196," and the Ceded Provinces rule omits the words underlined.)

88. The second periodical register is to commence with the year 1207 of the era current in each province. This register is to be numbered two, and the periodical registers to be prepared at the commencement of every subsequent five years, in the order in which they may be formed.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxx.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxx.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxv. (NOTE. —The latter rule substitutes "Fusly, 1219," for the words underlined.)

89. The keepers of the native records are to keep an exact counterpart of the English periodical register, in a volume of such dimensions as the Board of Revenue may prescribe, and which shall be paged, and be attested by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares], in the same manner as the books containing the English registers; and no other counterparts of the registers of estates shall be considered as authentic, but such as may be entered in a book so paged and attested.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxxi.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxxi.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxvi.

90. The counterpart registers are to be kept in the Persian language.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxxii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxxii.; Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xv.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxvii.

91. For the purpose of recording all resumptions, or other occurrences respecting the lands which form the subject of these rules, that may take place during the interval of the five years between the forming of each periodical register, and the particulars of which will be necessary for forming the second, and all future periodical registers, the collectors are to prepare a book of such dimensions as the Board of Revenue may prescribe, and which shall be denominated "the register of intermediate resumptions, or other occurrences respecting grants of exempted land not badshahi;" and shall have the following inscription on the back, "Register formed under Regulation XIX., 1793 [XLI., 1795, XXXI., 1803], of intermediate resumptions, or other occurrences respecting lands held exempt from the payment of revenue, under grants not badshahi or royal, made previous to the 1st December, 1790, in the zillah of ———, between the commencement of the year ———, and the end of the year ———, Bengal (Fusly or Willaity) era." Previous to any entries being made in this register, it is to be paged, and the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares] is to sign each leaf of it, and on the last leaf note, in his own handwriting, the number of pages contained in the book, and attest the note with his signature. The collector is to cause to be entered in this register, all grants not registered within the time prescribed in the publication in paragraphs 76, 77, and 79, which the Governor-General in Council may order to be admitted upon the register under paragraph 82: all grants of exempted land that may be adjudged or become liable to the payment of revenue; all lands now paying revenue which may be adjudged not subject to the payment of revenue; all old grants of land now subject to the payment of revenue, which the Governor-General in Council may judge it proper, from particular circumstances, to renew; and all exempted lands which may be separated from or annexed to the jurisdiction of the zillah, with the authority for these several occurrences, and also the particulars for completing the requisite entries in the register of intermediate mutations in landed property paying revenue to Government, in the cases specified in paragraphs 70, 71, and 72, in which entries are directed to be made in that register.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxxiii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxxiii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxviii. (NOTE.—The Benares rule substitutes "Fusly year 1196" for the date, and the Ceded Provinces rule omits the words underlined.)

92. When mohauls are ordered to be separated from one zillah and annexed to another, the collector of the zillah from which the separation is to take place is to transmit to the collector of the zillah to which the annexation is to be made, a copy of the entries in the preceding periodical register, as far as they may regard the lands held exempt from the payment of revenue in such mohauls, and also of any entries respecting them in the register of intermediate resumptions, which may have taken place subsequent to the forming of the last periodical register.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxxiv.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxxiv.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxix.

93. Upon the arrival of the period when the separation is to be carried into effect, the collector of the zillah from which the separation may be directed to be made is to transmit to the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of his zillah, copies of the entries in the last periodical register and register of intermediate resumptions which may relate to the grants to be separated from his zillah; and the collector to whose zillah the annexation may be made is to transmit copies of the above-mentioned entries (with which he is directed to be furnished in the preceding paragraph) to the judge of the jurisdiction to which the lands may be annexed. Immediately upon the receipt of these papers, the Courts, from the jurisdiction of which the separations may be made, are to transmit the papers in the causes depending before them, which, in consequence of the separation, may become cognizable in any other Court, to such Court, and to cause notification thereof to be communicated to the parties in writing.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxxv.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxxv.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxx.

94. The collectors are to attest all entries in the register of intermediate resumptions with their official signatures; and they are strictly enjoined never to allow the register of intermediate resumptions to fall in arrear, but to make the necessary entries immediately upon any resumptions or other occurrences taking place.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxxvi.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxxvi.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxxi.

95. A counterpart of the register of intermediate resumptions is to be kept by the keepers of the native records, in the same form as the English register, and in a book, the leaves of which are, in like manner, to be paged and attested by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares].—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxxvii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxxvii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxxii.

96. When a periodical register shall have been transcribed fair into the book attested by the judge of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares], as directed in paragraph 87, if it shall be discovered that the entries respecting any land are erroneous or incomplete, or that there are any material inaccuracies of the transcriber, the entries are not to be altered or erased, but are to stand, and the collector is to cause the errors or omissions to be noted in the register of intermediate resumptions, and to attest the entry with his signature, and insert in red ink, opposite to the erroneous or incomplete entry in the periodical register, the number of the page in the register of intermediate resumptions in which the errors or omissions may be noted, and at the end of the note, specify the number of the page of the periodical register in which the property may be registered. Errors or omissions in the register of intermediate resumptions are to be noted in a similar manner.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxxviii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxxviii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxxiii.

97. Erroneous or incomplete entries in the counterparts of the registers to be kept by the keepers of the native records are to be noted by them in the same manner as the collector is directed to note erroneous entries in the English registers. But the note of every such entry in the counterpart of the register of intermediate resumptions in the country languages shall, in addition to the attestation of the keepers of the native records, be signed by the collector.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xxxix.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xxxix.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxxiv.

98. If the proprietary right in any grant of exempted land shall be under litigation in a Court of Justice at the time of forming the first or any subsequent periodical register, the party in possession is to be registered as the proprietor.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xl.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xl.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxxv.

99. If a collector shall have occasion to require from the holder of a grant any information that may be necessary to enable him to form a periodical register, or to make the requisite entries in the register of intermediate resumptions, and such person shall omit to furnish it by the time required, after having been served by the collector with a written requisition for that purpose, under his official seal and signature, the collector, unless the defaulter shall prove to his satisfaction that it was not in his power to furnish it, may impose of his own authority such daily fine, to be payable daily until compliance with the requisition, as he may think adequate to the situation and circumstances in life of the defaulter, not exceeding in any case the daily fine of fifty rupees; and the amount of such fine, accruing due from time to time, may be levied without further confirmation, by the same process as is prescribed for the recovery of arrears of revenue. The Board of Revenue are to furnish the collectors in the several zillahs with such records or information as they may possess regarding the exempted lands in their respective zillahs, as well to assist them in preparing the first periodical register and in detecting frauds that may be attempted to be practised upon them in registering the grants, as to aid them in ascertaining what lands, now held exempt from the payment of revenue, are liable to the payment of revenue under these rules.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xli.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xli.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxxvi.

100. The collectors of the several zillahs are to transmit, as early as may be practicable, to the Board of Revenue, an attested copy of the periodical registers, both in the English and the native languages, each in a book of the prescribed size, paged and attested by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, in the same manner as the original register, as directed in paragraph 87, and within one month after the expiration of the third, sixth, ninth, and twelfth months of the Bengal, Fusly, and Willaity year (according to the era current in their respective districts), an attested copy of the entries in the register of intermediate resumptions that may have taken place during the three preceding months. Whenever the Zillah and City Courts of Dewanny Adawlut may have occasion to refer to any of the registers herein prescribed, they are authorized to require from the collectors the production of the original register, or an attested copy of such part thereof as may contain the required information. The collectors, on the receipt of such requisition, are immediately to transmit the original register, if it can be sent without inconvenience, under the care of one of their native officers, in whose custody it is to remain till returned; or if the original register cannot be conveniently sent, are to transmit without delay an accurate copy of such part thereof as may be required, under the attestation of their official signature. In like manner, the Board of Revenue, on the requisition of the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, are to furnish any zillah register received by them which may be required by that Court; or a copy, attested by the signature of their secretary or accountant, of any part thereof which may be required. In the event of any register required by a Court of Justice not having been prepared, and the period fixed for its preparation having elapsed, the collector is to explain to the Court the cause of such register not having been prepared, and the explanation so given is to be transmitted by the Court receiving it to the Governor-General in Council. Any person succeeding to the office of collector, or invested with the temporary charge of such office, is also required, immediately on his taking charge, to ascertain whether the prescribed registers have been duly prepared; and if not, to report the same to the Board of Revenue, with any explanation he may have received of the omission, for the information of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xlii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xlii.; Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xv.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxxvii.

101. The copies of the registers which the collectors are required by the preceding paragraph to furnish to the Board of Revenue, shall be transmitted by the collectors at the periods therein specified, in the English and Persian languages, to the accountant of the Board of Revenue, who is to report to the Board any instances of the prescribed quarterly copies not having been received at the fixed periods, or of the quinquennial copies not having been received within the year at the commencement of which the quinquennial registers are directed to be prepared; and is to return to the collectors, for correction, any copies of registers received from them which may not have been prepared according to the prescribed form.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xvi. (NOTE.—The preceding rule was not embodied in the Regulation for the Ceded and Conquered Provinces.)

102. The Board of Revenue, and the collectors are enjoined to be particularly attentive to the preservation of the periodical registers and registers of intermediate resumptions, both in the English and native languages; and they are directed to have the fair copies of each, which are to be deposited amongst the public records, bound up with such materials as may be best calculated to prevent their being destroyed by insects, or otherwise.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xliii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xliii.; Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xv.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxxviii.

103. The periodical register which is to be formed in each of the zillahs at the commencement of the Bengal, Fusly, and Willaity year 1207, and at the commencement of every succeeding five years, is to be prepared from the preceding periodical register, and the entries in the subsequent register of intermediate resumptions, with the omission of any grants of land that may have been subjected to the payment of revenue during the preceding five years, or that may have been transferred to the jurisdiction of another zillah, and with the addition of any such grants of land that may have been annexed to the zillah, or that may have been adjudged not subject to the payment of revenue, or that may have been admitted upon the register by the Governor-General in Council under paragraph 83. The materials for each periodical register will thus be ready upon the arrival of the period for preparing it, and the register will be completed by the mere transcript of them into the book, arranged according to the prescribed form.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xliv.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xliv.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xxxix. (NOTE—The latter rule substitutes "Fusly, 1215," for the words underlined.)

104. The judges of the Zillah and City Courts in the four provinces shall furnish the collectors of the districts in which the land may be situated, and the Board of Revenue, with a copy of every decree in suits between individuals, which they may pass, or which may be sent to them by superior Courts to enforce, by which the right in, or possession of, any lands held exempt from the payment of public revenue, under whatever description of grant the same may be so held, may be affected, in order that the collectors may be enabled to make the necessary entries of the alterations in such right or possession to be inserted in the quinquennial registers of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue. The copies of such decrees shall be transmitted by the judge within twenty days after the same may be passed or received by him.—Reg. LVIII., 1795, sec. iii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xl. (NOTE.—See post, Section XI., Regulation III., 1828, paragraph 329.)

105. If it shall be proved, to the satisfaction of the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of any city or zillah, that a native officer of a collector, or of an assistant to a collector, shall have received, directly or indirectly, any sum of money or effects, or other property, from any person for registering a grant, or on account of any matter relating to the registry thereof, the Court shall adjudge him dismissed from his office, and compel him to repay the money proved to have been taken, with a fine of three times the amount to Government, and costs to the party suing him, and commit him to prison until he shall have discharged the amount of the decree, or it shall have been made good by the sale of his property.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xlv.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xlv.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xli.

106. If any native servant or dependent of a collector, or of an assistant to a collector, not being a public officer, shall be convicted before the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the offence specified in the preceding paragaph, he shall be compelled to restore the money to the person from whom it may have been taken, and to pay a fine of three times the amount to Government, with costs to the party suing, and be confined for six months; and if he shall not discharge the amount of the decree by the expiration of the sixth month, he shall be confined until he make good the amount, or it shall be realized from the sale of his property; and the collector or assistant is to discharge such servant, and never to employ him in his public or private capacity.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xlvi.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xlvi.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xlii.

107. All the rules herein contained respecting lands now held, or that may be claimed to be held exempt from the payment of revenue, under life grants made previous to the date of the Company's accession, are to be considered equally applicable to grants made previous to that date for a term only.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xlvii.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xlvii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xliii. (NOTE.—The Ceded Provinces rule substitutes "1st January, 1801," for the words underlined.)

108. No part of these rules is to be considered to annul any grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, made or confirmed by the late superintendents of the bazee zemin dufter in Bengal, in virtue of the powers vested in them.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xlviii.

109. Nor to extend to jaghire, altumgah, muddud-maash, aymah, or other grants of land termed badshahi, or royal, and held, or stated to be held, under a royal firmaun. The rules applicable to such grants are contained in Regulation XXXVII., 1793.—Reg. XIX., 1793, sec. xlix.; Reg. XLI., 1795, sec. xlviii.; Reg. XXXI., 1803, sec. xliv.

NOTE.—In addition to the preceding rules for the registry of "LA-KHIRAJ," the rules in Sections XVII., XVIII., and XXI., Regulation VIII., 1800 ("REGISTRY OF ESTATES," paragraphs 61, 62, 63), are also applicable, so far as relates to the Lower Provinces and Benares; these rules, not having been incorporated in the Regulation for the Ceded Provinces, are not applicable to those provinces. The rules for the Pergunnah Register of Malguzary and La-khiraj will be found under "REGISTRY OF ESTATES," commencing with paragraph 48.

ORIGINAL RULES FOR BADSHAHI GRANTS.

VALIDITY OF GRANTS.

Bengal, Behar, and Orissa.

NOTE.—Section XXV., Regulation XII., 1805, enacts, that "all the provisions of Regulation XXXVII., 1793, which are not superseded" by any of the rules specially enacted for Cuttack, and which are inserted in their respective places in the following arrangement, "shall be considered to be in force in the said zillah."

110. Altumgah, jaghire, ayma, muddudmaush, or other badshahi grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, made previous to the 12th August, 1765, the date of the Company's accession to the Dewanny, shall be deemed valid, provided the grantee actually and bonâ fide obtained possession of the land so granted previous to that date, and the grant shall not have been subsequently resumed by the officers or the orders of Government. If it shall be proved, to the satisfaction of the Court, that the grantee did not obtain possession of the land so granted previous to the 12th August, 1765, or that he did obtain possession of it prior to that date, but that it has been since resumed by the officers or the orders of Government, the grant shall not be deemed valid.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. ii., cl. 1.

111. In the event, however, of a claim being preferred by any person to hold land exempt from the payment of revenue, under a badshahi grant made previous to the date of the Company's accession to the Dewanny, and on it being proved, to the satisfaction of the Court in which the suit may be instituted in the first instance, or to which it may be appealed, that the grantee held the land exempt from the payment of revenue, but that it was subjected to the payment of revenue posterior thereto by an officer of Government, and the Court shall entertain doubts as to the competency of such officer, under the powers vested in him, to resume the grant and subject the lands to the payment of revenue, the Court shall suspend its judgment, and report the circumstances to the Governor-General in Council, to whom a power is reserved of determining whether such officer was or was not competent to resume the grant, and upon receiving the determination of the Governor-General in Council, the Court is to decide accordingly. No such claim, however, to hold exempt from the payment of revenue, land that may have been subjected to the payment of revenue for the twelve years preceding the date on which the claim may be instituted, shall be heard by any Zillah or City Court, unless the claimant can show good and sufficient cause for not having preferred the claim to a competent authority within the twelve years, and proceeded in it, as required by Section XIV., Regulation III., 1793 ("CIVIL COURTS, CONSTITUTION AND JURISDICTION").—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. ii., cl. 2.

112. But no part of the two preceding paragraphs is to be construed to empower the Courts to adjudge any person, not being the original grantee entitled to hold land paying revenue to Government, exempt from the payment of revenue, under a jaghire, or other grant made previous to the Company's accession to the Dewanny, where the grant may expressly specify it to have been given for the life of the grantee only; or supposing no such specification to have been made in the grant, or the grant not to be forthcoming, where the grant, from the nature and denomination of it, shall be proved to be a life tenure only, according to the ancient usages of the country.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. ii., cl. 3.

113. Nor to entitle the heirs of any person now holding lands exempt from the payment of public revenue under a jaghire, or other badshahi life grant, made previous to the Dewanny, to succeed to and hold such land exempt from the payment of revenue upon the demise of the present possessor; where the grant may expressly specify it to have been given for the life of the grantee only, or supposing no such specification to have been made in the grant, or the grant not to be forthcoming, where from the nature and denomination of the grant it shall be proved to be a life tenure only, according to the ancient usages of the country.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. ii., cl. 4.

114. The present possessors of lands now exempt from the payment of revenue under such jaghire or other life grants made previous to the dewanny, and declared by the preceding paragraph not to be hereditary, are prohibited from selling or otherwise transferring them, or mortgaging the revenue of the lands for a longer period than their own lives; and all such transfers and mortgages which have been or may be made, are declared illegal and void.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. ii., cl. 5.

115. All badshahi grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, which may have been made since the 12th August, 1765, by any other authority than that of Government, and which may not have been confirmed by Government, or by any officer empowered to confirm them, are declared invalid.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. iii., cl. 1.

116. If doubts shall be entertained by any Court as to the competency of the authority of any officer to confirm any such grant, the Court is to suspend its judgment, and report the circumstances of the case to the Governor-General in Council, to whom a power is reserved of determining finally whether the officer possessed competent authority to confirm the grant, or otherwise; and the Court, upon receiving the determination of the Governor-General in Council, shall decide accordingly.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. iii., cl. 2.

117. The term badshahi grant is to be construed to extend to all grants made by the supreme power for the time being, and consequently to include grants of the following descriptions: 1st, royal grants, properly so called; 2ndly, grants made by the Soubahdars of Oude; and 3rdly, grants made by the authority of the British Government.—Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 1.

118. Altumgah, jaghire, ayma, muddud maash, or other badshahi grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, made previous to the 1st of July, 1775, the date of the cession of the province of Benares to the Company, shall be deemed valid, provided the grantee actually and bonâ fide obtained possession of the land so granted previous to that date, and the grant shall not have been subsequently resumed by the officers or the orders of Government. If it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Court, that the grantee did not obtain possession of the land so granted previous to the 1st July, 1775, and that it has not been since confirmed to him by the authority of the Governor-General in Council, or that he did obtain possession of it prior to that date, but that it has been since resumed by the officers or the orders of Government, the grant shall not be deemed valid.—Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 2.

119 to 122. [Clauses Third to Sixth, Section II., Regulation XLII., 1795.] Same as paragraphs 111 to 114, substituting the date "1st July, 1775," for "the date of the Company's accession to the Dewanny."

123. All badshahi grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, which may have been made since the 1st of July, 1775, by any other authority than that of Government, and which may not have been confirmed by Government, or by any officer empowered to confirm them, are declared invalid. But grants of land held exempt from the payment of revenue under grants made by the Residents at Benares since the 1st of July, 1775, are not to be annulled by the decree of the City or any Zillah Court, but the judge is to proceed with them as directed with regard to the grants mentioned in paragraph 125.—Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 1.

124. The Governor-General in Council having determined, on the 11th April, 1788, that the lands assigned in the year 1781, in lieu of malikanah, to certain dispossessed zemindars, should not descend to the heirs of the present incumbents without his express orders for that purpose, the judges and the collector are to attend to this rule; and the latter is accordingly to attach such lands on the demise of the present holders, until the determination of Government respecting them be received.—Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 2.

125. [Clause Third, Section III., Regulation XLII., 1795.] Same as paragraph 116.

Ceded Provinces.

126. The term badshahi grant shall be construed to extend to all grants made by the supreme power for the time being, and consequently to include grants of the following description. First, royal grants, properly so called; secondly, grants made by the soubahdars of Oude and by the Nawaubs of Furruckabad; thirdly, grants in Rohilcund, made by the princes of that country prior to the 23rd of April, 1774.—Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. ii., cl. 1.

127. [Clause Second, Section II., Regulation XXXVI., 1803.] Same as paragraph 110, substituting "1st January, 1801," for "12th August, 1765, the date of the Company's accession to the Dewanny."

128. [Clause Third, Section II., Regulation XXXVI., 1803.] Same as paragraph 111, substituting "1st, January, 1801," and omitting the last paragraph, "No such claim," &c. &c.

129 to 131. [Clauses Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth, Section II., Regulation XXXVI., 1803.] Same as paragraphs 112, 113, 114, substituting "1st January, 1801," for "the Company's accession to the Dewanny."

132. [Section III., Regulation XXXVI., 1803.] Same as paragraphs 115, 116, substituting "1st January, 1801," for "12th August, 1765."

Conquered Provinces.

133. Regulation XXXVI., 1803, is hereby extended to the zillahs in the Conquered Provinces, with the following modifications.—Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxiv., cl. 1.

134. Under the definition of badshahi grants contained in paragraph 126, viz., all grants made by the supreme power for the time being, it is hereby declared, that the following description of grants shall be considered as badshahi. First, royal grants, properly so called; secondly, grants made by Dowlut Rao Scindiah, or his predecessors in authority, in the Conquered Provinces in the Dooab and on the right bank of the river Jumna; thirdly, grants made by the Peishwa, or his predecessors, in the territory ceded to the Honourable the English East-India Company in Bundlecund.—Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxiv., cl. 2.

135. If any grants of the description specified in Regulation XXXVI., 1803, shall have been made by other authorities than those stated in the preceding paragraph, a report of the same shall be made to the Governor-General in Council, who reserves to himself the power of declaring whether such grants shall be deemed badshahi, and valid or otherwise.—Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxiv., cl. 3.

136. The 1st day of January, 1803, or 23rd of Poose, 1210, Fusly, is substituted for the 1st of January, 1801, in the several sections of Regulation XXXVI., 1803, with respect to the zillahs to which that Regulation is now extended.—Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xxiv., cl. 4.

137. The term badshahi grant shall be construed to extend to all grants made by the supreme power for the time being, and consequently to include grants of the following descriptions:—First, royal grants, properly so called; secondly, grants made by the Soubah of Orissa; and thirdly, grants made by the rajahs of Berar.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxvi., cl. 1.

138. [Clause Second, Section XXVI., Regulation XII., 1805.] Same as paragraph 110, substituting "14th October, 1803," for "12th August, 1765, the date of the Company's accession to the Dewanny."

139. [Clause Third, Section XXVI., Regulation XII., 1805.] Same as paragraph 111, substituting "14th October, 1803," for the date, and omitting the last paragraph, "No such claim, &c., &c."

140 to 142. [Clauses Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Section XXVI., Regulation XII., 1805.] Same as paragraphs 112, 113, and 114, substituting for the date, "14th October, 1803."

143 and 144. [Sections XXVII., XXVIII., Regulation XII., 1805.] Same as paragraphs 115 and 116, substituting for the date, "14th October, 1803."

PROPRIETARY RIGHT IN THE LAND, AND ASSESSMENT OF RESUMED LA-KHIRAJ.

Bengal, Behar, and Orissa.

145. It is to be understood that this Regulation respects only the Government proportion of the revenue arising from lands held or claimed to be held under badshahi grants, and whether Government is entitled to resume or retain such revenue or otherwise. Every dispute or claim regarding the zemindary or proprietary right in lands included in any grant, is to be considered as a matter of a private nature between the contending parties, and is to be determined in the Dewanny Adawlut.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. iv.

146. When a jaghire or other life-grant shall escheat to Government, the collector is immediately to attach the revenue of the lands, and report the circumstances to the Board of Revenue, who are to obtain the orders of the Governor-General in Council regarding the resumption of the grant.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. v.

147. When any badshahi grant shall be resumed, or expire, or escheat to Government, the revenue to be paid to Government from the lands included in it shall be assessed, and the settlement made in perpetuity, agreeably to the rules for the decennial settlement contained in Regulation VIII., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT"), with the person possessing the zemindary or proprietary right in the lands, whoever he may be. If the proprietor shall refuse to pay the jumma demanded of him, the lands shall be held khas or let in farm, as directed in that Regulation.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. vi.

148, 149. [Sections IV., V., Regulation XLII., 1795.] Same as paragraphs 145, 146.

150. [Section VI., Regulation XLII., 1795.] Same as paragraph 147, substituting "V., 1795," for "VIII., 1793," and omitting the final words, "as directed in that Regulation."

Ceded Provinces.

151 and 152. [Sections IV. and V., Regulation XXXVI., 1803.] Same as paragraph 145, 146.

153. [Section VI., Regulation XXXVI., 1803.] Same as paragraph 146, omitting the words "in perpetuity" and "decennial," and substituting "XXVII., 1803," for "VIII., 1793."

154. Any person having a claim to hold lands paying revenue exempt from the payment of revenue under a badshahi grant, must institute his claim against Government, who alone can be the defendant in such suits, in the Dewanny Adawlut, in the jurisdiction of which such lands are situated, in the same manner as in cases where individuals may claim a right to hold lands paying revenue exempt from the payment of revenue under grants not of the description of those termed badshahi, in virtue of Regulations XIX., 1793; XLI., 1795; and XXXI., 1803. The collectors of the revenue are to defend all such suits as may be instituted against Government, and such suits are to be defended by the vakeel of Government, under the instructions of the collector; and in the event of Government being cast, either wholly or in part, or if the collector shall be dissatisfied with the decree in any respect, all the rules contained in Section XXX., Regulation XIV., 1793; Section XXXVI., Regulation VI., 1795; or Section XXXIII., Regulation XXVII., 1803 ("REALIZATION OF REVENUE, paragraphs 30 and 145,") and the other sections in those Regulations respecting decisions given against a collector in any Zillah Court, in suits instituted against him by any proprietor or farmer of land, for sums of money demanded or actually received by him as arrears of revenue, are to be held applicable to such decree, with this difference, that the suit, from the commencement of it, is to be defended at the expense of Government, and in the event of the Board of Revenue not deeming it proper to order an appeal from the decision of the Zillah Court to be preferred to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, they are to report their reasons in both cases for not preferring the appeal to the Governor-General in Council, who will direct the cause to be appealed or not, in either case, as may appear to him proper.—Reg. XXXVI., 1793, sec. x.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. x.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. x.

155. If it shall appear to any Court of Judicature, during the course of a trial, that a grant has been forged, or that the name of the original grantee has been erased and any other name substituted, or that any name not in the original grant has been inserted, or that the denomination or the terms of the tenure in the original grant have been erased or altered, or that the date of the grant has been changed, or that the grant has been antedated, the grant shall be adjudged null and void.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xii.; Reg. XXXVII., 1803, sec. xii.

156. Any person by whom any of the frauds specified in the preceding paragraph may appear to have been committed, or who may have been concerned therein, shall, provided the Court is of opinion that there are sufficient grounds for a criminal prosecution, be committed or held to bail, according to the circumstances of the case, to take his trial before the Court of Sessions.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xiii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xiii.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, xiii.

157. Altumgah, ayma, and muddudmaush grants are to be considered as hereditary tenures. These and other grants, which from the nature of them may be hereditary and are declared valid by these rules, or which have been or may be confirmed by the British Government, or any of its officers possessing competent authority to confirm them, are declared transferable by gift, sale, or otherwise, and all persons succeeding to such grants, by whatever mode, are required to register their names in the office of the collector, within six months after they may succeed to the grant. But all such purchases are to be considered as made at the risk of the purchaser; and in the event of the grant not proving to be hereditary, or not to have been made or confirmed by the British Government, or its officers possessing competent authority, the transfer is not to preclude the land from being subjected to the payment of revenue under these rules. Jaghires are to be considered as life tenures only, and with all other life tenures are to expire with the life of the grantee, unless otherwise expressed in the grant.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xv.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xv.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xv.

REGISTRY.

158. When any grant shall be adjudged invalid, or shall expire or escheat to Government, the name of the pergunnah (or other local division where there may be no pergunnah), sircar, and

soubah, in which the lands may be situated, with the exact number of villages or other sub-divisions comprised therein, as particularized in the pergunnah register directed to be kept by Regulations VIII., 1800, and XLII., 1803 ("REGISTRY OF ESTATES"), the amount of the public revenue assessed thereon, the name or names of the proprietor or proprietors, and a copy of the decree, are to be entered in the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences, directed to be kept by paragraph 177, and opposite to such entry the collector is to insert, in red ink, the number of the page in the periodical register directed to be kept by paragraph 160, in which the lands may stand recorded; and in the periodical register he is to specify in red ink the number of the page in the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences in which the decree adjudging the land subject to the payment of revenue, and the other entries above specified, may be inserted. These entries in the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences are likewise to be inserted in the register of intermediate mutations in landed property paying revenue to Government ("REGISTRY OF ESTATES," paragraphs 25, 26), in order that the land may be recorded in its proper place, as an estate paying revenue to Government, in the next quinquennial register which may be formed. The collector is to insert in red ink, opposite to the entries relating to such lands in the periodical register and the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences, the number of the page in the register of intermediate mutations in which the above required entries may be made; and he is also to specify in red ink, opposite to such entries in the register of intermediate mutations, the number of the page in the periodical register and the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences in which such entries respecting the land may be inserted.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xvi., cl. 1; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xvi., cl. 1; Reg. VIII., 1800, secs. xi., xii.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xvi., cl. 1.

159. When land now subject to the payment of revenue shall be finally adjudged, on the claim of any individual, to be exempted from the payment of revenue under any grant, or when the Governor-General in Council shall make any new grant, the name of the pergunnah (or other local division where there may be no pergunnah), sircar, and soubah, in which the lands granted may be situated, with the exact number of villages or other subdivisions comprised therein, as particularized in the pergunnah register directed to be kept by Regulations VIII., 1800, and XLII., 1803 ("REGISTRY OF ESTATES"), the name or names of the grantee, the amount of the revenue before assessed thereon, and a copy of the decree or grant, are to be entered in the register of intermediate mutations ("REGISTRY OF ESTATES," paragraphs 25, 26), and the collector is to insert in red ink, opposite to such entry, the number of the page in the last-formed quinquennial register in which such mohauls, villages, or lands, may be recorded, that the lands included in the grant may be omitted in the quinquennial register which may be next formed, and also the number of the page in the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences directed to be kept by these rules, in which such entries are also to be recorded, that they may be inserted in their proper place in the periodical register of grants that may be next formed; and the collector shall insert in red ink, opposite to such entries, the number of the page in the register of intermediate mutations from which they may have been taken.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xvi., cl. 2; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xvi., cl. 2; Reg. VIII., 1800, secs. xi. and xii.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xvi., cl. 2.

160. That Government and its officers may have in their possession, at all future periods, a complete register of all the lands in the provinces held exempt from the payment of revenue under badshahi grants, a register of all such grants shall be formed every five years in each zillah. The register is to specify the denomination of each grant, whether altumgah, jaghire, or other tenure, the name of the original grantee and of the person in possession; and if the person in possession be not the original grantee, his relationship to him, if any relationship should exist, and in virtue of what right he succeeded to the grant; the date of the grant, the name or names of the person or persons possessing the zemindary or proprietary right in the lands, the name of the pergunnah (or other local division where there may be no pergunnah), sircar, and soubah, in which the land granted may be situated, with the exact number of villages or other subdivisions comprised therein, as particularized in the pergunnah register directed to be kept by Regulations VIII., 1800, and XLII., 1803 ("REGISTRY OF ESTATES"). The collectors are enjoined to take the utmost care, that the names of the pergunnahs (or other local divisions where there may be no pergunnahs), as well as the number of villages or other subdivisions stated to be in each, are exactly conformable to the pergunnah register; and are to furnish their native officers, appointed to prepare the counterpart registers, with particular instructions for this purpose. The register shall be denominated the "periodical register of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue under badshahi grants."—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xvii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xvii.; Reg. VIII., 1800, secs. xi. and xii.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xvii.

161. Upon the receipt of this Regulation, the Board of Revenue are to prepare a form for the periodical register, and transmit a copy of it for the guidance of the collectors, who are strictly enjoined to adhere to it.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xviii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xviii.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xviii.

162. All persons actually holding lands exempt from the payment of public revenue under badshahi grants, and whether made or confirmed by the Government of the country for the time being, or any other authority, shall be allowed one year from the date of the publication prescribed in the following paragraph, to register the required particulars respecting their grants in the office of the collector of the revenue of the zillah in which the lands may be situated.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xix.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xix.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xix.

163. To prevent any pleas being hereafter urged of ignorance of the rule contained in the preceding paragraph, the collector of each zillah in which any jaghire, altumgah, ayma, or muddudmaush, or other lands held under sunnuds or grants termed badshahi, may be situated, upon the receipt of this Regulation is to cause the following publication, which shall be written in the Bengal and Persian languages, in Bengal and Orissa, and in the Persian language, and the Hindostanee language and Nagaree character, in the other provinces, and attested with their official seals and signatures, to be fixed up in the principal cutcherry of the holders of grants of the description of those specified in this Regulation, and take a receipt from the holder of such grant, or the person entrusted with the management of it, specifying the date on which the publication may be fixed up, and that he will be responsible for the paper remaining so affixed for one year from the date of it. The collectors are further required to cause the prescribed publication to be fixed up in their own cutcherries, and in the cutcherries of the Civil Courts, within their respective zillahs, for general information.

"In conformity to Regulation XXXVII., 1793; Regulation XLII., 1795; and Regulation XXXVI., 1803, every person being actually in possession of altumgah, jaghire, ayma, muddudmaush, or other land, now exempt from the payment of revenue and held under badshahi grants, in the zillah of ———, whether made or confirmed by the Government of the country for the time being, or by whatever authority, are required to register the following particulars respecting such grants in the office of the collector of the zillah, before the expiration of one year from the date of this publication. If any holders of such grants who shall not register their grants, either in person or by a vakeel, with a vakalutnamah attested by two credible witnesses, and given for the express purpose of registering the grants, the grants will be considered liable to resumption, and the lands chargeable with the revenue, in the same manner as other lands subject to the payment of revenue. Persons having claims only to hold land exempt from the payment of revenue under such grants, but who do not now hold the lands exempted, are not to register the lands so claimed by them.

"Denomination of the grant, whether altumgah, jaghire, or other tenure.

"By whom granted.

"Name of the original grantee.

"Name of the present possessor, and if he be not the original grantee, his relationship to him, and whether he succeeded to the land hereditarily or by purchase, or what other mode.

"Date of the grant.

"The name or names of the mohauls or villages, or lands, comprised in the grant, or in which the land may be situated.

"The names of the zemindar or other proprietor of the mohauls, or villages, or lands included in the grant, whether such zemindary or proprietary right shall be vested in the grantee or any other person.

"The measurement of each mohaul or village, or the land included in the grant.

"The pergunnah or pergunnahs in which the lands may be situated.

"A copy of the original grant and other writings under which the land may be held."—Reg XXXVII., 1793, sec. xx.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xx.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xx. (NOTE.—The words underlined are found only in the Ceded Provinces rule.)

Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares.

164. It appearing that the publications directed in the preceding paragraph have not, in every instance, been made as therein directed, the collectors are hereby further directed, immediately on the receipt of this Regulation, to ascertain whether the publications above specified have been duly made as prescribed throughout their respective collectorships; and if not, they are to cause the same to be made without delay, in the manner prescribed, as well as in their own cutcherries, and in the cutcherries of the Dewanny Courts situated within their respective zillahs; allowing the further period of one year from the date of such publications for the registry of the lands therein specified. After the expiration of such period, any unregistered land found to be held exempt from the payment of revenue is to be assessed, under the provisions contained in the above Regulations, whenever the same may be discovered; and the collectors are to enter lands so assessed (together with all other la-khiraj lands which may be brought upon the public assessment) in their succeeding quinquennial register of estates paying revenue, as well as in their register of intermediate mutations.—Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xix.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

165. On receipt of this Regulation the collectors are required to issue the publications directed in paragraph 163, in the form therein prescribed, requiring all persons holding lands exempt from the payment of revenue to Government, to register such lands within the period of one year from the date of the publications.—Reg. VII., 1808, sec. ii.

166. After the term of one year from the date of the publications directed to be issued in the preceding paragraph, any lands held free of assessment which may have been omitted to be registered, are hereby declared liable to the payment of revenue to Government.—Reg. VII., 1808, sec. iii.

Cuttack.

167. The period of one year, reckoning from the expiration of the Willaity year 1212, shall be allowed to the proprietors to register their grants. On the expiration of that period of time, the collectors shall prepare the first periodical register of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue under badshahi tenures; and the second, third, and each successive register, at the expiration of every five years.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxix.

General Rule.

168. If any person in possession of any such grant that may be now in force shall omit to register it by the time prescribed in the publication, together with as accurate a detail of the particulars thereby required as he may be able to furnish, the grant shall, by such omission, become subject to resumption, and the lands shall become liable to the payment of revenue to Government. The Governor-General in Council, however, reserves to himself the power of admitting any grant upon the register after the expiration of the prescribed time, in the event of the possessor showing good and sufficient cause, to his satisfaction, for not having registered it within the limited period, and the Board of Revenue are to report to the Governor-General in Council every case in which persons, who may have omitted to register their grants as required, may appear to them entitled to have their grants admitted upon the register.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxi.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxi.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxi., cl. 1.

Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares.

169. The collectors shall receive a commission of twenty-five per cent. on the amount of the annual jumma, which may be assessed in perpetuity, on lands finally resumed and declared liable to be assessed with public revenue, under the preceding paragraph. The commission shall be paid to the collector who shall discover and report to the Board of Revenue the omission of the registry of the lands; unless the Governor-General in Council should deem it equitable, in any particular case, to give the whole or a part of the commission to any other collector.—Reg. LVIII., 1795, sec. ii.

Ceded Provinces.

170. The collectors shall receive a commission of twenty-five per cent. on the amount of the annual jumma which may be assessed on lands finally resumed and declared liable to be assessed with public revenue, under this paragraph. If circumstances should prevent the forming of a settlement of any of the lands on which the collectors may be entitled to a commission under this paragraph, it shall be at the option of the Governor-General in Council to grant a commission on whatever amount he may deem an equitable jumma for such lands. The commission shall be paid to the collector, who shall discover and report to the Board of Revenue the omission of the registry of the lands: unless the Governor-General in Council shall deem it equitable in any particular case to give the whole or a part of the commission to any other collector.—Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxi., cl. 2.

General Rules.

171. After the expiration of the period limited for registering grants, all grants not registered within the prescribed time, and which may not be subsequently admitted on the register by the Governor-General in Council, are declared forfeited, and the lands shall be assessed with revenue, agreeably to the rules prescribed for the decennial settlement.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxii.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxii.

172. It is expressly declared, however, that the registry of a grant under this Regulation is not to be considered as an admission of the right of the person in whose name it may be registered to the property in the soil, nor of the validity of his grant. Any person will be at liberty to sue in the Dewanny Adawlut for the former, and he will be liable to be sued for the resumption of the grant by the collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, in the event of it appearing to that Board that the grant is invalid.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxiii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxiii.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxiii.

173. Upon the expiration of the period for registering the grants in each zillah, the collector is to prepare a draft of the register in the form which may be prescribed by the Board of Revenue, and to cause it to be transcribed into a book of such dimensions as they may direct. The book shall have the following inscription on the back of it:—"Periodical register formed under Regulation XXXVII., 1793 [Regulation XLII., 1795; Regulation XXXVI., 1803], of altumgah, jaghire, and other lands held exempt from the payment of revenue under badshahi grants, in the zillah of ———, at the commencement of the year ———, Bengal (Fusly or Willaity) era, corresponding with the year of the Christian era ———, number ———." Each leaf of the book shall be paged, and be signed by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares]; and on the last leaf of the book he is to note, in his own handwriting, the number of pages in the book, and subscribe the note with his signature, and no register is to be deemed authentic but such as may be entered in a book so paged and attested. The first periodical register is to be numbered one.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxiv.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxiv.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxiv.

174. The second periodical register is to commence with the year 1207 of the era current in each province [1215, Fusly, in the Ceded Provinces]. This register is to be numbered two; and the periodical register, to be prepared at the commencement of every subsequent five years, in the order in which it may be formed.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxv.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxv.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxv.

175. The keepers of the native records are to keep an exact counterpart of the English periodical register, in a volume of such dimensions as the Board of Revenue may prescribe, and which shall be paged, and be attested by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares] in the same manner as the books containing the English registers, and no other counterparts of the registers of grants shall be considered as authentic, but such as may be entered in a book so paged and attested.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxvi.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxvi.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxvi.

176. The counterpart registers are to be kept in the Persian language.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxvii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxvii.; Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xv.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxvii.

177. For the purpose of recording all resumptions, or new grants, or other occurrences respecting the grants which form the subject of this Regulation, that may take place during the interval of the five years between the forming of each periodical register, and the particulars of which will be necessary for forming the second and all future periodical registers, the collectors are to prepare a book of such dimensions as the Board of Revenue may prescribe, and which shall be denominated "The register of intermediate resumptions, or other occurrences, respecting altumgah, jaghire, or other badshahi grants," and shall have the following inscription on the back, "Register formed under Regulation XXXVII., 1793 [Regulation XLII., 1795, and Regulation XXXVI., 1803], of intermediate resumptions or other occurrences respecting altumgah, jaghire, or other lands, held exempt from the payment of revenue under badshahi grants in the zillah of ———, between the commencement of the year ——— and the end of the year ———, Bengal (Fusly or Willaity) era." Previous to any entries being made in this register it is to be paged, and the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares] is to sign each leaf of it, and on the last leaf note, in his own handwriting, the number of pages contained in the book, and attest the note with his signature. The collector is to cause to be entered in this register all grants not registered within the time prescribed in the publication in paragraph 163, which the Governor-General in Council may order to be admitted upon the register under paragraph 168, all grants of land that may be adjudged or become liable to the payment of revenue, all lands now paying revenue which may be adjudged to be held exempt from the payment of revenue by any individuals under any grant, all new grants that may be made by the Governor-General in Council, and all exempted lands held under such grants which may be separated from or annexed to the jurisdiction of the zillah, with the authority for these several occurences, and also the particulars for completing the requisite entries in the register of intermediate occurrences, in the cases specified in paragraphs 158 and 159, in which entries are directed to be made in that register.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxviii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxviii.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxviii.

178. When mohauls are ordered to be separated from one zillah and annexed to another, the collector of the zillah from which the separation is to take place is to transmit to the collector of the zillah to which the annexation is to be made a copy of the entries in the preceding periodical register, as far as they may regard the badshahi grants in such mohauls, and also of any entries respecting them in the register of intermediate occurrences which may have taken place subsequent to the forming of the last periodical register.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxix.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxix.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxix.

179. Upon the arrival of the period when the separation is to be carried into effect, the collector of the zillah from which the separation may be directed to be made is to transmit to the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of his zillah copies of the entries in the last periodical register and register of intermediate occurrences, which may relate to the grants to be separated from his zillah; and the collector to whose zillah the annexation may be made is to transmit copies of the above-mentioned entries (with which he is directed to be furnished in the preceding paragraph) to the judge of the zillah. Immediately on the receipt of these papers, the Court from the jurisdiction of which the separation may be made are to transmit the papers in the causes depending before it, which, in consequence of the separation, may become cognizable in any other Zillah Court, to such Court, and to cause notification thereof to be communicated to the parties in writing.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxx.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxx.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxx.

180. The collectors are to attest all entries in the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences with their official signatures; and they are strictly enjoined never to allow that register to fall in arrear, but to make the necessary entries immediately upon any resumptions or other occurrences taking place.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxxi.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxxi.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxxi.

181. A counterpart of the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences is to be kept by the keepers of the native records, in the same form as the English register, and in a book, the leaves of which are, in like manner, to be paged and attested by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxxii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxxii.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxxii.

182. When a periodical register shall have been transcribed fair into the book attested by the judge of the zillah [judge of the city in Benares], as directed in paragraph 173, if it shall be discovered that the entries respecting any grant are erroneous or incomplete, or that there are any material inaccuracies of the transcriber, the entries are not to be altered or erased, but are to stand, and the collector is to cause the errors or omissions to be noted in the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences, and to attest the entry with his signature, and insert in red ink, opposite to the erroneous or incomplete entries in the periodical register, the number of the page in the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences in which the errors or omissions may be noted, and at the end of the note specify the number of the page of the periodical register in which the property may be registered. Errors or omissions in the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences are to be noted in a similar manner.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxxiii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxxiii.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxxiii.

183. Erroneous or incomplete entries in the counterparts of the registers to be kept by the keepers of the native records, are to be noted by them in the same manner as the collector is directed to note erroneous entries in the English registers. But the note of every such entry in the counterpart of the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences in the country languages shall, in addition to the attestation of the keepers of the native records, be signed by the collector.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxxiv.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxxiv.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxxiv.

184. If the proprietary right in any land included in a badshahi grant shall be under litigation in a Court of Justice at the time of forming the first or any subsequent periodical register, the party in possession is to be registered as the proprietor.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxxv.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxxv.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxxv.

185. If a collector shall have occasion to require from the holder of a grant any information that may be necessary to enable him to form a periodical register, or to make the requisite entries in the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences, and such person shall omit to furnish it by the time required, after having been served by the collector with a written requisition for that purpose under his official seal and signature, the collector is to report the circumstances to the Board of Revenue, who are empowered to impose on such person whatever daily fine may appear to them proper, on a consideration of his situation and circumstances in life and of the case, until he shall furnish the information required, unless he shall prove, to the satisfaction of the Board, that it was not in his power to furnish it. The collector is to levy the amount of such fines by the process to which he is authorized to have recourse for the recovery of arrears of revenue. The Board of Revenue are to furnish the collectors in the several zillahs with such records or information as they may possess regarding the exempted lands in their respective zillahs, as well to assist them in preparing the first periodical register, and in detecting frauds that may be attempted to be practised upon them in registering the grants, as to aid them in ascertaining what lands, now held exempt from the payment of revenue under grants, are liable to the payment of revenue according to this Regulation.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxxvi.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxxvi.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxxvi.

186. The collectors of the several zillahs are to transmit to the Board of Revenue, as early as may be practicable, an attested copy of the periodical registers, both in the English and the native languages, each in a book of the prescribed size, paged and attested by the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah, in the same manner as the original register, as directed in paragraph 173; and within one month after the expiration of the third, sixth, ninth, and twelfth month of the Bengal, Fusly, and Willaity, year (according to the era current in their respective districts), an attested copy of the entries in the register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences that may have taken place during the three preceding months. Whenever the Zillah and City Courts of Dewanny Adawlut may have occasion to refer to any of the registers herein prescribed, they are authorized to require from the collectors the production of the original register, or an attested copy of such part thereof as may contain the required information. The collectors, on the receipt of such requisition, are immediately to transmit the original register, if it can be sent without inconvenience, under the care of one of their native officers, in whose custody it is to remain till returned; or if the original register cannot be conveniently sent, are to transmit without delay an accurate copy of such part thereof as may be required, under the attestation of their official signature. In like manner, the Board of Revenue, on the requisition of the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, are to furnish any zillah register received by them which may be required by that Court; or a copy, attested by the signature of their secretary or accountant, of any part thereof which may be required. In the event of any register required by a Court of Justice not having been prepared, and the period fixed for its preparation having elapsed, the collector is to explain to the Court the cause of such register not having been prepared, and the explanation so given is to be transmitted by the Court receiving it to the Governor-General in Council. Any person succeeding to the office of collector, or invested with the temporary charge of such office, is also required, immediately on his taking charge, to ascertain whether the prescribed registers have been duly prepared; and if not, to report the same to the Board of Revenue, with any explanation he may have received of the omission, for the information of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxxvii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxxvii.; Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xv.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxxvii.

187. The copies of the registers which the collectors of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares, are required by the preceding paragraph to furnish to the Board of Revenue, shall be transmitted by the collectors at the periods therein specified, in the English and Persian languages, to the accountant of the Board of Revenue, who is to report to the Board any instances of the prescribed quarterly copies not having been received at the fixed periods, or of the quinquennial copies not having been received within the year at the commencement of which the quinquennial registers are directed to be prepared; and is to return to the collectors, for correction, any copies of registers received from them which may not have been prepared according to the prescribed form.—Reg. VIII., 1800, part of sec. xv. (NOTE. —The preceding paragraph was not embodied in the Regulation for the Ceded Provinces.)

188. The Board of Revenue and the collectors, are enjoined to be particularly attentive to the preservation of the periodical registers and registers of intermediate resumptions and occurrences, both in the English and native languages; and they are directed to have the fair copies of each, which are to be deposited amongst the public records, bound up with such materials as may be best calculated to prevent their being destroyed by insects, or otherwise.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxxviii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxxviii.; Reg. VIII., 1800, sec. xv.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxxviii.

189. The periodical register which is to be formed in each of the zillahs at the commencement of the Bengal, Fusly, and Willaity year 1207, and at the commencement of every succeeding five years, is to be prepared from the preceding periodical register, and the entries in the subsequent register of intermediate resumptions and occurrences, with the omission of any grants of land that may have been resumed and subjected to the payment of revenue during the preceding five years, or that may have been transferred to the jurisdiction of another zillah, and with the addition of any grants of land that may have been annexed to the zillah, or that may have been admitted upon the register by the Governor-General in Council, under paragraph 168; also new grants made by the Governor-General in Council, and lands which any person may be adjudged entitled to hold exempted from the payment of revenue under a badshahi grant, by a final decree of a Court of Judicature in a suit instituted under these rules. The materials for each periodical register will thus be ready upon the arrival of the period for preparing it, and the register will be completed by the mere transcript of them into the book, arranged according to the prescribed form.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xxxix.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xxxix.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xxxix. (NOTE.—The latter rule substitutes Fusly, 1215, for the words underlined.)

190. The judges of the Zillah and City Courts in the four provinces shall furnish the collectors of the districts in which the land may be situated, and the Board of Revenue, with a copy of every decree in suits between individuals which they may pass, or which may be sent to them by superior Courts to enforce, by which the right in, or possession of, any lands held exempt from the payment of public revenue, under whatever description of grant the same may be so held, may be affected, in order that the collectors may be enabled to make the necessary entries of the alterations in such right or possession to be inserted in the quinquennial registers of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue. The copies of such decrees shall be transmitted by the judge within twenty days after the same may be passed or received by him.—Reg. LVIII., 1795, sec. iii.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xliii. (NOTE.—See post, sec. xi., Reg. III., 1828, paragraph 328.)

191. If it shall be proved, to the satisfaction of the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut of any zillah, that a native officer of a collector, or of an assistant to a collector, shall have received, directly or indirectly, any sum of money, or effects or other property, from any person for registering a grant under these rules, or on account of any matter relating to the registry thereof, the Court shall adjudge him dismissed from his office, and compel him to repay the money proved to have been taken, with a fine of three times the amount to Government and costs to the party suing him, and commit him to prison until he shall have discharged the amount of the decree, or it shall have been made good by the sale of his property.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xl.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xl.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xl.

192. If any native servant or dependent of a collector, or of an assistant to a collector, not being a public officer, shall be convicted before the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the offence specified in the preceding paragraph, he shall be compelled to restore the money to the person from whom it may have been taken, and to pay a fine of three times the amount to Government, with costs to the party suing, and be confined for six months; and if he shall not discharge the amount of the decree by the expiration of the sixth month, he shall be confined until he makes good the amount, or it shall be realized from the sale of his property; and the collector or assistant is to discharge such servant, and never to employ him in his public or private capacity.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xli.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xli.; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xli.

193. No part of these rules is to be considered to extend to lands held, or stated to be held, exempt from the payment of public revenue under grants not being of the description of those termed badshahi, or royal. The rules applicable to such grants are contained in Regulation XIX., 1793.—Reg. XXXVII., 1793, sec. xlii.; Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xlii., cl. 1; Reg. XXXVI., 1803, sec. xlii.

194. Nor to any of the peshkushy mehauls specified in Section XVII., Regulation II., 1795 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraph 128).—Reg. XLII., 1795, sec. xlii., cl. 2.

NOTE.—In addition to the preceding rules for the Registry of La-khiraj, the rules in Sections XVII., XVIII., and XXI., Regulation VIII., 1800 ("REGISTRY OF ESTATES," paragraphs 61, 62, 63), are also applicable, so far as relates to the Lower Provinces and Benares; these rules, not having been incorporated in the Regulations for the Ceded Provinces, are not applicable to those Provinces. The rules for the Pergunnah Register of Malguzary and La-khiraj will be found under "REGISTRY OF ESTATES," commencing with paragraph 48.

MOCURREREE AND ISTIMRAREE GRANTS IN THE CEDED AND CONQUERED PROVINCES.

195. On the death of any person holding lands in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, or in Bundlecund, on a mocurreree or istimrar tenure granted by the native governments, it shall be the duty of the collector of the zillah in which the lands are situated to proceed to the assessment thereof, under such instructions as he shall receive from the Board of Revenue on the subject, and that Board shall apply to the Governor-General in Council for special orders, in any case which may appear to call for a deviation from the established rules prescribed for the public assessment; in order, that if the Governor-General in Council shall in any case see grounds for granting any abatement from the jumma, which on that principle would be assessed on the lands, he may take the subject into his consideration, and may allow such reduction of the jumma as may be deemed proper.—Reg. I., 1815, sec. ii.

196. No Court of Justice shall on any account take cognizance of the question of resumption of grants of the nature described in the preceding paragraph on the death of the holder, nor of the assessment of the lands consequent thereto. The adjudication of all claims on these accounts shall rest definitively with the revenue authorities, subject only to the approval of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. I., 1815, sec. iii.

197. Nothing contained in the preceding paragraph shall be construed to preclude the Courts of Justice from receiving, hearing, trying, and deciding on claims to the actual property in the lands situated within a mocurreree or istimrar, as well as to all or any of the rights, privileges, or advantages annexed to such property by the existing laws or established usages of the country.—Reg. I., 1815, sec. iv.

198. Nothing herein contained shall be considered to deprive the revenue officers of the right to resume, as heretofore, any mocurreree tenure proved to be illegal or invalid, during the life of the present incumbent.—Reg. I., 1815, sec. v.

199. All such mocurreree or istimrar having been declared to be life tenures only, the Courts of Judicature are hereby further prohibited from taking cognizance of any claim to hold any land at a mocurreree or istimrar rent, by virtue of any grant, the possessor of which may have died at any time subsequent to the cession or conquest.—Reg. I., 1815, sec. vi.

INVESTIGATION AND ASSESSMENT OF LA-KHIRAJ AND UNASSESSED LANDS BY THE REVENUE AUTHORITIES.

200. It is hereby declared and enacted, that all lands which, at the period of the decennial settlement, were not included within the limits of any pergunnah, mouza, or other division of estates for which a settlement was concluded with the owners, not being lands for which a distinct settlement may have been made since the period above referred to, nor lands held free of assessment under a valid and legal title of the nature specified in Regulations XIX. and XXXVII., 1793, and in the corresponding Regulations subsequently enacted, are and shall be considered liable to assessment in the same manner as other unsettled mehauls, and the revenue assessed on all such lands, whether exceeding one hundred begahs or otherwise, shall belong to Government; provided, however, that nothing in the above rule shall be construed to affect the rights reserved to zemindars, talookdars, and other proprietors of estates, with whom a permanent settlement has been concluded, to the exclusive enjoyment of the rent assessed on lands held on an invalid tenure, free of assessment, within the limits of their respective estates and talooks, and of which the extent may not exceed one hundred begahs if in Bengal, Behar, or Orissa, and fifty begahs if within the province of Benares.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. iii, cl. 1.

201. The foregoing principles shall be deemed applicable not only to tracts of land, such as are described to have been brought into cultivation in the Sunderbuns, but to all churs and islands formed since the period of the decennial settlement, and generally to all lands gained by alluvion or dereliction since that period, whether from an introcession of the sea, an alteration in the course of rivers, or the gradual accession of soil on their banks.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. iii., cl. 2.

202. The same principle shall likewise be deemed applicable to all lands which, though included at the period of the permanent settlement within the limits of talooks held by individuals under special pottahs from the collector, such as the putteetabady and jungulboory talooks in the districts of the Twenty-four Pergunnahs and Jessore, may not have been permanently assessed at the above-mentioned period; provided, however, that in respect to such lands, if in the possession of the original pottah-holder, or his legal representative, the conditions of the pottah in regard to the assessment of the land included within the limits specified in that instrument shall be strictly maintained.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. iii., cl. 3.

203. The several rules prescribed in Regulations XIX. and XXXVII. of 1793; and Regulations XLI. and XLII. of 1795; Regulations XXXI. and XXXVI. of 1803; Regulations VIII. and XII. of 1805; for determining the validity of grants for holding lands exempt from the payment of public revenue, are hereby declared applicable to grants for holding lands under mocurrery or other tenures limiting the demand of Government; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to affect the rules contained in Regulation VIII., 1793 ("SETTLEMENT"), relative to the assessment of lands held under valid grants, or leases, of the above nature, nor to alter the provisions contained in paragraphs 195 to 199, by which tenures of that description are declared liable to assessment on the death of the grantee.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. iv.

NOTE.—The provisions of the following paragraphs are modified, so far as they relate to the special powers of collectors revising settlements, by paragraphs 265 to 276, and the collectors are empowered, by paragraph 307, in those districts in which special commissioners have been appointed under Regulation III., 1828, to institute the inquiries herein directed, without previously applying for the sanction of the Board of Revenue.

204. Whenever a collector of revenue, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, shall have reason to believe that any lands lying within the sphere of his official control are liable to assessment, either as being held under an invalid tenure free of assessment, or at an inadequate jumma, or as being liable to assessment on the principles stated in paragraphs 200 to 202, he shall report the circumstances to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, who, should they be of opinion that proper grounds exist for inquiry, shall direct the collector or other officer aforesaid to enter on an investigation of the case in the manner hereafter mentioned.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. v., cl. 1.

205. The collector, on receiving the authority of the Board of Revenue, shall call the party before him by a notice, stating the demand of Government on the lands, and requiring him to attend either in person or by vakeel within the period of one month, and to produce all sunnuds, or other writings, in virtue of which he may possess the lands, or under which they may have been or may be claimed to be held free of assessment, or at a fixed jumma.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. v., cl. 2.

206. If the persons whose lands it is proposed to assess have an accredited agent at the sudder station, with general powers to act for his principal, the notice to be issued under the preceding paragraph shall be tendered to such agent, to be communicated by him to his principal, and the agent's acknowledgment to be endorsed upon it shall be accepted as a sufficient service of it, if he be desirous of giving such acknowledgment in preference to the notice being served on the person of his principal by a chupprassy, or peon of the collector.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. v., cl. 3.

207. If the person, the revenue of whose lands it is proposed to resume, shall not have an accredited agent at the sudder station of the description above mentioned, or if such agent shall decline receiving the notice for communication to his constituent, and the defendant be resident within the collectorship, it shall be served on him through the nazir of the collector by a single chupprassy or peon, who shall require the acknowledgment of the party to be endorsed upon it, or if he be absent from his usual place of residence, the acknowledgment of his principal agent, or of any person acting for him during his absence. If the party be resident within the jurisdiction of any other collectorship than that in which the lands proposed to be assessed are situated, the notice shall be transmitted to the collector of the district in which the party may reside, to be served in the manner above directed. If the party be neither resident within the collectorship in which the lands in question may be situated, nor in any other collectorship, the notice shall be served upon his agent or representative in charge of the lands.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. v., cl. 4.

208. Provided always, that if any party or his agent in charge of his land, on whom a notice may be served in the manner above prescribed, shall refuse to acknowledge the receipt of it when required by the person serving it, the tender of the notice to such party or his agent shall be taken for a sufficient service; such tender to be proved by the evidence of two persons residing on the lands, or in the nearest village.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. v., cl. 5.

209. The collector shall, in the notice summoning the party, warn him, that if he withhold any writings of the nature specified in paragraph 205, within the period prescribed, they will not afterwards be received, unless he shall show good and sufficient cause for not producing them, and shall assign such cause on his appearing before him.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. v., cl. 6.

210. If the holder of such lands to whom a notice may have been issued, as directed in paragraphs 204 to 209, shall abscond, or if not, after diligent search, to be found, or shall shut himself up in any house or building, or retire to any place, so that the notice cannot be served upon him, the collector, or other officer exercising the power of collector, on receiving the nazir's return to this effect, shall issue a proclamation, to be affixed in some conspicuous part of his cutcherry. The proclamation shall be written in the Persian and Bengal languages in the provinces of Bengal and Orissa (including Cuttack); in the Persian language and character, and in the Hindoostanee language and Nageree character, in Behar, Benares, and in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces; and it shall contain a copy of the former notice, and a further notification to the party, that if he shall not appear on a day to be fixed (which shall not be less than fifteen days from the time that the proclamation may be fixed up), the collector will proceed, without further notice, to hold the inquiry ex parte. The collector, or other officer exercising the power of collector, shall likewise order a copy of the proclamation and notice to be fixed up, with all practicable dispatch, on the outer door of the house in which the holder of the lands may have usually dwelt, or in some conspicuous place in the chief village within, or in the neighbourhood of, the lands proposed to be assessed.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. vi., cl. 1.

211. The nazir shall return the order with an endorsement, stating at what times and places the proclamation may have been fixed up. The return of the nazir shall be filed with the collector's proceedings in the case. If the party shall not appear at the time limited in the proclamation, or if a party who may have been served with a notice shall not appear within the time therein limited, or if, having appeared, he shall refuse to give answer, the collector shall proceed to investigate and decide upon the case in the same manner as if the party had appeared, answered, and entered into proof.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. vi., cl. 2.

212. In cases of land supposed to be liable to assessment under the provisions of paragraphs 200 to 202, the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, shall institute a full and particular inquiry into the circumstances and condition of the land in question at the period of the decennial settlement; and in cases of alluvion land, into the period of its formation.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. vii.

213. When an inquiry in regard to land of the nature of that described in the foregoing paragraph shall have been authorized, it shall be competent to the collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, previously obtained, to cause a survey or measurement to be made of all such lands, and of the estate to which such lands may be alleged to belong.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. viii.

214. It shall likewise be competent to the collector, in all cases of inquiry held under the provisions of this Regulation, to summon the putwarry, gomashtah, or other person by whom the accounts relating to the lands proposed to be assessed, or to the estate to which the lands may be alleged to belong, are kept, and to require him to produce all accounts relating to such lands or estate, and to examine him on oath or affirmation to the truth of such accounts, and on any other matter relating to such accounts, or regarding such lands or estate, in the manner specified in Section XXII., Regulation XII. of 1817.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. ix.

215. It shall be further competent to the collector in such cases, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, to require the person claiming to be proprietor or farmer of the lands proposed to be assessed, or of the estates to which they are alleged to belong, to attend either in person or by representative, and to produce all the accounts relating to such lands or estate within a reasonable period, not being less than one week.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. x.

216. Whenever the collector, or person exercising the powers of collector, shall require the attendance of any proprietor or farmer, or of any putwarry or gomashtah, or other officer, for the purpose stated in the preceding paragraphs, he is to serve such proprietor, or other person as aforesaid, with a written notice under his official seal and signature, stating the purpose for which his attendance is required, the papers (if any) which he is to bring with him, and the period within which he is to attend.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xi., cl. 1.

217. Provided, further, that the rules contained in Section III., Regulation XIV., 1793 ("Realization of Revenue," paragraph 40), regarding the mode of serving process for the recovery of arrears of revenue, shall be held applicable to processes issued by a collector, or other officer exercising the powers of a collector, under the provisions contained in paragraphs 214 and 215, excepting always so much of the said rules as prescribes that the peon serving the summons shall be paid by the party in whose name it is issued.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xi., cl. 2.

218. If any putwarry, gomashtah, or other person by whom the accounts of lands are kept, and who may be summoned by a collector or commissioner, under the provisions contained in paragraphs 214, 216, and 217, shall neglect or omit to produce his original accounts on the requisition of the collector or commissioner, or to give his evidence regarding them, or shall intentionally and deliberately give a false deposition on oath or affirmation before the collector or commissioner, when summoned and examined as aforesaid, or shall alter, fabricate, falsify, or mutilate the accounts relating to such lands, or to the estate to which such lands are stated to belong, shall be and be held liable to the pains and penalties specified in Sections XXIII., XXVI., and XXVII. of Regulation XII., 1817, according as the provisions of one or other of those sections may be applicable to the offence committed by him.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xii.

219. If the holder of any lands, in regard to which the collector shall have been authorized by the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, to institute the inquiry described by paragraph 212, shall refuse or neglect to furnish the accounts relating to such lands within the period specified in the collector's requisition, the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, shall be competent to direct the lands to be immediately attached, and the rents collected on account of Government, in the same manner as if the lands were the property of Government. In such cases, however, it shall still be the duty of the collector to make a full inquiry into the title of the holder of the lands, and to transmit his proceedings to the Board, who will decide whether the lands shall be deemed permanently liable to assessment.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 1.

220. Provided further, that if the holder of any lands assessed under these rules shall institute a suit in Court to contest the decision of the revenue authorities, and shall produce any accounts or documents beside such as he may have delivered to the collector, the accounts or documents so produced shall not be received by the Court in evidence, nor shall they have any weight in the decision, any more than if they had never existed, unless he shall show good cause, to the satisfaction of the Court, for not having produced the said accounts or documents, and shall prove that he assigned such cause in answer to the collector's requisition, or show good cause for not having done so.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 2.

221. Provided also, that if any proprietor or farmer shall omit, or refuse to attend, or to cause his officer or agent to attend when duly summoned by the collector or commissioner, by the time prescribed in the notice issued by the collector or commissioner, or shall omit or refuse to furnish the accounts or documents required, and to show sufficient cause for such omission, the collector or commissioner is authorized and empowered to impose upon him such daily fine, to be payable daily, until he complies with the requisition, as the collector or commissioner may think adequate to his situation and circumstances in life; reporting, however, the amount for the information of the Governor-General in Council. The fine is to levied by the same process as is prescribed for the recovery of arrears of revenue.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 3; Act XX., 1848.

222. If any zemindar or other person shall resist, or cause to be resisted, the attachment or measurement of lands, which the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, shall have authorized the collector or commissioner to attach or measure, under the provisions of this Regulation, or shall resist, or cause to be resisted, any process duly issued by the collector or commissioner, to compel a putwarry, gomashtah, or other officer, to produce his accounts, and to give his evidence respecting them under the provisions contained in paragraph 214, it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, on being satisfied that he is guilty of the charge, to adjudge the zemindar, or other person so offending, to pay such fine to Government as may appear to it proper, upon a consideration of his situation and circumstances in life, and of the offence which he may have committed, and to levy the fine in the mode prescribed for the recovery of arrears of revenue; provided, however, that if the fine shall exceed five hundred rupees, the Board shall submit a report of the case to the Governor-General in Council, and shall not proceed to levy the fine until they shall receive authority from Government for that purpose.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xiv.

223. When the party whose lands it may be proposed to assess shall appear in conformity with the notice or summons, and shall deliver up his title-deeds, the collector shall give a receipt for them, and after duly examining them, shall deliver to the party a statement of the grounds on which his land may appear liable to assessment, with copies, on plain paper, of all documents on which his opinion may be founded. The collector shall then desire the party to deliver a written answer within seven days.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xv.

224. It shall be the duty of the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, carefully to number, mark, date, and sign all documents produced by a zemindar, or other person in possession of the lands proposed to be assessed, in support of his claim, to hold them free of assessment, or as parcel of an estate for which a permanent settlement shall have been concluded, and to insert in his proceedings the title and number of such documents, so that no doubt may exist in regard to their having been exhibited before him; and the collector shall, before proceeding to judgment, warn the party that no accounts or other documentary evidence of any kind which he shall not produce before him, and for not producing which he may not assign good and sufficient cause, will be received at any future period, either by the revenue or judicial authorities, and shall record his having done so on the face of his proceedings.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xvi.

225. On receiving the answer of the party, the collector shall summon any witnesses he may deem necessary to support the claim of Government, with any which the party may desire to have summoned on his behalf, and shall take their depositions in judicial form, and in the presence of the party or his authorized agent.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xvii.

226. The collector shall carefully examine all documents that may be produced by the party, and shall likewise give the party access to inspect all documents on which he may rely in proof of the liability of the land to assessment.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xviii.

227. The collectors, and other officers exercising the powers of collectors, are hereby authorized to summon witnesses and administer oaths, or cause the execution of solemn declarations in lieu thereof, in all cases brought before them under these rules; provided that if any witness shall refuse to take the oath or affirmation required from him, he shall be sent to the judge of the Zillah or City Court, to be confined, as prescribed by the Regulations in similar cases.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xix., cl. 1.

228. Any person giving intentionally and deliberately a false deposition on oath, or under a solemn declaration taken instead of an oath, relative to any proceeding depending before a collector, or other officer exercising the power of collector, under these rules, and upon a point material to the issue thereof, shall be held and considered guilty of perjury, and shall be liable to the penalties prescribed for that offence in the Regulations; and any person causing or procuring another person to commit the offence of perjury, as above described, is declared guilty of subornation of perjury, and punishable under the provisions of the said Regulations.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xix., cl. 2.

229. Persons resisting any process issued by the collector, or other officer exercising the power of collector, in any case depending before him under these rules, shall, in addition to the penalty prescribed in this, and the two preceding paragraphs, be liable to the penalties prescribed for cases of resistance to the process of a collector in Regulation XIV., 1793, Regulation VI., 1795, and Regulation XXVII., 1803 ("Realization of Revenue"), under the provisions therein specified. —Reg. II., 1819, sec. xix., cl. 3.

230. Having closed his proceedings, the collector shall record his opinion in a roobakarry, detailing the grounds on which it is founded, and whether the lands appear liable to assessment or otherwise, and shall forward his proceedings to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, in such mode as may be directed by that authority, furnishing the party at the same time with a copy on plain paper of the final roobakarry aforesaid, and reporting his having done so to the Board, or other authority aforesaid.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xx.

231. The Board of Revenue, or other authority aforesaid, after calling for any further evidence which, on a consideration of the collector's proceedings, they may deem wanting, shall on a day to be fixed by a public notice affixed in the office, not being less than six weeks from the date on which the collector may have furnished the party with a copy of his final roobakarry, and after hearing anything which the party, if in attendance, may wish to urge in his own behalf, proceed to pass judgment in the case, and shall record their opinion in a Persian roobakarry, delivering a copy thereof to the party, on his requisition to that effect.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 1.

232. The final roobakarries, which the collectors and the Boards are by the provisions of paragraphs 231 to 234 directed to record, shall contain a distinct statement of the subject-matter of the case, the grounds on which the decision may be given, the names of the witnesses whose depositions may have been taken, and the title of every exhibit read.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 2.

233. If the Board of Revenue, or other authority aforesaid, pronounce against the assessment, the proceedings shall be considered final, except on proof in a Court of Judicature of fraud or collusion in the previous inquiry.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xx ,cl. 3.

234. In the event of the Board's declaring the lands liable to assessment, the collector shall inform the party or his vakeel of the decision of the Board, and shall proceed to ascertain the limits of the land, and shall fix an assessment on the principles of the general Regulations on such information as may be procurable.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 4.

NOTE.—The provisions of the six following paragraphs would seem to be entirely superseded by paragraphs 325 to 329. As, however, those rules are declared to be in "modification" only, it has been deemed advisable to retain these in italics.

235. If the party shall, within a fortnight of his receiving intimation of the Board's decision, tender to the collector responsible security for the payment, from that date, of the jumma which may eventually be fixed on the land, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent., and shall engage to institute a suit in the Court in which the case may be cognizable within ten days, commencing from the date of the deed of security, or (if the Court shall be shut, and shall not be opened until after the expiration of such ten days) within three days, calculating from the day on which it may be opened, to try the justness of the demand, the collector shall leave the party in possession as before, reporting the circumstance for the information of the Board; provided, however, that in such cases the party shall produce all his accounts of collections for the information of the collector, in estimating the amount of the security to be required.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxii., cl. 1.

236. If the party be willing to give security for a portion only of the jumma eventually assessable on the land, it shall be competent to him to do so on the conditions above specified. In this case the collector shall, under the orders of the Board, either hold the lands khas or farm them, for such period as the Board may direct, and shall pay to the party a portion of the collections proportionate to the amount for which he may be willing and able to give responsible security.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxii., cl. 2.

237. It shall be competent to the Court to direct the collector to take the security offered by the party, if he shall refuse to do so, and the Court shall be satisfied that it is sufficient; but it shall rest with the collector, subject to the directions of the Board, to fix the amount for which the surety is to be held bound.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxii., cl. 3.

238. The amount shall not, in the first instance, exceed the estimated annual revenue assessable on the lands, or the amount receivable by the party in one year, with interest; but if at the expiration of one year from the date on which the party may receive intimation of the Board's decision, the suit shall still be pending, it shall be competent to the collector to require additional security for the same amount.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxii., cl. 4.

239. In mocurrerees the parties giving security, and intending to sue, shall continue to pay the mocurreree jumma, and will be required to give security for the remaining revenue which may be eventually demandable from them.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxii., cl. 5.

240. If the party neglect to sue, the collector shall proceed to the final assessment of the land.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxiii.

241. Persons whose lands may be assessed, either in failure to give security, or to institute a suit within the prescribed time, shall nevertheless be entitled to sue any time, within one year from the date of their being informed of the Board's decision; but after the above period shall have elapsed, the decision of the Board shall be final and conclusive; provided, however, that in cases in which the party may be able to show good and sufficient cause for not having sued within the said period, such as minority or absence, no limitation as to time shall prevail other than that generally prescribed by the existing Regulations in regard to private claims.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxiv., cl. 1.

242. Provided also, that in cases in which the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, may have directed the resumption of lands held free of assessment under the powers vested in them, if the parties whose lands have been assessed shall be able to show good and sufficient cause for not having instituted a suit to try the merits of the Board's decision, within the period prescribed by those Regulations, they shall in like manner be subject only to such limitation in respect to time as is prescribed generally in regard to private claims.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxiv., cl. 2. (NOTE.—See post, paragraph 327.)

243 In cases instituted in the Zillah Court, if that Court maintains the decision of the Revenue authorities, and if the sum in contest shall be less than ten thousand rupees, a special appeal shall lie to the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut on special grounds only; but in cases in which a Zillah Court shall annul or alter a judgment passed by the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, or when the amount in contest shall exceed the sum of ten thousand rupees, a regular appeal shall lie to the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxvi., cl. 1; Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. vi.

244. Provided also, that the provisions contained in Section II., Regulation XXVI. of 1814, shall not be applicable to such appeals, but the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, in all cases of special appeal being preferred in conformity with the provisions of this Regulation, shall, together with the decree against which such appeal may be lodged, likewise peruse the final roobakary filed in the case by the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board; and if, on a consideration of those documents, the decision of the Court should appear unjust, or erroneous, or doubtful, or its proceedings in the case manifestly irregular or imperfect; or if, from the nature of the cause, as stated in the decree or otherwise, it shall appear to them of sufficient importance to merit a further investigation in appeal, they shall admit a special appeal.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxvi., cl. 2.

245. In cases in which parties whose lands the revenue authorities may adjudge liable to assessment shall bring a suit to contest the decision, in the manner prescribed in paragraphs 235 to 239, the petition of plaint shall be received on stamped paper of the value of one rupee; provided, however, that if the suit be decided in favour of Government, the plaintiff shall be answerable for the amount of the stamp-duty which he would have had to pay under the ordinary rules regarding civil suits in lieu of the institution-fee, unless the Court shall decide that there was a fair ground for contesting the decision of the Board.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxvii.

246. On the production of any written document purporting to be a firmaun of any king of Delhi, or to be a sunnud, purwanna, or other grant of any vizier, or of any nawaub, rajah, or other potentate or person formerly exercising authority in any part of the provinces and territories now subject to the British Government, it shall be the duty of the revenue and judicial authorities before whom such document may be produced, to ascertain the validity and authenticity of it, by reference to such offices and records, and by the examination of such living witnesses as may be likely to lead to the due appreciation thereof; and the said authorities shall not receive such document in evidence merely on the credit of the seal or other attestations impressed upon it, without some external evidence in corroboration of its authenticity.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxviii., cl. 1.

247. Provided also, that no document of the above description, which may be produced to any Court or Adawlut, shall be received, nor any proceedings held thereon, nor any faith given thereto, unless it shall be proved that the said document has been duly registered under the rules and requisitions of Regulations XIX. and XXXVII., 1793; XLI. and XLII., 1795; VIII., 1800; XXXI. and XXXVI., 1803; and VII., 1808; or unless due cause be shown for the non-registry.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxviii., cl. 2.

248. Whenever a collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, shall have reason to suspect the validity of the original tenure under which any land subsequently commuted for a money pension, of the description noticed in Regulation XXIV., 1803, and Regulation VI., 1817, was held, it shall be competent to him, with the previous sanction of the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, to proceed in the investigation of the tenure under which such land was held, in the same manner as collectors are authorized by this Regulation to proceed in regard to the tenure of lands now held free of assessment; and if the Board shall be of opinion that the tenure was invalid, it shall be competent to them to resume the money pension granted in consideration thereof, subject to an appeal to the Courts of Judicature, in the manner prescribed by this Regulation, in cases in which the Board may direct the assessment of land held free of assessment; provided, however, that it shall not be competent to the revenue authorities to resume any money pension of the above description, of which the incumbent may have been in the enjoyment, under orders of the Governor-General in Council, for a period of twelve years or more.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxix.

249. All suits preferred in a Court of Judicature by proprietors, farmers, or talookdars, to the revenue of any land held free of assessment, as well as all suits so preferred by individuals claiming to hold lands exempt from revenue, shall, immediately on their institution, be referred for investigation to the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector; provided also, that proprietors, farmers, or talookdars, who may deem themselves entitled to the revenue of any land held free of assessment in their respective estates, talooks, or farms, or individuals claiming as aforesaid to hold lands free of assessment, shall be at liberty to prefer their claims in the first instance to the collector; provided, further, that the party so preferring his claim directly to the collector shall, in his petition to the collector, state the particulars of his claim, and the grounds on which it is founded, in like manner as if the suit were instituted in a Court of Judicature; and the petition shall be written on stamped paper of the value prescribed for petitions of plaint in suits instituted in those Courts.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 1.

250. Suits instituted under the preceding paragraph may, according to their amount, be referred for decision to the principal sudder ameens, sudder ameens, or moonsiffs.—Act XXV., 1837, sec. ii.; Act XXVI., 1852, sec. iv.

251. On receiving a petition of the above nature from any proprietor, farmer, or talookdar, claiming the revenue of any land held free of assessment in their respective estates, or on a reference being in such case made from a Court of Judicature, the collector shall serve on the defendant a written notice, containing a short statement of the demand, and requiring the defendant to attend in person or by vakeel within the period of one month, and to produce all sunnuds or other documents in virtue of which he may possess the lands, and under which they may have been or may be claimed to be held free of assessment.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 2.

252. When the defendant shall appear and deliver up his title-deeds, the collector, after allowing the claimant to inspect and examine them, shall call upon him to deliver, within the period of seven days, a full statement of the grounds on which, with reference to the documents, he may consider the tenure of the defendant invalid, and the lands liable to assessment, with all documents on which his claim to the revenue of them may be founded.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 3.

253. When the claimant shall have delivered in the said statement and documents, the collector shall proceed to investigate the case, and to record his final judgment on it, in the same manner and with the same powers as in cases in which he may himself propose to assess lands on account of Government.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 4.

254. The parties shall respectively be subject to the same rules in regard to the use of stamped paper, on summoning witnesses and filing exhibits, as are prescribed for suits instituted in the Zillah or City Courts.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 5.

255. In cases in which Government may not be itself a party, and in which the suit may have been originally instituted in a Court of Judicature, the collector, on closing his proceedings, shall transmit them, with all documents therein referred to, to the Court by which the reference may have been made, recording his sentiments on the case as prescribed in paragraphs 230 to 234, and the Court shall proceed to decide the case, after calling for such further evidence as may appear necessary; provided, however, that no sunnuds, accounts, or other documentary evidence of any kind, which may not have been produced before the collector, and for not producing which the party may not have assigned a sufficient cause, shall be received by the Court.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 6.

256. In cases of the above description, which may have been preferred directly to the collector, if either of the parties shall be dissatisfied with the decision passed by that officer, he shall be at liberty to appeal to the Zillah or City Court by a petition written on stamped paper of the value of one rupee; provided, however, that no such appeal shall be received unless preferred within the period of three months from the date of the collector's decision, or on good and sufficient cause being shown for a further delay.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 7.

257. The judge, on receiving such petitition, shall require the collector to transmit all the proceedings held by him in the case with the documents therein referred to, and shall proceed to investigate and decide on the case in like manner as if it had been originally instituted in the Court, and referred by it to the collector.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 8.

258. In all cases in which Government may be the defendant, or in which the revenue of the lands claimed may form part of an estate liable to a variable assessment, the collector shall, on closing his proceedings, submit them to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, for their decision. In such cases, if the suit shall have been referred by a Court of Judicature, the collector shall postpone the transmission of his return to the reference, until he shall receive the orders of the Board or other authority aforesaid, and if the claim shall have been originally preferred to the collector, the Courts of Judicature shall not interfere until the decision of the Board shall have been passed; provided, however, that in all such cases the decision of the Board shall be recorded in a Persian roobakary, and transmitted to the collector in that form for the information of the parties; provided, further, that in cases in which the claim may have been originally preferred to the collector, the party, if dissatisfied with the decision of the Board, shall be at liberty to appeal to the Court by which the case may be cognizable, any time within the period of three months from the date on which the Board's decision may have been communicated to such party or to his vakeel, or, in their absence, from the date on which the roobakary containing the Board's decision may have been brought on the collector's record of the case.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 9.

259. If the party shall not apply to the Court within the said period, and shall fail to show good and sufficient cause for the delay, the decision of the revenue authorities shall be final, and shall, on application of the party in whose favour it may have been passed, be carried into effect by the Courts of Judicature, in the manner in which the decrees of Courts are executed.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 10.

260. Provided also, that in cases in which the right of resuming the revenue of lands held free of assessment, or of recovering possession under such a tenure of lands which may have been subjected to assessment, shall have been adjudged by the revenue authorities, the Courts shall in like manner carry the decision of the said authorities into immediate effect, notwithstanding the admission of an appeal therefrom, unless the party so applying shall give good and sufficient security for the payment of the mesne profits accruing from the lands under dispute.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 11.

261. In cases of the above description, which may be decided by the Courts of Judicature, in appeal from the decision of the revenue authorities, whether the claim be preferred in the first instance to the Court, or collector, a special appeal only shall be admitted by the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, excepting always cases which, from their amount, may be appealable to the Queen in Council; provided also, that the rules contained in paragraphs 243 and 244 shall be applied to all appeals of the above nature.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxx., cl. 12; Reg. VII., 1832, sec. xiii.

262. Nothing herein contained shall be considered to affect the right of the proprietors of estates for which a permanent settlement has been concluded, to the full benefit of all waste lands included within the ascertained boundaries of such estates respectively, at the period of the decennial settlement, and which have since been or may hereafter be reduced to cultivation. The exclusive advantages resulting from the improvement of all such lands were guaranteed to the proprietors by the conditions of that settlement, and it being left to the Courts of Judicature to decide on all contested cases, whether lands assessed under the provisions of this Regulation were included at the period of the decennial settlement within the limits of estates for which a settlement has been concluded in perpetuity, and to reverse the decision of the revenue authorities in any case in which it shall appear that lands which actually formed, at the period in question, a component part of such an estate, have been unjustly subjected to assessment under the provisions of this Regulation, the zemindars and other proprietors of land will be enabled, by an application to the Courts, to obtain immediate redress in any case in which the revenue authorities shall violate or encroach on the rights secured to them by the permanent settlement.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxxi., cl. 1.

263. It is further hereby declared and enacted, that all claims by the revenue authorities on behalf of Government to additional revenue from lands which were at the period of the decennial settlement included within the limits of estates for which a permanent settlement has been concluded, whether on the plea of error or fraud, or on any pretext whatever, saving of course the case of lands expressly excluded from the operation of the settlement, such as la-khiraj and thannadary lands, shall be and be considered wholly illegal and invalid.—Reg. II., 1819, sec. xxxi. cl. 2.

SPECIAL POWERS OF COLLECTORS MAKING OR REVISING SETTLEMENTS.

264. The following rules are enacted in modification of paragraphs 204 to 211, 213, 215 to 217, 219 to 221, 223, 235 to 239, 249, and 251 to 261.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 1.

265. Whenever a collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, shall visit or be about to visit any mehaul for the purpose of making a settlement in the manner prescribed in Regulation VII., 1822 ("SETTLEMENT"), it shall be competent to him, by a notification to be stuck up in some conspicuous place within such mehaul, and each village thereof, if consisting of several villages, to require all persons holding lands free of assessment, or at a fixed jumma, within or adjoining to the village or villages in which the lands of such mehaul or any part thereof may be situate, to appear before him either in person or by vakeel within a reasonable time, not being less than one month from the date of such notification, at such place within the mehaul as he may select for holding his office, and to attend him from day to day while he may continue within the mehaul, with all sunnuds or other writings in virtue of which they may possess the lands, or under which the lands may have been or may be claimed to be held free of assessment or at a fixed jumma, together with any evidence they may desire to have taken in support of their claims.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 2.

266. It shall likewise be competent to collectors and other officers aforesaid, when engaged in the settlement of any mehaul under the rules of the Regulation above mentioned, or preparatory thereto, to measure or cause to be measured, without a previous reference to the Board of Revenue, all lands, whether malguzary or la-khiraj, belonging or adjoining to the village or villages in which such mehaul or any part thereof may be situated.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 3.

267. When the collector or other officer aforesaid shall have commenced the settlement of any mehaul, in regard to which he may have issued a notification as aforesaid, and shall propose to hear the claims of persons holding lands free of assessment or at a fixed jumma, and to receive their sunnuds and other writings as aforesaid, or any of them, the period fixed in the notification for the attendance of such parties being arrived, he shall, on the day preceding that on which he may intend to hold proceedings in the said cases or any of them, notify such intention by an ishtihar, stuck up in his office and in some place open to the public within the mehaul.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 4.

268. If any person holding land free of assessment, or at a fixed jumma as aforesaid, shall fail to attend either in person or by vakeel, after notice being given in the manner above prescribed, the collector shall be competent to proceed ex parte to investigate the title of such party to hold the land in his possession free of assessment, and with the sanction of the Board of Revenue to resume the said lands, if they appear to be held on an invalid title. Nor shall any person defaulting as above, or neglecting to appear and give answer when required to do so, in the manner prescribed in Regulation II., 1819, be entitled to stay the resumption and assessment of his lands under the rule contained in paragraphs 235 to 239. Provided further, that the rule contained in paragraph 220 shall be and be held applicable to such persons, as well as to persons who may appear when summoned under the provisions of that Regulation, or in the manner hereinbefore provided.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 5.

269. It shall be competent to collectors, and other officers making settlements as aforesaid, either to complete the investigation of the claims of persons holding land free of assessment, or at a fixed jumma, under the rules of paragraphs 223 to 263, with the modifications hereinafter provided, during the progress of the settlement, or to limit their proceedings to the ascertainment of the land actually held under such tenures, and the record of the title-deeds produced by the parties, postponing the further investigation of the case to a future period. When any collector or other officer may postpone the investigation of any case as aforesaid, he shall at the same time notify to the party the time and place at which the further investigation is to be held, or if circumstances prevent him from doing so, he shall, before resuming the inquiry, give the party one month's notice to attend, and on the failure of any party to attend when so warned, the collector, or other officer aforesaid, shall be competent to proceed to try the case ex parte, and with the sanction of the Board to resume and assess the lands.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 6.

270. Collectors or other officers who may proceed to investigate claims to la-khiraj lands during the progress of a settlement, shall follow the rules of paragraphs 223 to 263, in all cases wherein the parties may attend and deny the liability of their lands to assessment, subject to the modifications hereinafter provided.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 7.

271. No lands shall be resumed by a collector, even though the parties may confess that they are liable to assessment, without the sanction of the Board of Revenue, save and except as hereinafter provided; but on such confession duly attested, which will of course supersede the necessity of any further inquiry, it shall be competent to the Board forthwith to direct the lands to be assessed, unless the same be held by village or zemindary servants in lieu of wages, which shall not be resumed without the sanction of Government. Provided also, that in all cases wherein it may appear to the Board that the resumption of lands held free of assessment would occasion serious distress to the holders, it shall be their duty to submit a report of the circumstances to the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 8.

272. The provisions of Clause First, Section XXIII., Section XXV., and Section XXVIII., Regulation VII., 1822 ("SETTLEMENT," paragraphs 392, 398, and 401), shall be applicable to cases investigated by collectors under the rules of Regulation II., 1819, or under these provisions.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 9.

273. It shall not be necessary to use stamped paper for the proceedings held or exhibits filed before the revenue authorities in cases originating with a collector or other officer of Government claiming to assess land held free of assessment; but the said authorities are authorized in the said cases, as in all other cases wherein they may exercise judicial powers under the provisions of the existing Regulations, to award to witnesses their reasonable charges, and to levy the same, as well as all costs adjudged by them, by the process in force for the recovery of arrears of the Government revenue.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 10.

274. Persons claiming to hold lands exempt from revenue shall, with their petitions of plant, deliver to the collector, or other officer to whom the same may be preferred, all sunnuds and other writings on which their claim may be founded; and shall insert in the said petition a full specification of the several particulars required to be registered by the rules in force, relative to the registry of rent-free tenures, and of the grounds on which their claim is founded. If the claim shall involve only the interests of Government, the collector shall proceed without delay to investigate the case, giving, however, eight days' previous notice to the party of the day on which he may propose to bring it to a hearing in the mode prescribed for the Civil Courts. If the claim shall be against any individual singly or jointly with Government, the collector shall serve him with a notice containing a statement of the demand, and requiring his attendance in person or by vakeel duly authorized, within the period of one month, with any papers or evidence he may desire to produce in denial of the claim; and on the appearance of such defendant, the collector, after allowing him to inspect and examine the claimant's petition of plaint, and the writings therein referred to, shall call upon him to deliver, within the period of seven days, a statement of the objections he may desire to urge against the claim. In such cases, no other pleadings shall be required from the parties than a plaint and answer; but it shall and may be lawful for collectors to receive and record such subsidiary pleadings as may appear requisite for the elucidation of the merits of the claim. Collectors shall proceed to investigate every such case as soon as possible after the answer of the defendant shall be received; giving, however, as aforesaid, eight days' previous notice to the parties of the day on which he may propose to bring it to a hearing. Provided, that in cases wherein the parties concerned, or their authorized representatives, shall desire or consent (the same being signified in a written petition or ikrarnameh to be filed with the proceedings) to have an immediate decision, whether the case shall originate in a claim on behalf of Government, or in the suit of an individual, and whether the proceedings of the collector shall be held under the provisions of Regulation II., 1819, or under those of this or any other Regulation touching the matter, it shall be competent to the collector to proceed forthwith to the investigation and decision of the case, without issuing any formal summons or notice.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 11.

275. Whenever a collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, shall be of opinion that any tract of land belongs to Government, and that no individual has bonâ fide possession thereof, it shall be competent to him, by a notification to be stuck up in his cutcherry, in the Zillah Court, and in the cutchery of the canoongoe, moonsiff, or thanadar, to whose jurisdiction the laud in question may belong or adjoin, to require all claimants to the same to appear before him within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the Board of Revenue, not being less than six weeks from the date of such notification; and on the appearance of such claimants, to proceed to investigate their claims in the manner prescribed by Regulation II., 1819, for investigations relative to the liability of lands to be assessed as herein modified. Provided further, that if the collector or other officer aforesaid shall decide that none of the claimants have bonâ fide possession of the lands in question, and his decision shall be affirmed by the Board of Revenue, the said lands shall be at the disposal of Government, until the same shall be adjudged to be private property by a decree of Court on a regular suit. Provided also, that all such suits, if preferred by one of the claimants before the collector, shall be dismissed with costs, unless instituted within six weeks of the date on which the Board may affirm the decision of that officer, and that the rule contained in paragraph 220 shall be strictly applied to such suits; nor shall any such suit be admitted on the part of any person who may not have appeared before the collector pursuant to notice unless he shall be able to show good and sufficient cause for his non-appearance, and shall apply for permission to sue within six weeks of his being informed of the Board's decision; provided further, that if the party shall not prosecute his suit within six weeks of being permitted to sue, the suit shall be dismissed with costs.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. v., cl. 12.

276. It shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in council, to vest any collector or other officer who may be deputed to hold a local inquiry within the limits of any mehaul, with the same powers and authority in regard to all lands held free of assessment within or adjoining to the village or villages in which the lands of such mehaul, or any part thereof, may be situated; and for the investigation of all claims touching such lands as by the foregoing provisions are vested in collectors making settlements in the manner prescribed by Regulation VII., 1822; and also from time to time to depute collectors or other officers aforesaid, for the purpose of ascertaining, recording, or investigating the said claims in the manner above prescribed.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. vi.

277. The particulars of all lands held free of assessment within all villages and mehauls, of which the settlement may be made under the provisions of Regulation VII., 1822 ("SETTLEMENT"), shall be fully recorded in the proceedings of the collector or other officer making the settlement.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. vii.

278. Nothing contained in Regulation II., 1819, or in any other Regulation in force, shall affect or be considered to affect the provisions contained in paragraph 51, relative to grants illegally made, subsequently to the dates specified in the said rules respectively; and in all cases in which it shall be established to the satisfaction of the revenue authorities, that any lands now held free of assessment were subject to the payment of the revenue at the dates aforesaid or subsequently thereto, and that they have not been thereafter exempted from the payment of revenue under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, nor adjudged to be exempted from payment of revenue under a regular decree of Court, it shall and may be lawful for the said authorities forthwith to resume and assess the said lands; save and except in cases wherein the revenue of the same may belong to a zemindar, talookdar, or other malguzar, with whom a permanent settlement has been concluded; nor shall the provisions of paragraphs 235 to 239 apply to such cases.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. viii.

MINIIYE TENURES OF CANOONGOES.

279. Whereas it was enacted by Section V., Regulation II. of 1816, that the revenue of lands held by canoongoes, generally in the province of Behar, in virtue of their offices, should be liable to resumption; and accordingly, under that law, various resumptions of land so held took place, and the parties to whom the zemindary interest in the same appeared to belong were admitted to engage for the Government revenue; but on the consideration of the proceedings held under the provisions of the above rule, it appeared to the Governor-General in Council to be improper wholly to deprive the canoongoes, or their representatives, of the advantages derived from such lands, and enjoyed by them for a long course of years; and it was accordingly resolved by Government, on the 14th February, 1822, that in cases where the lands had been occupied and managed by the canoongoes, or their representatives, and the rents received by them, they should be replaced in possession of such lands, and a settlement made with them on the principle prescribed by paragraph 48, viz., the revenue to be paid to Government to be equal to one-half of the annual produce (or rental) of the lands, calculated according to the rates at which other lands in the pergunnah of a similar description may be assessed, securing to the proprietors of the soil such malikana or other allowance as they might have received prior to the resumption of the official minhye tenure; and whereas the existing laws relative to the settlement of resumed la-khiraj tenures are not properly applicable to the case, and it appears to be expedient expressly to provide for the maintenance, by the Courts of Judicature, of the arrangement above described, in order that the canoongoe minhyedars may be secured in the possession (subject to the quit-rent fixed by Government) of the lands, rents, and produce heretofore possessed by them; and whereas it is desirable to provide for the settlement, on the same principle, of any lands that may be resumed under the corresponding rules relating to canoongoes and their official tenures in other parts of the country; and whereas it appears to be generally expedient to make a distinct provision for securing to the holders of la-khiraj lands, resumed by the officers of Government, and assessed on the principle prescribed in paragraph 47, the benefits which that law was designed to bestow, and to declare the competency of Government, in other cases, to continue the persons who have heretofore occupied lands free of assessment, or their representatives, in the possession of the same, notwithstanding such lands being made subject to assessment, the following rules have been enacted for these purposes respectively, to be in force throughout the territories subject to the presidency of Fort William from the date of the promulgation of this Regulation.—Reg. XIII., 1825, sec. i.

280. In case of la-khiraj tenures resumed under the provisions of Regulation IV., 1808, Regulations II. and V., 1816, or any other Regulation in force relative to lands held by canoongoes by virtue of their offices where the minhye or la-khiraj tenure, and the right of property in the land, are vested in distinct parties, it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by instruction to the Revenue Board, or other authority empowered to make the resumption, to continue the minhyedars and their heirs in possession and management of such lands, subject to such assessment as he shall judge it proper to direct; and the parties claiming the zemindary interest, or other proprietary right in such mehauls, shall not be entitled to any land-rent, produce, or profit, beyond what they may have enjoyed up to the period of the resumption of the tenure, or would have been entitled to receive, in the event of Government having confirmed the same in perpetuity, free of assessment. Persons consequently claiming to be maliks of the said lands who, during the continuance of the la-khiraj tenure, had not possession of the same, whether they received a malikana allowance, or otherwise, shall not disturb the possession of the minhyedars, or their heirs and representatives, in any case wherein the Governor-General in Council may have sanctioned such possession; and any suit preferred by such persons in a Court of Judicature to recover possession, contrary to the intent and meaning of this rule, shall be dismissed with costs. Provided, however, that in all cases of the nature above mentioned, wherein the zemindar, or other proprietor of the land, may have received malikana, or other proprietary due, during the existence of the la-khiraj tenure, he shall continue to receive the same, notwithstanding the resumption of the la-khiraj, in like manner as if such resumption had not taken place.—Reg. XIII., 1825, sec. ii.

281. The tenures of the minhyedars, which have been confirmed to them with the sanction of Government, by the arrangement referred to in paragraph 279, or which may be so confirmed in conformity with the preceding paragraph, are declared to be hereditary and transferable; but should they escheat to Government, the parties possessing a zemindary interest, or other proprietary right in the lands, will be admitted to engage for the revenue, subject to a fresh assessment, to be adjusted on the actual assets under the general Regulations.—Reg. XIII., 1825, sec. iii.

282. The principles of paragraphs 280 and 281 shall be considered applicable to all cases of la-khiraj resumption under the general Regulations in force which may come within the favourable rule of assessment contained in paragraph 48 or paragraph 56; it being the evident intention of the rule in question that it should be applied to persons who had been long in possession of the la-khiraj tenures made subject to assessment by the Regulations; and whom it appeared equitable, in consideration of their long possession, to leave in occupancy of the lands composing their respective tenures, at a moderate assessment, not exceeding a moiety of the annual rent produce.—Reg. XIII., 1825, sec. iv.

283. In modification of the existing rules contained in Regulations XXXVII., 1793, XLII., 1795, and XXXVI., 1803, or any other Regulation in force, relative to the settlement of resumed jaghire, altumgah, mududmash, ayma, and other grants of land termed badshahi, or royal; and generally in qualification and explanation of all the rules in force relative to the resumption of la-khiraj tenures, and the future assessment of lands composing the same, it is hereby further declared, that whenever such tenures may be pronounced invalid or extinct by a Revenue Board, or other authority empowered to investigate the la-khiraj title in such tenures, under the provisions of Regulation II., 1819, or of any other Regulation in force, it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, on a special report of the circumstances of the case, when it may appear just and proper, in consideration of the long possession of the actual occupant of the land or of his ancestors, to direct his continuance in possession, though not the zemindar, talookdar, or other malik of the land, on his engagement for the future assessment on such terms as may be prescribed by Government; and in such cases, the whole of the provisions contained in paragraphs 280 and 281 shall be deemed applicable, and be maintained by the Courts of Judicature accordingly.—Reg. XIII., 1825, sec. v.

VALIDITY OF GRANTS.

284. It is hereby declared and enacted, that the power of granting la-khiraj tenures, viz., tenures of land exempt from the public assessment, either for life or in perpetuity, as well as of confirming such tenures excepting by a regular judgment passed after a judicial inquiry, belongs, and always has belonged, exclusively to the Supreme Government; and no act, order, or decision, granting or confirming any tenure as aforesaid, within any of the territories subordinate to this presidency, after the annexation of such territories to the British dominions, shall be held valid, unless the same shall have been done, issued, or passed, by or under the immediate directions of the Governor-General in Council; or by some officer expressly authorized by Government to grant or confirm such tenures, or with respect to the confirmation of grants duly authorized by some competent Court of Judicature in a suit regularly tried and decided by it, or by one of the Revenue Boards acting in a judicial capacity, under the rules of Regulation VIII., 1811, whilst that Regulation (rescinded by Section II., of Regulation II., 1819) was in force; and subsequently under the rules of Regulation II., 1819, or any other Regulation expressly empowering the Revenue Boards, after full investigation of claims to exemption from assessment under the general rules applicable to la-khiraj tenures, to pronounce a decision against the assessment, to be considered final, except on proof, in a Court of Judicature, of fraud or collusion in the previous inquiry. Provided also, that no resolution or order passed by the Lieutenant-Governor, and the Board of Commissioners in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, whereby the right of Government to assess any la-khiraj lands may have been relinquished or postponed, save and except decisions regularly passed according to the rules above cited, shall operate to the prejudice of Government, or be held to bar the revenue authorities from proceeding for the recovery of public dues under the provisions of Regulation II., 1819, or any other rules in force relative to the resumption of la-khiraj tenures held under invalid grants.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. ii.

285. The following principles are to be observed in determining the force and validity of grants made by persons exercising authority in the provinces subordinate to this presidency, previously to the acquisition of the country by the British Government.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. iii. cl. 1.

286. La-khiraj tenures, of which uninterrupted possession shall have been held exempt from assessment at and subsequently to the periods under mentioned, shall be, and be considered to be, valid, without evidence to any formal grant or confirmation of the same; and shall be continued to heirs in cases in which it may be clearly shown, from the nature and denomination of the tenure, that it is hereditary according to the ancient usage of the country: viz.—the 12th August, 1765, if the tenure be in Bengal, Behar, or Orissa (excepting Cuttack);—the 14th October, 1791, if the tenure be in Cuttack, including Puttaspore or its dependencies;—the 1st July, 1775, if the tenure be in the province of Benares;—the 10th November, 1789, if the tenure be in the provinces ceded by the Nawaub Vizier in November, 1801;—the 1st January, 1792, if in any of the provinces ceded by Dowlat Rao Scindia and the Peshwa, under the treaties of the 16th and 30th December, 1800; the 1st November, 1805, if in the pergunnah of Khandah, or other territory ceded by Nana Govind Rao on the 1st November, 1817. Provided, however, that the above rule shall not apply to cases of derivative tenures, wherein it may appear that the tenure is derived from a jaghirerdar or other person, who, at any of the periods above specified, held lands free of assessment under a temporary or conditional tenure. In all such cases, the parcels of the land so held shall follow the condition of the principal tenure; and if that be resumable, will consequently be liable to resumption.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. iii., cl. 2.

287. The proof of possession in the cases provided for by the preceding paragraph, and (in the case of persons not the original grantees) of the hereditary nature of the tenure, shall be on the parties claiming to hold or recover the la-khiraj tenure; the general principle being, that the ruling power is entitled to a certain proportion of the produce of every beegah of land, excepting so far as it shall have transferred, relinquished, or compounded its right thereto; and all parties claiming the benefit of such exceptions being bound to establish their respective claims and titles.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. iii., cl. 3.

288. Provided also, that although one or more successions to any tenure as aforesaid may have taken place before the periods specified in paragraph 286, the fact shall not be taken to establish a title of inheritance, unless the tenure be clearly of an hereditary nature; or unless the right of inheritance therein shall have been admitted by the Governor-General in Council, on a reference made to Government according to the rules in force applicable to such cases.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. iii., cl. 4.

289. The Courts of Judicature and revenue authorities shall not recognize any potentate, or person, as having been vested with the supreme power within any part of the provinces subordinate to this presidency, save and except the kings of Delhi, the subadars of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, and the several authorities specified in Regulation XLII., 1795, Regulation XXXVI., 1803, and Regulations VIII. and XII., 1805; and with respect to the territory ceded by Nana Govind Rao, save and except Rajah Chuttersaul, and his predecessors, previously to the Mahratta conquest of that terrritory in the year 1802 of the Sumbut era (corresponding with 1730 of the Christian era), and subsequently thereto his Highness the Peshwa, who then obtained the supreme authority in the territory referred to. If in any case grants shall be produced, purporting to have been made or confirmed by any other person than as aforesaid, alleged to have been vested with the supreme power for the time being, and it shall appear to the Court or other authority investigating the same that the plea is well founded, the Court, or other authority before whom the case may be depending, shall, before passing any decision thereupon, refer the point to the Governor-General in Council, and be guided by his determination.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. iii., cl. 5.

290. To the validity of grants made or confirmed by the kings of Delhi, or by any of the rulers aforesaid, it is and shall be held to be necessary,—

1st. That they were made or confirmed within the period during which the person granting or confirming the same possessed and exercised supreme power within the territory in which the lands specified in the grant are situate.

2nd. That the grantee actually and bonâ fide obtained possession of the land granted within the said period.

3rd. That the grant was not subsequently resumed by the officers or the orders of the Government for the time being, previously to the acquisition of the country by the British Government, or if so resumed, that the competence of the officer to resume shall have been expressly disallowed by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. iii., cl. 6.

291. The following shall be held, for the purposes herein specified, to be the periods at which the several provinces subordinate to this presidency were acquired by the British Government, viz., for Bengal, Behar, and Orissa (excepting Cuttack), the 12th August, 1765; for Benares, the 1st July, 1775; for the provinces ceded by the Nawaub Vizier, the 1st January, 1801; for the provinces ceded by Dowlut Rao Scindia and the Peshwa, the 1st January, 1803; for the province of Cuttack, Puttaspore, and its dependencies, the 14th October, 1803; for the pergunnah Khandah, and the other territory ceded by Nana Govind Rao, the 1st November, 1817.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. iii., cl. 7.

292. To the validity of grants not made or confirmed by the supreme power (excepting tenures of long possession, described in paragraph 286), it shall be held to be necessary,—

1st. That they were made or confirmed by some authority which the Governor-General in Council shall have expressly declared competent to make or confirm the same.

2nd. That the grantee actually and bonâ fide obtained possession of the land granted, and that the revenue of the land was not subsequently resumed by competent authority.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. iii., cl. 8.

293. Provided also, that in cases in which any la-khiraj tenure may have been resumed previously to the acquisition of the country by the British Government, the determination of the question, whether the officer by whom or by whose order the resumption may have been made was legally competent to do so, shall, in all cases wherein it may be necessary to determine this question, rest with the Governor-General in Council. Moreover, all questions touching the validity of grants made or confirmed by any officer subordinate to the supreme power, or the legal effect of resumption by any such officer, which may not have been expressly provided for by the Regulations, and which may be material to the decision of any suit or inquiry, shall be referred by the Courts of Judicature, or other authorities making the investigation, to the Governor-General in Council for determination, unless the powers and competence of the officer in question have been previously determined by Government.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. iii., cl. 9.

294. Nothing in the preceding rules shall be construed to affect the provisions contained in Regulation XIX., 1793; Regulation XLI., 1795; Regulation XXXI., 1803; and Regulation XII., 1805; relative to lands not exceeding ten begahs, of which the produce is bonâ fide appropriated to religious or charitable uses.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. iv.

295. Decisions passed by any Court of Judicature before the promulgation of these rules, in opposition to the principles therein declared, without due regard to the restricted powers of the revenue authorities as defined in these rules, shall be open to revision in the Court wherein the case may have been decided, as well as to a regular or special appeal (according as the case may have been already decided on appeal or otherwise), notwithstanding the lapse of time since the decision was passed; provided that the petition for a review or appeal be presented to the proper Court, in the manner prescribed by the Regulations, within one year after the promulgation of these rules; or if presented at a later period, that good and sufficient reason be assigned for the delay. Provided, further, that if the decision shall have been passed by the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, it shall be competent to a majority of the judges of such Court to admit the petition for a review, and to try and decide the case anew under the provisions of this Regulation, whether they may have joined in passing the former decision or not; the restriction in Section III., Regulation II., 1825 ("PROCEDURE ON THE TRIAL OF ORIGINAL SUITS," paragraph 180), being hereby, as a special exception, declared inapplicable to such cases.—Reg. XIV., 1825, sec. v.

SPECIAL COMMISSIONERS.

296. It shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in council, to appoint one or more special commissioners, as may be judged expedient, for the final determination of all cases which have been or may be investigated by collectors, deputy collectors, or other officers exercising in that behalf the powers of collectors, under the rules of paragraphs 204 to 230, and of paragraphs 264 to 275, subject to the provisions hereinafter enacted; and the commissioner or commissioners so appointed shall similarly determine all suits which may be brought to contest the demand of the revenue officers, on the plea that the annual rent or assessment upon which the demand is founded exceeds what the party is bound to pay, and which may consequently involve the question of a permanent increase or reduction of the public revenue.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. ii, cl. 1.

297. The jurisdiction of the special commissioner or commissioners appointed as above shall extend to such districts or portions of districts, and for such periods, as the Governor-General in Council may direct; and it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to fix and appoint the functions to be discharged by each commissioner, and to assign to him such local jurisdiction as may from time to time appear proper.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. ii., cl. 2.

298. Whenever any commissioner or commissioners shall be vested by the orders of the Governor-General in Council with jurisdiction in any district or other division, notice thereof shall be published by proclamation at the cutcherries of the judge and collector of such district, and shall likewise be communicated, through the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, to the Zillah Courts concerned.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. ii., cl. 3.

299. Whenever any of the said Courts shall be apprized in the manner above specified of the appointment of a commissioner or commissioners to exercise the powers herein specified within any zillah or other local division, the powers heretofore vested in and exercised by the said Courts in regard to all cases belonging to such local division of the nature declared cognizable by the special commissioners shall be suspended, and the said Courts shall immediately stay all proceedings in such cases, until they shall be apprized that the local jurisdiction of the commissioner or commissioners has ceased, and further, the said Courts shall forthwith transmit to the commissioner the records of all cases of the above nature which may be depending before them; provided also, that no appeal shall lie to any of the established Courts of Judicature from any decision which has been, or shall be passed, by the Board of Revenue or a collector, in regard to the revenue of any lands lying within such local division, previously to or pending the appointment of a special commissioner.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. ii., cl. 4.

300. In all cases which have been decided by the Boards of Revenue before the jurisdiction of a commissioner may have been declared to extend to the district in which they have arisen, and in which the parties would, but for the extension of such jurisdiction, have been entitled to appeal to the ordinary Courts of Justice, under the rules contained in paragraphs 235 to 239, 241, 242, and 264 to 275, an appeal shall lie to such special commissioner, and the cases shall be heard and determined in the same manner as appeals preferred to that authority from the decisions of collectors under these rules.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. ii., cl. 5.

301. Notice of the appointment of a commissioner to exercise the powers specified in this Regulation in any district or other local division, shall likewise be communicated to the Boards of Revenue, or other Board exercising control over the revenue officers of such district or division, and on the receipt of such communication, the powers vested in the said Boards, under the provisions of Regulation II., 1819, and Regulation IX., 1825 (with exception to the powers specified in paragraph 172, "REALIZATION OF REVENUE"), shall be suspended within the said district or division; and the said Board shall immediately stay all proceedings in cases thereunto belonging which may be depending before them, under the provisions of the above Regulations, as well as in all other cases relating to the said district or division of the nature herein described, and shall forthwith transmit to the commissioner the records of all such cases.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. ii., cl. 6.

302. When any suit may be transferred by a Court of Justice or a Board of Revenue to a special commissioner under the provisions of this Regulation, the commissioner or commissioners by whom such suit shall be decided shall determine the amount of remuneration to be assigned to the vakeels who may have been employed by the parties in conducting such suit before the Court or Board from which it may be transferred, and generally how any costs previously incurred shall be borne; all such sums which may have been deposited in such Court or Board on account of vakeels' fees shall be kept in deposit until the case is decided, when the amount awarded to the vakeels by the commissioners shall be paid to them.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. ii., cl. 7.

303. Whenever the jurisdiction of a commissioner shall be declared by the orders of Government to extend to any district or other local division, it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to invest such commissioner with any or all of the powers vested by the Regulations in force in the Boards of Revenue.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. iii.

304. When the jurisdiction of a commissioner shall have been established in any particular district, it shall be competent to the collector, or other local revenue officer of such district, to institute the inquiries specified in Regulation II., 1819, and Regulation IX., 1825, in regard to any lands which he may have reason to believe are held free of assessment, or at an inadequate jumma under an invalid tenure, or which being unoccupied he may consider to be public property, without previously applying for the sanction of the Board of Revenue. In all other respects, however, he is to proceed to the investigation of the case in the manner provided for in Regulation II., 1819, and Regulation IX., 1825, accordingly as the one or the other may apply to the case; and having closed his proceedings, he shall record in a Persian roobakary his judgment as to the liability of the lands to assessment or otherwise, in the manner directed in paragraph 230, and such decision shall have the force and effect of a decree, and a copy thereof on plain paper shall as soon as possible be delivered to the party concerned.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. iv., cl. 1.

305. If the decision of a collector shall declare the lands liable to assessment, or shall adjudge them to be the property of Government, it shall not be necessary for him to transmit his proceedings to the Board of Revenue, or to the special commissioner, but the party against whom such decision is passed shall be at liberty to appeal from the same to the special commissioner, within two months from the date on which a copy of the decision may have been tendered to him by the collector; but it shall be competent to the commissioner to admit an appeal, after the expiration of the above period, on sufficient cause being shown why it was not sooner preferred. Provided also, that petitions of appeal may, at the option of the party, be either presented to the special commissioner, or delivered to the collector for transmission to that authority.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. iv., cl. 2.

306. It shall and may be lawful for the collector, whether an appeal be filed or not, immediately to carry into effect his decision by attaching and assessing the land; reporting his proceedings for the information and orders of the Board, or of the commissioner, if vested with the powers of the Board: provided, however, that in cases appealed to the commissioner, it shall be competent to that authority to stay execution of the collector's decree and to cause the attachment of the land to be suspended or withdrawn, on due security being tendered by the appellant for the payment, from the date of the collector's decision, of the revenue which may ultimately be assessed on the land. —Reg. III., 1828, sec. iv., cl. 3.

307. If the collector shall decide against the assessment, he shall report his proceedings, together with the whole record of the case, to the Board of Revenue, who are to take the case into their consideration, and if they shall be of opinion that the grounds assigned by the collector for considering the lands exempt from assessment are insufficient or invalid, it shall be competent to the Board, within one year from the date on which they may receive the collector's proceedings, to transfer the case for revision and final orders to the special commissioner, who shall issue a notice requiring the attendance of the party in whose favour the collector may have decided; and should such party neglect, after having been duly summoned, to attend and defend the appeal before the commissioner, it shall be competent to the commissioner to hear and decide the case ex parte.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. iv., cl. 4.

308. In all cases decided by a special commissioner or commissioners, whether on appeal by individuals from decision of the collector, or on reference from the Board of Revenue under the above rule, or in cases transferred from any of the ordinary Courts of Judicature, the decision passed by the special commissioner or commissioners, who by warrant from the Governor-General in Council and the provisions of this Regulation may be competent to pass the same, shall be final, save and except in cases which, if decided by the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, would be appealable to her Majesty the Queen in Council: in such cases, a similar appeal will lie from the decision of the special commissioner or commissioners, under the same rules and restrictions as are applicable to appeals from the decisions of the aforesaid Court; provided, however, that such decisions shall be immediately executed and enforced, notwithstanding the institution of the appeal; provided also, that it shall be competent to any commissioner to review any judgment passed by him, on sufficient cause being shown why a new trial should be granted—the rules in the existing Regulations regarding a review of judgment being held applicable to such cases.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. iv., cl. 5.

309. Whenever the act or judgment appealed against may have been done or passed by a special commissioner, appointed under these rules, such case shall not be cognizable by the said commissioner, whether he may have been at the time when such act or judgment was done or passed by him, exercising the powers of a collector or member of a Board of Revenue, or of a judge of a Zillah or City Court.—Reg. IV., 1829, sec. ii., cl. 1.

310. Whenever a petition of appeal in a case of the above nature may be preferred to a special commissioner, he is hereby directed and required to report the circumstances of the case for the orders of Government, and it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to direct some other special commissioner, or such other tribunal as he may deem proper, to receive and decide the appeal agreeably to the rules and Regulations applicable to the case.—Reg. IV., 1829, sec. ii., cl. 2.

311. In all cases in which the judgment of a single special commissioner shall coincide with the decision passed by a collector or by a Board of Revenue, or by a Court of Justice, in cases which have been decided by an inferior Court, and after having been appealed to a higher, have been transferred under the provisions of this Regulation to a special commissioner, the decision of such single commissioner shall be final, subject to the provisions of paragraph 308. But if, on hearing any case of the nature above specified, a single commissioner shall be of opinion that the last award made in such case ought to be reversed or altered, he shall record his opinion to that effect, and the case shall then be laid before another special commissioner appointed under this Regulation, and should he disagree in opinion as to the decision of the case, to a third commissioner, so that the final award may be made by the concurrent voices of at least two special commissioners. Provided that it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, on the occasion of appointing a special commissioner to exercise the powers specified in this Regulation within certain local limits, to determine at the same time to what other special commissioner a reference shall be made by him in cases of difference of opinion.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. iv., cl. 6.

312. It is hereby declared and enacted, that the provisions of this Regulation are not intended and shall not be construed to extend to cases of the nature specified in paragraphs 249 to 261, save and except when such cases may involve the rights of Government to subject to assessment all or any portion of the lands in respect to which the action may be brought. In cases of the above description, in which the Government may be a party, whether instituted in the first instance before the collector, or referred to him by the Court, the collector shall proceed to investigate and decide, in the mode prescribed in paragraphs 304 to 311; the rules in which shall be held to apply to such suits and all other cases falling within the provision of paragraphs 249 to 261, in which the Government is not itself a party, shall be heard and determined under the rules therein enacted, and the subsequent modifications of them declared in paragraphs 264 to 275.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. v.

313. The special commissioners appointed under these rules shall be guided by such rules as may be prescribed by the Governor-General in Council in regard to the forms of proceeding, the nature and number of the pleadings, the mode in which they are to be conducted, the paper (stamped or unstamped) to be used, the fees to be levied, and generally, the rules of practice to be followed.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. vi., cl. 1.

314. The special commissioners shall likewise be competent to issue such instructions to the collectors of the districts over which their jurisdiction extends, in regard to their proceedings relative to cases investigated under the rules of Regulation II., 1819, and Regulation IX., 1825, as may appear requisite for their guidance and conducive to the ends of justice, and, when it may appear necessary or proper, to refer cases back to those officers for further trial.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. vi., cl. 2.

315. All processes issued by a commissioner shall be enforced in the same manner, and under the same penalties for disobedience or resistance, as processes of the ordinary Courts of Justice, and all the powers possessed by those Courts, in regard to contempts, the summoning and examination of witnesses, and the administration of oaths or affirmations, shall be vested in the commissioners, whose decision shall, in such matters, be final.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. vi., cl. 3.

316. The special commissioners shall be competent to require the Zillah Courts to carry into execution, when necessary, the decisions which they may pass, and the Zillah Courts shall give effect to such decisions in the same manner as they are required to execute the decrees passed by the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. vi., cl. 4.

317. The several rules and provisions contained in the existing Regulations relative to native officers belonging to the Zillah Courts, will be applicable to the native officers employed by the special commissioners, except in cases in which the commissioners may, with the sanction of Government, otherwise determine.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. vi., cl. 5.

318. Any person knowingly giving a false deposition, whether on oath or hullufnameh, relative to any suit or matter depending before a commissioner, and upon a point material to the issue thereof, shall be held and considered guilty of perjury, and shall, on conviction, be liable to the penalties prescribed by the Regulations for that offence. And any person causing or procuring another person to commit the offence of perjury as above described, shall be guilty of subornation of perjury, and shall be punishable, on conviction, under the provisions of the said Regulations.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. vi., cl. 6.

319. The commissioners shall be competent to commit persons guilty of the above offences for trial before the Sessions Court, and any magistrate receiving from a commissioner a roobakary, directing the commitment of such offenders, shall give effect to the same in like manner as if the commitment were made by himself.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. vi., cl. 7.

320. It shall be the duty of the Courts and of the revenue officers to afford the commissioners every aid and information that they may require—to serve all processes issued and required to be served by the commissioners in like manner as if they were issued by themselves, to prepare and transmit to the commissioners such lists of cases decided or pending before them, as they may see occasion for, and to furnish all papers and documents which the commissioners may desire to examine. —Reg. III., 1828, sec. vii., cl. 1.

321. It shall likewise be competent to the commissioners to require the Zillah Courts or the collectors to examine witnesses, either on written interrogatories or otherwise, in regard to any points, the investigation of which it may appear necessary to conduct in that manner, and generally to inquire and report on particular points upon which further information is desirable, in the same manner as the said Court are required to report in pursuance of precepts issued to them by the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. vii., cl. 2.

322. The special commissioners shall furnish to Government periodically such statements and reports as the Governor-General in Council may prescribe.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. viii.

323. The special commissioners appointed under this Regulation shall, before entering on the performance of their functions, take and subscribe a solemn oath, according to the following form, and such oath is to be administered by such person or persons as the Governor-General in Council may direct:—

FORM OF OATH.

"I, A. B., appointed a special commissioner, under the rules of Regulation III., A.D. 1828, solemnly swear, that I will investigate and determine in equity and good conscience, to the best of my ability, knowledge, and judgment, without fear, favour, promise, or hope of reward, all matters which by the said Regulation, or any other Regulation in force, I may be required to investigate and determine; that I will not receive, directly or indirectly, any present or nuzzur, in money or effects of any kind, from any party whomsoever, on account of any matter to be received, investigated, or determined by me, or which may be depending or have been investigated or determined under the above-mentioned Regulation; that I will not knowingly permit any person or persons under my authority to receive, directly or indirectly, any present or nuzzur, in money or effects of any kind, from any party or person whatsoever, on account of any matter as aforesaid; and that I will not derive, directly or indirectly, any emoluments or advantages from my office, excepting such as the orders of Government do or may authorize me to receive.

—Reg. III., 1828, sec. ix. "So help me God."

324. The following rules are hereby enacted in modification and extension of the provisions contained in paragraphs 235 to 242.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. x., cl. 1.

325. All decisions which have been or may be passed by the Boards of Revenue, under the rules in paragraphs 231 to 234, declaring the liability to assessment of lands, whether the same be situated in districts to which the jurisdiction of a special commissioner has been extended, or in any other district, shall be carried into immediate execution by the collectors or other local revenue officers of such district, notwithstanding that the parties against whom such decisions may have been or may be passed, shall have sued or shall sue to contest the Board's decision in one of the established Courts of Justice, or to the commissioner appointed under this Regulation, and such parties shall not be permitted to retain possession of the lands, unless they enter into an engagement to pay the assessment which may be fixed upon them; such assessment to be collected under the general rules for the realization of the Government revenue from farmers thereof. And if any person against whom the Board may have decided, shall decline to pay the assessment fixed on the lands, he shall be forthwith dispossessed, and such arrangements shall be made for the collection of the Government revenue, as the collector, under the orders of the Board may see fit to adopt; but in the event of a final decision being passed, exempting the tenure of any such person from assessment, the net collections made on account of Government shall be refunded, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent. per annum.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. x., cl. 2.

326. All suits which may be instituted in the established Courts of Justice, under the provisions of paragraphs 235 to 239, 241, 242, 264 to 275, to contest decisions of the Boards of Revenue, shall, when the jurisdiction of the above Courts is not barred by the operation of this Regulation, be heard and determined in the same manner as regular appeals, and no further pleadings shall be required or received in such cases than the objections of the appellant to the decision of the Board, and the reply to those objections on the part of the revenue authorities; the said Courts shall likewise, on the admission of an appeal, invariably call for the original record of the Board's proceedings in each case, and shall then require the parties to file their pleadings as above provided; but it shall not be competent to the Courts to take further evidence, oral or documentary, unless it shall appear that such evidence was tendered by the party adducing it to the collector or the Board, and was then rejected on insufficient grounds, or that such evidence is essential to the ascertainment of some fact material to the issue, which may not have been fully inquired into in the course of the previous investigation.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. x., cl. 3.

327. Provided, however, and it is hereby enacted, that nothing contained in the preceding paragraph shall be construed to bar the admission of a further appeal on the part of the revenue authorities to the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, from decisions passed in the first instance in the Zillah Court in cases of the nature described, and specially provided for in paragraph 243, nor the admission by those tribunals of the special appeal on the application of the party opposed to Government under the rules in paragraphs 243 and 244.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. x., cl. 4.

328. Appeals filed in the established Courts of Civil Judicature to contest decisions of the Board of Revenue, shall be kept on a file or register distinct from that on which other suits before those Courts are entered; and the Civil Courts are hereby required to appropriate the first day in each week to the trial and decision of such appeals, and to prevent any unnecessary delay on the part of the appellants in prosecuting their appeals by a strict enforcement of the rules prescribed in Act XIX., 1853 ("PROCEDURE ON THE TRIAL OF ORIGINAL SUITS").—Reg. III., 1828, sec. x., cl. 5.

329. There being reason to believe that the rules in paragraph 104, whereby the judges of the Zillah and City Courts were directed to furnish the collectors of the districts in which the land may be situated, and the Board of Revenue, with copies of every decree passed by them in suits between individuals, or sent to them by the Superior Courts to enforce, by which the right in, or possession of, any lands held exempt from the payment of public revenue, may be affected, has not generally been observed by those Courts; Section IX., Regulation VIII., 1811, and Section IX., Regulation V., 1813, having also been rescinded by Regulation II., 1819, without due provision being made for all successions to the possession of la-khiraj tenures being duly reported to the revenue officers, the following rules are now enacted for that purpose.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. xi., cl. 1.

330. Persons succeeding to the possession of any lands held free of assessment, or held on a mokurreree jumma, on the decease of a former occupant, or by gift, purchase, or other assignment or transfer of proprietary right, are hereby required immediately to notify the same to the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, within the district in which the land may be situated, and any omission to notify such succession or transfer for a period of six months or more, shall subject such land to immediate attachment by the revenue officers. Nor shall land so attached be restored to the party who may claim to hold it, though the validity of the tenure be subsequently established to the satisfaction of the revenue authorities, until such party shall have paid to Government a fine equal to one year's rent, and if the revenue derivable from the land be not awarded to be the right of the individual, the party shall further be required to refund the amount of the collections made by him, with interest thereon at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum: provided also, that the said rent and collections shall be estimated according to the assessment demandable from the ryots at the time of attachment.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. xi., cl. 2.

331. Where the lands of any individual may be attached under the above rule, any claim which he may prefer to recover possession thereof, and to hold the same free of assessment, or on a mokurreree jumma, shall be investigated and determined by the collector, under the provisions of Regulation II., 1819, as modified by the present Regulation, and by those which have been intermediately enacted.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. xi., cl. 3.

332. All tenures which may not have been duly registered in the manner prescribed by the Regulations, or of which the specification contained in the register shall not purport the same to be held under an hereditary title, or as a perpetual endowment, shall be and be held to have been liable to resumption, unless the same may have been declared hereditary by a final decree of a competent Court of Judicature, on the demise of the persons who were in possession at the dates respectively of Regulations XIX. and XXXVII., 1793; Regulations XLI. and XLII., 1795; Regulations XXXI. and XXXVI., 1803; Regulations VIII. and XII., 1805; according as the lands may be within the districts to which those Regulations are severally applicable, or in other parts of the country at the date at which the same came into the possession of the British Government. And collectors, and other officers exercising the powers of collector, shall accordingly proceed to assess, and if necessary, attach all lands liable to resumption as above, in the same manner and with the same powers as they are authorized and required to proceed in the case of a lapsed farm, anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding. Provided further, that the nature and extent of the interests vested in the holders of lands and rents exempted from assessment shall, when the title-deeds are forthcoming, and their authenticity recognized, be construed and defined with reference to the whole of the matter contained in such deeds, and not merely by the designation of the tenure. Jaghires consequently shall not be held to be life tenures in cases in which the recital of the grant shall be such as clearly to convey an hereditary interest; nor shall any tenures, howsoever designated, be considered to be hereditary and perpetual, if the grants under which they are held shall not convey, in express terms, an hereditary or perpetual interest.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. xii.

333. The uninhabited tract known by the name of the Sunderbuns has ever been, and is hereby declared still to be, the property of the state: the same not having been alienated or assigned to zemindars, or included in any way in the arrangements of the perpetual settlement, it shall therefore be competent to the Governor-General in Council to make, as heretofore, grants, assignments, and leases of any part of the said Sunderbuns, and to take such measures for the clearance and cultivation of the tract as he may deem proper and expedient. All parties to whom such grants, leases, or assignments shall have been made, or to whom they may hereafter be made, shall be entitled to hold or to take possession of any tract of Sunderbun jungle so granted or assigned, without question or opposition, and all public officers shall aid and assist the same. Provided also, that if any zemindar, talookdar, or other sudder malguzar, or any other person owning and occupying or collecting the rent or revenue of cultivated land in the neighbourhood of the land so granted, leased, or assigned, shall sue in any Court of Adawlut, or before a special commissioner, under this Regulation, to contest the validity of the title or the right of possession of any such lessee or grantee under such grant, lease, or assignment, then, if the land aforesaid shall be proved to be, or to have been, or be not denied to be or to have been, when so granted, leased, or assigned, within the limit of the unoccupied jungle so named and described, the suit shall be dismissed with costs. Provided, however, that if any zemindar, talookdar, or other person aforesaid, shall claim to possess a valuable interest in any part of the Sunderbuns, by virtue of authority to collect money or other valuable thing from the persons engaged in gathering wax, or cutting wood, or obtaining other jungle products of the tract, or by virtue of any other similar privilege or advantage which may have been recognized as part of the assets on which the assessed revenue of his zemindary, talookdary, or other tenure, was adjusted at the time of forming the perpetual settlement of the district, and the collection of which was not subsequently stopped and due compensation made, under the rules relative to the collection of sayer revenue, or other similar arrangement, such zemindar, talookdar, or proprietor, shall be entitled to receive from Government compensation for any dimunition in the value of such interest and advantage consequent on the arrangements adopted for the cultivation of the Sunderbuns; the same being duly established, after an investigation conducted under the rules of Regulation II., 1819, as modified by this Regulation.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. xiii., cl. 1.

334. The boundary of the Sunderbun jungle shall be laid down by accurate survey, as determined on the spot by the commissioner of the Sunderbuns; and any zemindar, talookdar, or party interested, shall be entitled, on application made through the commissioner, and on payment of the charge of preparing the same, to receive a copy of the survey map, or of any part of the same, with the boundary marked there as so determined, together with a copy of the commissioner's proceedings on the subject. Any party deeming his right injured by the demarcation so laid down, shall be at liberty, at any time within three months from the date of the commissioner's proceeding fixing the same (which proceeding shall always be held and published on the spot), to contest the same by petition to a special commissioner under this Regulation having local jurisdiction for the time being (or if no such jurisdiction exist, to the ordinary Courts of Justice, by which the case is cognizable), praying further investigation; provided that no plea of objection against the line of demarcation laid down shall be heard or admitted, excepting only such as shall declare and offer proof that at the time of survey a specific quantity of land, or land with defined limits, was in the occupation of the petitioner cleared and under cultivation, which, by the line of demarcation adopted, is placed within the Sunderbun tract belonging to Government. Every such application so made shall be regarded as a claim to hold the tract claimed free of the public assessment, and shall be investigated and decided under the rules of Regulation II., 1819, as modified by this Regulation.—Reg. III., 1828, sec. xiii., cl. 2.

RULES OF PRACTICE.

RULES OF PRACTICE for regulating the Proceedings of the Special Commissioners appointed under Regulation III., 1828: PASSED by the Right Honourable the Governor-General in Council, on the 21st August, 1828.

335. The several cases which may be received for trial by each commissioner, whether transferred by the Courts of Justice, or Boards of Revenue, or received on appeal by parties, shall be regularly numbered and entered on separate file-books, according to the following classification, viz.:—

One file for cases of la-khiraj lands or tenures claimed to be held free of all rent.

One file for cases of claims to hold land at mocurreree, or fixed jumma, or to resist the assessment of land on the plea that it is included in settled estates, such as Halabad, Noabad, Towfeer, and Puteetabadee lands.

One file for new churs and jungle lands claimed as the absolute property, and at the disposal of Government.

Each file to be kept according to the form (A) annexed.

336. Each commissioner is to entertain a mohafez dufter, who is to have special charge of the records of cases to be heard and determined, for the safe custody of which that officer shall be held responsible, and all officers, who may be employed by the commissioners in the execution of the duty confided to them, shall be considered as exclusively under their control.

337. Whenever the record of any cause may be transferred by a Court of Justice to a special commissioner, under the rule contained in paragraph 299, the commissioner shall, in a Persian roobakaree, acknowledge the receipt of the record, and request the Court to intimate the transfer to all parties connected with the suit, who may have appeared before it. The commissioner shall further issue a notice according to the form in use in the Courts of Justice, to be served through the Zillah or City Court within the jurisdiction of which the lands may be situated, requiring their attendance for the purpose of prosecuting or defending the suit, as the case may be; all notices of the above description, which it may be necessary to issue to any officer on the part of Government, shall be served as hereinafter directed.

338. In all cases which may be transferred to a special commissioner by a Board of Revenue, under the provisions of paragraph 301, the Board shall be requested to notify the transfer to the parties or their agents, who may have appeared before them, and notices, similar to those prescribed in the preceding paragraph, shall be issued for the attendance of the parties, to be served through the judge of the Zillah or City Court within the jurisdiction of which the lands may be situated.

339. Whenever any person, who may be dissatisfied with a decision passed by a collector, shall, under the option given in paragraph 305, present his petition of appeal to the collector by whom the decision has been passed, it shall be the duty of that officer, after having had a complete copy of the record of the case made for retention in his own office, to transmit the original record of the suit, accompanied by an accurate list of all the papers contained in it, to the office of the special commissioner of the division; in making a transcript of the record previous to transmission, the collector is to be specially careful that all sunnuds and other documents are accurately and faithfully copied for record in his office; and the original record is, in all practicable cases, to be transmitted within fifteen days from the date on which the petition of appeal may be filed.

340. On the same day on which the original record of any case appealed may be transmitted from the collector's office to that of the special commissioner of the division, the collector shall issue a notice to the appellant, apprising him thereof, and requiring him to attend the commissioner, either in person or by an authorized agent, for the purpose of prosecuting his appeal within six weeks from the date of the receipt of such notice; if any other person, not being an officer of Government, shall have been a party to the case, a similar notice shall be issued to such person, and the due service of such notices shall, on their being returned to the collector, be certified by him to the special commissioner.

341. It shall likewise be the duty of the collector, on the transmission of the record of any case appealed as above specified, to give notice of the admission of such appeal by perwannah, addressed to the officer who may be appointed, as hereinafter provided, agent on the part of Government at the cutcherry of the special commissioner.

342. Every petition of appeal from the decision of a collector, preferred direct to a special commissioner under the rule quoted in paragraph 339, or from the decisions of a Board of Revenue, under the provisions of paragraph 300, shall invariably be accompanied by a duly authenticated copy of the decree appealed from; and on the admission of an appeal so preferred, the special commissioner shall, when the decision appealed from may have been passed by a collector, issue a precept to that officer, requiring him, within a specified time, to transmit the original record of the cause to the office of the special commissioner, a copy of the record being retained by the collector, as provided in paragraph 339; in cases when the appeal admitted as above shall be from a decision passed by a Board of Revenue, the special commissioner shall, by a Persian roobakaree, require such Board to transmit to his office the original record of the case (a copy being similarly retained), within a specified period.

343. When an appeal may be admitted by a special commissioner under the rules contained in the two preceding paragraphs, if there shall appear, on a perusal of the decree appealed from, to be any individuals interested in the issue of the appeal besides the appellants and the officers of Government, it shall be the duty of the special commissioner to direct a notice of the nature described in paragraph 340 to be served on such persons, through the Zillah or City Courts within the jurisdiction of which they may reside, and the due service of such notice shall be certified by the judge of such Court, in reply to the precept issued to him by the commissioner.

344. In cases which may be referred to the special commissioners by the Revenue Boards, under the provisions of paragraph 307, the notice therein directed to be issued for the attendance of the respondents, as well as any notice which it may appear proper to the commissioners to issue for the attendance of any other party, not being an officer of Government, shall issue through, and be served by the judge of the Zillah or City Court of the district in which the respondent or such party may respectively reside.

345. With reference to the provisions of paragraph 306 and paragraph 314, it is provided that, whenever a petition of appeal shall be preferred to a collector against a decision passed by him, declaring land liable to assessment, or when a collector may have reason to believe that it is the intention of the party against whom such decision may have been passed, to appeal therefrom within the period limited by the above Regulation, he shall not proceed to carry the decree into execution until after the expiration of that period, unless he shall be sooner apprised that an application on the part of the appellant to stay execution of the decree has been rejected by the special commissioner, in which case, or otherwise after the expiration of the period limited for appealing, he may proceed to execute the decree, unless prohibited from so doing by order of the special commissioner.

346. Provided also, that in cases in which the petition of appeal may be filed before a special commissioner, if, on a perusal of the decree, he shall see reason to direct execution thereof to be suspended, an order to that effect shall be issued to the collector, along with the requisition for the original record of the cause directed to be issued in paragraph 342.

347. Every petition of appeal from the decision of a Board of Revenue, or of a collector, which may be preferred to a special commissioner, under the provisions of Regulation III., 1828, shall be written on stamped paper, of the value of one rupee.

348. It shall be at the option of the appellant to enter the grounds of his appeal in detail in the petition for the admission of his appeal, or to reserve his arguments to be brought forward in a separate pleading; but in the event of his adopting the latter course, such pleading shall be written on stamped paper, value one rupee.

349. In appeals wherein an officer of Government is the party respondent, the reply to be filed to the grounds of appeal is to be written on stamped paper, value one rupee, and a reply, either in express refutation of the pleas of the appellant, or generally resting the defence on the grounds recited in the decree appealed from, shall be required in every case.

350. In cases referred by the Revenue Boards for revision to the special commissioners, under the rule in paragraph 307, the Board referring the case shall be required, in reply to the reference, to direct the superintendent and remembrancer of legal affairs, or some other public officer, to file a pleading containing the grounds on which the Board are dissatisfied with the collector's decree, and such pleading shall be written on stamped paper, value one rupee.

351. The reply of the party opposed to Government, in cases of the above description, shall likewise be written on stamped paper, value one rupee.

352. No miscellaneous petition or pleading of any kind, beyond the wujoohat of the appellant, and the reply of the respondent, shall be admitted, unless on a verbal representation by the parties or their agents, before the commissioner, such additional pleading or miscellaneous petition shall appear necessary, but when admitted to be so by the commissioner, and allowed to be filed, it shall be written on stamped paper, value one rupee.

353. The foregoing rule is not, however, to be construed to prevent the admission, by the special commissioners, of petitions presented solely for the purpose of staying execution of decrees, which petitions may be received and acted on at any time pending the decision of an appeal.

354. With reference to the provisions for a review of judgment contained in paragraph 308, it is provided, that all petitions for review of judgment, which may be presented to the special commissioners, shall, if presented within two calendar months from the date of the decision of which review is prayed, be written on stamped paper value one rupee; but if presented after the expiration of the above period, such petition shall be written on the stamped paper prescribed in Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation X., 1829, ("CIVIL JUDICATURE,") calculated at the computed annual produce of the land in dispute.

355. If any appellant shall not, within the period of six weeks from the date of instituting his appeal, if preferred direct to a commissioner, or, if filed at the collector's office, from the date on which he may receive notice that the record of the case has been transmitted to the commissioner, either attend in person, or appoint an agent as hereinafter provided, and prosecute his appeal, a further notice shall be issued by the commissioner, through the Zillah or City Court, requiring such appellant to attend and prosecute his appeal within fifteen days from the date of the receipt of such notice. If the peon charged with the service of the notice cannot serve it upon the appellant personally, he shall proclaim the same at the dwelling of the appellant in the presence of witnesses, and such proclamation shall be deemed equivalent to personal service; and if the appellant shall afterwards omit or refuse to attend the commissioner within the prescribed period, his appeal shall be dismissed, with costs.

356. If an appellant, after having appointed an agent to plead his cause, shall neglect to prosecute the same for a period of six weeks, a requisition by the commissioner to such agent, to proceed in the case within fifteen days, shall be held equivalent to a notice to the appellant, and in the event o his not so proceeding, his appeal shall be dismissed.

357. All notices required to be served on any officer of Government concerned in a suit before the commissioners, shall be delivered to the agent appointed on behalf of Government at each commissioner's cutcherry, who shall give a receipt for the same, and transmit a copy thereof to the officer concerned, and return the original to be filed on the record.

358. Should the special commissioners, acting on the discretion vested in them, in common with the ordinary Courts of Justice, by paragraph 326, deem it necessary or proper to receive further evidence, oral or documentary, in any case depending before them, no stamp fee shall be levied from the parties for summoning witnesses or filing exhibits.

359. If, in any case, the special commissioners shall deem the further evidence of witnesses necessary, they shall be summoned and examined by the judge of the zillah or city within which they may reside, on specific points indicated by the commissioners and recorded on their proceedings. If a party, at whose instance a witness may be summoned, will undertake himself to produce him, or to serve the subpœna on him, he shall be allowed to do so; otherwise the process shall be served by a peon of the Zillah or City Court, under the ordinary rules in force: the same course shall be followed whenever it may be considered necessary to examine a witness before any of the special commissioners.

360. Every party whose case may be depending, under Regulation III., 1828, before a special commissioner, shall be at liberty, if he chooses, to attend and plead his own cause in person, or to appoint a mokhtar or agent specially for that purpose.

361. Every person who may appoint an agent, as above authorized, shall execute a regular power of attorney in such agent's name, and the execution of such instrument, which may be written on unstamped paper, shall be attested by some European public officer, and it shall be filed on the record of the case.

362. The parties in cases before the commissioners are not to be restricted in the appointment of agents to any particular number of individuals, provided that the persons appointed shall appear to the commissioners to be of good character and respectability.

363. The parties shall be at liberty to make such arrangements in regard to remuneration for their services with the mokhtars or agents whom they may appoint, as may be agreed on among themselves; provided, however, that if, on the decision of the case, the parties shall disagree as to the sufficiency or otherwise of the terms agreed on, the amount shall be fixed by the commissioner or commissioners by whom the case is decided; provided also, that if any mokhtar shall (without waiting for the final adjustment of the matter as above provided for at the time of decision) decline to act further for his principal, he shall, if the latter demand it, be required to refund any sum which he may already have received for undertaking the conduct of the cause.

364. Every agent or mokhtar, who may be appointed to conduct a cause before the special commissioners, shall be subject to fines and other penalties for neglect, contempt of Court, or other misbehaviour, to the same extent, and in the same manner, as the regular pleaders of the Courts of Justice are subject by the Regulations.

365. An agent shall be appointed (if approved by Government) by the superintendent and remembrancer of legal affairs, to attend on behalf of Government at each cutcherry, where suits may be heard and determined by the special commissioners, and such agent shall be remunerated by a fixed salary, or in such other manner as the Governor-General may be pleased to determine; the agent so appointed shall moreover be liable to all the rules applicable to Government pleaders, as well as to the rules prescribed for the agents who may be employed by individuals to plead before the commissioners.

366. In giving judgment in each case, if the special commissioners shall see reason to interfere in regard to the compensation to be paid by the parties to the agents employed to plead their cause, the amount of remuneration finally authorized shall be inserted as costs at the foot of the decree; distinct provision shall likewise be made in every decree as to whether the party against whom it is passed is, or is not, to bear the whole or any portion of the expenses which may have been incurred by the party opposed to him, including, of course, costs of the nature indicated in paragraph 300, in cases to which that paragraph may be applicable.

367. The original decrees of the special commissioners, intended to be kept with the records of the cases, as well as three counterparts, to be disposed of as underneath directed, are to be transcribed on plain paper, but of European manufacture exclusively; one counterpart shall, as soon as practicable, be delivered to the party opposed to Government; one counterpart shall be transmitted to the collector of the district in which the land is situated; and the remaining counterpart shall be forwarded to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of a Board of Revenue, under the control of which such collector may be placed. All other copies of the decrees of the commissioners, which parties may require for private use, or as documents to exhibit in evidence, shall be made at the expense of the parties, on plain or stamped paper, under the general Regulations in force; but such copies shall only be permitted to be prepared by persons duly authorized by the commissioners.

368. In transmitting a counterpart of the decree, as above directed, to the collector, the commissioner, by whom it may have been passed, shall accompany it by instructions to that officer to carry it into immediate execution, and to report, within a given period, the measures which he may have adopted for that purpose.

369. In all matters not specially provided for in the foregoing rules, or in Regulation III., 1828, the course of proceeding shall be conformable to the rules in force for the guidance of the Courts of Justice in the trial and decision of regular appeals

370. With a view to insure uniformity in the proceedings and practice of the several special commissioners appointed to act under Regulation III., 1828, it is hereby provided, that whenever it may be deemed necessary by any special commissioner to propose rules of practice, either original or in modification of the present rules, he shall transmit a draft of such rules to each of the other commissioners acting under the Regulation, with a request that they will record their sentiments on the expediency or otherwise of the proposed rules, so that the draft, when transmitted for the consideration of Government by the commissioner with whom it may originate, may be accompanied by the observations of all the commissioners.

LAND REVENUE.

ENDOWMENTS AND ESCHEATS.

1. The general superintendence of all lands granted for the support of mosques, Hindoo temples, colleges, and for other pious and beneficial purposes, is vested in the Boards of Revenue in the several districts subject to the control of those Boards respectively.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. ii.

2. It shall be the duty of the Boards of Revenue to take care that all endowments made for the maintenance of establishments of the above description be duly appropriated to the purpose for which they were destined by the Government or individual by whom such endowments were granted. In like manner, it shall be the duty of those Boards to provide, with the sanction of Government, for the due repair and maintenance of all such public edifices which have been erected, either at the expense of the former or present Government, or of individuals, and which either at present are or can conveniently be rendered conducive to the convenience of the community.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. iii.

3. In those cases, however, in which any of the buildings in question have fallen to decay, and cannot, from that or other causes, be conveniently repaired, or are not calculated, if repaired, to afford any material accommodation to the public, the Boards shall recommend that they be sold on the public account, or otherwise disposed of as may appear most expedient.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. iv.

4. Under the foregoing rules, it will of course be incumbent on the Boards of Revenue to prevent any lands which have been granted for the support of establishments of the above description from being converted to the private use of individuals, or appropriated in any other mode contrary to the intent and will of the donor; and likewise to prevent all public edifices from being usurped by individuals and falling into the possession and exclusive use of private persons.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. v.

5. Whenever the Boards of Revenue may be of opinion that any of the above-mentioned edifices require repair, they shall obtain the necessary estimates of the expense required for the execution of the work, and forward them to Government for its approval.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. vi.

6. The general superintendence of all nuzzool property or escheats is likewise hereby vested in the Boards of Revenue, who will inform themselves fully, through the channel hereafter mentioned, of all property of that description, and report to Government whether it should in their opinion be sold on the public account, or in what other mode it should be disposed of.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. vii.

7. To enable the Boards of Revenue the better to carry into effect the duties hereby intrusted to them, local agents shall be appointed in each zillah, subject to the authority, control, and orders of those Boards respectively.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. viii.

8. The collector of the zillah shall be ex officio one of those agents, with whom the Governor-General in Council will unite such other officers as may from time to time be judged expedient.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. ix.; Act XXXVIII., 1837.

9. Under the present provisions, it will of course be the duty of the agents to obtain full information from the public records, and by personal inquiries respecting all endowments, establishments, and buildings of the nature of those above described, and of all nuzzool property or escheats, and to report to the Board to whose authority those agents are respectively subject, any instances in which they may have reason to believe that the lands or buildings are improperly appropriated, being in all cases careful not to infringe any private rights, or to occasion unnecessary trouble or vexation to individuals.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. x.

10. The said agents will further ascertain and report the names, together with other particulars, of the present trustees, managers, or superintendents of the several institutions, foundations, or establishments above described, whether under the designation of Mootuwullee or any other, and by whom and under what authority appointed or elected, and whether in conformity to the special provisions of the original endowment and appropriation by the founder, or under any general rule or maxim applicable to such institutions and foundations.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. xi.

11. The local agents will also report to the superior Boards all vacancies and casualties which may occur, with full information of all circumstances, to enable the Boards to judge of the pretensions of the person or persons claiming the trust; particularly whether the succession have been heretofore by inheritance in the line of descent, or whether the successor have been in former instances elected, and by whom, or whether he have been nominated by the founder or his heir or representative, or by any other individual patron of the foundation, or by any officer or representative of Government, or directly by the Government itself.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. xii.

12. In those cases in which the nomination has usually rested with the present or former Government, or with a public officer, or of right appertains to Government, in consequence of no private person being competent and entitled to make sufficient provision for the succession to the trust and management, it will be the further duty of the local agents to propose, for the approval and confirmation of the superior Board, a fit person or persons for the charge of trustee or manager and superintendent, duly attending to the qualifications of the person selected, and to any special provisions of the original endowment and foundation, and to the general rules or the known usages of the country applicable to such cases.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. xiii.

13. On the receipt of the report and information required by the preceding paragraph, the Boards of Revenue will either appoint the person or persons nominated for their approval, or will make such other provision for the trust, superintendence, and management, as may be right and fit with reference to the nature and conditions of the endowment, having previously called for any requisite further information from the local agents.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. xiv.

14. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to preclude any individual who may conceive that he has just grounds of complaint on account of any orders which may be passed by any of the above-mentioned authorities, with respect to the appropriation of any lands or buildings of the nature of those above described, from suing, in the mode and form prescribed by the Regulations, where Government or public officers are parties; or under the general provisions of the Regulations, if the suit be brought against a competitor or other private person for the recovery thereof in the regular course of law, or for compensation in damages for any loss or injury supposed to have been unduly sustained by him.—Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. xv.

15. It is to be clearly understood, that the object of the present rules is solely to provide for the due appropriation of lands granted for public purposes agreeably to the intent of the grantor, and not to resume any part of the produce of them for the benefit of Government. In like manner, it is fully intended, that all buildings erected by the former or present Government, or by individuals for the convenience of the public, should be exclusively appropriated to that purpose, with the exception of such as have fallen to decay, and cannot from that, or any other cause, be conveniently repaired, or which, under existing circumstances, can no longer contribute to the accommodation of the community. —Reg. XIX., 1810, sec. xvi.

16. The general superintendence of all lands assigned as endowments for the maintenance of bridges, serays and kuttras, shall be vested in the Board of Revenue, under the same rules as are provided in the preceding paragraphs in respect of lands given as endowments for pious and beneficial purposes.—Reg. XVII., 1816, sec. xvi.

17. The superintendents of police shall exercise a general control over the public roads, bridges, serays and kuttras, within the limits of their respective jurisdictions.—Reg. XVII., 1816, sec. xvii., cl. 1.

18. Whenever the local magistrates may be of opinion that any works of the description specified in the preceding paragraph are necessary in the cities or zillahs subject to their authority, they shall communicate their sentiments on the subject to the superintendent of police, instead of addressing themselves directly to Government.—Reg. XVII., 1816, sec. xvii., cl. 2.

19. On receipt of communications of the description above mentioned, the superintendents of police shall consider, not merely the local advantages which may attend the proposed works, but likewise their tendency to facilitate the communications between the several districts, and their general utility, whether in the promotion of the commercial or common interests of the country at large.—Reg. XVII., 1816, sec. xvii., cl. 3.

20. The superintendents of police shall likewise ascertain how far the labour of the convicts confined in the several districts within their respective jurisdictions can be employed in the execution of the proposed works, without withdrawing them from other works of equal or greater utility.—Reg. XVII., 1816, sec. xvii., cl. 4.

21. The several Zillah and City Magistrates shall furnish the superintendents of police with such information as may be required by those officers in regard to the employment of the convicts and the state of the public works.—Reg. XVII., 1816, sec. xvii., cl. 5.

22. In cases in which the superintendents of police may be of opinion, whether on consideration of reports from the local magistrates, or from other sources of information, that any public work, of the description specified in paragraphs 17 to 21, should be undertaken at the expense of Government, they shall ascertain from the local authorities, and, as far as practicable, from professional persons, the expense to which Government would be subject in the execution of the proposed works; and shall submit a full and comprehensive report on the subject to Government, containing the necessary information in regard to the utility of the work, together with an estimate of the probable expense attending its execution.—Reg. XVII., 1816, sec. xix, cl. 1.

23. In submitting reports of the above description, the superintendents of police shall be careful to ascertain whether any means can be devised for defraying the expense of the proposed works otherwise than from the general funds of Government, and they will refrain from recommending any expensive undertakings, except in cases which may promise to be attended with more than ordinary convenience and advantage.—Reg XVII., 1816, sec. xix., cl. 2.

PENSIONS.

Bengal, Behar, and Orissa.

NOTE.—The original rules for settling claims to pensions, being now obsolete, have been omitted.

1. All pensions received by virtue of sunnuds granted previous to the Company's accession to the Dewanny, or since granted with the sanction of Government, shall be continued during the lives of the grantees. In instances in which the amount received may have been less than the amount specified in the sunnud, the former only is to be continued as heretofore.—Reg. XXIV., 1793, sec. ii.

2. No pensions received without a sunnud, or under sunnuds granted since the Company obtained the Dewanny, without the sanction of Government, shall be continued, unless the persons receiving the pensions be real objects of charity, or unless they received them before the commencement of the Bengal, Fusly, or Willaity year 1179 (in Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, respectively), and have since continued to receive them; in which case, the pensions heretofore received are to be continued during the lives of the present pensioners.—Reg. XXIV., 1793, sec. iii.

3. If the persons to whom the pensions were originally granted be deceased, the allowances are not to be continued to their heirs or descendants without the sanction of the Governor-General in Council; and no pension, after the death of the party now entitled thereto, shall be hereafter continued to his descendants without the like sanction, whether the grant be, according to the terms of it, hereditary or otherwise.—Reg. XXIV., 1793, sec. iv.

4. These rules are not to be considered to apply to any pensions excepting such as were heretofore paid by the landholders, and are now included in the jumma of Government, or which were received from the sayer abolished.—Reg. XXIV., 1793, sec. ix.

5. The collectors, on receiving intimation of the decision of the Board of Revenue, for a pension not exceeding fifty rupees per annum, or on being informed of the Governor-General in Council having ordered the continuance of pensions of a larger amount referred to him, shall deliver to the party entitled to the pension adjudged a certificate stating the amount of the pension, the title of the party thereto during his or her life, the ground of such title, and whether admitted by the Board of Revenue, or by the Governor-General in Council, with the date of such admission.—Reg. XXIV., 1793, sec. x.

6. A similar certificate is also to be given for all such pensions as may have been authorized by the Governor-General in Council, and for which certificates may not have been already granted.—Reg. XXIV., 1793, sec. xi.

7. The collectors, at the time of granting the certificates ordered in the two preceding paragraphs, are to number and register them in an English and Persian register to be kept for this purpose; and they are to be careful to note therein, also, such personal identifications of the parties receiving the certificates, as may detect any future attempt to transfer them to others.—Reg. XXIV., 1793, sec. xii.

8. The annual amount of the pensions is to be issued in quarterly proportions, viz., on the last day of the third, sixth, ninth, and twelfth months of the Bengal, Fusly, and Willaity years, respectively, for the preceding three months.—Reg. XXIV., 1793, sec. xiii.

9. The pensions and allowances to which these rules relate being gratuitous, the determining upon the continuance or discontinuance of them under the rules prescribed is reserved to the Board of Revenue, and the Governor-General in Council, and claims to such pensions and allowances are declared not cognizable in any Court of Judicature; but if a collector, or any person entrusted with the payment of pensions, shall withhold from any pensioner the pension to which he or she may be entitled, in virtue of a certificate granted under paragraphs 5 and 6, the collector or person withholding the pension shall be liable to be sued for such act in the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah or city in which the pension may be payable. The Court, provided proof be made to its satisfaction that the complainant conformed to the rules herein prescribed to pensioners respecting the receipt of their pensions, and the person complained against cannot show good and sufficient cause, to the satisfaction of the Court, for having withheld the pension, the Court is to order it to be discharged, and compel the collector or other person by whom the pension may have been withheld to pay to the complainant such sum for costs as may appear to it equitable.—Reg. XXIV., 1793, sec. xvii.

10. The pensions under the heads of maash and rozeena, sanctioned by the Governor-General in the year 1781, amounting to Benares sicca rupees 33,296. 7 annas, having been originally granted, either wholly or in part, as indemnifications for ayma or other lands resumed under the native Government, are not to be liable to resumption on the death of the persons who now receive them, notwithstanding that such resumption made part of the original order issued for the confirmation of them, but are to be considered as property, and are to descend to the heirs of the present and future receivers, and are declared liable to be sued for and inherited in the same manner as other property.—Reg. XXXIV., 1795, sec. ii.

11. The second class of pensions payable from the treasury consist of allowances granted in 1781 by the Governor-General to certain persons who represented themselves to have been landholders in the zemindary of Benares, and whom it was then intended to reinstate. Agreeably to the orders of the Governor-General in Council, under date the 11th of April, 1788, no part of these pensions are to be continued to the heirs of the persons now in the enjoyment of them, without his special sanction.—Reg. XXXIV., 1795, sec. iii.

12. Besides the pensions noticed in the preceding paragraph, there are others payable from the moolky treasury, which were heretofore paid by the aumils in their several pergunnahs, and for the amount of which they received credit in their accounts of the revenue; and also certain other miscellaneous allowances to individuals, receivable partly from Government's and partly from the moolky treasury, the continuance of all which depend on the conditions and limitations under which they were severally granted. But it is to be considered as a general rule, that the collector is to report to the Board of Revenue the death of all pensioners whose pensions are receivable either from the Government's or the moolky treasury, with the circumstances and conditions of the original grant, and the several orders that may have been subsequently passed on the subject. The Board of Revenue are to submit this report, with their sentiments on the case, to the Governor-General in Council, who will thereon issue such orders as may be applicable respecting the continuance or resumption of each particular pension or allowance.—Reg. XXXIV., 1795, sec. iv.

13. The cauzy and mufty of Benares having always received khelauts at the two Eeds, or annual Mahomedan festivals, denominated the Eedyn, the fixed expense of such khelauts is to be defrayed by the collector in the usual manner.—Reg. XXXIV., 1795, sec. v.

14. The sixth class of pensions consist of the allowances granted by the order of the Governor-General in Council of the 11th of February, 1791, and paid from the Fusly year, 1200 (1792-3), to such of the persons who formerly received pensions from the sayer, as from indigence, age, or helplessness, were deemed objects of real charity, under tusheeas or certificates, specifying that such pensions were to cease on the death of the holders. That this fund may continue to be faithfully applied to its original object, by being appropriated solely to the relief of those natives and settled inhabitants of the district of Benares who, from age, sex, or infirmity, shall be unable to provide for themselves or earn a livelihood by their labour, it shall be the duty of the collector of Benares to report immediately to the Board of Revenue the demise of every pensioner on this list, and to recommend the transfer of the pension, wholly or in part, to one or more proper objects. The Board are to submit this recommendation to the Governor-General in Council, with their opinion on it; and in the event of its being approved by him, they are to order the collector to grant a tushea or certificate for the pension, under his seal and signature, bearing date from the demise of the last holder. This certificate is to specify the sex and age of the party on whom the pension may be conferred, and the motive for bestowing it on him or her, with a provision that it is to be continued only during the natural life of the holder. The aggregate of the pensions specified in this paragraph is not to be increased beyond the present amount of them, excepting by order of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. XXXIV., 1795, sec. vi.

15. Certain charitable allowances are likewise defrayable from the religious offerings made at the temple of Bindabashnee near to Mirzapoor, the distribution of which (as hitherto made to the parties entitled to receive it under the authority of the native judge) is to be continued as formerly, with this alteration, that the distribution is to be made, under the orders of the Board of Revenue and the Governor-General in Council, by the collector, who is to be held responsible for the proper dispensation of the charity, agreeably to the established rules for the management of it. If any of the parties interested in this fund shall deem themselves aggrieved by the orders of the collector, they may represent the circumstances to the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut, who is to forward the petition to the Governor-General in Council, who reserves to himself the power of passing such determination on the petition as may appear to him proper.—Reg. XXXIV., 1795, sec. vii.

16. For every pension which may be hereafter granted by the Governor-General in Council, or that may be renewed on the demise of a pensioner, and which may be issuable from either of the before-mentioned treasuries at Benares, the collector shall deliver to the party by whom the pension is to be received, a certificate, stating the amount of the pension, the title of the party thereto during his or her life, the ground of such title, and the date of the grant.—Reg. XXXIV., 1795, sec. viii.

17. The collector is to keep a separate list of all pensions paid under this Regulation, and is to number and register the certificates or other sunnuds and vouchers under which they are held, in a register in the English and Persian languages to be kept for this purpose; and he is to be careful to note therein such personal identifications of the parties receiving the pensions as may detect any future attempt to transfer them to others.—Reg. XXXIV., 1795, sec. ix.

18. The annual amount of the pensions is to be issued in monthly proportions, agreeably to the practice which has hitherto prevailed in the province.—Reg. XXXIV., 1795, sec. x.

19. The determining upon the continuance of the pensions and allowances to which these rules relate being provided for, in respect to each class, under the rules prescribed in the several paragraphs in which they have been successively noticed, all claims to such pensions and allowances, with the exception of those specified in paragraph 10, are declared not cognizable in any Court of Judicature. But if a collector, or any person intrusted with the payment of pensions, shall withhold from any pensioner the pension to which he or she may be entitled, the collector, or person withholding the pension, shall be liable to be sued for such act in the Dewanny Adawlut of the jurisdiction in which the pension may be payable; and provided proof be made, to the satisfaction of the Court, that the complainant conformed to the rules herein prescribed to pensioners respecting the receipt of their pensions, and the person complained against cannot show good and sufficient cause, to the satisfaction of the Court, for having withheld the pension, the Court is to order it to be discharged, and compel the collector, or other person by whom the pension may have been withheld, to pay to the complainant such sum for costs as may appear to it equitable.—Reg. XXXIV., 1795, sec. xiv.

Ceded Provinces.

20. Pensions which may have been granted by the late Government, either wholly or in part, as indemnifications for altumgah, ayma, or other lands (held by sunnuds conferring a right in perpetuity) resumed by such Government, shall not be liable to resumption on the death of the persons who now receive them, notwithstanding that such resumption made part of the original order issued for the confirmation of them; but are to be regarded as property, and are to descend to the heirs of the present and future receivers, and are declared liable to be sued for, and inherited in the same manner as other property.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. ii.

21. Pensions which may have been, in like manner, granted as an indemnification for lands resumed by the late Government, held only under a life tenure, shall be continued during the lifetime of the persons who were in receipt of them at the time of the cession, whether they be the original grantees or their heirs.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. iii.

22. The cauzies and mufties of the principal cities having always received khelauts or shawls at the two Eeds or Mahomedan festivals, the expense thereof is to be defrayed by the judge and magistrate in the usual manner and at the customary rate.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. iv.

23. Pensions which may have been granted by the late Government to the indigent, aged, or helpless, under tusheeas, or certificates, specifying that such pensions were to cease on the demise of the holders, shall be continued to the persons who received them at the period of the cession, during their respective lives, whether they be the original grantees or not; and notwithstanding that such pensions may have been granted by the aumils, provided they were regularly charged in the aumils' accounts, and admitted, or not struck off, by the late Government, they shall, in like manner, be continued to the present receivers, should it appear that they have been in the uninterrupted receipt thereof during a period of three years prior to the cession, or for such other period of time as, from the circumstances of the case and the situation and condition of the claimants, may reasonably constitute a prescriptive right to the continuance of the pension.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. v., cl. 1.

24. Where a claim may be preferred to a pension which shall not have been paid to the claimant for a period of three years antecedent to the cession, and the collector may be of opinion that the claim is of such a nature as to merit the consideration of Government, he shall submit the proceedings on the subject of such claim to the Board of Revenue for the orders of the Governor-General in Council, whatever may be the amount of the claim.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. v., cl. 2.

25. Pensions granted to fakeers and other religious persons, for the purpose of lighting mausoleums or mosques, or for that of repairing them, as also to enable them to perform their religious ceremonies usual in the Mohurrum, shall be continued; but pensions of this description are not to be considered as of a personal nature, and the collector shall be responsible for their being applied to the purposes for which they were bestowed.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. vi.

26. Where written tusheeas, certificates, or other deeds, cannot be produced, the prescriptive right arising from long receipt shall entitle the claimant to a continuance of the pension.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. vii.

27. In fixing the sum to be paid to the pensioners, the collector is not to be guided by the amount that may be stated in their respective certificates, but by the amount as may appear from the pergunnah or zillah accounts they were in the habit of receiving; provided such sum does not exceed that stipulated in the certificate, which shall in such case become the standard.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. viii.

28. All pensions are to be issued from the zillah treasuries, and are on no account to be deducted in the pergunnah from any particular article of revenue arising to Government.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. ix.

29. For every pension which may be hereafter granted by the Governor-General in Council, or that may be renewed on the demise of a pensioner, and which may be issuable from the before-mentioned treasuries in the ceded countries, the collector shall deliver to the party by whom the pension is to be received a certificate, stating the amount of the pension, the title of the party thereto during his or her life, the ground of such title, and the date of the grant.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. x.

30. The collector is to keep a separate list of all pensions paid under this Regulation, and is to number and register the certificates, or other sunnuds and vouchers under which they are held, in a register, in the English and Persian languages, to be kept for this purpose; and he is to be careful to note therein such personal identifications of the parties receiving the pensions, as may detect any future attempt to transfer them to others.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. xi.

31. The annual amount of pensions shall be paid in two equal payments, viz., at the khurreef and rubby-harvests.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. xii.

32. The continuance or discontinuance of all pensions, except those set forth in paragraph 20, shall, after the death of the persons who now receive them, depend solely on the pleasure of Government, and shall not be subject to cognizance or determination in any Court of Justice. It shall be the duty of the collector to see that all just and authorized pensions are duly paid; and where any person may deem himself aggrieved by the act of the collector in respect to a pension, it shall be competent to him to sue for redress in the Civil Court of the district.—Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. xvi.

33. The provision contained in paragraph 20 was not intended to authorize Courts of Civil Justice to take cognizance of claims to any pensions of the nature therein alluded to, the original title to which had not been previously recognized and confirmed by the revenue authorities or by Government, to whom the power of investigating and finally deciding on such original titles is exclusively reserved, but it was only intended by the said rule that pensions of the nature described in that paragraph, which had been or might be regularly sanctioned and confirmed by the proper revenue authorities, or by Government, should not be liable to resumption on the death of the persons authorized to receive them; but should be regarded as property descending to the heirs of the present and future receivers, and be liable to be sued for and inherited in the same manner as other property. —Reg. VI., 1817, sec. ii.

Cuttack.

34. The rules contained in Regulation XXIV., 1793, for deciding on the claims of persons to the continuance of pensions and allowances granted for religious purposes, shall be considered to be in force in the zillah of Cuttack. Provided, however, that in cases in which persons may have obtained pensions from the Government of Berar, under grants made previous to the 14th of October, 1803, such pensions shall be continued to the present incumbents, and will either descend to their heirs and successors, or will revert to Government on the decease of the present incumbents, as shall appear to the Governor-General in Council, on a consideration of the tenour of the grant and all the circumstances of the case, to be proper under paragraph 3. Provided likewise, that in cases in which persons shall have been in the actual receipt of pensions during a period of three or more years antecedent to the 14th October, 1803, under whatever authority, such pensions shall be continued to the present incumbents during their respective lives, but shall revert to Government on the decease of the present incumbents, unless any particular reasons shall appear to the Governor-General in Council to exist for continuing the said pensions to their heirs and successors. Provided also, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize the resumption of the established donation for the support of the temple of Juggernauth, the charitable donation to the officers of certain Hindoo temples, called Anoochuttree, and the allowance granted for the support of the Hindoo temple at Cuttack, Seetaram Thakoor Baree.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxx.

General Rules.

35. The several collectors are hereby required to furnish the civil auditor with any accounts or information which he may require respecting the pensions payable in their respective districts, and to adhere to any forms with which he may furnish them for preparing reports which may be required on the subject by that officer.—Reg. XXII., 1806, sec. vi.

36. Whenever a person in whose favour a pension, not exceeding the sum of fifty rupees in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares, or the sum of one hundred rupees in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, has been or may be adjudged, shall die, it shall be left to the Board of Revenue to determine, after receiving the report of the collector, whether the said pension, or any part of it, shall be continued to the heirs and successors of the deceased; but in the exercise of this power the Board of Revenue is hereby required to ascertain particularly the situation and circumstances of the party claiming the continuance of the pension, and not to comply with any applications of that nature, unless, on the ground of poverty or for other substantial reason, the party claiming the pension shall have a strong claim on the indulgence of Government. All applications for the continuance of pensions exceeding the sums above specified, are to be reported to the Governor-General in Council, for his orders.—Reg. XXII., 1806, sec. vii.

37. The collectors of the revenue are hereby required to make it a particular object of their attention, to ascertain whether the persons at present receiving pensions are the individuals to whom the pensions were originally adjudged; and in those cases in which it may appear that the individuals to whom the pensions were adjudged are dead, to discontinue the payment thereof, until it shall have been determined, under the preceding rules, whether the said pensions, or any part thereof, should be continued to their heirs and successors, or otherwise.—Reg. XXII., 1806, sec. viii.

38. It being declared that pensions, with the exception of those specified in paragraphs 20 and 21, and in the latter part of paragraph 34, are gratuitous, and that the continuance or discontinuance of them is to depend upon the pleasure of Government, the pensions at present received shall, in all practicable cases, be commuted for grants of waste land, to be held by the grantees and their posterity in perpetuity, free of assessment. Provided, however, that no pensions shall be so commuted during the life of the persons by whom they are at present received (in case they have been regularly investigated and adjudged), except with their own consent. Provided, also, that pensions granted for, and bonâ fide appropriated to the support of institutions, either of the Hindoo or Mahomedan religion, shall be continued for the support of such institutions; unless the present incumbents or their successors shall, of their own free will and accord, agree to accept grants of waste lands, to be held free of assessment under a permanent tenure, in lieu of the said pensions. Provided, moreover, that no pensions which are declared to be hereditary, either by the terms of the grant or by any existing Regulation, shall be so commuted without the consent of the present pensioners or their successors.—Reg. XXII., 1806, sec. ix.

39. Whenever a pensioner may die, or may be desirous of commuting the pension received by him for a grant of waste land, it shall be the duty of the collector to ascertain and report where lands capable of cultivation, and conveniently situated with reference to the person to whom they are to be granted, can be obtained for that purpose. If it be intended to make the proposed grant within the limits of the district in which the pension may have been hitherto paid, the collector will, of course, have ample means of obtaining the necessary information on the subject from his own records and through the channel of his own officers. If it be intended to make the proposed grant in any other district, the collector shall apply to the collector of that district for the necessary particulars on the subject; and, in either case, shall report the result to the Board of Revenue.—Reg. XXII., 1806, sec. x.

40. Whenever the Board of Revenue may be of opinion, on a consideration of the reports above noticed, and of any further information which they may require from the collectors, that it would be advisable, under the provisions and restrictions stated in the two preceding paragraphs, to commute any of the pensions at present receivable for grants of waste land (whether such pensions exceed or fall short of the sums specified in paragraph 36), they shall report their sentiments on the subject to Government, accompanied with the draft of a sunnud for the grant in question, to be signed, if approved, by the chief secretary of Government, or by the secretary in the revenue and judicial department, by order of the Governor-General in Council; in framing which grants, the Board of Revenue shall particularly attend to the purposes for which the grants are made, and to the wishes of the grantees in regard to the form and title of the deeds.—Reg. XXII., 1806, sec. xi.

41. In ordinary cases, the quantity of land shall be such, that the annual net rent produce of it, when brought into cultivation, may be equivalent to the annual amount of the pension. The Governor-General in Council, however, reserves to himself the power of increasing or diminishing that quantity, as the situation of the parties and other circumstances may suggest. The Governor-General in Council will likewise authorize, in addition to such grants of land, the payment of a sum of money to enable the grantee, with greater facility, to bring the lands into cultivation. Provided, however, that such sums shall not, in any case, exceed the amount of the pension in commutation of which the land has been granted for one year.—Reg. XXII., 1806, sec. xii.

42. The payment of pensions generally shall be stopped from and after the 1st of October next, until the individuals by whom they may have been hitherto received shall prove, to the satisfaction of the Board of Revenue, through the medium of the collector of the district in which such individuals reside, that they were the original grantees, and as such adjudged entitled to the pensions hitherto received by them under the general Regulations, or that they have been regularly declared entitled to succeed to the enjoyment of the said pensions. Provided, however, that this rule shall only be considered applicable to pensions of the description of those specified in Regulation XXIV., 1793; Regulation XXXIV., 1795; Section XXX., Regulation XII., 1805; and Regulation XXIV., 1803; and to pensions granted to natives lately in the service of Government for their subsistence, and to such as were heretofore issued from the judicial and commercial departments, but have been lately ordered to be paid by the collectors of the land revenue; and shall not be considered to extend to stipends or pensions payable under existing treaties, or in conformity to arrangements adopted in the political and military departments.—Reg. XI., 1813, sec. ii.

43. It shall be the duty of the collectors, in making the revision above prescribed of the pension list of their respective districts, to prepare an exact register of the individuals who, on such revision, may be deemed entitled to a continuance of the pensions hitherto received by them, in such form as may be deemed best calculated to identify the different individuals, and according to such instructions as they may receive on this point, for their guidance, from the Board of Revenue.—Reg. XI., 1813, sec. iii., cl. 1.

44. It shall likewise be the duty of the collectors to correct the said register carefully, as often as any pensions may revert wholly or in part to Government, or whenever other individuals than those by whom the pensions are at present received shall be adjudged entitled to the reversion of them.—Reg. XI., 1813, sec. iii., cl. 2.

45. All persons receiving pensions exceeding fifty rupees per annum are to attend the collectors in person at the stated periods, to receive the amount of their respective pensions; and the collectors are prohibited from issuing any pensions excepting to the parties personally, unless they shall be disabled from attending by illness or other sufficient cause, of which satisfactory proofs shall be exhibited. The collectors, on being satisfied of the inability of the parties to attend in person, are permitted to issue the pensions to their authorized vakeels; but they are to take due precautions to prevent impositions after the death of the pensioners, and in the event of any pension not being claimed within six months after it may become payable, they are to ascertain whether the party who received it be deceased, and report accordingly. For the accommodation, however, of individuals, the payment of any authorized pensions will be transferred from one district to another, on the application of the party entitled to receive it, in cases in which no public inconvenience shall appear to attend the adoption of that arrangement.—Reg. XXIV., 1793, sec. xiv.; Reg. XXXIV., 1795, sec. xi.; Reg. XXIV., 1803, sec. xiii.; Reg. XI., 1813, sec. iv.

46. Persons entitled to pensions not exceeding fifty rupees per annum shall attend once in each year, that is, on the issue of the first quarterly payment, at the cutcherries of the collectors, for the purpose of identifying themselves by reference to the registers ordered to be kept by paragraph 43, and by such other inquiries as the collectors may deem it necessary to make, in order to guard against frauds in the payment of such pensions. Provided, however, that in cases in which the collectors may be satisfied, after making the fullest inquiries possible on the subject, that the pensioners are actually precluded by sickness or infirmity from attending in person, or that they are women who, according to the usages of the country, do not ordinarily appear in public, the first quarterly payment shall be issued to any person duly authorized to receive the amount on the part of such pensioners.—Reg. XI., 1813, sec. v., cl. 2.

47. The three remaining quarterly payments shall be made by any officer on the regular establishments to whom the collectors may think proper to commit the performance of this duty. It shall be the duty of the officer so selected to repair to the residence of the different pensioners; to ascertain fully whether the recorded pensioners be living; whether the persons claiming the different pensions be the persons actually authorized to receive them; to issue such pensions only as are indisputably receivable; to refer all questions of doubt to the collector for his orders; and finally, to report the result of the duty entrusted to him.—Reg. XI., 1813, sec. v., cl. 3.

48. With a view to the more effectual discovery and suppression of the abuses which have been committed with respect to the pension list, a reward shall be paid, equivalent to the amount of any pension for the period of six months, to any person who shall prove through the regular channel, to the satisfaction of the Board of Revenue, that such pension is fraudulently or unduly received by the person enjoying the benefit of it.—Reg. XI., 1813, sec. vi.

LAND REVENUE.

ALLUVIAL AND DERELICT LANDS.

North-Western Provinces.

NOTE.—The following Regulation was rescinded, so far as regards the Provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, by Act IX., 1847; consequently, it is now in force only in the North-Western Provinces.

1. In consequence of the frequent changes which take place in the channel of the principal rivers that intersect the provinces immediately subject to the presidency of Fort William, and the shifting of the sands which lie in the beds of those rivers, churs, or small islands, are often thrown up by alluvion in the midst of the stream, or near one of the banks, and large portions of land are carried away by an encroachment of the river on one side, whilst accessions of land are at the same time, or in subsequent years, gained by dereliction of the water on the opposite side; similar instances of alluvion, encroachment, and dereliction also sometimes occur on the sea-coast, which borders the southern and south-eastern limits of Bengal. The lands gained from the rivers or sea by the means above mentioned are a frequent source of contention and affray, and although the law and custom of the country have established rules applicable to such cases, these rules not being generally known, the Courts of Justice have sometimes found it difficult to determine the rights of litigant parties claiming churs or other lands gained in the manner above described. The Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, with a view to ascertain the legal provisions of the Mahomedan and Hindoo laws on this subject, called for reports from their law officers of each persuasion, and on consideration of the reports furnished by the law officers in consequence, as well as of the decisions which have been passed by the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut in cases brought before them in appeal which involved the rights of claimants to lands gained by alluvion, or by dereliction of rivers, or the sea, the Governor-General in Council has deemed it proper to enact the following rules for the general information of individuals as well as for the guidance of the Courts of Judicature; to be in force, as soon as promulgated, throughout the whole of the provinces subject to the presidency of Fort William.—Reg. XI., 1825, sec. i.

2. Whenever any clear and definite usage of shekust pywust, respecting the disjunction and junction of land by the encroachment or recess of a river, may have been immemorially established, for determining the rights of the proprietors of two or more contiguous estates, divided by a river (such as that the main channel of the river dividing the estates shall be the constant boundary between them, whatever changes may take place in the course of the river, by encroachment on one side and accession on the other), the usage so established shall govern the decision of all claims and disputes relative to alluvial land between the parties whose estates may be liable to such usage.—Reg. XI., 1825, sec. ii.

3. Where there may be no local usage, of the nature referred to in the preceding paragraph, the general rules declared in the following paragraphs shall be applied to the determination of all claims and disputes relative to lands gained by alluvion or by dereliction either of a river or the sea.—Reg. XI., 1825, sec. iii.

4 When land may be gained by gradual accession, whether from the recess of a river or of the sea, it shall be considered an increment to the tenure of the person to whose land or estate it is thus annexed, whether such land or estate be held immediately from Government by a zemindar or other superior landholder, or as a subordinate tenure, by any description of under-tenant whatever. Provided that the increment of land thus obtained shall not entitle the person in possession of the estate or tenure to which the land may be annexed to a right of property or permanent interest therein beyond that possessed by him in the estate or tenure to which the land may be annexed, and shall not in any case be understood to exempt the holder of it from the payment to Government of any assessment for the public revenue to which it may be liable under the provisions of Regulation II., 1819, or of any other Regulation in force. Nor if annexed to a subordinate tenure, held under a superior landholder, shall the under-tenant, whether a khoodkasht ryot, holding a mouroosee istimraree tenure at a fixed rate of rent per begah, or any other description of under-tenant liable by his engagements, or by established usage, to an increase of rent for the land annexed to his tenure by alluvion, be considered exempt from the payment of any increase of rent to which he may be justly liable.—Reg. XI., 1825, sec. iv., cl. 1.

5. The above rule shall not be considered applicable to cases in which a river, by a sudden change of its course, may break through and intersect an estate, without any gradual encroachment, or may by the violence of stream separate a considerable piece of land from one estate, and join it to another estate, without destroying the identity, and preventing the recognition of the land so removed. In such cases the land, on being clearly recognized, shall remain the property of its original owner.—Reg. XI., 1825, sec. iv., cl. 2.

6. When a chur, or island, may be thrown up in a large navigable river (the bed of which is not the property of an individual), or in the sea, and the channel of the river, or sea, between such island and the shore may not be fordable, it shall, according to established usage, be at the disposal of Government. But if the channel between such island and the shore be fordable at any season of the year, it shall be considered an accession to the land, tenure or tenures, of the person or persons whose estate or estates may be most contiguous to it, subject to the several provisions specified in paragraph 4, with respect to increment of land by gradual accession.—Reg. XI., 1825, sec. iv., cl. 3.

7. In small and shallow rivers, the beds of which, with the julkur right of fishery, may have been heretofore recognized as the property of individuals, any sand bank, or chur, that may be thrown up, shall, as hitherto, belong to the proprietor of the bed of the river, subject to the provisions stated in paragraph 4.—Reg. XI., 1825, sec. iv., cl. 4.

8. In all other cases, viz, in all cases of claims and disputes respecting land gained by alluvion or by dereliction of a river, or the sea, which are not specifically provided for by the rules herein contained, the Courts of Justice, in deciding upon such claims and disputes, shall be guided by the best evidence they may be able to obtain of established local usage, if there be any applicable to the case, or, if not, by general principles of equity and justice.—Reg. XII., 1825, sec. iv., cl. 5.

9. Nothing in these rules shall be construed to justify any encroachments by individuals on the beds or channels of navigable rivers, or to prevent zillah and city magistrates, or any other officers of Government, who may be duly empowered for that purpose, from removing obstacles which appear to interfere with the safe and customary navigation of such rivers, or which shall in any respects obstruct the passage of boats by tracking on the banks of such rivers, or otherwise.—Reg. XI., 1825, sec. v.

Bengal, Behar, and Orissa.

10. Such parts of the Regulations of the Bengal code as establish tribunals and prescribe rules of procedure for investigations regarding the liability to assessment of lands gained from the sea or from rivers by alluvion or dereliction, or regarding the right of Government to the ownership thereof, shall, from the date of the passing of this Act, cease to have effect within the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa; and all such investigations pending before the collectors and deputy collectors in the said provinces at the said date shall forthwith be discontinued; and that no measures shall hereafter be taken for the assessment of such lands, or for the assertion of the right of Government to the ownership thereof, except under the provisions of this Act.—Act IX., 1847, sec. i.

11. The expression "Province of Orissa" in this Act shall be taken to mean only so much of the province of Orissa as is subject to the Government of Bengal.—Act IX., 1847, sec. ii.

12. Within the said provinces it shall be lawful for the Government of Bengal, in all districts or parts of districts of which a revenue survey may have been or may hereafter be completed and approved by Government, to direct from time to time, whenever ten years from the approval of such survey shall have expired, a new survey of lands on the banks of rivers and on the shores of the sea, in order to ascertain the changes that may have taken place since the date of the last previous survey, and to cause new maps to be made according to such new survey.—Act IX., 1847, sec. iii.

13. The approval of the revenue surveys of the following districts and parts of districts shall be deemed to have taken place on the undermentioned days, viz.:—

Of the district of Chittagong, on the sixth day of September, 1842.

Of the district of Behar, on the ninth day of November, 1844.

Of the district of Patna, on the twenty-second day of June, 1844.

Of the district of Shahabad, on the twenty-eighth day of November, 1846.

Of the district of Sarun, on the eighteenth day of February, 1847.

Of pergunnah Furkyah, in the district of Monghyr, on the nineteenth day of September, 1839.

Of the northern division of the province of Cuttack, on the twenty-fourth day of October, 1842.

Of the central division of the province of Cuttack, on the twenty-second day of February, 1843.

Of the southern division of the province of Cuttack, on the nineteenth day of October, 1842.

Of the district of Midnapoor, except Hidgellee and Tumlook, on the twelfth day of September, 1845.

Of Hidgellee and Tumlook, in the district of Midnapoor, on the fifth day of October, 1842.

Of the district of Cachar, on the fifth day of February, 1844.

Of Jynteeah and the pergunnahs of Chapgat, Echamuttee, Ittisamnuggur, and Bhurrun, in the district of Sylhet, on the fifth day of February, 1844.

Of the district of Gwalparah, on the twenty-fourth day of December, 1842.

Of the district of Luckinpore, on the tenth day of November, 1845.

Of the district of Seebpoor, on the eighth day of May, 1843.

And that the approval of the revenue surveys of districts or parts of districts which may be hereafter surveyed, shall be deemed to have taken place on such day as may be specified as the day of such approval in the Calcutta Government Gazette.—Act IX., 1847, sec. iv.

14. Whenever on inspection of any such new map it shall appear to the local revenue authorities that land has been washed away from or lost to any estate paying revenue directly to Government, they shall without loss of time make a deduction from the sudder jumma of the said estate equal to so much of the whole sudder jumma of the estate as bears to the whole the same proportion as the Mofussil jumma of the land lost bears to the Mofussil jumma of the whole estate; but if the Mofussil jumma of the whole estate, or of the land lost, cannot be ascertained to the satisfaction of the local land revenue authorities, then the said local revenue authorities shall make a deduction from the sudder jumma of the estate equal to so much of the whole sudder jumma of the estate as bears to the whole the same proportion as the land lost bears to the whole estate. And this deduction, with the reasons thereof, shall be forthwith reported by the local revenue authorities for the information and orders of the Sudder Board of Revenue, whose orders thereupon shall be final.—Act IX., 1847, sec. v.

15. Whenever on inspection of any such new map it shall appear to the local revenue authorities that land has been added to any estate paying revenue directly to Government, they shall without delay assess the same with a revenue payable to Government according to the rules in force for assessing alluvial increments, and shall report their proceedings forthwith to the Sudder Board of Revenue, whose orders thereupon shall be final.—Act IX., 1847, sec. vi.

16. Whenever on inspection of any such new map it shall appear to the local revenue authorities that an island has been thrown up in a large and navigable river liable to be taken possession of by Government under paragraph 6, the said local revenue authorities shall take immediate possession of the same for Government, and shall assess and settle the land according to the rules in force in that behalf, reporting their proceedings forthwith for the approval of the Sudder Board of Revenue, whose orders thereupon in regard to the assessment shall be final. Provided, however, that any party aggrieved by the act of the revenue authorities in taking possession of any island as aforesaid shall be at liberty to contest the same by a regular suit in the Civil Court.—Act IX., 1847, sec. vii.

17. Nothing in this Act contained shall affect suits for the assessment, or for establishing the right of Government to the ownership, of alluvial lands now pending in appeal before the Special Commissioners, or such as, having been decided by the lower resumption Courts, are at the date of the passing of this Act open to appeal to the Court of the Special Commissioners according to the laws heretofore in force, and that all such cases shall be dealt with as if this Act had not been passed.—Act IX., 1847, sec. viii.

18. Except as regards the proprietary right to islands, no suit or action in any Court of Justice shall lie against the Government, or any of its officers, on account of anything done in good faith in the exercise of the powers conferred by this Act.—Act IX., 1847, sec. ix.

LAND REVENUE.

ACQUIREMENT OF LAND FOR PUBLIC WORKS.

1. Whenever it may appear necessary or expedient to appropriate the whole or part of any individual's landed estate, or other immovable property, or anything thereunto belonging, for the construction of a public road, building, canal, drain, gaol, or for any other public purpose, then, if there be any hinderance to the purchase of the said property by private bargain, the officer entrusted with the execution of such public work, or any other officer whom the Governor-General in Council may direct, shall proceed to the spot and erect a flag thereon, causing, in cases in which it may be proposed to take land, the boundaries of the land so required to be distinctly marked out; but taking care, at the same time, to do as little injury as possible to the property: he shall then stick up, in some convenient and conspicuous place in the vicinity, a notice of the land or other property proposed to be taken, and the purpose for which it is required, and shall make proclamation by beat of drum, as well on the spot as in the nearest bazar, gunge, or village, calling upon any person or persons claiming a right or interest in the land or other property, to appear in person, or by an authorized agent, at a place to be specified in the notice and proclamation, on or before a given date, not being less than fifteen days, in order to make known the precise nature of the interest claimed, and the terms on which he or they may be willing to dispose of their respective rights and interests; or, if they object to the disposal thereof, to specify the same, through the proper authorities, for the information of Government, when the substance of all material information given in after such a notification shall be submitted by those authorities to the Governor-General in Council, together with a report of their sentiments on the case, and of the estimated value of the premises intended to be applied to a public purpose, and of the several interests attaching thereunto. —Reg. I., 1824, sec. ii.

2. If the person or persons having, or claiming to have, a right and interest in the land or other property required for a public purpose, or in any part of it, shall object to the disposal of the same, or shall demand an exorbitant consideration for the relinquishment of his or their interest, and the Governor-General in Council, after duly considering the objections urged and the demands made, shall notwithstanding deem it proper, on grounds of clear and urgent public expediency, that the property should be so appropriated, he will in either of the cases above mentioned order the election of arbitrators to ascertain and determine the just and full value of the whole of the property intended to be applied to public use, including the rights of all persons holding a lawful interest therein according to the rules hereinafter contained.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. iii., cl. 1.

3. Provided also, that when any extensive public work shall have been commenced on under the orders of Government, it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in council, to delegate to any Board, Committee, or the like, the duty and power of determining on all objections to the disposal of individual properties which it may be considered necessary to appropriate for the purpose; and the Board or Committee so empowered shall be competent to issue the requisite orders for the appointment of arbitrators, for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter provided, without previous reference to Government.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. iii., cl. 2.

4. Whenever it may be requisite to have recourse to arbitration, for the purpose stated in the two preceding paragraphs, the following rules shall be observed in the appointment of the arbitrators, and in the conduct of their inquiries.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 1.

5. Two persons of respectability shall be chosen to act as arbitrators on the part of Government, by the judge or magistrate, or collector of the district in which the land or other property required for public use may be situated, or such other officer as the Governor-General in Council may commission for the purpose of superintending the arbitration, and the party or parties claiming an interest in the premises proposed to be taken shall be called upon by the judge, magistrate, collector, or other officer aforesaid, to elect, within a reasonable time, to be fixed by such officer, two persons to act as arbitrators on his or their part. If there be several claimants, and they cannot agree, within the required period, in the election of persons to act as arbitrators, on their behalf, then and in that case each of them shall nominate one person, whom he may desire to act on his behalf, and the judge, magistrate, collector, or other officer aforesaid, shall choose by lot out of the persons so nominated by the parties, or any of them, two persons to act as arbitrators on behalf of the claimants. If only two persons shall be so nominated, they shall be the arbitrators on behalf of the claimants, whether the whole of the claimants may or may not have been concerned in their nomination. If only one person shall be so nominated, then only one of the persons selected to act as arbitrators on the part of Government shall be employed on the duty: if the claimants shall refuse or neglect to make any nomination within the required period, then the judge, magistrate, collector, or other officer, shall and may select two impartial persons, residents of the pergunnah or other local division, to arbitrate the matter between Government and the parties.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 2.

6. The arbitrators chosen as above shall be required by the judge, magistrate, collector, or other officer aforesaid, solemnly to promise that they will faithfully and impartially discharge the trust reposed in them, to which effect they shall sign a solemn declaration. But no corporal oath shall be administered to them.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 3.

7. As soon as the said obligation shall be signed, and before they proceed to any other duty, the arbitrators shall be required by the judge, magistrate, collector, or other officer aforesaid, to appoint an umpire for the decision of any points whereon they may differ in opinion, and the voices on each side may be equal. If the arbitrators cannot agree in the selection of an umpire, the judge, magistrate, or other officer commissioned as aforesaid, shall be authorized to choose some respectable and impartial person to act as such.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 4.

8. In cases wherein the arbitrators may differ in opinion, if the voices on each side shall be equal, the decision of the umpire on the point of difference shall be conclusive. In all other cases, the opinion of the majority of arbitrators shall determine the award.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 5.

9. The judge, magistrate, collector, or other officer commissioned as aforesaid, shall be competent to exercise towards the arbitrators and umpire, chosen as above, such powers and authority, for the purpose of securing their attendance and the due completion of their award, as the Courts of Judicature may or shall legally exercise towards persons summoned as witnesses before them for the purpose of compelling them to attend and give evidence. It shall further be competent to the udge, collector, or other officer commissioned as aforesaid, in the event of any unnecessary delay on the part of arbitrators in determining any point referred to them, to call upon them to make their ward within a specified time, and in default thereof to refer the matter to the umpire for his decision.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 6.

10. The arbitrators shall hold their inquiry under the general superintendence of the judge, magistrate, collector, or other officer commissioned as aforesaid.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 7.

11. The judge, magistrate, collector, or other officer so commissioned, shall afford to the arbitrators all necessary aid and support for enabling them to accomplish the object of their appointment. He shall, on the application of the arbitrators, summon, and is hereby authorized to summon, any witnesses whom the arbitrators may call for, and whom the parties may not be able to produce before them without such process. He shall also cause the proper forms of oath to be administered to, or a solemn declaration in lieu thereof, to be executed by any witnesses whom the arbitrators may desire to examine upon oath or solemn declaration; or he may empower the arbitrators to administer such oath, or to cause the execution of such solemn declaration in lieu thereof, if the witness cannot with convenience attend at the sudder station of the zillah. Any person giving intentionally and deliberately a false deposition on oath, or under a solemn declaration taken instead of an oath, in any case referred to arbitration as above, and upon a point material to the issue thereof, shall be held and considered to be guilty of perjury, and shall be liable to the penalties prescribed for that offence in the Regulations; and any person causing or procuring another person to commit the offence of perjury, as above described, is declared guilty of subornation of perjury, and punishable under the provisions of the said Regulations.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 8.

12. When arbitrators may be appointed, it shall be the duty of the officer employed in the manner specified in paragraph 1, to lay before them a statement of all claims made to him under that rule, also to notify which of them remains unadjusted, and to furnish, upon requisition of the arbitrators, all information in his power as to the extent and boundaries of the land proposed to be taken, the claims attaching to it, the state of possession, and the like. Furthermore, in the event of any dispute arising on any point connected with the extent, boundary, present possession, manner of culture, or of other appropriation of the land, or any portion of it for the time being, it shall be competent to the said arbitrators to cause the land, or other property in question, or any part of it, to be measured in their presence, or otherwise in such manner as they may deem most desirable.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. v.

13. If the land required by Government be la-khiraj, or for such portion of the land as may be of that description, it shall be the duty of the arbitrators to determine in the first instance what consideration is in their opinion a fair value for the whole property proposed to be assumed or destroyed in the execution of the public work in hand, or which will otherwise be lost to the owners, or affected by reason of the appropriation by Government.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. vi., cl. 1.

14. If a dispute arise between the owner or owners of the la-khiraj tenure on one hand, and the cultivators or renters under him on the other, as to the proportion of such entire value which each should receive in exchange for the interest claimed or possessed by him, the arbitrators shall not enter into this part of the case, unless both or all the parties interested shall desire the adjustment of the points in dispute to be made by them at the time. So, likewise, if there be more claimants than one to the la-khiraj interest, and it shall be necessary to determine the mode in which the value of that interest is to be apportioned amongst the claimants, such apportionment shall not be made unless all the claimants sign a written agreement to abide by the arbitrator's adjustment of the same. Any award made by arbitrators, after agreement being signed by the parties at issue, shall have effect, and be considered as an award of Court to all intents and purposes; but if no award be made, in consequence of the parties not having agreed to abide by such a determination, it shall be open to any one of them to carry the point or points at issue before the Courts in the usual manner; and if the Government take the lands, tenements, or other property, on the terms fixed by the arbitrators, it shall be competent to the Court trying the case, upon due application being made, to order the whole or any part of the value paid by Government to be held in deposit, to answer an eventual decree; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be considered to warrant any alteration being made by any order or decree of Court in the rate of the consideration fixed by the arbitrators to be paid by the Government, or the issue of any orders affecting the possession that may have been assumed by its officers, or acts that may have been done by them in consequence of such arbitration.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. vi., cl. 2.

15. If the land proposed to be assumed for the purposes aforementioned be khirajee land, or for so much of it as may be of that description, it shall be the duty of the arbitrators to determine, first, the amount of the net rent which the sudder malguzar may derive from the land, as far as they can ascertain the same; secondly, the value of any other property or interest which the said malguzar may possess in, upon, or belonging to the land; and thirdly, the value of any property or interest which may be possessed by persons other than the sudder malguzar. They shall at the same time state the value of the net rent derived by the sudder malguzar; and it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to determine what proportion of the compensation due to that person for the loss of the said rent shall be made good, in the shape of an annual remission of revenue, and what shall be commuted for a payment in ready money, to be calculated at the rate assumed in the valuation of the arbitrators. In estimating the net rent, no deduction is to be made from the gross rental of the sudder malguzar on account of the Government revenue with which his estate may be assessed. And it shall be the duty of arbitrators in fixing the value of the net rent derived by the sudder malguzar from the land taken for public purposes, conjointly with the value of other interests possessed therein, so to regulate the two, that the whole shall constitute what would have been a fair value for the property, supposing it to have been la-khiraj, and held free of all burthen or encumbrance; and the arbitrators shall, in every case of this description, certify at the foot of their report that the above direction has been observed.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. vi., cl. 3.

16. Whenever any revenue deduction may be ordered, it will of course be passed in the revenue accounts to the credit of the mehaul on account of which it may be awarded by the arbitrators, in whosesoever possession the same may be. Should the proprietor of any other mehaul claim to participate therein, it shall be open to him to prosecute his claim by suit in Court against the proprietor of the mehaul on account of which it may be paid; provided, however, that in case any litigation between the proprietors of different mehauls claiming to participate in the deduction awarded by arbitrators be submitted to their award, in the manner above provided for the case of la-khiraj lands, the same when made shall be binding, and have effect to all intents and purposes as a decree of Court. So, likewise, if there should arise a difference or dispute as to the manner and proportions in which the money compensation to be given by Government upon the occupation for public purposes of khirajee land shall be divided between the ryots and under-tenants, or between them and the Government malguzar, or between any other classes of persons claiming to participate; the course shall, in all such cases, be the same as is prescribed in the preceding paragraph, for the case of la-khiraj lands, which may have been taken possession of for public purposes by Government, and of disputes arising in the apportionment of the consideration adjudged to be paid in consequence. —Reg. I., 1824, sec. vi., cl. 4.

17. If the question of possession shall in any case be doubtful, or if there exist other grounds which, in the judgment of the arbitrators, render it improper to make immediate payment of the compensation awarded by them, or any part thereof, to any of the claimants, it shall be the duty of the arbitrators to certify the circumstance to the judge, magistrate, collector, or other officer, under whose directions they may act, and in such case the amount which they may propose to reserve shall be invested in Government securities, and held in deposit until one of the claimants shall obtain an order of Court for the payment of the same. But no dispute touching the property or possession of land, or other property required for public purposes, nor any flaw in the title of the party by or from whom it may be transferred to Government on the award of arbitrators, shall be allowed to defeat or disturb the title acquired by Government; and if any person or persons shall sue in any Court of Judicature to recover from Government damages or compensation for the loss of any such land or other property, such person or persons shall be nonsuited with costs; provided also, that in cases wherein the possessor and ostensible proprietor of any land or other property required for any public purpose shall have consented to transfer the same to Government, on terms mutually agreed to, it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, or any board or committee authorized by him in that behalf, to cause proclamation to be made in the manner prescribed in paragraph 1, requiring all persons claiming any right, title, or interest in such land or other property, to prefer their claims on or before a certain date; and after such proclamation shall have been made, and the land or other property shall have been transferred to Government, any claim or suit to recover the same, or to obtain from Government compensation for the loss thereof, which may be preferred in any Court of Judicature, shall be dismissed with costs, unless the claim shall have been preferred as required by the said proclamation. But nothing herein contained shall affect the liability of the party, who may receive the value of any land or other property transferred to Government, without having a good title to the same.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. vi., cl. 5.

18. On the close of the inquiry the arbitrator or umpire shall deliver to the officer commissioned as aforesaid to superintend the arbitration, a full and specific report and award upon the point or points submitted to their arbitration, under their respective signatures, with a solemn declaration subscribed thereto, that the award so given is, to the best of their judgment, true and impartial; and, according to the evidence adduced before them, they shall, at the same time, deposit with the said officer the whole of their proceedings.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. vii., cl. 1.

19. The aforesaid officer shall transmit to the Governor-General in Council the report and award so delivered to him, with a report, stating the material points thereof, and his sentiments, how far the inquiry made by the arbitrators appears to have been conducted with fairness and impartiality, or otherwise; and the said officer shall be guided by the instructions of the Governor-General in Council in regard to the execution of the award, when the same shall have been approved by Government.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. vii., cl. 2.

20. No award made under these rules shall be liable to be reversed or altered, unless the same shall be open to impeachment on the ground of corruption or gross partiality, or shall extend beyond the authority given to the arbitrators; and such ground of impeachment shall be established on a regular suit in the Adawlut.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. vii., cl. 3.

21. If, after the award has been given in by the arbitrators, and the Governor-General in Council shall have directed the premises to be appropriated for public purposes, the officer directed to occupy the same shall be opposed or impeded in taking possession, he shall apply to the magistrate of the district, to whom it shall and may be lawful to enforce the surrender of the said premises.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. vii., cl. 3.

22. In cases referred to arbitration, under the provisions of the preceding paragraphs, any necessary expense which may attend the inquiry of the arbitrators, whether for the diet of witnesses or otherwise, shall be paid by Government.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. vii., cl. 5.

23. The rules contained in the preceding paragraphs shall not be held to be applicable to the removal from the bed or banks of navigable rivers or streams, of trees, broken boats, timbers, or the like, which may obstruct, or be likely to obstruct the navigation of such rivers and streams. Such obstructions may be summarily removed by the magistrates of the several cities and zillahs, or by such other officer or officers as the Governor-General in Council may by an order in council vest with the superintendence of any such river or stream, under the laws and usages applicable to the removal of nuisances, and such special provisions as may hereafter be enacted.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. viii.

24. Since the revenue derived by Government from salt, within the provinces of Bengal, Orissa, and Cuttack is realized in the form of a monopoly of the manufacture, under a system established in the years 1780 and 1781, and since, in the prosecution of this system, Government have been in the occupation of certain lands adapted to the manufacture, and have all along exercised the privileges of assuming what has appeared to be fitted for the purpose, the same being at the time of such occupation wholly, or for the most part, unfit for cultivation, or for yielding profit by any other means; the above provisions shall not be considered to apply to the case of these lands, except in so far as they may be specially declared to extend to them in this or any future Regulation. —Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 1.

25. An investigation having been instituted, under the orders of the Governor-General in Council, with a view, first, to determine the character of the remissions of the land revenue allowed annually, from the time of the establishment of the present system of manufacture, to certain zemindars in the districts comprised in the salt agencies of the Twenty-four Pergunnahs, Jessore, Bhulooah, and Chittagong; and secondly, to settle the claims of the zemindars and the officers of the salt department at the agencies in question respectively, on each other. The following declarations and rules, calculated for all results of such investigation, are hereby made and enacted, and the Courts of Civil Judicature, the officers of the salt and land revenue departments, and all other public authorities, are to be by them guided in their determination of any question that may arise as to the right of the officers of the salt department to occupy salt lands, or other lands required for the purposes of the salt manufacture, and the rate of compensation to be paid for the same.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 2.

26. The principle upon which remissions were originally made, from the jumma of zemindars, on account of khalary rents, or the like, upon the assumption of the salt mehaul, is hereby declared to have been to relieve those to whom they were granted from an assessment upon assets, which were transferred to Government on the establishment of the system of exclusive manufacture, with the rights and interests attached to the possession of the mehaul.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 3.

27. All zemindars or others, whose claims to remissions were allowed in the first instance, that is, on account of rents collected by them previously to the year 1188 B. S., shall be considered to fall within the class of land renters who received an abatement of what they then ceased to collect, upon the principle above laid down; consequently, it is hereby declared, that the sums remitted to them will be allowed in perpetuity.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 4.

28. The collectors of land revenue, and the Board, are prohibited henceforward from receiving any applications to obtain credit in the land revenue collections for any amount claimed as due for khalary rent, and from allowing of any abatement or remission whatever from the land revenue jumma, except the specified remissions allowed on account of rents collected previously to 1188, or such other as may be hereafter ordered by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 5.

29. Any land revenue engager who may prefer a claim to receive rent for khalaries now worked, or for what may be so henceforward, or for any that have been worked, and for which the rent of past years may be claimed to be due, shall be desired to make application to the salt agent to have the same adjusted on the principles declared hereafter.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 6.

30. The remissions allowed on account of rents collected previously to 1188 will still be retained on the revenue books, and will be carried to the debit of the salt department; but the levy of khalary rents, bara cursa, or the like, from the molungees will be entirely discontinued, and the impost abolished from the commencement of the next salt year, save and except in cases wherein it may be otherwise specially ordered by the Governor-General in Council; and henceforward, any gomashtah or other person attempting to enforce the impost, or demanding it in any shape without special authority from Government, shall, on proof to the fact before the agent, be immediately dismissed.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 7.

31. The levy of goorkatee by the officers of Government from the molungees, or of any other similar tax on the privilege of cutting jungle for fuel to be used in the manufacture of salt, shall, in like manner and with the like exceptions, be henceforward discontinued, whether the same be levied as an impost due to Government or otherwise.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 8.

32. All future contracts for the delivery of salt in return for advances received shall, as far as practicable, specify distinctly the proportion of the aggregate price paid by Government, which may be allowed to cover the expense of fuel, and shall otherwise be rendered as specific as possible, with a distinct declaration of the amount to be paid to the molungees, without impost or deduction on any account whatever, unless when otherwise specially authorized by Government.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 9.

33. It shall be the duty of the agents to ascertain and record at the time of making the advances next season, or as soon after as may be practicable, in whom the property of the khalaries and salt lands within their respective divisions is vested.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 10.

34. Salt lands worked by the salt department from the time of the assumption of the monopoly to the present day, or otherwise assumed and held before and since the perpetual settlement (although originally belonging to an estate for which a permanent settlement has been formed), shall be considered to be held by the officers of the salt department, free of rent, under a perpetual title of occupancy, and shall be considered to be and to have been liable to assessment by the revenue authorities, when relinquished by the officers of the salt department, in the same manner as if they had been farmed by an individual from Government, and had become open to re-settlement on the expiration of his lease.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 11.

35. Salt lands, upon which salt works have been established, whether before or after the perpetual settlement, shall, provided they have been worked for twelve years without claim on the part of any one to receive a rent or compensation for the use of the same, be deemed to be the absolute property of Government.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 12.

36. Salt lands, upon which salt works were established after the perpetual settlement, and for the use of which a rent or consideration may be now paid to individuals, shall, until otherwise determined by a decree of Court, be deemed to be the property of the said individuals who, for so long as the lands may be occupied by the salt department, shall receive the same rent as they received for the use of the same in the past year. The rent is to be paid in money, and to be charged in the salt agent's accounts, amongst other expenses of the manufacture, without any demand being made on the contractors or molungees on account thereof, unless otherwise specially authorized. This payment is to continue as long as the salt department shall retain possession of the lands, and to cease when those lands shall lose their saline quality, and be given up by the salt agents. Provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to preclude the revenue officers from proceeding under the rules of Regulation II., 1819 ("LA-KHIRAJ"), to assess the lands so occupied by the salt department, if the same be chargeable with revenue on account of the rent paid by that department, or the collections otherwise made by the party claiming to be proprietor.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 13.

37. Salt lands may be occupied as heretofore by the officers of the salt department, an adequate compensation being made to the proprietors, if the lands be private property. The salt agent, on taking possession of any such land, shall notify the circumstance, by causing a flag to be exhibited on the spot, and by publishing an ishtihar, defining as accurately as possible the situation and limits of the land occupied by him, such ishtihar to be stuck up in the collector's cutcherry, and the agent's own office; and persons claiming to be proprietors of such land, who may neglect or delay to prefer such claims, shall not be held entitled to any arrears of rent beyond the year in which their claim may be afterwards preferred.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. x., cl. 1.

38. Upon any zemindar preferring a claim to property in lands occupied for the salt manufacture, and for which no rent or consideration shall have hitherto been paid to any individual, the salt agent and collector, or both, where the two offices may be held separately, shall either proceed in person, or depute a substitute or substitutes, being, if possible, European public officers, to determine, by inquiries on the spot, how far, with reference to the principle laid down in Section III., Regulation II., 1819 ("LA-KHIRAJ," paragraph 201), the chur or other salt land is part of the zemindar's assessed estate. The collector will at the same time call upon the zemindar to produce any evidence or documents on which he may rely in proof of his claim, and shall regularly enter the same on the proceedings, together with a statement of the fact, established by local inquiry (whether conducted by the collector himself, or by an officer specially commissioned), and shall finally record his own opinion on the case in a Persian or Bengally roobakarree. If the collector shall be satisfied that the land in question is part of the zemindar's estate, he shall adjust, subject to the instructions of the Board of Revenue, the consideration to be paid by the salt department for the use of the chur or other salt land, carefully specifying the extent and limits of the same. If the zemindar shall not agree to the terms proposed by the collector, the amount of rent or compensation to be paid shall be settled under the rules above enacted for settling generally the course to be followed in effecting a constrained transfer of private property for public purposes, reference being had to any injury the zemindar may sustain by having the manufacture conducted on his estate, as well as to any profit he might otherwise derive from the land. If the agent shall consider the amount awarded to the zemindar to be too great, he shall nevertheless pay it for the first year, and may then remove. If the agent shall agree to the award, the same rate will be paid annually during the occupancy, without reference to what may be the subsequent extent of the manufacture, or to the quantity of land comprised in the chur.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. x., cl. 2.

39. If on a claim being preferred as above by a zemindar, the collector shall be of opinion that the chur or salt land belongs to Government, he shall nevertheless proceed to adjust with the agent the amount of rent to be paid by the salt department for the use of it, and will in this case transmit his proceedings to the Board for their decision on the zemindar's claim; provided also, that in cases in which the collector may decide in favour of the zemindars, it shall still be competent to the Board to call for his proceedings, and to pass judgment on the claim whenever, from the representation of the salt agent or otherwise, they may see reason to think the decision of the collector erroneous. The decision of the revenue authorities, when in favour of Government, will be of course liable to be contested by suit in Court. If the property in any land, occupied as aforesaid, shall be decreed to the claimant, he will become entitled to the rent with which the revenue authorities may have charged the salt department; and if he be dissatisfied with the rent so fixed, the amount to be received by him shall be settled by arbitration in the manner hereinbefore provided for the adjustment of the compensation to be paid for the land taken for public purposes; but in such case the possession of the salt agent shall not be disturbed, so long as he shall discharge the rent awarded to the proprietor. —Reg. I., 1824, sec. x., cl. 3.

40. The same mode of adjustment shall be observed in regard to all claims now pending for compensation for the use of salt lands, but no remission of revenue shall be granted on this or the like account.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. x., cl. 4.

41. The rent of land occupied by the salt department shall be payable, unless otherwise specially settled, by the Bengal year; and whenever a salt agent shall see fit to remove from any salt lands occupied by him, he shall cause the flag to be withdrawn within one month after the expiration of the manufacturing year, and shall further give notice of his intention to do so by an ishtihar, published in the mode directed to be followed on the first occupation of salt lands, such notice to be given before the commencement of the ensuing Bengal year; and if any agent shall neglect to give due notice as aforesaid, and shall not be otherwise able clearly to show that the owner of the land occupied by him was fully apprized of his intention to quit previously to the expiration of the last year of his occupancy, then the owner shall be entitled to recover damages to the extent of one year's rent of the land, but shall not have any further claim on the agent or Government on account of arrears of rent, unless such arrears shall be due on account of years included in the term of a specific engagement.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. xi.

42. No cultivation shall be allowed within the limits of any chur or other lands transferred to the salt department, unless with the permission of the Board of Revenue, so long as the manufacture shall be continued on the same; and it shall and may be lawful for the salt agent, and his subordinate officers, to attach, confiscate, and dispose of, as may be directed by the Board, any crops grown on such land in contravention of this rule, and to require the police to aid him in doing so; and any person illicitly cultivating, clearing, or ploughing, such land, or doing any act preparatory to its cultivation and clearance, or causing another to do so, shall, on conviction before a magistrate, be subject, for every such offence, to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, besides being liable in a civil action for any damage which the salt department may sustain; provided, however, that if any chur or other salt land, occupied as above, shall become through natural causes useless for the purposes of the salt department, the proprietor thereof shall be entitled to recover possession of the same, on establishing the fact to the satisfaction of the Board of Revenue, or by a regular suit in Court, and on relinquishing the compensation paid to him by the salt agent for the use of the land.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. xii.

43. Churs and salt lands now occupied by the salt department, and for which no compensation may be now paid, or be hereafter adjusted to be due, as well as all such churs and salt lands as may be declared to be the property of Government, shall be held by the salt agents, under regular pottahs from the collector, containing as accurate a specification as possible of the extent and limits of the land; all such lands shall, upon their losing their saline quality, and becoming unfit for the salt manufacture, be made over to the collector, and if cultivation be found in such churs or lands before or after the officers of the salt department may have relinquished them, it shall at any time be competent to the collector to cause a settlement to be made on the part of Government with the actual cultivators, without reference to the pretensions of any one else to take the rents from these. In like manner the revenue authorities may sell the Government interest in such lands, or let them in farm, with such assessment as it may appear proper to impose.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. xiii.

44. The following rules are enacted for the purpose of defining and settling the relative rights of Government and of the zemindars in regard to the waste lands whence fuel is procured for the salt manufacture, with reference to the principles on which the monopoly was established at the period above mentioned, and the practice since followed.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. xiv., cl. 1.

45. In cases wherein no engagements may have been entered into for specific lands with ascertained limits, the salt department shall be considered to have the right of free fuel from all jungle or waste land lying within estates, the owners of which are allowed a remission of revenue, or receive rent from, or on account of the salt department, to the full extent of the manufacture now established so long as the said remission and rent shall continue to be allowed and paid. Fuel required for new or additional khalaries is to be procured by agreement with the owner, or cut from land the property of Government.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. xiv., cl. 2.

46. Nothing contained in the above paragraph shall be construed to affect the rights of Government in land specifically reserved for the supply of fuel, nor shall the above provision be construed to authorize the officers of the salt department to prevent the cultivation of waste or jungle land, unless the same shall have been reserved under specific engagements. If it be required to reserve any fuel lands beyond those already reserved for the use of the salt department, an arrangement must be made for the purpose with the proprietors of the land, or measures taken for effecting the transfer of them to Government as hereinafter specified.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. xiv., cl. 3.

47. If any zemindar shall refuse to allow the salt officers to take on reasonable terms the fuel required by them from the jungle lying within his estate, such fuel not being demandable, under paragraph 45, the necessary fuel shall be taken, and a just compensation settled under the rules prescribed in paragraphs 2 to 22. The same course of proceeding shall be followed in cases in which the interest of the salt department shall render it necessary to reserve any parcel of fuel land, and the owner thereof shall refuse to surrender it on equitable terms.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. xiv., cl. 4.

48. In cases wherein any rent or remission may have been paid or allowed to any zemindar or other proprietor of land, in addition to the remission granted on account of khalary rents, collected previously to the Bengal year 1188, the receipt of the remission last mentioned shall be held only to bind the zemindar or other proprietor of land receiving the same, to allow the right of free fuel to the extent of the manufacture established in the year aforesaid: and, on the other hand, the Government shall not be bound to continue any rent or remission now paid or allowed in addition to the remission granted as aforesaid, if the manufacture shall be reduced to the standard of the said year, but on the discontinuance of the khalaries established since that period, or on the reduction of the extent of manufacture to the standard of the said year, Government shall be entitled to discontinue any rent or remission paid or allowed on account of such khalary, and further shall be competent to cause a new adjustment to be made of the rent or remission to be hereafter paid on account of khalaries established since the year above mentioned.—Reg. I., 1824, sec. xv.

FOR RAILWAYS AND OTHER PUBLIC WORKS.

49. Any railway made in the territories subject to the presidency of Fort William in Bengal, under the sanction of Government, is a public work within the meaning of Regulation I., 1824.—Act XLII., 1850, sec. i.

50. The persons employed in any public work, with their servants and workmen, may enter upon any land for surveying the ground, and in the case of a road, canal, or railway, for setting out the intended line thereof, and in the case of any intended road, canal, or railway, may mark the intended line by cutting a trench or placing landmarks along the line; and where otherwise the survey cannot be completed and the line marked, may, with the sanction of the Government, or of any officer appointed by Government for this purpose, cut down and clear away any part of any jungle or tope of trees in the direction of the intended line. Provided that no person shall enter the curtilage of any house under colour of this Act without consent of the occupier, unless between sunrise and sunset, and after due notice given to such occupier.—Act XLII., 1850, sec. ii.

51. It shall be the duty of the officer so appointed by the Government to take account of all necessary damage done as aforesaid, that it may be allowed for in awarding compensation to the owners and occupiers of land.—Act XLII., 1850, sec. iii.

52. Whoever wilfully obstructs any person in lawfully setting out the line of any road, canal, or railway, or wilfully destroys, damages, or displaces any such landmark, or effaces, or fills any such trench, shall be liable to be imprisoned for any term not exceeding six months, and also to fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.—Act XLII., 1850, sec. iv.

53. Whenever the said officer shall have recorded his opinion that the land in dispute is needed immediately for the purpose of the public work, he shall be empowered to take immediate possession thereof on behalf of the Government, leaving the amount and distribution of the consideration to be paid for it, if not agreed to by private bargain, to be afterwards ascertained according to Regulation I., 1824; and such possession may be enforced, and the obstruction of it punished, in like manner as if the land so taken had been sold in execution of the decree of a Civil Court; and all collectors, magistrates, and other officers, shall, if necessary, give the like aid as they would be bound to give for enforcing the speedy and complete execution of any such decree.—Act XLII., 1850, sec. v.

54. If the said officer is opposed or impeded in taking immediate possession of such land as in his opinion is immediately needed, he shall apply to the magistrate of the district, who shall enforce the surrender of the land.—Act XLII., 1850, sec. vi.

55. The powers of Regulation I., 1824, and of Act XLII., 1850, shall extend in the case of any road, canal, or railway, to authorize the temporary occupation of any land not more than one hundred yards from the centre line of the road, canal, or railway, as marked on the ground, for taking earth or other materials for making or repairing the road, canal, or railway, or for depositing thereon superfluous earth or other materials, or erecting temporary buildings and workshops thereon, or any land which may be needed for making temporary roads from any public road to the intended line of railway; and for the temporary occupation of any such land, and for any permanent damage done by such occupation and use of the land, including the full value of all clay, stone, gravel, sand, and other materials taken thence, compensation shall be paid to and among all persons having an interest therein, to be ascertained in case of disagreement in the same manner as compensation for land permanently taken.—Act XLII., 1850, sec. vii.

56. The local Government, if it thinks fit, may empower any such officer to execute any award made under Regulation I., 1824, and to do all things necessary for completing the business of taking and paying for the said land, and for settling all disputes concerning it, without sending any report to the local Government.—Act XLII., 1850, sec. viii.

57. In every case in which any land has been or shall be taken by the Government for any public work, otherwise than according to Regulation I., 1824, such land, after the lapse of five years, without any claim preferred for the recovery thereof in any competent Court, or under the said Regulation I., 1824, or this Act, shall vest absolutely in the East-India Company, freed and discharged from all other claims thereunto.—Act XLII., 1850, sec. ix.

58. The said term of five years shall be reckoned from the date of this Act, in the case of land heretofore taken, and in the case of land hereafter taken from the time of taking possession thereof.—Act XLII., 1850, sec. x.

59. If, within the said term of five years, any suit is begun upon which final judgment shall be obtained establishing the right of the plaintiff to any interest in any such land, then, instead of the said land, there shall be paid to the person obtaining such judgment the value of his interest in the said land at the time when possession thereof was taken, with interest thereon at the usual and lawful rate, to be ascertained and settled in case of dispute by arbitration in the manner described for disputed claims by Regulation I., 1824.—Act XLII., 1850, sec. xi.

In Calcutta.

60. The powers and provisions of paragraphs 1 to 22, shall be applicable to all lands within the town of Calcutta which shall have been declared by the Governor of Bengal to be needed for any public purpose; and such declaration shall be conclusive evidence that the purpose for which the lands are needed is a public purpose.—Act I., 1850, sec. i.

61. In all cases in which payment of any part of the purchase or compensation money is reserved according to paragraph 17, on account of any lands taken for any public purpose under this Act, the Government securities mentioned in the said paragraph shall be deposited with the Government agent at Fort William in Bengal, in the name and with the privity of the accountant-general of her Majesty's Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William, to be placed by him to the credit of the persons interested in such lands, describing them, as nearly as may be done, according to the course of proceeding in the said Court in matters and causes depending before it in equity.—Act I. 1850, sec. ii.

62. The said securities shall remain in the hands of the Government agent, and the interest accruing thereon shall be, from time to time, received and paid, under the order of the said Supreme Court, to the person or persons for the time being, who would have been entitled to receive the rents and profits of the said lands if the same had not been taken as aforesaid, until there shall be some person or persons absolutely entitled to receive the principal sum of the moneys so reserved, and thereupon the said Government securities, with all interest then due thereon, shall be transferred and paid to such person or persons under the like order of the said Court, and so long as no person can be found entitled to receive the interest of the said Government securities, the Government agent shall continue to receive, and, from time to time, to invest the accumulation of interest due thereon in the purchase of other Government securities, to be held and applied by him on the same trusts as the securities first purchased.—Act I., 1850, sec. iii.

ADVANCES FOR REPAIR OF EMBANKMENTS, &c.

General Rules.

1. Advances shall be made to proprietors or farmers of land, or dependent talookdars, or under-farmers or ryots, for the purpose of repairing or making embankments, or repairing, enlarging, or making tanks, reservoirs, or watercourses, under the conditions specified in the following paragraphs.—Reg. XXXIII., 1793, sec. viii.; Reg. XLVI., 1795; Reg. XLIV. 1803, sec. viii.

2. The applications for such advances are to be made in writing to the collector of the zillah, and are to specify the nature and extent of the work for which they are required, the period by which it will be completed, and the amount of the advance solicited. If a person applying for advances shall not be the proprietor of the lands for the benefit of which the works are to be made, he is to give security for the repayment of the advance with interest, and also for the payment of the penalty to be exacted in the cases mentioned in the following paragraph, and shall specify in his application the security he may have to offer. If the person making the application shall be the proprietor of the lands for the benefit of which the works are intended, he is not to be required to give security in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, but his lands are to be held responsible for the repayment of the advance with interest, and for the eventual discharge of the penalty. But in Benares and in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, when the person making the application may be the proprietor of the lands for the benefit of which the works are intended, he shall give the like security as is required from farmers or other persons who are not the proprietors of the land for the benefit of which the works are intended to be undertaken.—Reg. XXXIII., 1793, sec. ix.; Reg. XLVI., 1795, sec. ii.; Reg. XLIV., 1803, sec. ix.

3. Persons receiving advances, and (if they be not the proprietors of the land in Bengal, Behar, and Orissa) their sureties, are to bind themselves to repay the amount, at such period or periods as may be agreed upon between them and the collector, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, and also to pay a penalty of twenty-five per cent. on the amount advanced, in the event of the works not being completed by the stipulated period, or of the money not being applied to the purpose for which it may have been advanced.—Reg. XXXIII., 1793, sec. x.; Reg. XLIV., 1803, sec. x.

4. The collectors, upon receipt of such written applications, are to forward them without delay to the Board of Revenue, with any remarks which they may have to offer respecting them. The Board of Revenue, provided there shall appear to them no objection to the execution of the work proposed, and (in cases in which security is directed to be taken) they shall be satisfied of the sufficiency of the security offered for the repayment of the required advance with interest, and for the discharge of the penalty in the cases mentioned in the preceding paragraph, are empowered to authorize the collector to make the required advance, upon the person applying for it, and (if he be not proprietor of the land) his surety, executing the prescribed engagements.—Reg. XXXIII., 1793, sec. xi.; Reg. XLIV., 1803, sec. xi.

5. Upon the arrival of the period by which such works may have been stipulated to be completed, the collector is to direct the tehseeldar, or other officer of Government upon the spot, or such person as he may deem it proper to appoint, to survey the works, and to report in what manner they have been executed; and in the event of their not having been completed according to the engagement and by the stipulated period, or of the money not having been applied to the purpose for which it may have been advanced, he is to levy the penalty above directed, sending immediate information to the Board of Revenue of the exaction of it.—Reg. XXXIII., 1793, sec. xii.; Reg. XLIV., 1803, sec. xii.

6. The collectors are to transmit to the Board of Revenue, at such periods and in such form as they may direct, reports on the execution of the works for which advances may be made under these rules.—Reg. XXXIII., 1793, sec. xiii.; Reg. XLIV., 1803, sec. xiii.

7. The Board of Revenue are empowered to receive applications for such advances in the first instance; and provided there shall appear to them no objection to the work proposed to be executed, and the person making the application shall give the required security and execute the prescribed deeds, to order the collector of the zillah to comply with it.—Reg. XXXIII., 1793, sec. xiv.; Reg. XLIV., 1803, sec. xiv.

8. If a work for which advances may be made under these rules shall not be completed by the stipulated period, and the person who may have received the advances can show good cause, to the satisfaction of the collector, for not having finished it, he is to report the circumstances to the Board of Revenue, who are empowered to allow such further time for the completion of the work as they may judge proper.—Reg. XXXIII., 1803, sec. xv.; Reg. XLIV., 1803, sec. xv.

SUPERINTENDENCE OF EMBANKMENTS.

9. The general charge of the embankments maintained in the different zillahs at the expense of Government, and the superintendence of the repairs of such embankments, shall be vested in such officers as the Governor-General in Council may appoint; and the officers so appointed, with all subordinate functionaries, shall, in the discharge of their duties, be guided by such orders as they may from time to time receive from Government.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. ii.; Reg. XI., 1829, sec. ii.

10. It shall be the duty of the officers in charge of the embankments to furnish the Governor-General in Council, as soon after the expiration of the rains in each year as may be practicable, with estimates of the expense which may be required for the repair of the embankments maintained by Government in the ensuing year.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. v., cl. 1.

11. To expedite and facilitate the duty prescribed in the preceding paragraph, the collectors of the land revenue in those districts in which officers for the superintendence of embankments may be appointed, shall prepare, for the consideration of such officers, estimates of the expense which may be required for the repair of the embankments in the ensuing season, accompanied with such information from the officers employed in the performance of that duty, or from other persons, as the collectors may deem necessary to enable the officers to judge of the propriety of the estimates prepared by them.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. v., cl. 2.

12. In preparing the estimates mentioned in the preceding paragraph, the collectors shall be at liberty to require the assistance of any person employed, with the sanction of Government, in the execution of the repair of the embankments, whether such person shall be an engineer officer or otherwise; and also the assistance of any of the subordinate officers employed under such person in the repair of the embankments.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. v., cl. 3.

13. When the estimates shall have been so prepared, a meeting of the embankment officers shall be summoned, under the signature of the secretary, at the station of the magistrate and collector, for the purpose of taking the estimates into consideration, together with any other points connected with the duty intrusted to them by these rules, which may be proposed by any one of them; and such meeting shall not, on any account, be postponed beyond the expiration of the month of December in each year.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. v., cl. 4.

14. When the estimates shall have been approved by the embankment officers, they shall be forwarded to the secretary to Government in the revenue department, for the consideration of the Governor-General in Council, accompanied with any suggestions which may appear to the officers to be necessary or proper, with the view of preserving the embankments in an efficient and complete state of repair.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. v., cl. 5.

15. Should any member be unable to attend the annual meeting of the embankment officers, he shall state the reasons of his absence to the secretary to the officers; and the officers shall forward a copy of the letter of such absentee to the Governor-General in Council, together with their report upon the estimates, for his information.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. v., cl. 6.

16. It shall likewise be the duty of the collectors, aided by the officers, both European and native, who may be employed in the execution of the repair of the embankments, to prepare the accounts of the actual expense incurred in each year on that account; unless it should appear to the Governor-General in Council to be preferable, in any instance, to commit this duty to any other officer, in which case the annual accounts, and the annual estimates mentioned in paragraphs 10 to 15, shall be prepared by such person as the Governor-General in Council may direct.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. vi.

17. The accounts shall be taken into consideration by the embankment officers either at the annual meeting above prescribed, or at a special meeting convened for that purpose, or in circulation, as may be most convenient.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. vii.

18. As soon as the accounts of the actual expenditure in each year shall have received the approbation of the embankment officers, they shall be forwarded to the civil auditor, who will submit them, with any observations which he may deem necessary, to the Governor-General in Council for his final orders.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. viii.

19. In those parts of the country in which it may not be convenient to appoint embankment officers, in consequence of the distance of the residence of most of the public officers from the situation of the embankments (as, for instance, at Tumlook and Hidgelee), the duty intrusted by paragraphs 10 to 16 to the collectors shall be performed by the salt agents, or by such other persons as the Governor-General in Council may direct; and the general charge of the embankments shall be committed to the Board of Revenue, who shall conform, as nearly as local situation and other circumstances will permit, in the performance of that duty, to the rules above prescribed for the conduct of the several embankment officers.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. ix.

20. Previously to the annual meeting ordered to be holden in paragraph 13, a deputation shall be made of one or more embankment officers at each station, for the purpose of examining in person the state of the embankments; and such officer or officers shall communicate to the general meeting such observations as may have occurred to him or them respecting the actual state of the embankments, and any suggestions which may appear to be necessary for the purpose of preserving the embankments in an efficient state of repair. Those reports shall be regularly forwarded to the Governor-General in Council, together with the estimate of the expense required for the repair of the embankments in each successive year.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. x.

21. The embankment officers in the several zillahs shall be vested with a general control over the embankments which are repaired at the expense of the zemindars and farmers, as well as those which are maintained by the Government. By this rule, it is not intended to interfere with the zemindars and farmers in the repair of the embankments situated in the lands held by them, so long as that duty shall be effectually and properly performed. The officers shall, however, be at liberty, whenever they may deem it necessary, to call upon any zemindar or farmer, either by a perwannah from themselves or through the collector, as may be deemed preferable, to make such repairs to the embankments situated in the lands of such zemindar or farmer as may be required. Should any zemindar or farmer, after the receipt of such perwannah, neglect to make the necessary repairs, the officers shall submit to Government an estimate of the expense required for that purpose; and the repairs shall in all such cases be made by the officers of Government, and the expense recovered from the zemindar or farmer who was bound to keep the embankments in a proper state of repair. Provided, however, that in all such cases, the accounts of the actual expenditure shall be forwarded, through the channel of the civil auditor, to the Governor-General in Council for his sanction, previously to the amount being charged to the account of the zemindar or farmer.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. xi.

22. Material injury and inconvenience having been sustained from the abuse of the powers exercised by the holders and cultivators of land, in making cuts and water-courses through the embankments, the following rules have been established for general observance with respect to that point.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. xii., cl. 1.

23. With a view of preventing, as far as may be practicable, the necessity of making cuts in the embankments, sluices of masonry shall be constructed at those places at which water-courses may be deemed more particularly necessary. The several officers will accordingly report, whenever they may be of opinion that such sluices are absolutely necessary for the purpose of improving the cultivation of the country, and obviating the inconvenience and expense arising from making temporary water-courses at such places.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. xii., cl. 2.

24. Whenever such sluices may be constructed, they shall be opened only by the darogah or other native officer in immediate charge of the embankments, under such orders as the darogah or other officer may receive from the officers of embankments, or from the person intrusted with the immediate superintendence of the repairs.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. xii., cl. 3.

25. Whenever the holders or cultivators of land may be desirous that a water-course should be made through any part of the embankments where sluices are not constructed, they shall state the circumstance to the darogah, who will communicate the application to the person vested with the superintendence of the repair of the embankments; and that officer will pass such orders on the subject as may appear to him to be proper, applying, whenever he may deem it necessary, to the officers for their instructions on the subject.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. xii., cl. 4.

26. In deciding upon applications of that nature, the officers in charge of the embankments and officers acting under their authority will particularly consider, not only the advantage which such persons may derive from opening the embankments, but likewise the injury which the lands of other persons may eventually sustain from that cause; and will order the embankments to be opened or not, according as may appear to be most conducive to the general interests and prosperity of the country.—Reg. XI., 1806, sec. xii., cl. 5.

27. Should any person be guilty of the offence of making cuts through any of the embankments maintained at the expense of Government, in any other manner than that prescribed in the two preceding paragraphs, he shall be liable to be prosecuted criminally before the magistrate for such misdemeanor, who will decide on the case or refer it to the Sessions Court, according to the extent of the injury done by the offender, and the punishment to which the magistrate may consider him to be liable.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. xii., cl. 6.

28. Any person so offending will likewise be liable to be prosecuted in the Civil Court for damages, by any person or persons who may have sustained any loss or injury from the improper opening of the embankments.—Reg. VI., 1806, sec. xii., cl. 7.

29. The rules contained in the seven foregoing paragraphs are to be considered applicable to the embankments repaired by the zemindars and farmers; with this difference, that when any person may be desirous that water-courses should be made through any part of such embankments, they are to apply to the zemindar or farmer, or to the officers employed by him in superintending the repair of the embankments, who will decide on the application, in conformity to the principle above stated; provided, however, that any persons who may be dissatisfied with the decision of the zemindar or farmer, or of his officers, shall be at liberty to submit a further application to the officers in charge of the embankments, who will pass such orders on the subject as may appear to be just and reasonable. Any persons infringing this rule will be subject to the penalties stated in paragraph 27, and to a civil action for damages at the suit of any individual, as above mentioned.—Reg. XII., 1806, sec. xiii.

BOUNDARY MARKS, NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES.

Act I., 1847.

1. It shall be lawful, within the territories subject to the Government of the North-Western Provinces of Bengal, for collectors of land revenue, or persons exercising the powers of collector, or such revenue officers as the Lieutenant-Governor may intrust with that authority, to fix the boundaries of fields or estates, and to require that marks be formed and maintained by the owners or occupants on the boundaries, of such materials and in such number and manner as may appear to such officers sufficient for distinguishing the limits of those fields or estates whenever they may be of opinion that such demarcation is necessary for the prevention or adjustment of disputes.—Act I., 1847, sec. i.

2. Notices shall be served on the persons owning or occupying the conterminous fields or estates, requiring them to form or repair the said boundary marks within ten days from the date of the notice, and in the event of these persons not being found in the village, that the said requisition shall be posted at the village chowree or chopal, or other conspicuous place in the village, which shall be held to be a sufficient service, notwithstanding it may afterwards appear that the owners or occupants were not correctly named or designated in the notice.—Act I., 1847, sec. ii.

3. In default of the owners or occupants of the fields or estates complying with the requisition, the said revenue officers shall give directions for the erection and repair of such boundary marks, the cost of which shall be equitably apportioned on the fields or estates which they serve to distinguish, and shall be charged to the persons possessing a right of ownership or occupancy in such fields or estates, and shall be realized in the same manner as arrears of land revenue.—Act I., 1847, sec. iii.

4. Any person who may be convicted of wilfully erasing, removing, or injuring such boundary marks, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for each mark so erased, removed, or injured; one half of which fine may be awarded on conviction to the informer, and the other half shall be chargeable with the cost of restoring the mark; whenever it may not be possible to detect the person who erased, removed, or injured the boundary marks as aforesaid, the marks shall be re-erected or repaired at the charge of one or both parties, as the collector or other officer authorised to make the demarcation may consider just and equitable.—Act I., 1847, sec. iv.

5. Disputed boundaries shall be fixed by revenue officers under the powers and in the manner prescribed in Regulations VII., 1822, and IX., of 1833, and shall be similarly open to appeal.—Act. I., 1847, sec. v.

LAND REVENUE.

REVENUE OFFICERS.

OATH OF REVENUE OFFICERS.

1. The following is the form of the oath, prescribed by the Statute 33, Geo. III., cap. 52, sec. 61, which is to be taken by the persons employed in the collection of the public revenue :—

"I, ———, do promise and swear, that I will, to the utmost of my endeavours, well and faithfully execute and discharge the duties of an officer of revenue, reposed in and committed to me by the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies; and that I will not demand, take or accept, directly or indirectly, by myself or by any other person for my use or on my behalf, of or from any rajah, zemindar, talookdar, polygar, farmer, renter, or ryot, or from any person paying or liable to pay any tribute, rent, or tax, to or for the use of the said United Company, any sum of money or other valuable thing, by way of gift, present, or otherwise, over and above, or besides and except the actual tribute, rent, or tax, authorized to be taken by and for the use of the said United Company; and that I will justly and truly account for, answer, and pay all the rents, duties, and other revenues and sums of money which shall come to my hands, or to the hands of any person or persons in trust for or employed by me as an officer of the revenues of the said Company, unto the said United Company. So help me God."—Reg. V., 1804, sec. xxvi.

2. Whenever it may be requisite to administer to any person employed in the management or collection of the revenue the oath above prescribed, the Governor-General in Council will determine and direct whether the same shall be taken before one of the judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Calcutta, or before such other person as may be authorized by an order of Government for this purpose. It shall, however, be observed as an invariable rule, whenever the oath in question may be taken before any other person than one of the judges of the Supreme Court, to transmit the same, duly subscribed and attested, to the register to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, for the purpose of being recorded in that Court.—Reg. V., 1804, sec. xxv.

COMMISSIONERS OF REVENUE AND CIRCUIT.

3. A commissioner of revenue and circuit shall be appointed for each of the undermentioned divisions: provided, however, that it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in council, to transfer any district or districts from one division to another; and to increase or reduce the number of commissioners, if such a measure shall appear to be necessary or expedient; due notice of any such arrangement being given by public proclamation.

| 20th Ditto ... | ditto of | ... | ... | Burdwan, Jungle Mehauls, and Hooghly. |

—Reg. I., 1829, sec. ii.

4. The said commissioners shall, until otherwise specifically provided for by law, possess and exercise within the several districts comprised in their respective divisions, the powers and authority now vested in the Boards of Revenue and Courts of Wards, subject to the control and direction of a Sudder or Head Board, to be ordinarily stationed at the presidency, unless otherwise directed by the Governor-General in Council; and to such restrictions and provisions as the Governor-General in Council or the said Sudder Board, with his authority or sanction, may prescribe.—Reg. I., 1829, sec. iv., cl. 1.

5. In regard to the form of their proceedings, in the revenue department, the Commissioners and the Sudder Board shall be guided by such orders as the Governor-General in Council may, from time to time, issue, and it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to fix the stations at which the Board and the Commissioners, when not employed on the duties of circuit, shall reside, at such places within the territories belonging to this presidency, as may, from time to time, be deemed expedient.—Reg. I., 1829, sec. iv., cl. 2.

6. Provided also, that in cases in which any tract of country that belongs to the jurisdiction of a magistrate or joint magistrate of one division, may be under the authority of a collector or deputy collector, attached to another division, the Governor-General in Council shall determine, by an order in council, the nature and extent of the powers to be exercised in regard to the revenue affairs of such tract by the commissioners respectively, with whose divisions it may be so jointly connected.—Reg. I., 1829, sec. iv., cl. 3.

7. Such of the provisions of the existing Regulations for defining the duties and powers of the Revenue Boards and Courts of Wards, or of single members thereof, as may be inconsistent with the arrangement above prescribed, are, and shall be considered to be annulled.—Reg. I., 1829, sec. vi.

8. In the revenue department, the commissioner of Cuttack shall be subject to the Sudder Board, in like manner as the commissioners of other divisions.—Reg. I., 1829, sec. viii.

BOARD OF REVENUE.

NOTE.—By sec. v., Reg. I., 1829, the Board of Revenue was, for the first time, designated "Sudder Board of Revenue at the Presidency;" Reg. X., 1831, provided for a deputation from that Board to be stationed at Allahabad, but the designation has been altered from "Sudder Board on Deputation" to "Board of Revenue for the North-Western Provinces," and the station is now at Agra. The Sudder Board of Revenue at the Presidency is now, under Act IV., 1850, denominated "Board of Revenue for the Lower Provinces of Bengal." See the rules in paragraphs 4 and 5, which are also applicable to the Sudder Boards.

9. The Boards of Revenue shall each of them consist of such number of members as the Governor-General in Council may from time to time appoint.—Reg. III., 1822, sec. iv., cl. 1.

10. The said Boards shall ordinarily sit daily (Sundays and holidays excepted) for the transaction of public business.—Reg. III., 1822, sec. iv., cl. 2.

11. In the event of the death, resignation, or unavoidable absence of a member of the Board of Revenue, or of a member of any commission exercising the powers of that Board; a single member of such Board or commission shall be competent to exercise all the duties, powers, and authority vested in such Board, collectively, in like manner as in the case specified in paragraph 23.—Reg. XXIV., 1817, sec. v.

12. It shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in Council, to authorize a single member of any of the said Boards to exercise, either generally or locally, all the duties, powers, and authority, which are vested in the Board collectively, whenever circumstances may render such an arrangement desirable. It shall further be competent to the Governor-General in Council similarly to authorize the several members of the said Board separately to exercise at the same time, and within the same limits, such part of the said duties, powers, and authority, as it may from time to time be judged proper to assign to each respectively, whenever, for the greater dispatch of business or other cause, it may appear advisable to divide the business of the Board, or to assign any special duty to any member separately: provided, however, that if a member exercising singly, as above, the duties, powers, and authority of the Board, or any part thereof, shall in any case be of opinion that any decision or order of a collector ought to be reversed or altered, he shall not pass any final order on the case without the concurrence of one or more of the other members, unless otherwise specially directed and authorized by Government: provided, further, that it shall not be competent to a single member of a Board to reverse or alter a decree or order passed by any other member; provided also, that no settlement of the land revenue, whether in perpetuity or for a term of years, shall be or be held final and binding upon Government, unless the same shall have been formally confirmed by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. III., 1822, sec. v., cl. 1.

13. Whenever two members of a Board shall jointly or separately have considered any question, if a difference of opinion shall arise between them, the decision of the question shall be postponed, and the case shall be referred to a third member, permanent or provisional, in such mode as may from time to time be directed by Government, and shall be determined according to the majority of voices.—Reg. III., 1822, sec. v., cl. 2.

14. In regard to the appointment, removal, or punishment of the native officers of collectors of land revenue, or other functionaries subordinate to the Boards, a single member vested as above with authority separately to exercise the powers of the Board, or any part thereof, shall, within the limits of his authority, be competent to proceed in the same manner as the Board collectively are authorized to proceed: provided that, in any such case, if a member of the Board acting singly shall differ in opinion from a collector, or other functionary immediately subordinate to them, he shall not, unless otherwise specially authorized by Government, pass any final order without the concurrence of one or more members of the Board.—Reg. III., 1822, sec. v., cl. 3.

15. No final orders regarding the appointment, removal, or punishment of officers belonging or immediately subordinate to the Board, shall (unless otherwise specially directed by the Governor-General in Council) be issued without the concurrent judgment of two or more members.—Reg. III., 1822, sec. v., cl. 4.

16. Single members exercising separate authority as above shall be competent to suspend any officer under their authority, in like manner as the Board collectively may do; but all orders regarding the suspension of any such officer, passed by a single member, unless in confirmation of an order or recommendation of a collector, or other intermediate authority, or unless specially authorized by the Governor-General in Council, shall be reported without loss of time to some other member, and shall be liable to be set aside by the decision of a majority of the Board.—Reg. III., 1822, sec. v., cl. 5.

17. The Boards are authorized to review, rescind, alter, or confirm, any order and decision passed by them collectively, or by any member exercising, as above, separate authority, if an application to that effect be made to them by any party interested in the case, within the period of three months from the date on which the order or decision may have been passed, or good and sufficient cause shown for a further delay, and if, from the documents exhibited, the case shall appear to merit further investigation. But no order or decision passed by a single member exercising separate authority shall be reversed, altered, or stayed, excepting on the concurrent judgment of two or more members.—Reg. III., 1822, sec. v., cl. 6.

18. To provide for cases wherein the members of the Board shall not agree in opinion as to the decision or order to be passed in any case, and wherein the voices on each side may be equal, it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to appoint one or more temporary or provisional members, who shall, in regard to the investigation and determination of the questions so in dispute, have and exercise the same powers and authority as if they ordinarily belonged to the Board; and if a difference of opinion as aforesaid shall arise between two members of the Board holding joint sittings, at any place where a temporary or provisional member may be stationed, the other permanent member or members of the Board being absent, it shall and may be lawful for them, without reference to such absent member, to submit the question in dispute to the provisional member, and to issue orders in conformity with the opinion which he may support.—Reg. III., 1822, sec. v., cl. 7.

19. Whenever and so often as the number of members present with the Sudder Board at the presidency shall be reduced to one, or when two shall be present, and a difference of opinion arise in regard to any matter which under the existing Regulations may require the concurrence of two voices, the question shall be referred for determination to the Sudder Board in the North-Western Provinces, in the same manner as is prescribed by paragraph 64; and in both cases the decree, award, or order in the matter referred shall be made according to the resolution of the majority of the members.—Reg. X., 1831, sec. x.

20. Nothing, however, contained in this Regulation shall be construed to bar the competency of the Governor-General in Council, by an order in council, to authorize a single member of the Sudder Board, either at the presidency or in the North-Western Provinces, to exercise, either generally or locally within the limits of their respective jurisdictions, all the duties, powers, and authority which are vested in those Boards collectively, whenever circumstances may render such an arrangement desirable.—Reg. X., 1831, sec. xi., cl. 1.

DEPUTATIONS.

21. Whenever circumstances may, in the judgment of the Governor-General in Council or of the Board of Revenue itself, render it advisable that the performance of any of the public duties entrusted by the general regulations to the superintendence of that Board should be superintended by a member of the said Board in person and on the spot, one of the members shall proceed to that part of the country in which his presence and services may be required. The Board of Revenue, with the approbation of the Governor-General in Council, shall at the same time determine to what district or districts the authority of the members so proceeding on deputation shall extend.—Reg. XIII., 1811, sec. ii.

22. The Board of Revenue, with the sanction aforesaid, will also determine what part of the establishment of their secretary's office shall attend the member proceeding on deputation, for the purpose of aiding in the discharge of the duties entrusted to him.—Reg. XIII., 1811, sec. iii.

23. The member of the Board of Revenue so employed shall be entitled to exercise all the duties, power, and authority which are or may be vested in the Board of Revenue collectively, within the limits which may be established for his temporary and exclusive control under paragraph 21. In like manner, a single member of the Board of Revenue shall, during the period of such deputation, be competent to exercise at the presidency all the duties, power, and authority vested in the Board collectively in the remaining parts of the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, including Cuttack; provided, however, that whenever the acting president and junior member of the Board of Revenue shall be both at the presidency, two members shall be required, as at present, to constitute a regular and legal meeting of the Board.—Reg. XIII., 1811, sec. iv.

24. On the termination of any deputation by a member of the Board of Revenue, the correspondence and other documents connected with such deputation shall be carefully deposited in the office of the Board's secretary at the presidency.—Reg. XIII., 1811, sec. v.

DEFINITION OF THE TERM "BOARD OF REVENUE."

25. Whenever the term "Board of Revenue," or "Board of Commissioners," may occur in this or any other Regulation, the same shall be held and considered to apply to any Board, committee, or commission, and to any member of such Board, committee, or commission, that may be vested by the Governor-General in Council with the powers and authority of the Board of Revenue, save and except in so far as may be otherwise specially declared and provided.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxv.

DUTIES OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE.

Lower Provinces.

26. The Board are to be careful that the officers under their authority perform their assigned duties with regularity, integrity, and assiduity; and they are required to punish the officers under them, as far as the power vested in them for the purpose may allow, for disobedience or inattention to any Regulation printed and published in the manner directed in Regulation XLI., 1793, or to any special orders, and to report every such occurrence to the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxx.

27. To enable them to control their officers with effect, they are invested with the following powers for the investigation and punishment of offences committed by any officer subject to their authority, according to their nature and extent.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxxi., cl. 1.

28. To summon him to the presidency to explain and justify his conduct, and to suspend him from his office, reporting to the Governor-General in Council every instance in which they may exercise these powers.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxxi., cl. 2.

29. To impose a fine upon him, not exceeding the amount of his salary for one month.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxxi., cl. 3.

30. It is to be understood, however, that any inquiry which the Board of Revenue may make into the misconduct of any officer subject to their authority, or any fine that they may impose upon him, or order which they may pass respecting him, is not to preclude persons who may have been injured by him, from suing him for the injury in any Court of judicature to which he may be amenable.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxxi., cl. 4.

31. Deputations ordered by the Board of Revenue are to be immediately reported to the Governor-General in Council, with the grounds on which they may have been ordered: and in all instances admitting of a limitation for completing the business of the deputation, a time is to be fixed for the performance of it, beyond which the person deputed is to receive no allowance or compensation, without explaining the cause of the delay to the full satisfaction of the Board.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxxii.

32. The Board of Revenue are empowered to require the personal attendance of any proprietor or farmer of land, or any dependent talookdar, under-farmer, or ryot, or any native officer employed under a collector, for the purpose of adjusting any settlement, or examining any accounts, or inquiring into any matter coming within their cognizance, provided the personal attendance of the party shall appear to them indispensably necessary. In such cases, the Board are to direct the collector to serve such person with a written notice under his official seal and signature, specifying the business on account of which his attendance is judged necessary, and requiring him to attend the Board by such period as they may limit, under pain of being subject to such daily fine until he attends, or shows satisfactory cause for his non-attendance, as the Board may think proper to impose. The Board are empowered to fine such persons neglecting to appear by the time required, in such amount as may appear to them proper upon a consideration of the case, and the situation and circumstances in life of the party, and the amount of the fine shall be levied by the collector, by the process prescribed for the recovery of arrears of revenue. But the Board of Revenue are prohibited requiring the personal attendance of any person in cases in which the business can be transacted by a vakeel.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxxiii.

NOTE.—See further rules, paragraph 216.

33. The Board of Revenue are empowered to issue orders to their subordinate officers for making the settlement of lands that are or may be khas, in conformity to the Regulations, and any special instructions which may be prescribed to them by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxxvi.

34. In all cases of a settlement being made with or on behalf of zemindars, independent talookdars, or other actual proprietors of land, their lands are to be deemed sufficient security for the payment of the revenue. But where lands are let in farm, a malzamin, or surety for the punctual discharge of the revenue, is to be invariably required.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxxvii.

35. No remissions upon the settlement of a preceding year, nor any remissions whatsoever, are to be granted by the Board without the sanction of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxxviii.

36. It is to be observed as a general principle, that the settlement of lands that are or may be khas is to be made by the collectors, under the regulations and instructions of the Board of Revenue. But if the Board should deem a special deputation of one of their members, or of any other person, necessary to form the settlement of any such lands, they are to propose the measure to the Governor-General in Council, with their reasons for recommending it.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxxix.

37. Upon a settlement being concluded with any proprietor or farmer, conformably to the Regulations, the Board of Revenue are to issue the usual bundobusty perwannah to the proprietor or farmer, without applying to the Governor-General in Council for his sanction for that purpose.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xl.

38. The collection of the revenue is committed to the collectors; but the Board of Revenue are to see that the revenues are realized by the stipulated periods, or that solid and satisfactory reasons are assigned by the collectors for any delay or deficiency. The power of coercion over the proprietors and farmers of land is also vested in the collectors, as prescribed in Regulation XIV., 1793.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xli.

39. The Board are authorized to grant temporary suspensions of the demands of revenue whenever it may appear to them indispensably necessary, reporting the sum suspended, without delay, to the Governor-General in Council, with their reasons for the measure. But they are not to grant any suspensions beyond the current year.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xlii.

40. No remissions of balances are to be granted without the special authority of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xliii.

41. They are also authorized to grant advances of tuccavy to proprietors or farmers of land, where it shall appear essentially necessary, in proportions not exceeding five per cent. on the revenue payable from the lands to Government, reporting all such instances to the Governor-General in Council. Where a larger sum may be required, his sanction must be previously obtained. The interest to be taken on such advances is to be one per cent. per mensem.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xliv.

42. The Board of Revenue are to furnish the Governor-General in Council with such annual, monthly, or other accounts, as they now are or may be required to submit to him. They are likewise to observe all special orders which they have received, or may receive from the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xlv.

43. The Board of Revenue, collectively and individually, are prohibited from being concerned, directly or indirectly, in trade or commerce (which prohibition is to be understood to extend to the purchase of any goods or commodities in the British dominions in Bengal, for the purpose of remitting money to Europe), or in any house of agency, or in the direction or management of any bank, or in any transactions for borrowing money with any native revenue officer, or any person responsible for the collection or payment of the public revenue. They are likewise prohibited, without obtaining the previous sanction of the Governor-General for that purpose, accepting the security of a European for any farmer, dependent talookdar, or ryot, or granting or confirming any grant of malguzarry or lakhiraj land, or confirming the succession of any person to such lands, or continuing the pension of any deceased officer or pensioner to his family, or making any new general rule whatever.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xlvi.; Act IV., 1837.

44. The Board of Revenue are to transmit to the Governor-General in Council all original acknowledgments which may be delivered to them for places that they may be directed to restore to foreign nations.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xlvii.

45. The Board are to cause separate accounts to be kept of all expenses incurred in reducing rebellious zemindars, or other persons, with a view of obtaining reimbursement from the offenders.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xlviii.

46. The Board of Revenue, who are hereafter to conduct the sales of land in the mode prescribed by the Regulations, without any reference to the Governor-General in Council, except in cases wherein they may require his instructions, are to consider themselves responsible for the careful execution of this duty, and are required to be particularly attentive to the proper selection of lands for sale by the collectors, as well as to the due allotment of the public assessment thereupon, in conformity to the Regulations. They are also authorized to fix the establishments of native officers which may be necessary during the attachments of lands for sale, the expense of which is to be defrayed from the produce of the lands, as provided in Section XXIII. (Regulation VII., 1799, "Realization of Revenue"); and statements of all such establishments are to be submitted by the collectors for their approval, as soon as possible after the attachment may take place. In preparing such statements, the collectors are to be careful not to propose a greater number of officers, or greater allowances to the officers employed, than may be indispensably necessary; and the Board of Revenue, in approving such establishments, are to give particular attention that this principle is duly observed. The collectors are also to nominate, for the approbation of the Board of Revenue, the aumeens and other principal native officers to be employed in the management of lands under attachment, with the sureties to be taken for their appearance under Section XV. of Regulation III., 1794 ("Public Officers"); and will be held responsible for the utmost regard to the qualifications and character of the persons so appointed by them, as well as in all cases wherein native officers may be appointed by them to the charge of a khas collection, whether under this or any other Regulation.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxx.

NOTE.—The preceding rule would seem to be almost entirely superseded by Act I., 1845.

47. In the execution of the duties vested in the Board of Revenue by this Regulation, as in all other cases, they are to be guided by any special orders or instructions which they may at any time receive from the Governor-General in Council (or Vice-President in Council), to whom they are to apply in all cases which they may consider unprovided for by the Regulations; or if it appear to them in any case, that a new Regulation would be advisable to be printed and published in the form prescribed by Regulation XLI., 1793, they are to prepare such Regulation in the form so prescribed, with a letter stating at large the grounds on which it may be proposed, and copies of any documents therein referred to, which may not have been already transmitted to the Governor-General in Council. The collectors are also authorized to propose to the Board of Revenue, in the prescribed form, any Regulations regarding matters within their cognizance, which their local knowledge and experience may suggest to them as advisable to be adopted; and provided they are drawn out according to the form directed by Regulation XLI., 1793, the Board of Revenue are to forward the same to the Governor-General in Council, whether they approve the Regulation proposed or otherwise. If they disapprove it altogether, they are to state the reasons of their disapproval in a letter to the Governor-General in Council, to accompany the Regulation proposed by the collector, or a copy of it, and copies of any letter and documents received from him in explanation of it. If they disapprove it in part only, and are of opinion that the remainder should be enacted into a Regulation, with any amendments they may think advisable, they are to state their objections to the part disapproved, and at the same time to submit to the Governor-General in Council a draught of the Regulation they judge expedient, with any requisite explanation of the amendments proposed by them.—Reg. VII., 1799, sec. xxxi.

48. The Board of Revenue are to be careful that the collector performs his assigned duties, for which purpose they are vested with the same powers over him as they possess over the collectors in the other three provinces, by Regulation II., 1793; and they may accordingly summon him to the presidency to explain and justify his conduct, or suspend him from his office, or fine him in the manner and under the reservation set forth and provided in paragraphs 27 to 30.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. xxvii.

49. The Board of Revenue are vested with the same authority, in respect to requiring the attendance of natives concerned in the revenues, as they are empowered to exercise in Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, by paragraph 32, under the rules and restrictions therein specified.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. xxix.

50. [Section XXX., Regulation V., 1795.] Same as paragraph 33.

51. In all cases of a settlement being made with or on behalf of talookdárs, zemindars, putteedars, or other actual proprietors of land, their lands are to be declared in their engagements to be responsible for the payment of the revenue.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. xxxi.; Reg. VII., 1807, sec. ii.

52. [Section XXXII., Regulation V., 1795.] Same as paragraph 36.

53. Upon a settlement being concluded with any proprietor or farmer, conformably to the Regulations, the collector is to receive from him the usual cabooleat, and to sign and deliver the pottah in conformity thereto, after it shall have been attested by the seal and signature of the rajah, in pursuance of the agreement to that effect concluded between the rajah and the resident, under date the 17th of October, 1794.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. xxxiii.

54. [Section XXXIV., Regulation V., 1795.] Same as paragraph 38.

55. In cases in which, since the conclusion of the settlement, the rivers may have carried away so much of the ground included in the engagements of any zemindar or farmer, as to disable him from paying the stipulated revenue, the collector, after minute inquiry, is to report the circumstances, and the amount of the deficiency thereby occasioned, to the Board of Revenue, through whom the orders of the Governor-General in Council will be issued to the collector, for affording such relief to the party or parties as may appear necessary.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. xxxv.

56. [Section XXXVI., Regulation V., 1795.] Same as paragraph 41.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

57. The superintendence of the settlement and collection of the public revenue payable from the lands, and of all other duties committed to the collectors, is vested in the Board of Revenue.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xxviii.

58. The Board of Revenue, who are empowered to conduct the sales of land in the mode prescribed, will consider themselves responsible for the careful execution of this duty; and are required to be particularly attentive to the proper selection of lands for sale by the collectors, as well as to the due allotment of the public assessment thereupon, in conformity to the Regulations. They are also authorized to fix the establishments of native officers which may be necessary during the attachment of lands for sale, the expense of which shall be defrayed from the produce of the lands, as provided in Regulation XXVII., 1803 ("REALIZATION OF REVENUE"); and statements of all such establishments shall be submitted by the collectors, for their approval, as soon as possible after the attachment may take place. In preparing such statements, the collector shall be careful not to propose a greater number of officers, or greater allowances to the officers employed, than may be indispensably necessary; and the Board of Revenue, in approving such establishments, shall give particular attention that this principle is duly observed. The collectors shall also nominate, for the approbation of the Board of Revenue, the aumeens and other principal native officers to be employed in the management of lands under attachment, with the sureties to be taken for their appearance under Section II. of Regulation XXXIII., 1803 (PUBLIC OFFICERS); and will be held responsible for the utmost regard to the qualifications and character of the persons so appointed by them.—Reg. XXVI., 1803, sec. xxviii.

SUDDER BOARD, NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES.

59. It shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to depute one or more members of the Sudder Board, to be ordinarily stationed at Allahabad,* and to exercise exclusive control and direction over the revenue affairs of the tracts hereinafter mentioned, in like manner as is now exercised by the Sudder Board at the presidency.—Reg. X., 1831, sec. iii.

* Now at Agra, under the provisions of paragraph 65.

60. The jurisdiction of the Sudder Board in the North-Western Provinces shall comprise the tracts of country situated within the first to the ninth divisions inclusive, containing the districts specified in paragraph 3, together with the province of Kumaoon, and the Saugor and Nerbudda territories.—Reg. X., 1831, sec. v.

61. From and after the date of the promulgation of this Regulation, the Sudder Board of Revenue at the presidency, and the chief commissioner at Delhi, shall cease to exercise any interference with or control over the divisions and tracts specified in the preceding paragraph. Provided, however, that the Sudder Board of Revenue stationed at the presidency shall complete the decision of all cases now actually before them in appeal, or which may be appealed to them before the date fixed for the operation of this Regulation, and shall be competent to do and order all things necessary to the investigation and decision of the cases, or to the execution of such of their decrees or orders as may be in train of execution; excepting in cases in which the appellant may pray to have his case immediately transferred to the Sudder Board in the North-Western Provinces.—Reg. X., 1831, sec. vi.

62. In the conduct of the revenue duties of the tracts of country composing the province of Kumaoon, and the Saugor and Nerbudda territories, as well those relating to the customs, abkary, stamps, and other miscellaneous items, as to the land revenue, the local authorities shall observe the rules and principles of the general Regulations, with such limitations and restrictions as may be provided in the instructions they may receive from the Sudder Board in the North-Western Provinces, or the Governor-General in Council.—Reg X., 1831, sec. vii.

63. The whole of the powers and authority now vested in the Sudder Board at the presidency are hereby declared to belong to the members of the Board of Revenue in the North-Western Provinces, within the tracts subject to their control, so long as this Regulation shall remain in force, who shall also be guided in their official proceedings by the existing rules applicable to that Board, subject to such restrictions and provisions as the Governor-General in Council may prescribe.—Reg. X., 1831, sec. viii.

64. Whenever and so often as the number of members present with the Board in the North-Western Provinces shall be reduced to one, or when two shall be present, and a difference of opinion arise in regard to any matter which, under the existing Regulations, may require the concurrence of two voices, the question shall be referred for determination to the Sudder Board at the presidency. —Reg. X., 1831, sec. ix.

NOTE.—See the rules in paragraphs 19, 20.

65. It shall further be competent to the Governor-General in Council to fix the station at which the Sudder Board in the North-Western Provinces shall reside, at such place within the territories belonging to this presidency as may from time to time be deemed expedient.—Reg. X., 1831, sec. xi., cl. 2.

66. The Sudder Board of Revenue in the North-Western Provinces shall, from the date of the promulgation of this Regulation, possess and exercise a general power of control and supervision over the customs and duties, and over the officers charged with the administration of these branches of revenue in the province of Benares, the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, the territory formerly subject to the authority of the chief commissioner at Delhi, the province of Kumaoon, and the Saugor and Nerbudda dependencies; and the Board of Customs, Salt, and Opium, shall cease to have any jurisdiction relating to customs and duties in the said tracts of country.—Reg. I., 1833, sec. iii.

CONSOLIDATION OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE AND BOARD OF CUSTOMS, SALT, AND OPIUM IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

67. All powers and duties now vested in or belonging to the Board of Revenue in the Customs, Salt, and Opium department, and its officers respectively, shall be transferred to the Sudder Board of Revenue constituted in the said Lower Provinces according to Regulation I., 1829, of the Bengal code, and its officers respectively; and all Acts and Regulations now in force relating to the said Customs, Salt, and Opium Board of Revenue, or its officers, shall be understood henceforth as if the said Sudder Board of Revenue and its officers had been respectively mentioned therein, instead of the said Board of Customs, Salt, and Opium, and its officers.—Act XLIV., 1850, sec. ii.

68. The said Sudder Board of Revenue shall be henceforth styled the Board of Revenue for the Lower Provinces of the presidency of Fort William in Bengal.—Act XLIV., 1850, sec. iii.

COLLECTORS.

Lower Provinces.

69. From the 1st May, 1793, the Courts of Maal Adawlut, or revenue Courts, shall be abolished, and the trial of the suits which were cognizable in those Courts, as well as all judicial powers whatsoever heretofore vested in the collectors of the revenue or in the Board of Revenue collectively, as a Court of appeal, or in any member of that Board individually, shall be transferred to the Courts of Dewanny Adawlut.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. ii.

70. The collection of the revenue payable to Government from the estates in each zillah is to be committed, as heretofore, to a civil covenanted servant of the Company, who is to be styled collector of the revenue of the zillah to which he may be appointed. Previous to entering upon the execution of the duties of his office, he is to take the oath prescribed by paragraph 1, for servants of the Company employed in the management or collection of the revenue, before one of the judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature, or before such other person as may be authorized by an order of Government for the purpose.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. iii.; Reg. V., 1804, sec. xxv.

71. The collectors are to correspond with the Board of Revenue, and to conform to all instructions with which they have been furnished by that Board, and that are or may not be altered or revoked by this or any other Regulation published in the manner directed in Regulation XLI., 1793, and also to all instructions which the Board of Revenue may hereafter transmit to them.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. iv.

72. The collectors of the several zillahs are to use a circular seal, one inch and a half in diameter. The seals of the collectors in Bengal and Orissa are to bear an inscription to the following effect, in the Bengal and Persian characters and languages, and the seals of the collectors in Behar a similar inscription, in the Persian character and language, and the Hindostanny language and Nageree character: "The seal of the collector of the zillah of ....."—Reg. II., 1793, sec. v.

73. The collectors are to keep a regular diary of their official transactions, either in the English, Persian, or Bengal language, recording and attesting them with their official signature at the time they may take place.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. vi.

74. The duties prescribed in the following paragraph are to be performed by the collectors under the superintendence of the Board of Revenue.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. vii.

75. First. To collect the amount of the fixed revenue assessed upon the lands of the zemindars, independent talookdars, or other actual proprietors of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or may be concluded.

Second. To collect the stipulated annual revenue from the farmers of estates let in farm.

Third. To levy the rents and revenue from estates held khas.

Fourth. To make the future settlement of khas, or farmed estates, agreeably to the Regulations and instructions which they may receive for that purpose.

Fifth. To prosecute for the recovery of the dues of Government from lands of whatever description, held exempt from the payment of revenue under illegal or invalid tenures.

Sixth. To pay the pensions and allowances included in the public revenue, and the pensions and compensations granted in consequence of the abolition of the sayer.

Seventh. To execute the instructions which may be issued to them by the Court of Wards, regarding disqualified landholders and their estates.

Eighth. To superintend the division of landed property paying revenue to Government, which may be ordered to be divided into two or more distinct estates.

Ninth. To apportion the public revenue on lands ordered to be disposed of at public sale for the discharge of arrears of revenue.

Tenth. To collect the tax on spirituous liquors and intoxicating drugs or articles.

Eleventh. To perform the above, and all other duties, according to the rules that have been or may be prescribed to them, by any Regulation published in the manner directed in Regulation XLI., 1793.

Twelfth. To transmit such annual, monthly, or other accounts as they now furnish, or may be hereafter required to send by the Board of Revenue, or any officer under that Board empowered to require such accounts.

Thirteenth. To conform to all special orders that have been or may be issued to them by the Board of Revenue, or by public officers empowered to issue such orders.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. viii.

76. All native officers under the collector are to act agreeably to his orders and such rules as he may prescribe. They are not to perform any act of authority without his sanction or authority, under pain of being fined in a sum not exceeding six months' salary, or of being dismissed from their offices by the collector, the Board of Revenue, or the Governor-General in Council, and also of being sued in the Court of Judicature for damages by any person who may consider himself aggrieved by such unauthorized act.—Reg. II. 1793, sec. ix.; Reg. XV., 1813.

77. The collectors are prohibited from employing, directly or indirectly, their private servants, whether banyans or others, in the discharge of any part of their public duties, it being required that, in all matters relating to the trust committed to them, they act as the only empowered agents of Government. This prohibition, however, is not meant to restrict them from occasionally employing their assistants or their inferior public servants, in the cases, and in the manner in which they are authorized to make use of their agency.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. x.

78. The khezanchee, or native cash-keeper in each zillah, is to be nominated by the collector, who is to take good and sufficient security from him for the faithful discharge of his trust, and for making good all deficiencies in the public money that may be committed to his charge. The collector is to transmit the names of the person whom he may nominate to the office of khezanchee, and of his surety, with a copy of the engagement, executed by the latter, to the Board of Revenue; but the person so nominated shall not be considered as appointed until the Board of Revenue shall have signified their approbation both of him and his surety. The native cash-keeper so appointed shall not be removed but for misconduct, or other sufficient cause, proved to the satisfaction of the Board of Revenue; and he and the collector shall be held jointly and severally responsible to Government for the public money committed to their charge.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xi.

79. All issues from the treasuries of the collectors are to be made under a warrant signed by the collector, and sealed with the seal of the zillah. The native cash-keeper is prohibited paying any money without such written authority, under the penalty of being made responsible for it should the payment be afterwards found to have been unduly made. These warrants are to be numbered, and a register of them is to be kept in the current language of the country by the keepers of the native records, who are to attest, by their respective signatures on the face of the warrant, that it has been duly registered.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xii.; Reg. XV., 1813.

80. The collectors are to transmit to the Board of Revenue regular notice of all appointments and removals, and are to employ none but such public and registered officers in matters in any respect relating to their official duty, and are not, under any plea or pretext, to confer on their public officers any private trust relating to their personal concerns.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xiii.

NOTE.—Sec vi., Reg. III., 1829, paragraph 145, explains the corresponding rule for the Ceded Provinces, but does not apply the explanation to this the original rule.

81. In the event of the death or removal of a collector, or of his absence from his station, the senior assistant on the spot is to perform the duties of collector, and the public officers of the collectorship are accordingly to obey his orders.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xiv.

82. No collector, assistant to a collector, or any native in the employ of a collector or of an assistant, shall hold, directly or indirectly, any farm, or be concerned on their private account in the collection or payment of the revenue of any lands in the zillah, either as farmer, surety, or otherwise; and native officers and private servants and dependents of collectors and assistants are prohibited from purchasing, directly or indirectly, any land that the collector may dispose of at public sale, under the penalty of forfeiting the property to Government, upon proof being made, to the satisfaction of the Governor-General in Council, of the property having been so purchased. —Reg. II., 1793, sec. xv.

83. The rules in the preceding paragraph, however, are not to be considered to prohibit a native officer of a collector, or any private servant of a collector or of an assistant, from purchasing bonâ fide the proprietary right in lands situated in the zillah, by private sale.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xvi.

84. No collector shall accept the security of a European for any farmer, dependent talookdar, or ryot.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xvii.; Act IV., 1837.

85. No collector or assistant, shall, directly or indirectly, carry on any trade, or be concerned in any commercial transaction whatever. This prohibition, with regard to collectors and their assistants, is declared to extend to the purchase, directly or indirectly, of any goods or commodities in the British dominions in Bengal, for the purpose of remitting money to Europe.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xviii.

86. The collectors are to be careful that the accounts and records of their respective zillahs are kept complete and duly preserved.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xx.

87. To render the several zillahs as compact as possible, the collectors are to report every instance in which lands included in their respective zillahs may be circumscribed by any other zillah, and also where lands including other zillahs are circumscribed by their own zillahs, in order that such lands may be annexed to the zillah by which they are circumscribed. The collectors are also to send information to the Board of Revenue of any parts of their zillahs which may be intersected by the rivers Ganges, Megna, or Berampootre.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxi.

88. The collectors are not to employ sepoys in the collection of the public revenue.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxii.

89. Collectors are not to advance money on account of tuccavy, without the express sanction of the Board of Revenue.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxiii.

90. The collectors are prohibited deputing any person into the zillah of any other collector, or exercising any authority beyond the limits of their respective zillahs, excepting in cases in which they may be authorized so to do by a regulation published in the manner directed in Regulation XLI., 1793, or by special orders from a competent authority.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxiv.

91. The collectors are to give monthly receipts for all payments of revenue into their treasuries, specifying the date or dates on which the money may be received, and the species of rupee in which each payment may be made. The keepers of the native records are to keep a register of these receipts regularly numbered. After having registered the receipts, they are to attest on the face of them the date on which they may be registered. A copy of this register is to be transmitted monthly to the Board of Revenue, or as often as that Board may require. A similar register of receipts is to be kept by all tehsildars, sezawuls, or other native officers intrusted with the immediate collection of the public revenue, and a copy of it is to be transmitted to the collector monthly, or as often as he may require.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxv.

92. The monthly, or other receipts, for salaries, pensions, or allowances, of whatever kind, which may be paid by the collectors, are to be deposited amongst the public records of their respective zillahs, and a register of them is to be kept by the keepers of the native records. A copy of the register is to be transmitted annually to the Board of Revenue.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxvi.

93. To prevent loss of revenue or confusion in accounts from the resignation or removal of collectors, no collector is to be permitted to depart from his station, until he shall have either delivered over complete charge of his trust to his successor or to his assistant, and until notification shall have been made to the Board of Revenue of his having complied with this rule, and their sanction shall have been obtained for his departure. This rule shall on no account be dispensed with, unless by special permission from the Board of Revenue, which is to be granted only in particular cases that may appear to them to require it.—Reg. II., 1793, sec. xxvii.

Benares.

94. The collection of the public revenue, whether arising from the customs, or the lands, or other source, is to be committed to one covenanted civil servant of the Company, who is to be styled, in his capacity of collector of the customs, "Collector of the Customs in the province of Benares;" and in his capacity of collector of the land and other revenues exclusive of the customs, "Collector of the Revenue in the zillahs and places in the province of Benares."—Reg. V., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 1.

95. As collector of the customs, the collector, previous to entering upon the execution of the duties of his office, is to take and subscribe an oath similar to that prescribed to the collector of the Government customs.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 2.

96. As collector of the land and other revenues exclusive of the customs, he is to take and subscribe the oath prescribed by paragraph 1 for servants of the Company employed in the collection of the revenue.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. ii., cl. 3.

97. In his capacity of collector of the customs, the collector is to conform to such Regulations relating to his office as may be printed and published in the manner prescribed in Regulation XLI., 1793, and is to correspond with and obey all orders which he may receive from the Board of Trade or the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 1.

98. As collector of the land and other revenues exclusive of the customs, he is to correspond with, and obey all orders which may be transmitted to him by the Board of Revenue and the Governor-General in Council, and is to conform to the rules contained in the following paragraphs.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. iii., cl. 2.

99. The collector is to use a circular seal, one inch and a half in diameter, with an inscription to the following effect, in the Persian character and language, and the Hindostanee language and Nageree character, "The seal of the collector of Benares."—Reg. V., 1795, sec. iv.

100. [Section V., Regulation V., 1795.] Same as paragraph 78, substituting "Hindostanee" for "Bengalee."

101. The duties prescribed in the following paragraph are to be performed by the collector, under the superintendence of the Board of Revenue.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. vi.

102. First. To collect the amount of the fixed revenue assessed upon the lands of the talookdars, zemindars, putteedars, distinct or common, or other actual proprietors of land.

Second. To collect the stipulated annual revenue from the farmers of estates let in farm.

Third. To collect the public dues from estates held amauny (estates for the payment of the revenue of which no settlement has been concluded or may subsist).

Fourth. To make the future settlement of amauny and farmed estates agreeably to the Regulations and the instructions which he may receive for that purpose; observing it as a general rule, in forming the settlement of all lands held amauny, that the public revenue to be paid to Government is to be fixed according to the actual jydaad or existing funds, arising from the lands in cultivation, after deducting ten per cent. from such funds, for the charges of management, and the profits of the party with whom the settlement may be made, and adding, where there is much uncultivated ground within the limits of the lands to be included in the settlement, a moderate russud or progressive increase, for the four or five first years of it. The settlement of lands let in farm to be made on the death of the farmer will regard only the determination respecting the person who is to succeed to the lease, and is not to affect the amount of the public revenue assessed on the lands included in the lease, which in all farmed estates is to continue unalterable, as it may have been fixed by the rules regarding the permanent settlement concluded in, or subsequent to, the Fusly year 1197. But if the parties entitled to re-enter into possession as zemindars, on the avoidance of the lease of any farmer under the operation of Section III., Regulation I., 1795 ("SETTLEMENT"), shall not accept of reinstatement on condition of paying the existing fixed jumma, they shall not be entitled to be restored in future, unless they agree to the payment of a jumma to be adjusted agreeably to the rules above prescribed for forming the settlement of amauny lands in general, or such other conditions as shall be prescribed by the Governor-General in Council.

Fifth. To prosecute for the recovery of the dues of Government from lands, of whatever description, held exempt from the payment of revenue under illegal or invalid tenures.

Sixth. To pay the pensions and allowances included in, or chargeable on, the public revenue, inclusive of those granted in lieu of former charitable assignments on the abolished sayer, according to the separate regulation for those purposes.

Seventh. To execute the instructions of the Court of Wards regarding disqualified landholders and their estates, whenever the jurisdiction of that Court shall be extended to Benares.

Eighth. To superintend the division of, and to apportion the jumma on landed property paying revenue to Government, which, whether from private sale, donation, or otherwise, from being joint and undivided, may become separated into two or more distinct estates, in conformity to Section VII., Regulation XXVII., 1795 ("SETTLEMENT"), and Regulation XIX., 1814 ("DIVISION OF ESTATES").

Ninth. To apportion the revenue on any part or parts of estates ordered to be disposed of by public sale, for the discharge of arrears of revenue, agreeably to the principles prescribed in Section VII., Regulation XXVII., 1795 ("SETTLEMENT").

Tenth. To collect the tax on spirituous liquors and intoxicating drugs or articles, and the tax of ghur dewary or khanah shoomary, according to the separate regulation for that purpose.

Eleventh. To perform the above, and all other duties, according to the rules that have been, or may be prescribed to him, by any regulation published in the manner directed in Regulation XLI., 1793.

Twelfth. To transmit such annual, monthly, or other accounts, as were furnished by the late resident, or as may be hereafter required to be sent by the Board of Revenue, or any officer under that Board empowered to require such accounts.

Thirteenth. To conform to all special orders that may be issued to him by the Board of Revenue, or by public officers empowered to issue such orders.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. vii.

103. On complaints being preferred by any of the malguzars and ryots of the rajah's family zemindarry of Gungapoor, and of his jaghires of Budhoee and Kera Mungrore, the collector is to cause redress to be afforded to the complainants, in the manner pointed out in the agreement concluded between the rajah and the resident on the 27th of October, 1794, as prescribed in Section III., Regulation XV., 1795 (SETTLEMENT"); corresponding on such matters, when necessary, immediately with the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. viii.

NOTE.—See Regulation VII., 1828, ("SETTLEMENT").

104. The serishtadar and all native officers [&c., as in paragraph 76.]—Reg. V., 1795, sec. ix.

105. [Section X., Regulation V., 1795.] Same as paragraph 77.

106. The khezanchee, or native cash-keeper at Benares, is to act under the orders of the collector, who is to report to the Board of Revenue all instances in which he may have cause of complaint against the khezanchee or his agents. The khezanchee is not to be removed from his office without the sanction of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. xi.

107 to 112. [Sections XII to XVII., Regulation V., 1795.] Same as paragraphs 79 to 84.

113. [Section XVIII., Regulation V., 1795.] Same as paragraph 85, substituting "the provinces of Benares, Bengal, Behar, or Orissa," for "the British dominions in Bengal."

114 to 116. [Sections XX., XXI., and XXII., Regulation V., 1795.] Same as paragraphs 86, 88, and 89.

117. The collector is to give monthly receipts, under the joint attestations of himself and of the rajah, for all payments of revenue into the treasury—[the remainder as in paragraph 91].—Reg. V., 1795, sec. xxiii.

118 and 119. [Sections XXIV. and XXV., Regulation V., 1795.] Same as paragraphs 92 and 93.

120. The collector may depute his assistant to make occasional local inquiries into the causes of balances or deficiencies in the revenue; but he is forthwith to advise the Board of Revenue of such deputations, and to conform to the instructions with which they may furnish him.—Reg. V., 1795, sec. xxviii.

Ceded and Conquered Provinces.

121. The collection of the Revenue payable to Government from the estates in each zillah shall be committed to a civil covenanted servant of the Company, who shall be styled "Collector of the Revenue" of the zillah to which he shall be appointed. Previously to entering upon the execution of the duties of his office, he shall take the oath prescribed by Act of Parliament (paragraph 1) for servants of the Company employed in the management or collection of the revenue, before one of the judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature, or before such other person as the Governor-General in Council shall authorize to administer the same.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. ii.

122. The collectors shall correspond with the Board of Revenue, and shall conform to all instructions with which they have been or shall be furnished by that Board, and which shall not be contrary to this or any other Regulation published in the manner directed in Regulation I., 1803.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. iii.

123. The collectors of the several zillahs shall use a circular seal, one inch and a half in diameter, bearing an inscription thereon to the following effect, in the Persian character and language, and in the Hindostanee language and Nageree character: "The seal of the collector of the zillah of ————."—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. iv.

124. [Section V., Regulation XXV., 1803.] Same as paragraph 73, substituting "Hindostanee" for "Bengal."

125. The duties prescribed in the following paragraph shall be performed by the collectors, under the superintendence of the Board of Revenue.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. vi.

126. First. To collect the amount of the Revenue assessed upon the lands of the zemindars, independant talookdars, or other actual proprietors of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or shall be concluded.

Second. To collect the stipulated annual revenue from the farmers of estates let in farm.

Third. To levy the rents and revenue from estates held khas or amauny.

Fourth. To make the future settlement of khas, or of farmed estates, agreeably to the Regulations and the instructions which they shall receive for that purpose.

Fifth. To prosecute for the recovery of the dues of Government from lands, of whatever description, held exempt from the payment of revenue under illegal or invalid tenures.

Sixth. To pay the pensions and allowances included in, or chargeable on, the public revenue, and all other pensions and compensations, which shall be granted or confirmed under Regulation XXIV., 1803 ("Pensions").

Seventh. To execute the instructions which shall be issued to them by the Court of Wards, regarding disqualified landholders and their estates.

Eighth. To superintend the division of landed property paying revenue to Government, which shall be ordered to be divided into two or more distinct estates.

Ninth. To apportion the public revenue on lands ordered to be disposed of at public sale for the discharge of arrears of revenue or in satisfaction of the decrees of the Courts of Judicature.

Tenth. To collect the tax on spirituous liquors and intoxicating drugs or articles.

Eleventh. To perform the above and all other duties, according to the rules which have been or shall be prescribed to them by any Regulation published in the manner directed in Regulation I., 1803.

Twelfth. To transmit such annual, monthly or other accounts, as they now furnish, or shall be hereafter required to send, by the Board of Revenue, or any officer under that Board, empowered to require such accounts.

Thirteenth. To conform to all special orders which have been or shall be issued to them by the Board of Revenue, or by public officers empowered to issue such orders.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. vii.

127. The native officers under the collector shall act agreeably to his orders and to such rules as he shall prescribe. Those officers shall not perform any act of authority without the sanction or authority of the collector, under pain of being fined in a sum not exceeding six months' salary, or of being dismissed from their offices by a competent authority, and also of being sued in the Court of Judicature for damages by any person who shall consider himself to be aggrieved by such unauthorized act.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. viii.

128. [Section IX., Regulation XXV., 1803.] Same as paragraph 77.

129. [Section X., Regulation XXV., 1803.] Same as paragraph 78, substituting "the approbation of the Governor-General in Council" for "their (i. e. Board of Revenue's) approbation."

130. [Section XI., Regulation XXV., 1803.] Same as paragraph 79.

131. The collectors are prohibited from employing any persons, excepting public and registered officers, in matters in any respect relating to their official duty; and shall not, under any plea or pretext, confer on their public officers any private trust relating to their personal concerns.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xii.

132. In the event of the death or removal of a collector, or of his absence from his station, and when no other person shall have been appointed thereto, the senior assistant on the spot shall perform the duties of collector, and the public officers of the collectorship shall accordingly obey his orders.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xiii.

133 and 134. [Sections XIV. and XV., Regulation XXV., 1803.] Same as paragraphs 82 and 83.

135. No collector shall, directly or indirectly, accept the security of a European, for any tehseeldar, zemindar, farmer, dependant talookdar, or ryot.—Reg. XXV., 1803, sec. xvi.

136. [Section XVII., Regulation XXV., 1803.] Same as paragraph 85, substituting "subject to the immediate government of the presidency of Fort William" for "in Bengal."

137. [Section XIX., Regulation XXV., 1803.] Same as paragraph 86.

138. [Section XX., Regulation XXV., 1803.] Same as paragraph 87, stopping at "circumscribed."

139 to 144. [Sections XXI. to XXVI., Regulation XXV. 1803.] Same as paragraphs 88 to 93.

145. Such parts of paragraph 131 as have been construed to prohibit collectors from employing any persons not being public officers, duly appointed or nominated in conformity with the rules in force relative to such appointments, in the discharge of any part of their public duties, are hereby declared not to extend to the employment of individuals in the copying of papers and proceedings, or in similar functions, for the due execution of which the proper officers must be held responsible. The rules, however, contained in that paragraph, and in Regulations II., 1793, and V., 1795, prohibiting collectors and judicial officers from so employing, directly or indirectly, their private servants, of whatever description, shall remain in full force.—Reg. III., 1829, sec. vi.

General Rules.

146. It is and shall be lawful for the Governor-General in Council to cause such alterations to be made in the limits of the several collectorships, and in the number of the officers employed as collectors of land revenue, as may from time to time appear expedient, as well as to vest such officers, being covenanted servants of the Honourable Company, with authority to exercise the whole or any part of the functions ordinarily exercised by collectors of land revenue in such mehal or mehals belonging to such district or districts as may from time to time be deemed expedient; and any officers so employed shall perform their prescribed duties in the same manner, and subject to the same condition and liabilities, as attach to collectors of land revenue in regard to such duties.—Reg. IV., 1821, sec. viii., cl. 1.

147. It shall also be competent to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, to depute any of the officers subordinate to their authority, to exercise and perform all or any of the powers and duties ordinarily vested in collectors of land revenue within such local limits as they may judge expedient; provided, however, that in all such cases the Board, or other authority aforesaid, shall, on the day in which they may depute any officer as aforesaid, or as soon after as practicable, report their having done so for the information and orders of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. IV., 1821, sec. viii., cl. 2.

148. All rules in this or any other Regulation, whereby any duties or powers may be prescribed for, or vested in collectors, shall be held and considered to be equally applicable to any officer exercising the authority of collector under the orders, or with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. VII., 1822, sec. xxxv.

ASSISTANT COLLECTORS.

149. The collectors of revenue are hereby authorized, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, to delegate to their assistants any part of their prescribed duties which, from the extent of their general business, or other cause, they may be unable to give due attention to themselves; provided always, that in the event of a collector deputing his assistant to make local inquiries, or for any other purpose connected with the collection of the public revenue, he shall immediately report the same for the information and orders of the Board of Revenue to which he may be subordinate.—Reg. IV., 1821, sec. viii., cl. 3.

NOTE.—Sec. xxi., Reg. VIII., 1831, restricts the preceding rule as regards summary suits for rent ("REALIZATION OF RENT").

150. Previously to entering upon the duties of his office, an assistant to a collector shall take and subscribe an oath corresponding with that prescribed by paragraph 1, for servants of the Company employed in the management and collection of the public revenue.—Reg. IV., 1821, sec. viii., cl. 4.

151. Assistants, or other officers exercising the powers of collectors of revenue, or any portion thereof, under the provisions of this Regulation, shall be guided in every respect by the Regulations which have been, or may be, enacted for the management and collection of the revenue, as far as the same may be applicable to the duties committed to them respectively, and shall be considered responsible for the due performance of the duties intrusted to them, and shall be amenable to the Civil Courts of Judicature for any acts done by them in their official capacity, in opposition to the Regulations, in the same manner, and under the same rules, as the collectors of revenue.—Reg. IV., 1821, sec. viii., cl. 5.

DEPUTY-COLLECTORS.

152. It shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to appoint to any revenue jurisdiction a deputy-collector, with the powers hereinafter specified.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xvi.

153. The office of deputy-collector shall be open to natives of India of any class or religious persuasion. The persons selected shall be appointed by the Governor-General in Council, and shall receive their commissions from Government in the usual mode, under the signature of the secretary in the revenue department.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xvii.

154. The deputy-collectors will receive a monthly allowance, to be fixed by the Governor-General in Council, and to be susceptible of increase, from time to time, as their conduct may appear to entitle them respectively to such consideration.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xviii.

155. Every person appointed to the office of deputy-collector under this Regulation shall, previously to entering upon the execution of the duties of his situation, make and prescribe before the collector of the district in which he may be employed, a solemn declaration in the form of the oath required, under paragraph 1, to be taken by persons employed in the collection of the public revenue. —Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xix.

156. The deputy-collectors appointed under this Regulation are to be in all respects subordinate to the collector under whom they may be placed, and are required to perform all duties assigned to them by that functionary.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xx.

157. It will be at the discretion of the latter officer to employ them in settlement duties under the provisions of Regulation VII., 1822, in the superintendence of the Government khas mehauls, and generally in the transaction of any other part of the duties of a collector.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xxi.

158. All proceedings held by a deputy-collector appointed under this Regulation shall be recorded in his own name and on his own responsibility, subject to the revision and control of the collector, and appealable to the superior authorities in the usual course.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xxii.

159. Provided always, that the collector is competent to resume the duties which he may have committed to the deputy, assigning his reasons for so doing for the information of the commissioner.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xxiii.

160. Provided also, that the revenue commissioners, whenever they think proper, may interfere with any arrangements made by the collectors for the employment of the deputies, or the distribution of business to be assigned to those functionaries, subject to the general control vested in the Sudder Board of Revenue or the Government, as the case may be.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xxiv.

161. A deputy, appointed under this Regulation, shall not be removable but for misconduct, and with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council. Whenever there may be reason to believe that a deputy is disqualified by neglect, incapacity, or corruption, for continuance in office, a report shall be submitted by the local authorities, through the channel of the Sudder Board of Revenue, for the consideration of the Governor-General in Council, who shall be competent to suspend him, and order a further inquiry into the conduct of such deputy, or to direct his immediate dismissal, as may appear just and proper.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xxv.

NOTE.—See the rules defining what is meant by the term "independent deputy collector," and the powers of such officers, under ("REALIZATION OF RENT,") paragraphs 117 to 120.

COMMISSIONER IN THE SUNDERBUNS.

162. An officer shall be appointed under the appellation of Commissioner in the Sunderbuns. The commissioner in the Sunderbuns shall be vested, within such local limits as may be from time to time established by the Governor-General in Council, with all the duties, powers, and authority which have been or may be exercised by the collectors of land revenue (including the charge of the abkary mehal) under the rules and Regulations which may have been or may be enacted; and shall be subject to the control and superintendence of the Board of Revenue, in the same manner as the collectors of the several zillahs situated within the limits of their authority.—Reg. IX., 1816, sec. ii.

CANOONGOES.

NOTE.—The Regulations for re-establishing the office of Canoongoe are,—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1808. | IV. | Ceded and Conquered Provinces and Benares. |
| 1816. | II | Shahabad, Tirhoot, Sarun, and Behar. |
| 1816. | V. | Cuttack and Puttaspore. |
| 1817. | II. | Province of Behar. |
| 1817. | XIII. | Hidgelee and Midnapore. |
| 1818. | I. | 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea, Jessore, Dacca Jelalpore, and Backergunge. |
| 1819. | I., sec. iv., cl. 1. | Throughout Bengal. |

The provisions of Regulation V., 1816, are, with a few verbal changes of no importance, the same as those of the two preceding Regulations, and the Regulations subsequent to Regulation V., 1816, merely extend its provisions; under these circumstances, it has been deemed sufficient to print Regulation V., 1816, with the few rules in addition thereto, which were enacted in Regulation I., 1819.

163. One or two persons shall be appointed to fill the office of canoongoe in every pergunnah, unless the small extent of a pergunnah shall render it advisable to place more than one pergunnah under the same canoongoe.—Reg. V., 1816, sec. ii.

164. These officers shall be nominated by the collectors, within their respective local jurisdictions, for the approval of the Board of Revenue, and shall not be removeable from office, except for sufficient cause proved to the satisfaction of that authority, under the provisions of Regulation V., 1804, and Regulation VIII., 1809 ("PUBLIC OFFICERS").—Reg. V. 1816, sec. iii.

165. The office of canoongoe is declared not to be hereditary; but in all pergunnahs in which persons may be found who formerly discharged the duties of canoongoe, the officers to be appointed under this Regulation shall, as far as practicable, be selected from among them; and in supplying future vacancies, the collectors shall make it a rule, in all practicable cases, to select from the families of the canoongoes such persons as from character, education, and acquirements shall be best qualified to perform the duty.—Reg. V., 1816, sec. iv.

166. The canoongoes appointed under this Regulation shall receive such salaries as the Governor-General in Council may think proper to fix for their support. The salaries so granted shall be considered to preclude all claims to further pecuniary allowances, under the denomination of nankar, or any other denomination. It is also hereby declared, that the revenue of all lands, the grant of which may be found to have been obtained by any person in virtue of his discharging the duties of canoongoes, will be liable to resumption by Government; and that this rule shall be considered applicable both to the persons who may be appointed to the office of canoongoe under the present Regulation, and to those who may not be employed in the public service. Nothing, however, contained in this provision shall be construed to preclude the Governor-General in Council from continuing to either of those classes of persons the whole or a part of the lands held by them respectively free of assessment, in those cases in which the circumstances of the parties may appear to require that indulgence.—Reg. V., 1816, sec. v.

167. The above rule is not to preclude claims to rent-free lands, or pensions held by the canoongoes under grants made to the individuals for reasons unconnected with the office of canoongoe.—Reg. V., 1816, sec. vi.

168. The canoongoes are to execute the duties herein specified.

1st. To keep a counterpart jumma wassil bawkee, or account of the collections made by the tehsildars, or by sezawuls, from lands held khaus, or under attachment.

2nd. To keep an account of all lands held under rent-free tenures, whether the grants be hereditary or otherwise, and to report to the collector all escheats of such lands to Government.

3rd. To keep a list of the putwarries in each village, and a register of pottahs granted by the landholders to their under-tenants.

4th. To keep a register of all transfers of estates by sale (public or private), mortgage, lease, or otherwise, and to attest such transfers at the request of the parties, without fee or gratuity, with their official signatures.

5th. To compile information regarding local boundaries of pergunnahs and estates; the number and names of villages, articles of produce, rates of rent, rules and customs established in each pergunnah; and to furnish, at the requisition of the Courts of justice and of the collectors, all local information without their cognizance.

6th. To assist at all admeasurements of land, whether undertaken by the officers of Government in conformity to the Regulations, or by the landholders or ryots, and to record the same.

7th. To prepare and keep the information and accounts directed in this or any future Regulation, in such manner and form as may be from time to time prescribed by the Board of Revenue.

8th. To report to the collector the death of a malguzar and the name of his heirs, and to keep a register of all successions to lands.—Reg. V., 1816, sec. vii.

169. Persons who may be selected to fill the office of canoongoe are hereby prohibited from holding farms, or from becoming sureties for farmers or zemindars, within the local limits of their official duties.—Reg. V., 1816, sec. viii.

170. On the death, resignation, or removal of a canoongoe, the records of the office are to be made over to his successor, and the magistrate of the zillah is enjoined, on the application of the collector, to interpose his authority, in all cases in which it may be necessary to enforce the surrender of such records.—Reg. V., 1816, sec. ix.

171. The refusal or manifest evasion of any person in possession of the records mentioned in the preceding paragraph to deliver them up on the requisition of the magistrate, is hereby declared to subject the party so offending, on proof thereof, to the penalties prescribed by the Regulations for resistance to the process of the magistrate.—Reg. V., 1816, sec. x.

172. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to preclude the Governor-General in Council from exercising the right of decreasing the number of canoongoes; of abolishing the office in any pergunnah where from local circumstances the duty may be performed by less than two persons or by the canoongoes in a neighbouring pergunnah; nor from exercising the right to increase the number of canoongoes in any pergunnah where, from circumstances, more than two may be found necessary.—Reg. V., 1816, sec. xi.

173. The collectors are enjoined to report to Government, through the usual channel, all instances wherein they may deem it expedient to increase or diminish the number of canoongoes in a pergunnah, with their reasons at large for such opinion.—Reg. V., 1816, sec. xii.

174. In cases in which it may not appear advisable, from whatever cause, to leave the selection and nomination of the canoongoes to the collector of the district, it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to appoint such other officer specially to perform that duty, as he may judge expedient; and the officer so appointed shall have and exercise, during such period as the Governor-General in Council may direct, the same powers as are vested generally in collectors of land revenue, under the preceding provisions, and the provisions of Regulation XII., 1817. But nothing herein contained shall be construed to preclude the person holding permanently the office of collector in such district, from discharging the ordinary duties of his situation, under the general rules and regulations applicable to that branch of the public service.—Reg. I., 1819, sec. iv., cl. 3.

175. Provided further, that it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to suspend the operation of the preceding rules regarding canoongoes, within any mehauls in which the establishment of such officers, as prescribed in those rules, may appear to be inexpedient.—Reg. I., 1819, sec. iv., cl. 4.

176. Provided likewise, that it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, to make such alteration in the duties to be performed by canoongoes as local circumstances shall suggest; anything in paragraph 168 to the contrary notwithstanding.—Reg. I., 1819, sec. iv., cl. 5.

PUTWARRIES.

NOTE.—The office of Putwarry was reorganized by Reg. XII., 1817, in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, the provinces of Behar and Benares, the district of Cuttack, and the pergunnah of Puttaspore; and the provisions of that Regulation were extended to the whole of the provinces of Bengal by cl. 2, sec. ii., Reg. I., 1819.

177. Every village paying, or liable to pay, the public revenue, shall have a separate putwarry, except in cases where the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the power of that Board, shall, in consideration of former usage or other sufficient cause, authorize one putwarry to do the duty of two or more villages, or direct two or more putwarries to be established in a single village.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. iii.

178. All persons at present holding the office of putwarry are to be continued in their situations, subject to removal under the rules hereinafter prescribed. And all zemindars or other proprietors of any village or villages, paying revenue to Government, or farmers engaging with Government for the public revenue, shall, within three months from the promulgation of this Regulation, transmit to the collector of the district a statement showing the name or names of such village and villages, with the name or names of the putwarry or putwarries of such village or villages.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. iv.

179. In like manner, where any village or villages paying revenue to Government shall at present have no putwarry established therein, the zemindar or other landholder or farmer of such village or villages, engaging with Government for the public revenue, shall proceed to nominate a putwarry or putwarries for such village or villages, and shall report such nomination to the collector of the district within three months of the promulgation of this Regulation.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. v.

180. The collectors shall, as soon as practicable, prepare a register of the putwarries in their respective districts, showing the name of each individual, and the village or villages in which he officiates.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. vi.

181. Whenever a vacancy may occur in the office of putwarry, such vacancy shall be filled on the nomination of the zemindar, or other landholder or farmer, engaging with Government for the public revenue, who is hereby enjoined to report such nomination to the collector of the district within one month after the vacancy has taken place; provided, however, that in such nomination the zemindar, or other landholder or farmer, shall be generally guided by the custom which may heretofore have prevailed in the village, in respect to the succession of putwarries, and shall not deviate therefrom without previously obtaining the sanction of the collector; and it shall be the duty of the collectors carefully to see that this rule is observed, and particularly that the just rights of the inferior putteedars, or sharers in joint undivided estates, and of dependent talookdars, or other under-tenants of the lands, as connected with the appointment of putwarries, are duly maintained.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. vii.

182. On receiving the report of the nomination of a putwarry, as directed to be made in the foregoing paragraph, the collector is to insert the name of the party in the register of putwarries for his district, unless he shall see good and sufficient ground to object to the person so nominated as disqualified for the office,—in which case he is immediately to submit his objections to the Board of Revenue, and the Board will decide whether the zemindar or farmer shall be called upon to nominate another person, or pass such other order on the question as may appear just and right.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. viii.

183. The proprietors of joint and undivided estates engaging jointly for the public revenue shall be considered jointly and severally bound to furnish the collector with the statement required in paragraph 178, and to nominate a putwarry in the mode prescribed in paragraphs 179 and 182, or to show sufficient cause for their failing to do so.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. ix.

184. In all cases in which any village or villages, or any lands whatsoever, the accounts of which may be kept by a single putwarry, shall be held by two or more persons under distinct engagements with Government, it shall be competent to the collector, with the approval of the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, to assume the direct nomination and appointment of such putwarry, with or without a reference to the proprietors. But in all such cases the collector shall deviate as little as possible from established usage, and shall be careful to consult the inclinations, and maintain the interests, of all persons connected with the mehauls in question.—Reg. I., 1819, sec. v.

185. In estates held khas, and in estates under the superintendence of the Court of Wards, the putwarry shall be appointed by the collector.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. x.

186. Should any zemindar, or other proprietor or farmer, refuse or omit to furnish the statement required by paragraph 178, or to nominate a putwarry in the cases provided for in paragraphs 179 and 182, within the time prescribed in those paragraphs, and shall fail to show good cause for such neglect or failure, it shall be competent to the collector, with the approval of the Board of Revenue, to levy a daily fine upon him, until a putwarry is nominated, or with such approval himself to nominate a qualified person for the office.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xi.

187. In explanation of the preceding paragraph, it is hereby declared and enacted, that if any proprietor or farmer of land shall refuse or omit to furnish the statement required by paragraph 178, within the period therein prescribed, or at any subsequent period, when called upon to do so by the collector, or other officer exercising the powers of collector, it shall be competent to the collector, or other officer aforesaid, with the approval of the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, to levy a daily fine upon such proprietor or farmer, until the statement required be furnished, to such amount as may appear proper, with reference to the circumstances of the case, and to the condition in life of the offender.—Reg. I., 1819, sec. vi.

188. Whenever a zemindar, or farmer engaging with Government for the public revenue, may wish to remove a putwarry from office, he is to state his reasons for so doing to the collector of the district, who, if they appear good and sufficient, will authorize the removal of the putwarry, but not otherwise.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xii.

189. Any zemindar, or other landholder or farmer of land, removing a putwarry from office without the authority of the collector, obtained in the mode prescribed in the preceding paragraph, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for the first offence, and one hundred rupees for the second offence; and if it should appear, on investigation by the collector, that the removal was unjust, and without sufficient cause, the said zemindar, or other landholder or farmer of land, shall be further subject to a daily fine, with the approbation of the Board of Revenue, but not otherwise, until the putwarry be restored.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xiii.

190 The penalties prescribed in the preceding paragraph, for the illegal removal of a putwarry from office, by a zemindar, or other proprietor or farmer of land, are hereby declared applicable to all persons whatsoever, who may, without due authority, remove from office any putwarry duly constituted or appointed; or who may oppose a putwarry so appointed or constituted, in the performance of his duties; or who may prevent his performing them, or who may resist or evade the entry of a putwarry, when duly appointed, into the possession of his office.—Reg. I., 1819, sec. vii.

191. Whenever the inferior putteedars or sharers, or the ryots or under-tenants of a village, may petition the collector for the removal of a putwarry, the collector shall direct such removal, and shall call upon the zemindar, or other landholder or farmer of land, engaging with Government for the public revenue, to appoint another putwarry, provided the reasons adduced for praying such removal appear to the collector good and sufficient, but not otherwise.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xiv.

192. Whenever a collector shall see ground to desire the removal of a putwarry for neglect of duty, or other sufficient cause, he is to state his reasons to the Board of Revenue, who will authorize the removal or not as may seem proper.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xv.

193. The duties of the putwarry shall be,

1st. To keep such registers and accounts relating to the village or villages to which he is appointed, in such manner and form as has heretofore been the custom, or in such other mode as may be hereafter prescribed by the Board of Revenue, together with such further registers and accounts as may be directed by those authorities respectively.

2nd. To prepare and deliver to the canoongoe of the pergunnah, at the expiration of every six months, a complete copy of the aforesaid accounts, showing distinctly the produce of the Khurreef and Rubbee harvests.

3rd. To perform all other duties and services which it has been customary for him to execute.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xvi.

194. The Board of Revenue will determine on the mode in which the accounts, rendered by the putwarry to the canoongoe, shall be brought forward by the latter, and recorded in the office of the collectors.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xvii.

195. The putwarry is to be paid hereafter in the same mode as he is now paid, whether in money, or in grain, or in land, or in any other legal manner whatsoever; but it shall be the duty of the several collectors to complete an account of the mode in which such payment is made, in the different pergunnahs, or other local division of their districts, and to submit the result of their researches to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board; and it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue, or other authority aforesaid, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to increase or reduce the amount of remuneration paid to the putwarries, and to alter or modify the mode of its payment, in any case in which sufficient cause for the adoption of such a measure shall exist.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xviii.

196. Where no putwarry has hitherto been appointed, the amount of the remuneration to the putwarry who may be appointed under this Regulation, and the mode of its payment, shall be regulated by the collector, with reference to the usage of the adjoining villages.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xix.

197. If the remuneration which a putwarry has heretofore regularly received, or which may be assigned to him by the collector, or other competent revenue authority, be denied to him by the parties who have hitherto paid it, or who may have been directed to pay it by the said authority, he is at liberty to complain against the person so withholding his dues to the collector, who will proceed to an immediate investigation of the facts, and decide according to the usage of the village; and the collector is hereby authorized to compel payment of the amount due to the putwarry, and to fine the offending party according to his situation and circumstances in life; provided always, that the fine in no instance exceed fifty rupees.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xx.

198. In all cases in which the decision of the collector is to be governed by usage, it shall be made an invariable rule to insert in the original proceedings on the case the attested report of the canoongoes of the pergunnah, as to the custom or usage in reference.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxi.

199. Collectors of land revenue are hereby empowered to summon the putwarry of any village or villages within their respective districts, whenever there may be occasion for his attendance, on any matter connected with the duties of his office, and to require him to produce all accounts relating to the lands, produce, rents, collections, and charges of the village or villages, the accounts of which may be kept by him, and to examine him on oath or affirmation to the truth of such accounts, and on any other matters relating to such accounts, or regarding the lands, produce, rents, collections, and charges of the village or villages to which the said putwarry may belong. When a collector shall require the attendance of a putwarry for the purpose above stated, he is to serve such putwarry with a written notice under his official seal and signature, stating the purpose for which his attendance is required, and the papers (if any) which he is to bring with him.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxii.

200. If any putwarry shall neglect or omit to produce his original accounts on the requisition of a collector, or to give his evidence respecting them, the collector is hereby authorized and empowered to cause the said putwarry to be apprehended, and to order him to be confined in the Dewanny gaol of the district until he produce his accounts, or show sufficient cause for not producing them. In such cases, the putwarry shall be sent by the collector with a roobakaree to the judge of the city or zillah, stating the purport of the order passed against him; and the judge shall on those grounds commit the putwarry to gaol, and detain him until he produce the accounts, or until the collector applies for his release.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxiii.

201. In like manner, putwarries shall produce all accounts relating to the lands, produce, collections, and charges of the village or villages, the accounts of which may be kept by them respectively, and furnish every information and explanation that may be required regarding them, whenever they may be required by any Court of Justice, in any suit that may be depending before the Court; and if any putwarry shall neglect or omit to attend with his accounts when required, for the adjustment of any matter or dispute depending in Court, the Courts are authorized to order such putwarry to be committed to close custody until he produce the accounts, or show sufficient cause for not having produced them.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxiv.

202. In any case in which a collector of land revenue shall have occasion to depute an officer to examine the accounts of any village or villages, he is authorized to require the putwarries to attend such officer, and the collector is further empowered to grant to such officer a commission to administer oaths or affirmations to the several putwarries whose accounts are to be inspected, inserting in the commission the name of each putwarry to be put on his oath or affirmation, and if any such putwarry shall neglect or refuse to attend such officer with his accounts, or to give his evidence respecting them, when duly required to do so by a written notice from the collector, the collector is hereby authorized and empowered to proceed against such putwarry, in the same mode as if he had refused or neglected to attend, or to give his evidence before the collector himself.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxv.

203. Any putwarry giving intentionally and deliberately a false deposition on oath or affirmation, when examined before a collector, or the officer of a collector duly empowered to take his examination relative to the lands, produce, collections, and charges of the village or villages to which he belongs, shall be held and considered guilty of perjury, and shall be liable, on conviction before a Sessions Court, to the penalties which are or may be prescribed for that offence in the Regulations; and any person causing or procuring a putwarry to commit the offence of perjury as above described is hereby declared guilty of subornation of perjury, and punishable under the provisions of the Regulations.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxvi.

NOTE.—A further punishment for perjury was declared by cl. 1, sec. xiii., Reg. XVII., 1817 ("CRIMINAL JUDICATURE").

204. In like manner, any putwarry who shall alter, fabricate, falsify, or mutilate the accounts of the village to which he belongs, or shall furnish to the canoongoe or collector false, fabricated, or mutilated copies of those accounts, shall be held and considered guilty of forgery, and shall be liable, on conviction before a Sessions Court, to the penalties which are or may be prescribed for that offence in the Regulations; and any person who shall cause or procure any such forgery shall be liable to the same penalties as those convicted of having actually committed the offence.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxvii.

205. The several rules in the existing Regulations, by which proprietors and farmers of lands sold, or ordered to be sold or divided, or under attachment, are required to attend or cause their officers to attend the collectors, or officers deputed by a collector, with the accounts relating to such lands, and by which such landholders and farmers, and their agents, are declared responsible for the fidelity and accuracy of such accounts, are to be held and considered in full force, unless where they may be distinctly rescinded, altered, or modified by this Regulation.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxviii.

206. In like manner, whenever an estate, or the portion of an estate, may be directed to be disposed of at public sale, or may be transferred by the private act of the proprietor or proprietors, or when an estate may be divided pursuant to a decree of a Court of Judicature, or at the request of one or more of the proprietors, or when an estate or portion of an estate may be under attachment, the collector shall be authorized to require the attendance of all descriptions of native agents employed by the proprietors or farmers of such estates or farms, in the management of their lands, or keeping the accounts relating to them, and to examine or to cause them to be examined on oath or affirmation, touching such accounts, in the same manner as he is authorized by paragraphs 199 and 202, to require the attendance and to take or cause to be taken the examination of putwarries; and if such agents shall refuse or neglect to attend the collector or his officer, when their attendance may be duly required, or to give their evidence, the collector is authorized and empowered to proceed against them in the same manner as is prescribed in the case of putwarries refusing or neglecting to attend.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxix.

207. Provided further, that the rules contained in paragraphs 203 and 204 shall be held and considered applicable to all such native agents employed by proprietors or farmers of land, in the management of their estates or farms, or in keeping the accounts relating to them.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxx.

208. Whenever a collector of land revenue, or other officer vested with the powers of a collector, may in any case connected with his public duty, but not provided for in this or any other Regulation in force, have occasion to require the attendance of a zemindar, or other proprietor or farmer of lands, or of the gomashtah, or other officer or agent of such proprietor or farmer, with the accounts of such lands, he shall report the circumstance to the Boards of Revenue. The Boards are hereby empowered to grant authority to the collector or other officer aforesaid, to require the attendance of the proprietor or farmer, or of the gomashtah or other officer or agent, with all accounts relating to the lands in their possession or management.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxxi.

209. A written notice shall in such cases be issued by the collector or other officer to the party whose attendance is required, stating the purpose for which he is summoned, and the papers (if any) which he is to bring with him; and if the proprietor or farmer shall omit or refuse to attend, or cause his officer or agent to attend by the time prescribed in the collector's requisition, with the accounts and information required, the Board of Revenue are authorized and empowered to impose upon him such daily fine, to be payable daily until he complies with the collector's requisition, as they may think adequate to his situation and circumstances in life; reporting, however, the amount for the information of the Governor-General in Council. The fine, when confirmed by Government, is to be levied by the same process as is prescribed for the recovery of arrears of revenue.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxxii.

NOTE.—The greater part of this rule is superseded, so far as it relates to the Lower Provinces of Bengal, by Act XX., 1848. See post, paragraph 222.

210. In cases in which, from local or other sufficient causes, it may appear impracticable or inexpedient to cause the appointment in any estate or farm of putwarries, in the mode herein prescribed, as, for instance, in certain estates consisting chiefly of hills and forests in the south-western frontier, and in very small mehauls, the accounts of which are kept by the proprietors themselves, it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue to suspend its operation in such estates or farms; provided, however, that in all such cases the person by whom the village accounts are kept, whether proprietor or farmer, or gomashtah or other officer, shall furnish the canoongoe of the pergunnah with such accounts and statements as the collector, with the approval of the Board, may direct, and shall be subject to the provisions contained in paragraphs 199 to 204, and the proprietors or others by whom they may be employed shall likewise be subject to the provisions contained in paragraphs 203 and 204.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxxiii.

211. No Court of Judicature shall take cognizance of the complaint of a putwarry against the landholder, or the tenants of a village, for refusing to remunerate his labours, nor shall any Court of Judicature take cognizance of any complaint against a collector, for or on account of any decision passed by him in virtue of the powers with which he is vested by this Regulation.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxxiv.

212. It shall be the duty of the collectors to furnish the Board of Revenue with a periodical report of all judgments passed by them under paragraph 197, and such judgments shall be liable to reversal or alteration by the Board, at any time within six months after passing the same, but not later.—Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxxv.

213. All sums adjudged by the collector in favour of a putwarry, under paragraph 197, and all fines directed to be levied by these rules, shall be recoverable by the same processes as arrears of the public revenue, and all such fines, when recovered, shall be carried to the account of Government. —Reg. XII., 1817, sec. xxxvi.

214. Provided further, that it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to suspend the operation of the rules contained in this or any former Regulation, regarding putwarries, within any mehauls in which the establishment of such officers, as prescribed in those rules, may appear to be inexpedient.—Reg. I., 1819, sec. iv., cl. 4.

215. Provided also, that it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue to suspend by proclamation the operation of the preceding rules, in the districts of Chittagong and Sylhet, and in any other parts of the country in which individual estates may generally be of inconsiderable extent, until they shall have determined, under the discretion vested in them by paragraphs 177, 195, and 210, the number of putwarries to be appointed or retained, the mode in which they are to be remunerated, and the mehauls to be permanently exempted from its general operation.—Reg. I., 1819, sec. iv., cl. 6.

VILLAGE ACCOUNTS.

216. The village accounts, which are required to be kept in such manner and form as has heretofore been the custom, or in such other mode as may hereafter be prescribed by the Boards of Revenue, shall be prepared in duplicate sets; one for deposit in the office of putwarry, and one for deposit in the office of collector of the district in which the respective estates or tenures may be situated; and wherever the office of a canoongoe may be established, a third copy shall be prepared and deposited in that office.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xii.

217. The several accounts required for deposit in the pergunnah and zillah revenue offices, as above stated, instead of being delivered at the expiration of every six months, as prescribed by the rules at present in force, shall be furnished in such mode and at such periods as the Boards may direct. They shall be open to the inspection of every person concerned, desirous of examining them. —Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xiii.

218. Any zemindar, farmer, or other description of landholder who may refuse or neglect to conform to the above rule, shall be deemed incompetent to oust any ryot or other tenant from the land occupied by him for non-performance of the conditions of his tenure or lease, or on any other pretext, or to distrain the property of any ryot or tenant, or sue him in any Court of Justice for an arrear of rent, or the breach of any agreement that may have been contracted by him.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xiv.

219. Any such suit instituted in a Court of Justice by a zemindar, farmer, or other landholder who has not conformed to the above rule, shall be nonsuited with costs; and should he proceed to oust a ryot or other tenant from the land occupied by him, or distrain his property, he shall be liable to damages on account of such illegal acts, to such amount as the Court awarding the restitution of such land or property may deem adequate.—Reg. IX., 1833, sec. xv.

ATTENDANCE OF PROPRIETORS AND FARMERS BEFORE THE REVENUE AUTHORITIES.

NOTE.—The following rules are in addition to those which will be found in paragraphs 86 and 162, "REALIZATION OF REVENUE," and to paragraphs 32 and 205, 208, and 209, of the present collection.

220. The collectors are generally empowered to require the personal attendance of any landholder, or other native inhabitant, within their respective jurisdictions, when the attendance of such persons may be indispensably necessary for the purpose of any authorized public inquiry, or to enable them to perform any part of their public duty, under the regulations or instructions of the Governor-General in Council or Board of Revenue. But a collector shall not cause the personal attendance of any landholder or other person, who may appoint an agent duly authorized to attend for him, if the attendance of the agent so appointed shall be adequate to the purposes required. Where a collector may have occasion to exercise the powers as above authorized, he shall issue a regular summons under his official seal and signature, specifying the name, designation, and residence of the party summoned, and the purpose or purposes for which his attendance is required. Any infringement of this rule shall render the collector liable to an action for damages in the Civil Court.—Reg. I., 1801, part of sec. x.; Reg. XXVII., 1803, sec. li.

221. By the preceding rule the collectors are empowered, in certain cases, to require the personal attendance of any landholder, or other native inhabitant, within their respective jurisdictions But no penalty has been prescribed by the Regulations for refusing to obey, or resisting, or avoiding compliance with, the requisition of any process issued under that rule. It is therefore hereby declared, that any person, being a landholder or farmer of land, so offending, will be liable to the penalties prescribed by Sections XXIII., XXII., XXIV., XXV., XXVI., and XXVII., Regulation XXVII., 1803 ("REALIZATION OF REVENUE"), under the provisions therein specified. If the offender shall not be a landholder or farmer of land, he will be liable to the penalty prescribed in Section XXVIII. of the said Regulation. The provision contained in this paragraph shall be in force in the ceded and conquered provinces.—Reg. VIII., 1805, sec. xviii., cl. 2.

222. If any proprietor or farmer of land shall omit or refuse to attend, or to cause his officer or agent to attend, when duly summoned by the collector, in any case specified in any of the said Regulations, by the time prescribed in the notice issued by the collector, or shall omit or refuse to furnish the accounts or documents required, and shall not show sufficient cause for such omission, the collector may impose of his own authority such daily fine, to be payable daily until compliance with the requisition, as he may think adequate to the situation and circumstances in life of the defaulter, not exceeding in any case the daily fine of fifty rupees; and the amount of such fine, accruing due from time to time, may be levied without further confirmation, by the same process as is prescribed for the recovery of arrears of revenue.—Act XX., 1848, sec. i.

223. The collector shall forthwith report the imposition of every such fine, and the amount thereof, and also from time to time the amount levied, to the commissioner of revenue, who shall report the same for the information of the local Government.—Act XX., 1848, sec. ii.

224. Every order passed by a collector under this Act shall be appealable in the usual manner to the commissioner of revenue and other superior authority, but no such appeal shall avail to prevent the levy of any fine so imposed pending the appeal.—Act XX., 1848, sec. iii.

225. Whenever the amount levied under any such order, issued for any default by authority of a collector under this Act, shall have exceeded five hundred rupees, the collector shall report the case specially to the commissioner of revenue, and no further levy for such default shall be made otherwise than by authority of the commissioner of revenue.—Act XX., 1848, sec. iv.

226. Nothing in this Act contained shall be deemed to repeal the power of imposing daily fines, and of levying the fines so imposed in the manner prescribed by the said several Regulations.—Act XX., 1848, sec. v.

227. The word "collector," used in this Act, shall be taken to mean any person lawfully exercising the powers of a collector.—Act XX., 1848, sec. vi.

228. This Act shall not extend to the North-Western Provinces of the presidency of Bengal.—Act XX., 1848, sec. vii.

LAND REVENUE OF CALCUTTA.

Act XXIII., 1850.

1. All assessable lands, not the property of the East-India Company, within the town of Calcutta, of which the rate of assessment is not known, or which have not heretofore been assessed, shall be assessed at the rate of three annahs for each cottah.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. i.

2. Lakhiraj tenures of land in Calcutta, of which uninterrupted possession has been held exempt from assessment for sixty years, shall be valid: no other lakhiraj tenures of land in Calcutta shall be deemed valid, unless the same are or shall be held under an unexpired grant from the British Government.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. ii.

3. If any owner of land within Calcutta, or any person holding land within Calcutta on lease from the East-India Company, shall, upon the written demand of the collector, refuse or neglect to pay any sum at which the land is assessed, or for which he is liable under his lease, the collector may levy the same by distress and sale of the goods and chattels, wherever found, of such owner or lessee, or, after written demand upon the tenant or occupier, and his refusal or neglect to pay the sum lawfully demanded, by distress and sale of any goods and chattels found upon the land, in the manner appointed for regulating distress for small rents in Calcutta by Act VII., 1847: and, for the purpose of any such distress and sale, the collector shall have all the powers of a commissioner of the Court for Recovery of Small Debts referred to in the said Act, and the collector shall have power to appoint any of his officers to perform the duties of bailiffs and appraisers, and of the chief clerk of the said court, as provided by the said Act, and all the provisions of the said Act relating to the said Commissioners and their court shall be deemed to apply to the said collector and his office in the execution of this Act.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. iii.

4. In the case of payment by any tenant or occupier, not holding immediately under the East-India Company, or the seizure and sale of his property, he may deduct the amount of the payment or levy from the next payment of rent to his landlord.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. iv.

5. The claim of the East-India Company for land revenue or rent has priority over all other claims upon the land, or to which property distrained upon the land may be liable.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. v.

6. If the collector's claim for arrears of rent is disputed, the process of distraint and sale shall not be stayed unless the amount claimed be lodged with the collector.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. vi.

7. Arrears of rent or revenue which shall become due to the East-India Company within the town of Calcutta, after the passing of this Act, shall be recoverable at any time within six years next after the same are due, or next after an acknowledgment of the same in writing has been given by the person by whom the same is payable, or his agent, and not afterwards.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. vii.

8. When a claim to hold land lakhiraj, or free of assessment, shall be set up under this Act, the collector shall inquire into the claim, taking such evidence as the claimant may offer, or the public records supply, and shall report his proceedings and decision in the case for the consideration of the revenue commissioner. If the commissioner is satisfied of the validity of the claim, he shall make an order accordingly, and such order shall be final. If he is not satisfied of the validity of the claim, he shall direct the collector to assess the land, leaving the claimant to contest the collector's demand in the civil courts as herein provided.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. viii.

9. Any person obstructing or molesting the collector, or any of his subordinate officers, in the execution of their duty, shall, on conviction before a magistrate of the town of Calcutta, be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and in default of payment, to imprisonment in the common gaol for a term not exceeding six months, or until the fine is sooner paid.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. ix.

10. The collector may punish any contempt committed in his presence, in open cutcherry or office, by fine, not exceeding two hundred rupees, and in default of payment, by imprisonment in the common gaol for a term not exceeding one month; from every such order, or fine or imprisonment, an appeal shall lie to the commissioner, whose decision shall be final.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. x.

11. The collector shall act in the execution of this Act under the usual control of the superior revenue authorities.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. xi.

12. The ground-rents payable to the East-India Company from lands in Calcutta are revenue within the meaning of the Act of Parliament 21 Geo. III., c. 70, and the Supreme Court of Judicature established by royal charter at Fort William in Bengal has not any civil jurisdiction concerning the said ground-rents, or concerning any thing ordered or done in the assessment or collection thereof.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. xii.

13. All actions concerning any trespass or injury committed by any revenue officer acting under colour of this Act, or concerning any claim in respect of any goods taken by or any moneys paid to any revenue officer under this Act, or concerning any claim of rent or revenue on the part of the East-India Company under this Act, shall be tried and determined in the civil courts established by the East-India Company at the sudder station of the Twenty-four Pergunnahs; notwithstanding that the cause of action, in respect of which such action is brought, arose, or the defendant therein reside, within the limits of the town of Calcutta; and every such action shall be brought within six months after the cause of action arose, and not afterwards.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. xiii.

14. The words "collector" and "commissioner" used in this Act shall be taken to mean any person lawfully appointed to exercise the powers of collector and commissioner respectively.—Act XXIII., 1850, sec. xiv.

SECTION "MISCELLANEOUS REVENUE."

WHEN the present work was commenced, the necessity of arranging the minor heads as a separate Section of the Revenue Collection was not so apparent as it became after further progress had been made. In the meanwhile, with the view of saving time, the Abkary and Sayer portion had been printed while other matter was preparing, and had been paged at the foot; and so in succession were all the other heads as they were severally printed. The arrangement of all the heads in one collection being now adopted, a continuous paging has been added at the top, commencing with the second head in sequence of the bottom paging of the first, which occupies 34 pages.

The annexed Table will, it is hoped, remove all difficulties in the use of the Section itself, and supply the absence of a general heading on the left page, as given in all the other Sections; the general paging will render it perfectly available for reference from the Index and the General Table of Enactments.

ABKARY.*

SUPERINTENDENCE OF THE ABKARY DEPARTMENT.

1. The collectors of the land revenue shall, in ordinary cases, be entrusted with the management of the abkary revenue, and shall be entitled to a commission of five per cent. on the net amount realized by them. The Governor-General in Council, however, reserves to himself the power of nominating any other public officer, or deputing specially any other covenanted servant of the Honourable Company, to take charge of the abkary collections in any district in which that measure may appear to him to be necessary; and officers who may be so nominated or deputed shall be entitled to exercise all the powers, and to enjoy the emoluments granted to collectors of the land revenue by this Regulation.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxxi.

2. Whenever a commissioner or commissioners shall be appointed by the Governor of Bengal, or by the Governor or Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, with the sanction of the Government of India, for the superintendence of the abkary revenue, such commissioner or commissioners shall exercise, within such districts as may be assigned and prescribed from time to time by the said Governors or Lieutenant-Governor, the powers, authority, and jurisdiction vested by the Regulations and Acts of the Government in commissioners of the land revenue in all matters appertaining to the abkary revenue.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. i.

3. Within the districts so assigned to such commissioner or commissioners, the Governor of Bengal, or Governor or Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces may appoint any duly-qualified persons, not being of the description specially provided for in paragraph 1, to be superintendents of the abkary revenue, and to vest them with the charge and management of the abkary revenue under the orders of the said commissioner, within such local limits as to him may seem fit, and the persons so appointed shall exercise all the powers of collectors in regard to this revenue, excepting the adjudication of cases of contravention of the laws relating to abkary.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. ii.

4. It shall be competent for the Governor of Bengal to vest any person appointed under the foregoing paragraph to the charge and superintendence of the abkary revenue, with the power of adjudicating cases of contravention of the abkary laws, in addition to the powers attaching to the office of superintendent of abkary revenue in the district or districts assigned to him: Provided, that no such superintendent, when so vested with the powers of adjudication, shall sentence any person to a fine exceeding two hundred rupees, whether commutable or otherwise, or to imprisonment for a term exceeding three months, except for a second offence under paragraph 139.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. iii.

ESTABLISHMENT OF DISTILLERIES.

5. Persons not being British-born subjects shall not construct or work a distillery, of whatever description, within the said territories, without a license from the collector of the district, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 2.

6. In like manner, persons being British-born subjects shall not construct or work a distillery of any description, at a distance exceeding ten miles from the town of Calcutta, without a license from the collector of the district, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, or specially appointed by Government to collect the duties chargeable on spirits manufactured by the said persons.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 3.

DISTILLERIES UPON THE EUROPEAN PLAN.

7. No person shall construct or work a distillery or distilleries after the manner in which distilleries are constructed and worked in England, at any place of which the distance from Calcutta may not exceed ten miles, without a license under the signature of three of the justices of the peace for the time being, acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs and the districts adjacent to Calcutta, upon pain of forfeiting all the spirits manufactured at such distillery or distilleries, together with all the stills, vessels, and other moveables appertaining to such distillery or distilleries, and also the sum of two rupees for each and every gallon, each and every still in such distillery or distilleries is calculated to contain, for each and every day on which he shall work each and every such still and stills in the said distillery or distilleries without such license. Any person wishing to construct or work a distillery of the above description is accordingly to make the necessary application for a license for that purpose to one of the said justices of the peace for the time being, acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs and the districts adjacent to Calcutta.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. ii., and Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 3.

8. It shall at all times be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in council, to invest such person or persons as may be judged proper with the powers and authority which, under this Regulation, belong to the justices of the peace acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs and the districts adjacent to Calcutta.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ii. cl. 4.

9. All persons not being British-born subjects who may construct or work distilleries as aforesaid at any place whatsoever, within the provinces subordinate to this presidency, as well as all British-born subjects who may construct or work such distilleries at any place of which the distance from the town of Calcutta may exceed ten miles, shall pay the still-head duty to the collector, or officer in charge of the abkary mehal, or such other officer as the Board of Revenue may direct to adjust or receive the same; and the powers vested in the justices of the peace, acting in and for the districts aforesaid, in regard to distilleries constructed or worked as aforesaid beyond the limits aforesaid, are hereby vested in the collectors, and other officers in charge of the abkary mehal, for their respective districts.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 5.

10. Provided, however, that when from local circumstances or other sufficient cause it shall appear to be expedient to suspend the operation of any part of the rules contained in paras. 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, with a view to the relief of the distillers from unnecessary interference, it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an Order in Council, to direct the said rules, or any part of them, to be suspended for such period as may, from time to time, appear proper, and in lieu thereof to prescribe such other rules relative to the payment of the duty chargeable to the passing and storing of the spirits manufactured, and of the stills, coppers, casks, and other utensils employed in the distillery, to the inspection and examination of the distillery, and the warehouses, godowns, or other places, used for manufacturing or storing the spirits, and to the furnishing of periodical statements and lists of the spirits and utensils aforesaid, as may from time to time be judged expedient; and for any breach of the rules so prescribed, the party offending shall, in addition to all other forfeitures that may attach to the act, forfeit to Government a sum equal to the penalty prescribed for a violation of the rule contained in the following paragraph.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 6.

11. On receipt of a license for establishing a distillery, the proprietor shall, within ten days, make a regular entry of every warehouse, godown, and other place used for carrying on the business of the distillery, or for depositing the said spirits in when manufactured, in a book to be kept for that purpose by the aforesaid justices of the peace acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs and the districts adjacent to Calcutta, or by the officers appointed by the said justices of the peace, in the manner hereinafter mentioned, attending upon and at such distillery, upon pain of forfeiting rupees one thousand for not doing so.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. iv.

12. Every distiller, five days before he begins to bring in materials for manufacturing spirits, shall make entry of all stills, coppers, tuns, butts, coolers, casks, and vessels, which he shall use in each and every distillery, with and in a book to be kept by the gauger appointed, in the manner hereinafter mentioned, by the said justices of the peace for the time being acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs and the districts adjacent to Calcutta, to attend at and upon such distillery and distilleries; and the same shall be duly marked by the surveyor, or in his absence by his deputy, or the gauger to be appointed as hereinafter mentioned; and all and every person and persons offending against this provision shall for each offence forfeit rupees five hundred, together with all stills, coppers, tuns, butts, coolers, casks, and other vessels, which he shall use without being so entered and marked, and the liquors contained therein.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. v.

13. The justices of the peace for the time being, acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs and the districts adjacent to Calcutta, and the surveyor and the subordinate officers, by the said justices appointed as hereinafter mentioned, shall be at all times, by day or by night, permitted to have free ingress into all and every distillery and distilleries, and into the godowns and other places appertaining thereto; and to make such experiments as may be necessary for estimating the amount of the duties, and to inspect and measure all stills and vessels used in manufacturing the spirits, and likewise to take gauges, and to prove all spirits so manufactured; and all and every person and persons who shall hinder or obstruct him, them, or any of them, therein, shall each and every of them forfeit the sum of rupees one thousand for every such offence.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. vi.

14. Every wash-still shall contain at least two hundred gallons, and every still for distilling low wines shall contain at least one hundred gallons; and all and every person or persons who shall act contrary to this provision, and use or work any still of less dimensions than herein mentioned, shall forfeit rupees one thousand for every such offence.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. vii.

15. The surveyor and deputy surveyor shall, previously to entering on the duties of his office, respectively take the following oath before one of the aforesaid justices of the peace:

"I, A. B., appointed surveyor (or deputy surveyor) of the European distilleries, do hereby swear, that I will, without fear or affection, render true and faithful accounts of all surveys, gauges, and calculations of duties made by me for levying the duties on the produce of the said distilleries; and that I will not be concerned on my own account, either directly or indirectly, in the manufacture or sale of spirits, made at any distillery of that description, and that I will not take any fee or reward from any person, except such salary or commission as may be allowed me: So help me God."—Reg. II., 1802, sec. viii.

16. The rate of duty on spirits, which shall and may be manufactured at the distilleries worked according to the European process, shall be levied on the produce of each still, at the rate of six anas per gallon London proof, to be augmented or reduced in proportion to the strength of the liquor.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. ix.

17. The duty and duties payable under the preceding rule on spirits, shall be discharged monthly, or oftener, should the justices of the peace acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs and the districts adjacent to Calcutta, or any three or more of them, think proper so to direct, and paid to them, or to such person or persons as shall be appointed for that purpose, under their respective hands and seals; and all stills, coppers, and other utensils used in each and every distillery, shall be considered to be mortgaged as security for, and liable to all the duties payable by the distiller or distillers, and in arrear and owing from time to time from or by such distiller or distillers; and also to all penalties, fines, and forfeitures, imposed by this Regulation, and be liable to be sold for the recovery of such arrears of tax or duties which may be due from the said distiller or distillers, and for the recovery of such fines, penalties, and forfeitures.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. x.

18. In order to adjust the duty payable on the spirits, every distiller, five days before he begins to bring in materials for making wash, shall, upon pain of forfeiting the sum of rupees one thousand, give notice to the justices of the peace acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs and the districts adjacent to Calcutta, or to one or more of them, or to such person or persons as any three or more of the said justices may for that purpose appoint, under their respective hands and seals, of the day on which he intends to commence distilling, and such notice shall be considered to be in force for a period not less than two months. Every wash-still, after the working shall have commenced, shall be presumed to be kept regularly in work for two months from the day appointed by the said notice for commencing distilling; and no person or persons who shall have begun to work any wash-still shall withdraw the entry thereof until the expiration of the said two months, unless he or they shall make it appear that some accident has happened sufficient to justify his or their so doing, in the opinion of the said justices of the peace acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs and districts adjacent to Calcutta.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xi.

19. Every distiller, when he may be inclined to discontinue working his stills, shall, upon pain of forfeiting rupees one thousand for not doing so, give notice to the justices of the peace acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs, or to one or more of them, or to such person as they may direct, four days previous to the distilling being discontinued. At the expiration of that period the still shall be sealed up by the surveyor or deputy surveyor, or by any of the officers or persons by the said justices appointed as hereinafter mentioned; and the seal shall, on no account, be destroyed or broken or removed, except in presence of the surveyor or his deputy, or of such persons as shall be by any one or more of the said justices for that purpose authorized, on due notice given by the proprietor or proprietors of the time when he or they intend again to work the still or stills, in the manner directed in the preceding rule, upon pain of forfeiting the sum of rupees one thousand.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xii.

20. An officer appointed as hereinafter mentioned by the justices of the peace acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs, or by three or more of them, shall take and keep a regular account of all spirits conveyed from each and every distillery to the godowns, warehouses, and other places where such spirits are usually kept, exhibiting the quantity and strength of such spirits, and he shall transmit a regular account thereof weekly to the said justices; and all and every person and persons who shall hinder or obstruct the said officer in taking or attempting to take the said account, shall forfeit the sum of one thousand rupees for every such offence.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xiii.

21. No spirits shall be conveyed from the godown, warehouse, or other place appropriated for keeping the produce of the distillery or distilleries, or from the said distillery or distilleries, unless to such godown, warehouse, or place appropriated for keeping the produce of such distillery or distilleries, and entered as aforesaid, without a pass from and under the hand and seal of one or more of the said justices, on pain of the spirits so taken away being forfeited, together with the casks, boats, horses, and other cattle employed in the transportation of it; which rule is to be considered applicable, and shall be applicable to the spirits which may have been already manufactured and may be in store on the passing of this Regulation; and the said spirits, so forfeited, may be seized by any officer appointed as hereinafter mentioned.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xiv.

22. Any person opposing the surveyor or other officer in the execution of the duty committed to such officer under this Regulation, or otherwise infringing any of the rules contained in this Regulation, shall, in addition to all other forfeitures, on proof thereof made to the satisfaction of two or more of the said justices of the peace acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs, forfeit his license for working any distillery or distilleries.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xv.

23. Persons exporting spirits made at distilleries constructed and worked after the manner in which distilleries are constructed and worked in England, shall be entitled to a drawback of a moiety of the duty paid by them at the place of manufacture, that is to say, three anas per gallon, on producing a certificate from the commander of the vessel that the spirits have been actually shipped for that purpose. The drawback payable on the exportation of all such spirits shall be paid by the collector of customs, and the accounts thereof shall be adjusted in such manner as the Governor-General in Council may direct.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xvi., and Reg. VII., 1824, sec. iii., cl. 1.

24. Spirits manufactured within any of the foreign settlements on the river Hooghly shall not be carried out of the limits of such settlements until a duty equal to the still-head duty chargeable on spirits manufactured as aforesaid shall have been paid to the collector at Hooghly, or such other officer as the Governor-General in Council may appoint, and a pass for the same obtained from such officer.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. iii., cl. 2.

25. An officer, appointed as hereinafter mentioned, shall attend at the custom-house on the part of the said justices, to gauge and prove the spirits which may be entered at the custom-house for exportation; and if the strength of such spirits shall be above or under London proof, the rate of drawback shall be augmented or reduced in proportion to the quality of the liquor. Such drawback is to be paid in conformity to a certificate to be furnished by the officer employed in the execution of the above duty, countersigned by one of the said justices of the peace.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xvii.

26. No spirits shall be deemed to be intended for exportation unless the quantity shall be one thousand gallons or upwards.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xviii.

27. Spirits intended for exportation shall not be shipped, nor shall any drawback be paid on account of such spirits, until the vessel shall have taken on board her pilot; nor shall any spirits be shipped from any other place except the custom-house. Nothing contained in this Regulation shall be construed to preclude the custom-master from levying the commission on the exportation of spirits, to which he and his assistant are or may be entitled by any Regulation for the collection of Government customs.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xix.

28. Any spirits which shall be shipped for exportation, and shall afterwards be relanded without a special license, under the hand and seal of one or more of the said justices of the peace, shall be forfeited, together with the casks and vessels in which such spirits shall be contained, and the carts, boats, horses, bullocks, and other cattle employed in transporting the same.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xx.

29. Whenever any spirits or other articles or things shall be forfeited, under any of the rules or provisions of this Regulation, the produce thereof, when sold as hereinafter mentioned, shall, after deducting the expenses attending the same, and the drawback (in cases where a drawback has been paid, which drawback shall be repaid to the custom-master on account of Government), be divided as follows:

|---|---|
| To the informer | Two-fifths. |
| To the officer making the seizure | One-fifth. |
| To the surveyor | One-fifth. |
| To his deputy | One-fifth. |

—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xxi.

30. The justices of the peace for the time being acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs and the districts adjacent to Calcutta, or any three or more of them, are hereby authorized to constitute and appoint a surveyor, and a deputy surveyor, and proper gaugers and other officers, under their hands and seals, for the purpose of carrying the several rules and provisions made in and by this Regulation into full force and effect.—Reg. II., 1802, sec. xxviii.

31. If any officer appointed as hereinbefore mentioned have cause to suspect that any spirits manufactured at any distillery or distilleries constructed and worked according to the European manner, or any still or stills, copper or coppers, tun or tuns, butt or butts, cooler or coolers, cask or casks, or other vessel or vessels, implement or implements, used or to be used in such distillery or distilleries as aforesaid, worked or to be worked according to the European manner, is or are fraudulently concealed in any place or places, that then, upon oath made by such officer before one or more of the said justices of the peace for the time being acting in and for the Twenty-four Pergunnahs, or acting in and for the zillah wherein such stills, coppers, tuns, butts, coolers, casks, or vessels, or any of them, are so suspected to be concealed, setting forth the grounds of his suspicion, it shall be lawful for such justice or justices, if he or they judge it reasonable, by special warrant under his or their hand and seal, to authorize such officer, by day or by night, to enter into such place or places, and to seize and carry away all and every such spirits, stills, coppers, tuns, butts, coolers, casks, vessels, or other implements so fraudulently concealed, and if any person or persons hinder or obstruct the said officer therein, he and they shall each and every of them, for every such offence, forfeit the sum of one thousand rupees —Reg II, 1802, sec xxix

32 Whenever any spirits, stills, vessels, or other of the materials or things hereinbefore mentioned, shall be seized as forfeited by any person authorized as aforesaid, all such seizures shall, in a summary way, be heard and determined by one or more of the justices of the peace, or magistrates for the time being, acting in and for the zillah in which the same shall be seized as forfeited, which justices of the peace or magistrates, respectively, shall cause the persons in whose custody such spirits, stills, vessels, or other materials or things were found, to be summoned to appear before them, and upon their appearance or default, to examine into the cause of the seizure thereof, and give judgment, and upon condemnation thereof to issue out their warrants for sale thereof, and such judgments shall be final —Reg II, 1802, sec xxx

33 Whenever any such spirits, stills, vessels, or other materials or things hereinbefore mentioned, shall be seized as forfeited, and no person within twenty days after shall appear to the person or persons who made such seizure to claim the same, then the said person or persons who seized the same may and shall, after the expiration of the said twenty days, cause notice to be given in the Calcutta Gazette, or at the cutcherry of the magistrate of the zillah in which the same shall be seized as forfeited, signifying the place where, and the day and time of the day that the said justices of the peace or magistrates, respectively, in the last paragraph mentioned, will proceed to hear the matter of such seizure and to the condemnation thereof In which case the said justices of the peace or magistrates, respectively, are to proceed to examine into the cause of such seizure, and to give judgment for the condemnation of such of the said spirits, stills, vessels, or other materials or things, as upon such examination shall appear to them to be forfeited, and upon condemnation thereof to issue their respective warrant or warrants, under their hands and seals, for the sale thereof, and the said judgment shall be final, and as if the owners, or persons to whom the same belonged, or in whose custody the same was or were, had been summoned to attend the said justices or magistrates, respectively —Reg II, 1802, sec xxxi

34 Every person who shall neglect to pay the duties in and by this Regulation set and imposed, at the respective time and times appointed and to be appointed, as hereinbefore mentioned, shall forfeit for each and every rupee of the said duty or duties the sum of one rupee and one ana The said forfeitures to be levied upon their goods and chattels, or otherwise recovered, as hereafter in this Regulation directed —Reg II, 1802, sec xxxii

35 All pecuniary fines, penalties, and forfeitures created or imposed by this Regulation, shall be heard, adjudged, and determined by one or more of the justices of the peace or magistrates for the time being, acting in and for the zillah in which such fines, penalties, or forfeitures shall be respectively made, incurred, or committed, whose judgment therein shall be final, and the said justices of the peace and magistrates, respectively, are hereby authorized and required, upon any complaint or information exhibited and brought before them of any such forfeiture, fines, or penalties made, incurred, or committed, contrary to this Regulation, to summon the party or parties accused, and upon his or their appearance or contempt to proceed to the examination of the matter of fact, and upon due proof made thereof, either by the voluntary confession of the party or parties, or by the oath or affirmation of one or more credible witnesses (which oath or affirmation they, or any one or more of them, have hereby power to administer), to give judgment or sentence accordingly, as in and by this Regulation is directed, and to award and issue out warrants, under their respective hands and seals, for the levying of such forfeitures, penalties, or fines by this Regulation imposed, together with the costs and charges upon the goods and chattels of the offender and offenders, and to cause sale to be made thereof if they shall not be redeemed within fourteen days, rendering to the party or parties whose goods and chattels they were the overplus, if any there be, after deducting thereout the said penalties, fines, or forfeitures, and the costs and charges Fifteen per cent of the penalties and fines or forfeitures so recovered, to be applied to him or them who shall discover, inform, or sue for the same, as in this and the rule above mentioned, and the remainder thereof to the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies — Reg II, 1802, sec xxxiii.

SUDDER DISTILLERIES.

36 In or near every city and town at which a collector or assistant collector (as at Chittra and Bancoora) of the land revenue is or may be stationed, a sufficient spot of ground shall be enclosed, either by a wall or other fence, according as the Board of Revenue may direct, to be denominated the Sudder Distillery of the district in which it may be established —Reg. X, 1813, sec iii, cl 1

37 No stills shall be constructed, kept, or worked within four coss of any of the distilleries above described, or of the boundary of the city or town in or near which they may be established, except within the circumference of the said distilleries or enclosures, and no person shall be permitted to introduce within those limits spirits manufactured at any other place: but this shall be held to apply only to persons introducing spirits within the said limits, without having a regular license or pass from an officer authorized by Government to grant the same, and shall not be construed to restrict the revenue authorities from granting licenses or passes, nor to affect their validity when granted.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. iii., cl. 2, and Reg. VII., 1824, sec. vi.

38. The rate of duty to be levied on the produce of the above mentioned distilleries, respectively, shall be fixed by the Board of Revenue, at or before the commencement of each current Bengal, Fussily, and Willaity years.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. iii., cl. 3.

39. The duty shall be paid (agreeably to the rate per gallon which may be established) under the preceding clause in the several districts respectively, by the vendor or other person by whom it may be removed from the distillery, and each gallon shall weigh 304 tola weight.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. iii., cl. 4.

40. No liquor shall be allowed to be removed from any of the said distilleries, but under a pass from the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. iii., cl. 5.

41. It shall be competent to the Board of Revenue or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, with the sanction of Government, to cause manufactories of the liquor denominated putchwye, or any other spirituous liquor or intoxicating drug, to which the system may be advantageously applicable, to be established in all or any of the districts subject to its authority, under the same rules and provisions as are prescribed for the establishment and management of sudder distilleries, in so far as the same can be applied, and likewise with the said sanction, to make such alterations in and additions to the existing rules and provisions relative to the management of the said establishments as may from time to time be deemed expedient.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 3.

42. It shall and may be lawful for the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, to direct the discontinuance of the sudder distillery or distilleries established under the provisions of this Regulation, within any of the districts under their superintendence, whenever and so long as such a measure may appear to be expedient; and in such cases, and so long as the said distillery or distilleries may be discontinued, the general rules applicable to places beyond the limits of sudder distilleries shall apply to the sudder station of the collector, deputy, or assistant collector, and its vicinity; the special provisions relative to sudder distilleries, and the places within limits thereof, being to the like extent, and for the like period, suspended.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 4.

43. Provided also, that it shall and may be lawful for the said Board, or other authority aforesaid, to fix the limits within which the spirits manufactured at any sudder distillery are exclusively to be sold, and the special rules applicable to such distilleries, enforced in such manner as may in each case from time to time appear to be expedient; and wherever the special rules aforesaid may so cease, the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors will of course become subject to the general provisions applicable to places beyond the said limits.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 5.

44. Each sudder distillery shall be placed under the immediate charge of a native superintendent, who shall be denominated darogah of the sudder distillery of the district in which it may be established; who shall keep an account of the quantity and strength of the spirits manufactured in the distillery, and who shall be responsible to the collector or assistant collector that no liquor be removed from the distillery without a regular pass.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. iv.

45. On granting licenses agreeably to form (No. 1) annexed to this Regulation for the sale of spirits manufactured in a sudder distillery, the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal shall adjust with the vendors the number of gallons which they shall respectively receive each day from the distillery, and the duty on the quantity so fixed, according to the rate previously settled by the Board of Revenue, under para. 38; and monthly passes shall be issued to the vendors accordingly.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. v.

46. A pass prepared agreeably to the form (No.2) annexed to this Regulation shall be granted every month to each licensed vendor, specifying the name of the vendor, the number and situation of his shop, and the quantity of spirits to be passed daily; and the darogah of the distillery shall certify daily on the back of each pass the quantity of spirits issued from the distillery, and likewise the hour at which the liquor may have been removed.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. vi.

47. Persons licensed to retail spirits, being the produce of a sudder distillery, who may be desirous of obtaining from such distillery a quantity of spirits exceeding the number of gallons specified in their monthly passes, shall, upon payment of the established rate of duty on such additional quantity, be furnished by the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal with an extra pass, to be prepared agreeably to the form (No. 3) annexed to this Regulation.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. vii.

48. It is to be clearly understood, that no spirits shall be removed from any sudder distillery, the strength of which may exceed twenty-five per cent. below London proof. If the process observed in the manufacture shall produce spirits exceeding that standard, they shall be reduced to that strength previously to their removal from the distillery.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. viii.

49. All persons who may be discovered in any attempts to evade the rules prescribed by this Regulation for the management of sudder distilleries, either by the establishment of stills within the prohibited limits, by the introduction of spirits manufactured at other places, or by attempts to convey spirits from the distillery without a proper pass from the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, or without the attestation of the superintendent, or exceeding the quantity specified in any such pass, shall, on conviction, be subject to the penalties hereinafter prescribed by paras. 105 to 113.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. ix.

50. A register of all passes which may be issued shall be kept by the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, and the passes shall be returned by the vendors at the expiration of the period for which they have been granted, and when they are no longer in force.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. x.

51. For the convenience of vendors residing in large cities and principal towns, the Board of Revenue are hereby authorized to sanction the establishment of two distilleries, but not more, for the supply of each of such cities and towns. In cases, likewise, in which the Board may be of opinion that distilleries can be advantageously and conveniently established at any of the other large towns in the interior of the different districts on the footing of the sudder distilleries, they are hereby empowered to have recourse to that measure; being careful, however, not to sanction them, except in cases in which they can be vigilantly controlled by the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xi.

52. It shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue to furnish the collectors, or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal, subject to their authority, respectively, with such instructions as they may deem best calculated for the internal control of the distilleries, especially with the view of preventing the admixture of noxious drugs with the spirits, of encouraging the introduction of an improved method of distillation, and the use of the best materials, and of preventing the illicit removal of spirits.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xii.

LICENSES FOR MANUFACTURE AND SALE.

53. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors, at places situated more than four coss from the sudder distilleries, or distilleries established on that principle, in the interior of the different zillahs.—Reg. X. 1813, sec. xiv., cl. 1.

54. The rate of duty shall be fixed by the collectors, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, at or before the commencement of every Bengal, Fussily, or Willaity year, in the several pergunnahs, or other known divisions of the different districts.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xiv., cl. 2.

55. It shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue to cause the highest rates of duty to be fixed which can be introduced, without giving rise to the illicit manufacture and sale of spirits.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xiv., cl. 3.

56. Persons proposing to take out licenses under this Regulation shall uniformly specify, in their application for such licenses, whether it is intended that the manufacture and sale should be conducted at one and the same place, or at different places, and licenses shall be granted in conformity to the forms (Nos. 4 and 5) annexed to this Regulation accordingly.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xiv., cl. 4.

57. A cabooleat shall be executed by persons obtaining licenses for the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors under this rule, in strict conformity to the tenor of such licenses.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xiv., cl. 5.

58. The rate of duty having been fixed under paragraph 54, and the licenses and cabooleats having been interchanged between the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal, and the distillers, the duty shall be levied at the expiration of every ten or twenty days, or at the close of each month, as may appear to the collectors or other officers in charge most convenient, subject of course to any instructions which they may receive on this point, from time to time, from the Board of Revenue.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xiv., cl. 6.

59. Any license which may be issued under these rules shall only be considered to authorize the establishment of one still. If the distiller shall be desirous of keeping and working more than one still, he shall take out a separate license or licenses, conformably to the number of stills, and shall pay increased duty accordingly.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xiv., cl. 7.

60. It will be the duty of the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal to adopt the necessary means to prevent the introduction of spirits manufactured under the foregoing rules into any place situated within four coss of the sudder distilleries, or of the city or town at or near which they may be established, or of any distillery established on that principle in the interior of any of the districts.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xiv., cl. 8.

61. The retail sale of spirituous liquors, whether imported by sea or land, or manufactured in this country, by whatever process, except under licenses from a collector or assistant collector or other officer duly authorized to grant such license, is and shall be considered to be illegal, and the rules of the existing Regulations, whereby certain penalties are prescribed for the illicit sale and manufacture of spirituous liquors, shall be held to be equally applicable to all descriptions of spirits, unless otherwise specially provided. In like manner the retail sale of wines, or fermented liquors of any description, except under license, is hereby prohibited, under pain of the same penalties as are prescribed for the illicit sale of spirituous liquors.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 1.

62. Persons not being British-born subjects shall not, within the said territories, sell spirits or wines of any kind, whether imported by sea or land, or manufactured in the country, without a license from the collector of the district, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 2.

63. In like manner, persons being British-born subjects shall not retail spirits or wines of any kind in any part of the territories dependent on this presidency, without a license from the collector of the district, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, or specially appointed by Government to collect the duties chargeable on spirits manufactured by the said persons.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 3.

64. The wholesale vend of wines and spirits beyond the limits of Calcutta, excepting under licenses from the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, is hereby prohibited. Persons receiving such licenses shall pay a fee of sixteen rupees for each license received by them.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. v., cl. 1.

65. Any sales of wines or spirituous liquors, in a less quantity than two gallons, shall be held to be a retail sale.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. v., cl. 2.

66. All persons receiving a license for the retail sale of spirits manufactured at any European distillery, shall pay a duty to Government of such amount per gallon as shall, with the still-head duty, equal the highest amount payable under the preceding rules, on spirits manufactured at the sudder distillery of the district in which such retail sale shall be conducted, or at the nearest sudder distillery, if there be none within the district, due allowance being likewise made for the difference in the strength of the spirit.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 1.

67. Licenses for the retail sale of spirits, manufactured in the sudder distilleries, shall be granted by the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, in the form No. 1 of the Appendix.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. v., and Reg. VII., 1824, sec. vi.; Act XXV., 1840.

68. All persons receiving a license for the retail sale of spirits, manufactured in Europe or America, of Batavia or Ceylon arrack, or of any spirits whatsoever imported by sea, shall in like manner pay a retail duty to Government of such amount per gallon as shall, with the duty of customs or other duty paid on the importation of the said spirits, equal the highest amount of duty payable on spirits manufactured at the sudder distillery of the district, or at the nearest distillery if there be none within the district, allowance being made for the difference in the strength of the spirits.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 2.

69. Persons receiving a license for the retail sale of wines of any sort shall pay a retail duty to Government equal to the duty payable under the above rules on proof spirits.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 3.

70. Persons receiving licenses for the retail of wines or spirituous liquors shall be previously required to enter into such agreements relative to the payment of the retail duty, and with such security as the officer granting the license, or the Board, or other authority under which such officer may be placed, shall, from time to time, direct; and any breach of the conditions stipulated in such agreement shall, besides the forfeiture of any penalty specially provided for, subject the offender to the penalties prescribed for the illicit sale of spirituous liquors.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. iv., cl. 4.

71. Persons desirous of taking out licenses for the manufacture or sale of spirituous liquors, intoxicating drugs, including taury, or putchwye, shall give the security of two responsible persons for the due performance of their engagements: Provided, however, that if any such manufacturer shall make a deposit, either in cash or bank notes, equal to the amount of the duty payable by him for twenty days, such deposit shall be received in lieu of the security to be otherwise required. —Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxvi.

72. Licenses granted under the provisions of this or any other Regulation, for the retail sale of spirituous liquors, taury, or putchwye, or of intoxicating drugs, shall be in force for one year only, from the date on which they may be granted, unless where otherwise specially directed by Government, or by the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, who are hereby declared to be competent, subject to the restriction herein after prescribed, to cause licenses for the manufacture or sale of the said articles to be granted for such periods as may in each case be deemed expedient; but no licenses or leases for a period exceeding five years shall be held to be binding on Government, unless they shall have been granted with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. vii., cl. 2, and sec. ix, cl. 1.

73. It shall also be competent to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, with the sanction of Government, to alter and modify the stipulations contained in the licenses held and engagements executed by licensed manufacturers or vendors of spirituous or fermented liquors, taury, putchwye, or of intoxicating drugs, as may from time to time appear expedient, any thing in the existing Regulations notwithstanding; and any violation by such vendor or manufacturer of the stipulations specified or engagement executed by him, shall subject the party to the penalties prescribed for illicit sale.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. vii., cl. 3.

74. Licenses taken out for the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors, intoxicating drugs, including taury, or putchwye, shall be liable to be cancelled, at the discretion of the collector or other officer invested with the charge of the abkary mehal, in case such manufacturer or distiller shall, in any case, fail to pay the duty for which he had engaged during a period of fifteen days: Provided, however, that if the collector or other officer shall have grounds to believe that such failure has arisen from unforeseen circumstances, and not in any design to defraud the public revenue, it shall be competent for him to postpone the annulment of the license during a period of fifteen days more.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxviii.

75. All licenses as aforesaid shall, at all times, be resumable by the officer by whom they may have been granted, or by any other officer exercising similar or superior powers in the management or control of the abkary department at the place or places to which the license may apply: Provided, however, that if in any case a license shall be resumed, or refused to be granted by the collector of a district, or officer in charge of the abkary mehal, and the party may consider himself aggrieved by the order passed by the collector in his case, he shall be at liberty to appeal from the order of the collector to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board; and the Board or other authority aforesaid will confirm, modify, or annul the said order, as the circumstances of the case may appear to require. Provided further, that if a collector, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, shall cancel the license granted to any retail vendor of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs, for any cause excepting for a breach of the peace, or a violation of any of the regulations or orders of Government, without previous notice of one month, the party whose license may be cancelled shall receive such compensation for any damage he may thereby sustain, as the Board of Revenue, or other authority aforesaid, shall adjudge, on a consideration of the circumstances of the case; but no suit for the recovery of damages alleged to be sustained from the revocation of a license by a collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, shall be entertained by any Court of Judicature.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. vii., cl. 4.

76. Taury shall not be sold, whether in a fermented or unfermented state, except under licenses from a collector, assistant collector, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, for which the vendors shall pay a certain daily tax to Government.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xv. cl. 1.

77. It shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue to determine, at or before the commencement of each Bengal, Fussily, or Willaity year, the rate of duty which shall be established on the sale of taury in the different towns and villages in the several districts subject to their authority respectively.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xv., cl. 2.

78. Putchwye shall not be sold except under licenses from a collector, assistant collector, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, for which the vendors shall pay a certain daily tax to Government.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xvi., cl. 1.

79. It shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue to determine, at or before the commencement of each Bengal, Fussily, and Willaity year, the rate of duty which shall be established on the said article in the different towns and villages of the several districts subject to their authority respectively.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xvi., cl. 2.

80. Intoxicating drugs, whether in a dry state or infused in water or any other fluid, shall not be sold except under licenses from a collector, assistant collector, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, for which the vendors shall pay a certain daily tax to Government.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xvii., cl. 1.

81. It shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue to determine, at or before the commencement of each Bengal, Fussily, and Willaity year, the rate of duty which shall be established on the sale of intoxicating drugs in the different towns and villages of the several districts subject to their authority respectively. Provided, however, that nothing contained in this section shall be construed to authorize the sale of the articles denominated muddut, or koppah, these articles being of a most noxious quality and highly prejudicial to health.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xvii., cl. 2.

82. Persons licensed to manufacture or vend spirituous liquors, intoxicating drugs, taury, and putchwye, shall be at liberty to surrender their licenses, on giving fifteen days' previous notice to the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, and paying a sum equal to the tax for that period, over and above the amount payable by them in the ordinary course, and under the engagements contracted by them with the collector.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxix.

ABKARY DAROGAHS.

83. For the more convenient collection of the duties on spirituous liquors, intoxicating drugs, and other articles, in places situated beyond the limits to which the operation of the sudder distilleries is to extend, officers shall be appointed by the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal, to be denominated abkary darogahs, for the collection of the said duties in all such places.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xviii., cl. 1.

84. The local limits of the authority of the abkary darogahs, respectively, shall be settled by the Board of Revenue, who will recommend to Government what allowances those officers should receive.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xviii., cl. 2.

85. The office of abkary darogah may either be united with that of tehsildar, in districts in which the latter office exists, or may be vested in separate persons, according as the Board of Revenue may deem most advisable.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xviii., cl. 3.

86. It shall be competent for persons holding the office of abkary darogah to apprehend and send to the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, any individual having an unlicensed still in his possession, or engaged in the illicit sale of spirituous liquors, taury, putchwye, or intoxicating drugs.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xviii., cl. 4.

87. In the cases mentioned in the preceding rule, the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, shall regularly proceed in the manner hereafter prescribed in paras. 105 to 113, with regard to other illicit dealers.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xviii., cl. 5.

88. It shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue to furnish the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal, with such detailed instructions for the guidance of the abkary darogahs, as they may deem best calculated to insure a faithful discharge of the duties entrusted to the said officers.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xviii., cl. 6.

LEASES.

89. In cases in which it may be deemed advisable, the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal, are hereby authorized, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, to let the duties leviable on the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors in any pergunnah or other known division of a district to farm.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xix., cl. 1.

90. No licenses or leases for a period exceeding five years shall be held to be binding on Government, unless they shall have been granted with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 1.

91. In cases in which an arrangement of this nature may be judged advisable by the Board of Revenue, an advertisement shall be issued, signifying that proposals will be received for a certain time for the farm of the duties leviable on the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors, and the highest offers, provided they be accompanied with good and substantial security, shall be accepted.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xix., cl. 2.

92. Whenever the duties on spirits may be let to farm in any pergunnah or other known division of a district under the foregoing rules, it shall be competent to the farmer to make his own arrangements with the manufacturers and vendors within the limits of his farm; and no persons, excepting those who may be regularly authorized by the farmer, shall manufacture or sell spirits within those limits, on pain of incurring the penalties established by paras. 105 to 113.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xix., cl. 3.

93. Nothing contained, however, in the preceding rules, shall be construed to authorize the collectors or the above-mentioned Boards to let the duties on spirits to farm, at any place included within the limits prescribed for the sudder distilleries.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xix., cl. 4.

94. Those Boards are likewise required to be careful that no arrangement of this sort be adopted, except in remote pergunnahs or other places where the manufacture and sale are not liable to interfere with the revenue derived from stills specially licensed by the collectors.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xix., cl. 5.

95. The Board of Revenue, and other authorities exercising the powers of that Board, are declared competent, under the restriction hereafter prescribed, to cause leases of the duties leviable on the manufacture and sale of spirituous or fermented liquors, taury, and putchwye, and of intoxicating drugs, to be granted for such periods as they may deem advisable; such leases to be liable to be revoked by orders of the said Board, or other authority, or of the Governor-General in Council, and compensation to be awarded in such cases to the party, in the manner above prescribed for the case of the resumption of licenses.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. viii., cl. 1.

ARREARS.

96. Whenever an arrear may fall due from any person manufacturing or selling spirituous liquors, taury, putchwye, or intoxicating drugs, including opium, it shall be competent to the collector, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, to enforce payment of such arrear from the defaulter or his surety, by the process which is or may be in force for the recovery of arrears of revenue due from farmers of land and their sureties, in the provinces subject to the superintendence of the Board of Revenue —Reg XVII, 1814, sec ii

97 The foregoing rule shall be, and be considered equally applicable to persons to whom the duties leviable on the manufacture and sale of the said articles, or any of them, may be farmed, and to the sureties of such persons Provided further, that the farmers of such duties shall be entitled to use, and cause to be enforced, the same means and process for the recovery of arrears due to them by the vendors and manufacturers of the article aforesaid, or any of them, within the limits of their respective farms, as zemindars, or other sudder malguzars, do or may lawfully use and cause to be enforced for the realization of arrears of rent due by their under-tenants, subject to the same rules and restrictions as attach to such zemindars and sudder malguzars in that behalf.—Reg. VII, 1824, sec viii, cl. 2.

TRANSIT

98. Foreign spirits, and spirits manufactured in this country, according to the European process, which may be found in transit without the proper pass, rowannah, or certificate, attesting the payment of the import, or still-head duty, not being evidently designed for the immediate private use or consumption of the owner, shall be confiscated, and the owner or person in charge of the same shall be subject to the penalties herein prescribed for the illicit sale and manufacture of spirituous liquors and intoxicating drugs, the said forfeiture and penalty to be adjudged, and determined and enforced, according to the rules of this Regulation —Reg VII, 1824, sec xi.

99 Certificates attesting the payment of the still-head duty shall be granted to all persons removing spirits from any established distillery, by the officer or officers entrusted with the collection of the same, or such person as he or they may appoint Such certificates shall be in force for one year only from the date on which they may be granted, but the owner of the spirits covered by any certificate shall be entitled to an exchange certificate for another year, on applying to the officer in charge of the abkary mehal, and satisfying him that the identical spirits are forthcoming, such certificate being renewable in like manner yearly A fee at the rate of two per cent on the amount of the duty specified in the certificate shall be paid to the officer granting a renewal of it —Reg VII, 1824, sec xii, cl 1

100 Any dealer in spirits being desirous of dividing a despatch of spirits, covered by a single certificate, into smaller quantities, shall be entitled to receive from the officer in charge of the abkary mehal as many parcel certificates as he may require, on surrendering the original certificate, and satisfying the officer that the identical spirits therein referred to are forthcoming A like fee of two per cent on the amount specified in the parcel certificates shall be paid to the officer granting the same —Reg VII, 1824, sec xii, cl. 2

PREVENTION OF ILLEGAL ACTS—PENALTIES AND PUNISHMENTS

101. A general prohibition being established against the unlicensed manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors, taury, putchwye, and intoxicating drugs, any person who may be convicted (in the manner herein described) of such illicit manufacture or sale, shall be liable to the payment of a fine not exceeding rupees five hundred, or in the event of the fine not being duly discharged, to imprisonment in the Dewanny gaol of the district in which such conviction may take place, for a period not exceeding six months —Reg X, 1813, sec xxi

102 The same penalties shall attach to any person not being a licensed vendor, who may be found in possession of any quantity of spirits or intoxicating drugs, exceeding the quantity which licensed retail vendors can or may legally sell or allow to be removed from their shops Provided, however, that the above rules shall not be considered to apply to liquors which individuals may have legally purchased for private use, and if the quantity may not exceed what the condition and circumstances of the party may render it probable that he should possess for that purpose —Reg VII., 1824, sec xi

103 If any British-born subject shall retail spirits or wines of any description in any place, of which the distance from the town of Calcutta may not exceed ten miles, without a license duly granted to him, he, she, or they, so offending, shall for every such sale forfeit the sum of rupees five hundred, to be heard, adjudged, and determined, according to the rules prescribed in para 35 —Reg VII, 1824, sec x., cl 1

104 These rules are hereby declared applicable to all persons, as well British-born as others, who shall retail in any part of the provinces subordinate to this presidency, at the distance of more than ten miles from Calcutta, spirituous liquors or wines of any description, without a license, as well as to all persons not being British-born, who shall retail spirituous liquors of any description without a license, in any place beyond the limits of Calcutta.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. x., cl. 2.

105. All investigations which it may be necessary to institute respecting the illicit manufacture or sale of spirituous liquors, wines of any descriptions, taury, putchwye, or intoxicating drugs, shall be conducted by the collectors of the land revenue, or other public officers intrusted with the charge of the abkary mehal.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxii., cl. 1.

106. Whenever any charge may be preferred, or information lodged on oath or affirmation against any person for the infringement of the prohibition noticed in the preceding rule, or whenever any reasonable ground of suspicion shall incidentally appear against any such person, from proceedings which may be holden by the collector in any other case, it shall be competent for the collectors or other officers intrusted with the charge of the abkary mehal, to cause the person charged with, or suspected of the said offence, to be apprehended, in order that a regular inquiry may be made into the merits of the case.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxii., cl. 2.

107. Investigations under this rule shall be commenced immediately on the arrival of the party accused or suspected at the cutcherry of the collector, and shall be prosecuted with the least possible delay. It shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue to require such periodical reports or returns, regarding the discharge of this duty by the collectors, as may appear to those Boards best calculated to enable them to judge whether the inquiries in question are conducted with the least possible delay, and whether the parties impleaded do not suffer any inconvenience which can be avoided.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxii., cl. 3.

108. Any person convicted before a collector of the offence of manufacturing or selling any of the articles specified in para. 105 shall be adjudged by the collector to pay such fine as, on due consideration of the circumstances of the case, may be deemed proper, not exceeding the sum specified in para. 101, or in default of payment, to be confined for a period not exceeding the term specified in the same rule.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxii, cl. 4.

109. Whenever any person may be adjudged to pay a fine or to be imprisoned for the illicit sale and manufacture of spirituous liquor, or other articles under these rules, he shall be immediately sent with a certificate to the judge of the city or zillah, stating the purport of the order passed against the person in question; and the judge shall, on those grounds, give the necessary directions for the execution of the order accordingly.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxii., cl. 5.

110. Persons who, after the investigation prescribed by these rules, shall not have been convicted of the offence with which they stood charged or suspected, shall be immediately released, and the expense to which they have been actually subject on account of the inquiry shall be paid to them by the collectors on the part of Government.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxii., cl. 6.

111. Persons deeming themselves aggrieved by any investigation instituted under this Regulation, or by the judgment passed by the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, or in any other respect, shall be at liberty to prefer their complaint to the Board of Revenue, either through the medium of the collectors or officers themselves, or by means of vakeels; and the Board, after calling for such information as they may require from the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal, shall confirm or modify the judgment given, or pass such other orders on the subject as may appear to them most conformable to the principles of substantial justice.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxii., cl. 7.

112. A moiety of any fines which may be levied under the provisions contained in these rules shall be paid to the person or persons through whose means the illicit manufacture or sale may have been detected.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxii., cl. 8.

113. In cases in which it may be necessary to imprison the offender, and in which a fine cannot or may not be levied from him, a reward of ten rupees shall be paid on the part of Government to the informant or informants, in lieu of his or their share of the above-mentioned fine.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxii., cl. 9.

114. With the view of restraining the illicit manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors, the collectors, and other persons invested for the time being with the charge of the abkary mehal, shall be deemed competent, in the cases hereinafter described, to issue search-warrants for the discovery of unlicensed stills or the produce of such stills.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxiii.

115. It shall and may be lawful for the Governor-General in Council to grant authority to such public officers or other persons whatsoever, to seize and detain contraband spirits within such local limits as he may from time to time judge necessary or expedient.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xvii., cl. 1.

116. Whenever any person not vested with powers of seizure by the general Regulations may be especially authorized to seize under the above rule, the arrangement shall be notified by an advertisement published in the cutcherry of the officer in charge of the abkary mehal, and in the Adawlut of the city or zillah within the jurisdiction of which the authority so given is to be exercised.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xvii., cl. 2.

117. Search-warrants, of the description of those mentioned in the preceding rules, shall not be issued, unless the collectors or other officers in charge shall have strong grounds to believe, either from charges specifically preferred on oath or affirmation, or from their own personal knowledge, or from information incidentally obtained from the proceedings holden in any other case, that spirituous liquors or wines are illicitly manufactured, sold, or deposited on the premises proposed to be searched.—Reg X, 1813, sec xxiv., cl 1.

118 Search-warrants shall only be executed in the day-time, that is, between sunrise and sunset, and if possible, in the presence of two or more respectable inhabitants of the village in which the house or place proposed to be searched may be situated —Reg. X, 1813, sec xxiv, cl 2.

119 All search-warrants which may be issued under the foregoing rules shall be addressed to the nazir, abkary darogah, or other officer on the fixed establishment of the collectors.—Reg X, 1813, sec. xxiv, cl. 3

120 It shall be the duty of the magistrates, darogahs of police, and other officers of that department, to support the officers of the collectors in the discharge of the duty which may be delegated to them under these rules Provided, however, that nothing contained in these rules shall be construed to authorize the officers of the collectors to enter the zenana or apartments of the women, in houses belonging to persons of respectability and credit, that is, of all those classes whose women do not ordinarily appear in public.—Reg. X, 1813, sec xxiv, cl 4

121. Persons who may be detected, by the means above described, in the illicit manufacture of spirits, or in selling or concealing spirits so manufactured or wines, shall be liable to the penalties established by para 101 of the present Regulation, and on judgment being formally passed by the collectors, it shall be enforced in the mode prescribed in para 109.—Reg X., 1813, sec. xxiv, cl 5.

122 Cutwals, darogahs of police, cutwals of military bazars, and other native officers invested with local jurisdiction, who may authorize, support, countenance, or connive at the establishment of any unlicensed shop or shops, in any place subject to their control or influence, shall, besides being liable to dismission from office, be further subject, on conviction before the magistrate of the zillah, to the payment of a fine not exceeding rupees five hundred the fine if not duly paid shall be commutable to imprisonment not exceeding six months.—Reg VII., 1824, sec xiii, cl 2.

123 Any person giving information by which a native officer shall be prosecuted to conviction, shall be entitled to a moiety of the fine which may be levied from the offender, but should it appear on investigation that the information originated in malice, or in motives clearly vexatious and unwarrantable on the side of the informant, it shall be competent for the officer by whom the case may be tried, to impose such a fine as may appear to be reasonable, not exceeding, however, in any case, fifty rupees, or to order the offender to be imprisoned for a period not exceeding fifteen days. —Reg VII, 1824, sec xiv.

124 If any proprietor, farmer, sezawul, tehseeldar, or other manager of land, shall authorize or connive at the illicit manufacture or sale of spirituous liquors, taury, or intoxicating drugs, whether in a dry state or infused in water or other fluid, within the estate or farm held or managed by them, he shall, on conviction before the collector of land revenue, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, be liable to the payment of a fine not exceeding rupees five hundred, commutable, if not paid, to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months —Reg VII., 1824, sec. xvi, cl 2

125 All charges of the nature specified in the above clause are hereby declared cognizable exclusively by the collector of land revenue or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding; and the investigation thereof shall be conducted under the rules contained in paras 105 to 113. Provided, however, that the collector or other officer aforesaid shall not in such cases issue a warrant for the apprehension of the person charged with the said offence, but shall proceed in the manner prescribed in Section LXXXIV Regulation XIII 1816, in regard to persons accused of acts done in violation of the rules of that Regulation —Reg VII., 1824, sec. xvi., cl 3.

126 Provided further, that the rules and provisions contained in Sections LXXXI, LXXXII LXXXV LXXXVI LXXXVII LXXXVIII. LXXXIX. and XC Regulation XIII 1816, shall be held and considered applicable to all cases in which persons shall be accused before the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, of acts rendering them liable to any of the penalties prescribed in this Regulation.—Reg VII, 1824, sec xvi, cl 4

127 The warrant of any officer authorized or specially appointed to adjudicate cases of contravention of the abkary laws, certifying the conviction of any individual, with a specification of the offence proved and penalty adjudged, shall be authority for the levying of any fine imposed, as therein specified, and for the detention of the person therein described in the civil gaol of the district, as may be therein prescribed: Provided always, that it shall be competent to the commissioner, upon appeal by the parties concerned, or of his own motion, to call for the papers and revise the proceedings in any case decided by such superintendent, and to alter or reverse the judgment passed thereon, and a like power shall be possessed and exercised by the Board of Revenue, or by any other Board possessing like authority, whenever they think proper — Act XXV., 1840, sec iv

128. Any officer employed in the abkary department above the rank of jemadar of peons, who shall receive information that any person without a license is engaged in the manufacture of fermented or spirituous liquors, or in the preparation of intoxicating drugs, or has on his premises fermented or spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs in such quantity as may render such person liable to the suspicion of secretly and illicitly trafficking in such articles, shall and is hereby authorized and required to take the deposition of the informer in writing; and if the information so given shall appear credible, so as to justify such proceeding, it shall further be competent to such officer to enter and search such premises as may be declared by the informer to contain the illicit articles specified in his deposition, and to seize all illicit stills and materials of the kind used in manufacturing liquors and preparing drugs, as well as all fermented or spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs, and to arrest the owner or occupant of the premises, together with all parties concerned in the transaction who may be found on the premises.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. v.

129. Except in cases already provided for by Section XVIII. Regulation VII. of 1824, if any person or persons shall by threats or violence prevent the lawful arrest of any person by an officer duly authorized to seize illicit stills, fermented or spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs, and materials for the manufacture of the same, or shall procure by unlawful means his release after arrest, or shall obstruct any officer duly authorized in making search for or seizure of any of the above-mentioned illicit articles, or shall rescue such articles after seizure, or if the party found with any such illicit articles in possession, or any other person or persons shall resist such officer in the execution of a legal process, such person or persons shall severally and respectively be liable, on conviction before a magistrate, to be sentenced for the same to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, commutable, if not paid, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months: provided, that such person or persons shall be further liable, in the event of an affray or breach of the peace occurring in consequence of his or their resistance, on conviction of the same before a competent tribunal, to such punishment as is prescribed in the general rules applicable to cases of affray and breach of the peace, in addition to the penalties above prescribed for the resistance of process.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. vi.

130. If any person shall wilfully and maliciously give false information in respect to there being an illicit still or illicit stills, or fermented or spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs, or materials prepared for the manufacture of spirituous liquors and drugs, in any premises, and so procure that such premises shall be searched, to the injury and vexation of the owners thereof, or of any other person or persons whatsoever, such false informer shall, on conviction before a magistrate, besides being subject to any other penalties or damages to which he would be subject under the general law, be liable to imprisonment with or without labour for a term not exceeding two years, and to fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, commutable to a further term of imprisonment for six months, if not paid.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. vii., and Act XXIII., 1848.

131. Whenever any officer of the abkary department, duly authorized under para. 128, shall arrest any person charged with an infraction of the laws for the protection of the abkary revenue, or shall seize any still, or fermented or spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs, or enter any premises for the purpose of searching for such illicit articles, he shall make a full report of all the particulars of such arrest or seizure or search to his official superior within twenty-four hours after the transaction has occurred.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. viii.

132. Whenever any person may be arrested by an officer employed in the abkary department, or by any other officer of other departments, duly empowered to make seizure of illicit stills or spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs, or materials prepared for the purpose of manufacturing spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs, the person making the arrest shall be bound to carry the party arrested with all convenient despatch to the officer of the department who may be competent to try the case; and no person so arrested shall be released until the case shall have been brought to judgment in the manner provided by law.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. ix.

133. Any officer who shall neglect to report all the particulars of an arrest, seizure, or search, within twenty-four hours after the transaction has occurred, or who shall delay carrying the person arrested to the proper officer with all convenient despatch, or who shall release or connive at the escape of the person arrested, shall be liable, on conviction, to dismissal from his situation, and to pay a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, and in case of non-payment of the fine, to further imprisonment not exceeding three months; and the sentence shall be adjudged by any officer competent to adjudicate cases of contravention of the abkary laws.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. x.

134. It shall be lawful for any officer employed in the abkary department to enter and inspect at any time, by day or by night, the shop or premises in which any licensed abkar shall carry on the sale or manufacture of fermented or spirituous liquors, or intoxicating drugs or liquors, in order to satisfy himself that nothing is going on in contravention of the abkary laws, or of the conditions of the license.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. xi.

135. If any officer of the abkary department be convicted before the magistrate of any district of having vexatiously and unnecessarily seized the goods of any person on the pretence of seizing or searching for illicit stills, spirituous liquors, intoxicating drugs, or the materials for manufacturing the same, or of having vexatiously and unnecessarily arrested any person, or of committing any other excess not required for the execution of his duty, every such officer shall, besides dismissal, be punished with imprisonment not exceeding six months, and with fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, commutable, if not paid, to a further imprisonment not exceeding six months.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. xii.

136. Whenever in this Act or in any other law the terms "officers employed in the abkary department" are used, they shall be deemed and construed to apply to such officers as receive salary from and are appointed by the persons in charge of the abkary department in the district, or such officers as the commissioner of the abkary revenue may by special delegation or appointment empower to act in relation to this branch of the revenue.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. xiii.

137. Every person holding a license for the manufacture or sale of fermented or spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs, shall preserve such license at the shop or premises specified in the body of the license, and shall exhibit the license on the demand of any abkary officer who shall desire to inspect the same; and any such licensed manufacturer or vendor who shall refuse or be unable to produce his license on the demand of any abkary officer, shall be liable, on conviction before a superintendent of abkary revenue, to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, and in case of non-payment of the fine, to further imprisonment not exceeding a like term.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. xiv., and Act IX., 1841.

138. One moiety of all fines realized from persons convicted of the illicit possession, or manufacture, or sale of fermented or spirituous liquors, or intoxicating drugs, excepting opium, and of the proceeds from sale of articles confiscated, shall, upon adjudication of the case, be awarded to the officer or officers who may have apprehended the offender or seized the illicit articles, and the other half shall be given to the informer, as provided in para. 112; and if no fine be realized, the commissioner may recommend, through the Board of Revenue, such reasonable reward, not exceeding the sum of two hundred rupees in each case, as may appear to him fit: provided, however, that it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue to prescribe by general order what classes of officers of the department shall receive reward, and what classes shall have no title to participate therein.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. xv.

139. Any officer employed in the abkary department who shall be convicted of conniving at the manufacture or sale of fermented or spirituous liquors without license, or by any licensed manufacturer or vendor contrary to the terms of such license, shall be liable to the same penalties that would be incurred by the offender at whose act in contravention of the law he so connived.—Act. XXV., 1840, sec. xvi.

140. Any person entrusted with the charge of a sudder distillery, or in any manner employed by the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, who may be convicted in the mode prescribed in paras. 105 to 113 of any fraudulent breach of trust in the execution of his duty, shall be subject to the penalties prescribed by para. 101.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xiii., cl. 1.

141. Whenever any person shall be convicted of an infraction of the laws for protection of the abkary revenue, after having been previously convicted of a like offence, he shall be liable, in addition to the penalty attached to such offence, to imprisonment in the Dewanny gaol for a period of six months; and a like punishment of six months' imprisonment shall be incurred, in addition to the punishment which may be inflicted for a first offence, upon every subsequent conviction after the second; and the warrant of the officer adjudicating any case under the provisions of this para. shall be authority for the judge or other officer in charge of the Dewanny gaol to hold the person described therein in confinement in such gaol, and for such time as may be specified and required in the said warrant.—Act XXV., 1840, sec. xvii.

CALCUTTA SPECIAL RULES.

142. So much of Clause One Hundred and Fifty-nine of an Act of Parliament, numbered chap. 52, of the statutes passed in the thirty-third year of the reign of King George the Third, as relates to the sale of arrack or other spirituous liquors, within the town of Calcutta, and to the punishment of unlicensed traders in spirits or spirituous liquors, within the said town, are repealed.—Act XI., 1849, sec. i.

143. In addition to the distillery or distilleries which may be established under the control of the collector of the Twenty-four Pergunnahs for the supply of the suburbs of Calcutta and of the villages and places lying within four coss of the city, another distillery shall be established in the vicinity of Calcutta, for the supply of the city itself, to be conducted on the principles established for the management of the sudder distilleries, so far as those principles may be consistent with the provisions of the Legislature for regulating the sale of spirits within the city.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xiii., cl. 1.

144. Spirits manufactured at the distillery last mentioned shall, on no account, be sold or consumed in any place except in the city of Calcutta, and under licenses obtained for that purpose from the collector. Any person infringing, or attempting to infringe, this rule, shall be subject to the penalties established for the illicit manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors by paras. 105 to 113.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xiii., cl. 2.

145. It shall be the duty of the collector of the Twenty-four Pergunnahs to concert with the magistrates of Calcutta the best means of preventing the illicit sale of spirits manufactured at the distillery established for the supply of the city in any place beyond its limits.—Reg. X., 181 , sec. xiii., cl. 3.

146. The collection of the revenue arising from the retail sale of spirituous or fermented liquors and intoxicating drugs, within the town of Calcutta, shall be under the charge of the collector of Calcutta, who shall perform the duties connected therewith under the control of the commissioner of abkary and the Board of Revenue, and all proceedings of the collector held under this Act shall be subject, with or without appeal, to their revision.—Act XI., 1849, sec. ii.

147. The collector may appoint constables, darogahs, jemadars, burkundazes, and other officers, for collection of the said revenue and prevention of smuggling; and the officers so appointed, beside their ordinary respective designations, shall be styled "Abkary Officers."—Act. XI., 1849, sec. iii.

148. Every person who shall sell, by retail, any spirituous or fermented liquors or intoxicating drugs, hereinafter specified, within the town of Calcutta, without a license for that purpose under the hand and seal of the collector of Calcutta, shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding five hundred rupees, for each sale; but this enactment shall not apply to wholesale dealers, selling such small quantities of beer, wines, or spirits as may appear to the collector to be intended only as samples.—Act XI., 1849, sec. iv.

149. A sale of English or foreign beer, wines, or spirits, in any quantity, not exceeding two gallons, or of Bengal arrack or rum or other country spirit, in any quantity not exceeding one seer, or of taury in any quantity not exceeding four seers, or of ganjah or bhang, or any preparation or admixture of the same, in any quantity not exceeding one quarter of a seer, or of churrus, opium, chundoo, or muddut, or any preparation or admixture of the same, in any quantity not exceeding the weight of five tolas, shall be deemed a retail sale within the meaning of this Act.—Act XI., 1849, sec. v.

150. The sale of Bengal arrack or rum, or other country spirit, or of taury, or of ganjah, or bhang, or any preparation or admixture of the same, or of churrus, opium, chundoo, or muddut, or any preparation or admixture of the same, in quantities larger than those specified for each article in the preceding rule, is prohibited; and every person who shall act in breach of this prohibition shall be liable to the fine prescribed in paragraph 159 for the illicit possession of these articles; but this prohibition does not apply to the sale of spirituous or fermented liquors and intoxicating drugs, imported into Calcutta, under passes from the collector or other officer duly empowered in that behalf, and supplied by wholesale to licensed retail dealers, or to the sale of Bengal rum under bond for exportation by sea, or to the sale of opium intended for exportation by sea, and covered by a certificate to that effect, issued under the authority of the Board of Revenue.—Act XI., 1849, sec. vi.

151. The Board of Revenue shall have authority, at all times, to regulate the form of licenses to be granted under this Act, and to alter and add to the conditions thereof.—Act XI., 1849, sec. vii.

152. Every person taking out a license for the retail sale of spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs under this Act, shall execute a counterpart engagement in exact conformity with the tenor of such license.—Act XI., 1849, sec. viii.

153. Whenever a license shall be granted under this Act, the collector shall be authorized to demand, in consideration of the privilege granted, such fee, tax, or duty as may, from time to time, be fixed, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue: and such fee, tax, or duty may be made payable in advance, or at such period as may be settled by the collector.—Act XI., 1849, sec. ix.

154. The collector may withhold or recall a license, if any such fee, tax, or duty be not duly paid, according to the conditions upon which the license is granted, or in case of a breach of any of the other conditions thereof; or, with the sanction of the commissioner of abkary, for any other cause, giving one month's notice of such withdrawal; and any person selling, by retail, any spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs above specified, within the town of Calcutta, whilst such license is withheld, or after it is recalled, shall be subject to all the penalties provided by this Act for the unlicensed sale of spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs.—Act XI., 1849, sec. x.

155. Any licensed retail dealer may surrender his license on giving fifteen days' previous notice to the collector, and paying a sum equal to the tax for that time, over and above the sum payable under the license.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xi.

156. It shall not be lawful for the justices of the peace for the town of Calcutta to grant a license to open or establish or keep open any hotel, punch-house, boarding-house, or any other house of public entertainment, within the town of Calcutta, in which any spirituous or fermented liquors or intoxicating drugs, above specified, may be sold to any person who has not taken out a license for the retail sale of such liquors and drugs; and any such license, granted by any justice of the peace, shall become void whenever the license for the retail of such liquors and drugs granted to such person is withheld or recalled by the collector under this Act.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xii.

157. The collector, after demand made in writing, may levy any arrear of tax or duty, due on account of any license granted under this Act, by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the person from whom the same is due, provided that no such arrear shall be recoverable after the end of two years next after the same shall have become due, or next after an acknowledgment of the same in writing shall have been given by the person by whom the same is payable.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xiii.

158. A breach of any of the conditions of a license granted under this Act shall, beside entailing forfeiture of the license, be punishable by a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and such fine shall be recoverable from the licensed dealer notwithstanding that such breach may have been owing to the default or carelessness of the servant or other person in charge of the shop. —Act XI, 1849, sec. xiv.

159. Any person, not being a licensed dealer, having in his possession, and any person carrying within the town of Calcutta, any greater quantity of spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs above specified, or any preparation or admixture of the same, except English and foreign beer, wines, and spirits, than the quantity specified for each article in paragraph 149, and not being protected by a pass or permit from the collector or other officer duly empowered in that behalf, shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding five hundred rupees, except in the case of opium, and in the case of opium, to a fine not exceeding the rate of sixteen rupees for each seer found in the possession of, or carried by, such person; and if such last-mentioned fine shall not amount to five hundred rupees, such person shall be liable to a further fine, not exceeding such sum as shall make the total fine imposed amount to five hundred rupees.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xv

160. Besides the penalties above specified for the illicit sale, possession, and carrying of spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs, all such liquors and drugs found in the possession of any offender against this Act shall be seized and confiscated; and the vessels, packages and coverings in which such liquors and drugs are found, and the animals and conveyances used in carrying them, shall also be liable to seizure and confiscation.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xvi.

161. Any abkary officer above the rank of a peon or chuprassy may enter and inspect at any time, by day or by night, and any abkary officer may enter and inspect by day the house or shop in which any licensed dealer shall carry on the sale of spirituous or fermented liquors or intoxicating drugs.—Act. XI., 1849, sec. xvii.

162. Every person holding a license for the sale of spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs, shall keep such license at the house or shop specified in the license, and shall show the license on the demand of any abkary officer, who shall desire to see the same, and any licensed dealer, who shall refuse, or be unable to produce his license, on the demand of any abkary officer, shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding two hundred rupees.—Act XI, 1849, sec. xviii.

163. Any abkary officer may stop and detain any person carrying any spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs, without a pass, or otherwise liable to confiscation under this Act, and may seize the liquors or drugs, with the vessels, packages, and coverings in which the liquors or drugs are found, and the animals and conveyances used in carrying them.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xix.

164. If the collector has good reason to believe, either from information given by any abkary officer or other person, to be taken down in writing, or from his own knowledge, or from the proceedings in any other case, that any spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs, liable to confiscation under this Act, are kept or concealed in any place, the collector, by warrant under his hand, may empower any abkary officer, above the rank of jemadar of peons, between sunrise and sunset, but always in the presence of a constable or other officer of the peace, to enter into every such place, where any such liquors or drugs are suspected to be kept or concealed, and to seize and carry away such liquors or drugs; and, in case of resistance, to break open any door, and to force and remove any other obstacle to such entry, search, seizure, or removal, as aforesaid; and to arrest and detain the owner or occupier of the premises, with all parties whom he suspects to be concerned in the unlawful keeping or concealing of such liquors, or drugs, whom he shall find on the premises. Provided, that where there is ground to suspect that such liquors or drugs are unlawfully concealed in any zenana, the officer charged with the execution of the warrant shall follow, as closely as may be, the rules for the seizure of property so concealed, adopted by the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William.—Act XI, 1849, sec. xx.

165. All constables, and other ministerial officers of the peace, are required to help the abkary officers in the due execution of this Act upon notice given, or request made by any such abkary officer: and any officer, who, without lawful excuse, shall refuse or neglect to assist as aforesaid, on being required to do so, shall be liable to the penalty prescribed by paragraph 171 of this Act, for abkary officers conniving at the escape of a person arrested under this Act.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxi.

166. Whenever any abkary officer, duly authorized under this Act, shall arrest any person, or shall seize any spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs, or shall enter any house or shop for the purpose of searching for such illicit articles, he shall carry the person arrested, with the illicit articles seized, with all convenient despatch, to the collector, and shall, within twenty-four hours thereafter, make a full report to the collector of all the particulars of such arrest, seizure, or search. And the collector, after such further inquiry as he deems necessary, shall forthwith either release the person arrested, or send him in custody to a justice of the peace for the town of Calcutta.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxii.

167. Every person, who shall maliciously give false information against any person for being engaged in the unlicensed sale of spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs, or for having in his possession, or carrying, or in respect of their being in any house or shop any spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs, in contravention of this Act, shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding five hundred rupees, or to imprisonment in the common gaol for a period not exceeding six months, or to both.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxiii.

168. Every person who shall obstruct or molest any abkary officer, or any person acting in aid of such officer, in the due execution of this Act, shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding five hundred rupees; and such person shall be further liable, if an affray or breach of the peace shall happen in consequence of his resistance, on conviction of the same before a competent tribunal, to such punishment as is prescribed by law for cases of affray and breach of the peace, in addition to the penalty above prescribed for resistance of process.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxiv.

169. Any abkary officer who shall delay carrying to the collector any person arrested, or any illicit articles seized under this Act, or who shall neglect to report the particulars of an arrest, seizure, or search, within twenty-four hours thereafter, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxv.

170. Any abkary officer who shall vexatiously and unnecessarily seize the goods or chattels of any person, on the pretence of seizing or searching for illicit spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs, or who shall vexatiously and unnecessarily arrest any person, or commit any other excess, not required for the execution of his duty, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxvi.

171. Any officer employed in the abkary department, who shall unlawfully release or connive at the escape of any person arrested under this Act, or connive at the sale of spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs, without license, or by any licensed dealer, contrary to the terms of such license, or act in a manner inconsistent with his duty for the purpose of enabling any person to do anything, whereby any of the provisions of this Act may be evaded or broken, or the abkary revenue defrauded, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxvii.

172. Any abkary officer who shall ask or take any gratuity, not authorized by any law or order of Government, or of the Board of Revenue, in consideration of doing, or of omitting to do, any act in his official capacity, and any person who shall offer a bribe to any such officer, in order to induce such officer to act in a manner inconsistent with his duty, shall be liable, for every such offence, to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxviii.

173. Whenever any goods or chattels shall be seized by an abkary officer as liable to confiscation under this Act, such seizure shall, upon information, exhibited by order of the collector, be heard and determined in a summary way, by any justice of the peace for the town of Calcutta; and such justice shall cause the persons to whom such goods and chattels belong, to be summoned to appear before him, and upon their appearance or default shall examine into the cause of the seizure thereof, and give judgment; and if such judgment shall be for confiscation of the goods or chattels seized, shall issue his warrant to the collector for the sale or disposal thereof, according to such orders as the collector may receive from the Board of Revenue.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxix.

174. Whenever any goods or chattels shall be seized as aforesaid, and within one calendar month, no person shall appear before the collector to claim the same, the justice shall examine into the cause of the seizure, at a place and time of which notice shall have been given by the collector in the Calcutta Gazette, and give judgment for the confiscation of such of the goods and chattels as, upon such examination, shall appear to him liable to forfeiture; and upon confiscation thereof, shall issue his warrant for the disposal of them, as if the owner had been summoned to attend the said justice.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxx.

175. All fines leviable under this Act, except under paragraph 182, shall be adjudged by any justice of the peace for the town of Calcutta, and the said justice, upon information exhibited before him by order of the collector, shall forthwith summon the parties accused, and upon their appearance or default, shall examine into the matter, and upon due proof made thereof, by the voluntary confession of the parties, or by the oath or solemn affirmation, in cases wherein a solemn affirmation is receivable by law instead of an oath, of one or more credible witnesses, shall give judgment accordingly; and in default of payment of any fine to which an offender is adjudged, he shall be liable, by order of the said justice, to imprisonment in the common gaol for a period not exceeding six months, or until the fine is sooner paid: and no proceedings shall be taken under this paragraph by any justice of the peace after the expiration of three calendar months from the date of the offence by which the fine was incurred.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxxi.

176. Whenever any person shall be convicted before any such justice as aforesaid of an offence against this Act, after having been previously convicted of a like offence, he shall be liable, in addition to the penalty attached to such offence, to imprisonment in the common gaol for a period not exceeding six months; and a like punishment of imprisonment, not exceeding six months, shall be incurred, in addition to the punishment which may be inflicted for a first offence, upon every subsequent conviction after the second.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxxii.

177. One-half of all fines levied from persons convicted of the illicit possession, carrying, or sale of spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs, and of the proceeds from sale of articles confiscated, except opium, and in the case of opium confiscated and declared by the opium examiner at the presidency to be fit for use, a reward of one rupee eight anas for each seer, shall, upon adjudication of the case, be awarded to the officer or officers who apprehended the offender, or seized the illicit articles; and the other half, or in the case of opium as aforesaid, a reward of one rupee eight anas for each seer shall be given to the informer; and, if no fine is realized, the Board of Revenue may grant such reasonable reward, not exceeding the sum of two hundred rupees, as may appear to them fit; and the Board of Revenue may direct, by general order, what class of abkary officers shall receive rewards, and what classes shall have no title to share therein.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxxiii.

178. All fines levied under this Act, the disposal of which is not specially provided for, shall belong to Government; but the Board of Revenue may grant any portion thereof, not exceeding one-half, as rewards to informers, or as compensation to parties injured by any proceedings under this Act.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxxiv.

179. No writ of certiorari shall be issued at the suit of any party out of the Supreme Court of Judicature, to supersede, stay, remove, or in anywise affect any information or judicial proceeding before any justice of the peace, in pursuance of this Act; and no judgment thereupon shall be quashed, except for error of law apparent on the face of the judgment.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxxv.

180. When any penalty or confiscation shall be adjudged by a justice of the peace under this Act, the commissioner of abkary, and in his absence, the Board of Revenue, within one month after judgment given, may call for the proceedings of the case (with which requisition the justice of the peace shall be bound to comply), and, if he or they shall see cause, may direct that the seizure, or any part thereof, be restored, and may remit or mitigate any penalty, and discharge the party.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxxvi.

181. All actions and prosecutions to be commenced against the collector or any abkary officer, or any person acting in aid of any such officer, for anything done in pursuance of this Act, shall be commenced within three calendar months after the fact committed, and not afterwards; and notice in writing of such action, and of the cause thereof, shall be given to the defendant one calendar month at least before the commencement of the action; and no plaintiff shall recover in any such action, if tender of sufficient amends shall have been made before such action brought, or if after action brought, a sufficient sum of money shall have been paid into court, with costs, by or on behalf of the defendant.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxxvii.

182. The collector, in respect of the duties to be performed by him, under this Act, shall have power to punish any contempt committed in his presence in open cutcherry by fine, not exceeding two hundred rupees, commutable, if not paid, to imprisonment in the common gaol for a period not exceeding one month: Provided that an appeal from any order passed under this section shall lie to the commissioner of abkary, and in his absence, to the Board of Revenue, and the decision of the commissioner or Board thereon shall be final.—Act XI., 1849, sec. xxxviii.

MILITARY CANTONMENTS.

183. No spirituous liquors shall be manufactured or sold within the limits of any military cantonment but under licenses from the collectors; nor shall any such licenses be granted by the collectors but with the knowledge and concurrence of the commanding officers.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxv., cl. 1.

184. Whenever licenses may be granted, under the preceding rule, for the manufacture or sale of spirituous liquors in any of the cantonments, the distillers and vendors shall be considered to be precisely on the same footing with respect to the duty payable by them, and all other questions connected with the manufacture and sale, as distillers and vendors established in other places.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxv., cl. 2.

185. Should the commanding officer of a cantonment be of opinion that any practical inconvenience is experienced from any stills or shops which may have been established in the said cantonment, he shall communicate his sentiments on the subject to the collector, who shall immediately order such stills or shops to be suppressed.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxv., cl. 3.

186. Should a commanding officer of a cantonment be of opinion that any inconvenience is experienced from any still or shop established in the vicinity of the said cantonment, he shall state his sentiments to the collector, who shall either order the still or shop in question to be suppressed, or refer the case to the Board of Revenue, who will order the shop to be suppressed or otherwise, or to be removed to a greater distance from the cantonment, as may appear to them, on consideration of all the circumstances of the case, to be proper.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxv., cl. 4.

187. The collectors being authorized, under paragraphs 105 to 114, to apprehend persons charged with the illicit sale and manufacture of spirituous liquors, and to issue search-warrants with a view to the prevention of illicit manufacture and vend, it shall be the duty of the commanding officers of cantonments to be careful that no obstruction be given by the people subject to their command to the officers of the collectors in the discharge of the said duties: Provided, however, that the collectors shall apply to the commanding officers, for their assistance, in all cases in which no public inconvenience is likely to arise from that measure, and shall uniformly report to them the result of the search.—Reg. X., 1813, sec. xxv., cl. 5.

188. If within any military cantonment, or within any limits around the same, to which the provisions of this Act shall be extended by an order of Government, to be publicly notified, any person not amenable to articles of war, or any sutler or camp follower, shall knowingly barter, sell, or supply, or offer, or attempt to barter, sell, or supply, any spirituous liquor, wine, or intoxicating drug, to or for the use of any European soldier, or to or for the use of any European or Eurasian, being a camp follower or a soldier's wife, without a written license from the officer commanding at the station, or from some person having sufficient authority from the commanding officer to grant such license, the person so bartering, selling, or supplying, or offering, or attempting to barter, sell, or supply such spirituous liquor, wine, or intoxicating drug as aforesaid, shall be liable, on conviction before a magistrate, to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, or in the discretion of the magistrate, to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding one calendar month.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. i.

189. If any person convicted of an offence under the preceding rule, shall be convicted under that rule of an offence subsequently committed, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, or to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding three calendar months; and in such case any spirituous liquor, wine, or intoxicating drug, within such cantonment, or limits, which at the time of the commission of such subsequent offence shall belong to, or be in the possession of such person, shall without further proof, be deemed to be in the possession of such person, for the purpose of being supplied to European soldiers contrary to the provisions of this Act, and shall be liable to be seized and confiscated.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. ii.

190. If any camp follower or military pensioner, or the wife or widow of any soldier, camp follower, or military pensioner, shall within such cantonment or limits, remove, convey, or have in his or her possession any quantity of spirituous liquor, or wine, exceeding one seer or quart, without a permit, to be signed by the officer in command, or such other officer as may be appointed by him to grant permits under this Act; every such person shall be liable upon conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and for any subsequent offence to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, or to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any term not exceeding three calendar months.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. iii.

191. The preceding rule shall not apply to any liquor brought into a cantonment for the private use of any commissioned officer.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. iv.

192. If any person, subject to the provisions of this Act, shall be found committing any offence contrary thereto, any police officer, authorized under this Act, may immediately, without warrant, arrest such person, and also seize any spirituous liquor, wine, or intoxicating drug, together with any vessel containing the same, and any thing used for the purpose of removing, conveying, or concealing the same, which may be found in his possession, and shall thereupon, without delay, take such person, together with the things so seized, before a magistrate or other officer having jurisdiction to punish the offender.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. v.

193. Any person, who shall obstruct any police officer in making any arrest, or seizure, under this Act, and any police officer who shall not, without unreasonable delay, take the person, or thing so arrested, or seized, before a magistrate, or other officer having jurisdiction to punish the offence, shall be liable, on conviction before a magistrate, to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. vi.

194. Any police officer, who, under colour of this Act, shall, without probable cause, make any arrest or seizure without a warrant, shall, on conviction before a magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, which fine or any part of it may be ordered by the magistrate to be paid to the person aggrieved.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. vii.

195. No police officer shall be competent to act under the provisions of paras 192 of this Act, unless he shall have a general, or special authority so to do, granted to him in writing by the commanding officer or other officer empowered by him to grant the same, or by the officer in the immediate charge of the police.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. viii.

196. In case of a conviction for any offence under this Act, the convicting magistrate may adjudge any liquor, wine, or intoxicating drug, in respect of which the party shall be convicted, and any other spirituous liquor, wine, or intoxicating drug, which shall be found in his possession at the time of committing the offence, and any vessel containing the same, together with any thing used for the purpose of conveying, removing, or concealing the same, or any part thereof, to be confiscated; and such magistrate may order the whole, or any part or parts of any fine imposed under this Act, to be paid, as soon as the same shall be realized, to the person upon whose information such conviction shall take place, or to the officer who shall have apprehended the offender, or seized any of the goods adjudged to be confiscated.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. ix.

197. A magistrate may order any thing seized under the provisions of this Act, in respect of which any person shall be charged with an offence, to be detained until the person in whose possession the same shall have been seized shall be convicted, or acquitted of the offence charged. If the person shall be acquitted, the things so seized shall be restored; if he shall be convicted, such of the things only, if any, as shall not be adjudged by a magistrate to be confiscated, shall be restored; the remainder shall be dealt with as confiscated.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. x.

198. No appeal shall lie from any order or conviction under the provisions of this Act.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. xi.

199. European British subjects shall be amenable to the jurisdiction of a magistrate for any offence against the provisions of this Act.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. xii.

200. This Act shall not apply to the sale, or supply of any article for medicinal purposes, by recognized medical practitioners, chemists, or druggists.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. xiv.

201. In the construction of this Act the word "cantonment" shall include a "fortress, or garrison" or military bazar station; the word "soldier" shall include any non-commissioned officer; the word "magistrate" shall include a joint magistrate, or any person lawfully exercising the powers of a magistrate, or a justice of the peace; the words "spirituous liquor" shall include toddy in a state of fermentation, or after it has been fermented. Words in the singular number shall include the plural, and words denoting the masculine gender shall include the feminine.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. xv.

202. This Act shall not come into operation before the 1st day of January 1854, and shall not take effect within any limits around a cantonment which shall be specified in any order of Government before the expiration of one month from the date of the notification of such order, and any order for extending the provisions of this Act to any limits around a cantonment may from time to time be varied, altered, or suspended by Government.—Act XVIII., 1853, sec. xvi.

SAYER.

1.—Rules for the Resumption of the Sayer, passed on the 11th June, 1790.

First. Article 1st. No landholder, or other person, of whatever description, shall be allowed to collect, in future, any tax or duty of any denomination; but all taxes and duties shall be hereafter levied, on the part of Government, by officers duly appointed for that purpose, under such Regulations as may be passed for their guidance.

Second. 2nd. No monthly or annual payments now made, or which may be hereafter made, for the use of land, or houses, shops, or other buildings erected thereon, being clearly of the nature of rents and not duties or taxes, are to be understood to be within this prohibition, but all such rents are to be enjoyed by the proprietors entitled thereto as heretofore.

Third. 3rd. The collectors, in resuming gunges, hauts, and bazaars, as already ordered, are to attend carefully to the distinctions contained in the two preceding articles, resuming universally whatever collections come within the first, and avoiding generally any resumption of the rents described in the second.

Fourth. 4th. The collectors are to appoint competent persons to the management of the several gunges, hauts, and bazaars, within their respective jurisdictions, with orders to keep the most particular accounts of their receipts during the current year, distinguishing, as far as possible, the articles on which the duties may be collected by them, as well as the nature and rate of each, and with the following general instructions, in addition to such as they may from local circumstances think necessary. To discontinue all rahdarry, chelunta, and other collections of every denomination prohibited by the orders of Government. To discontinue all monopolies and exclusive privileges for the manufacture or sale of particular articles, and establish in lieu of them, with the sanction of the collectors, a moderate duty on such articles, to be levied at the time of manufacture or sale. To collect all existing duties as far as may be compatible with these principles, according to their present rates, to the end of the current year.

Fifth. 5th. At the end of the current year, the collectors are to transmit abstracts of the accounts delivered by the several agents employed by them in the collection of duties, with such remarks as may be necessary for full information of the nature of the several articles of collection, and specific propositions for the regulation thereof in future.

Sixth. 6th. The collectors are to propose such establishments as they may think necessary for the collection of the duties within their respective districts for the current year, observing therein the greatest possible attention to economy, and that such establishments are to be decided on by the Board of Revenue.

Seventh. 7th. The gunge, haut, bazaar, and other duties (the abkary only excepted) which may be collected during the current year on la-khiraj land, and of which no part has hitherto been received by Government, are, after deducting the amount of the establishment approved by the Board of Revenue, to be paid monthly to the persons who would have been entitled to receive the same, in case the collection had not been taken into the hands of Government on receipts for the amount so paid.

Eighth. 8th. The land revenue is to be adjusted, according to the rules already prescribed for the decennial settlement, on the assets of the malguzarry land, exclusive of the duties resumed, and that of the gunge, haut, bazaar, and other duties (the abkary excepted) which may be collected during the current year on malguzarry land, or which have hitherto been a source of revenue to Government, after deducting the amount of the approved establishment, one-tenth is to be paid to the proprietors of the land wherein the duties shall be collected, and the remaining nine-tenths are to be carried to the credit of Government. Disputed claims to this allowance are to be decided on in the first instance by the collectors, subject to an appeal to the Board of Revenue within the period prescribed for appeal by the existing Regulations.

Ninth. 9th. It shall be notified to all persons who have hitherto exercised the privilege of collecting gunge, bazaar, haut, and other duties, whether on la-khiraj or malguzarry land, that they are at liberty to appoint agents, on their parts, to keep counterpart accounts of the collections made by the officers of Government during the current year; and that, in the event of their appointing such, the collectors are to require the officers employed by them to obtain the joint signature of these agents to the several accounts transmitted by them.

Tenth. 10th. The holders of all gunges, bazaars, hauts, &c. are informed, that it is the intention of Government to make them an equitable compensation hereafter, adequate to the profit they were entitled to from all duties collected by them with due authority, or by usage commencing previous to the Company's acquisition of the dewanny; and they are required, in order to enable Government to determine on the compensation to be made to them, to exhibit before the collectors, within three months from the date of a public notice to be issued to that effect, the titles by which they have levied the gunge, bazaar, haut and other duties collected by them respectively, or proof of their having established the same before the Company acquired the dewanny.

Eleventh. 11*th.* The collectors, on exhibition of the vouchers and proofs offered in pursuance of these Regulations, or as soon afterwards as circumstances may admit, are to enter into a full examination of the same, and to transmit their proceedings at large, with a summary, to the Board of Revenue, at the close of the current year, together with the abstracts required in the fifth article, adding, in every instance, their opinion how far the right of collection appears to be established, or otherwise. The Board of Revenue, on receipt of these reports, are to forward the same, with their opinion on each case, after requiring any further information they may think necessary, to the Governor-General in Council, who will then determine on the right of the several parties to a compensation, as well as on the mode of making the same.

Twelfth. 12*th.* All persons exacting duties contrary to these Regulations, whether principals or accessories, are declared liable to prosecution in the Courts of Dewanny Adawlut, the judges of which are to hear and determine the cause within ten days after its institution, and on proof of the exaction are to decree heavy damages, with all costs, to the party injured, according to the circumstances of the offenders, and enforce the payment thereof by the customary process.

Thirteenth. 13*th.* Where persons may be in receipt of pensions for charitable or religious purposes, from the gunge, haut, or bazaar duties resumed, the collectors are to transmit a list thereof, with a report of the origin and amount of such pensions, and state how far the persons receiving the same are objects of charity, who would be distressed by an immediate discontinuation of the allowances to them respectively.

Fourteenth. 14*th.* The rules are not to extend to gunges, bazaars, and hauts, within the limits of the town of Calcutta.

Fifteenth. 15*th.* The collectors are to give the strictest attention to the due enforcement of these orders, which, with Persian and Bengal translations, shall be printed and circulated throughout the several districts for general information.—Reg. XXVII., 1793, sec. ii.

2.—Rule passed on the 23*rd June*, 1790.

The allowances which may be fixed for the officers appointed on the part of Government to collect the duties in the gunges, hauts, and bazaars, in the malguzarry and rent-free lands, for the current year, are to be paid by Government, and not from the collections of the gunges, hauts, and bazaars, as directed by the seventh and eighth articles of the Regulations of the 11th June, 1790, and the collectors are accordingly directed to pay the amount of the gross, instead of the neat collections, to the holders of such gunges, bazaars, and hauts.—Reg. XXVII., 1793, sec. iii.

3.—Rule for the Abolition of the Sayer, passed on the 28*th July*, 1790.

The privilege of imposing and collecting internal duties has been resumed from the landholders, and taken exclusively into the hands of Government for the purpose of reforming abuses in these collections, and thereby affording benefit to the commerce of the country, as well as general ease to its inhabitants. For the more effectual attainment of these objects, the Governor-General in Council has now resolved that all duties, taxes, and other collections coming under the denomination of sayer (with the exception of the Government and Calcutta customs [the duties levied on pilgrims at Gya and other places of pilgrimage],* the abkary or tax on spirituous liquors, which is to be collected on account of Government agreeably to former orders, the collections made in the gunges, bazaars, and hauts, situated within the limits of Calcutta, and such collections as are confirmed to the landholders, and the holders of gunges, bazaars, and hauts, by the published resolutions of the 11th June, 1790, namely, rent paid for the use of land, or for houses, shops, or other buildings erected thereon, or for orchards, pasture ground, or fisheries, sometimes included in the sayer, under the denomination of phulkur, bunkur, and julkur, whether made by Europeans or natives, either on their own or the public account, in the gunges, bazaars, hauts, or other places within the provinces, be forthwith abolished, and that the compensations to be made in consequence be regulated by an average of the neat produce stated in the past accounts, for as many years as they can be procured, not exceeding ten (excluding therefrom such collections as have been prohibited by Government), and be adjusted, with regard to the collections in malguzarry and la-khiraj lands respectively, according to the principles already laid down in the resolutions of the 11th June, 1790. The collectors have accordingly been required to withdraw their officers from the gunges, bazaars, and hauts, and to transmit the accounts necessary for adjusting the compensation without delay, together with the reports before required from them on the titles by which the duties have been hitherto collected by the several persons levying them. At the same time, the Governor-General in Council conceiving there may be proprietors of petty gunges, bazaars, and hauts, in the la-khiraj lands, whose subsistence has been chiefly drawn from the collections now abolished, and who may be subjected to distress or inconvenience, unless some provision be made for them during the period which may elapse previous to the adjustment of the compensation to be allowed them, has instructed the collectors, on proof of the situation of persons so circumstanced, to make them such monthly allowance as may appear advisable, to be deducted from the amount of the compensation to which they may finally appear entitled; provided that, in no case, the monthly allowance so given exceed the estimated monthly neat produce of the duties hitherto received by the parties respectively.—Reg. XXVII., 1793, sec. iv.

* The taxes on pilgrims were abolished by Act X., 1840.

4.—Rule passed on the 6th August, 1790.

First. The proprietary right in the ground on which hauts and bazaars are held is to continue vested in the landholders, but the public are to have the free use of it. The rules passed on the 28th July, 1790, extending to the abolition of all collections heretofore made, under the head of tehbazaree or other denominations, from persons exposing their goods for sale in the gunges, bazaars, and hauts, under temporary stalls and sheds, or in the open streets, and as the landholders are to receive a compensation for these collections, they can have no right, whilst such compensation is continued to them, either to appropriate the ground for the temporary use of which such collections were made to any other purpose, or to levy any exactions whatever from the persons who may in future expose their goods thereon for sale as heretofore; the ground on which hauts and bazaars are now held is accordingly to be continued to be appropriated to this purpose, free of all charge to the vendors.

Second. The above rule is not to preclude the landholders from receiving the monthly or annual rent arising from permanent shops, or other buildings, the collection of which is confirmed to them by the rules of the 11th June, 1790.—Reg. XXVII., 1793, sec. v.

5.—Rules passed on the 8th April, 1791.

First. The amount of the compensation to be given to the lakheraj holders of the sayer abolished after a determination on their right thereto, in the mode directed by the Regulations of the 11th June, 1790, shall be paid in money, or in bonds bearing interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, to be paid in quarterly proportions by the collector of the district in which the gunge, haut, or bazaar yielding the sayer abolished may be situated, until it shall suit the convenience of Government to pay off the principal, the amount of which is to be regulated upon this principle, that the annual interest be equal to the neat annual profit derived from the sayer abolished.

Second. The amount of the compensation to be given to the malguzarry holders of the sayer abolished, after the like determination on their right thereto, is to be provided to such of them as may engage for the revenue of their own lands, by granting to them an abatement of jumma equal to the full amount of their neat collections on account of the sayer abolished, which will include their one-tenth profit for which the compensation is ordered; and to those whose lands may now or hereafter be let in farm, by stipulating with the farmers for the payment of the amount of the compensation in addition to the jumma of Government; for securing which payment to the malguzars, a certificate is to be given to each of them, under the seal and signature of the Board of Revenue, declaring the annual neat amount of their sayer abolished, and their title to one-tenth thereof as their compensation, receivable in the manner herein stated.—Reg. XXVII., 1793, sec. vi.

6.—Rule passed on the 15th April, 1791.

First. Many lands having already been let in farm in Burdwan, and in other parts of Bengal, as well as in Behar, for ten years, and as the farmers of such lands could not now be made answerable for the amount of the sayer compensation to the proprietors in addition to the jumma of Government, without an equivalent deduction from the latter; and further, as it will be for the benefit of the proprietors, without any disadvan tage to Government (since every farmer stipulating for the payment of the compensation would probably reduce his offers for the revenue in an equal proportion), to declare the compensation of dispossessed landholders in general payable by Government, instead of the farmers, as determined by the rule passed on the 8th April, 1791; the Regulation of the 8th April, 1791, is accordingly modified as follows:

Second. The amount of the compensation to be given to the holders of the malguzarry sayer abolished, after a determination on their right thereto, in the mode directed by the resolutions of the Governor-General in Council of the 11th June, 1790, is to be provided to such of them as may engage with Government for the revenue of their own lands, by granting to them an abatement of jumma equal to the full amount of their former neat collections from the sayer abolished, including their one-tenth profit for which the compensation is ordered; and to those whose lands may now or hereafter be let in farm or held khas, by the annual payment of the amount of such compensation on the part of Government, to be made in quarterly proportions by the collector of the district in which the gunge, haut, or bazaar, yielding the sayer abolished, may be situated: for securing which payment to the malguzarry holders entitled thereto, a certificate is to be given to each of them, under the seal and signature of the Board of Revenue, declaring the neat annual amount of their sayer abolished, and their title to one-tenth thereof as their compensation, receivable in the manner herein stated, until it can be provided by an abatement of jumma on the settlement of their land being made with them, in which case they will be no longer entitled to the payment specified.—Reg. XXVII., 1793, sec. vii.

7.—Rule passed on the 24th June, 1791.

Doubts having arisen whether, under the rule passed on the 15th April, 1791, the one-tenth compensation is to be made to disqualified landholders by a reduction of jumma or by a money payment from Government, their lands being nominally held khas, though really managed for the benefit of the proprietors (any surplus collection above the fixed revenue being applied to their benefit), it is declared, that the compensation in these instances is to be made in like manner as if the settlement were made with the proprietors, viz., by an abatement of the revenue assessed upon their lands equal to the full amount of the former neat collections of the sayer resumed or abolished, including their one-tenth for which the compensation is ordered; or, in cases where a new assessment of their lands may be made on consideration of the land assets only, by an abatement of such assessment equal to the amount of the one-tenth compensation due to them.—Reg. XXVII., 1793, sec. viii.

8.—Rule passed on the 23rd December, 1791.

The Board of Revenue are to grant certificates, under their seal and signature, to the proprietors of la-khiraj gunges, bazaars, and hauts, for the amount of the compensations to which they may be entitled.—Reg. XXVII., 1793, sec. ix.

9.—Rule passed on the 20th April, 1792.

First. The following are to be the forms of the certificates directed to be granted to the proprietors of la-khiraj and malguzarry gunges, bazaars, and hauts:

Second. "This is to certify that A, inhabitant of B, in the district of C, having proved his right, as required by the 10th article of the Regulations passed by the Governor-General in Council, on the 11th June, 1790, to compensation account the sayer collections formerly made by him in the rent-free gunge, haut, or bazaar, denominated ———, in the district of ———, but since prohibited by Government, he is, agreeably to the orders of the Governor-General in Council of the ———, and ———, entitled to receive on this account, in equal quarterly proportions, from the collector of ———, the sum of ———, being the amount of his neat annual collections from the gunge, haut, or bazaar, aforesaid, this payment to commence from the period of the above gunge, haut or bazaar, having been resumed, in conformity to the above-mentioned orders of Government, of the 11th June, 1790, provided no part thereof has yet been received. It is to be understood, that the payment of this compensation by the collector, in the manner aforesaid, is to continue no longer than until it shall please the Governor-General in Council to determine on any other mode of making the same."

Third. "This is to certify, that A, zemindar or talookdar of B, in the district or soubah of C, whose estate is now held khas or let in farm, having proved his right, as required by the 10th article of the Regulations of the Governor-General in Council, of the 11th June, 1790, to compensation account the sayer collections formerly made by him in the malguzarry gunge, haut, or bazaar, denominated ———, in the district of ———, but since prohibited by Government, he is, agreeably to the orders of the Governor-General in Council of the ———, and ———, entitled to receive on this account, in equal quarterly proportions, from the collector of ———, the annual sum of rupees ———, being the one-tenth proportion of rupees ———, the nea annual amount of his sayer collections from the gunge, haut, or bazaar, aforesaid, this payment to commence from the period of the above gunge, haut, or bazaar, having been resumed, in conformity to the above-mentioned orders of Government of the 11th June, 1790, provided no part thereof has yet been received. It is to be understood, that the payment of the above-mentioned compensation by the collector is to continue no longer than until it can be provided for by an adequate abatement of jumma on the settlement of the lands of the bearer of this certificate being made with him or his heirs."

Fourth. The case of the proprietor of Govind-gunge being of a special nature, the following certificate is to be granted to him :

"This is to certify, that Rada Govind Sing having proved his right, as required by the 10th Article of the Regulations of the Governor-General in Council, of the 11th June, 1790, to compensation account the sayer collections formerly made by him in the gunge denominated Govind-gunge, in the district of Nuddea, but since prohibited by Government, he is, agreeably to the orders of the Governor-General in Council of the 3rd February, 1792, entitled to receive on this account, in equal quarterly proportions, from the collector of the district above mentioned, the sum of Rupees 3,467. 1. 17. 3, being the amount of his remaining neat annual collections from the haut or gunge aforesaid, after deducting the sum of, Rupees 100, the Revenue of Government; this payment to commence from the period of the above gunge having been resumed, in conformity to the orders of Government of the 11th June, above mentioned, provided no part thereof has yet been received. It is to be understood, that the payment of this compensation by the collector in the manner aforesaid is to continue no longer than until it shall please the Governor-General in Council to determine on any other mode of making the same."—Reg. XXVII., 1793, sec. x.

10.—Rule passed on the 27th April, 1792.

Persons exacting taxes or duties of any denomination, contrary to the sayer Regulations of the 11th June, 1790, whether as principals or accessories, having by the 12th article of the Regulations of that date been declared liable to prosecution in the Courts of Dewanny Adawlut, the judges of the said courts are required to receive all plaints preferred on account of such exactions, to hear and determine the same within ten days from the date of filing the plaint, or as soon afterwards as the attendance of the necessary evidence may admit, and on proof to decree a refund of the amount exacted, with damages equal to double the amount, besides all necessary costs incurred by the plaintiff in the prosecution, as well as a heavy fine to Government, proportionate to the circumstances of the offender, which decree shall be enforced by them by the process prescribed in other cases; and if the property of the offender, which shall be applied in the first instance to make good the damages and costs adjudged to the party injured, shall be in any instance insufficient to make good the fine to Government, the courts may order the fine to be commuted to imprisonment for such period as, on consideration of the case, may appear to them adequate to the offence.—Reg. XXVII., 1793, sec. xi.

11.—Rule passed on the 1st May, 1793.

In the event of any deductions or compensations on account of the abolition of the sayer remaining to be adjusted, the adjustment of them is to be left to the collectors, under the superintendence of the Board of Revenue, and subject to the final confirmation of the Governor-General in Council under this Regulation, and the Courts of Judicature are not to take cognizance of any claims regarding such deductions or compensations that have been or may remain to be adjusted. But in cases in which the compensation on account of the abolition of the sayer, either in lands paying revenue to Government or exempted from the payment of such revenue, shall have been finally adjusted with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, and payment of the amount which may be due under such adjustment shall be withheld from the person entitled thereto, the Courts of Dewanny Adawlut may take cognizance of any suit that may be preferred to them against the officer withholding the same, for obtaining payment of the amount. If the payment shall have been withheld, pursuant to orders from the Governor-General in Council or the Board of Revenue, the judge, previous to proceeding to the trial of the suit, is to forward the petition of the complainant to the Governor-General in Council, in the same manner as is directed with regard to the cases specified in Section XI., Regulation III., 1793, that if it shall appear to him proper so to do, he may afford redress to the party without bringing the suit to a trial. Suits instituted against Government under this section, and which may be brought to a trial, are to be defended by the collector, who is to commit the pleading of the cause to the vakeel of Government; and in the event of Government being cast, or of the collector being dissatisfied with the decision, he is to report the circumstances to the Board of Revenue, that an appeal may be preferred against the decision, if deemed advisable.

12.—Rule passed on the 14th June, 1811.

No claims to compensation on account of the abolition of the sayer, which shall not have been preferred to the proper authority previously to the promulgation of this Regulation, shall be received or admitted.—Reg. VI., 1811, sec. ii.

BENARES.

13. In the settlement for the Fusly year 1195, it was stipulated with the amils, by a clause in their kabooliats, that they should relinquish the collection of all tolls and duties on the transportation of grain, and other articles of the interior trade of the province, which they before collected with the land revenue, under the penalty of being subject to a fine equal to treble the amount of every sum so levied.—Reg. IV., 1795, sec. ii.

14. On the 26th December, 1787, the Governor-General in Council ordered that the zemindary duties, and all other collections on merchandize, excepting those authorized by Government, should be formally abolished, and penalties were prescribed for such persons as might be convicted of levying any exaction whatever on the property of the merchants, contrary to the spirit of this order.—Reg. IV., 1795, sec. iii.

15. It was, in consequence, ordered by the thirteenth article of the custom-house regulations of the 29th March, 1788, and which were in force from the 1st April following, that no duties of any kind or denomination should be collected in any part of the country, excepting at the four principal custom-houses of Benares, Ghazeepore, Juanpore, and Mirzapore, nor upon the transportation of any goods produced or manufactured in one part of the country and sold or consumed in another (with the exception of the goods sold which might be afterwards exported), and that any person levying duties or exactions, under whatever denomination, on such goods, in opposition to this prohibition, should be liable to a fine equal to three times the amount received; and as an encouragement to persons so aggrieved to prefer their complaints to the judge of the nearest Court of Adawlut, who was bound to render them speedy and effectual justice, the whole of the fine was directed to be paid to the party from whom the exactions might be made.—Reg. IV., 1795, sec. iv.

16. The settlement for 1196 (commencing with September, 1788) having been formed on the kanongoes' estimates of the mal and abwab, or land revenue only, without including the sayer collections before levied by the amils and landholders, which had been prohibited in the preceding year, a clause was inserted in the engagements of the amils, reciting that all the sayer-jehat, or sayer collections, and the duties on the transportation of merchandize, having from the preceding year, 1195, Fusly, been prohibited by Government, they were neither themselves to levy, nor to allow any other person to levy, any of those articles of collection, under the penalty of paying a fine equal to treble the amount received; and they were furnished with forms of cabooleats containing clauses to a similar effect, to be taken by them from their under-renters, village zemindars, and farmers.—Reg. IV., 1795, sec. v.

17. On the conclusion of the permanent settlement with the zemindars and farmers of the talooks and villages in 1197, they entered into kabooliats or engagements, in which it was stipulated, that as all the sayer-jehat, and rahdary duties and exactions, had been abolished from the Fusly year 1195, they were not to make any collections on these accounts, under the penalty of paying treble the amount exacted, in the same manner as had been stipulated with the amils in the preceding years.—Reg. IV., 1795, sec. vi.

18. At the conclusion of this permanent settlement, the amils also (who were appointed to collect the land revenue payable according to the settlement) entered into a new engagement with Government, by which it was stipulated, that as all gunge, rahdary, and sayer collections, had been abolished from 1195, Fusly, they were not to collect, receive, or suffer to be collected or received, any thing on these accounts, under the prescribed penalty of paying treble the amount so exacted.—Reg. IV., 1795, sec. vii.

19. The prohibitions contained in the preceding rules are to be strictly attended to, and the whole of the penalty recoverable on every breach of them is to be paid to the party from whom the illegal exactions may be made, on his proving them in a Court of Judicature.—Reg. IV., 1795, sec. viii.

20. It being of importance that merchants and others, from whom any such illegal exactions may be made, should obtain the most speedy redress, the judges of the several courts are required to be at all times ready to receive and hear complaints of such exactions, in preference to all other suits, so that the party injured may experience the least possible delay in obtaining a decision.—Reg. IV., 1795, sec. ix.

21. As it may happen that persons from whom such illegal exactions may occasionally be made by zemindars or others, may omit to prosecute the offender in a Court of Justice, and it being essential to the protection of the trade of the country that every means should be adopted for preventing such undue collections, the darogahs of each station are to be careful to transmit to the collector information of all unauthorized chokies stationed for the collection of duties, that may at any time be attempted to be established by any zemindar, farmer, or other person or persons, for the collection of rahdary, or gunge, or other duties or exactions; and if the party thus offending shall not immediately withdraw and abolish the choky so established, as well as pay to the collector the amount that he or his people may have levied (which is to be restored to the party of parties from whom it may have been exacted), the collector is to cause a prosecution to be instituted against such zemindar, farmer, or other person so offending, both for the removal of the choky and for the recovery of the prescribed penalties.—Reg. IV., 1795, sec. x.

CEDED AND CONQUERED PROVINCES AND BUNDLECUND.

NOTE.—The Sayer duties in these provinces were abolished by Section iv. & v. Reg. xi., 1804, which Regulation was rescinded by Sec. ii., Reg. IX., 1810; but Sec. iii. of that Regulation provided as follows.

22. All duties levied under any denomination whatever, which constitute a tax on the transit, export, or import of goods of any description, through, from, or into the provinces subject to the presidency of Fort William, or the cities or towns therein (with the exception of the city of Delhi and the circumjacent territory, to which the Regulations of the British Government have not been extended), not authorized by this or any other Regulation which may be passed and published in the manner prescribed by Regulation XLI., 1793, are hereby declared to be abolished.—Reg. IX., 1810, sec. iii.

CUTTACK.

23. The settlement of the land revenue of the zillah of Cuttack having been ordered to be made with the exclusion of all sayer duties, all duties of that description are hereby abolished in the said zillah; with the exception of the tax on the sale and consumption of spirituous liquors and intoxicating drugs [*and the duties levied from pilgrims at Juggernauth]: and the rules contained in Regulation XXVII., 1793, for preventing the collection of any chilunta, rahdary, or other duties, by the zemindars, talookdars, farmers, and other holders of land in the province of Bengal, are hereby declared to be in force in the zillah of Cuttack. It is also hereby declared, that in conformity to the spirit and principle of Clause Tenth of Section II., and the rules contained in Section VI., Regulation XXVII., 1793, it is the intention of Government to grant adequate compensations to all persons who derived advantages from the late sayer duties under competent authority from the Government of Berar, or in conformity to long and established usage.—Reg. XII., 1805, sec. xxxi.

GENERAL RULE.

24. The rules relative to the abolition of sayer duties, and the provision contained in Section XXXIX., Regulation IX., 1810, are not and shall not be held to be applicable to any item of sewaee collections or cess levied by malguzars and others according to ancient custom, which has been or shall be sanctioned by a collector or other superior revenue authority, not being a tax on the transport, export, or import of goods or merchandize, or other tax or duty specifically prohibited: but after the settlement of any village or mehaul shall have been made in the manner specified in Section IX., Regulation VII., 1822, the rules and provisions aforesaid shall be applicable to all cesses and collections, not sanctioned in the manner specified in that section.—Reg. IX., 1825, sec. ix.

* The taxes on pilgrims were abolished by Act X., 1840.

OPIUM.

1. The cultivation of the poppy and manufacture of opium within any of the provinces dependent on the presidency of Fort William, excepting on account of Government, or with their sanction, are hereby prohibited.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. iii.

2. The importation of opium, the produce or manufacture of the terrritories of the Nawaub Vizier, the Mahratta territories, or of any foreign country, into the provinces dependent on the presidency of Fort William, or any of them, is hereby prohibited.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. iv.

3. The superintendence of the provision of opium shall, as heretofore, be entrusted to agents, or to such other officers, being covenanted servants of the Company, as the Governor-General in Council shall appoint to the said duty.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. v.

4. In addition to the agencies already constituted and existing in the provinces of Behar and Benares, an agency shall be established at Rungpore, within such local limits as the Governor-General in Council may from time to time direct, for the provision of opium, to be reserved exclusively for retail sale and consumption within the provinces immediately dependent on the presidency of Fort William, under the rules hereinafter prescribed.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. vi.

5. The rules contained in this Regulation respecting the functions, duties, and authority of agents for the provision of opium, are to be considered equally applicable to their deputies in charge of subordinate establishments, or to any other person, being a covenanted servant of the Company, and entrusted with the superintendence of the provision of opium.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. vii.

6. Every person who may be appointed an agent for the provision of opium on account of Government, or a deputy or an assistant to such agent, previously to entering on the execution of the duties of his office, shall take and subscribe the following oath before the Governor-General in Council, or any person whom he may commission to administer it.

"I, A. B., appointed to the office of swear, that I will render true and faithful accounts of the expenditure of the sums which may be advanced to me, and of the opium produced, whenever required; and that I will not, at any time during the period of my holding the said office, have any concern in opium, or derive, directly or indirectly, any profit from my situation, excepting such as the orders of Government do or may authorize me to receive, or knowingly suffer any of my officers or dependents to derive any advantages or profits, but such as shall be duly allowed." "So help me God."—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. viii.

7. The agents employed by Government in the provision of opium shall annually, in due time, previous to the proper period for issuing the advances, make a settlement with the ryots who may choose to engage to cultivate the poppy, of the prices to be paid for the opium in the ensuing season. In this settlement, the rate per seer in Company's rupees, as well as the weight of the seer, according to the number of tola weight contained in the seer peculiar to each pergunnah, is to be specified on the completion of such settlement; a copy and a translation of it shall be forthwith sent to the Board of Revenue for their consideration, and on the agents receiving their approval of it, copies of the settlement shall be sent by the agents to the several judges and collectors of land revenue or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal within whose jurisdiction the poppy is cultivated, to be fixed up in their court-rooms and cutcherries; and the price settled for each pergunnah shall also be published by the agent in the pergunnah to which it relates.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. ix.

8. It is left to the option of every person to enter into engagements for the cultivation of the poppy on account of Government, at such prices as may be settled for the produce, or to decline the cultivation of it altogether.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. x.

9. The agent, or a person deputed by him, at the season of sowing the poppy, is to take an engagement from the cultivator specifying the number of begahs agreed to be cultivated, with the amount of the advance received by him, and the cultivator shall be bound to cultivate that number of begahs, or be liable to a penalty of three times the amount advanced on each begah, and proportionably for any part of the begah not so cultivated. When the poppy shall be full grown, the agent is to depute a person, who shall proceed with the cultivator into the field, and with the assistance of two or three other creditable cultivators, form an estimate of what such field is likely to produce; whereupon the ryot or cultivator is to enter into an engagement to deliver so much, and should the field produce more, to deliver that also, pro rato. The agent shall, as soon as practicable after the sowing season, transmit a separate list of the cultivators, from whom he may take engagements in each pergunnah, to the magistrate, and to the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal of the zillah.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xi.

10. Officers of every description in the employment of the agents or their deputies are prohibited from taking or receiving any fee, gratuity, perquisite, or allowance, either in money or effects, under any pretence whatever, from any ryots or other person employed or concerned in the provision of opium; and if any such description of person, subject to the authority of the agent, shall be convicted, before the zillah or city magistrate within whose jurisdiction the offence may have been committed, of disobedience to this prohibition, he shall, besides being dismissed from his office by the officer or authority to which he may be subject, be further liable to imprisonment for any term, not exceeding six months, which the court may judge proper, together with such fine, not exceeding 200 rupees, as may appear adequate to his offence, commutable, if not paid, to a further period of imprisonment not exceeding six months; and upon the circumstances being represented by the Board of Revenue to the Governor-General in Council, he will, if it shall appear proper, declare the offender incapable of serving Government in any capacity thenceforward, and will cause the same to be published.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xii.

11. The weights and scales made use of in the koties or warehouses in the different pergunnahs for weighing the opium received from the ryots are to be sealed with the seal of the magistrate of the district, and examined annually by him, or by such person as he shall think proper to appoint for that purpose, during the month of January. The agents or their officers making use of weights or scales not so sealed, or knowingly using uneven scales, or incorrect weights, though sealed, will be liable to such fine, not exceeding 500 rupees, as the magistrate may think proper to impose. The opium shall be fairly weighed in the presence of both parties by the beam being properly suspended to a triangle, or wooden stand or fixture, and every other mode of weighing will be considered as illegal.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xiii.

12. In the event of the cultivator failing to deliver the full quantity of opium agreed for by him, in the manner specified in paragraph 9, if the agent shall suspect or believe the cause of failure to be in the wilful neglect of the ryot, he shall complain to the zillah or city judge within whose jurisdiction the land of the ryot may be situated; and if it shall be proved, to the satisfaction of the judge, that the failure has been owing to neglect, he is to award that the ryot shall restore the the proportional advance, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum. The ryot, so failing to fulfil his contract, shall likewise be liable, at the discretion of the judge, to a further penalty, not exceeding the amount of interest to the payment of which he will be liable under the above provision.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xiv.

13. In cases in which the ryots shall deliver the opium in too liquid a state, or not inspissated to what is deemed, by experienced persons, the proper state of consistence, the agents or their officers are to appoint two or more credible opium ryots or cultivators to decide, on their dherm or conscience, what surplus quantity of keirdah shall be taken as an equivalent for the overweight arising from such want of consistence, and the parties shall abide by their award, unless it shall be proved, to the satisfaction of the zillah or city judge within whose jurisdiction the opium shall be delivered to the officer of Government that the arbitrators have been guilty of partiality.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xv.

14. Where the crude material shall be delivered in by the ryot or cultivator in an adulterated state, as by the mixture of foreign ingredients, the agents or their officers may immediately seize on, and declare the same confiscated, sealing it up at the same time in the presence of the ryot, and under his signature or mark, and in the presence of two or more creditable witnesses, depositing it also in a secure and separate place, and leaving the ryot to have recourse against them to the Zillah or City Court; for which purpose they are to keep the said opium thus sealed up for one month, and if in that time the ryot shall not lodge his complaint, it shall not afterwards be heard, and the agents shall then open the said opium and report the particulars of the case to the Board of Revenue for their orders. Provided further, that in such cases the said opium ryot or cultivator shall, on failure to furnish the full quantity of opium agreed for by him, exclusive of the adulterated opium, be prosecuted in the Dewanny Adawlut of the city or zillah, and shall be liable to the penalty prescribed in paragraph 12, in the case of failure by wilful neglect, viz. to refund the proportional advance, with interest, and an eventual fine.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xvi.

15. If any zemindar or other proprietor of land, or any farmer of land, or their representatives, should exact more from the ryots on account of their poppy lands than the established rates, the agent or the ryot from whom such exactions may be made, is to be at liberty to prosecute the person guilty of such exactions in the zillah or city Dewanny Adawlut, the judge of which shall forthwith inquire into the same, and, on proof of the exaction, shall adjudge the person guilty of the offence to restore the amount-levied in excess of the established rate, with a further penalty of treble the amount.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xvii.

16. The opium agents and their native officers of every description, are declared amenable to the Dewanny Adawlut of the city or zillah within the jurisdiction of which they may be stationed, for all acts done by them in their official capacity: provided, however, that any person conceiving himself aggrieved by the act of an opium agent, or of any ministerial officer acting under his authority, shall, in the first instance, make application for redress to the agent himself; and in the event of his not being satisfied with the order which the agent may pass upon such application, it shall then be competent to him either to lay his case by petition before the Board of Revenue, or at once to seek redress in the Dewanny Adawlut of the city or zillah within the jurisdiction of which he may reside. The rules contained in Regulation II., 1814, shall be considered applicable to all cases that may arise under the operation of this rule, and the course therein prescribed shall be observed in the admission of such cases.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xviii.

17. The opium agents shall not, in their official capacity, prefer any suit to any of the Courts of Dewanny Adawlut without the previous sanction of the Board of Revenue.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xix.

18. The judges of the Dewanny Adawlut of the several cities or zillahs are to take cognizance of all causes respecting opium, instituted by an agent or his representative against the ryots or others concerned in the provision or manufacture of that article, or by the latter against the former, as well as suits preferred under the provisions of paragraph 15, against zemindars or other proprietors of land, and proceed to try and decide upon the same with as little delay as possible, and without attending to the order in which they may stand on the file. In all matters relating to the trial and decision of such suits, the payment of costs and the execution of decrees not expressly provided for in this Regulation, the courts shall be guided by the general rules and usages observed in other suits cognizable by them.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xx.

19. Nothing, however, contained in the above rules shall be construed to authorize the Courts of Dewanny Adawlut to interfere in cases the cognizance of which is vested by this Regulation in the collectors of land revenue or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxi.

20. When any process shall be issued by a Court of Civil Judicature, or a collector, assistant collector, or officer in charge of the abkary mehal, to an agent, the judge of the court, or the collector, assistant collector or officer aforesaid, is to transmit the process under a sealed cover, addressed to the agent in the form of a letter, and superscribed with his name and official appellation. The agent is immediately to acknowledge the receipt of the process by an endorsement to that effect on the instrument, and to return it under a sealed cover addressed to the officer from whom it may have issued.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxii.

21. To facilitate the communication between the agents and their officers of koties, and their vakeels in the Zillah or City Courts, and the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, and the mokhtars employed by them, with the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, who may be entrusted with the conduct of any suits or appeals in which they may be engaged in their official capacity, either whilst they may continue in office, or after their removal, they are permitted to forward, free of postage, any instructions which they may have to transmit to their vakeels and agents aforesaid. The instructions are to be enclosed under a sealed cover, directed to the vakeel or mokhtar. The instructions, so sealed and directed, are to be transmitted, under a sealed cover, addressed to the court, or the collector, or other officer before whom the cause may be depending, and superscribed with the name and official appellation of the person despatching it, or that which he bore when the cause of action arose. The court, collector, or other officer, immediately on receiving the instructions, is to deliver them sealed to the vakeel or mokhtar to whom they may be directed. In like manner, the vakeels in any of the courts or mokhtars aforesaid, to whom the pleading of such suits or appeals may be committed by agents or their head officers of koties, are authorized, either whilst their constituents remain in office, or after they shall have been removed, to forward any papers which they may have to convey to their constituents by the public dawk, free of postage. The papers are to be enclosed in a cover sealed with the seal of the vakeel or mokhtar, and the judge, or the collector, or other officer before whom he is employed, shall transmit the papers so sealed, in a cover, sealed and addressed to the person to whom they are to be forwarded, and superscribed with his official signature.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxiii.

22. In cases in which the Board of Revenue may judge it expedient, or in which they may receive orders for the purpose from the Governor-General in Council, they are to take upon themselves, or entrust to an officer specially appointed for the purpose, the superintendence of the prosecution or defence of any suit or appeal in which they or their officers may be engaged, either in a Zillah or City Court, or in the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, or before a collector of the land revenue or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, or before the Board of Revenue, instead of leaving the superintendence of the conduct of the suit or appeal to the agent, or any of his officers or dependents.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxiv.

23. If the Board of Revenue shall be dissatisfied with a decree or judgment passed against an agent or any of his officers on suits in which they may have been engaged in any Court of Civil Judicature, or before a collector of land revenue or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, under the rules hereinafter prescribed, either with or without their orders or the orders of the Governor-General in Council, they may authorize an appeal under the prescribed rules.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxv.

24. The following rules are enacted for the service of summonses and warrants on the undermentioned officers employed under the agents for the provision of opium.

|---|---|
| The Dewan, | Gomashtahs of koties, |
| Naib Dewan, | Cash keepers, ditto, |
| Cash keepers, | Mohurrirs, ditto, |
| Mohurrirs, | Purkeas, |
| Nagree writers, | Dandidars. |
| Godown keepers, | Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxv. |

25. In cases in which any of the officers above mentioned shall be charged before the magistrates with a bailable offence, the warrant shall be served in the manner directed with regard to summonses in civil cases; with this difference, that the warrant shall require the party summoned to appear in person or by vakeel, as the magistrate may think proper, and shall specify the amount of the sum for which the security or recognizance for the appearance of the defendant is to be given, and the amount of which shall be regulated by the magistrate, according to the nature of the charge and the situation and circumstances in life of the defendant.—Reg. XXXI., 1793, sec. x., cl. 4.

26. In all cases specified in the preceding paragraph, the opium agent or head officer through whom the summons or warrant may be served, shall return on the back of it in what manner it has been served, and by whom security has been executed.—Reg. XXXI., 1793, sec. x., cl. 5.

27. If a charge shall be preferred to a magistrate against any of the officers above mentioned, for an offence that is not bailable, and there shall appear to the magistrate sufficient ground for apprehending the person so charged, the warrant for his apprehension shall require him to appear immediately in person, and shall be executed in the same manner as upon persons not so employed. But the officer, after securing the offender, is to give notice of his apprehension to the opium agent or the head officer of the nearest koty or warehouse.—Reg. XXXI., 1793, sec. x., cl. 6.

28. The darogahs of police are to observe the rules prescribed in Section XXIX., Regulation XX., 1817, in complaints that may be preferred to them against any of the officers above mentioned.—Reg. XXXI., 1793, sec. x., cl. 7., and sec. xxix., Reg. XX., 1817.

29. In all cases in which the agents, or their head officers empowered for that purpose, shall become security, under any of the above rules, for the appearance of any person employed in the opium department, or for the fees of his vakeel, or shall declare any person whom the party summoned may offer as security, to be responsible, the agent is to be considered personally answerable for the due performance of the conditions of the security, in the event of the party for whom the security may be given not performing them himself, or where the party himself shall have given the security, and it shall have been declared responsible by the agent or his head officer of a koty or warehouse, in the event of the party or his surety not performing them. It will accordingly be the business of the agents to take care to employ creditable persons only as head officers at the several koties or warehouses to superintend the business, and become security, and to furnish them with proper instructions, and to take such security from them as they (the agents) may deem sufficient to indemnify themselves for the consequences that may result from any abuse which such officers may commit in the exercise of their trust.—Reg. XXXI., 1793, sec. x., cl. 8.

30. Summonses to any of the officers above mentioned as witnesses, shall be served in the same manner as if they were parties in the cause; but the judges are to be careful not to summon such persons excepting when their attendance shall be absolutely necessary, and on their appearance to have them examined and dismissed with all practicable despatch, so that they may be absent from the business of the opium department as short a time as possible.—Reg. XXXI., 1793, sec. x., cl. 9.

31. The agents and their head officers are declared liable to be sued in the Dewanny Adawlut, should they apply any of the rules in the preceding paragraphs regarding summonses and warrants issued against persons employed in the opium department to persons not bonâ fide so employed. And as the rules therein contained are intended only to prevent unnecessary interruption in the opium department, where it can be avoided without impeding the course of justice, the judges and magistrates are empowered, in particular cases in which it may appear to them indispensably necessary for the purposes of justice, to order the personal attendance of any native officer or person in anywise concerned or employed in the opium department, whether he may be a party or a witness in the suit or prosecution, notwithstanding anything that may be said to the contrary in these rules, and to cause process to be executed upon him for that purpose, in the same manner as upon other individuals; but in such cases the judges and magistrates are to record their reasons for deviating from the prescriptions contained in the said rules, which are to be considered as the general rules for issuing and executing such summonses and warrants, and in the summons or warrant they are to specify that it has been specially ordered to be so executed, in virtue of the discretionary power vested in them by this para.; and they are, moreover, strictly enjoined to refrain from every unnecessary exercise of this discretionary power.—Reg. XXXI., 1793, sec. x., cl. 10.

32. A register of the names and stations of the officers enumerated in para. 24 shall be formed, and a copy of such register in the native languages shall be transmitted, once in every year, to the judge and magistrate and the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal of the zillah in which such officer may reside. It shall also be the duty of the agent to keep the judge and magistrate, and the collector or other officer aforesaid, informed of any intermediate change of those officers.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxvii.

33. The following rules are enacted for the prevention of the illicit culture of the poppy and the illegal manufacture, sale, purchase, importation, transportation, or possession of opium.—Reg. XIII., 1816., sec. xxviii.

34. The several magistrates and the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal, on the receipt of the lists of the opium ryots or cultivators directed to be furnished to them by para. 9, shall transmit to the several police and abkary darogahs under their respective authority, a copy of the list of the cultivators residing in the pergunnahs within the respective jurisdictions of each darogah, with directions to prevent persons, who may may not have entered into engagements with the opium agent, from cultivating the poppy; and all darogahs within whose jurisdictions there may be no opium cultivation on the part of Government, shall be annually instructed by the several magistrates and collectors or other officers aforesaid, to use their endeavours to prevent the illicit culture of the poppy.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxix.

35. Ryots receiving advances for the cultivation of the poppy on account of Government, who may be guilty of embezzlement of the opium, for the provision of which they may have received advances from Government, or of otherwise illegally disposing of it, shall be liable to prosecution before the collector of the land revenue or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal of the district, and on conviction shall be liable to a fine of eight rupees per seer, and confiscation of the opium, if it can be seized, and when it cannot be seized, to a fine of sixteen rupees per seer, on the quantity proved to have been embezzled or otherwise illegally disposed of. In addition to the above penalties, the offenders shall be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months, and to further imprisonment not exceeding six months more, in the event of the fine not being duly discharged.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxx.

36. Any person who shall cultivate the poppy in opposition to the prohibition contained in paragraph 1, shall be liable to prosecution before the collector of the land revenue or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal of the district, and on conviction shall be subject to a penalty, to be calculated at the rate of twenty rupees per begah for whatever quantity of land shall have been so illegally cultivated; and if the poppy plants shall be growing on the said land, and the opium shall not have been extracted therefrom, the plants shall be destroyed. If the opium shall have been extracted and shall be seized, the same shall be confiscated. If the opium shall have been extracted and shall not be seized, the cultivator of the said land shall be subject to a penalty of thirty-two rupees per begah, instead of twenty rupees per begah, as above directed. Provided further, that in all cases wherein any person or persons may be convicted of illicit dealings in regard to opium, if the forfeiture incurred shall not amount to the sum of five hundred rupees, the person or persons aforesaid shall each of them forfeit to Government such further sum in addition to the prescribed forfeiture, as with the same may make the total penalty imposed amount to the said sum of five hundred rupees. In addition to the above penalties, the offender shall be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months, and to further imprisonment not exceeding six months more, in the event of the fine not being duly discharged.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxxi., and Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xviii., cl. 4.

37. Any person who shall directly or indirectly be concerned in, or who shall in any way cause, encourage, promote, or advise the illegal cultivation of the poppy, shall be liable to the same penalties and forfeitures as are prescribed for the case of persons illicitly cultivating the poppy.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xviii., cl. 1.

38. All zemindars, talookdars, and other proprietors of land, whether malguzary or la-khiraj, all sudder farmers and under-renters of land of every description, all dependent talookdars, all naibs, gomashtahs, and other local agents, all sezawuls, tehsildars, and other native officers employed in the collection of the revenue and rents of lands on the part of Government or the Court of Wards, are hereby declared accountable for giving the earliest information to the police or abkary darogahs, to the magistrates, collectors of land revenue, or officers in charge of the abkary mehal, collectors of customs, opium agents or their deputies, of all poppy which may be illegally cultivated within the limits of the estate or farm held or managed by them.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxxii.

39. Any landholders or other description of persons above noticed to whom such responsibility is declared to attach, who may wilfully or knowingly neglect to give the information hereby required to the nearest police or abkary darogah, the magistrate, the collector of land revenue, or officer in charge of the abkary mehal, the collector of Government customs, the superintendent of salt chokies, the opium agent, or his deputy or assistant, shall, on proof of such neglect before the collector of the land revenue or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, be liable to the penalty, with the exception of imprisonment, stated in paragraph 36, for whatever quantity of land shall be illegally cultivated with the poppy on their respective estates or farms, or on the lands under their management, unless it shall clearly appear to have been so cultivated without their knowledge or connivance.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxxiii.

40. All native officers of Government, of whatever description, including chokydars, pykes, or other officers of village police, are strictly enjoined to assist in preventing the illicit cultivation of the poppy, by giving instant information to the authority to which they are immediately subordinate, whenever it may come to their knowledge that any land has been illicitly so cultivated; and the magistrate or other authorities above alluded to, who may receive information of such illicit culture, shall immediately transmit the information so received to the collector of the zillah or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal; and if any officer aforesaid shall neglect to give information as above directed, or shall in any respect connive at the illicit cultivation of the poppy, he shall be liable to the same penalty as prescribed for the case of police and abkary darogahs permitting or conniving at the same, by para. 43.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxxiv., and Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xviii., cl. 2.

41. The like penalty shall attach to any putwary who may neglect to inform the canoongoe of the pergunnah or the collector of the district, of the illicit cultivation of the poppy, whenever the same may come to his knowledge.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xviii., cl. 3.

42. Whenever a police or abkary darogah shall obtain intelligence of any land within his jurisdiction having been cultivated with the poppy, in opposition to the prohibition contained in para. 1, he shall immediately proceed to the spot, and if the information be correct, shall attach the crop so illegally cultivated, and report the same without delay to the authority to which he may be subject. Such police or abkary darogah shall, at the same time, take security from the cultivator of the said ground for his appearance before the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal; and in the event of such cultivator not giving the required security, he shall send him in custody to the magistrate or the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, according to the authority under which such darogah is placed, with the necessary witnesses to prove the quantity of land which may have been cultivated by him with the poppy.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxxv.

43. Any police or abkary darogah who shall knowingly permit the cultivation of the poppy within his jurisdiction, or who shall in any respect be convicted of conniving at the illicit cultivation of the poppy, shall besides being liable to dismission from office for neglect of duty under the existing Regulations, be further subject, on conviction before the magistrate of the zillah, to the payment of the fine stated in para. 36 for whatever quantity of land shall have been so illegally cultivated within his jurisdiction, with his knowledge or connivance; the fine, if not duly paid, shall be commutable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxxvi.

44. Any subordinate officer of the opium agents, who shall be convicted of conniving in any way at the illicit cultivation of the poppy, shall in like manner be liable to dismission from office, and to pay, on conviction before the magistrate, the fine (commutable as above) stated in para. 36, for whatever quantity of opium shall have been so illegally cultivated with his knowledge and connivance, and likewise to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxxvii.

45. Proprietors and farmers of land, in whose estates or farms any poppy shall be grown in opposition to the provisions of this Regulation, shall be at liberty to attach such illicit crop of poppy grown within their own estates; such persons shall immediately report the same to the nearest police or abkary darogah, who shall proceed thereupon in conformity to the rules contained in para. 42.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxxviii.

46. All opium, excepting that which may have been manufactured on account of the Government, or sold by their authority, which may be found within the provinces dependent on the presidency of Fort William, will be considered as contraband, and shall be liable to seizure and confiscation, together with the boats, carriages, cattle, and packages used in the storing or transport of it. But this shall not be considered as authorizing the seizure and confiscation of any opium, the produce or manufacture of a foreign state or country, which may be found in the possession of any traveller or visitant from such foreign state or country, nor the seizure and confiscation of the carriages, cattle, or packages on or in which the opium may be found; provided, that such opium do not exceed the quantity of two seers, and that it be bonâ fide intended for the private use and consumption of such traveller or visitant, or for the use and consumption of his attendants, and not for sale or traffic. Nor shall this rule be considered as authorizing the seizure and confiscation of any opium the produce or manufacture of a foreign state or country, which may be found in the possession of any dealers in horses from beyond the south-west frontier of the Conquered Provinces, travelling with a string of horses; nor the seizure and confiscation of the carriages, cattle, or packages on or in which the opium may be found; provided that such opium do not exceed the proportion of ten tola weight for each horse. But if any such traveller or visitant, or dealer in horses, shall at any time offer such opium for sale, it shall be liable to seizure and confiscation, together with the carriages, cattle, or packages in which it may be found. —Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xxxix., and Reg. XI., 1818., sec. ii., cl. 1.

47. Any person who may by force or threats prevent an officer from effecting the seizure of any opium suspected to be contraband, or who may forcibly resist such officer in the execution of that duty, shall, in addition to the penalty prescribed for cases of connivance, be liable, on conviction before a magistrate, to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees. Parties so offending shall further be liable, in the event of an affray, or other breach of the peace, occurring in consequence of their resistance, to be punished under the general rules applicable to such cases.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xviii., cl. 7.

48. If any officer authorized to attach opium, shall have seized, or be about to seize, any dispatch of opium, on information or suspicion of its being contraband, or shall have effected, or be about to effect, the attachment of the cattle, carriages, or boats used in transporting such opium, and shall have reason to apprehend forcible resistance, such officer shall apply to the nearest darogah to aid him in the execution of his duty; and all darogahs, or officers in charge of thannahs or chokies, to whom such application shall be made, or who may otherwise have reason to apprehend the occurrence of a breach of the peace in consequence of a seizure of opium, shall immediately afford the requisite aid to effect the seizure and preserve the peace.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xviii., cl. 8.

49. Such seizures shall be made on the responsibility at the risk of the officers authorized to seize; and the police-officers shall not be competent to exercise any discretion in regard to the propriety or otherwise of the seizure which they may be called upon to support, but shall be careful to prevent any unnecessary violence.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xviii., cl. 9.

50. Persons who may be desirous of exporting by sea, opium purchased at the Company's sales, shall produce a certificate from the Board of Revenue or one of their authorized officers, signifying that the opium in question was so purchased. The certificate must specify the purchase, lot, the mark and number of each of the chests applied for, the name of the purchaser, the costs of the opium, and the date of the sale. Any opium not corresponding with the certificate shall be liable to confiscation.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xl.

51. The following officers are hereby declared to possess authority to seize all opium, together with the cattle, carriages, boats, and other articles, which under the provisions of this Regulation may be liable to seizure and confiscation, viz., the opium agents, their deputies and assistants, zillah and city magistrates, collectors of land revenue, or officers in charge of abkary mehal, or both, where the offices may be separate, collectors and deputy collectors of customs, superintendents of salt chokies, and their subordinate officers respectively, being above the rank of peons, burkundazes or ordinary chuprassies. But it shall and may be lawful for the Governor-General in Council to grant authority to such public officers, or other persons whatsoever, to seize and detain contraband opium, and other intoxicating drugs, and within such local limits as he may from time to time judge necessary or expedient, and whenever any person not vested with powers of seizure by this Regulation may be especially authorized to seize under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, the arrangement shall be notified by an advertisement published in the cutcherry of the officer in charge of the abkary mehal, and in the adawlut of the city or zillah within the jurisdiction of which the authority so given is to be exercised. Provided, however, that no person shall break open any boat, carriage, chest, cask, box, bale, package or other article suspected to contain opium, except under a warrant from the magistrate or collector of the district, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal; and any person detaining on such suspicion, otherwise than under the orders of one of these two last-mentioned officers, any boat, carriage, cask, chest, box, bale, or package, shall be liable, if no contraband opium be found, and if the detention appear to have been made without sufficient cause, to be adjudged by the collector of the zillah or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, to pay to the party injured the damages he may have sustained by such detention. Provided further, that all native officers making a seizure under the powers vested in them by this Regulation shall, within twenty-four hours of making such seizure, communicate their having done so, with a report of the circumstances connected with the seizure to the authority to which they may be respectively subject; and any magistrate or other officer to whom a seizure may be thus communicated shall immediately transmit the report to the collector of the zillah or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, to whom all opium so seized shall be delivered.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. xvii., and Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xli.

52. Native officers of Government, of every description, and especially all such officers in the districts within which, or in the neighbourhood of which, opium is manufactured on the public account, are hereby strictly enjoined to assist to the utmost of their power in the suppression of the illicit sale, purchase, importation, transportation, or possession of opium, by seizing the same, if authorized to do so, or if not vested with the power of seizure, by giving immediate information to the authority to which they may be respectively subject, of all instances of such illicit sale, purchase, importation, transportation, or possession of opium, which may come to their knowledge; and any native officer aforesaid, who may connive at the illicit sale, purchase, importation, transportation, or possession of opium, or who may neglect to give information in either of those cases, shall, on conviction before the zillah or city magistrate (if the native officer be subordinate to them, or in other cases before the collector of land revenue, or officer in charge of the abkary mehal), be liable to a fine not exceeding eight rupees for each and every seer so sold, purchased, imported, transported, or possessed, with his knowledge or connivance, commutable in the event of its not being paid, to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months. And if the quantity of opium so sold, purchased, imported, transported, or possessed, cannot be ascertained, then and in that case the officer offending as aforesaid shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, commutable as aforesaid to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months. Any magistrate or other officer to whom information may be given under this rule, shall immediately transmit the same to the collector of the zillah or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xlii., and Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xviii., cl. 6.

53. When any opium shall be seized and delivered to the collector of the zillah, or the assistant collector in places where such officers are appointed, the collector or assistant collector (as the case may be) shall issue a publication notifying that if no claimants thereto shall appear within one month, it will be confiscated. If any claimant shall in consequence appear within the limited period, the collector is to investigate and decide on his right to the opium; and in the event of his deciding against the claimant, or of no person appearing to claim the opium, he is to declare the opium confiscated, to be applied in such mode as may be prescribed by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xliii.

54. All boats, carriages, bales, casks, chests, boxes, or packages, on which or in which any contraband opium may be loaded or concealed, together with all horses, bullocks, or other cattle employed in its transportation, are hereby declared to be liable to confiscation, and they shall be delivered to the collector of the zillah or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, by whom they shall, on the confiscation of the opium, be sold, and the proceeds disposed of in the manner hereinafter prescribed.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xliv.

55. All persons who may be proved to have purchased contraband opium, or in whose possession contraband opium may be found, shall be liable to prosecution before the collector of land revenue, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal; and on conviction, shall be subject to a fine of eight rupees per seer on the quantity of contraband opium which they may have purchased or may have in their possession, in addition to the confiscation of the opium when it can be seized, and when it cannot be seized, sixteen rupees per seer of eighty tola weight, to be recoverable by suit or information before the collector of the zillah within whose jurisdiction the offender may reside. In cases in which the above fine shall not amount to Rs. 500, the said offender shall likewise be liable, at the discretion of the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, to a further fine not exceeding such a sum as shall make the total fine imposed amount to Rs. 500. In addition to the above penalties, the offender shall be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months and to a further imprisonment not exceeding six months more, in the event of the fine not being duly discharged. But this rule shall not be considered as authorizing the imposition of any fine or a sentence of imprisonment on any such traveller or visitant, or dealer in horses, from a foreign state or country, in whose possession any greater quantity of opium, the produce or manufacture of any foreign state, may be found, than the quantity specified in para. 46; nor the infliction of any other penalty besides the confiscation of the opium in excess to such limitation.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xlv., and Reg. XI., 1818, sec. ii., cl. 2.

56. Provided, however, that if any such traveller or visitant, or dealer in horses, shall at any time offer such opium for sale, or shall be proved to have at any time sold such opium, he or they shall be liable to all the penalties prescribed.—Reg. XI., 1818, sec. ii. cl. 3.

57. Provided also, that nothing contained in the above rules shall be considered applicable to persons fraudulently or clandestinely importing foreign opium into the provinces dependent on the presidency of Fort William, in violation of the law; all such persons shall be and continue subject to the penalties which are or may be prescribed for illicit dealings in opium.—Reg. XI., 1818, sec. ii., cl. 4.

58. Any person or persons purchasing or receiving opium from a cultivator or other person, who may have entered into engagements for the cultivation of the poppy, or who may be employed in the provision of opium on account of Government, or bargaining for the purchase of opium with such cultivator, or other person aforesaid, or in any way causing, encouraging, or advising such cultivator or person to embezzle or illegally dispose of any opium, shall each and all of them forfeit to Government a sum equal to three times the penalty prescribed in para. 55 for the illicit purchase or possession of opium; viz., the sum of twenty-four and forty-eight rupees per seer on the quantity of opium purchased, bargained for, or designed to be illicitly disposed of, as the case may be: and in cases wherein the said forfeiture shall not amount to the sum of one thousand and five hundred rupees, the party or parties aforesaid shall each of them forfeit such further sum as with the forfeiture aforesaid shall make the total penalty imposed amount to one thousand and five hundred rupees; the said fines, if not paid, shall be commutable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding twelve months. In addition to the said penalties, the offender shall be subject to imprisonment for the term prescribed in the aforesaid paragraph, for cases of illicit purchase or possession of opium.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xviii., cl. 5.

59. All zemindars, talookdars, or other proprietors of land, whether malguzary or la-khiraj, all farmers of land holding farms immediately of Government, all naibs, gomashtahs, or other local agents, all sezawals, telisildars, or other native officers employed in the collection of the revenue or rents of lands on the part of Government or Court of Wards (when not themselves the purchasers or possessors of the opium) are declared liable to the like penalty, recoverable as above described; for all contraband opium which may be proved to have been sold within the limits of the lands in their possession or management with their connivance or knowledge,—that is to say, eight rupees per seer when the opium may be seized, and when it cannot be seized, sixteen rupees per seer of eighty tola weight.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xlvi.

60. All native officers of Government or other persons who may give information of the illicit culture of the poppy, or the illegal manufacture, sale, purchase, importation, transportation, or possession of opium, or who may be actively concerned in promoting any lawful seizure of contraband opium or attachment of crops under this Regulation, shall, on the attachment of land illegally cultivated with the poppy or the seizure and confiscation of contraband opium, be entitled to the rewards hereinafter prescribed.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xlvii.

61. The opium agent of Behar and his deputies, the commercial residents of Ghazeepore and Rungpore, or other officers to whom the superintendence of the provision of opium at those places may be entrusted, the collectors and deputy collectors of customs and the superintendents of the salt chokies, shall be entitled to the rewards hereinafter prescribed in the cases hereinafter specified —Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xlviii.

62. In any cases in which the fine of sixteen rupees per seer on opium embezzled by ryots cultivating on account of Government shall be levied when the opium may not be seized, in conformity to para. 35, or in which the penalty specified in paras. 36, 39, 43, and 44, shall be levied, on account of the illegal cultivation of the poppy, when the crop shall be destroyed, or when the opium produced shall not be seized, one-half of such fine shall be paid to the person in consequence of whose information the fine shall have been so levied, whether he be an officer of Government or not.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xlix.

63. It shall be the duty of all medical officers who may be called upon by the collectors of land revenue, or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal, or by the opium agents of Behar and Benares, and their respective deputies, to report on the quality of any seized or confiscated opium, to class the same under one of the four following heads, &c.:—

"Good opium,"—by which is meant perfectly pure opium.

"Marketable opium,"—or opium not having more than one quarter of foreign matter in it.

"Inferior opium,"—or opium having not more than one-half of foreign matter in it; or,

"Useless opium,"—by which is to be understood opium adulterated with more than one-half of foreign matter.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xx., and Reg. VIII., 1826.

64. The opium agents and their deputies shall not be entitled to any share of the rewards heretofore received by them for opium, which may have been attached or confiscated by their respective orders, or by their respective officers. Provided also, that it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in council, to discontinue the payment of the said rewards to any officers of Government, and to modify the distribution thereof in such manner as may from time to time appear expedient.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxi., cl. 1.

65. In case any attachment of illicit opium shall be made on information, and the opium shall be confiscated, the person or persons on whose information the same may have been seized shall be entitled, provided the opium is declared by the civil surgeon of the station to be "good," to a reward calculated at the rate of one rupee eight annas per seer of eighty-two tola weight on the opium so confiscated, and the native officer or officers of Government, who, upon such information, made the attachment, or were immediately concerned in making it, shall be entitled to a similar reward. If the seizure of such opium shall have been made exclusively by the officer or officers of Government, and not upon information given by any other person, such native officer or officers shall be entitled to a reward at the rate of three rupees per seer of eighty-two tola weight on the opium which may have been seized and confiscated.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxi., cl. 2.

66. If the opium shall be declared "marketable," the informer or informers shall be entitled to a reward of twelve annas per seer of eighty-two tola weight on the quantity of opium seized and confiscated; and the native officer or officers who seized it upon such information, to a similar reward. In case the seizure of such opium shall have been made exclusively by the officer or officers of Government, and not upon information, such officer or officers shall be entitled to a reward of one rupee eight annas per seer of eighty-two tola weight on the quantity of opium which may have been seized and confiscated —Reg VII., 1824, sec. xxi., cl. 3.

67. If the opium shall be pronounced "inferior," the informer or informers shall receive a reward of ten annas per seer on the quantity confiscated, and the seizer or seizers of the opium on such information shall be entitled to a reward at the same rate.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxi., cl. 4.

68. In either of the three foregoing cases, that is to say, whenever opium shall be seized and confiscated, which is declared by the medical officer to be either good, marketable, or inferior, the persons on whose information the same have been seized, shall receive one-half of any fine which may be levied in consequence, and a moiety of the amount proceeds of the sale of any boat, carriage, or other vehicle, bullock, or other beast of burthen, box, chest, or other package, which may have been seized with it; and the native officer or officers who seized it upon such information, to one-fourth of the fine that may be levied, and a similar proportion of the amount proceeds of the confiscated article that may have accompanied it. If the seizure shall have been effected exclusively by the officers of Government, and not upon information, such officer or officers shall receive, besides the rewards above assigned to them, three-fourths of any fine levied in consequence of the seizure, and an equal proportion of the amount proceeds of the sale of the boat, carriage, or other vehicle, bullock, or other beast of burthen, box, chest, or other package, which may have been seized and confiscated —Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxi., cl. 5.

69. No reward shall be payable on opium declared to be "useless" which may be seized and confiscated.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxi, cl. 6

70 Provided that the said rewards shall be granted only in cases in which the owners of opium seized and confiscated may be apprehended and convicted; and that in cases in which the said owners shall not be apprehended and convicted, the persons seizing the opium, or giving information leading to the seizure of it, and the officers by whom the seizure may be effected, shall be entitled to one moiety only of the said rewards —Reg. XI., 1818., sec. iv.

71. The following rules have been enacted for regulating the internal consumption of opium, and for preventing the illicit sale of that drug —Reg XIII., 1816, sec. liii.

72. The retail sale of opium in the interior shall be considered a branch of the abkary revenue, and shall be conducted under the superintendence and directions of the collectors of land revenue or other officers intrusted with the charge of the abkary mehal, subject to the control of the Board of Revenue —Reg. XIII, 1816, sec. liv.

73. The collectors or other officers entrusted with the charge of the abkary mehal shall, once every year or oftener, state to the Board of Revenue the quantity of opium which may be required for their respective districts, and shall be supplied with the same in the mode which the Governor-General in Council shall direct.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lv.

74. Shops shall be established on the part of Government for the retail sale of the drug, at such places as may be deemed most convenient for supplying the wants of the community.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec lvi.

75. The sale of opium at the shops which may be established by Government shall be conducted by persons nominated for that purpose by the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal respectively, with such other establishment as may be deemed necessary, either at a fixed monthly salary, or to be paid by a commission on the amount sale of the opium, or partly by both, as may be considered to be most expedient.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lvii.

76. The person so nominated shall receive a sunnud drawn up in the form No. 1, annexed to this Regulation, and shall enter into a corresponding engagement. The person so nominated shall moreover give such security as the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal shall require.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lviii.

77. Any breach of the conditions of this engagement shall render the offender liable to dismission from his office, and to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or in the event of the fine not being duly discharged, to such imprisonment, not exceeding six months, as the collector may deem adequate to the degree of offence committed.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lix.

78. In cases in which it may be deemed advisable, the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal may, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, authorize individuals to vend opium by retail, under regular licenses.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lx.

79. In cases in which an arrangement of this nature may be judged advisable by either of the above-mentioned authorities, due notice shall be publicly given of such intention, and of the periods at which licenses will be granted to individuals for the retail sale of that article, and the conditions on which such licenses will be granted.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxi.

80. In such cases any person desirous of obtaining such a license shall present a derkhast or written application to that purport to the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, specifying the place at which he is desirous of establishing his shop; and on his application being acceded to, shall furnish such security for the due performance of his engagements as the collector or officer aforesaid shall deem sufficient.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxii.

81. On the person so applying having furnished the security referred to in the preceding paragraph, a license for one year shall be granted to him, agreeably to the form No. 2, affixed to this Regulation, and a correspondent kabooliat be taken from him.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxiii.

82. The opium shall be furnished to the licensed venders in monthly portions, and it shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue to determine the terms on which the opium is to be supplied, and the amount of the daily tax which they shall be required to pay, in addition to the price of the opium which they may clear out. The Boards aforesaid shall cause the highest price or rates of duty to be fixed that can be done without risk of giving rise to the illicit manufacture and sale of opium.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxiv.

83. On any breach of the conditions of his engagement, not being an offence specifically provided for, the license granted to the opium vendor shall be considered forfeited, and the offender shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and in the event of the fine not being duly discharged, to such imprisonment, not exceeding one month, as the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal may deem adequate to the offence committed. The offender shall likewise forfeit his security to such extent as the collector may judge necessary to indemnify Government for the loss occasioned by his default, over and above the amount payable by him in the ordinary course, under the engagement contracted with the collector or other officer entrusted with the abkary mehal up to the date of the resignation of his sunnud.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxv.

84. Persons licensed to vend opium shall be at liberty to surrender their licenses; and shall be relieved from their engagements on making application for that purpose to the collector, and paying a sum equal to the daily tax for one month, over and above the amount payable by them in the ordinary course, under their engagements contracted with the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, up to the date of the resignation of their licenses.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxvi.

85. Any license which may be issued under the rules of this Regulation shall only be considered to authorize the establishment of one shop. If any vender shall be desirous of establishing more than one shop, he shall take out a separate license for each: but all licensed venders of opium shall be held answerable for the due performance of the conditions of their licenses by the persons to whom they may entrust the management of any shop, in the same manner as they are themselves responsible for their own acts; and any licensed vender of opium, selling the drug elsewhere than in the shop specified in his license, shall be held liable to the penalties prescribed for the illicit vend.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxvii.

86. The Board of Revenue may likewise, in cases where it may appear advisable, authorize the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal to grant, on application from any person, whether licensed vendor or otherwise, desirous of vending opium at any temporary haut, a special license for that purpose, specifying the name of such haut and the number of days for which the license shall have effect. This license shall be drawn out (mutatis mutandis) in a form similar to No. 2, annexed to this Regulation.—Reg. XIII, 1816, sec. lxviii.

87. The collectors or other officers entrusted with the abkary mehals, shall be allowed a commission of five per cent. on the net amount realized by them on the sale of opium under the provisions of this Regulation.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxix.

88. If in any case adulterated opium be attempted to be delivered out or offered for sale, directly or indirectly, by any of the venders (or persons employed by them) nominated by the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, to conduct the sales at the shops established on account of Government, or by any licensed vender of opium, the license granted to him shall be forfeited, and he shall be subject, on conviction before the collector, to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and to such imprisonment not exceeding six months as the collector of the zillah may judge proper; the opium shall be confiscated and destroyed, and all boats, carriages, cattle, and packages of whatever description on which or in which it shall be found, shall be seized and confiscated. The person giving information of the fact shall, on the conviction of the offender, be entitled to a moiety of whatever fine the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal may deem it proper to impose on the offender.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxx.

89. If the person so charged shall deny that the opium is adulterated, the collector of the zillah shall refer the opium for examination to the surgeon of the station, or where there may be no surgeon, shall summon and examine two or more of the most respectable native doctors or other competent judges on the point; and for this purpose the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal shall always retain a certain quantity of all despatches of opium which he may deliver to the venders, as a sample with which to compare the opium sold by them.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxi.

90. The rules prescribed in Regulation X., 1813, respecting the sale of spirituous liquors in the vicinity of military cantonments, shall likewise be applicable to the sale of opium under the provisions of this Regulation.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxii.

91. It shall be competent to the collector to enforce payment of arrears due from persons licensed to vend opium, either from the defaulter or his surety, by the process in force for the recovery of arrears of revenue due from farmers of land and their sureties.—Reg. XVII., 1814, and Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxiii.

92. No opium shall be sold, except at the shops established on the part of Government, or by persons duly authorized under license by the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxiv.

93. Any unauthorized person who shall sell any quantity of opium whatever, whether large or small, shall, on conviction before the collector of land revenue, be subject to such fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or in lieu of it to such imprisonment not exceeding six months, as the collector may judge proper; provided, however, that this rule shall not be construed to extend to native doctors bonâ fide administering opium as medicine in cases of actual sickness.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxv.

94. All persons may have in their possession any quantity of opium not exceeding five tolas weight, of the weight in use at the public shops in the district, being opium duly manufactured on account of Government, or sold by its authority, and intended for private use and consumption, and not for sale or traffic.—Reg. XI., 1818, sec. iii., cl. 1.

95. If a greater quantity of opium than that above specified shall be found on or in possession of any person not duly authorized, and not being of the description specified in para. 46, the opium shall be considered contraband, and shall be liable to confiscation, together with the animals, carriages, and articles of whatever description on which or in which it may be found; and if the offender shall be unable to show any sufficient or reasonable cause for having a larger quantity than five tolas in his possession, he shall be further subject, on conviction before the collector of land revenue, to the penalties prescribed in para. 59 for the purchase and possession of contraband opium. The person or persons through whose means the offence may be detected shall, on the conviction of the offender, be entitled to the rewards specified in paras. 64 to 70.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxvi., and Reg. XI., 1818, sec. iii., cl. 2.

96. Provided, however, that in cases in which the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board, may deem it expedient to authorize native medical practitioners, or other individuals, to retain in their possession, for medical purposes, a larger quantity of opium than five tolas weight, or to supply such persons with opium directly from the collector's office, at a lower price than it can be furnished by the licensed venders, the Board, or other authority aforesaid, shall be empowered to direct the collectors, or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal, to grant to such persons a special license to that effect, free of tax, and to supply them with opium on such terms as under the circumstances of the case may appear reasonable and proper.—Reg. XI., 1818, sec. iii., cl. 3.

97. Parties receiving such licenses shall in no case sell or give any of the opium received by them under the above provision, unless for the purpose of its being bonâ fide administered under their own directions as medicine, in cases of actual sickness duly ascertained by them. All such licenses shall be liable at all times to be cancelled by the collector, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that Board; and any person having such a license, who shall sell or give opium to any person otherwise than for the purpose and in the manner above stated, or shall have in his possession a larger quantity of opium than that specified in his license, shall be subject to all the penalties prescribed for the illicit vend and possession of the drug.—Reg. XI., 1818, sec. iii. cl. 4.

98. Provided, however, that nothing contained in the above paragraph shall be construed to apply to authorized opium cultivators, having newly extracted opium in their possession, during the usual period between the full growth of the poppy and the delivery of the opium to the agent.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxvii.

99. The collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal shall furnish the abkary darogahs and the darogahs of the police with a list of the persons licensed to vend opium, and it shall be the duty of persons holding the office of abkary or police darogahs to apprehend and send in to the authority under whom they may be placed, all persons engaged in the illicit sale of opium; provided, however, it shall be their duty at the same time to send the necessary witnesses to prove the fact. In all cases in which such persons guilty of the illicit sale of opium, or in which ryots guilty of the illegal culture of the poppy shall be sent in to the magistrate, it shall be his duty, immediately on their arrival, to send the persons so charged, together with the witnesses who may have been sent along with them, to the collector of land revenue or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, who will pass judgment on the case under the rules hereinafter prescribed. —Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxviii.

100. It shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue to furnish the several officers under their control with such detailed instructions in respect to the prevention of the illicit culture of the poppy, and the illegal manufacture, sale, purchase, importation, transportation and possession of opium, as they may deem necessary, with a view of better securing that object, consistently with the provisions of this Regulation.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxix.

101. All suits, complaints and informations, for the recovery of any fine or penalty recoverable by Government or by the informer, on account of the illicit cultivation of the poppy, the illicit manufacture, sale, purchase, importation, transportation or possession of opium (excepting complaints or charges preferred against public officers for a breach of their official duty under the rules of this Regulation, the cognizance of which is reserved to the magistrates), are hereby declared cognizable by the collector of land revenue or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal; any thing in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding; and the investigation thereof shall be conducted under the following rules.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxx.

102. Whatever judicial powers are declared to be vested in the collectors of land revenue, or officers in charge of the abkary mehal, shall also belong to and be discharged by the opium agents of Behar and Benares, and their respective deputies, and the investigation of all suits, complaints, or informations which may come before them for the recovery of any fine or penalty recoverable by Government or by the informer, on account of the illicit cultivation, manufacture, sale, purchase, importation, transportation, or possession of opium, shall be conducted under the same rules as are in force for the guidance of the collectors of land revenue, or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xix., cl. 1.

103. No suit, complaint or information of the nature above mentioned, shall be admitted or proceeded upon by the collector or other officer vested with the cognizance of the same, unless it shall be preferred within the period of six months after the act for which the fine or other penalty may be demandable shall have been committed, excepting in cases in which the same shall be prosecuted on the part of Government, and good and sufficient cause be shown why the suit was not preferred within the period of six months from the commission of the act whereupon the fine or other penalty is demandable.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxxi.

104. Petitions and other papers presented in suits, informations and complaints, preferred under this Regulation before a collector of land revenue, or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, shall not be required to be written on stamped paper; and all engagements contracted between Government or its officers, and individuals under this Regulation, shall be received and admitted in evidence in the different Courts of Judicature, and by the collectors of land revenue and other officers vested with judicial powers, although not written on stamped paper.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxxii.

105. Whenever a collector or other qualified officer* shall have strong grounds to believe, either from charges preferred or evidence given on oath or affirmation, or from his own personal knowledge, that the poppy is actually growing in the field of any ryot, contrary to the prohibition of this Regulation, he shall cause the crop to be immediately attached, if not already attached, by a competent officer, and the poppy to be destroyed. In the same manner, if he shall have good grounds to believe that any person actually has upon him or in his possession a quantity of contraband opium, he shall immediately issue his warrant for the seizure of the same; and in both these cases it shall be competent to the officer to issue a warrant for the immediate apprehension of the persons so charged or suspected of the illicit culture of the poppy, or the illegal possession of opium, summoning at the same time any witnesses that may appear necessary. The collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal, together with the magistrate of the district, is likewise hereby authorized to seize, detain and search all boats, carriages, bales, chests, and packages of every description in which he may have sufficient grounds to suspect that opium is concealed.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxxiii.

* The judicial powers originally granted to collectors of land revenue or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal having been extended to the opium agents of Behar and Benares and their respective deputies (by the rule in para. 102), the words "qualified officer" have been substituted for "officer in charge of the abkary mehal."

106. In all other cases in which any person may be accused, before the collector or other qualified officer, of acts rendering him liable to any of the penalties prescribed in this Regulation, the collector or such other officer shall issue a summons, with or without requisition of security, to be served by a single chupprassy, requiring the attendance of the person charged, either in person or by vakeel, as the case may appear to the officer to require, to answer to the charge, on or before a certain day to be specified in the summons; and if it be necessary to require bail, the extent of the bail shall be stated in the summons.—The collector, or other officer aforesaid, shall at the same time summon such witnesses as may be named by the informer, and as he may judge it necessary to examine in proof of the accusation, to attend at the time appointed for the attendance of the accused.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxxiv.

107. In all cases in which the party accused or suspected may be apprehended, whether under the warrant of the collector or other qualified officer, or by the police and abkary darogahs, in the cases provided for in paras. 36, 100, and 106, or shall attend in person, the investigation by the collector or other officer aforesaid shall be commenced immediately on the arrival of the party at his cutcherry, and shall be prosecuted with the least possible delay, consistently with a due inquiry into the facts: and generally, all cases of this nature tried before the collector or other qualified officer, shall, as far as practicable, be proceeded upon on the day specified in the summons for the attendance of the party or his vakeel, unless it shall be necessary to postpone the investigation in order to procure the necessary evidence.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxxv.

108. The collectors or other qualified officers are hereby authorized to summon witnesses and administer oaths, or cause the execution of solemn declarations in lieu thereof, in respect to all matter brought before them under this Regulation, conformably with the rules in force; provided that if any witness shall refuse to take the oath or affirmation required from him, he shall be sent to the judge of the Zillah or City Court, to be confined as prescribed by the Regulations in similar cases.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxxvi.

109. The collector or other qualified officer shall, in the summoning and the examination of witnesses, and in the general conduct of the investigation, be guided (except when otherwise prescribed) by the rules prescribed for the guidance of the magistrates in the trial of persons charged with offences punishable by them; provided, however, that in suits brought by any of the officers of Government, the personal attendance or deposition of the prosecutor shall not be required, but the prosecution shall be conducted by any agent or vakeel the prosecutor may choose to appoint for that purpose.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxxvii.

110. Any person giving intentionally and deliberately a false deposition on oath, or under solemn declaration taken instead of an oath, relative to any proceeding depending before a collector or other qualified officer under this Regulation, and upon a point material to the issue thereof, shall be held and considered guilty of perjury, and shall be liable to the penalties prescribed for that offence in the Regulations; and any person causing or procuring another person to commit the offence of perjury as above described, is declared guilty of subornation of perjury, and punishable under the provisions of the said Regulations.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxxviii.

111. Persons resisting any process issued by the collector or other qualified officer, in any case depending before him under this Regulation, shall be liable to the penalties prescribed for cases of resistance to the process of a collector in Regulation XIV. 1793, Regulation VI. 1795, and Regulation XXVII. 1803, under the provisions therein specified.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. lxxxix.

112. Whenever the collector or other qualified officer shall require the assistance of police darogahs or other police officers, in the apprehension of persons charged before them, in attaching crops or seizing contraband opium, or generally in serving any process, he shall apply by a roobakaree to the magistrate, who is authorized and enjoined to cause his police officer to carry the requisition of the collector or officer aforesaid into effect, as far as may be practicable and consistent with law.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xc.

113. Whenever any person may be adjudged to pay a fine or to be imprisoned under the provisions of this Regulation, he shall be immediately sent with a roobakaree to the judge of the city or zillah, stating the purport of the order passed against the person in question; and the judge shall on those grounds give the necessary directions for the execution of the order accordingly. And it shall be competent to the officer by whom the fine may have been adjudged, in the event of its not being immediately discharged, not only to transmit the party fined to the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut, in order that he may be confined, but likewise to have recourse to the attachment and sale of any personal property belonging to the party; and in the event of the amount of the fine not being liquidated by the sale of such personal property, recourse shall then be had to the sale of any real property which may belong to the party, under the rules for the sale of lands in liquidation of arrears of revenue.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xci., and Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxii.

114. All persons sentenced to imprisonment under the provisions of this Regulation, and all persons confined for non-payment of the fines to which they may be liable, shall be confined exclusively in the Dewanny jail.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xcii.

115. In cases in which it may be necessary to imprison the offender, and in which a fine cannot or may not be levied from him, a reward of ten rupees shall be paid on the part of Government to the informant or informants, in lieu of his or their share of the fine to which the offender may have become liable under the provisions of this Regulation.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xciii.

116. Persons who, after the investigation prescribed by these rules, shall not have been convicted of the offence with which they stood charged or suspected, shall be immediately released, and the expense to which they have been actually subject on account of the inquiry, shall be paid to them by the collector or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal on the part of Government. Should it further appear on investigation, that the inquiry originated in malice, or in motives clearly vexatious and unwarranted on the side of the informant, it shall be competent for the collector or other officer aforesaid to order such informant to discharge the amount of any diet money which may have been paid to the witnesses, and to pay to the party aggrieved such moderate fine, not exceeding, however, in any case, twenty rupees, as may appear reasonable, or to be confined for a period not exceeding fifteen days. Orders passed under this rule shall be enforced in the same manner as other fines imposed under the provisions of this Regulation.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xciv.

117. It shall and may be lawful for the opium agents and deputy opium agents, subject to the orders of the Board of Revenue, to punish any of the native officers belonging to their establishments, as well as muhtos and other intermediate managers between the officers of Government and the opium ryots, for any neglect or breach of duty, or any act of oppression which may not appear to be such as to require the interposition of the magistrate or Criminal Courts, by a moderate fine, not exceeding in any case fifty rupees, and commutable, if not paid, into imprisonment in the Dewanny jail for a period not exceeding one month.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxiii., cl. 1.

118. It shall and may be lawful for the opium agents and deputy opium agents, with the sanction of the said Board, to recover any balances or sums of money due by any opium cultivator, or by any of the subordinate officers of the factory, or by any muhto or intermediate manager, or by the surety of such cultivator, officer, or manager aforesaid, by the process of distraint and sale, in the same manner, and with the same powers as collectors of the land revenue are authorized to exercise in distraining for the recovery of rents due by ryots and other tenants in estates held khas.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxiii., cl. 2.

119. It shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue to require from the officers under their control such periodical reports or returns, regarding their discharge of the duty entrusted to them under the provisions of this Regulation, as may appear to those Boards best calculated to enable them to judge whether the inquiries held by those officers on the trial of the cases cognizable by them are duly and speedily conducted, and whether the parties impleaded suffer any inconvenience which can be avoided.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xcv.

120. Persons dissatisfied with the judgments passed or acts done by the collectors or other officers in charge of the abkary mehal, or by the opium agents or other officers in charge of the opium department under this Regulation, shall be at liberty to prefer an appeal, either in person or through an authorized agent, or through the medium of the collectors or other officers by whom the judgment may have been passed, by petition to the Board of Revenue; and the Board, after calling for such information as they may require from the collectors or other officers aforesaid, shall confirm or modify the judgment given, or pass such other orders on the subject as may appear to them conformable to the principles of substantial justice. Provided, however, that no such appeal shall be received, unless it shall be preferred within the period of one month after judgment shall have been passed by the collector. It shall be the duty of the collector, on any petition of appeal being presented to him for transmission to the Board, to cause the date on which it may be so presented to be endorsed on it, and to transmit the petition without delay; and whenever any party shall appeal directly to the Board, such appellant shall, within the period above prescribed, give notice of his having done so to the collector or other officer against whose decision he may have appealed.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xcvi., and Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xix., cl. 2.

121. In all cases in which the opium agents or their deputies, the collectors or deputy collectors of customs, or superintendents of salt chokies, shall be entitled to any of the rewards prescribed in this Regulation, the collector of land revenue or other officer in charge of the abkary mehal shall report the case to the Board to which he may be subject, and await their orders for the distribution and payment of the same: in other cases, in which any informer, subordinate officer of Government, shall become entitled to such reward, the collector shall adjudge and record the distribution of the same at the time of deciding the case, and if an appeal be not preferred under the provisions of the above para., he shall proceed to the payment immediately on the expiration of the period allowed for such appeal. If the case be appealed, the distribution and payment of the rewards shall rest with the authority by which the final decision may be passed.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xcvii.

122. If any disputes should arise between an opium agent or any officer of Government, and any person, on any matter relative to the cultivation, provision, transportation, sale, purchase or possession of opium not provided for in this Regulation, either party is to be at liberty to apply for redress to the Courts of Civil Judicature, and the case shall be tried and decided upon under the general laws, regulations, and usages ordinarily observed in Civil Courts.—Reg. XIII., 1816, sec. xcviii.

IMPORTATION OF OPIUM.

123. A duty at the rate of twenty-four rupees per seer of 80 tolas shall be levied upon foreign opium imported by sea into any port or place dependent on the presidency of Fort William.—Reg. XVI., 1817, Schedule Act XIV., 1836, Act V., 1849.

124. The aforesaid duty shall be paid and levied under the same rules and provisions as are applicable generally to the payment and collection of the duties denominated Government customs, on goods or merchandise imported by sea, subject, however, to the provision contained in the following rule; and any opium imported or landed in breach of the said rules and provisions shall be forfeited, two third parts to the United Company, and one third part to the person or persons who shall seize, inform, or sue for the same, and shall and may be seized as forfeited by the collector or any of the officers of the custom-house or customs, or by any of the officers of Government serving in the opium or salt department, to be by them conveyed and deposited in one of the United Company's warehouses, or other secure place.—Reg. XVI., 1817, sec. iii.

125. The proprietor or proprietors of opium imported as aforesaid may, if he or they be so disposed, instead of landing the opium so imported at the Custom-house, and paying the duty due and payable thereon, in the manner prescribed generally for the payment of the duties denominated Government customs, on goods or merchandise imported by sea, deliver it on shore at the Company's warehouse, or such other warehouse as shall be approved by the Governor-General in Council, and secure and lodge it therein without payment of duty in the first instance; provided, however, that opium so warehoused shall not be removed until the duty imposed by this Regulation shall be duly paid.—Reg. XVI., 1817, sec. iv.

126. The importers, proprietors, or consignees of opium, which shall have been lodged or secured as aforesaid, shall, within twelve calendar months, to be computed from the date of the production of the manifest at the custom-house, clear and take from and out of such warehouses or places all such opium, and shall pay the full duty imposed by this Regulation; and in case any such importers, proprietors, or consignees shall fail or neglect so to do, it shall be lawful for the Governor-General in Council, or such officer as may be duly empowered by him in this behalf, to cause all such opium to be publicly sold or exposed to sale; and after such sale the produce thereof shall first be applied to the payment of the duty imposed by this Regulation, and the overplus, if any, shall be paid to the proprietor or other persons authorized to receive the same; provided that no such opium shall be sold unless a price can be obtained for the same equal at least to the full amount of the duty aforesaid, but if such price cannot be obtained, then all such opium shall be effectually destroyed by and in the presence of such officer as the Governor-General shall appoint.—Reg. XVI., 1817, sec. v.

SPECIAL RULES FOR CALCUTTA.*

127. With a view of better securing the duty imposed on the importation of foreign opium by sea, no person not being specially licensed by the collector of sea customs in Calcutta, or by the Board of Revenue, shall, within the city of Calcutta, have in his possession more than one pound of opium at a time, without a certificate from the secretary to the said Board, evidencing that the same has been regularly imported by sea, and paid the duty prescribed in such case, or that it has been purchased at one of the sales held on the public account in Calcutta; and any opium exceeding one pound in quantity, which may be found without such a document to protect it, or which may disagree in any respect with the certificate in the possession of individuals not being licensed as aforesaid, shall be forfeited to Government, and shall be seized by or under the warrant of the said collector, or any of the magistrates of Calcutta, and the person or persons in whose possession it was found shall forfeit to Government a sum equal to three times the amount of the duty imposed on the importation of the article by sea under the Regulation aforesaid.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxiv., cl. 1.

128. The certificates directed to be issued by this Regulation from the office of the Board of Revenue shall contain, besides such other particulars as to that authority may appear fit, the name of the holder, the quantity of the drug, and the purpose for which it is allowed to be retained; the number of the lot or lots as per sale book, if purchased at the Calcutta sales, with the number and mark on each of the chests, the cost of the opium per chest, and the date of the sale: and in the event of its having been imported by sea, the date and number of the opium as entered in the import registry book of the custom-house, the name of the importer, and of the ship in which it was imported; and each certificate so issued shall be separately registered by the secretary to the Board aforesaid, and shall bear the signature of that officer in evidence of its authority.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxiv., cl. 2.

129. In case it shall be required to export by sea any opium so covered by a certificate, it shall be the duty of the exporter to surrender the certificate at the time of his making his export application to the collector of sea customs, and any opium passed or attempted to be passed for exportation by sea without a certificate, or which may not correspond with the certificate, shall be forfeited as aforesaid; and the person or persons in whose possession it may be found shall be liable to the penalty prescribed in the first clause of this para., for the case of the illicit possession of opium generally in Calcutta.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxiv., cl. 3.

130. Certificates issued under the above rules shall be in force for one year only from their date; provided, however, that it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue to authorize their renewal for another year, and so on successively, as often as they may think proper, in the event of their being produced before the expiration of the period for which they may respectively be current. Certificates which have exceeded the term of their currency shall be considered as wholly null and void, and shall in no degree protect any opium which they may accompany.—Reg. VII., 1824, sec. xxiv., cl. 4.

SALT.*

Appointment of the Salt Agents and Superintending Officers of Chokies, and oaths to be taken by those Officers.

1. The superintendence of the provision of salt, on account of Government, shall continue to be intrusted to covenanted servants of the Company, under the official appellation of salt agents, and the Governor-General in Council reserves to himself the power of varying the number of such officers, according as he may deem fit, and of fixing the stations for their residence at his discretion.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. iii.

2. The immediate control over and charge of the several salt chokies at present established, shall, as heretofore, be ordinarily vested in civil servants of the Company, under the denomination of superintendents of salt chokies; but it shall be competent to the Governor of Bengal to vest the charge of those chokies, or any of them, in any other officer he may judge fit; and the officer so appointed shall have and exercise the same powers and duties, as it may or shall be lawful for the superintendents of salt chokies to exercise. When any person, not a covenanted civil servant, shall thus be appointed to the superintendence of a salt choky, the Governor of Bengal may limit the powers to be exercised by him in such manner as he shall be pleased to direct. It shall likewise be competent to the Governor-General in Council to order such chokies to be stationed in any district where he may deem it necessary, with a view to the suppression of illicit transactions in salt, and to vest the superintendence thereof in any officer he may deem expedient: provided, however, that a list of all chokies now established, or which may hereafter be established, shall be stuck up in a conspicuous place, at the office of the Board of Revenue, and likewise in the cutcherries of the agents and superintendents under whose control they may severally be placed.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. iv., and Act IX., 1835, sec. i.

3. When the Governor of Bengal shall appoint superintending officers of chokies without the powers of adjudication in respect to cases of alleged violation of the laws for the protection of the salt revenue, which are declared to be vested in such officers by the provisions of paragraphs 145 to 159, it shall be competent to the Governor of Bengal to invest with those powers any judicial or revenue officer of the Government, giving notice thereof in the Government "Gazette;" and every officer so invested with the said powers shall exercise the said powers in all respects as prescribed for salt agents and superintending officers of chokies.—Act IX., 1835, sec. ii.

4. Salt agents, superintendents of salt chokies, and their respective assistants and subordinate officers, shall not, without the special permission of Government, carry on, directly or indirectly, any trade, nor be concerned in any commercial transaction whatever. This prohibition is declared to extend to the purchase, directly or indirectly, of any goods or commodities in the British dominions in Bengal, for the purpose of remitting money to Europe.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. v., cl. 1.

5. Whenever any of the officers above mentioned shall be desirous of obtaining a special exemption from the operation of the above rule, he shall state in writing the nature of the commercial transactions in which he is engaged, the name or names of the place or places at which they are conducted, and the period for which he may require permission to be engaged in the concern. The orders of Government shall, in like manner, specify the nature of the concern in regard to which the exemption may be granted, the name or names of the place or places in which it is to be conducted, and the period at which the interest of such officer in such concern shall cease and determine. And the prohibition aforesaid shall, in respect to all matters, concerns, or transactions not so specified, be in full force, in like manner as if no exemption had been granted.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. v., cl. 2.

* The "Board of Revenue" has been substituted for "Board of Customs, Salt, and Opium," throughout, under the provisions of Act XLIV., 1850; and "tola" for "sicca" weight, under Reg. VII., 1833.

6. Salt agents, superintendents of salt chokies, and their respective covenanted assistants, shall, previously to entering upon the execution of the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath before the Governor-General in Council, or any person whom he shall appoint to administer it.

"I, A. B. appointed do solemnly swear, that I will diligently and faithfully execute the duties of the office of that I will not, during the period of my being so employed, directly or indirectly, by myself or others, be concerned in any commercial transaction whatever on my own account, further than I may be specially authorized in that behalf by the Governor-General in Council, under paragraphs 4 and 5; that I will not, directly or indirectly, take or receive, or knowingly allow any other person to take or receive, any fee, present, gratuity, or advantage whatever, on account of any matter relating to the duties of my office; and that I will not, directly or indirectly, derive any advantage or emolument from my station, excepting such as now is, or may be hereafter authorized by the Governor-General in Council. So help me GOD."—Reg. X., 1819, sec. vi.

General Rules for regulating the Conduct of Salt Agents and others employed in the Provision of Salt.

7. No person shall be compelled, under any pretence whatever, to engage in the provision, manufacture, or transportation of salt, either as a contractor, or a labourer, or in any other capacity; and all persons who may engage in the provision, manufacture, or transportation of salt, and may not choose to re-engage, shall be at liberty to relinquish the employment, after performing the engagements into which they may have entered, and to follow any other occupation they may think proper without hinderance or molestation.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. vii.

8. If a salt agent shall compel, or use any means, or cause any of his officers or others, to compel any molunghee, byoparry, or other person to receive advances, or to contract for, or engage in the provision, manufacture, or transportation of salt, the judge of the Dewanny Adawlut, on proof of the charge to his satisfaction, shall adjudge the contract or engagement null and void, and direct the complainant to be discharged, and cause the advances, if any should have been made, to be returned by him, and award such costs and damages against the agent, as may appear to him equitable. The agent so offending shall moreover be liable to be dismissed from his office by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. viii.

9. If the assistant to a salt agent, whether a covenanted servant of the Company, or a European not in the Company's service, or any native officer attached to a salt agency, shall compel, or use any means, or cause any inferior officer or others to compel any molunghee, byoparry, or other person to receive advances, or to contract for or engage in the provision, manufacture, or transportation of salt, he shall on conviction before the Dewanny Adawlut, be made to pay to the complainant a sum equal to the amount of the whole of the advances which such complainant would have been entitled to receive, had he voluntarily entered into the contract or engagement, with any further compensation to which he may appear entitled, and the complainant shall be immediately discharged, and any advances that he may have received shall be taken back from him. In the cases above specified, the party offending shall be liable to be dismissed from office by the Governor-General in Council, the Board of Revenue, or salt agent, according as the appointment or removal of such officer may rest with the one or the other of the said authorities; and in all such cases it shall be the duty of the court before which such charge may be proved against any agent, assistant to an agent, or officers aforesaid, to report the circumstance to the aforesaid Board.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. ix.

10. Covenanted and uncovenanted assistants, and head officers of aurungs, shall be held responsible for any compulsion that may be used for the purposes specified in the foregoing paragraph by the gomashtahs, peons, and other persons subject to their authority, unless it shall appear that it was had recourse to without their knowledge or connivance, and that they afforded all practicable redress immediately on being apprized of the circumstance; where persons subject to the authority of such assistant or head officer shall be convicted of using such compulsion without his knowledge or connivance, besides dismission from office, they shall be liable to the same penalties as are prescribed in the preceding paragraph for cases in which the native officers attached to a salt agency may be convicted of using compulsion.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. x.

11. If any contractor, molunghee, or byoparry, having received advances or entered into engagements for the provision of salt, shall be convicted before the Dewanny Adawlut of compelling, directly or indirectly, any labourer, or other person, to receive advances, or to engage in the manufacture, he shall, on conviction before the Dewanny Adawlut, be liable to the same penalty, with the exception of dismission from office, as is directed to be inflicted in the cases specified in paragraph 9. And that no contractor, molunghee or byoparry, may plead ignorance of the above rule, a clause to the effect thereof shall be inserted in their contracts.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xi.

12. It shall be lawful for any salt agent to proceed for the recovery of any balance that may be due to Government within the year, upon any contract made for the manufacture of salt in the limits of his agency, by the process of distraint; and for the demand and levy of the same, to exercise the powers vested by the Regulations and Acts of the Government in zemindars and sudder farmers, being subject to like restrictions, and with the like remedies to any parties aggrieved thereby.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xviii.

13. In concluding contracts with molunghees, or byoparries, and others, for the provision of salt, in making advances to those persons, and in the general conduct of the duties of their office, the salt agents shall be guided by the practice heretofore observed, and by such further instructions as they may receive from the Board of Revenue, or from Government.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xii.

Rules for subjecting the Officers of Government in the Salt Department to the Cognizance of the Civil Courts of Judicature, and for defining the Process to be observed in Suits in which those Officers and other Persons concerned in the Manufacture of Salt, on account of Government, may be Parties; or in which the attendance of such Persons may be required by the Courts of Judicature.

14. The salt agents and their assistants, whether covenanted servants of the Company, or Europeans not in the Company's service, and their native officers, are declared liable to be sued in the manner hereinafter described in the Dewanny Adawlut for any breach of this Regulation, or any other Regulation. Provided also, that the rules contained in Regulation II. 1814, shall be applicable to all suits or complaints preferred against salt agents and superintendents of salt chokies, in so far as those officers are amenable to the Civil Courts for acts done in their official capacity; provided, however, that the provisions of this section shall not be held applicable to acts done by salt agents in virtue of the judicial powers vested in them by this Regulation, in regard to fines, confiscations, and other penalties prescribed for illicit manufacture, importation, transportation, sale, purchase, or possession of salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 1.

15. During the manufacturing season, viz., from the middle of the month of October to the middle of July, if any molunghee, or labourer, or any other person, who may be employed in the salt manufacture, shall deem himself aggrieved by any act or order of the agent himself (not being an act or order done under the powers vested in agents by this Regulation, in cases hereafter declared to be judicially cognizable by agents and superintendents of salt chokies), he shall, in the first instance, state his complaint in person, or by vakeel, to the agent, and in the event of the agent refusing to afford him the required redress, or of his omitting to grant it within a reasonable time, the complainant shall be at liberty to sue him in the Dewanny Adawlut.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 2.

16. During the manufacturing season, if a molunghee, or labourer, or any other person, who may be employed in the salt manufacture, shall deem himself aggrieved by any act of the assistant to the agent, or any officer attached to a salt agency, or by any contractor, molunghee, or byoparry, he shall, in the first instance, state his complaint in person, or by vakeel, to the agent, in order that the agent may give such redress as it may be in his power to afford: but if the agent shall refuse to afford to the complainant the required redress, or omit to grant it within a reasonable time; or if the case be such as that the agent may not have it in his power to redress the injury received, the complainant shall be at liberty to sue in the Dewanny Adawlut the party from whom he may have sustained the injury, or the agent, if the act shall have been done under his orders, and the court shall hold the party, or the agent, responsible accordingly.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 3.

17. In the cases specified in the two preceding paragraphs, the courts are not to receive the suit of the complainant, unless he shall prove, either by oath, affirmation, or in any other mode which the court may deem satisfactory, that he made the previous application for redress to the agent, as directed in those paragraphs.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 4.

18. In the several cases specified in paragraphs 15 and 16, the complainant, if the engagements which he may have entered into on account of the manufacture be not completed, shall not quit the place of manufacture, to prosecute his complaint in person, without the permission of the head officer of the aurung under which he may work, or of the agent or assistant, but shall employ a vakeel for that purpose, unless he shall offer to substitute a person to perform his work in his room, and the agent, or his assistant, or the head officer of the aurung, shall be of opinion that the work will be equally well performed by the person so offered to be substituted; in which case the agent or his assistant, or officer, shall permit the complainant to depart.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 5.

19. The agents are authorized, in cases in which they may deem it advisable so to do, to undertake the defence of any suit that may be instituted in the Dewanny Adawlut against their assistants, or any of their officers, or other persons employed by them in the business of the manufacture; but in such cases the agent himself is to be considered as responsible for the decree of the court.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 6.

20. During the months of Sawun, Bhadoon, and Assin, molunghees, labourers, and all other persons having entered into engagements on account of the salt manufacture, or having been employed in it, who may consider themselves aggrieved by any acts done by the agent or his assistant, or any of his officers, or other persons employed by him, in breach of this or any other Regulation, are declared to have the option of suing either in person, or by vakeel, the party from whom they may have sustained the injury, in the Dewanny Adawlut, without preferring the previous application for redress, directed in the six preceding paragraphs, to be made during the manufacturing season; and further, with a view to insure the molunghees, labourers, and other persons engaged in the manufacture or transportation of salt, speedy redress of injuries they may sustain, the courts are required to bring the suits instituted by the said persons for injuries sustained by them from the officers aforesaid, to a termination as expeditiously as possible, by trying them in preference to other suits: provided, however, that nothing in the six preceding paragraphs shall be construed to empower the Courts of Judicature to take cognizance of acts done by salt agents, in virtue of the judicial powers vested in them by this Regulation, in respect to fines, confiscations, and other penalties prescribed for cases of illicit dealings in salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 7.

21. To prevent persons who may voluntarily receive advances and give a receipt for the amount, afterwards declaring that they were compelled to receive the advances (or in order to get released from their engagements), the courts, in the event of any complaint being made to them by or on behalf of a molunghee, labourer, or other person, that he was compelled to receive advances, are directed, excepting in cases in which they may have full and satisfactory evidence before them that compulsion was used, to consider the receipt as evidence primâ facie of the advances having been voluntarily received, and they shall not release the complainant from his engagements, or prevent his proceeding to the place of manufacture, should he not have proceeded there, nor bring him from thence, should he have repaired thither, until they shall have completed the trial of the complainant, and shall be satisfied that the engagement was compulsive and repugnant to this Regulation. The agents are to apply this rule in similar complaints that may be preferred to them.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xiv.

22. When any process or order shall be issued by the Courts of Civil Judicature, or the magistrates, to a salt agent or his assistant, the court is to forward it under a sealed cover, addressed to the agent or assistant, and superscribed with his official attestation. The agent, or his assistant, is immediately to acknowledge the receipt of the order or process, by an endorsement to that effect on the back of it, and is to return it under a sealed cover, addressed to the judge.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xv.

23. The agents, their covenanted and uncovenanted assistants, and head officers of aurungs, shall not be liable to prosecution for any official acts of their predecessors. But persons who may be removed from an agency, or an assistantship, or the appointment of head officer of an aurung, are to carry on in the same manner as if they had continued in office, all suits instituted against them in their official capacity, unless the Board of Revenue, upon a consideration of the circumstances of the cases, shall deem it advisable to order the agent for the time being to carry on the suits. This rule, however, is not to extend to suits in which an agent, or a covenanted or uncovenanted assistant, or head officer of an aurung, who may have been removed, shall have been engaged in virtue of the orders from the Board of Revenue, or the Governor-General in Council. All such suits are to be carried on by the agent for the time being, at the risk of Government.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xvi.

24. To facilitate the communication between the agents and their assistants, and head officers of aurungs and the vakeels in the Zillah or City Courts, and the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, who may be intrusted with the conduct of any suits or appeals in which they may be engaged in their official capacity, either whilst they may continue in the office, or after their removal from it, they are permitted to forward, free of postage, any instructions which they may have occasion to transmit to the vakeels of those courts. The instructions are to be enclosed under a sealed cover, directed to the vakeel. The instructions so sealed and directed are to be transmitted, under a sealed cover, addressed to the court in which the cause may be depending, and are to be superscribed with the name and the official designation of the person despatching them, or that which he bore when the cause of action arose. The court, immediately on receiving the instructions, is to deliver them sealed to the vakeel to whom they may be directed. In like manner, the vakeels in any of the courts to whom the pleading of such suits or appeals may be committed under this Regulation, by persons holding or having held the office of agent, assistant, or head officer of an aurung, are authorized, either whilst their constituents remain in such office, or after they shall have been removed from it, to forward any papers which they may have to convey to their constituents by the public dawk, free of postage. The papers are to be enclosed in a cover, sealed with the seal of the vakeel, and the judge of the court is to transmit the papers so sealed in a cover, addressed to the person to whom they are to be forwarded, and subscribe the cover with his official signature.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xvii.

25. In cases in which the Board of Revenue may judge it expedient, or in which they may receive orders for the purpose from the Governor-General in Council, they shall take upon themselves the superintendence of the prosecution, or defence of any suit or appeal in which they or their officers may be engaged, either in a Zillah or City Court, or the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, instead of leaving the superintendence of the conduct of the suit, or appeal, to the agent, or any other officer.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xviii.

26. Persons actually employed in the salt manufacture, who cultivate or rent lands, are to pay according to their pottahs or engagements, in the same manner as other ryots or renters, and under the same rules and Regulations, with the exceptions specified in paragraph 28, as to the mode of demanding and enforcing payment of arrears during the manufacturing season, which is to be considered as commencing on the first day of Kautic, and ending on the last day of Assar. —Reg. X., 1819, sec. xix.

27. To prevent unnecessary interruption to the manufacture, and at the same time that persons employed in it may not withhold the rents justly due from them for lands which they may rent or cultivate, the following rules are prescribed.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xx., cl. 1.

28. From the beginning of Kautic to the end of Assar, no person under engagements, and employed in the salt manufacture, shall be liable to be arrested for a demand of rent, nor to be summoned to the cutcherry of any proprietor, or farmer of land, or any person holding or entrusted with the collection of the rents or revenue of lands, or the management thereof, under any pretence whatever. If any such proprietors, farmers, or other persons aforesaid, shall have a claim for or relating to rent on any person so engaged and employed, and shall be desirous of enforcing it during the period above mentioned, they shall either distrain for the amount, under the existing regulations for levying distress for the recovery of arrears of land rent, or sue the stated defaulter for it in the Dewanny Adawlut, or state their claim in writing to the agent, who, if he shall deem it expedient so to do, shall cause the stated defaulter to satisfy it himself, and stop the amount by kistbundy from his future advances, so that his labour on account of the manufacture may not be interrupted. If the claimant shall prefer applying in the first instance to the agent, and he shall not afford satisfaction for the claim, the claimant must distrain, or commence a civil prosecution, as above pointed out. But the salt advances, or implements belonging to the Company in the hands of the defaulter, shall not be held liable for the claim, nor shall they under any pretence whatsoever be distrained, seized, sold, or otherwise disposed of by the claimant or by the court, in satisfaction of his demand.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xx., cl. 2.

29. Persons instituting suits in the Dewanny Adawlut against any of the officers of the agents, or any individuals under engagements, on account of the salt manufacture, and employed therein, are to specify their being so engaged and employed. If the notice or summons is to be served during the months of Sawun, Bhadoon, and Assin, it shall be served on the defendant, in the same manner as on other defendants not employed in the salt manufacture. If the notice or summons is to be served between the commencement of Kautic and the end of Assar, the notice or summons, with a copy of the complaint, shall be enclosed in a sealed cover addressed to the agent, and superscribed with the official signature of the judge. It shall be at the option of the agent to execute, or to cause one of his officers, or any other person whom he may think proper, to execute the security required from the defendants, in cases in which such security may be considered necessary, or to leave the party to find the required security; and in the latter case, and in the event of the summons being committed to an officer of the court, if the officer shall entertain doubts of the responsibility of the surety so offered, and the agent shall declare such security to be responsible, the officer shall accept the security. If a requisition of security for appearance should be made, and the agent should not deem it expedient to order any of his officers or any other person to become security, and the defendant himself should not be able to find such security as the agent may deem responsible, the agent is to cause the party summoned to accompany the officer of the court to the court, or if the summons shall not have been committed to the charge of an officer, he shall cause him to be conveyed before the court.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 1.

30. The salt agents are to empower their respective assistants, whether covenanted servants of the Company or European uncovenanted assistants, and also an authorized vakeel of the Dewanny Adawlut, or any other person whom the agents may think it proper to station at the place at which the court may be held, to execute the securities specified in the preceding paragraph for persons employed in the salt manufacture. The agents are to be careful to keep the judge furnished with a list of the persons so empowered, specifying also the place at which they may usually reside; and the judges are authorized in instances in which they may deem it proper, either from the distance of the place of abode of the agent from the place at which the person to be summoned may reside, or other circumstances, to order the summons to be enclosed to one of the persons so empowered to become security, instead of transmitting it to the agent himself under the preceding paragraph; in which case such person shall proceed in the manner prescribed to the agent where the summons may be sent immediately to him.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 2.

31. If a suit should be preferred in the Dewanny Adawlut against any of the officers of the agents, or any person under engagements on account of the salt manufacture, and employed therein, without specifying that he is so engaged and employed, and a notice or a summons shall in consequence be ordered to be served on him in the same manner as on other defendants, between the commencement of Kautic and the end of Assar, the officer serving the notice or summons, on the circumstance of the defendant being so employed being notified to him by the agent or any of his officers, or by the defendant himself, shall deliver such notice or summons to the nearest person empowered to execute securities, whether the agent or his covenanted or uncovenanted assistants, or the head officer of an aurung, who shall proceed in the manner prescribed to the agent in paragraph 29. If an officer charged with a summons against any person of the above description shall receive the notification of the defendant being employed in the manufacture from the defendant only, and shall entertain doubts of his being so employed; or if he shall not entertain any such doubts, but shall apprehend that he will abscond whilst he (the officer) is repairing with the summons to the person empowered to execute the securities, he shall in such case carry the defendant with the summons to the person so empowered, and shall not release his person until the required securities have been executed.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 3.

32. In cases in which a person under engagements on account of the salt manufacture, and employed therein, shall be charged before the magistrate with a bailable offence, and the warrant shall be ordered to be served at any period between the commencement of the month of Kautic and the end of Assar, the warrant shall be served in the manner directed in the three preceding paragraphs with regard to summonses in civil cases, with this difference, that the warrant shall require the party summoned to appear in person, or by vakeel, as the magistrate may think proper, either during or after the manufacturing season, and shall specify the sum for which the security or recognizance for the appearance of the defendant is to be given; the amount of which shall be regulated by the magistrate according to the nature of the offence, and the situation and circumstances in life of the defendant.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 4.

33. In all the cases specified in the four preceding paragraphs, the agent or his covenanted or uncovenanted assistants, or head officer, through whom the summons or warrant may be served, shall note on the back of it in what manner it has been served, and by whom the security has been executed.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 5.

34. If a charge shall be preferred to a magistrate against any of the officers of the agents, or any person under engagements on account of the salt manufacture, and employed therein, for an offence that is not bailable, and there shall appear to the magistrate sufficient ground for apprehending the person so charged, the warrant for his apprehension shall require him to appear immediately in person, and shall be executed at all times in the same manner as upon persons not so engaged or employed. But the officer, after securing the offender, is to give notice thereof to the agent or head officer of the nearest aurung, or place of manufacture.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 6.

35. In all cases in which the agents or their head officers, empowered for that purpose, shall become surety under any of the six preceding paragraphs for the appearance of any officer or person employed in the salt manufacture, or shall declare any person whom the party summoned may offer as surety to be responsible, the agent is to be considered personally answerable for the due performance of the conditions of the security, in the event of the party for whom the security may be given not performing them himself, or where the party himself shall have given the security, and it shall have been declared responsible by the agent or his officers, in the event of the party or such surety not performing them. It will accordingly be the business of the agents to take care to employ creditable persons only as head officers to superintend the business of the aurungs and to become security, and to furnish them with proper instructions, and to take such security from them as they (the agents) may deem sufficient to indemnify themselves for the consequences that may result from any abuse which such officers may commit in the exercise of their trust.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 7.

36. Notices to officers or other persons employed in the salt manufacture to appear as witnesses, shall be served, during the manufacturing season, in the same manner as if they were parties in the cause; but the judges are to be careful not to issue notices to such officers or persons, excepting when their attendance shall be necessary; and on their appearance to have them examined and dismissed with all practicable dispatch, so that they may be absent from the business of the manufacture as short a time as possible.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 8.

37. The agents, their assistants, uncovenanted European and native officers, are declared liable to be sued in the Dewanny Adawlut, should they apply any of the rules in the eight preceding paragraphs, regarding notices, summonses, and warrants, issued against persons employed in the manufacture of salt, to persons not bonâ fide so employed; and as the rules contained in those paragraphs are intended only to prevent unnecessary interruptions to the manufacture, where it can be avoided without impeding the course of justice, the judges and magistrates are empowered in particular cases, in which it may appear to them indispensably necessary for the purposes of justice, to order the personal attendance of any native officer or person in anywise concerned or employed in the salt manufacture, whether he may be a party or a witness in the suit or prosecution, at any time during the manufacturing season, notwithstanding anything that may be said to the contrary in those paragraphs, and to cause process to be executed upon him for that purpose, in the same manner as upon other individuals; but in such cases the judges and magistrates are to record on their proceedings, their reasons for deviating from the provisions contained in the said paragraphs, which are to be considered as the general rules for issuing and executing such notices, summonses, and warrants; and in the notice, summons, or warrant, they are to specify that it has been specially ordered to be so executed in virtue of the discretionary power vested in them by this paragraph, and they are moreover strictly enjoined to refrain from every unnecessary exercise of that power.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxi., cl. 9.

38. If a decree shall be passed against a native officer, or any person under engagements on account of the salt manufacture, and actually employed in it, and the court shall order the decree to be enforced at any time between the commencement of Kautic and the end of Assar, recourse may be had to his property, but his person shall not be attached or molested during that period. At the close, however, of the manufacturing season, the agent shall be responsible for his appearing before the court, if required, but the salt, or the advances, or any implements belonging to the Company, which may be in his hands shall not be liable for the decree; but during Sawun, Bhadoon, and Assin, and also in the manufacturing season, if the salt agent shall signify to the judge, through an authorized vakeel of the court, that their attendance is not required in the business of the manufacture, the persons of all such individuals so employed shall be equally liable with their property for decrees.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxii.

39. Superintending officers of the chokies are to be careful to keep the several judges and magistrates, in whose jurisdictions the chokies are stationed, furnished with the lists of the chokies, pointing out their situations, and specifying the names of the officers attached to them; and in the event of any change taking place in the situation of a choky, or among the officers belonging to a choky, the same shall be immediately notified to the judge.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxiii.

40. Persons instituting suits in the Dewanny Adawlut against any of the officers of the salt chokies are to specify the nature of their employment; and the notice or summons to be served upon such officers, with copy of the complaint against them, shall be enclosed in a sealed cover to the superintendent of the choky to which the party may be attached, who will, without delay, cause the notice to be served in the regular manner, or send persons to take charge of the choky, and cause the party when summoned to accompany the officer of the court to the court, or if the summons shall not have been committed to the charge of an officer, he chall cause such party to be conveyed before the court.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxiv.

41. In cases in which an officer of a salt choky shall be charged before a magistrate with a bailable offence, the warrant shall be served in the manner directed in the preceding paragraph with regard to the summons, and the party to whom the warrant may be sent under cover, shall cause the officer summoned to give the requisite bail, or immediately to appear in person, or by vakeel, as the magistrate may think proper to require in the warrant.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxv.

42. If a charge shall be preferred to a magistrate on oath or affirmation against any of the officers of the chokies, for an offence that is not bailable under the Regulations, and there shall appear to the magistrate sufficient ground for apprehending the persons so charged, the warrant for their apprehension shall be executed at all times in the same manner as upon persons not choky officers. But the officer of the court, after securing the offender, is to give notice thereof to the superintendent of the choky to which the offender is attached.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxvi.

43. Requisitions to officers of the salt chokies to appear as witnesses shall be served in the manner above prescribed in paragraph 40, but the judges are to be careful not to summon such officers, excepting when their attendance shall be necessary, and on their appearance they are to have them examined and dismissed with all practicable dispatch, so that they may be absent from their chokies as short a time as possible.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxvii.

44. The discretionary power granted by the thirty-seventh paragraph to judges and magistrates in special cases of persons concerned in the provision of salt under a salt agent, is hereby declared to be equally vested in those authorities, in regard to persons employed in the choky department.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxviii.

45. If a decree shall be passed against an officer of a salt choky, and the court shall order the decree to be enforced, recourse may be had to his property; but his person, if attached, shall not be removed without previous notice being given to the party under whose superintendence the officer acts, that another person may be immediately deputed to take charge of his place during his absence.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxix.

Penalties to which all Persons concerned in or conniving at the illicit Manufacture of Salt shall be subject.

46. Alimentary salt shall not be made in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, or Orissa, excepting on account of Government, or with their sanction; and all salt made in breach of this Regulation shall be forfeited, and the parties offending shall be liable to the penalties hereinafter prescribed. —Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxx.

47. Any person who shall manufacture salt in opposition to the above prohibition, or shall, directly or indirectly, be concerned in, or in any way encourage or promote such illicit manufacture, shall forfeit for each khalary or salt-work established by him or with his connivance, such sum, not exceeding rupees five hundred, as may appear reasonable and sufficient with reference to the circumstances of the case and the condition in life of the offender; and each fire or fire-place applied, used, or prepared for the manufacture of salt, shall be held to constitute a separate khalary within the meaning and intent of this Regulation. In addition to the above penalties, the offender shall be liable to imprisonment in the foujdary jail for a period not exceeding six months, which sentence shall be adjudicated in like manner as the fine.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxi., and Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xvi.

48. When any person shall be convicted of gang smuggling, or of any of the offences described in the preceding paragraph, after having been previously convicted of a like offence, he shall be sentenced, in addition to the penalty attaching to such offence, to imprisonment in the foujdary jail for a period of six months; and a like punishment of six months' imprisonment shall be incurred, in addition to the punishment which may be inflicted for a first offence, upon every subsequent conviction after the second.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xvii.

49. All zemindars, talookdars, and other proprietors of land, whether malguzary or la-khiraj; all sudder farmers and under-renters of land of every description; all dependent talookdars; all naibs, gomashtas, and other local agents; all sezawals, tehsildars, and other native officers employed in the collection of the revenue and rents of lands on the part of Government, or the Court of Wards, are hereby declared accountable for preventing, to the utmost of their power, the illicit manufacture of salt within the limits of the estate or farm held or managed by them.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxii.

50. It shall be the duty of every party under direct engagements with Government for the land revenue, either as a proprietor or farmer, and of every proprietor of la-khiraj lands upon whose zemindary, farm, or la-khiraj estate there shall be any works producing salt otherwise than under contract with a salt agent or on account of Government, to give notice of the same in writing to the nearest public officer of police or land revenue, or of the salt department, within ten days from the date on which the works were first prepared; and in like manner it shall be the duty of every person employed in the collection of the land revenue of any mehaul on the part of Government, or of the Court of Wards, or of joint proprietors, to give like notice in respect to salt manufactured on the lands under their management; and every such proprietor, farmer, proprietor of la-khiraj estate or manager, who shall knowingly omit to give such notice, shall be liable, on conviction before the judge of any zillah or city, to a fine of 500 rupees, for every khalary or salt-work established on his lands; and such knowledge shall not be required to be established by direct proof, but may be inferred from circumstances, at the discretion of the judge deciding the case; and any fine that may be adjudged under this paragraph shall be recoverable by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender, or by process of execution taken out by any salt agent or superintendent of chokies in the manner provided for decrees of the Civil Courts. If the party offending be an officer of Government, he shall, in addition to the above penalties, be further subject to dismission from office; provided also, that all zemindars, managing their estates through gomashtas or other agents, shall be subject to the same penalty for any neglect or connivance on the part of such agents, as if they had themselves been guilty of the offence.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxvii., and Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxiii.

51. All native officers of Government of whatever description, including all chokydars, pykes, and other officers of village police, are hereby strictly enjoined to assist in suppressing the illicit manufacture of salt, by giving instant information to the authority to whom they are immediately subordinate, whenever it may come to their knowledge that any illicit khalary or salt-work has been or is about to be established in any village or villages; and if any officer aforesaid shall neglect to give information as above directed, or shall in any respect connive at the illicit manufacture of salt, such officer shall, besides being liable to dismission from office, be further subject on conviction to the payment of a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for each khalary or salt-work established or worked with his knowledge or connivance.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxiv.

52. Magistrates, or other authorities who may receive information of the establishment of any illicit khalary, shall immediately transmit the information so received to the nearest salt agent or superintendent of salt chokies.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxv.

53. The manufacture within the province of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, of noon-chye, or any description of saline substance used as a condiment with food (excepting on account of Government or with its sanction), is and shall be considered to be a violation of the rule contained in para. 46; any place prepared for the reception or evaporation of salt-water, or the collection of earth or other matter impregnated with salt, for the purpose of manufacturing salt or any saline substance as aforesaid, shall be held to constitute a salt-work, within the meaning of paras. 47, 49, 50, 51, 52 And the manufacture, importation, transportation, possession, sale, and purchase of any saline substance, as aforesaid, shall be and be held liable to the same rules, restrictions, and penalties as attach to manufacture, importation, transportation, possession, sale, or purchase of ordinary alimentary salt.—Reg. X., 1826, sec. iii.

Rules regarding the Transportation and Sale of Salt.

54. All salt exceeding in quantity five seers, of eighty tolas to the seer, not being salt actually belonging to Government, which may be found within the limits of the salt chokies established in the provinces of Bengal or Orissa, not covered by a rowannah or char chitty, nor protected by a special pass from the Board of Revenue, shall be held to be contraband, and as such shall be seized and confiscated; and all persons found in the act of conveying salt without rowannah, or other protecting document, exceeding in quantity five seers, of eighty tolas to the seer, within the tract of country in Bengal or Orissa, wherein the transportation of salt is prohibited unless so protected, and also all persons found carrying salt so unprotected, in gangs or companies, which salt in the whole quantity exceeds ten seers, shall, as well as the owners thereof, be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees per maund for each and every maund of contraband salt so seized and confiscated; provided also, that if any despatch of salt, covered by a rowannah or other document aforesaid, shall be laden on more than one boat, or more than one karroo of bullocks, then and in that case there shall be required, in addition to the rowannah or char chitty or special pass, from the Board of Revenue, a separate chellaun for each and every one of such boats or karroos of bullocks on which the salt may be laden; and any salt found under the above circumstances, unaccompanied with the said document, shall be seized and confiscated, together with the boats or bullocks on which it may be laden.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxvi., cl. 1; Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xiv.; and Act III., 1851.

55. When parties shall be convicted of the illegal possession or transportation of salt, and shall be liable to the penalty of five rupees per maund, as prescribed in the preceding paragraph, the fine shall be at the said rate according to the quantity of salt seized, whether less or more than one maund, and each one of the smugglers in company, or parties to the fraud on the revenue, shall be liable to the whole fine.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxiv.

56. Rowannahs granted to the purchasers of salt at the public sales shall have affixed to them the seal of the salt office, and the signature of the secretary to the Board of Revenue, or one of the covenanted assistants attached to that Board; they shall specify the quantity of salt intended to be transported under them, the date of the sale, and the number of the lot in part or in full of which the salt is deliverable, the name of the purchaser, the place whence the salt is deliverable, the mode of conveyance, the place to which the salt is to be transported, and the route by which it shall be conveyed; such rowannahs are to be current for only one year from their date, after which they shall be wholly null and void, and shall in no degree protect any salt which they may accompany; provided, however, that if the owner of any salt covered by or specified in a rowannah, and which shall not have been consumed or exported beyond the limits of the chokies, shall within the said period of one year apply to the Board of Revenue for a renewed rowannah, the Board shall grant such rowannah for a further period of one year, on being satisfied of the existence and identity of the salt; and it shall likewise be competent to the Board aforesaid to grant, under similar conditions, renewed rowannahs for such further successive periods of one year as to them shall seem fit, or to refuse the renewal, and on the expiration of the second year from the date of the original rowannah, to pass such orders in regard to the disposal of the salt as they may judge proper, whether the same be lodged in the Company's golahs or otherwise. Renewed rowannahs shall of course contain the same particulars as those specified in the original rowannah above described, with a reference also to the registered number of the said original rowannah.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxvi., cl. 2.

57. Should the purchaser or proprietor of salt be desirous of dividing the lot, covered by a rowannah or exchange rowannah, into two or more despatches, of quantities exceeding one hundred maunds each, he shall as heretofore be entitled, on application to the Board of Revenue, to receive as many exchange rowannahs as he may require, subject to the conditions above specified in the case of renewed rowannahs.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxvi., cl. 3.

58. The chellaun in all practical cases shall be signed by the agent or other European officer in charge of the golahs, as well as by the darogah or other head native officer of the golah station at which the salt shall be delivered. The chellaun shall specify the quantity of salt laden on the boat, vessel, or karroo of bullocks, the date of the sale, and number of the lot in part or in full of which the salt is delivered, the name of the original purchaser at the sale, and of the present proprietor of the salt, the number of the rowannah by which the salt is covered, and the total quantity of salt covered by the same, the name of the gomashtah who shall receive the salt, of the proprietor of the boat, vessel, or karroo of bullocks on which the salt shall be laden, and of the manjee, serang, or sirdar in charge of such boat, vessel, or karroo, the description, burthen, and number of oars of the boat or vessel, and the number of bullocks in the karroo, also the place of destination of the salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxvi., cl. 4.

59. A char chitty should have affixed to it the signature of the darogah or mohurrir of the salt choky from whence it was issued, and should specify the quantity of salt covered by it, which quantity must be less than one hundred maunds of eighty tola weight to the seer, and also the time for which it is current, which is never to exceed six months; the char chitties should further specify the number of the rowannah from which the salt is written off, and the limits within which the salt is to be sold.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxvi., cl. 5.

60. Char chitties shall be current only within the limits subject to the control of the darogah by whom they shall have been granted, and shall not cover salt in its transit through the chokies subordinate to any other darogah.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxvi., cl. 6.

61. Should any person be desirous of consigning or carrying a despatch of salt not exceeding one hundred maunds, being part of a lot covered by a rowannah, renewed or exchange rowannah, to any place beyond the line of the chokies within which the salt may be stored, he shall, on identifying the salt, be furnished by the darogah of the chokies with an atrafee rowannah to protect it in its passage to the place of its destination; the currency of an atrafee rowannah shall in no case exceed the period of six months.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxvi., cl. 7.

62. The several darogahs shall be supplied with such number of atrafee rowannahs as may be found requisite from the salt office, and all such documents shall, previously to their being issued to the darogahs, be duly registered, signed, and sealed by the secretary to the Board of Revenue, or one of the covenanted assistants attached to the Board, in the mode which is now observed in regard to all rowannahs renewed, and exchange rowannahs.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxvi., cl. 8.

63. The agents of the different salt divisions and other officers in charge of the Honourable Company's salt, shall furnish the proprietors of salt that shall be cleared out from any of the golah stations under their respective charge, or the agents of such proprietor, with a chellaun for every boat, vessel, or karroo, or division of bullocks, that may be laden with salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxvii., cl. 1.

64. The proprietor of the salt, or the person receiving the same from the golah stations on his account, shall certify at the foot of the chellaun that it has been duly and correctly drawn up.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxvii., cl. 2.

65. All persons in charge of salt are required to keep their chellauns constantly on board of their boats or vessels, or with the bullocks on which the salt described in the chellauns may be laden, to produce the chellauns at a moment's warning to any officer of Government duly authorized to attach illicit salt, who may demand a sight of them. And it is hereby declared, that any salt laden on any boat, vessel, or karroo of bullocks, which may be attached, for which a proper chellaun shall not be instantly produced, or the chellaun accompanying which shall not correspond in every particular with the salt, and also with the rowannah covering the salt, shall be confiscated; and if in any case the rowannah, stated to cover a despatch of salt, shall not be produced within twenty-four hours after being required by an officer authorized as aforesaid, the salt shall be held to be contraband and confiscated as such, unless the most satisfactory reasons be assigned for the delay in the production of the rowannah; provided also, that in any cases in which a small despatch of salt conveyed in a single boat, or by a single karroo of bullocks, shall be covered by a rowannah or atrafee rowannah without being accompanied by a chellaun, the rowannah or atrafee rowannah shall always be kept with the salt which it covers, and any delay in producing it, on the requisition of an officer authorized to attach illicit salt, shall render the salt which it purports to protect liable to confiscation as contraband, unless the cause of the delay be explained; provided also, that in the several cases above specified, the person or persons in whose possession the salt may be found, shall be liable to the same penalty as is prescribed by paras. 54 and 55 for the illicit possession of salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxviii.

66. Darogahs of salt chokies shall personally examine and coot all despatches of salt passing their respective chokies, and after having ascertained that the salt and boats and vessels correspond with the description given of them in the respective passes belonging to them, they shall certify the same, together with the date of the examination, on the back of the chellauns. The said darogahs are prohibited from deputing peons or other inferior officers to execute the duty of cooting and examining the salt, and from causing the chellauns, or other documents by which the salt is covered, in any case, or under any pretence whatsoever, to be removed from on board the boat or vessel containing the salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xxxix.

67. No salt which may have been transported beyond the limits of the chokies shall be again brought within those limits excepting under a fresh rowannah granted specially for the purpose, under the authority of the Board of Revenue, by the secretary or some other covenanted officer attached to the Board. Any salt brought within the limits of the salt chokies, in violation of the above prohibition, shall be forfeited; and the parties in whose possession it may be found shall be liable to the penalty prescribed in paragraphs 54 and 55, for the illicit possession of salt; provided also, that it shall be competent to the said Board to withhold or grant such rowannahs as they may in each instance see fit.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xl.

68. If any person shall attempt to transport within the limits specified in paragraph 54, by land or by water, under a rowannah, chellaun, renewed or exchange rowannah, atrafee rowannah, or special pass from the Board of Revenue, a greater quantity of salt than shall be specified in the rowannah, or other document aforesaid, the excess so attempted to be transported, as well as the quantity specified in the rowannah or other document aforesaid, shall, if the surplus be found on weighing to exceed two and a half per cent. on the quantity so specified, be held to be contraband, and shall be seized and confiscated as such; and the gomashtah or other person in charge of the salt shall, on proof of the fact, be subject to a fine of ten rupees for every maund of salt in excess of the quantity stated in the rowannah or other document aforesaid.—Reg X., 1819, sec. xli.

69. Protection for salt in transport within the limits of the chokies established in Bengal and Orissa, against the penalties enacted for the contraband or illicit conveyance thereof, is given by the rowannah, renewed, exchange, or atrafee rowannah, or special pass issued by the Board of Revenue, and by no other document, except in case of the transport of small quantities not exceeding one hundred maunds under a char chitty, as provided in paragraphs 59 and 60. The liability of salt to confiscation, or to other penalties, shall be determined therefore by the document aforesaid, independently of any chellauns or other subsidiary documents, also required to be taken out and exhibited under separate rules applicable thereunto. And in case of any question arising whether salt is liable to confiscation under the foregoing rule by reason of an excess of quantity being found upon weighing the same, the comparison shall be made of the total quantity in the whole despatch with the quantity specified in the rowannah, renewed, exchange, or atrafee rowannah, or special pass, as the case may be, covering the same, and confiscation shall be adjudged of the whole despatch, or the same shall be released according to the result of such comparison; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to exempt persons engaged in the transport of salt from the necessity of taking out chellauns also under the rules applicable to such papers, or to remit the penalties enacted for the omission, or for any irregularity therein.—Reg. IV., 1832, sec. ii.

70. In like manner, if any quantity of salt, accompanied by a char chitty, shall be found to exceed that mentioned in the char chitty, a fine of ten rupees shall be levied on every maund of salt so found in excess from the proprietor.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xlii.

71. Any person convicted of having fraudulently sold, given, or purchased rowannahs, renewed or exchange rowannahs, atrafree rowannahs, chellauns, char chitties, or passes, or having illicitly altered, attested, or endorsed such documents, or of having engaged in or connived at clandestine or fraudulent dealings, with respect to rowannahs, renewed or exchange rowannahs, atrafee rowannahs, chellauns, char chitties, or passes, for the purpose of smuggling salt, either with the person in whose name the rowannah, or either of the aforesaid documents, shall have been taken out, or with any other person or persons concerned in such transactions, shall forfeit to Government a sum of five hundred rupees on every hundred maunds of salt specified in the said rowannah, renewed or exchange rowannah, atrafee rowannah, chellaun, char chitty, or pass.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xliii.

72. All boats, sloops, or vessels of any description, employed in transporting from the Company's golahs salt sold or to be sold at the Company's sales, shall be registered by the salt agent of the division to which the boats, sloops, or vessels may proceed to receive salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xliv.

73. Salt not proceeding by the route and to the place specified in the rowannah, renewed or exchange rowannah, atrafee rowannah, or chellaun, shall be held to be contraband, although accompanied by a rowannah, renewed or exchange rowannah, atrafee rowannah, or chellaun; the salt shall be confiscated, and the parties in whose possession it may be found shall be liable to the penalty prescribed in paragraphs 54 and 55, for the illicit possession of salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xlv., cl. 1.

74. All persons, therefore, who, after taking out a rowannah, renewed or exchange rowannah, or atrafee rowannah, for any despatch of salt, may be desirous of consigning or carrying the salt, or any portion of it, to a place or by a route other than the place or route specified in such documents, shall apply for a fresh rowannah of the same description as the rowannah possessed by them, to the Board of Revenue, which Board shall grant the same, subject to the general rules above prescribed for renewed rowannahs.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xlv., cl. 2.

75. All proprietors of salt covered by a rowannah, renewed or exchange rowannah, special pass, atrafee rowannah, or char chitty, who may sell or otherwise dispose of any portion of such salt within the line of the salt chokies, are required daily to certify on the back of the rowannah or other document aforesaid, the quantity sold or disposed of by them, and when practicable, they shall as heretofore obtain the attestation of the nearest choky darogah.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xlvi., cl. 1.

76. Any person neglecting or omitting to comply with the above provision shall be subject to a fine of five rupees for every maund of salt which may be proved to have been sold, and not to have been written off in the manner above directed; and it shall be competent to the salt agent and superintendent to whom information of any breach of this rule may be given, to detain as security for the eventual liquidation of the said fine, two maunds of salt for every maund irregularly sold or disposed of. In like manner, persons who may accidentally lose any portion of a despatch of salt within the said limits, are hereby required, under the like penalty, to write off, in the manner aforesaid, the quantity of salt lost by them, and to obtain the attestation of the nearest choky darogah as above prescribed.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xlvi., cl. 2.

77. Should the whole of any despatch of salt be disposed of within the limits of the chokies, the rowannah, atrafee rowannah, or char chitty, covering the salt, shall be delivered up to the darogah of the choky within which the last parcel of the salt shall have been disposed of; or in the event of the whole quantity of salt covered by any of the aforesaid documents, or any part thereof, being carried out of the control of the salt chokies, the rowannah or other document shall in that case be delivered up to the darogah of the last choky which the salt may have to pass. It shall be the duty of the darogahs to transmit all rowannahs and atrafee rowannahs which may come into their possession, to the office of the secretary to the Board of Revenue, in order that they may be there examined and compared.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xlvi., cl. 3.

78. Any person who, in disregard of this rule, shall retain, or in whose possession any of the aforesaid documents shall be found after the salt for which they were taken out shall have been sold or carried out of the choky, and who may not be able to account for omitting to surrender them, shall on conviction forfeit to Government the sum of one rupee per maund on the quantity specified either in the rowannah, renewed or exchange rowannah, or atrafee rowannah, which may be in his possession.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xlvi., cl. 4.

79. Fees shall be levied on the issue of rowannahs and exchange rowannahs as heretofore, at the rates specified in the list of fees annexed to this Regulation; and on the issue of atrafee rowannahs, the choky darogahs shall levy a fee of four annas for each, and shall remit the amount of the fees so collected to the salt office, at such times and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall direct.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xlvi., cl. 5.

80. Whenever any despatch of salt covered by rowannah, renewed or exchange rowannah, atrafee rowannah, chellaun or char chitty, shall pass any salt choky, the rowannah or other document aforesaid shall be endorsed by the choky darogah previously to its being passed, and if any salt shall be carried past any choky without the rowannah or other document being so endorsed, the salt shall be liable to seizure and confiscation, in like manner as if it was unaccompanied by a rowannah. Any darogah refusing or delaying, without sufficient cause, to give the requisite endorsement on a rowannah or other of the documents aforesaid covering salt in transit past his choky, shall be liable to such fine, not exceeding five hundred rupees, as may be adequate to the offence, and to the injury sustained: two-thirds to be paid to the owner of the salt, and one-third to be carried to the credit of Government.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xlvii.

81. No salt, not being salt made by or on account of Government, shall be imported by land into any place within the provinces of Bengal, Behar, or Orissa, excepting from the North-Western Provinces; and any person offending directly or indirectly against this prohibition, or knowingly having in his possession any salt so imported within the said provinces, shall, in addition to the confiscation of the salt, forfeit the sum of ten rupees for each and every maund of salt so imported by him, or with his connivance.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xlviii., and Act XVI., 1848.

82. The exportation of salt by land from the province of Cuttack to Midnapore, or any other district subject to the control of the Bengal Government, is hereby strictly prohibited; and all salt exported from the province of Cuttack, in disobedience to this prohibition, shall be confiscated, together with the boats, vessels, cattle, and carriages, which may be used in the transportation, on which the same may be laden.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. li.

83. The exportation of salt by sea from the province of Cuttack, except on account of Government, is hereby strictly prohibited; and any salt attempted to be exported in disobedience to this prohibition shall be confiscated, together with the boat, dony, or other vessel on which the same may be laden.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lii.

84. Proprietors of salt which may be exported from Cuttack, in violation of the rules contained in the two preceding paragraphs, shall on conviction be subject to a fine of ten rupees for every maund of salt so exported.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. liii.

85. All native officers of Government of whatever description, and especially all such officers in the districts within which or in the neighbourhood of which salt is manufactured on the public account, or in those in which salt chokies may be established, are specially enjoined, under pain of dismission from office, and the penalties herein specially provided, to assist in suppressing the illicit sale, purchase, importation, transportation, or possession of salt, by seizing the same, if authorized to do so, or if not vested with the power of seizure, by giving immediate information to the authority to which they may be respectively subject, of all instances of such illicit sale, purchase, importation, transportation, or possession of salt which may come to their knowledge; any magistrate or other officer, to whom such information may be given, shall immediately transmit the same to the salt agent or superintending officer of salt chokies. Any native officer aforesaid, who may neglect to give information in the cases above specified, or who may in any manner connive at the illicit sale, purchase, importation, transportation, or possession of salt, shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees for each and every maund of salt so sold, purchased, imported, transported, or possessed, with his knowledge or connivance.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. liv.

86. Manjies of boats, dandies, bullock-drivers, coolies, and other persons who may be convicted of knowingly conveying contraband salt on account of others, shall, on conviction, be liable to imprisonment, for a period not exceeding six weeks, and further to the payment of a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lv.

Rules for making Seizures.

87. When information shall be given to any salt agent or superintendent of salt chokies that contraband salt is manufactured or stored in any warehouse, dwelling-house, or other place situated in the tract of country in Bengal or Orissa within which the transportation of salt without rowannah is not lawful, and such salt agent or superintendent of salt chokies shall deem the information credible, and desire to act thereupon, he shall require the same to be given to him in writing, or shall take the deposition of the informant, as may be most convenient, so that the following particulars shall be placed on record in his office. First, the name, profession, and place of residence of the informant. Second, the place, that is, the name of the town or village, and description of the house, warehouse, or other place where the salt may be stated to be unlawfully manufactured or in store. Thirdly, the name of the person to whom the house, warehouse, or other place belongs, or on account of, or by whom the salt is there manufactured or stored. Fourthly, the quantity and description of the salt, and the grounds for believing the same to be contraband.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. ii., and Act III., 1851.

88. If the contraband salt so stated to be in store exceed in quantity one maund or Indian mun, or if any newly manufactured contraband salt shall be found, it shall be liable to seizure, together with the implements of manufacture, in manner following; that is to say, the salt agent or superintendent of chokies, having before him the written statement or deposition of an informer, given in or taken down as above prescribed, shall, provided the place of such unlawful manufacture or store be not too distant, proceed in person, together with the informant, summoning by written notice the nearest police darogah or other officer in charge of the police thannah or station to attend likewise, and witness the proceeding.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. iii., and Act III., 1851.

89. For the purpose of making seizure of salt unlawfully manufactured or in store so informed against, it shall be competent to any salt agent or superintendent, having a police officer in company, to break open the door of the house, warehouse, or other place in which the salt may be stated to be unlawfully manufactured or stored, if, upon requisition duly made, the door be not immediately opened by the owner or occupant thereof.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. iv., and Act III., 1851.

90. If the salt agent or superintendent shall not be able to proceed in person to make a seizure of salt, in manner above provided, he shall send along with the informer one or more confidential officers of his public establishment, not being under the rank of a jemadar of peons, giving to such officer or officers his warrant ordering and authorizing the seizure, and sending notice as above prescribed for the police darogah or other police officer to attend, and the officer so deputed shall have power to act in like manner as is provided for the agent or superintendent in person; provided that the door of no house, warehouse, or other place, shall be broken open to make a seizure of salt except in the presence of a salt agent or superintendent of chokies, or of an officer so specially deputed, and of an officer of police.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. v., and Act III., 1851.

91. It shall be competent to the head officer of any salt choky or aurung for the manufacture of salt, and for any assistant to a salt agent or superintendent, to receive information of the unlawful manufacture of salt, or of salt exceeding one maund in quantity being in store in a house, warehouse, or other place, in the manner prescribed in para. 87, and to act thereupon as provided in paras. 88 and 89 for the salt agent and superintendent, provided that the place of manufacture or store described in such information be situated at a distance of more than three kos from the station of a salt agent or superintendent of chokies, or from the place where the salt agent or superintendent may be.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. vi., and Act III., 1851.

Rules for preventing Resistance to Officers seizing contraband Salt, and for applying for the Assistance of the Police in effecting such Seizures.

92. Any person who may by force or threats prevent an officer of the salt department, or other officer authorized to attach salt, from effecting the seizure of any salt suspected to be contraband, or adulterated, or who may forcibly resist such officer in the execution of that duty, shall be liable, on conviction before a magistrate, to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees. Parties offending shall further be liable, in the event of an affray or other breach of the peace occurring in consequence of their resistance, to be punished under the general rules applicable to such cases.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lvi.

93. If any officer authorized to attach salt shall have seized or be about to seize any despatch of salt, on information or suspicion of its being contraband, or shall have effected or be about to effect the attachment of the cattle, carriages, or boats used in transporting such salt, and shall have reason to apprehend forcible resistance, such officer shall apply to the nearest darogah to aid him in the execution of his duty; and all darogahs and other officers in charge of thannahs or chokies, to whom such application shall be made, or who may otherwise have reason to apprehend the occurrence of a breach of the peace in consequence of a seizure of salt, shall immediately afford the requisite aid to effect the seizure and preserve the peace.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lvii.

94. If the darogah or person in charge of any police thannah or station, receiving notice to attend at a seizure of salt unlawfully manufactured or in store, as is above prescribed, shall not attend, or attending shall refuse to act in aid of the seizure, or shall in any way wilfully frustrate the object of the search and seizure, such darogah or other officer shall, on representation of the facts by the officers of the salt department, and on conviction of the same before the magistrate of the district, besides being dismissed from office, be liable to a fine equal to the amount of fine that would have been leviable on the owners of the salt, if it had been seized according to the information laid.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. vii., and Act III., 1851.

95. Such seizures shall be made on the responsibility and at the risk of the officers authorized to seize, and the police-officers shall not be competent to exercise any discretion in regard to the propriety or otherwise of the seizure which they may be called upon to support, but shall be careful to prevent any unnecessary violence.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lviii.

96. Whenever it shall be necessary to break open any house, warehouse, or other place, to effect a seizure of salt, the rules and precautions prescribed in Regulation XX. of 1817, and section x. Regulation VII. of 1799, of the Bengal code, for breaking into a house for execution of process of distraint, shall always be observed by the police officers in attendance; provided, however, that the responsibility for the act, and the determination whether to require the door to be broken open or not, shall rest with the officers of the salt department only.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. viii., Act III., 1851.

97. The officer of the agency or choky department, bearing a requisition or warrant as aforesaid, and the police officers receiving such requisition or warrant, shall specify in their respective reports the date and exact time when the requisition or warrant was delivered to the latter: and if any delay shall occur in effecting the search, the said officers shall record the circumstances at full length in their respective reports.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxii.

98. If any person shall by threats or by violence prevent the lawful arrest of any person by an officer duly authorized to seize salt, or shall procure his release after arrest, or if the party found with the salt in possession, or any other persons, resist any such officers, they shall severally and respectively be liable to the punishment prescribed in para. 92.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xix.

99. If any officer making an arrest upon account of salt-smuggling shall neglect to carry the person arrested to the proper officer of the salt department, or shall delay to report the arrest to his superior, or shall release or connive at the escape of the person arrested, every such officer shall, on conviction of any one of the above offences, besides dismissal from office, be liable to be sentenced for the same to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to imprisonment not exceeding three months; and the sentence may be adjudged by any officer competent to adjudicate a forfeiture of contraband salt; and in case of non-payment of the fine, to a further imprisonment not exceeding three months, at the discretion of the officer deciding the case.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xx.

100. Whenever any person may be arrested by an officer of the salt department, or by any other officer of other departments duly empowered to make a seizure of salt, the person making the arrest shall be bound to carry the party arrested direct to the officer of the salt department who may be competent to try the case; and no person so arrested shall be released until the case shall have been brought to judgment in the manner provided by law.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxi.

101. If any officer of the salt department be convicted, before the magistrate of any district, of having vexatiously and unnecessarily seized the goods of any person, on the pretence of seizing or searching for salt, or of having vexatiously and unnecessarily arrested any person, or of having stopped and detained any boat unnecessarily and without authority, or of having detained any boat longer than is necessary for the purpose of search, every such officer shall, besides dismissal, be punished with imprisonment not exceeding six months, and with fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, commutable, if not paid, to a further imprisonment not exceeding six months.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxii.

Penalties and Fines for Misconduct of Officers in the Salt Department, Pykars and others dealing in Salt.

102. Officers of every description in the employment of salt agents, or superintending officers of salt chokies, are prohibited from taking or receiving any fee, gratuity, perquisite, or allowance, either in money or effects, under any pretence whatever, from any molunghee or other person employed or concerned in the manufacture of salt; and if any such description of person, subject to the authority of the salt agent or superintending officer, shall be convicted before the zillah or city magistrate, within whose jurisdiction the offence may have been committed, of disobedience to this prohibition, he shall be adjudged by the court to refund the money or things so taken or received, and besides being dismissed from his office by the officer or authority to which he may be subject, he shall be further liable to imprisonment for any term, not exceeding six months, which the court may judge proper, together with such fine (not exceeding five hundred rupees for every one hundred rupees in amount or value taken or received as aforesaid) as may appear adequate to his offence: provided also, that the above rule shall be held applicable to any officer intrusted with the payment of advances to the molunghees, who may, under any pretence or colour whatsoever, appropriate to his own use the whole or any part thereof, or who may take or require from any molunghee or other person employed or concerned in the manufacture of salt a receipt or other written acknowledgment for a larger sum of money than may have been actually paid to him.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxiii.

103. Officers in charge of salt golahs, or any warehouse or other place in which salt the property of Government is stored, who may embezzle any of the salt received into any such golah or place of deposit intrusted to their charge, or who may knowingly permit any salt so received to be carried from such golah or place of deposit, without an order from the agent to whom he is subordinate, or who may so permit to be carried from such golah or place aforesaid a greater quantity of salt than is specified in such order, or who may knowingly grant a receipt for a larger quantity of salt than is received and stored by him, shall be held guilty of theft, and punished accordingly, on conviction before a competent Criminal Court. When there may be no direct proof of the unauthorized removal of salt from any golah or place of government store, sufficient to convict the parties concerned therein of theft, the officer or officers who may have been intrusted with the charge of such golah, or place of government store, shall nevertheless be liable for the offence of embezzling the salt of any store in their custody, the out-turn of which shall, according to the accounts kept of receipts and deliveries, exhibit a deficiency for which he or they may not duly account; and the officer in charge of any golah or salt-store shall in like manner be deemed guilty of embezzlement if he has made away with, or shall not produce the true account of such store; and any person against whom the offence of embezzlement shall be established under this paragraph, shall be liable, on conviction before the magistrate of the city or district, to be punished by fine and imprisonment, under the general powers vested in the zillah and city magistrates.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxiv, and Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxviii.

104. It shall be the duty of salt agents and superintendents of chokies, on appointing any officer to situations involving the charge of public money or the custody of salt, or any other public property, or to the situation of darogah or mohurrir of a salt choky, to require such officer to furnish two responsible sureties (hazir-zamini and mal-zamini) in such sums as the Board of Revenue may direct. Officers already appointed to situations of the above description, and who have not furnished security as aforesaid, shall be required to do so within such period as the Board of Revenue may judge proper, and on failure to do so, shall be liable to dismission from office.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxv.

105. Darogahs in the salt department, who may be convicted of conniving at smuggling, shall, besides removal from office, and forfeiture of the amount of their securities, pay a fine of ten rupees on every maund of salt which shall have passed the chokies of which they shall respectively be in charge, with their knowledge or connivance: provided also, that the parties shall be liable to imprisonment in the Dewanny gaol, for such period, not exceeding six months, as may appear adequate to the offence. Darogahs absent from their stations without leave shall be responsible, under the penalty prescribed in the first part of this paragraph, for any connivance at smuggling which may be proved against the person to whom the charge of the chokies may be left by them. —Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxvi.

106. Dealers in salt, pykars, or others making advances to molunghees, officers attached to the salt department, or other persons, for the illicit manufacture or delivery of salt, or purchasing or obtaining salt from such molunghees, officers, or persons, in an illicit manner, shall on conviction pay a fine of ten rupees for every maund of such salt for which advances shall have been so made, or which shall have been so purchased or obtained, and the salt, if seized, shall be confiscated. —Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxvii.

107. If any officers or servants employed in the salt department, or any other native officer of Government, shall under any pretence or by any means whatever, directly or indirectly, cause salt to be obtained from the manufacturers or other persons employed in the salt department, otherwise than on account of the Government, or shall cause salt to be manufactured for their own benefit, or knowingly permit such manufacture for the benefit of any other person, the salt so obtained or manufactured shall be confiscated, and the officer or servant so obtaining the salt, or causing the salt to be so manufactured, shall on conviction pay a fine to be calculated at the rate of ten rupees for every maund of salt so obtained or manufactured, and the officer or servant aforesaid shall further be liable to imprisonment in the Foujdary gaol for a period not exceeding six months.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxviii., and Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xvi.

108. In cases in which the darogah shall be declared liable to the penalty specified in paragraph 105, the mohurrir of the choky shall be considered to have connived with the darogah, and shall pay a fine of two rupees eight annas for every maund of salt illicitly transported, unless it shall appear that such mohurrir was absent with leave from the station at the time when such offence was committed, or that he gave immediate information of the circumstance to the superintendent, and otherwise used his utmost endeavours to cause the seizure of the salt, or was prevented from doing so by some unavoidable cause.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxix.

109. Molunghees or others receiving advances for the manufacture of salt on account of Government, who may be guilty of the embezzlement of the salt, for the provision of which they may have received advances from Government, or of otherwise illegally disposing of any salt manufactured by them, shall on conviction be liable to a fine of four rupees per maund of eighty tola weight to the seer, for each and every maund of salt embezzled, and the salt so embezzled shall be confiscated. In addition to the above penalty, the offenders shall be imprisoned in the Foujdary gaol for a period not exceeding three months. And if any person shall be convicted of the offences herein described, after having been previously convicted of a like offence, he shall be sentenced, in addition to the penalty attaching to such offence, to imprisonment in the Foujdary gaol for a period of six months, and a like punishment of six months' imprisonment shall be incurred, in addition to the punishment which may be inflicted for a first offence, upon every subsequent conviction after the second.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxx., and Act XXIX., 1838, secs. xvi. and xvii.

Rules defining the Powers of Officers in regard to the Seizure of Salt.

110. The authority to seize salt and other articles liable to seizure and confiscation, under the rules of this Regulation, shall as heretofore ordinarily, and in virtue of their offices, be exercised by salt agents and superintendents of salt chokies and their assistants, uncovenanted European and subordinate native officers. But the Governor-General in Council reserves to himself the power of vesting a like authority in such of the zillah and city magistrates, collectors of land revenue, or officers in charge of the abkarry mehaul, collectors and deputy-collectors of customs, opium agents and their deputies, and their subordinate officers respectively, as he may deem fit.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxi., cl. 1.

111. Whenever a seizure of salt in any house, warehouse, or other place, shall be made by a salt agent or superintendent of chokies, the circumstances which attended the seizure shall be recorded in an official proceeding, to be placed on record in the office.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. ix,. and Act III., 1851.

112. If the seizure be made by an officer of the salt department, other than an agent or superintendent of chokies, such officer shall report the circumstances within twenty-four hours to his official superior; and the police officer in attendance shall likewise report the occurrences at the time of seizure to his official superior.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. x., and Act III., 1851.

113. No salt found in store in any house or warehouse shall be deemed to be contraband, or shall be liable to seizure, unless when the search is made there shall be found more thereof than one maund or Indian mun, and the owner or person in charge shall be unable to account satisfactorily for the manner of its being in his possession.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xi.

114. Whenever salt shall be seized as contraband, because unaccompanied by any rowannah or other protecting document, the person or persons conveying, or having in charge the same, shall be apprehended; and all officers who are empowered to seize salt, shall likewise be competent to arrest the parties found with or having the salt in possession.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xii.

115. It shall be lawful for the salt agents and superintendents of chokies and other officers who may be duly empowered to seize salt, to stop and search any boats or vessels of a build adapted for sea navigation, that may be found within the limits described in para. 186 of this Act; and if salt shall be found thereon not accompanied by the necessary rowannah or other protecting document, to detain the vessel with the crew thereof, and to take them for adjudication of the case to the nearest accessible station of an officer empowered to adjudicate cases of contravention of the salt laws.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xiii.

116. The salt agents and their officers, the officers of the salt chokies, and officers in the salt department acting under the immediate orders of the Board of Revenue, being alone empowered to attach of their own authority, and by virtue of their offices, salt which they may know or suspect to have been illegally manufactured, imported, sold, or transported, no officers excepting those above described shall seize or detain salt, unless specially vested by Government with authority to that effect.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxii.

117. Whenever any of the native officers subordinate to a zillah or city magistrate, collector of land revenue, or officers in charge of the abkary mehaul, or a collector or deputy collector of customs, who may be specially authorized by Government to seize salt, shall receive information of any salt not made in the Company's provinces of Bengal or Orissa, on account of Government, having been illegally imported into the said territories from any other than the North-Western Provinces, or of salt of any description being transported or stored within the limits of the salt chokies without the proper rowannah, chellaun, char chitties, or special pass, or of any salt being manufactured on account of individuals, by molunghees or other persons, at the khalaries or salt-works established on account of the Company, or at any khalaries or salt-works established by individuals for the purpose of manufacturing salt on their own account, or that of any other persons, the several officers aforesaid shall, as above directed, transmit immediate notice thereof to the nearest officer in the salt department empowered to attach contraband salt, and to the magistrate or other functionary to whose immediate orders they may be subject, and shall further be guided by the following rule. If the salt shall be accompanied by a regular rowannah, chellaun, char chitty, or special pass, the native officers shall confine themselves to sending the information aforesaid to the nearest officer in the salt department, and to the European functionary to whom they may be subordinate, and to assist in the seizure of the salt either under the orders of their immediate superior, or on application from the officers of the salt department, and shall not seize or detain any salt accompanied by such papers in the first instance of their own authority; but if any despatch of salt shall be unaccompanied by a rowannah, chellaun, char chitty, or special pass, as aforesaid, the said officers are empowered, of their own authority, to detain the salt, sending without delay notice of the detention of the salt to their superior and to the nearest officer in the salt department. Any native officer of Government (not being an officer attached to the salt department), unless specially authorized to do so, as well as any such officer who, though specially authorized as above, may seize or detain salt accompanied by a regular rowannah, chellaun, char chitty, or special pass, shall be liable to be dismissed from his office, and to be prosecuted for damages in the Dewanny Adawlut by the owner or the holder of such salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxiii., and Act XVI, 1848.

118. If the officers seizing salt shall omit to forward the required report, or shall make any unnecessary delay in forwarding it, they shall, in the event of the salt not being confiscated, be liable to be prosecuted in the Dewanny Adawlut for damages by the proprietor of the salt, and to dismission from office, or in the event of the salt being confiscated, such officers shall be dismissed from office, and forfeit to Government the amount of the reward to which they would have become entitled in consequence of the confiscation of the salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxiv.

119. All subordinate officers in the salt department are prohibited from removing the attachment from any salt which they may have seized, until they shall have received orders for that purpose from the salt agents, or the superintending officers of the salt chokies, or the Board of Revenue. Subordinate officers disobeying the rules contained in this paragraph shall be dismissed from their office, and shall pay a fine of two hundred and fifty rupees for every hundred maunds of salt so released.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxv., cl. 1.

120. The salt agents, or the superintending officers of the salt chokies, are empowered to order the release of any salt seized by their own officers, or any salt which may have been seized and made over to their officers by the magistrates, collectors of revenue, or other functionary, if on inquiry such salt agents, or superintending officers of salt chokies, shall be of opinion that the salt is not liable to confiscation.—Reg. X., 1812, sec. lxxv., cl. 2.

121. If salt shall have been seized by the officers, or under the orders of any magistrate, or by the orders of any collector of revenue or customs, or deputy collector, or any officer in charge of the abkarry mehaul, or opium agent, or his deputy, previously to the delivery of such salt to the officers of the salt department, and such magistrate, collector, or other officer aforesaid, shall be of opinion that the salt was seized on false or erroneous information, and that the salt is not liable to confiscation, he is hereby empowered to release the salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxv., cl. 3.

122. The magistrates shall cause to be communicated, in the manner which shall appear to them most convenient, to the salt agent or superintending officer of chokies, the particulars of all information received from the police-officers, and also of all applications made to those officers by the officers in the salt department, or by any officer empowered to attach salt, for assistance in the seizure of salt.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxvi.

Rules for Preventing the Adulteration of Salt.

123. Any common or alimentary salt, adulterated by an artificial admixture with the substance called kharee noon, or mixed with phool-kharee noon, puckwa salt, or any description of impure and bitter salt, which may be found in any golah or shop, or in any place whatsoever, shall be confiscated and destroyed; and any salt merchant, or other person selling salt, wholesale or retail, who shall so adulterate it, or shall knowingly sell any salt so adulterated, shall pay a fine calculated at the rate of ten rupees per maund of eighty tola weight to the seer, upon the quantity which may be found so adulterated.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxvii.

124. Salt adulterated in any of the modes above stated shall be seized by all officers empowered by this Regulation to seize salt, who, immediately on making any attachment or seizure, are required to report the circumstance to the magistrate within whose jurisdiction the attachment may have been made; the magistrate on receiving such report shall, without delay, institute a summary inquiry into the circumstances of the case, and if it shall appear to him that the salt has been adulterated as aforesaid, and is in consequence liable to confiscation, he shall proceed to confiscate it accordingly, and to levy the prescribed fine, commutable, if not paid, to imprisonment in the Dewanny gaol for a period not exceeding six months.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxviii.

125. In cases of attachment of salt alleged to be adulterated with kharee noon, or any other salt of the description therein specified, the magistrate shall without loss of time ascertain the fact by reference either to the civil surgeon of the station for examination, or to a committee of respectable merchants or dealers in salt, or in any other mode that may appear most likely to elicit the truth.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxix.

126. Provided always, that if the proprietor of such confiscated salt, being dissatisfied with the order of confiscation, shall immediately give responsible security for the amount of the penalty, and further within a period of one month shall institute a regular suit in the Dewanny Adawlut against the officer who may have seized the salt, for damages, in such case the magistrate shall suspend the execution of his order, and stay all further proceedings; but if, at the expiration of one month from the date of the order of confiscation, no suit shall have been instituted by the proprietor of the salt, the magistrate is without further delay to levy the penalty from his security, and otherwise to carry the order of confiscation into full effect.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxx.

127. In all cases where any proprietor of salt confiscated for being adulterated with kharee noon, or any of the substances aforesaid, may be unable to give the above security for the amount of the penalty, the magistrate, upon his being satisfied of the inability of the party to give the security, is hereby empowered to dispense with security, taking from the party bail for his appearance only, to abide the issue of the suit; or in the event of the suit not being instituted within the period prescribed by the preceding paragraph, to answer in his own person the amount of the penalty, and in the mean time the magistrate shall keep the salt under attachment.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxxi.

128. In all cases in which it may appear that an attachment or seizure has been improperly made by an officer of Government, the proprietor of the salt shall be entitled to recover full damages for all the loss and expense to which he may have been subjected in consequence, by a regular suit in the Dewanny Adawlut.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxxii.

129. But should it appear to the court that there was no just ground for objecting to the order of confiscation, and that the suit has been instituted merely with a view to create delay, or for vexatious purposes, it shall be at the option of the court to impose a fine of fifteen rupees per maund, instead of ten rupees, as prescribed in paragraph 123: the decision in such case, as well as in all cases in which a regular suit may be instituted, being subject to the existing rules for appeals to the superior courts.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxxiii.

130. In the event of a regular suit being instituted for the purpose of setting aside the order of confiscation, the salt shall be held under attachment by the court until a final decision may be passed in the cause.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxxiv.

Rules regarding the Importation of Foreign Salt by Sea.

131. Salt imported by sea, shall, on transportation into the interior of the country, be subject to the same rules as are prescribed for regulating the transit of salt manufactured and sold on account of Government —Reg. X., 1819, sec. lxxxvi.

132. The Board of Revenue will accordingly cause rowannahs and other necessary documents to be granted to the importers or owners of such salt, on their producing a certificate from the collector of customs of the payment of the prescribed duty; and all salt imported by sea, which may be found in transitu in the interior of the country unaccompanied by the regular documents, shall be held contraband, and as such be seized and confiscated to Government, and the persons in whose possession such contraband salt may be found, they knowing the same, shall be liable to the penalty prescribed in paras 54 and 55 for the illicit possession of salt.—Reg X., 1819, sec. lxxxvii.

Rules regarding the Distribution of Rewards to certain Officers of Government attached to the Salt Department.

133. Salt agents, and superintending officers of chokies, and their respective assistants, being covenanted servants of the Company, shall not be entitled to any share of the rewards heretofore received by them, for salt which may have been attached or confiscated by their respective orders, or by their respective officers.—Reg. X , 1819, sec. lxxxviii.

134 All subordinate officers of Government attached to the salt department, who may be concerned in the attachment of salt under the orders of their immediate superiors, or to whom information may be given respecting illicit salt, and who shall in consequence be immediately concerned in the attachment of the salt, shall be entitled to the following rewards.—Reg. X., 1819, sec lxxxix., cl 1.

135. Upon the adjudication of a forfeiture of salt, provided the parties concerned in the attempt to evade or violate the law be likewise convicted, the officers of the salt department under the grades of agent and superintendent, if they have made the seizure upon information laid, or under orders of their superiors, shall be entitled to a reward at the rate of eight annas per maund of merchantable salt so adjudged to be forfeited. If the parties concerned be not discovered and convicted, the reward to the salt officers shall be only at the rate of five annas per maund.—Act IX., 1835, sec. iv., cl 2.

136 If salt be seized by any subordinate officers of Government possessing authority to make seizures without information from others, or orders from their superior, the reward shall be at the rate of one rupee per maund if the offenders be convicted, and eight annas if no offenders be convicted.—Act IX., 1835, sec. iv , cl. 3.

137. Informers, whether officers of Government or not, shall, on the adjudication of salt to forfeiture, that may have been seized on their information, receive eight annas per maund if the offenders be convicted, and five annas if there be no conviction.—Act IX., 1835, sec. iv , cl. 4.

138. The rewards to be granted under this Regulation on coast salt, or on Saumer, Saulumbah, or any other species of foreign salt which may be confiscated, shall be calculated on the price at which salt of the same description shall have been sold at the last public sale preceding the seizure, or (if no salt of that description shall have been sold at such sale) if the salt be of a kind the use of which within the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa is prohibited, the Board of Revenue shall value the salt at such price as they may deem equitable, and the reward shall be calculated on such valuation.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xc.

139. All boats or carriages on which any contraband or adulterated salt shall be loaded, together with all horses, bullocks, or other cattle employed in its transportation, shall be forfeited and sold by public sale, and the proceeds distributed in the following manner that is to say, one-third part to the informer or informers, one-third part to the officer or officers making the seizure, and one-third to the Government. provided further, that in cases in which a seizure of salt may be made by an officer duly authorized, without the intervention of an informer, such officer shall receive a moiety of the proceeds of the boats, carriages, or cattle aforesaid, the remaining moiety to be carried to the credit of Government —Reg X , 1819, sec. xci.

140. All rewards payable on confiscated salt, in the province of Cuttack, shall be calculated on the selling price at which Government salt of the same description may be disposed of to merchants and individuals in that province, whether the salt be disposed of by public auction, or a ready-money sale.—Reg X., 1819, sec. xcii.

141. When attachments or seizures of salt adulterated with kharee noon or other salts of the nature described in para 123 of this Regulation, shall be made wholly by the native officers of Government, and not upon any information furnished to them, they will be entitled to receive one moiety of the fine which may be levied from the offender, agreeably to the rule prescribed in that paragraph, and the other moiety is to be carried to the account of Government.—Reg X, 1819, sec xciv, cl 1.

142 If any other person or persons shall give information of salt being so adulterated, to the native officers of Government, and the salt shall be seized in consequence of such information, he or they will be entitled to receive one-third of the fine which may be levied as above prescribed, and the officer who may have made the seizure will be entitled to receive also one-third of the amount, the remaining third is to be carried to the account of Government.—Reg X, 1819, sec. xciv, cl 2

143. The boats, carriages, &c on which such adulterated salt may be loaded, together with the horses, bullocks, and other cattle employed in its transportation, shall be forfeited and sold by public sale, and the proceeds of the sale shall be distributed in the manner above mentioned, for the distribution of the fine levied from the offender.—Reg X, 1819, sec xciv., cl 3

144 One-third of all fines which may be levied under the rules contained in this Regulation, excepting in cases specially provided for, shall be paid to the person or persons who shall first inform against the offender, whether the informant be an European uncovenanted or a native officer of Government, or a private individual, and the remaining two-thirds shall be carried to the credit of Government. In like manner, in all cases in which the appropriation of the fine may not be specifically provided for, the amount unappropriated shall be carried to the credit of the public account.—Reg X, 1819, sec xcv

Judicial Duties of Salt Agents, and Superintending Officers of Chokies

145 It shall be competent to the Governor or Deputy-Governor of Bengal to vest with the power of adjudicating cases of contravention of the laws for protection of the revenue derived from salt, any assistant to a salt agent, or uncovenanted superintendent of salt chokies, who may seem to him qualified, and such officers, when invested with such powers, shall exercise them, subject to the same rules and restrictions as covenanted salt agents and superintendents of chokies, provided that no officer adjudicating cases of contravention of the salt-revenue laws shall receive any part of the rewards that may be decreed, or otherwise benefit directly by the adjudication of such cases —Act XXIX, 1838, sec xxv

146 All suits, complaints, and informations for the recovery of any fine or penalty recoverable by Government, or by the informer, on account of the illicit manufacture, sale, purchase, importation, transportation, or possession of salt, excepting complaints or charges preferred against public officers for a breach of their official duty, of which the cognizance is specifically reserved to the zillah or city judges or magistrates, and excepting cases of adulteration of salt, are hereby declared cognizable in the first instance by the salt agents and superintending officers of salt chokies, anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding, and the investigation thereof shall be conducted under the following rules —Reg. X, 1819, sec xcvi

147 No suit, complaint, or information of the nature above mentioned, shall be admitted or proceeded upon by the salt agent, superintending officer of salt chokies, or other officer vested with the cognizance of the same, unless it shall be preferred within the period of six months after the act for which the fine or other penalty may be demandable, shall have been committed, excepting in cases in which the same shall be prosecuted on the account of Government, and good and sufficient cause be shown why the suit was not preferred within the period of six months from the commission of the act whereupon the fine or other penalty is demandable —Reg. X, 1819, sec xcvii

148 Petitions and other papers presented in suits, informations, and complaints, preferred under this Regulation before a salt agent, or superintending officer of salt chokies, as well as all papers filed in the Courts of Judicature in cases brought before them under the provisions hereinafter contained, shall not be required to be written on stamped paper, and all engagements contracted between Government, or its officers, and individuals, under this Regulation, shall be received and admitted in evidence in the different Courts of Judicature, and by the salt agents and superintending officers of salt chokies, although not written on stamped paper —Reg X., 1819, sec xcviii

149 Upon information being given to any salt agent or superintending officer of chokies, that khalaries or salt-works have been illegally established in any village or other place, such officers shall either proceed to the spot in order to satisfy themselves of the fact, or shall depute the darogah of the nearest aurung or choky, or some other trustworthy person, for that purpose The darogah or person so deputed, after ascertaining the existence of such illicit khalaries, shall proceed to destroy the works in the most public manner He shall draw up a full report of the circumstances of the case, attested by the signatures of the most respectable ryots of the village, and transmit it to the salt agent or superintending officer of chokies, with the implements of manufacture, or such other unequivocal proofs of the works having been used for illicit purposes as he may be able to procure. The officer aforesaid shall at the same time ascertain as far as practicable, all the circumstances of the case, particularly the persons by whom the illicit khalary may have been established or worked, and whether there is reason to believe that any of the persons specified in paras. 49 and 51 were concerned in or connived at the manufacture; and whenever a salt agent, or superintending officer of chokies, shall have strong grounds to believe, either from charges preferred or evidence given on oath or affirmation, or from his own personal knowledge, that an illicit khalary has been established, or that illicit salt is actually in the course of manufacture, contrary to the prohibitions contained in this Regulation, or that any person actually has in his possession a quantity of contraband salt, it shall be competent to the salt agent or superintendent aforesaid, to issue his warrant for the immediate apprehension of the person or persons actually engaged in the manufacture, or having the salt in his or their possession, summoning at the same time any witnesses that may appear necessary.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. xcix.

150. In all other cases in which any person may be accused before the salt agent, or superintending officer of salt chokies, of acts rendering him liable to any of the penalties prescribed in this Regulation, the salt agent, or superintending officer of chokies, shall issue a summons, with or without requisition of security, to be served by a single chupprassy, requiring the attendance of the person charged either in person or by vakeel, as the case may appear to those officers to require, to answer to the charge, on or before a certain day to be specified in the summons; and if it be necessary to require bail, the extent of the bail shall be stated in the summons, or the officers aforesaid shall at the same time summon such witnesses as may be named by the informer, and as they may judge it necessary to examine in proof of the accusation, together with any witnesses whom the accused may wish to have examined in his defence, to attend at the time appointed for the attendance of the accused.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. c.

151. In all cases in which the party accused or suspected may be apprehended under the warrant of the salt agent or superintending officer of salt chokies, or shall attend in person, the investigation by the officers aforesaid shall be commenced immediately on the arrival of the party at their cutcherries, and shall be prosecuted with the least possible delay, consistently with a due inquiry into the facts; and generally all cases of this nature tried before the officers aforesaid under this Regulation shall, as far as practicable, be proceeded upon on the day specified in the summons for the attendance of the party or his vakeel, unless it shall be necessary to postpone the investigation in order to procure the necessary evidence.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. ci.

152. Should any person charged with any of the offences which have been rendered cognizable in the first instance by salt agents and the superintendents of salt chokies, under the provisions of this Regulation, fail to attend, either in person or by vakeel, after being served with a summons in the manner hereinbefore described, or should any such person evade the process of a salt agent or superintendent of salt chokies, the salt agent or superintendent of chokies shall then cause notice by proclamation, after the form annexed to this Regulation, to be prepared in the Bengalee language, one copy of which shall be affixed in some conspicuous place at his own cutcherry, another at the usual residence of the person charged, and separate copies shall be transmitted to the judge and magistrate, and to the collector of the district, to be published by them in their several cutcherries; in the event of the party or parties not attending in person or by vakeel, within the time fixed by such notice, the salt agent or superintending officer shall proceed to investigate and pass a judgment on the case, in the same manner as if the party had been present.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cii.

153. The salt agents and superintending officers of chokies are hereby authorized to summon witnesses and administer oaths or affirmations, or cause the execution of solemn declarations in lieu thereof, in respect to all matters brought before them under this Regulation, conformably with the provisions of Section vi., Regulation IV., 1793, Section ii., Regulation L., 1803, and Act V., 1840; provided that if any witness shall refuse to take the oath or execute the solemn declaration required from him, he shall be sent to the judge of the Zillah or City Court, to be confined as prescribed by the Regulations in similar cases.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. ciii.

154. The salt agents and superintending officers of chokies, in the summoning and the examination of parties and witnesses, and in the general conduct of the investigation, shall be guided (except when otherwise prescribed) by the rules in force for the guidance of the magistrates in the trial of persons charged with offences punishable by them; provided, however, that in suits brought by any of the officers of Government, the personal attendance or deposition of the prosecutor shall not be required, but the prosecution shall be conducted by any agent or vakeel the prosecutor may choose to appoint for that purpose.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. civ.

155. Under the above provisions, the proceedings of salt agents and superintendents of chokies will of course be held in open cutcherry, and those officers, while so holding cutcherry, shall be authorized to punish persons guilty of contempt, by a moderate fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cv.

156. Any person giving intentionally and deliberately a false deposition on oath, or under a solemn declaration taken instead of an oath, relative to any proceeding depending before a salt agent or superintending officer of chokies under this Regulation, and upon a point material to the issue thereof, shall be held and considered guilty of perjury, and shall be liable to the penalties prescribed for that offence in the Regulations in force; and any person causing or procuring another person to commit the offence of perjury as above described, is declared guilty of subornation of perjury, and punishable under the provisions of the said Regulations.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cvi.

157. Persons resisting any process regularly and legally issued by the salt agents or superintending officers of chokies, in any case depending before them under this Regulation, shall be liable to the penalties prescribed for cases of resistance to the process of a collector in Regulation XIV. 1793, under the provisions therein specified.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cvii.

158. Whenever any salt agent or superintendent of salt chokies shall have completed the investigation of any case cognizable by them under this Regulation, it shall be their duty to record in a Persian or Bengalee roobakaree, all the material facts of the case, with the evidence by which they may appear to have been proved, and to state at length their own opinion on the case, and the penalty, if any, which in their judgment ought to be imposed.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cviii.

159. Salt agents and superintendents of chokies are authorized to pass a final order of confiscation in all cases in which the quantity of salt subject to confiscation under the provisions of this Regulation shall not exceed eighty maunds of eighty tola weight to the seer, and to carry such orders into effect of their own authority. In like manner, the decision of the aforesaid officers shall be final in all cases in which they may adjudge a party charged before them of any of the offences enumerated in paras. 47, 50, 51, 54 to 62, 65, 67, 68, 70, 71, 73 to 82, 84, 85, 86, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 119, 120, 121, 123 and 131, to a fine not exceeding four hundred rupees. Provided that every such judgment may, under paras. 169, 170 and 171, be brought by petition before the Board of Revenue, and be reversed or amended by that authority.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cix., and Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxxi.

160. Whenever a penalty or fine may be adjudged against any person under the provisions of this Regulation, it shall be competent to the officer or authority adjudging the same, in case the amount be not discharged, to award a period of imprisonment in commutation, according to the following scale, in addition to such imprisonment as such officer or authority may be especially empowered to adjudge:

If the amount of the fine or penalty do not exceed fifty rupees,—

The term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than fifteen days, and not more than one month.

If the amount of the fine or penalty exceed fifty or be less than one hundred rupees,—

The term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than one month, and not more than two months.

If the amount of the fine or penalty exceed one hundred rupees, and be not more than five hundred rupees,—

The term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than two months, and not more than four months.

If the amount of the fine or penalty exceed five hundred rupees,—

The term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than four months, and not more than six months.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cx.

161. In cases in which a salt agent or superintendent of salt chokies shall adjudge any person to pay a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, if the fine be not immediately paid, he shall send the party to the judge of the zillah or city within the jurisdiction of which the offence may have been committed, with a roobakaree stating the purport of the order passed against the person in question, and the judge shall, on those grounds, give the necessary directions for the execution of the order in the manner prescribed for the execution of orders and decrees of court, and shall transmit the fine when levied to the treasury of the agent, or superintending officer of salt chokies; provided that in all such cases the roobakaree of the salt agent or superintendent of salt chokies shall specify the period of imprisonment to which the party shall be subject, in the event of the fine adjudged by them not being paid.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxi.

162. In all cases in which the quantity of salt proposed to be confiscated shall exceed eighty maunds, or in which the salt agents or superintendents of salt chokies shall consider any person liable to pay a fine exceeding four hundred rupees, he shall send his proceedings to the judge of the zillah or the city in which the offence may have been committed, or the salt seized, in order that the final award may be made by that authority. The parties in such cases shall, if declared by the judgment of the salt agent or superintendent to be liable to any specific fine or term of imprisonment, be sent over under custody of peons, and the judge shall on their arrival pass such order for the holding them to bail, or otherwise securing their being in attendance to abide the final award, as he may deem proper.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxii., and Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxxi.

163. It shall be the duty of the judge to have every case so forwarded to him by the salt officers brought to a hearing on the first day of his holding the Civil Court, after the arrival of the proceedings and parties; and after having duly considered the proceedings of the salt agent and superintendent, and heard anything the party may desire to urge in his defence, the judge shall be competent to pass an immediate order, either confirming the award of the salt officers (if the investigation on which the same may be founded shall appear to him complete, and the award passed thereon just and proper), or modifying the said award (in case of any irregularity appearing on the face of it), or reversing it (if in his opinion contrary to or not supported by the evidence and facts of the case as borne on the proceedings), or to institute a fresh investigation, and summon any further evidence, or to direct the re-attendance of the witnesses previously examined, as well as to call for any explanations from the officers or parties concerned that he may deem necessary.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxiii.

164. If the attendance of parties charged with offences in contravention of the laws enacted for the protection of the revenue derived from salt, cannot be obtained by reason of their failure to attend in person or by vakeel, after being served with a summons, or by reason of their evading process, the officer adjudicating any such case shall issue notice for the attendance of the parties accused in the manner prescribed in para. 152; and if the parties do not attend in person or by vakeel within the time fixed by such notice, the officer adjudicating the case shall pass judgment thereon, under the said last-mentioned paragraph, in like manner as if the parties accused were present; and the officer so adjudicating any case ex parte may, at any time after such judgment, issue his warrant for the apprehension of the persons convicted, for execution of the sentence, in the manner herein provided for cases in which the parties were present; and further, may at any time sue out process for levying the amount of fine adjudged, from any Civil Court competent to execute its own decrees in the manner and form prescribed for the execution of the decrees of such Civil Court under the following paragraph.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxix.

165. When the officer holding proceedings in any case ex parte, as above provided, shall refer the case to the judge of any city or zillah, in consequence of the amount of fine being such as the said officer is not competent finally to adjudge, the judge of the city or zillah to whom such case may be referred, shall issue such orders and institute such proceedings as are authorized by paras. 161 to 163, in like manner as if the offenders were sent over with the case, or were present to be heard in their defence; and whenever any fine may be adjudged by the zillah or city judge, the same may be levied on the application of the salt agent or superintendent of salt chokies under the rules in force for the execution of the decrees of Civil Courts.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxx.

166. The zillah and city judges shall pass final judgment in all cases referred to them for adjudication when the quantity of salt to be confiscated shall exceed eighty maunds, or the fine imposed shall exceed 400 rupees; provided, however, that there shall in all such cases be an appeal open to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, under the rules for the admission of special appeals in that court, upon any point of law which may be ruled by a zillah or city judge in any such judgment.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxxii.

167.* Whenever any award may be passed by any zillah judge under the rules of para. 163, the judge shall, if the offence charged be established, proceed to levy the fine or fines, and to commit the parties to gaol in pursuance thereto, under the general rules of the Regulations for the realizing of fines and executing decrees and orders of court. The judge shall further communicate to the salt agent or superintendent whom it may concern a copy of his final order with as little delay as possible, in order that any salt that may be held under attachment may be dealt with accordingly: provided, however, that in any case in which an appeal may be preferred to the Sudder Court against the decision of a zillah or city magistrate, if the party by whom such appeal may be lodged shall tender sufficient security for the performance of the order of the Sudder Court, the zillah or city judge shall suspend the execution of his decision, and shall instruct the salt agent or superintendent to keep in deposit the salt which may have been adjudged contraband, until the final award of the Sudder Court be passed. In all such cases it shall likewise of course be competent to the Sudder Court to stay execution of the decree passed by the zillah or city judge, or to direct the officers in the salt department to keep in deposit the salt which may have been condemned, or the fine realised by the Zillah or City Court.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxv.

168. If the award of the civil judge shall acquit the parties charged, or adjudge any salt under attachment not to be contraband, the parties shall immediately be released, and the attachment taken off; provided, however, that in case the quantity of salt under question shall amount to or exceed two hundred maunds, and an appeal should be lodged, or proposed to be lodged, by any party interested, the attachment of such salt shall not be taken off until it shall be seen whether any appeal be so lodged, and what may be the award thereon: but if no appeal be lodged by any party within one month, attachment shall not continue longer.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxvi.

169. In all cases in which any salt may be forfeited to Government under the rules contained in this Regulation, or in which any person may have been subjected to any of the penalties prescribed in paras. 47, 50, 51, 54 to 62, 65, 67, 68, 70, 71, 73 to 82, 84, 85, 86, 105 to 109, 119, 120, 121, 123 and 131 of this Regulation, whether the final order shall have been passed by a Court of Judicature, or by a salt agent or superintendent of salt chokies, it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue, on application from the party, to call for a report of the circumstances of the case from the salt agent or superintendent by whom it may have been in the first instance investigated, in the manner heretofore practised in respect to seizure made by those officers, and to remit any portion of the fine or penalty which may have been imposed.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxvii., cl. 1.

170. Provided also, that if in any case the salt agent or superintendent of salt chokies shall not deem it necessary to levy the full amount of the fine to which the party offending may be liable under this Regulation, and the said party shall submit himself by a written ikrar-namah to the decision of the salt agent or superintendent, and shall pray to have judgment passed by those officers without reference to the Courts of Judicature, then and in that case it shall be competent to the salt agent or superintendent, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, previously obtained, to pass a final judgment in the case, whatever may be the quantity of salt or amount of fine.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxvii., cl. 2.

171. Provided also, that the amount of rewards to be received by informers and the subordinate officers of Government, under the rules contained in this Regulation, shall in all cases be regulated by the value of the salt or other property actually confiscated to Government, or the amount of fine realized.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxvii., cl. 3.

172. All fines which may be levied by any judge of a Zillah or City Court shall on realization be immediately remitted to the salt agent or superintendent of salt chokies, by whom the case may, in the first instance, have been investigated. The superintendents and salt agents shall be guided in the distribution and payment of the rewards, to which informers and subordinate officers of Government may be entitled under the rules contained in this Regulation, by such general or special orders as they may receive from the Board of Revenue.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxviii.

173. All applications preferred to the Board of Revenue, for a remission or mitigation of any fine or penalty imposed by a salt agent or superintendent, or by a Court of Judicature, shall be written on stamped paper, the value of which shall be regulated as follows:

174. In cases in which the quantity of salt adjudged contraband shall not exceed twenty maunds, or the amount of the fine imposed fifty rupees, the petition to the Board shall be written on stamped paper of the value of two rupees:

175. If the quantity of salt be more than twenty maunds, and do not exceed one hundred maunds, or if the fine imposed be more than fifty rupees, and do not exceed rupees two hundred and fifty, the petition shall be written on stamped paper of the value of four rupees:

176. If the quantity of salt be more than maunds one hundred, and do not exceed two hundred maunds, or if the fine imposed be more than two hundred and fifty rupees, and do not exceed five hundred rupees, the petition shall be written on stamped paper of the value of six rupees:

177. If the quantity of salt exceed two hundred maunds, or the fine imposed five hundred rupees, the petition to the Board shall be written on stamped paper of the value of eight rupees.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxix.

178. Salt agents and superintendents of salt chokies shall be authorized in all cases in which they may consider any charge preferred before them not to be substantiated, to acquit the party accused, and to release the salt or other article which may have been seized: provided, however, that if the party accused be an officer in the salt department, it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue, at any time within three months of the date on which the order of the salt agent or superintendent may have been passed, notwithstanding such acquittal, to direct the superintendent or salt agent to transmit his proceedings to the zillah or city judge, and the judge shall proceed to investigate and decide on the case in the same manner as is above prescribed for cases referred to the court under the rules of paragraph 162.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxx.

179. Persons sentenced to imprisonment under the provisions of this Regulation, and persons confined for non-payment of the fines to which they may be liable, shall ordinarily be confined in the Dewanny gaol; but any person or persons who may be convicted of smuggling salt without rowannah, singly or in gang, and sentenced to pay a fine to Government on account of salt so smuggled, or attempted to be smuggled, shall, if the fine be not paid, be liable to imprisonment in the criminal or foujdary goal, for a period not exceeding six months, in commutation of such fine.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxxi., Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xv.

180. Any person who may be sentenced under paras. 47, 107, and 109, to imprisonment in addition to fine, for the offences described in those paras. respectively, shall in like manner be liable, as above provided for persons convicted of gang smuggling, to undergo such punishment in the foujdary gaol: and cases of the kind described in the said paragraphs shall be adjudicated in like manner as cases in which fine only is adjudged: and the warrant of the officer adjudicating any case under this or the preceding paragraph shall be authority for the magistrate, or other person in charge of the foujdary gaol, to hold the person described therein in confinement, in such gaol as may be specified and required in the said warrant.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xvi.

181. If any person shall wilfully and maliciously give false information in respect to there being an illicit manufacture or store of salt in any house or warehouse, and so procure that such house or warehouse shall be searched to the injury or vexation of the owners thereof, or of any other person or persons whatsoever, such false informer shall, on conviction of the offence before any magistrate, be liable to imprisonment for two years, and to fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, at the discretion of any magistrate by whom the case may be tried; and in case of the non-payment of the fine, to imprisonment for a further period of six months.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxiii.

182. It shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue to require from the officers under their control, such periodical reports or returns regarding the judgments passed by them, and generally in respect to their discharge of the duty intrusted to them under the provisions of this Regulation, as may appear to that Board best calculated to secure regularity of procedure, and as may enable the Board to judge whether the inquiries held by those officers on the trial of the cases cognizable by them, are duly and speedily conducted, and whether the parties implicated have been exposed to any inconvenience or hardship which might have been avoided; and it shall be competent to the Board to call for and examine the proceedings of the salt agent or superintending officer of chokies whenever they may judge it necessary or proper to do so.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxxiii.

183. Whatever judicial powers are declared by this Regulation to be vested in salt agents, and superintending officers of chokies, shall be considered to be likewise vested in all persons appointed to officiate in and exercise the functions of those officers for the time being, and the same powers are hereby declared to be conferred upon the respective assistants of such salt agents and superintending officers of chokies, such assistants being covenanted servants of the Honourable Company, and having been two years in the public service, in cases referred to them for inquiry by their official superiors: provided however, that in all cases in which such investigations may be delegated by salt agents or superintending officers of salt chokies to their assistants, the final roobakaree recorded by those officers shall be submitted for the approval of the salt agents or superintending officers of salt chokies, who shall be competent to confirm, alter, or reverse the judgment therein contained, and no decision passed by the said assistants in such cases shall be carried into effect, until the agent or superintending officer of chokies aforesaid shall have confirmed the same, under his official seal and signature.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxxiv.

184. It is hereby provided, that it shall be competent to a salt agent, or person exercising the functions of salt agent, with the previous sanction of the Board of Revenue, to refer any informations or other matters, requiring judicial investigation regarding the illicit manufacture, sale, transit, or possession of salt, to the superintending officer of salt chokies, for investigation, whenever the more immediate duties of his office, as connected with the manufacture of salt, may occupy so much of his attention as to render it impracticable for him, without detriment to the public interest, to conduct the inquiry in person, or any circumstances may render it improper or inconvenient, to refer the investigation to his assistant; and the superintendent of chokies shall, in such cases, observe the same course of proceeding as in regard to suits or complaints originally preferred to himself.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxxv.

185. If any disputes should arise between a salt agent, a superintending officer of chokies, or any officer of Government, and any person, on any matter relative to the manufacture, provision, transportation, sale, purchase, or possession of salt, not provided for in this Regulation, either party is to be at liberty to apply for redress to the Courts of Civil Judicature, and the case shall be tried and decided upon under the general laws, Regulations, and usages ordinarily observed in the Civil Courts.—Reg. X., 1819, sec. cxxvi.

186. And it is hereby enacted, that the penalties of this Act shall take effect only within the tract of country guarded by salt chokies in the manner prescribed in paragraph 54, and within which the transportation of salt, not belonging to Government, without a rowannah, or special pass from the Board of Revenue, is not lawful; and it is hereby declared that such tract shall not extend, within the Delta of the Ganges and Megna rivers, beyond the line of the reach of the tides in the rivers communicating with the Bay of Bengal as taken at spring tides in the dry season; nor eastward of the Megna, north of the river Goomtee; nor westward of the river Hooghly, beyond a line drawn from a point on that river distant one mile from the northern end of the town of Nyasurai, and to the north thereof, to a like point distant one mile to the north of the town of Guttaul, and thence to a like point distant one mile to the north of the town of Midnapore, and thence to a like point distant one mile to the north of Huldipookur in Singbhoom, so as to include each of those towns respectively.—Act XXIX., 1838, sec. xxxiii.

187. Where from local circumstances, or other sufficient cause, it shall appear to Government to be proper to direct the retail sale of salt within any particular district or tract of country, and consequently to modify the rules generally applicable to that branch of the public resources, it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in council, to direct the said rules, or any part of them to be suspended within the district or tract of country in question, for such period as may from time to time appear proper, and in lieu thereof to prescribe for the same such other rules relative to transportation, sale, purchase, and possession of salt, and for the issue and disposal of rowannahs and passes as may, from time to time, appear to be expedient. Provided, however, that the penalties attaching to the violation of the rules so specially prescribed shall not in any case exceed those which would attach under the general Regulations to the illicit transportation, sale, purchase, or possession of the like quantity of salt. In all such cases, the special rules prescribed shall be published in the current language of the district, and shall be affixed at the cutcherry of the judge, magistrate, and collector of the district, as well as at the office of the local salt agent and superintendent of chokies, and at the several police thannahs, and salt chokies within the tract in question.—Reg. X., 1826, sec. iv.

NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES.

188. From and after the 1st day of September, 1843, the manufacture of alimentary salt throughout the North-Western Provinces of the Presidency of Bengal, without the express sanction of the Government, is prohibited; and any person engaging in the manufacture of such salt, or preparing or causing to be prepared works for the manufacture of such salt, without such sanction, and all zemindars or other proprietors of land, or their agents, conniving at such illicit manufacture, shall, on conviction by the magistrate within the limits of whose district the offence may have occurred, be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and on non-payment of such fine, by imprisonment not exceeding six months, with or without hard labour; and all works at which such manufacture shall have been conducted, or which are designed for such manufacture, shall be destroyed, and any salt which may be manufactured or stored thereat, shall be seized and confiscated.—Act XIV., 1843, sec. iv.

189. It shall be lawful for the collectors of customs and the collectors of land revenue within their jurisdictions to destroy all works for the manufacture of salt, and to seize the salt stored thereat, and to apprehend the persons concerned in the manufacture thereof, and make them over for trial to the magistrate within the limits of whose district the offence may have occurred.—Act XIV., 1843, sec. v.

For the duties on the import of salt, and the provisions for the enforcement of the above rules, see CUSTOMS.

CALCUTTA.

For preventing the smuggling of Salt into Calcutta.

190. The Governor of Bengal may establish as many chokies as he shall deem necessary for preventing the smuggling of alimentary salt into the town of Calcutta, and upon that part of the river Hooghly which lies within the local jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, and such chokies shall be under the charge of an officer to be styled the "Superintendent of Salt Chokies," who, in the exercise of his functions, shall be subject to the control of the Board of Revenue—Act XIII., 1849, sec. i.

191. The superintendent may appoint darogahs, mohurrers, jemadars, burkundauzes, and other officers to assist him in the discharge of his duties; and the officers so appointed, besides their ordinary respective designations, shall be styled "Officers of Salt Chokies."—Act XIII., 1849, sec. ii.

192. Excepting salt imported by sea, and stored under bond, as provided by Act No. XXV. 1836, it shall not be lawful to import alimentary salt into the town of Calcutta, or to carry such salt within the said town, or upon the river Hooghly, as aforesaid, in excess of the quantity of ten seers of eighty tolas to the seer, or to store such salt within the said town in quantities exceeding one maund, except under a rowannah, or special pass, from the Board of Revenue, or a char-chitty, or pass from the said superintendent, to be granted under such rules, and on the payment of such fees as the said Board shall direct.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. iii.

193. All alimentary salt found within the said town, or upon the river Hooghly, as aforesaid, in contravention of this Act, shall be deemed contraband and liable to seizure and confiscation; and if several persons shall be found carrying salt, unprotected by a rowannah, or char-chitty, as aforesaid, in gangs or companies, which salt shall exceed in the whole quantity ten seers, such salt shall be deemed contraband; but no salt found in store in any house or warehouse shall be deemed to be contraband, unless, when the search is made, there shall be found more thereof than one maund, and the owner or person in charge shall be unable to account, satisfactorily, for the manner of its being found in his possession —Act XIII., 1489, sec. iv.

194. If any person shall carry, or attempt to carry, within the said town, or upon the river Hooghly, as aforesaid, under a rowannah, or char-chitty, a greater quantity of salt than shall be therein specified, the excess shall be deemed contraband, and if such excess is found to be more than one-fortieth part of the quantity so specified, the whole quantity shall be deemed contraband, and liable to seizure and confiscation; and the gomashtah or other person in charge of the salt shall be liable to a fine of ten rupees for every maund of salt in excess of the quantity specified in the said document; and the excess shall be calculated upon the whole despatch as provided in para. 69.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. v.

195. The provisions contained in paras. 54 to 80 both inclusive, as to the preparation, currency, renewal, production, endorsement, delivering up and falsifying of rowannahs, or other protective documents, shall be applicable within Calcutta, and on the river Hooghly as aforesaid.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. vi.

196. Whenever any salt shall be seized as contraband, the vessels, packages, and coverings in which such salt shall be found, and the animals and conveyances used in carrying it, shall also be liable to seizure and confiscation.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. vii.

197. All persons in whose possession contraband salt shall be found, except in the case provided for by para. 194, shall be liable to a fine, calculated at a rate not exceeding five rupees for each maund, upon the quantity so found; and each one of a party of smugglers, or of the parties to the fraud on the revenue, shall be liable to the whole fine.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. viii.

198. The superintendent of salt chokies, and any of his subordinate officers, and any officer of any other department, whom the Governor of Bengal shall authorize in that behalf, may stop and detain any person removing or carrying any salt, without a rowannah or char-chitty, or otherwise liable to confiscation under this Act; and may seize the salt, with the vessels, packages, and coverings in which the salt is found, and the animals and conveyances used in carrying it.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. ix.

199. If the superintendent has good reason to believe, either from information given by any of his subordinate officers, or other person, to be taken down in writing, or from his own knowledge, or from the proceedings in any other case, that contraband salt, exceeding in quantity one maund, is stored in any place, it shall be lawful for him, between sunrise and sunset, but always in the presence of a constable, or other officer of the peace, to enter into every such place where any such contraband salt as aforesaid is suspected to be stored, and to seize and carry away the same; and, in case of resistance, to break open any door, and to force and remove any other obstacle to such entry, search, seizure, or removal as aforesaid; and to arrest and detain the owner or occupant of the premises, with all parties whom he suspects to be concerned in the unlawful storing whom he shall find on the premises; and if the superintendent shall not be able to proceed in person to make the seizure, he may, by warrant under his hand, empower any officer of salt chokies, above the rank of a jemadar of peons, to make the same; and the officer so authorized shall proceed in the same manner, and with the same powers, as above provided in respect of the superintendent himself. Provided that, where there is ground to suspect that such contraband salt as aforesaid is concealed in any zenana, the superintendent, or officer authorized as aforesaid, shall follow, as closely as may be, the rules for the seizure of property so concealed, adopted by the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. x.

200. All constables, and other ministerial officers of the peace, are required to help the superintendent and his subordinate officers, and other officers authorized to make a seizure of salt, in the due execution of this Act, upon notice given or request made by the superintendent, or any such officer. Any officer who, without lawful excuse, shall refuse or neglect to help as aforesaid, on being required to do so, shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding five hundred rupees —Act XIII., 1849, sec. xi.

201. Whenever a seizure of salt in store, in any place, shall be made by the superintendent, the facts of the seizure shall be recorded in an official proceeding to be placed on record in his office; and if the seizure shall be made by a subordinate officer, such officer shall report the circumstances within twenty-four hours to the superintendent.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xii.

202. Every person who shall maliciously give false information against any person for importing or transporting, or in respect of there being in any house or shop any salt, in contravention of this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or to imprisonment in the common gaol for a period not exceeding six months, or both.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xiii.

203. Every person who shall obstruct or molest the superintendent, or any officer of salt chokies, or any officer of another department duly authorized to make a seizure of salt, or any person acting in aid of the superintendent, or any officer, as aforesaid, in the due execution of this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees; and such person shall be further liable, if an affray or breach of the peace shall happen in consequence of his resistance, on conviction of the same before a competent tribunal, to such punishment as is prescribed by law for cases of affray and breach of the peace, in addition to the penalty above prescribed for resistance of process.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xiv.

204. Any officer of salt chokies, or any officer of another department, duly empowered to make a seizure of salt, who, without reasonable cause, shall delay carrying any person arrested, or any illicit articles seized under this Act, to the superintendent, or neglect to report the particulars of an arrest, seizure, or search, within twenty-four hours thereafter, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xv.

205. Any officer of salt chokies, or any officer of another department, as aforesaid, who shall vexatiously and unnecessarily seize the goods or chattels of any person, on the pretence of seizing or searching for contraband salt, or who shall vexatiously or unnecessarily arrest any person, or commit any other excess, not required for the execution of his duty, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xvi.

206. Any officer employed in the salt choky department, or any officer of another department, as aforesaid, who shall connive at the smuggling of salt, or unlawfully release or connive at the escape of any person arrested under this Act, or act in a manner inconsistent with his duty, for the purpose of enabling any person to do anything whereby any of the provisions of this Act may be evaded or broken, or the revenue derived from salt defrauded, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xvii.

207. Any officer employed in the department of salt chokies, or any officer of another department, as aforesaid, who shall ask or take any gratuity, not authorized by any law or order of Government, or of the Board of Revenue, in consideration of doing or of omitting to do any act in his official capacity, and any person who shall offer a bribe to any such officer, in order to induce such officer to act in a manner inconsistent with his duty, shall be liable, for every such offence, to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xviii.

208. Whenever the superintendent shall arrest any person, or shall seize any contraband salt, he shall, with all convenient dispatch, carry the person arrested, with the salt, and any other chattels liable to confiscation, seized therewith, before any justice of the peace for the town of Calcutta, and if the arrest or seizure shall be made by any of his subordinate officers, or other officer duly empowered, such officer shall immediately carry the person arrested, and the articles seized, to the superintendent, who shall thereupon proceed as if the arrest or seizure had been made by himself. Provided that nothing in this rule shall be construed to prevent the superintendent from releasing any persons arrested, or property seized, when he considers such persons or property to have been improperly arrested or seized.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xix.

209. Whenever any salt, or other chattels, shall be seized by the superintendent, or other duly authorized officer, as liable to confiscation under this Act, such seizure shall, upon information exhibited by the superintendent, be heard and determined in a summary way by such justice of the peace as aforesaid: and such justice shall cause the persons, to whom such salt, or other chattels, belong, to be summoned to appear before him, and, upon their appearance or default, shall examine into the cause of the seizure thereof, and give judgment; and upon confiscation thereof, shall issue his warrant to the superintendent for the disposal thereof, according to the orders of the Board of Revenue.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xx.

210. Whenever any salt, or other chattels, shall be seized, as aforesaid, and no person shall appear before the superintendent, within one calendar month, to claim the same, the justice shall examine into the cause of the seizure, at a place and time of which notice shall have been given by the superintendent in the Calcutta Gazette, and give judgment for the confiscation of such salt and other chattels, as, upon such examination, shall appear to him confiscable: and, upon confiscation thereof, shall issue his warrant for the disposal of them, as if the owner had been summoned to attend the said justice.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xxi.

211. All fines, leviable under this Act, shall be adjudged by any justice of the peace for the town of Calcutta, and the said justice, upon information exhibited before him by the superintendent, shall, with all convenient despatch, and not later than three calendar months after the act for which the fine may be demandable, summon the parties accused, and, upon their appearance or default, shall examine into the matter, and upon due proof made thereof, by the voluntary confession of the parties, or by the oath or solemn affirmation, in cases wherein a solemn affirmation is receivable by law instead of an oath, of one or more credible witnesses, shall give judgment accordingly; and, in default of payment of any fine to which an offender is adjudged, he shall be liable, by order of the said justice, to imprisonment in the common gaol of Calcutta for a period not exceeding six months, or until the fine is sooner paid.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xxii.

212. Whenever any person shall be convicted, before any justice, of an offence against this Act, after having been previously convicted of a like offence, he shall be liable, in addition to the penalty attached to such offence, to imprisonment in the common gaol, for a period not exceeding six months; and a like punishment of imprisonment, not exceeding six months, shall be incurred, in addition to the punishment which may be inflicted for the first offence, upon every subsequent conviction after the second.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xxiii.

213. One-half of all fines levied from persons convicted of the illicit importation, transportation, or storing of salt, and of the proceeds from sale of articles confiscated, shall, upon adjudication of the case, be awarded to the officer or officers subordinate to the superintendent, or other duly authorized officer of another department, who apprehended the offender or seized the illicit articles; and the other half of all such fines and proceeds shall be given to the informer; and if no fine is realized, the Board of Revenue may grant such reasonable reward, not exceeding the sum of two hundred rupees, as may appear to them fit; and such officers and informers shall further be entitled to the rewards specified in paras. 135, 136, 137. Provided, that the Board of Revenue may direct, by general order, what classes of officers of salt chokies shall receive rewards, and what classes shall have no title to share in them.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xxiv.

214. All fines, levied under this Act, the disposal of which is not specially provided for, shall belong to Government; but the Board of Revenue may grant any portion thereof, not exceeding one-half, as rewards to informers, or as compensation to parties injured by any proceedings under this Act.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xxv.

215. No writ of certiorari shall be issued at the suit of any party, out of the Supreme Court of Judicature, to supersede, stay, remove, or in any wise affect any information, or judicial proceeding before any justice of the peace, in pursuance of this Act; and no judgment thereupon shall be quashed, except for error of law apparent on the face of the judgment.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xxvi.

216. When any penalty or confiscation shall be adjudged by a justice of the peace under this Act, the Board of Revenue, within one month after judgment given, may call for the proceedings of the case (with which requisition the justice of the peace shall be bound to comply), and, if they shall see cause, may direct that the seizure, or any part thereof, be restored, and remit or mitigate the penalty and discharge the party.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xxvii.

217. All actions and prosecutions to be commenced against the superintendent, or any officer of salt chokies, or any officer of another department duly empowered to seize contraband salt, or any person acting in aid of the superintendent, or other officer, as aforesaid, for anything done in pursuance of this Act, shall be commenced within three calendar months after the fact committed, and not afterwards; and notice in writing of such action, and of the cause thereof, shall be given to the defendant, one calendar month at least before the commencement of the action; and no plaintiff shall recover, in any such action, if tender of sufficient amends shall have been made before such action brought, or if after action brought a sufficient sum of money shall have been paid into court, with costs, by or on behalf of the defendant.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xxviii.

218. The term alimentary salt, as used in this Act, shall be held to include and apply to noon-chye, puckwa, and every other kind of salt substance, used as a seasoning for food.—Act XIII., 1849, sec. xxix.

No. 1.

FORM of Proclamation referred to in paragraph 152.

WHEREAS a complaint having been lodged against A. B. for suffering the illicit manufacture of salt on his estate, a notice of the same was issued on requiring the said A. B. to attend within days at this cutcherry, either in person or by vakeel, to answer to the charge preferred against him; and whereas the said A. B. has absented himself from his usual place of residence, so as to prevent the notice being served upon him, [or having received the notice, as the case may happen to be], has failed to attend agreeably to the requisition; proclamation is hereby made, that if the said A. B. does not appear in person, or by duly authorized mokhtar, on or before the case will be proceeded upon ex parte, and the award will be made in the same manner as if the defendant had appeared and answered to the charge.

INDIGO.

I.—RULES RELATING TO THE CULTIVATION AND MANUFACTURE OF INDIGO IN BENARES, PASSED BEFORE THE PERMANENT SETTLEMENT.

1. Conformably to the restrictions alluded to in the preamble to this Regulation, on the 20th March, 1794, a circular order was issued to the aumils, forbidding any more ground to be leased to natural-born British subjects or to other Europeans, or conveyed to them by sale or otherwise, without the sanction of Government to be first had and obtained; and (lest the natives should misconstrue, and any of them make an improper use of this Regulation) it was at the same time ordered, that the Europeans were not to be dispossessed of what ground they now occupied without the resident's sanction, and to enable him to pass his determination in all such cases, an account was ordered to be prepared of all such lands in the occupancy of Europeans.—Reg. XXXIII., 1795, sec. ii.

2. On the 22nd of March, 1795, the resident notified to all the aumils by a circular order, that as it was contrary to the intentions of Government that any part of the public revenue should be paid (excepting in amauny villages) through the medium of any Europeans, either for the ground in which they cultivated the indigo or on any other account, they (the aumils) were prohibited from receiving the revenue through any other channel than that of the native zemindars or farmers holding pottahs from Government, leaving it to them to settle with those who were indigo planters according to the existing engagements between the parties.—Reg. XXXIII., 1795, sec. iii.

3. First. On the grounds set forth in the preamble to this Regulation, and with a view to obviate or provide against the numerous complaints which the planting and manufacturing of indigo by British subjects had occasioned, the rules contained in the following clauses were passed by Government on the 23rd of May and the 4th of July, 1794.

Second. "Art 1*st.* That all existing leases of lands for the purpose of cultivating indigo, actually and bonâ fide obtained before the 20th of March, 1794, by any European, be allowed to remain in force until they expire, provided the term of them shall not extend beyond the period of the decennial settlement.

Third. "Art. 2*nd.* That all leases obtained directly or indirectly by Europeans, either in their own names or those of others, since the 20th day of March, 1794, be declared null and void, and that the lessees be immediately dispossessed.

Fourth "Art. 3*rd.* That, in future, no new leases for lands shall be entered into, directly or indirectly, by any European, and that any such leases shall be void, and the lessee not only be dispossessed, but liable to be ordered immediately to Calcutta.

Fifth. "Art. 4*th.* After the expiration of the last year of the decennial settlement, no European shall be permitted to rent or hold any land, directly or indirectly, either in his own name or that of others. This rule, however, is not to extend to land not exceeding fifty begahs, which Europeans shall be permitted to purchase or rent, for the purpose of erecting dwelling-houses, or buildings for carrying on manufactures, provided they previously obtain the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, through the resident, to purchase or rent the land.

Sixth. "Art. 5*th.* If any native servant, or dependent of any British subject, or other European, shall intercept on the road, or otherwise unduly seize, any bhoosa or other property, he shall, on the party injured complaining to the resident, and on the latter's seeing sufficient ground for such a mode of procedure, be committed by him for trial for such violence to the Foujdarry Court, and besides suffering such punishment (in case of conviction) as the Court may inflict, such servant shall be thereon rendered incapable of entering again within the district into the service of any British-born subject or other European, in any capacity whatsoever; and in all cases of undue seizure of bhoosa, or other property, as aforesaid, by any British subject or subjects, or by his or their servant or servants, on their behalf, it shall be the duty of the resident, on the receipt of any complaint to this effect, to enter on a summary inquiry into the circumstances of the case; whereupon every such British subject shall strictly and without reserve conform to any requisition or order that he (the resident) may thereon issue, for full restitution of the bhoosa, or other article, so detained, to the proper owner, as well as for the paying to the latter such indemnification and damages as the resident may award.

Seventh. "Art. 6th. In the event of the servants of any British subject attempting to press into, or forcibly carry away for, their master's service, any artificers, workmen, or labourers, they shall be liable for every such offence to be themselves apprehended by the proper local officers of Government, and brought thereon to such trial or punishment as the laws of the country point out, besides being, in all cases where conviction shall ensue, rendered incapable (in like manner as is expressed in Clause Sixth) of acting again in the service of any European.

Eighth. "Art. 7th. No British subject shall be permitted to cut down any trees, unless the owner shall have previously and voluntarily sold them to him, and executed to him a writing attested by two credible witnesses, expressing his consent to the sale of the trees and the price of them.

Ninth. "Art. 8th. The Regulations of the 7th March last, prohibiting all epistolary correspondence between the resident or the native judges of the several Courts and parties in suits or complaints brought before them, it is directed, with a view to facilitate the resident's inquiring into and settling the frequent and various complaints that are preferred in respect to the indigo cultivation and manufacture, that the several persons concerned in it shall at all times have in attendance in the resident's cutcherry, well-informed vakeels on their respective parts, properly authorized and instructed to deliver competent answers to, and explanations, in the Hindovee tongue, of such allegations as may from time to time be brought by any of the natives against their constituents or their servants.

Tenth. "Art. 9th. No European shall seize or confine an individual ryot or other person, or do any of the acts which their servants are prohibited doing by these Regulations; and where it shall be proved, to the satisfaction of the resident, that the servants of any such British subjects have done any such acts, by the orders, or with the connivance or knowledge of their masters, the latter shall be held responsible for the act, and shall be considered to have committed a breach of the Regulations.

Eleventh. "Art. 10th. Every European indigo planter shall sign, and personally engage for the adherence to, the above articles, or any other Regulations that may be hereafter enacted respecting them, under the penalty of five hundred rupees for the first offence, and of being sent to Calcutta for the second.

Twelfth. "Art. 11th. No European is to take up his abode in the zemindary of Benares without the sanction of the Governor-General in Council. The resident is to send any person guilty of a breach of this rule to Calcutta."—Reg. XXXIII., 1795, sec. iv.

4. The resident was, at the same time, desired to afford every encouragement to Europeans in procuring the indigo plant to be raised for them, at a given rate for every begah or bundle, by contract with the ryots or aumils; with this caution to be observed in regard to the latter, that they were not to be permitted to avail themselves of their official influence as aumils, to compel ryots, or any individual, to plough or work upon the lands against their inclination, or to exercise any undue authority whatever in the management of the concern.—Reg. XXXIII., 1795, sec. v.

5. On the 1st July, 1794, the aumils and the people of the country at large were furnished with a translation of the preceding rules, and at the same time apprized that Government had no immediate concern whatever in the provision of the indigo, and that the above measures had been adopted solely upon the ground that the introduction of a new and valuable article of produce could not fail to be productive of advantage both to the cultivators and proprietors of the soil, as well as to the merchants, provided the trade in it could be conducted without prejudice to individuals, or to the good order and government of the country.—Reg. XXXIII., 1795, sec. vi.

6. First. On the promulgation of the prohibition in para. 1, it was set forth on behalf of several Europeans, that previous to the date thereof they had obtained fair and voluntary engagements from sundry zemindars and others, for a certain extent or number of begahs for the cultivation of indigo; and therefore requested that orders might be issued for the ground in question being measured out, and delivered over to them, for the term allowed of under Clause Second, para. 3, which the resident did accordingly admit of and order on the 7th of June, 1794; in as far as the land thus found to be fairly contracted and engaged for, previous to the order of prohibition, might not be liable to all or either of the grounds of objection in the following clauses, the existence of which was to bar the Europeans' possession of the lands in question.

Second. "Art. 1st. The engagement or contract for the delivery of the ground to the Europeans must issue and be from the party or parties holding the pottahs of Government, and not merely from their putteedars, as the subordinate partners of such pottahdars are not authorized to introduce, without the concurrence of the Government's pottahdar, any ryot, and still less a natural-born British subject, into the possession or cultivation of any part of the territory included under such pottah.

Third. "Art. 2nd. In consideration that the Governor-General in Council hath prohibited any British subject from holding farms of revenue, and as, in fair construction, any pottahdar of Government making over all the territory under the pottah to any British subject would be equivalent to such a taking in farm as is meant to be forbidden, therefore no pottahdar is, out of the grounds included under such pottah, to be allowed to make over to any European a larger proportion than shall be suitable to the moderate idea of a ryotty tenure.

Fourth. "Art. 3*rd.* A pottahdar of Government is not to be deemed competent to grant to any natural-born British subject for the cultivation of indigo, the grounds of any chupperbund or khud kasht ryot, unless on the condition of such settled ryot's razeenamah being previously delivered into the office of the resident, under the attestation of the canongoes.

Fifth. "Art. 4*th.* As the aumil is in the amauny or unsettled villages of each pergunnah in the stead and place of the pottahdars of Government, such aumils are, as far as regards the granting of any grounds therein to any European for the cultivation of indigo, to consider themselves as bound to be governed by the same qualifications, restrictions, and conditions as are provided and specified in the three preceding clauses and articles for the guidance of the pottahdars in similar instances; nor is any aumil to make such grants out of the cutcha lands without the privity and consent of the canongoes, who are to attend, in every such instance, to the due and full observance of the requisitions thus made."

Sixth. The notification comprehended in this rule was confirmed by the Governor-General in Council under date the 4th of July, 1794.—Reg. XXXIII., 1795, sec. vii.

7. First. On the 12th of July, 1794, a circular notification was published by the resident, announcing to the natives that the Governor-General in Council had no objection, but rather wished to encourage their entering into contracts with Europeans to raise for them the indigo plant, and to deliver it to them when ready to be cut and transported to their manufacturing-houses; subject, however, to the conditions in the clauses under mentioned:

Second. "Art. 1*st.* That only the pottahdars of Government (or in amauny lands the aumil) be competent to enter into such contracts with Europeans; which condition has, however, been since modified as under the next paragraph.

Third. "Art. 2*nd.* That even pottahdars of Government shall not be competent to apply the grounds occupied in husbandry by chupperbund or khud kasht ryots not in balance as to their rent, to raise indigo on, without the latter's full and free consent."—Reg. XXXIII., 1795, sec. viii.

8. First. But on a representation being made by some of the indigo planters, that the prohibition in Clause Second, paragraph 7, would prove highly prejudicial to them, and particularly expose them to undue exactions on the part of the pottahdars of Government; at the same time that they offered to hold the produce of the indigo crops at all times bound for the payment of the amount of the contract rates for which they should have agreed, so as always to prove an adequate security to the pottahdar or pottahdars of Government, for the jumma of the part of his or their zemindary or farm planted with indigo; Clause Second, paragraph 7, was, with a view to the promotion and general increase of cultivation, declared on the 22nd July, 1794, to be repealed, so far as that Europeans were pronounced at liberty to enter into contracts, on the above conditions, with the chupperbund or khud kasht ryots, or with putteedars whose puttees might be distinct and separate, and have been divided off from the pottahdar's part of the estate, for cultivating, sowing, and rearing the indigo plant by their own labour, within their respective limits of cultivation, in the same manner as is allowed to pottahdars under paragraph 7.—Reg. XXXIII., 1795, sec. ix., cl. 1.

Second. Where such indigo cultivation as is described under the first clause of the present rule shall take place in spots where hitherto the rent of the land payable by the ryot has been the moiety or other proportion of the produce, the canongoes shall in all such cases fix the money assessment which is to be, on an indigo crop, paid by the ryot or joint putteedar to the pottahdar of Government, whilst the indigo manufacturers are to pay to either of the two latter by whom the ground may be possessed the amount for which they shall have contracted.—Reg. XXXIII., 1795, sec. ix., cl. 2.

Third. The rules herein contained were declared by the resident to the parties soliciting them to be passed merely by way of experiment, and liable to such future amendment or entire revocation as might hereafter appear necessary, or as Government might at any time direct.—Reg. XXXIII., 1795, sec. ix., cl. 3.

9. The authorities vested in, and duties required to be discharged by, the resident, under the preceding rules, are to be considered as transferred, from the date of their entering respectively into office, to the judges of the City and Zillah Courts, from whose decisions appeals are to lie in all cases allowed by the Regulations.—Reg. XXXIII., 1765, sec. x.

II.—GENERAL RULES.

NOTE.—The rules for the registry of Indigo contracts are contained in secs. iii. and iv., Reg. XX., 1812, and sec. v., Act XXX., 1838, and will be found under the head of "Registry of Wills and Deeds." The rules of Reg. VI., 1823, were originally enacted for Bengal, but were extended to the other provinces by Reg. V., 1824.

1. If any person shall have given advances to a ryot, or other cultivator of the soil, under a written engagement, stipulating for the cultivation of indigo plant on a portion of land of certain defined limits, and for the delivery of the produce to himself, or at a specified factory or place, such person shall be considered to have a lien or interest in the indigo plant produced on such land, and shall be entitled to avail himself of the process hereinafter provided for the protection of his interests, and for the due execution of the conditions of the contract.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. ii.

2. If any person, who may have made advances on conditions of the nature above described shall have just reason to believe that an individual under engagement with him is evading, or is about to evade the execution of his contract, by making away with and disposing of the produce otherwise than as stipulated, or that he has engaged secretly or openly to supply the same to another, it shall be competent to such person to present a petition of complaint to the zillah or city judge within whose local jurisdiction the land stipulated to be cultivated with the indigo plant may be situated, filing with the same the original deed of engagement by which the produce may be assigned and engaged to be delivered to himself or at his factory, and certifying in his petition that such deed was voluntarily and bonâ fide executed by the individual complained against.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. iii., cl. 1.

3. On such petition and original deed of engagement being filed, a summons, or tulub chithee, shall be immediately issued through the nazir in the usual form, requiring the individual named in the petition to attend and answer to the complaint, either in person or by an authorized agent, within such specified period as may in each instance appear reasonable, and which period shall in no case exceed twenty days.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. iii., cl. 2.

4. The officer entrusted with the execution of the process shall also be instructed to affix a copy of the summons in the village cutcherry, or other place of public resort, and to erect a bamboo on the specific parcel of ground on account of which the claim may have been preferred, and which it shall be the duty of the plaintiff or his agent to point out. By these means sufficient public notice of the claim will be given to enable persons desirous of contesting the plaintiff's right, or of establishing a prior right to the produce of the land, to appear either in person or by an authorized agent before the Court for that purpose, and the failure so to attend, before the summary decision be passed, will be held to bar the claim of any third party founded on any contract for the produce of the land in question, unless it be established by a regular suit.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. iii., cl. 3.

5. If the officer serving the process shall not be able to execute it on the person of the defendant, he shall nevertheless publish the claim in the manner above directed; and if the defendant shall not appear to answer to the complaint within the period specified in the summons, and no other claim be preferred in bar of that of the plaintiff, the judge or other officer shall, after taking evidence to establish the deed and other allegations of the plaintiff, proceed to the adjudication of the claim, in the same manner as if the defendant had personally appeared.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. iii., cl. 4.

6. If the defendant or his authorized agent should attend within the period specified, and should deny the execution of the deed of engagement filed by the complainant, proof of the same shall be taken; and if its voluntary execution be established to the satisfaction of the Court, or other tribunal trying the case, and no preferable claim be established by a third party, a summary award shall be made, adjudging to the plaintiff the right of receiving the crop according to the terms of the agreement. The same principle shall be applied if the engagement be admitted, and no satisfactory reason be shown why the defendant should not be held to the performance of his contract.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. iii., cl. 5.

7. If it be proved that the engagement was not duly and voluntarily executed by the defendant, or if it should appear that the proceeding is otherwise litigious and oppressive, and the claim unfounded, or that the plaintiff had no sufficient cause to warrant his application to the Court, the complaint shall be dismissed, and the plaintiff shall be made liable to the payment of costs, and such reasonable sum in addition as may seem to the judge or other officer trying the case a proper compensation to the defendant for any trouble and annoyance to which he may have been subjected.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. iii., cl. 6.

8. If it should appear in the course of the inquiry, that the defendant is under engagement for the same land to a third party, notice shall immediately be issued for that party to appear and plead, either in person or by vakeel, and if such person or any third party shall, previously to the decision of the case, come forward and produce a similar deed of engagement, stipulating for the produce of the same portion of land, the judge or other officer trying the case shall, after such summary investigation as may be necessary, determine whether either of the parties has any just claim to the produce of the land, and if so, which of them may have the prior and better claim; a preference will of course be given to engagements duly registered under the provisions of Regulation XX., 1812. The result of such investigation shall be recorded, and a decree passed, adjudging the question of right between the parties.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. iii., cl. 7.

9. No defendant, who may attend under the process described in the preceding rules, shall be confined in jail, or be in any manner detained longer than may suffice to take his answer to the claim, and to obtain from him such further explanations as the nature of the answer may suggest. —Reg. VI., 1823, sec. iii., cl. 8.

10. If, pending the summary inquiry in the manner above directed, it shall appear that the plant on the ground is in a state fit to be cut, and will be injured or destroyed if not cut, it shall in such case be competent to the judge, or other officer trying the case, to pass an order for the delivery of the plant to either of the parties, provided that the said party consents and engages to pay to the other claimant (if the summary award should be ultimately in favour of the latter) a specific pecuniary compensation; the amount of such compensation shall be fixed by the judge, or other person trying the case, in communication with the parties, and shall be regulated with reference to the estimated produce of the ground, and to the probable value of such produce when manufactured, and the amount, when so fixed, shall be carefully recorded on the proceedings.— —Reg. VI., 1823, sec. iii., cl. 9.

11. Whenever the right to indigo plant may be contested, and an order shall be passed, under the provisions of the preceding paragraph, for the delivery of indigo plant to one of the parties claiming the same, such party shall not be allowed to cut or remove the indigo plant until he shall have given sufficient security, to the satisfaction of the Court trying the case, to make good any claim that shall be ultimately established to such indigo plant, whether arising from a prior right to the produce of the land, or from an arrear of rent due on account of the specific parcel of land from which the plant may have been produced.—Act X., 1836, sec. ii.

12. Any person in whose favour a summary award shall have been passed for the produce of any defined spot of land, shall be entitled to place a watch over the same, and to prevent the cutting and removal of the plant in any manner contrary to the stipulations of his agreement; and in the event of any attempt being made to cut or remove the plant, it shall be competent to the person holding the decree to apply to the nearest police darogah, and to claim from him the assistance of the police in preventing such removal; it shall, moreover, be the duty of the police officers, and of all other officers, on such a decree being exhibited, to aid the person in whose favour it may have been passed to the utmost of their power.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. iv., cl. 1.

13. In order that the foregoing rule may not operate to the prejudice of the landholders, who, by the existing Regulations, are authorized to attach the crops for the realization of rents justly due to them, it is hereby provided, that whenever any manufacturer, who may have obtained an award under the foregoing rules, may cause the plant to be cut and taken away, he shall be held responsible, conjointly with the ryot, for any arrear of rent which may have been due on account of the specific parcel of ground from which the indigo plant may have been taken.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. iv., cl. 2.

14. In cases in which a ryot, who may have received advances and entered into written agreements for the cultivation and delivery of indigo plant, in the manner herein indicated, shall have failed to cultivate the ground specified, or having cultivated it, shall have failed or refused to complete his engagement, or shall have sold, made away with, or transferred the produce to another person, the party with whom such agreement was first made shall be at liberty to institute, at his option, either a summary or a regular suit.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. v., cl. 1.

15. If the summary process be adopted, and the cause be decided in favour of the plaintiff, the defendant shall be subjected to the payment of the amount of the advances actually received by him, with interest on the same, and the costs of the summary process.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. v., cl. 2.

16. If no fraud or dishonest dealing be established, and the failure of a ryot or other contractor to execute the stipulations of his engagement by the delivery of indigo plant in the manner stipulated be owing to accident, or to any cause not implying fraud or dishonesty, the penalty to be adjudged against a contractor shall not exceed three times the sum advanced as the consideration for executing the deed, including interest.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. v., cl. 4.

17. Any person who, having received advances under a written agreement for the cultivation of indigo, shall be desirous, on the expiration of the period of his contract, to settle his account, shall be at liberty, in the event of the proprietor of the factory, or the person acting in his behalf, refusing to settle the same, to present a petition to the Zillah Court; and the judge, after a summary inquiry, in the presence of the parties or their authorized agents, into the merits of the case, shall, on proof of the expiration of the contract, and of there being no balance due from the petitioner, or if the petitioner shall deposit in Court the amount of any balance that may be adjudged to be due from him, grant the said petitioner a release from his engagement, and shall pay over the amount of any balance that may be deposited by him to the proprietor, or to the person acting in his behalf.—Reg V., 1830, sec. v., cl. 1.

18 If the proprietor or person aforesaid shall refuse to receive the balance awarded to him by the summary process above provided, the judge shall return the amount to the petitioner, leaving the defendant to seek his remedy by a regular suit.—Reg V, 1830, sec. v., cl. 2.

19. When a lawful contract shall have been made between a ryot and another party, by which contract the ryot shall have bound himself to cultivate indigo plant for the other party, or to deliver indigo plant to the other party, and when the other party shall have advanced money to the ryot for the purpose of enabling the ryot to fulfil such contract, then if any other person, knowing that such contract exists, and that such advance has been made, shall prevail upon the ryot to break such contract, the party who made the advance shall be entitled to proceed by civil action against the person who shall have so prevailed on the ryot, as well as against the ryot, and to recover from him or them, jointly or severally, damages to the extent of the injury sustained, together with costs of suit. Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to give a right of action against any person in consequence of any act which that person may have done for the purpose of procuring payment of a debt or performance of a lawful contract —Act X., 1836, sec iii

20. Summary investigations, under this Regulation, shall be conducted according to the form and in the manner prescribed for the conduct of summary suits for arrears of rent: they shall be either tried by the judge, or be referred to the collector of the district In cases referred to the collector, that officer shall pass a decision on them, instead of sending them back to the judge with a report, and there shall be no appeal from any summary decision passed by those officers respectively, if regularly made, and in a matter duly cognizable under this Regulation it shall nevertheless be competent to any person, whose claim under a deed of engagement for the cultivation and delivery of indigo plant may have been set aside by a summary award, or who may be otherwise dissatisfied with the decision passed on a summary investigation under the foregoing provisions, to institute a regular suit for the recovery of the penalty stipulated in the deed of engagement, or for the establishment of any other claim or interest to which he may deem himself entitled —Reg. VI., 1823, sec vi

21 The Court trying any suit instituted under the provisions herein contained, shall be authorized to examine both the plaintiff and the defendant, whenever the Court shall deem such examination necessary to the ends of justice; and if the award be in favour of the defendant, to assign to the defendant a sum which may be a compensation to him for the expense and loss of time occasioned by the proceeding —Act X., 1836, sec iv.

22 It shall be competent to a zillah or city judge to refer to a principal sudder aumeen or sudder aumeen, according to the amount of their respective jurisdictions, any suit, whether regular or summary, which may be instituted under these provisions, to be inquired into and decided by the said principal sudder aumeen or sudder aumeen, in the same manner and under the same rules as such suit may be inquired into and decided by a zillah or city judge, anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding.—Act X., 1836, sec. v

23. No objection shall be taken against any deed of contract for the cultivation and delivery of indigo plant on account of its not bearing the proper stamp, provided that the same be executed on paper bearing a stamp of such an amount as would be required under the rules of Schedule A, Regulation X, 1829, for a bond of the amount actually advanced or acknowledged to be advanced, as the consideration for entering into the agreement —Reg VI, 1823, sec. vii.

24 No objection shall be taken to the validity of any deed of engagement for the cultivation and delivery of indigo plant, on the ground of its having been entered into by more than one individual, or of its including more than one transaction, provided that the obligation of each individual be distinctly specified, and the amount of the stamp be such as would have been required for a bond of an amount equal to that of the aggregate of all the sums acknowledged to have been advanced.—Reg. VI., 1823, sec. viii.

25. Persons wilfully damaging, or causing to be damaged, indigo plant, by allowing cattle to trespass thereon, or by any other means, shall, on the complaint of the ryot to whom the crop may belong, or of the manufacturer by whom advances may have been made for the cultivation and delivery of the said plant, be liable, on proof of the offence, to such punishment by fine and imprisonment as the magistrate is competent to inflict under Section XIX, Regulation IX, 1807, due regard being had to the nature of the case, and the circumstances in life of the offender — Reg V., 1830, sec iv.

FERRIES, TOLLS, AND CANALS.

I.—FERRIES.

1. The collectors of revenue will refrain from exercising any interference with the public ferries, the immediate superintendence of which shall be vested in the magistrates and joint magistrates.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. ii., cl. 2.

2. No ferries shall be hereafter considered public ferries, except such as may be situated at or near the sudder stations of the several magistrates or joint magistrates, or such as may intersect the chief military routes, or other much frequented roads, or such as from special considerations it may appear advisable to place under the more immediate management of the magistrates and joint magistrates.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. iii., cl. 1.

3. The Government reserves to itself the power of determining, from time to time, what ferries shall, under the preceding rule, be deemed public ferries, and as such shall be subject to the immediate control of the magistrates and joint magistrates; and no magistrate or joint magistrate shall, without previous authority from Government, assume the management of any ferry which may not have been let in farm or held khas, or otherwise subjected to assessment by the collectors. —Reg. VI., 1819, sec. iii., cl. 2.

4. It will be the duty of the several magistrates and joint magistrates to prepare lists of the ferries which in their judgment should, under the foregoing rules, be considered to be public ferries, and transmit them, as soon as prepared, through the superintendents of police, for the information and orders of Government.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. iii., cl. 3.

5. The power of appointing proper persons to the charge of the public ferries is vested in the magistrates and joint magistrates, who are authorized from time to time to issue such orders as they may judge expedient for limiting the rates of toll to be levied at each ferry, for regulating the number and description of boats to be maintained, for preventing exactions, and generally for promoting the efficiency of the police, and the safety and convenience of the community.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. iv., cl. 1.

6. On proof of any wilful breach of those rules, or of other misconduct on the part of the manjees or other persons in charge of the public ferries, the magistrates and joint magistrates are empowered (independently of any punishment to which the parties may subject themselves under the general Regulations) to remove such individuals and to appoint others in their room.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. iv., cl. 2.

7. The manjees or other persons who may be vested with the charge of public ferries are to engage to cross free of toll the troops of Government, with their baggage and military stores, as well as all police and other native officers of Government who may be actually employed on the public service.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. iv., cl. 3.

8. A list of all public ferries, bearing the signature of the magistrate or joint magistrate, shall be constantly stuck up in some conspicuous place in their cutcherries, and in that of the collector of the district, and likewise in the thannah within the jurisdiction of which they may be situated. —Reg. VI., 1819, sec. v.

9. Such ferries shall exclusively belong to Government, and no person shall be allowed to employ a ferry-boat plying for hire at or in their immediate vicinity, without the previous sanction of the magistrate or joint magistrate: provided, however, that due attention shall be paid to all claims for compensation which may be preferred by individuals for any loss which may be sustained by them in consequence of the extension of the authority of Government to ferries hitherto under their private management, and which may not have been heretofore let in farm or held khas, or otherwise deemed subject to assessment on account of Government.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. vi., cl. 1.

10. Claims of that nature shall be inquired into by the magistrates and joint magistrates, and their opinion on the merits of each case, shall be reported through the channel of the superintendents of police, for the consideration and orders of Government.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. vi., cl. 2.

11. In assuming the management of public ferries, the general objects of the magistrates and joint magistrates shall be, the maintenance of an efficient police, the safety and convenience of travellers, the facility of commercial intercourse, and the expeditious transport of troops. For the above objects, they shall be careful to provide or cause to be provided safe and commodious boats; they shall fix the rates of toll on a very moderate scale, in no case exceeding, without an indispensable necessity, the rates which prevailed previous to the enactment of Regulation XIX., 1816; they shall adjust the modes of payment, so that the tolls may bear as lightly as possible on the poorer classes of the community, and by leaving a fair profit to the individual who may be chosen for the immediate charge of the ferries, they shall endeavour to secure as far as possible the services of respectable and competent persons.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. vii., cl. 1.

12. No collections shall be taken on account of Government, from the proceeds of any ferry, until the above objects are fully secured; and if in any case there shall remain a clear surplus profit, after providing adequately for those purposes, the amount collected shall be applied solely to the furtherance of similar objects, such as the repair or construction of roads, bridges, and drains, the erection of seraees, or other works of a like nature.—Reg. VII., 1819, sec. vii., cl. 2.

13. In cases of the latter description, viz. those in which the receipts of any ferry shall be sufficient to afford a surplus revenue as above mentioned, the magistrate or joint magistrate, having previously received special authority from Government in that behalf, may and shall require the person holding or applying for the charge of the ferry, to enter into an engagement for the payment, by monthly or quarterly instalments, of such a sum of money, as with reference to the estimated surplus, may appear justly demandable, without risking the primary objects above indicated; and if any person in charge of a ferry shall refuse to enter into an engagement as aforesaid, and shall not assign sufficient cause for such refusal to the satisfaction of the magistrate or joint magistrate, it shall be competent to such officer, to transfer the charge of the ferry to any other respectable and competent person: provided, however, that no person in charge of a ferry, who shall otherwise conduct himself to the magistrate's satisfaction, shall be removed from his charge under the above rule, excepting at the expiration of the Bengal or Fussily year, according to the era current in the province.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. vii., cl. 3.

14. The mode in which collections made under these rules shall be paid, whether into the treasury of the magistrate or collector, or any other public officer, shall be determined by the orders of Government, and adjusted with the party by the magistrate or joint magistrate, at the time of giving him charge of the ferry or ferries intrusted to him: provided, however, that, as a general rule, all persons in charge of ferries subject to the payment of a rent shall, on discharging any instalments, receive and be directed to require receipts for the amount, which shall be countersigned by an European officer of Government.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. vii., cl. 4.

15. The magistrate or joint magistrate shall be competent to take security for the good behaviour of persons vested with the charge of public ferries, and in the case of persons who may, under the provisions of the foregoing rule, enter into an engagement for the payment of a yearly rent, it shall likewise be competent to the officers aforesaid to require adequate security for the punctual payment of the amount as it may become due.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. viii.

16. Any person in charge of a public ferry, whether subject to the payment of rent or not, shall be at liberty to relinquish the charge on giving ten days' notice to the magistrate or joint magistrate, and on paying any arrears that may be due: provided, however, that it shall in such case be competent to the magistrates or joint magistrates to require any person who may so relinquish the charge of a ferry, or who may be removed from such charge, to transfer the boats belonging to the ferry to the person who may be appointed to succeed him, at a fair valuation, or to retain the boats until others can be provided, making a suitable compensation to the owner.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. ix.

17. If any person having charge of a ferry, and subjected to the payment of a yearly rent, shall fail to discharge the amount as it may become due, he shall be liable to immediate removal, and the magistrate or joint magistrate, after ascertaining the arrear and certifying the default, will proceed to the recovery of the amount from the party and his surety, in the manner prescribed by Section VII. Regulation XVIII., 1817, for the recovery of public money embezzled by native officers of the civil and criminal courts; giving at the same time a liberal consideration to any pleas which the party may urge in explanation of the default.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. x.

18. All persons vested with the charge of public ferries, whether paying any rent or not, shall, on accepting the situation, be distinctly apprized that the magistrates and joint magistrates reserve to themselves the power of reducing the rates of toll, or extending the exemptions from the payment of it, at such times and in such manner as shall appear proper, with a view to the public good: provided, however, that in the event of any such measures being adopted, the party in charge of the ferry may relinquish the charge, and the magistrate shall in such case purchase from him at a fair valuation, or cause his successor so to purchase, all boats belonging to the ferry, with all articles thereunto appertaining.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. xi.

19. Provided, also, that whenever a magistrate or joint magistrate shall adopt such measures in regard to any ferry for which a rent shall have been required from the person vested with the charge of it, the said magistrate or joint magistrate shall, in communicating his orders to the party aforesaid, at the same time apprize him whether he designs to allow any and what reduction in the stipulated rent.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. xii., cl. 1.

20. If the person in charge of the ferry shall not be willing or able to pay the rent so fixed by the magistrate or joint magistrate, he shall nevertheless immediately carry the magistrate's or joint magistrate's order into effect, and shall state in his reply to those orders the amount of rent which he may be willing to continue to discharge. Should the offer of the party in charge of the ferry appear inadequate, it shall be competent to the magistrate or joint magistrate to remove him and to place another person in charge of the ferry, purchasing the boats and their appurtenances as aforesaid; but the person so removed shall be required to pay, for the days during which he may retain charge, subsequently to the date of his reply to the magistrate's order, a proportionate rent, calculated at such rate only as he may have tendered.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. xii., cl. 2.

21. The foregoing rules are intended to apply exclusively to those ferries which may be declared to be public ferries; with regard to all other ferries, the magistrates and joint magistrates shall not interfere with them, further than may be necessary for the general maintenance of the police, and for the safety of passengers and property.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 1.

22. Provided, however, that if any person shall be drowned or exposed to imminent danger, or if any property shall be lost or damaged by the oversetting or sinking of a ferry-boat, and it shall be established on inquiry before the magistrate or joint magistrate, that the boat was overloaded with passengers or property, or was insufficiently manned, or was out of repair at the time of the accident, the manjee of the ghaut or boat, if duly convicted of permitting his boat to be overloaded, or to be insufficiently manned or out of repair, shall be liable to such punishment as the magistrate or joint magistrate may think proper to impose, not exceeding imprisonment for six months, or a fine of two hundred rupees.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. xiii., cl. 2.

23. An annual statement, made up to the first of January of each year, shall be forwarded by the several magistrates and joint magistrates to the superintendents of police, exhibiting the number of public ferries in each district, the amount of the net assessment realized from such of them as may be subject to assessment, and the purposes to which the amount so realized may have been appropriated under para. 12. In submitting to Government the results of those statements, the superintendents of police will offer any suggestions which may appear to them calculated to facilitate or to improve the practical operation of the system.—Reg. VI., 1819, sec. xiv.

II.—TOLLS ON PUBLIC ROADS AND BRIDGES.

1. The Governor of the presidency of Fort William in Bengal, the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces of Bengal, the Governor of the presidency of Fort St. George in Council, and the Governor of the presidency of Bombay in Council, may cause such rates of toll, not exceeding the rates mentioned in the schedule hereunto annexed, as they respectively think fit, to be levied upon any road or bridge which has been or shall hereafter be made or repaired at the expense of the Government; and may place the collection of such tolls under the management of such persons as may appear to them proper: and all persons employed in the management and collection of such tolls shall be liable to the same responsibilities as would belong to them if employed in the collection of the land revenue.—Act VIII., 1851, sec. ii.

2. In case of non-payment of any such toll on demand, the officers appointed to collect the same may seize any of the carriages or animals on which it is chargeable, or any part of their burden of sufficient value to defray the toll; and if any toll remains undischarged for twenty-four hours, with the cost arising from such seizure, the case shall be brought before the officer appointed to superintend the collection of the said toll, who may sell the property seized for discharge of the toll and all expenses occasioned by such non-payment, seizure, and sale, and cause any balance that may remain to be returned, on demand, to the owner of the property; and the said officer, on receipt of the property, shall forthwith issue a notice that at noon of the next day, exclusive of Sunday, or any close holiday, he will sell the property by auction. Provided that if, at any time before the sale has actually begun, the person whose property has been seized shall tender the amount of all the expenses incurred, and of double the toll payable by him, the said officer shall forthwith release the property seized.—Act VIII., 1851, sec. iii.

3. No tolls shall be paid for the passage of troops and military stores and equipages on their march, or of police officers on duty, or of any person or property in their custody; but no other exemption from payment of the tolls levied under these rules shall be allowed.—Act VIII., 1851, sec. iv.

4. All police officers shall be bound to assist the toll collectors, when required, in the execution of these rules; and for that purpose shall have the same power which they have in the exercise of their common police duties.—Act VIII., 1851, sec. v.

5. Every person, other than the persons appointed to collect the tolls under these rules, who shall levy or demand any toll on any public road or bridge, or for passing through any bazaar situated thereon, and also every person who shall unlawfully and extortionately demand, or take any other, or higher toll than the lawful toll, or under colour of these rules seize or sell any property, knowing such seizure or sale to be unlawful, or in any manner unlawfully extort money, or any valuable thing, from any person under colour of these rules, shall be liable, on conviction before a magistrate, to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six calendar months, or to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, any part of which fine may be awarded by the magistrate to the person aggrieved; but this remedy shall not be deemed to bar or affect his right to have redress by suit in the Civil Court of the zillah.—Act VIII., 1851, sec. vi.

6. A table of the tolls authorized to be taken at any toll-gate or station shall be put up in a conspicuous place near such gate or station, legibly written or printed in English words and figures, and also in those of the vernacular language of the district, to which shall be annexed, written or printed in like manner, a statement of the penalties for refusing to pay the tolls and for taking any unlawful toll.—Act VIII., 1851, sec. vii.

7. The tolls levied under these rules shall be deemed public revenue; but the net proceeds thereof shall be applied wholly to the construction, repair, and maintenance of roads and bridges within the presidency in which they are levied.—Act VIII., 1851, sec. viii.

III.—TOLLS ON CANALS.

1. THE BANKA NULLAH, GOWAH KHAAL, &c.

1. A toll shall be collected on all boats passing through the canal, commonly called the Banka nullah, Gowah khaal, and Narrainpore khaal, in the division of Tumlook, and through the Khoonjopore khaal in the division of Hidgellee, at the following rates:—

|---|---|
| On all budgerows, pinnaces, bauleahs, or paunsways, whether with passengers or empty ... ... ... | 4 annas per oar. |
| On salt, per 100 maunds, as per chellaun ... ... | 1 rupee 1 anna. |
| On boats of burthen empty ... ... ... ... | 4 annas per 100 maunds' burthen of the boat. |
| On baggage-boats, and boats laden with rice, paddy, and grain of all kinds or earthen ware ... ... | 8 annas per 100 maunds' burthen of the boat. |
| On boats laden with any other articles than those before specified ... ... ... ... ... ... | 1 rupee per 100 maunds' burthen of the boat. |

|---|---|
| On saul, sissoo, and all other timbers in rafts ... ... | 2 annas per timber. |
| On bamboos in floats ... ... .. ... ... | 4 annas per 100 bamboos. |
| On small boats proceeding with articles for sale or barter at the hauts, bazaars, or gunges, near the banks of the nullah, and not passing through it ... ... | 2 annas on each boat going and returning. |

—Reg. XVIII., 1806, sec. xi.

2. The duty of collecting the tolls on boats passing through the Bankah nullah, Gowah khaal, and Narrainpore khaal, shall be intrusted to the person holding the appointment of salt agent for the division of Tumlook; and the duty of collecting the tolls on boats passing through the Koonjopore khaal, to the person holding the appointment of salt agent for the division of Hidgellee, aided by such native officers as may be required in the discharge of that duty.—Reg. XVIII., 1806, sec. xii.

3. The Board of Revenue is hereby vested with a general control over the collector of the twenty-four pergunnahs, and over the salt agents at Tumlook and Hidgellee, in the discharge of the duty intrusted to those officers respectively, by the above provisions.—Reg. XVIII., 1806, sec. xiii.

2. BHAGIRUTTEE, JELLINGHEE, AND OTHER RIVERS.

1. Tolls, at the rates specified in the Schedule No. 1, shall be levied on all boats, timbers, bamboos, rafts, floats, and the like, passing through or within the Bhagiruttee, Jellinghee, Issamuttee, Matabhangah, and Choornee rivers, at such stations or places as the Governor-General may by an order in council from time to time direct. The said tolls shall be levied by such officer or officers as the Governor-General in Council may appoint to collect the same; and the officer or officers so appointed shall act under the immediate control and direction of the Board of Revenue for the Lower Provinces.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. ii., cl. 2.

2. The collectors of tolls shall be assisted by such an establishment of native officers as the Government may deem necessary, and in regard to the nomination, appointment, removal, or punishment of such officers, the collectors shall be guided by the provisions of the existing Regulations which define the authority to be exercised in these matters by the collectors of the land revenue; and all rules contained in the existing Regulations applicable to officers intrusted with the charge of public money or records shall be held to be applicable to the subordinate officers on the collector's establishment who may be so intrusted.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. iii.

3. The said tolls shall be levied on all boats, whether entering into or returning by the aforesaid rivers, and whether freighted with articles to be imported or exported.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. iv.

4. In order to obviate the delay which must be created, if boats liable to tolls, varying according to their burthen, were detained for the purpose of minutely ascertaining their exact capacity, the following rule for determining the tonnage according to which the authorized tolls are to be levied has been prescribed, and is henceforward to be observed.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. v.

5. Boats of a burthen not exceeding fifty maunds shall be rated as of twenty-five maunds' burthen, and shall pay the toll appointed for boats of twenty-five maunds' tonnage.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. v., cl. 1.

6. Boats of a burthen above fifty maunds, and not exceeding seventy-five maunds, shall be rated as of fifty maunds' burthen, and shall pay the toll appointed for boats of fifty maunds.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. v., cl. 2.

7. Boats of a burthen above seventy-five maunds, and not exceeding one hundred maunds, shall be rated as of seventy-five maunds' burthen, and pay the toll appointed for boats of seventy-five maunds, and so on until the tonnage shall exceed five hundred maunds, when the allowance shall extend to fifty maunds; and on boats exceeding one thousand maunds in burthen, the toll chargeable on any portion of one hundred maunds shall be relinquished in the manner shown in the Schedule No. 2, hereunto annexed.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. v., cl. 3.

8. No fleet of boats or rafts carrying or floating wood or timbers, exceeding twenty in number, shall pass or enter at one and the same time into, through, or within the aforesaid rivers.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. vi., cl. 1.

9 No boat or raft carrying or floating a greater number than twelve timbers, shall at any time be permitted to pass into or through the aforesaid rivers; provided also, that it shall not be lawful for any boat or raft carrying or floating more than six timbers to enter the aforesaid rivers between the 1st of December and the 1st of July.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. vi., cl. 2.

10. For every timber which shall be floated, or carried into or through the aforesaid rivers, in violation of any of the rules or restrictions herein appointed, the owner thereof shall forfeit to the Government the sum of ten rupees each timber, besides being subjected to the payment of the prescribed toll on the same; and it shall and may be lawful for the collector to detain and distrain such a number of boats, timbers, rafts, bamboos, floats, and the like, or such a portion of their freight until the sum due, whether on account of toll or penalty, or both, shall have been liquidated, as he (the collector) shall or may judge sufficient to defray the amount of tolls or penalties demandable; and further, the collector shall require the person in charge of the said boats, timbers, rafts, bamboos, and floats, and the like, to make arrangements for the transit of the same, in conformity with the rules and the restrictions herein contained, and shall detain them for that purpose, until those arrangements will have been made.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. vi., cl. 3.

11. Whenever any boats, timbers, rafts, bamboos, and floats, and the like, are detained for any of the reasons above stated, the collector shall without delay make a full report of the circumstance to the Board of Revenue, and shall immediately publish a proclamation, appointing a day for the sale of the articles liable to sale, not being less than fifteen days from the date on which the proclamation may be promulgated: but no sale shall be held, until the authority and sanction of the Board of Revenue for the same shall have been previously obtained; and if it be in any case necessary to postpone the day of sale, the collector is authorized to do so, provided that not less than fifteen days' notice of the time appointed shall invariably be given.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. vi., cl. 4.

12. If any person shall attempt to pass free of toll any boat, raft, timber, bamboo, float, or the like, after having been boarded by the collector's toll or choky-boat, such boat, timber, raft, bamboo, float, and the like, shall be liable to detention, until a penalty of ten times the amount of the toll leviable shall have been paid, or shall have been levied by the summary process provided for in the preceding rule.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. vii.

13. An officer having been appointed by Government, under the designation of supervisor, to superintend the operations and works necessary to be undertaken and executed for the prevention and removal of all obstructions, by which the free and safe navigation of the rivers specified in paragraph 1 are or may be impeded, the following rules are enacted for the purpose of defining the duties and powers of the said supervisor, and the same rules shall apply to any other officer or officers who may be appointed to perform similar duties on any of the said rivers, or on any other navigable rivers or streams, within the provinces subordinate to this presidency. Provided also, that it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in council, to vest the supervision of the said rivers, or such portion of them as may seem fit, in any of the collectors hereinbefore mentioned, or in any other officer whom he may judge it expedient to appoint.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. viii., cl. 1.

14. The supervisor shall ordinarily act under the orders and directions of the Board of Revenue for the Lower Provinces, but it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in council, to vest the control over him in any other board, committee, officer, or officers, as may from time to time appear to be expedient.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. viii., cl. 2.

15. The supervisor shall be competent, under the provisions hereafter detailed, to cut down and remove any tree or trees which may have fallen or be likely to fall into the said rivers, to remove sunken boats, or rafts of timber or of bamboos, and other nuisances or obstructions to navigation, of whatever denomination, together with all bandells or other contrivances for fishing, which may tend to obstruct or hinder the navigation of the same, whenever he shall be fully satisfied, after due local inquiry, that the continuance of such tree or trees, sunken boats, or rafts of timber, or bamboos, or bandells, or the like, are or are likely to be seriously prejudicial to the free and safe navigation of the aforesaid rivers.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. viii., cl. 3.

16. All trees, or other things, which shall have fallen, or may hereafter fall into any of the rivers or streams mentioned in paragraph 1, or into any other navigable river or stream, so as to endanger or materially impede the navigation thereof, shall be removed as soon as possible by the supervisor or other officer empowered by Government in that behalf; and the supervisor, or other officer aforesaid, is hereby authorized to hew, split, demolish, destroy, or otherwise dispose of all such trees or other things in such manner as the Board of Revenue, or other controlling authority may direct.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. viii., cl. 4.

17. In all other cases where it may appear to be necessary to remove any tree, or other obstruction of the nature specified in paragraph 15, excepting as hereinafter excepted, it shall be the duty of the supervisor or other officer aforesaid, in the first instance, to endeavour to ascertain the owner of the tree or other thing which he may propose to remove as aforesaid, and to cause notice to be served on him, requiring the removal of the same within a reasonable period to be specified in the notice. If the owner aforesaid shall be absent or unknown, a notification to the above effect shall be stuck up in some conspicuous place in the nearest village.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. viii., cl. 5.

18. If, after notice has been given as aforesaid, the owner of the tree or other thing required to be removed shall not remove the same within the period fixed by the supervisor, it shall be competent to that officer to cause its removal at the public expense, or in cases in which such an arrangement shall appear advisable, to dispose of it by public sale, subject to the condition of its being removed, and with such further stipulations as may be deemed proper.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. viii., cl. 6.

19. In cases of emergency, wherein it may appear to the supervisor or other officer aforesaid, that any delay in removing the tree or other thing to be removed would be attended with serious risk or inconvenience, it shall be competent to him to cause the same to be forthwith removed, without any previous notice as above directed. Provided, however, that in such cases if the thing to be removed be other than a tree actually fallen into the stream, the supervisor or other officer aforesaid, shall, as soon as possible, cause intimation to be given to the owner, or (he being absent or unknown) a notification to be stuck up in the nearest village; and he shall at the same time make an immediate and full report of the case to the Board of Revenue, or other controlling authority.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. viii., cl. 7.

20. Provided further, that whenever it may appear necessary for the safety and convenience of the community, that any buildings, trees, or other property on or in the vicinity of a navigable river or stream, though not likely to fall into the stream, should be removed or appropriated to the public use, it shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council to direct the same to be taken and purchased on account of Government, under the rules contained in Regulation I., 1824. —Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. viii., cl. 8.

21. Whenever any tree, boat, timber, or other thing obstructing or likely to obstruct the navigation of any of the rivers or streams specified in paragraph 1, or of any other navigable river or stream, may be sold, subject to the condition of its being removed, under the provision contained in paragraph 16, the net produce of the same shall be paid to the owner.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 1.

22. When any of the things aforesaid shall be removed, or recovered by, or under the orders of the supervisor, or other officer duly empowered in that behalf, under the provisions of paragraph 16, then if the owner shall pay to the supervisor, or officer aforesaid, within a period to be fixed by the Board of Revenue, or other controlling authority, the expense incurred in the removal or recovery thereof, with such a charge for salvage as the Board, or other authority aforesaid, may adjudge, the same shall be given up to the owner or his authorized agent. Provided also, that whenever, after due notice for such a period as the Board of Revenue may have directed, no person shall, within the period appointed, tender reimbursement of the charge incurred in the recovery of property rescued, together with the amount of salvage which the Board of Revenue may adjudge, the supervisor shall be authorized to sell such property at public sale, and to defray out of the proceeds the expense incurred in the recovery of the same, with the salvage adjudged as aforesaid: the surplus to be deposited for the benefit of the owner in such treasury as the Board of Revenue may direct.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. ix., cl. 2.

23. No bandells or contrivances for fishing, or for any other purposes which may tend to obstruct the free navigation of the rivers and streams referred to in paragraph 1, or other navigable rivers and streams, for the supervision of which the Governor-General in Council may deem it necessary to provide, shall be allowed or permitted. Whenever the supervisor, with the approval of the Board of Revenue, or other controlling authority, shall have removed any bandell or other contrivance for fishing, which may have been fixed or sunk at any place in the said rivers, to the obstruction of navigation, or shall have prohibited the fixing or sinking of any obstruction within any specified limits, then if any person shall replace the bandells or other contrivances removed as aforesaid, or shall sink or fix any such in opposition to the prohibition of the supervisor, the bandells or other contrivances for fishing so replaced, or fixed or sunk, shall be destroyed, and the party offending shall be liable to such punishment, not exceeding a fine of fifty rupees, or, in default of payment, imprisonment without irons in the debtors' jail for one month, as the magistrate of the district may judge adequate to the offence: provided, however, that if the offender shall have used violence, or been guilty of any breach of the peace, he shall, on conviction, besides any further punishment to which he may be subject under the general laws and Regulations, be liable to imprisonment in the criminal jail, with hard labour, for a period not exceeding three months, and shall be required, at the discretion of the magistrate, to furnish adequate security for keeping the peace.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. x.

24. Any person who may by force or threats prevent the collector, supervisor, or any of his or their officers, from fulfilling the duties assigned to them by these rules, or who may forcibly resist them in the execution of those duties, or who may advise or encourage such resistance, shall be liable, on conviction before the Foujdary Court of the district or city, to the penalties prescribed for the offence of resisting the process of a magistrate. Parties so offending shall further be liable, in the event of an affray or other breach of the peace occurring in consequence of their resistance, to be punished under the general rules applicable to such cases.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. xi., cl. 1.

25. If the collector, supervisor, or other officer aforesaid, shall in any case have reason to apprehend forcible resistance, he shall apply to the nearest darogah to aid him in the execution of his duty, and all darogahs, or other officers in charge of thannahs or chokees, shall, on such requisition being made, or its appearing to be otherwise necessary, immediately afford the requisite assistance, under pain of dismissal from office, and such fine, not exceeding two hundred rupees, as the magistrate may adjudge; commutable, if not paid, to imprisonment in the Dewanny jail for a period not exceeding three months. Provided also, that if any zemindar, talookdar, or other proprietor, farmer of land, or the naib gomashtah, or other local agent of such proprietor or farmer shall wilfully permit any one to resist the collector, supervisor, or other officers aforesaid, within the village or lands occupied or managed by him, such zemindar or other person aforesaid shall be liable, on conviction before the magistrate, to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, commutable as aforesaid.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. xi., cl. 2.

26. The collector, supervisor, and their native officers, duly authorized by him, shall be authorized to arrest and deliver over to the nearest police darogah, or other police officer authorized to receive criminal complaints, any person or persons guilty of any of the offences stated in the two preceding paragraphs, for the purpose of their being forwarded to the magistrate; and all police officers aforesaid are hereby required, subject to the provisions hereinafter specified, to receive and safely to forward to the magistrate of the jurisdiction, within twenty-four hours, all offenders so delivered over. Provided always, that the supervisor or his officers shall give at the same time a written requisition to that effect, duly attested and dated, specifying the name of the offender, the nature of the offence, and engaging that a full report shall be transmitted to the magistrate, and that all other necessary measures for the conduct of the prosecution shall be taken within ten days from the date on which the offender or offenders shall have been apprehended. Provided also, that in such cases, if the party accused shall tender sufficient bail for appearance before the magistrate, and shall not have been guilty of any offence which by the general Regulations is not bailable, the darogah or other officer shall accept the bail, and release the party.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. xii.

27. No person shall be detained in custody by a magistrate under the provisions of the preceding rule beyond the period of ten days, if during that period the supervisor shall not have preferred his complaint, and pursued the necessary measures for the furtherance of the prosecution in the prescribed manner.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. xiii.

28. Any individual who may consider himself aggrieved or injured by any order of the Board, or by any act of the supervisor, or by his people, in the execution of their public duty under the authority vested in them by these rules, shall be at liberty to institute a suit against one, or either, or all of them, in the Dewanny Adawlut of the city or district in which the imputed injury shall have occurred; and in all such cases the judge of the city or district shall forward such petition or plaint to the Board of Revenue, or other controlling authority, who, together with the zillah and city judges, are hereby required in the conduct of such cases to conform to the rules and provisions contained in Regulation II. of 1814. Provided, however, that if the supervisor or other officer shall not have exceeded the power and licence vested in him by these rules, no suit or plea shall be entertained by any of the Courts of Justice on the ground that the removal of any tree, boat, timber, raft, bamboo, float, or other thing of the description specified in paragraph 16, was not necessary for the furtherance of the free navigation of the rivers herein mentioned, save and except in cases wherein valuable trees may have been cut down; and it shall be proved, after sufficient experience, that there was not any reasonable probability that the land on which they grew would be carried into the river within the period of one year from the date of their being cut: provided also, that if in any case the collector, supervisor, or other officer aforesaid, shall have tendered to the plaintiff an adequate indemnification, the sum so tendered shall be received by the Court for the plaintiff, who shall be nonsuited with costs.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. xiv.

29. The supervisor shall be entitled to direct the vakeel of the Government to conduct all criminal prosecutions instituted by him under these provisions, and to defend all civil actions authorized to be defended by the Board of Revenue, or other controlling authority; and the collectors of revenue are hereby authorized to supply the vakeel of Government, on application from the supervisor, with the stamp paper which may be required for the purposes aforesaid.—Reg. VIII., 1824, sec. xv.

3.—EASTERN CANAL, &c.

1. The Governor of Bengal shall be competent to prescribe the amount of toll, and the mode of levying the same, on boats, rafts, and floats, which shall enter on or pass out of or through either of the two lines of navigation hereinafter described; that is to say,

The Eastern Canal aforesaid, from its entry into the Sunderbunds to its junction with the river Hooghly.

The line made up of the channel across the Salt-water lake to Baminghatta, of the canal leading from the Salt-water lake to the Boitakhanna road, and of the new circular canal which connects the last-mentioned canal with the river Hooghly.—Act XXII., 1836, sec. ii.

2. The aggregate amount of toll levied on account of the whole passage along either of the two lines aforesaid, or on account of entering into or passing out of either of the two lines aforesaid, shall in no case exceed one rupee and a half for every hundred maunds' burden on any boat, or two annas for every timber on every raft of timber, or four annas for every hundred bamboos on every float of bamboos.—Act XXII., 1836, sec. iii.

3. The said Governor shall be competent to appoint officers for the collection of the tolls and rent herein before mentioned, and to confer on such officers, for the purpose of preventing acts whereby either of the said lines of navigation may be obstructed, or whereby the banks along either of the said lines of navigation may be damaged, any or all the powers possessed by magistrates in respect to navigable streams and rivers.—Act XXII., 1836, sec. v.

4. Whoever wilfully causes any obstruction of either of the said lines of navigation, or any damage to the banks along either of the said lines of navigation, shall be punishable, on conviction before the magistrate, with imprisonment for a term not exceeding fourteen days, or fine to an amount not exceeding fifty rupees, or both; and in default of payment of such fine, with additional imprisonment for fourteen days.—Act XXII., 1836, sec. vi.

5. Notifications of the rates of toll and rent, and of the places of collection, and of all rules made by the said Governor under the authority given to him by this Act, shall be published in the Calcutta "Gazette," and exposed to public view at every toll-house on either side of the said lines, in the English, Persian, and Bengalee tongues.—Act XXII., 1836, sec. vii.

6. If the toll or rent due in respect of any boat, raft, or float, on either of the said lines, shall not be paid on demand to an officer authorized by the said Governor to receive the same, it shall be lawful for such officer to seize such boat, raft, or float, and the cargo thereof, and to detain the same; and if the said toll or rent shall have been paid upon any day before the tenth day after such seizure, then the said boat, raft, or float, shall be released; or if not paid within the said ten days, it shall be lawful for such officer, with the sanction and under the directions of the superintendent of canals, to sell the property seized, or so much thereof as the said superintendent shall direct, for the purpose of satisfying the toll or rent which may be due, and also of defraying the expenses of seizure and detention; and in every such case so much of the property seized which has not been sold, and so much of the price of the property sold, as is in excess of the sum necessary for satisfying the toll or rent which is due, and for defraying the expenses of seizure and detention, shall be returned to the owner of the boat, raft, or float.—Act XXII., 1836, sec. viii.

7. If any person in charge of any boat, raft, or float, shall attempt to evade payment of the toll or rent due thereon, or shall resist a seizure made by the authority and under the circumstances hereinbefore described, such boat, raft, or float, and the cargo thereof, shall be forfeited to the Government, under orders of the superintendent, subject to appeal to the commissioner of revenue and police.—Act XXII., 1836, sec. ix.

8. The Governor of Bengal shall be competent to prescribe the length of time during which boats, rafts, or floats may remain in part of either of the lines of navigation aforesaid without paying rent or demurrage, and also the rate of rent or demurrage to be levied on any boat, raft, or float which shall remain therein longer than the prescribed time.—Act X., 1853, sec. ii.

9. The provisions of paragraphs 5, 6, and 7, so far as they apply to rent, are hereby extended to the rent or demurrage to be prescribed in pursuance of this Act.—Act X., 1853, sec. iii.

CANALS IN THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES.

1. The Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces shall be competent, by proclamation to be made in the Government Gazette, to declare the provisions of this Act applicable to any such canal.—Act VII., 1845, sec. i.

2. The said Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces shall be competent to draw out rules to regulate the levy of water-rent, and the supply of water for irrigation, and the payment of tolls and dues on boats, rafts, or floats, and admission to the benefits of navigation on such canals, as may be found most suitable to the peculiar circumstances of each. The rules thus drawn out shall be published for general information in the Government Gazette.—Act VII., 1845, sec. ii.

3. Any acts done by private individuals in contravention of the rules so published shall be punishable either by temporary deprivation of the benefits of the canal, or by the penalties hereinafter described.—Act VII., 1845, sec. iii.

4. All balances of water-rent due for lands irrigated by the canal shall be levied, either by temporary deprivation of the benefits of the canal, or by the same process as is prescribed for the recovery of balances of land revenue.—Act VII., 1845, sec. iv.

5. Whoever wilfully causes any obstruction to any of the said canals, or to any of the water-courses drawn and supplied therefrom, or damages the banks of the canal or the works constructed for its maintenance, or wilfully defiles the water in the canal, shall be liable to the penalties hereinafter described.—Act VII., 1845, sec. v.

6. All persons offending against the provisions of this Act, or of the rules passed under this Act, shall be punishable, on conviction before the magistrate, by imprisonment without labour for a term not exceeding fourteen days, or fine to an amount not exceeding fifty rupees, or both; and in default of payment of such fine, by additional imprisonment for fourteen days.—Act VII., 1845, sec. vi.

7. If the owner of any boat, float, or raft, navigating any such canal, shall refuse to pay the prescribed toll, it shall be lawful for the officer charged with the levy of tolls on the canal, to detain such boat, raft, or float, and if the toll be not paid in the course of ten days, then it shall be lawful for the said officer under the direction of the superintendent of the canal, on the tenth day after the seizure, to sell such property, or so much thereof as may be necessary, or to declare the whole confiscated; provided that, in all such cases, no confiscation shall be carried into effect till the circumstances have been reported to the commissioner of the division and his sanction obtained thereto.—Act VII., 1845, sec. vii.

8. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces to appoint officers for the collection of the rent, toll, and dues, hereinbefore mentioned, and to confer on such officers the powers of deputy collectors for the levy of such rent, and of joint magistrates for the enforcement of such penalties as have been hereinbefore specified.—Act VII., 1845, sec. viii.

STONE QUARRIES IN BENARES.

TABLE OF ENACTMENTS.

| Original Regulation. | Paras. in Consolidation. | REMARKS. |
|---|---|---|
| 1795. XXII. lxxxii. 4. | 14 | Incorporated with sec. xiv., Reg. II., 1800. |
| 1800. II. ii. to xiv. | 1 to 14 | Part of sec. ii. omitted under 3 & 4 Wm. IV., cap. 85, secs. 81 to 84. |

1. All native inhabitants of the Company's provinces, and all other persons, are hereby declared at full liberty to excavate stones of every description from the quarries at Chunar, Ghazeepore, and Mirzapore, subject to the provisions contained in the following paragraphs.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. ii.

2. On all stones excavated from the quarries specified in the preceding paragraph, a fixed duty shall be paid to Government, previously to the removal of the stones from the vicinity of the quarry where they may have been cut according to the under-mentioned rates, viz.

First. On the under-mentioned eight descriptions of stones, at whichever quarry excavated, the duty to be as follows:

| Descriptions of Stones. | Rates of Duty. Rs. | As. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Dhoka, or small stones of various dimensions, usually sold by the 100 maunds | 2 | 4 | per 100 maunds. |
| Kolhoo, or sugar-cane mill-stones, 1st sort, called burheea | 8 | 0 | per stone. |
| 2nd sort, called surhee | 7 | 0 | ditto. |
| 3rd sort, called kolhoo bindra chul | 5 | 0 | ditto. |
| Janta, a species of hand-mill stone | 12 | 8 | per 100 pieces. |
| Chukkee ..... ditto | 6 | 4 | ditto. |
| Sil ..... ditto | 4 | 14 | d tto. |
| Ditto, 2nd sort, less than a foot in breadth | 3 | 4 | ditto. |

Secondly. On all other descriptions of stones the duty to be regulated by their solid contents in length, breadth, and th ckness, as follows:

| | Rs. | As. | Pe. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Stones quarried at Chunar and Ghazeepore, and not exceeding in their solid contents four cubic feet | 0 | 2 | 8 | per cubic foot. |
| Ditto ditto, above four and not exceeding five cubic feet | 0 | 4 | 0 | per ditto. |
| Ditto ditto, exceeding five ditto | 0 | 5 | 0 | ditto. |
| Stones quarried at Mirzapore, of whatever dimensions | 0 | 2 | 6 | ditto. |

—Reg. II., 1800, sec. iii.

3. For the more full and ready information of stone-cutters and others, the collector of Benares is directed to prepare, in the Persian and Hindostance languages, a detailed statement of the several descriptions of stones usually quarried at Chunar, Ghazeepore, and Mirzapore, showing the amount of the duty upon each, calculated according to the rates prescribed in the preceding paragraph; and to keep the same constantly affixed in his cutcherry, as well as in some conspicuous place at each of the quarries, under the inspection of the darogahs to be stationed at them respectively.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. iv.

4. The duty specified in paragraph 2 is to be paid into the treasury of the collector of Benares; who, on receipt thereof (or in the event of the collector's absence, his head assistant on the spot), is to grant a rowannah, under his official seal and signature, directed to the darogah of the station where the stones may have been quarried, specifying the exact quantity and descriptions of stones for which the duty may have been paid, and authorizing their removal from the quarry in consequence. This rowannah is to be delivered by the party receiving the same to the darogah to whom it is addressed, and to be kept by the latter as his authority for allowing the removal of the stones therein specified.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. v.

5. To enable the collector to grant rowannahs as above directed, the party applying for the same shall, with his application, and at the time of paying the duty, deliver an exact list of the stones which have been quarried and for which the rowannah is desired, specifying the name of the quarry, the number and descriptions of the stones, and their weight, number of pieces, or solid contents (according as the duty may be payable upon either in conformity to paragraph 2), with any other particulars contained in the detailed statements to be prepared and published by the collector in pursuance of paragraph 3, which statements are to be considered by all persons applying for rowannahs as the prescribed forms for the lists herein required from them. To facilitate the preparation of such lists, and to prevent inaccuracies which might delay the removal of the stones and adjustment of the duties thereupon, it is further hereby provided, that when any quantity of stones may have been quarried, and the quarrier, or any person in his behalf, or to whom he may have sold or otherwise transferred the same, shall be desirous of obtaining a rowannah for their removal, the darogah of the quarry, with whom a sufficient number of measures are to be stationed for this purpose, shall, on application, cause the stones for which the rowannah may be desired to be accurately counted, weighed, or measured (according as the duty may be payable on the number, weight, or measurement), in the presence of the owner of the stones, or of such person as he may appoint, and the darogah thereon shall attest the lists of stones to be delivered to the collector, as well as cause the same to be attested by the officer who actually counted, weighed or measured the stones, by subscribing thereto a certificate, under his signature, of the accuracy of the number, weight, and measurement therein stated.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. vi.

6. The darogahs of the stone quarries, on causing any stones to be measured in pursuance of the preceding paragraph, are to affix some mark thereto, and shall also by some means mark the heaps of stones which may have been counted or weighed, so as to identify the whole of the stones included in the lists attested by them, and are to take such precautions as may be necessary to prevent any change of, or addition to, the stones so collected and examined, previous to the receipt of the collector's rowannah for their removal. If, in any instance, there should appear room for suspicion that the stones counted, weighed, or measured before the application for the rowannah, have been subsequently changed or added to, the darogah is to cause the same to be re-counted, weighed, or measured in his presence; and in the event of its being ascertained that any fraudulent change or addition, for the purpose of evading the duty, has been made, the whole quantity of stones, for the removal of any part of which such fraud may have been attempted, will be liable to confiscation, under the provisions contained in paragraph 10.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. vii.

7. On the removal of the stones specified in the rowannah, the darogah is to endorse thereupon the date or dates of removal, with a certificate, under his signature, that the dispatch has been made agreeably to the contents; and the rowannahs so endorsed are to be returned at the end of each month to the collector with a report of the quantity of stones removed from each quarry within the month. The darogah, with every despatch of stones, is also to furnish the person by whom they may be taken from the quarry with a chore chittee or pass, under his official seal and signature, specifying the number and descriptions of stones taken away, and directing all officers of the quarry, and others, to allow the same to pass without molestation. No new duty, however, is to be levied upon such chore chittees (of which a regular record is to be kept by the darogahs, in such form as may be prescribed to them by the collector); nor are the quarried stones herein referred to, which are exempted from the customs, to be liable, in any part of the Company's provinces, to any other duty than that specified in paragraph 2.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. viii.

8. Any exactions, beyond the prescribed duty, by the officers stationed at the quarry, or by any other person, as well as all charges of corruption against any public officer or other person, directly or indirectly entrusted with the execution of any part of this Regulation, are hereby declared cognizable in the city or zillah Dewanny Adawlut, within the jurisdiction of which such exaction or corruption may have taken place; and the penalties for extortion and corruption proved against the ministerial officers of the Courts of justice and others, as well as the provisions for trying such charges, contained in Regulation XIII., 1793 (extended to Benares by Regulation XII., 1795), are hereby declared applicable to all similar charges which may be preferred and established, under the present Regulation, against the persons herein referred to.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. ix.

9. The collector of Benares is to nominate, for the approbation of the Board of Revenue, the darogahs to be stationed at the several stone quarries, and besides an oath, or solemn declaration, for the faithful execution of their respective duties, is to take from them the security prescribed in Section XV., Regulation III., 1794, the provisions in Sections XV., XVI., XVII., XVIII., XIX., XX., and XXI. ("CIVIL AND CRIMINAL JUDICATURE," paragraphs 162 to 168), of which Regulation are hereby declared to extend to all descriptions of native officers who may be employed under the present Regulation, and be entrusted with the receipt of money or the charge of accounts. The collector is to fix the allowances of the darogahs, and the necessary establishment of officers to act under them, subject to the confirmation of the Governor-General in Council, to be obtained through the Board of Revenue; he is also to furnish the darogahs with such rules and orders as, from experience, may appear most effectual to prevent the removal of any stones from the quarries without payment of the prescribed duty.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. x.

10. Any stones which may be clandestinely or otherwise removed from the place of excavation, or place adjoining thereto where it may be usual to collect the stones when quarried, without paying the duty and obtaining the rowannah required by this Regulation, shall be liable to immediate seizure and confiscation to Government, together with the cattle and carriages which may be used for the conveyance of such stones, and all other property seized therewith, which may in anywise have been used, or intended for use, in the illicit removal of the stones in question. As an encouragement to the officers of Government to do their duty in making such seizures, and to all other persons to give information by which the same may be made, the following rewards shall be paid by the collector from the sale-produce of the stones and other property confiscated, as soon as the same shall have been disposed of by public sale, in pursuance of the succeeding paragraph, viz.:—If the seizure be made by the public officers stationed at the quarries without information from any other person, a moiety of the sale-produce shall be given to them, and be divided amongst them in such proportions as the collector, on inquiry, may judge due to them respectively; or if the seizure be made by the public officers upon information from any other person or persons, a quarter of the sale-produce shall be given to the seizers, and another quarter to the informers, to be distributed by the collector as above directed. If any other person or persons than the officers stationed at the quarry shall both give the information and make the seizure, he or they shall be entitled to a full moiety of the sale-produce, without the participation of the officers of Government, who, on the contrary, shall be liable to dismission from office for their neglect, if the collector, on inquiry, shall find them deserving of it; and if there be sufficient evidence of any collusion on their part, they shall be prosecuted criminally for a breach of trust. But to prevent undue molestation to the stone-cutters, or persons who may purchase stones from them at the quarries, it is hereby required and directed, that no obstruction be offered to the free passage of any stones, on suspicion of their not having paid the established duty, beyond certain limits round the quarries, to be fixed by the collector, and within which it will be the duty of his officers to keep vigilant watch for the purpose of detecting and preventing any attempts to remove the stones without a regular pass from the darogah. Moreover, any seizure of stones, without sufficient grounds to warrant suspicion of an attempt to remove the same clandestinely, or to evade the duty, will subject the seizers (unless reparation be made as directed in the following paragraph) to a prosecution in the Civil Courts for damages; and such Courts, on clear proof that the seizure was altogether unwarranted, and that due reparation has been refused, are required to adjudge full damages to the party injured, besides all costs of suit.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. xi.

11. Whenever any seizure may be made under the preceding paragraph, an immediate report thereof shall be transmitted by the darogah of the quarry to the collector of Benares, with a circumstantial statement of all particulars relative thereto; and the collector shall, as soon as possible, make such further inquiry as may be necessary, in the presence of the parties concerned, if in attendance, or their authorized agents; after which, if it shall appear that the duty had been paid upon the stones seized, or that it was not intended to remove them from the quarry without payment of the prescribed duty, he shall cause them to be immediately released, and direct the party who seized them to make such reparation to the owner as may be adequate to the actual injury sustained by him, under penalty, for non-compliance, of being prosecuted in the Dewanny Adawlut for damages and costs, under the preceding paragraph. If, on the contrary, it shall clearly appear to the collector that no duty has been paid on the stones seized, and that an attempt was made to remove them from the quarry without payment of the duty, he shall declare the same confiscated to Government, together with any cattle, carriages, or other property seized therewith, and liable to confiscation under the preceding paragraph; and shall immediately advertise the same to be publicly sold at his cutcherry, on a day to be fixed for this purpose, and to be at least fourteen days after the date on which he may pass the order of confiscation. All persons whose property may be so confiscated and advertised, shall be at liberty, at any time within ten days after the date of the collector's order of confiscation, to appeal therefrom by a regular suit in the Dewanny Adawlut or the city of Benares; and the collector, if duly advised of such suit having been instituted, shall defend the same through the vakeel of Government, and postpone the sale till the determination of it, as well as conform to the judgment which may be passed thereupon, subject to the general rules for appeals. But all such suits shall be brought to a determination with the least possible delay; and if no notice of any suit having been instituted shall be served upon the collector before the appointed time of sale, he shall make the sale as advertised, and no subsequent claim or plea against the confiscation of the property sold shall be received in any Court of Justice. The judge of the city of Benares will of course take care that timely notice is given to the collector of all suits instituted under this paragraph within the ten days prescribed; and he is not to admit any appeal from the collector's order of confiscation which may not be preferred within the period limited, unless satisfactory reason be assigned for the delay; nor in any case when the appeal may not be preferred in time to give notice of it to the collector before the appointed day of sale.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. xii.

12. The collector is to report to the Board of Revenue all confiscations and sales which may take place under the preceding paragraph, as well as to furnish them with all other information, reports, and accounts which may be required from him respecting the stone quarries and duties referred to in this Regulation, or any matter relating thereto.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. xiii.

13. The Governor-General in Council reserves to himself the power of increasing or reducing the rates of duty established by this Regulation if he should hereafter judge it proper, as well as to pass any further rules respecting the stone quarries in the province of Benares which may appear expedient.—Reg. II., 1800, sec. xiv.

14. The hill people are not to be required to pay any duty for the stones of any kind which they may want for their own use, and the farmer of the stone mehal is not to interfere with them. But the collector, in his instructions to the darogahs, is to provide against the abuse of this exemption, in such manner as may be most effectual; and if, notwithstanding, any attempts should be made to extend the exemption beyond the intended privilege to the hill people, the stones, to pass which such attempt may be made, will be liable to seizure and confiscation under paragraph 10.—Reg. XXII., 1795, sec. lxxxii., cl. 4; Reg. II., 1800, sec. xv.

PREFATORY NOTE

TO THE SECTION

"CUSTOMS, COMMERCE, AND SHIPPING."

THE present Section comprehends all rules regulating the levy of custom duties, and defining the powers and duties of the officers engaged in the Customs department. Also all provisions relating to Commerce and Shipping, and the regulation of Ports and Warehouses.

The old Customs code of 1810 has been placed at the beginning. Many of the provisions of this code have been abolished or superseded by later principles and laws of trade, and all such provisions as clearly appear to have been abrogated have been omitted, but many others which are doubtless obsolete and inoperative have been retained in consequence of their not being repealed by any Regulation or Act. In this complex and extensive portion of legislative enactment, where practice has probably construed and regulated much of which the law has not promulgated specific modifications, it was most safe to retain parts, though it be probable that they may no longer be operative, with the view that in future dealing with such rules, all doubt may be removed respecting them, by repeal, or the substitution of modified provisions.

The rules of the Code of 1810, relating to Customs Officers, still remain in force; those enacted for the levying of import, export, and transit duties, are now applicable only to frontier duties in the Lower Provinces under the provisions of section i, Act XIV, 1836, and section i, Act XIV, 1843; and the rules for the regulation of the port of Calcutta remain in force under section v, Act XIV, 1836, except in so far as they are affected by the new rules relating to Customs in Acts XIV, 1836 and XVI, 1837, which come next in order.

The rules relating to drawbacks are arranged together, and next follow those regulating the trade of Foreign Nations, and declaring the privileges of Foreign vessels, under which the distinction between British and Foreign bottoms has been abolished.

A few rules restricting the export and transit of Military Stores come next in order.

The Custom duties in the North Western Provinces are comprised in the rules of Act XIV, 1843, which follow in succession; these provisions are short, as they leave the details of the management of the Customs to be regulated by the orders of the Government.

The rules which follow, restricting the importation of Rum, and for the management of Bonded Warehouses, require no observation, as they have been subjected to but little change.

The rules enacted for Dhonies, or native craft in the river Hooghly, by Reg. I, 1801; come next in order. They have never been modified; but a few other rules relating to such vessels are found in the Customs Regulations, and reference is accordingly made to them.

The provisions for the Registry of Ships, and the rules for the Registry and Protection of Merchant Seamen, need no comment.

The last subject in this Section relates to the freedom of trade with Sylhet, and the precautions to be taken to prevent the export of arms and military stores to the Cosseas and other mountaineers on that frontier.

CUSTOMS, COMMERCE, AND SHIPPING.

CUSTOMS.

Under the provisions of section 1, Act XIV, 1836, all rules for the levy of transit or inland custom duties, or of town duties, were repealed, but duties at the rates then in force were to continue to be levied on frontier lines upon imports and exports. The rules of Reg. IX, 1810, would therefore appear to be applicable only to such frontier duties,—and, as provision is made for duties on imports and exports in the North Western Provinces by Act XIV, 1843,—they can only apply to the Lower Provinces and districts not included within the operation of that Act.—See post, paragraph 177.

CUSTOMS OFFICERS.

NOTE.—The general control of the Customs in the Lower Provinces is vested in the Sudder Board of Revenue, under Act XLIV, 1850; and in the North Western Provinces, in the Sudder Board of Revenue for those provinces, under Act I, 1833.—See "REVENUE OFFICERS."

1. The custom-houses for the collection of the Government customs, shall be fixed in the cities of Patna, Moorshedabad, Dacca, and Calcutta, and in the towns of Chittagong, Hooghly, and Balasore, and at Coæ's-bazar, or at such other station in the southern division of Chittagong as may be deemed expedient; and whenever local circumstances may render it expedient that the custom-houses should be fixed without the limits of the cities or towns in question, it is hereby declared, that a custom-house may be fixed by order of the Governor-General in Council at any place near the cities or towns referred to, not exceeding one coss, or two miles, from their respective boundaries.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. v; Reg. XIX, 1812, sec. ii: Reg. XII, 1816, sec. ii.

2. The Government customs to be levied at the several custom-houses, shall be levied by officers to be severally denominated collectors of the Government customs.

3. The collectors of the Government customs, and their respective deputies, shall be subject in the province of Benares and within the ceded and conquered provinces (with the exception of Cuttack) to the authority of the Sudder Board of Revenue for the North-Western Provinces, and within the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, including Cuttack, to the authority of the Board of Revenue at the Presidency.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. vii: Reg. I, 1833, sec. iii; Act XLIV, 1850.

4. The collectors of the Government customs shall use a square seal, two inches in diameter, bearing an inscription to the following effect, in the Persian character and language: "The seal of the collector of the customs at ————." The seal of each custom-house shall remain in the custody of the collector of the Government customs; and in that of the deputy collector, at the stations which may be under the superintendence of an officer of that description.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. viii.

5. Previously to entering upon the execution of the duties of their respective offices, the collectors of the Government customs, and their respective deputies, shall severally take and subscribe the following oath before the Governor-General in Council, or any person whom he may empower to administer the same: "I, A. B., do solemnly swear, that I will faithfully discharge the duty of the collector (or deputy collector) of the Government customs at ————; that I will not, directly or indirectly, by myself or others, be concerned in, or allow of any collections being made, but such as are, or may be hereafter, authorized by and brought to the credit of Government; that I will not be concerned, directly or indirectly, in the purchase of any goods or commodities in the British dominions subject to the immediate authority of the presidency of Fort William in Bengal, for the purpose of remitting money to Europe, or in any commercial transactions; that I will not take or receive, or knowingly allow any person to take or receive, any present, gratuity, fee, or advantage whatever, on account of any matter relating to the duty of my office, excepting such as now is or may be hereafter authorized by the Governor-General in Council, So help me God."—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. ix.

6. It shall and may be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an Order in Council, to appoint such and as many officers, being covenanted servants of the Honourable Company, as he may from time to time deem proper, to collect the duties of Government customs and duties, or such items thereof as the said Governor-General in Council may deem proper; and the officers so appointed shall possess and exercise in regard to the duties, the collection of which may be entrusted to them, and to all persons and things chargeable with or liable to the said duties, as well as in respect to all forfeitures, defaults, suits, investigations and processes relating to such duties, or the collection thereof, or to the subordinate officers employed in the collection or custody of the said duties, or the articles chargeable therewith, all such powers and authorities as may or shall be legally exercised by the collectors, or deputy collectors, under the Regulations which are now in force, or which may be hereafter enacted, subject to the same rules and provisions as may or shall apply to the collectors and deputy collectors aforesaid.—Reg. II, 1822, sec. ii, cl. 2.

7. It shall likewise be competent to the Governor-General in Council, by an order in council, to vest any officer or officers, being covenanted servants of the Company, whether employed in collecting the customs and duties or not, with such part of the powers and authority usually possessed and exercised by collectors of customs and duties, as he may from time to time judge to be proper.—Reg. II, 1822, sec. ii, cl. 3.

8. It shall also be competent to the Governor-General in Council to pass such orders as may from time to time appear proper, in regard to the disposal of that part of the proceeds of goods confiscated, or of the fines or penalties incurred by a breach of the customs regulations, which under the provisions of the existing Regulations is assigned to the collector of customs, or other covenanted servants of the East-India Company.—Reg. II, 1822, sec. ii, cl. 4.

See further rules, commencing with paragraph 47.

9. The several custom-houses shall be open for the transaction of business every day (Sundays, and holidays agreeably to a list to be furnished to the collectors by the Board of Revenue, excepted) from ten o'clock in the morning until four o'clock in the afternoon.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. x.

FRONTIER DUTIES.

10. The collectors of the Government customs shall establish custom-house chokies at such places as may be deemed necessary on the principal routes or ghauts leading to or from their respective custom-houses. Provided, however, that no chokies shall be established at any greater distance than two coss, or four miles, from any such custom-houses; or which may be requisite under the collector of customs at Hooghly, with the view to embrace the trade of the foreign settlements, or under the collector of customs at Dacca, for the purpose of comprehending the navigation of the river Megna, or under the collector of customs at Balasore at the dependent port of Churamun, or under any other collector of customs, for any special reason or purpose which shall be reported to the Board of Revenue, and without whose respective sanction, previously obtained, no chokies whatever shall, on any account, be established at a greater distance than two coss, or four miles, from the custom-house.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xi, cl. 1.

11. No duty or collections whatever shall be levied at any chokey. The authority of the officers of the chokies shall be confined to the detention of goods liable to duty passing within the limits of their chokey unaccompanied by proper rowannahs, or of goods which may not correspond with the rowannahs, until such time as the orders of the collector of customs can be obtained respecting them, and for which purpose immediate notice is to be given to the collector. All duties shall be paid at the stations of the collectors of the customs or their deputies, by whom alone rowannahs are to be granted.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xi, cl. 2.

12. Duties, under the denomination of Government customs, shall be levied at the following rates on the goods specified:—

And all duties leviable on any given quantity by weight, measure, or value, shall also be leviable according to the same rate on any greater or less quantity.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xii, cl. 1; Reg. I, 1812; Reg. XIX, 1812; Reg. IV, 1815; Reg. XV, 1825; Act XIV, 1836; and Act V, 1849.

13. Goods specified in the above enumeration which shall have paid the prescribed duties once, on their importation, shall not be liable to any further duties in passing through the provinces subject to the presidency of Fort William, unless such goods, or any of them, be expressly made liable to any further duty by some future Regulation; nor shall the said goods be subject to any duty whatever on being exported from the said provinces, save and except the export duties to which any of the articles so enumerated may be liable, on being exported therefrom by sea.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xii, cl. 3.

14. No article whatever shall be liable to duty that is not expressly declared to be so by this or some future Regulation; and any collector or deputy collector of customs, who, in contravention of this rule, shall levy any duty upon any article not expressly enumerated herein, or in some future Regulation, shall on proof thereof at the suit of the party, be liable to a fine to Government of three times the amount of the duty so collected by him, in addition to such damages and costs as may be further awarded against him by the court. It is, moreover, hereby declared, that the articles enumerated in the foregoing paragraph are to be subjected to the duties specified therein as merchandise only. No articles belonging to private individuals shall be exempt from the payment of the established duties, excepting second-hand articles, or articles which may be actually in the possession and use of the owners, and such articles shall be passed or otherwise at the discretion of the collector.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xiv; Reg. I, 1812, sec. xvii.

15. In cases in which the duties established by this Regulation are directed to be levied on the value of the goods, such value shall be specified in books which shall be open for public inspection at the several custom houses: the collectors of the Government customs are accordingly required to prepare and submit, with all practicable expedition, to the Board of Revenue, for the approbation of the Governor-General in Council, a book of rates specifying the value of the several articles chargeable with duty ad valorem under the present Regulation.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xv, cl. 1.

16. The book of rates shall be published for general information in the cutcherries of the magistrates and of the collectors of the land revenue, as well as at the different custom-houses throughout the provinces. The book shall moreover, be revised and republished, under the above rules, annually and as soon after the expiration of each year as possible.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xv, cl. 2; Reg. VI, 1814, sec. iii.

17. The valuation of goods by the book of rates at the custom-house from which the rowannah for them may have been taken out, shall bind all other custom-houses to abide by the same rate of valuation, wherever the goods may go.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xv, cl. 3.

18. If any article liable to pay duty ad valorem should be omitted in the book of rates (which it is expected, however, can very rarely happen), the value shall be taken to be the prime cost proved by the invoice, or otherwise to the satisfaction of the collector, with an advance of twenty per cent. thereon.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xv, cl. 4.

19. In cases where goods shall have been damaged, and shall not be in what may be considered a merchantable state, they shall be rated at their actual value, instead of being subjected to the payment of duties on the valuation specified in this Regulation or in the book of rates.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xv, cl. 5.

20. In all cases in which the duties are directed to be levied upon the maund, without specifying any particular weight or kind thereof, the maund shall be taken to be of eighty Calcutta tola weight to the seer, throughout all the provinces subject to this presidency.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xv, cl 7.

21. Goods and articles of trade exported from the province of Rohilcund into the territory constituting the jaghire of Rampore, shall not be subject to the payment of any duty on being exported from such province into the territory aforesaid. All goods and articles of trade imported into the province of Rohilcund from the Rampore jaghire, being of the description of goods and articles of trade which are liable to the payment of Government customs under this Regulation, shall be subject to the payment of the same import duties to which the same goods and articles of trade are subject on importation from the dominions of the Nawaub Vizier.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xvi.

22. Rowannahs, or custom-house passes, shall be granted under the following rules:—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xix, cl. 1.

23. No rowannahs shall be granted excepting upon a written durkhaust or application signed by the proprietors of the goods, or their authorized agents, or the persons in charge of the goods. The durkhaust shall specify the following particulars: The merchant's name, the sort of goods, the quantity of goods, the number and description of packages, the value of the goods, whence brought or imported.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xix, cl. 2.

24. Should any attempt be made to pass at any custom-house a larger quantity of goods than that which is specified in the durkhaust, or to pass goods of greater value than those specified in the durkhaust, in the former case the whole of the goods shall be liable to confiscation, and in the latter case the goods shall be subject to double duty.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xix, cl. 3.

25. Rowannahs, for which application may be made on any day before twelve o'clock, shall be prepared and delivered at a period not later than the following day.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xix, cl. 4.

26. Every rowannah shall be signed and sealed by the collector or deputy collector, the darogah, and the tavildar or cash keeper; the latter of whom shall deliver the rowannah upon the duties being paid.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xix, cl. 5.

27. The darogah and the tavildar shall each have the custody of the seal of his office. Should either of the said officers be convicted of allowing his seal to be removed from his possession, he shall be subject to dismission from his office, under the rules provided in such cases by Regulation V, 1804, and Regulation VIII, 1809. (PUBLIC OFFICERS, UNDER "CIVIL AND CRIMINAL JUDICATURE.")—Reg, IX, 1810, sec. xix, cl. 6.

28. The rowannahs shall be written in the Persian and Bengal languages and characters, in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa (including Cuttack), and shall contain the following particulars: The number of the rowannah, the date of the rowannah, the merchant's name, the sorts of goods, the quantity of the goods, the number and description of packages, the value of the goods, the rate of the customs, the amount of the customs, and the places from whence the goods have been brought or imported, and to which they are proceeding.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xix, cl. 7.

29. Registers of all rowannahs granted at each custom-house shall be kept in the English and Persian languages, according to such form as the Board of Revenue shall prescribe.—Reg IX, 1810, sec. xxi.

30. All rowannahs granted under this regulation (excepting the maafee rowannahs specified in paragraph 36) shall be considered to be in force for one year only, calculating from the date on which they shall be respectively granted. After such period, the goods covered by the said rowannah, in the event of their being brought or moved within the limits of the chokies of any of the custom-houses established by this Regulation, shall be again subject to the established duties, in the same manner as if the duties on such goods had never been paid. Rowannahs shall be delivered up and cancelled whenever an opportunity offers for requiring it, as in the case of exportation by sea, or in the cases specified in paragraphs 33 and 34.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxii.

31. A rowannah granted at any one custom-house shall be current, under the rules contained in this Regulation, throughout the provinces subject to the presidency of Fort William, and shall exempt the goods covered by it, in their passage to any place within the said provinces as well as on exportation from those provinces (unless the goods be expressly made liable to a further export duty), from the payment of any further duty under this Regulation, and from any detention for a period longer than may be requisite to enable the officers of any other custom-house to ascertain whether the goods and the rowannah correspond. The detention of the goods for this purpose shall never exceed one day. The collector, after having made the necessary examination, shall, if the goods correspond with the rowannah, certify the same upon the back of the rowannah. If the collector shall find (in the case of private goods) that the merchant has taken up more goods, or any other goods, in addition to those specified in the rowannah, the whole of the goods shall be liable to confiscation. If the collector shall have reason to believe that goods superior in value to those specified in the rowannah are attempted to be passed under such rowannah, he shall cause a part of the goods to be opened and examined in the public cutcherry in his own presence; and if any such fraud shall be discovered, the collector shall levy double duties on the real value of the goods composing the whole despatch.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxiii, cl. 1.

32. The collector at each custom-house shall keep a register of all rowannahs granted at other custom-houses which shall accompany goods passing his station, in the same form as the register prescribed to be kept of rowannahs granted by himself.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxiv.

33. Should a merchant be desirous of dividing a cargo or despatch of goods into two or more portions after having taken out one rowannah for the whole, he shall be entitled at any of the custom-houses to as many rowannahs as he may require, on identifying the goods and surrendering the original rowannah, after paying a further duty of one-half per cent. thereupon, and a fee of four annas for every rowannah so obtained in exchange for the original rowannah, for the use of the collector or deputy-collector of customs, according to such orders as may be passed on that point by the Governor-General in Council.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxv; Reg. XIX, 1812, sec. v.

34. It is declared that a rowannah shall be considered to be in force for one year only. Should a merchant, however, be desirous of removing his goods from the place to which they may have been carried under the original rowannah, after the expiration of one year, he shall be entitled to an exchange rowannah for another year at any of the established custom-houses, the goods being identified to the satisfaction of the collector, upon paying a duty one-half per cent. thereon, provided that the old rowannah be produced for renewal, and be delivered up before the expiration of the period for which it was issued, that the necessary inquiry may be immediately made and evidence taken to identify the goods; and it is hereby declared that the production of the old rowannah subsequently to the expiration of its term, will not entitle the holder of it to a fresh rowannah in exchange for it.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxvi.

35. The rule contained in the preceding paragraph is to be considered applicable to goods imported from foreign territories inland, and which are respectively alleged to have already paid duty. All such goods must be identified, not only by the production of the original rowannah, but by other satisfactory evidence, before the holder of it will be entitled to a renewal of it.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxvii.

36. Articles which are not the produce of the country, but exclusively imported by sea, and which must, of course, have paid the duties to which they are liable on importation, shall be allowed to pass inland without question; and for that purpose shall be furnished with maafee or free rowannahs by the collectors of customs at Calcutta, Chittagong, and Balasore, on the payment of a duty of one quarter per cent., and a fee at the rate of one rupee per mile on the value of the goods; the presumption that the customs have been duly levied at the time of importation being sufficient to supersede the necessity for any other inquiry. The fee above specified is to be levied for the benefit of the collector; or in the case of his having a deputy, for their joint benefit, in such proportion as the Governor-General in Council or the Vice-President in Council may direct.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxviii.

37. At each custom-house there shall be kept a register of all exchanged rowannahs granted therefrom, specifying the date and number of its original rowannah and the custom-house at which it was issued. A register shall likewise be kept of all maafee rowannahs, specifying the date and number thereof, with the article for which, and the name of the person to whom it may have been granted.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxix.

38. All the duties payable under this Regulation, with the exception of such cases as are or shall be otherwise expressly provided for, shall be paid, and the rowannahs for covering the goods shall be obtained, previously to the goods passing or attempting to pass within the limits of any of the chokies dependent on the custom-houses established by this Regulation. Moreover, as those chokies have now been confined within very narrow limits, with a view to relieve the commerce of the country from vexatious interruption, and it is to be supposed that the owners of goods liable to the payment of the duties can never find any difficulty in covering them by a rowannah previously to their being moved, it is hereby declared, that should any goods be brought within the limits of a choky without being accompanied with a rowannah, or be otherwise found in transit without such a rowannah (although there be no attempt clandestinely to evade the payment of the duties), they shall in any such instance be chargeable with double duties; and if the goods be seized after having clandestinely passed, or in the attempt clandestinely to pass within the limits of any of the said chokies, without having paid the established duties and without being accompanied by a rowannah, they shall be liable to confiscation.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxx, cl. 1.

39. Provided, however, that if any person should dispute, refuse, or omit payment of the required duties, without any attempt clandestinely to evade the payment of them, such part of the goods as may be deemed equal in value to the duties or double duties due on them shall be secured and deposited in the custom-house until such duties shall be paid: And in the event of the duties not being liquidated within the period of three months, the goods shall, at the expiration of that period, be sold at public sale.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxx, cl. 2.

40. After deducting the duties and custom-house charges, the balance of the sales of goods sold under the preceding paragraph shall be paid to the owners of them on their making application for the same.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxx, cl. 3.

41. The collectors of the customs shall report to the Board of Revenue, the goods remaining unredeemed at the expiration of the three months, previously to proceeding to the sale of them.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxx, cl. 4.

42. Whenever goods shall be detained on the ground of their being liable to confiscation, the collector shall, with all practicable expedition, report the case for the determination of the Board to whose authority he may be subject.—Reg. IX. 1810, sec, xxxiii, cl. 1.

43. In the event of goods being confiscated under this Regulation (with the exception of contraband opium, or arms or military stores, to which none of the rules herein contained are to be considered as having any application), they shall be sold by public auction, and the net proceeds shall be divided as follows: one-fifth to the collector or deputy collector: two-fifths, in equal proportions, to the informer and to the officers of Government making the seizure; two-fifths to the Company.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxxiii, cl. 2.

44. The Board of Revenue is hereby empowered, in cases in which there shall appear to them sufficient cause for so doing, to direct the release of any goods which may have become liable to confiscation, or to remit any other penalties which may have been incurred for the breach of any rule contained in this Regulation.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxxiii, cl. 3.

45. The Board is hereby further empowered to order double duty to be levied in lieu of any higher penalty which may be incurred under this Regulation, in cases in which there shall appear to them ground for a mitigation of such penalty.—Reg. IX. 1810, sec. xxxiii, cl. 4.

46. Provided however, that in both of the two preceding cases, if the goods shall have been seized on the information of an informer, and shall be clearly liable to confiscation, the Board shall direct such compensation to be made to the person who gave the information (not exceeding the amount which he would have been entitled to if the confiscation had actually taken place), as they may deem equitable and proper, and the amount of such compensation shall be levied upon the goods, under the same rules as are prescribed in paragraphs 38 to 40, for levying the duties or double duties referred to therein.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxxiii, cl. 5.

47. In lieu of the commission and fees which the collectors of the customs have heretofore been authorized to levy for their own benefit, those officers shall be entitled to receive a commission on the amount of the duties realized by them and by their respective deputies on the public account, at such rate as the Governor-General in Council or the Vice-President in Council may determine. Provided, however, that if, in any case, the person appointed to or holding the office of collector of the Government customs should likewise hold the office of collector of the land revenue, such person shall only be entitled to draw a moiety of the said commission on the amount of the duties so realized.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxxiv.

48. The deputy collectors of the customs, excepting at Calcutta, shall receive a fixed salary, and shall not be entitled to any commission on their collections; but those officers shall be entitled to receive, in all cases in which a seizure may be made by them, the proportion of one-fifth of the produce of confiscated goods, under paragraph 43.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxxv.

49. With a view to provide against the embezzlement of the public money, or improper detention of papers or accounts, by native officers in this department, the provisions in sections xv, xvi, xvii, xviii, xix, xx, and xxi, of Regulation III, 1794 (PUBLIC OFFICERS, "CIVIL AND CRIMINAL JUDICATURE," extended to Benares by Regulation V, 1800), and in Regulation XXXIII, 1803 (extended to the conquered provinces by Regulation VIII, 1805), are hereby declared to apply to all descriptions of native officers who may be employed under the present Regulation, and who may be intrusted with the receipt of money or the charge of accounts.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxxvi.

50. No collections whatever, either as customs, duties, commission, fees, or under any other denomination, shall be levied by any of the officers employed at the custom-houses or chokies, excepting such collections as are or may be authorized by this Regulation, or by any other Regulation which shall be hereafter enacted in the prescribed manner.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxxvii.

51. Any native officer proved to have been guilty of a breach of the rule contained in the foregoing paragraph will, of course, be liable to be dismissed from his employment, under the rules provided in such cases by Regulations V, 1804, and VIII, 1809 (PUBLIC OFFICERS, "CIVIL AND CRIMINAL JUDICATURE"). Complaints against native officers employed under the collectors of customs for offences of this nature, shall, moreover, be considered cognizable by the magistrates; and any such native officer, on being convicted before a magistrate of having detained or stopped goods in any unauthorized manner, or of having exacted, under any plea or pretence whatever, as present, fee, or other consideration, for the passage of goods or otherwise, in violation of the Regulations of Government, shall be deemed guilty of extortion, and be liable to be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to imprisonment not exceeding six months, according to the nature and circumstances of the case and the condition in life of the offender; and if the fine so adjudged be not paid, it shall be commutable to a further period of imprisonment not exceeding six months, as provided with respect to other sentences of the magistrate by section xix of Regulation IX, 1807 (MAGISTRATES, "CRIMINAL JUDICATURE"). The party aggrieved shall, at the same time, be at liberty to prosecute the offender for damages in the Dewanny Adawlut.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxxviii.

52. All native persons, not being officers employed by Government in the collection of the Government customs, or authorized by any Regulation to collect customs or duties, who shall exact customs or duties of any denomination on any pretence whatsoever, whether as principals or agents, shall likewise be deemed guilty of extortion, and on conviction before a magistrate, shall be liable to the penalties of fine and imprisonment, to the same extent, and with the same qualification for commuting the fine to further imprisonment, if it be not paid, as the magistrate is empowered to adjudge against native officers convicted of extortion under the preceding paragraph; and the party aggrieved shall, in like manner, be also at liberty to prosecute the offender for damages in the Dewanny Adawlut; but nothing contained herein shall be construed to authorize the magistrate to inflict corporal punishment in any such case, on any ground whatever.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxxix.

See an explanatory rule, "SAYER," paragraph 24.

53. The collectors of the Government customs are empowered to propose to the Board of Revenue, for the consideration of the Governor-General in Council, such rules as may appear to them calculated to promote the better collection of the customs.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xli.

54. All the rules in this Regulation respecting collectors of the Government customs, unless where the contrary is expressed, shall be considered equally applicable to their deputies. But all accounts, official reports, and communications of the deputies, shall be transmitted to the Board through the collectors, their immediate superiors. The deputy collectors of customs are, moreover, to pay strict obedience to all orders and instructions they may receive from the collectors to whose authority they may respectively be subject, provided they be not contrary to this or any other Regulation in force at the time.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlii.

CALCUTTA SPECIAL RULES.

55. In addition to the general rules prescribed in this regulation, the following special rules shall be observed in the collection of the duties directed to be levied on imports and exports by sea to and from the port of Calcutta.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xliv.

Imports.

56. A tide-waiter shall go on board every vessel that may come to anchor in the port of Calcutta, and enter in his book her name, the nation to which she may belong, the name of her commander, from what port she may have sailed last, and every other necessary particular concerning her.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlv, cl. 1.

57. The following notification shall be inserted in the tide-waiter's book:

"Fort William (date).

"To all commanders and supercargoes of vessels trading to the port of Calcutta:

"You are hereby directed, immediately on your arrival at this port, to transmit to the custom-house a true manifest, upon oath, of all the goods and merchandize loaded on board of your vessel, specifying at what port they were received and to whom they belong, either on account of the owners or on freight, together with their marks and numbers, agreeably to the annexed form. You will likewise be pleased to deliver into my office your pass and other credentials concerning your ship, which shall be returned to you after they shall have been inspected.

(Signed) "A. B. Collector of the Customs."

—Reg. IX. 1810, sec. xlv, cl. 2.

58. The following form of the manifest shall be subjoined to the notification, MANIFEST of the Cargo of the Ship A, from B, Commander Captain C, under English colours.

| Marks. | Numbers. | Packages. | Quantity of Goods. | Quality of Goods. | Where shipped. | To whom consigned. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlv. cl. 3.

59. The master or the supercargo shall next proceed to swear to his manifest before one of the Calcutta justices of the peace, and shall return it to the collector of the customs, with a certificate from the police office purporting that he has delivered into that office a list of the European sailors in his ships, specifying their names and the countries to which they are subject, and has entered into a bond not to suffer any of his crew to come on shore with any kind of offensive weapons at any time of the day or night. No merchandize shall be permitted to be landed from any ship or vessel whatever until the above rule shall have been observed, nor until the collector of the customs shall have received from the master-attendant the copy of a list of all Europeans on board (including the name of the commander of the ship or vessel, the names of the officers and crew, and of any passengers who may have arrived in her), which the commanders are further required to deliver to the pilot under whose charge the ship or vessel may have entered the river. But when the above forms shall have been observed, and the prescribed duties shall either have been paid or sufficient security shall have been taken for the amount of them, consisting either of a deposit of goods or of Company's paper, from the owner or freighters of the cargo, they shall be permitted to land the goods.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlv, cl. 5.

60. No permission shall be given for the landing of any cargo or goods belonging to the captains or officers of ships or vessels importing at Calcutta, or of any baggage belonging to passengers that may come in them, excepting the cargoes, goods, or baggage of the persons named in the preceding paragraph.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlv, cl. 6.

61. Particular care shall be taken by the collector of the customs to prevent vessels mooring or lying between the north-west bastion of the old fort and the export warehouse wharf, nearer than the middle of the stream, and no boats or small craft, excepting such as may be employed in landing goods, are to be allowed to remain within the said limits.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlv, cl. 8.

62. In landing the cargoes of vessels, every separate boat-load shall be accompanied with a note addressed to the collector of the customs, specifying the quantity and quality of the goods. The collector of the customs shall sign an order on such separate note to weigh or examine the goods specified in it, and to pass them. No goods shall be landed without a note or permit, and great care shall be taken that no more goods are passed than the quantity specified in the permit. —Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlv, cl. 9.

63. When the cargo shall have been landed, the boat notes, or permits mentioned in the preceding paragraph shall be compared with the manifest; after which the collector of the customs shall proceed to make out bills for the duties demandable thereon, under the several provisions of this regulation.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlv, cl. 10.

64. The amount of the pecuniary penalties which may be levied, shall be divided in the same manner as the value of confiscated goods is directed to be divided in paragraph 43.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlv, cl. 15.

65. The duties on manifests shall be finally settled by the collector of the customs without any reference to the Board of Revenue.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlvi.

66. The following rules are to be considered in force for determining the value of goods imported by sea, whether on British or foreign bottoms.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlviii, cl. 1.

67. Whenever goods are passed on deposits, the original invoices or bills shall remain in the custom-house, and shall not be surrendered until the whole of the goods shall have been cleared out and all accounts of duty on them finally adjusted; and if no invoices or bills be produced, the proprietor must give his assent in writing to that valuation, previously to the deposit being received.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlviii, cl. 4.

68. British ships importing at the foreign settlements shall pay duties in the same manner as if they imported at Calcutta.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlviii, cl. 6.

69. No claim for a remission of duty upon liquors or other goods stated to have been found damaged will be admitted, unless the condition of the goods shall have been ascertained previously to their passing the custom-house. On this examination of them at the custom-house, should any of them be found not to be in a merchantable state, such goods must be sold on the spot as the condition of any remission of duty, and the duty will be settled on the proceeds of the sale. But it is to be understood, that no such damaged goods will be permitted to be sold, until the proprietor or his agent shall have caused to be inserted in the Calcutta Gazette an advertisement, specifying the day and time of the sale and the articles to be sold; moreover, all sales of damaged goods at the custom-house are to be made in the presence of the collector or his deputy, and the goods are to be lotted with the approbation of the collector.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xlix.

70. No packages, casks, bales, chests, or parcels of goods of any kind, shall be received into the custom-house godowns unless marked or numbered, and no receipts shall be granted for any packages not marked or numbered.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. l.

71. The Board of Revenue shall have power to fix, and from time to time to alter the rates of wharfage and godown rent-charges, and to determine the time for which goods shall be allowed to remain on the wharfs or in the godowns of the custom-house free of charge, while the goods are being passed for import or export by sea; and no goods shall remain in the custom-house godowns, or under the shed or verandah of the godowns, or on any part of the custom-house wharf, more than the time so fixed, unless by express permission: should any goods remain longer, they shall be liable to a charge for godown rent or wharfage.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. li; Act XVI, 1837, sec. xvi.

72. The collector of the customs shall grant receipts on application being made for them, excepting in the cases specified in paragraph 70, for all goods landed from ships and lodged in the custom-house. The collector of the customs shall be held responsible for delivering from the custom-house all goods for which receipts shall have been so granted. Should the captains, officers, or passengers, omit to take such receipts upon their goods being landed and lodged as above-mentioned, they shall not be entitled to an indemnification for any part of them which may be lost in passing through the custom-house. The receipts shall be returned on clearing out the goods.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lii.

73. An account shall be kept by the tide-waiter of all packages received into or delivered out of the godowns.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. liii.

74. Ships importing in ballast shall be reported accordingly by the master.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. liv.

75. The collector of the customs shall report to the Governor-General in Council, through the Board of Revenue, whenever any arms or military stores being private property (with the exception of fowling pieces, pistols, or other arms evidently for private use) are landed from any vessels importing at Calcutta, specifying the nature, numbers, and quantity of such arms and stores, together with the name of the ship and of the commander or consigner. The aforementioned report shall also state whether the arms or stores were originally shipped as private property, or procured from either of the Company's Governments in India.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lv.

76. Precious stones, though exempt from duty, must nevertheless, whether on importation or exportation, be entered at the custom-house, and their value be stated, under a penalty of ten per cent. on the value at which they may be estimated after due inquiry by the custom-master.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lvi.

77. The importers of goods landed expressly for re-exportation or transhipped in port are nevertheless to pay or deposit security for the import duties, in the same manner as if the goods had been destined for the markets of this country. Should the commanders of the Honourable Company's ships, or others, be desirous, however, of landing stores or other articles in Calcutta merely for temporary purposes, without any view to a sale of such stores or articles, they shall have the option of either paying or depositing security for the import duties thereon as above prescribed or of landing them free of duty, upon making an application for that purpose to the collector of the customs, provided that, in the latter case, they shall at the same time enter into a bond or note to the collector, engaging to pay double duties on all such stores or articles (and which shall be entered at the custom-house expressly for re-exportation), unless they shall be re-shipped on the same vessel within the period of three months from the date of their being landed.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lviii.

78. The following rates of exchange shall be adopted in the adjustment of the Calcutta customs :—

Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxi.

80. All goods for exportation, the property of individuals (with the exceptions hereafter to be specified), shall be shipped from the custom-house with a permit from the collector of the customs. Goods brought for exportation from the interior of the country, previously to being shipped, shall be brought to the custom-house ghaut for examination.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxiv.

81. No goods, wares, or merchandise shall be exported by sea, or be put on board any ship or vessel, or any sloop, boat, or other craft, for the purpose of exportation, or be in any way removed and taken out of the limits of Calcutta for such purpose from the custom-house wharf, or from any other wharf or ghaut, until a license or permit shall have been given in writing by the collector of customs or his deputy, for the exportation of the same from such wharf or ghaut; and any goods secretly or openly laden on any ship or vessel, or put on board, or attempted to be put on board of any boat, sloop, or craft whatever, for the purpose of being carried on ship-board without such written license or permit obtained or passed, or attempted to be passed from the interior otherwise than as above prescribed, shall be forfeited to Government, and may be seized as forfeited by any persons authorized, under the rules of the existing Regulations, to make seizures.—Reg. III, 1830, sec. iii.

82. Grain may, by permission of the collector of the customs, be shipped from the ghauts after it shall have been duly entered at the custom-house.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxv.

83. All applications for permits shall be made to the collector of the customs in writing, and shall specify the name of the vessel on which the goods are to be laden, the name of the commander, and the place to which the vessel is bound; and shall be accompanied by a chellaun or invoice, specifying the numbers and marks of the packages, the sorts and quantities of goods in each, the place of manufacture, and the Calcutta market price thereof. After which official bills shall be made out for the duties, unless the goods be exempted from duty; and the amount shall be paid, or security given for the payment of it in ten days, before the goods shall be permitted to be shipped.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxvii.

84. On exporting gruff or other goods, not being piece goods, one or more chests, bags, or packages, at the discretion of the collector of the customs, may be examined and weighed, subject to the same penalties, in case of a difference from the chellaun.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxx.

See post, paragraph 123.

85. All boats laden with goods or merchandize from the interior of the country shall be brought to at the custom-house. The goods on any boats attempting to pass Calcutta without permission from the collector of the customs shall be liable to confiscation.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxi.

86. Provisions and stores for the use of Her Majesty's navy, which are the immediate property of the Crown, may be passed free of duty; but articles of provisions furnished to Her Majesty's squadron by the contractors or their agents are not to be exempted from the payment of the prescribed duties.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxii.

87. Parcels for individuals and necessaries shall be passed at the discretion of the collector of the customs.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxiii.

See post, paragraph 109.

88. Goods for exportation free from duty shall nevertheless be entered at the custom-house, in the same manner as if they were goods paying duties.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxiv.

89. It is to be observed as an invariable rule not to admit any claims for drawback, unless the goods shall be exported regularly through the custom-house, and be included in the manifest of the export cargo delivered into the custom-house by the commander or owner of the vessel on which they may be exported, with the application for a port clearance. Nor, in any case, after the port-clearance shall have been taken out.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxvi.

90. No drawback shall be allowed on the re-exportation of articles imported from sea forming only a part of the package in which they were imported, or on any package that may not be entire as imported.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxvii.

91. No claim for a return of duty upon goods stated not to have been shipped shall be admitted after the vessel shall have quitted the anchorage at Saugur.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxviii.

See further rules relating to drawbacks, post, paragraph 140.

92. Persons who may be desirous of exporting opium purchased at the Company's sales shal produce a certificate from the Board of Revenue, or their officers, signifying that the opium in question was purchased at the Company's sales. The certificate must specify the purchase, lot, the mark and number upon each of the chests applied for, the name of the purchaser, the cost of the opium, and the date of the sale. Any opium not really purchased at the Company's sales, and attempted to be passed as such, or not corresponding with the certificate, shall be liable to confiscation.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxix.

93. Persons desirous of sending presents or articles for family use to Europe, as permitted by the Honourable Court of Directors, shall pay the export duties thereupon. The parcels or packages containing such presents or articles, the value of which shall not exceed three thousand rupees, shall in future be registered at the office of the secretary to the Board of Revenue, and when application is made to him for such registry, it must be accompanied by a certificate from the collector of the customs that the duties have been duly settled. The secretary to the Board of Revenue shall not register any parcel or package without the required certificate.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxx.

94. The master-attendant shall not grant a pilot, to any vessel until a certificate shall be produced to him from the collector of the customs of the duties on her cargo both import and export, having been paid or settled, or of her export cargo (if exempt from duties) having been entered at the custom-house, as directed in paragraph 88, together with a certificate from the police-office, purporting that the commander or supercargo has delivered into that office a list of the European seamen embarked on the vessel.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxxi.

95. The pilot of every vessel which may have obtained her clearance shall be ordered by the master-attendant not to permit any goods or merchandize to be received on board, unless the goods shall be accompanied by a certificate from the collector of the customs of their having paid or settled the export duties.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxxii.

96. If the commander of the vessel shall, notwithstanding the remonstrance of a pilot, receive on board any goods or merchandize not accompanied with a certificate as prescribed in the preceding paragraph, the pilot shall immediately report the circumstance to the master-attendant, and detain the vessel for his further orders, and all goods in such predicament shall be liable to confiscation. Moreover, goods seized in the attempt to ship them in a clandestine manner shall be liable to confiscation.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxxiii.

97. Goods transhipped without permission first obtained from the collector of the customs, or shipped, or attempted to be shipped upon any other vessel than that for which they may have been passed at the custom-house, shall be subject to double duty.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxxiv.

98. Two registers of exports by sea shall be kept in the following forms:

FORT WILLIAM, Register of Goods exported by Sea, and of the Customs collected thereon in———.

| Register Number. | Dates. | Number and nature of Packages. | Vessels. | Where bound. | Vessels under what Colours. | Merchants' Names. | Place of manufacture or produce. | Sort of Goods. | Quantity of Goods. | Valuation. | Amount of Customs. |

| | | | | | | | | | | |

—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxxvi.

99. The collector of the Government customs at Calcutta is moreover to keep a register of all piece goods and of indigo imported into Calcutta from the interior of the country under rowannah, and which shall be entered for exportation by sea.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxxvii.

100. Dhonies or other coasting vessels liable to the duties of pilotage shall not be permitted to land or ship their cargoes until the master-attendant shall have certified to the collector of the customs that those duties have been paid, or that sufficient security has been given for the payment of them.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. lxxxviii.

See post, paragraph 136.

101. In every instance, either of imports or exports, where the duties have been paid without any objections having been made to the rate of assessment, the collector is to consider it an invariable rule to reject all claims for a return of any part of the duties so paid.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xc.

102. All goods imported or exported shall be weighed by the Company's scales and weights.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xci.

103. The kyallee dustoor abolished by section ii, Regulation LVII, 1795, shall remain finally abolished.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xcii.

104. All such general rules for the collection of the Government customs contained in this Regulation as may not be at variance with the foregoing special rules, shall be considered applicable to the collection of the Government customs of Calcutta on imports and exports, and shall be adhered to accordingly.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xciii.

105. Paragraphs 98 and 99, for regulating the drawback allowed on exports from Calcutta, shall equally apply to the ports of Chittagong and Balasore.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xcvi.

GENERAL RULES FOR SEA CUSTOMS IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

106. Such parts of Regulations IX and X, 1810, Regulation XV, 1825, and of any other Regulations of the Bengal presidency as prescribe the levy of transit or inland customs duties, or of town duties; and likewise the schedules of duties and provisions of any kind contained in these, or any other Regulations for fixing the amount of duty to be levied upon goods imported into, or exported from, the said presidency by sea, shall be repealed; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the levy of duties at the rates now in force at the custom-houses and chokies established on the line of the Jumna, or any frontier line, upon goods crossing that line for import into, or export from, the territory of the East India Company by land, nor to affect the Regulations in force for imposing and levying duties on salt, the produce of Western and Central India.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. i.

See post, paragraph 167.

107. Duties of customs shall be levied on goods imported by sea into Calcutta, or into any other place within the provinces of Bengal and Orissa, according to the rates specified in Schedule (A) hereunto annexed, and with the exceptions specified therein; and the said schedule, with the notes attached thereto, shall be taken to be a part of this Act.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. ii.

108. Duties of customs shall be levied upon country goods exported by sea from any port of Bengal or Orissa, according to the rates specified in Schedule (B) hereunto annexed, with the exceptions therein specified; and the said schedule with the notes attached thereto, shall also be taken to be a part of this Act.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. iii.

109. No goods or articles whatsoever, entered in either of the said schedules as liable to duty, shall be exempted from the payment of such duty or of any part thereof, except under special order from the Governor of Bengal: provided, however, that it shall and may be lawful for the collector of customs, or other officer in charge of a custom-house, to pass free of duty, as heretofore, any baggage in actual use, at his discretion; and in case of any person applying to have goods passed as such, the collector acting under the orders of the Board of Revenue, shall determine whether they be baggage in actual use, or goods subject to duty, under the rules of this Act.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. iv.

110.* The rules and Regulations now established for the levy of duties of customs on goods imported into, or exported from, Calcutta and other ports of the presidency of Fort William in Bengal, shall continue to be in force, and shall be observed and applied for the levy of the import and export duties imposed by this Act, unless repealed or altered, or repugnant to the provisions thereof.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. v.

111. It shall be lawful for the Governor of the presidency of Fort William in Bengal, by an order printed in the Calcutta Gazette, to fix a place in any river or port in Bengal or Orissa, beyond which place it shall not be lawful for any inward-bound vessel, save and except such dhonies and country craft as are referred to in paragraph 136, to pass until the master or commander shall have delivered to the pilot on board, for the purpose of being forwarded by the public dawk or otherwise, as may be ordered by the Board of Revenue, a manifest made out in the form prescribed by paragraph 58. And it is hereby enacted, that if the manifest so delivered by the master and commander shall not contain a full and true specification of all the goods imported in the vessel, the master or person in charge thereof shall be liable to a fine of one thousand rupees; and any goods or packages that may be found on board in excess of the manifest so delivered, or differing in quality or kind, or in marks and numbers from the specification contained therein, shall be liable to be seized and confiscated, or to be charged with such increased duties as may be determined by the Board of Revenue; and if any inward-bound vessel shall remain outside, or below the place so fixed by the Governor of Bengal, the master or commander shall in like manner deliver to the pilot, so soon as the vessel shall anchor, a manifest as above prescribed; and if any vessel entering a port for which there is a custom-house established, shall lie at anchor therein for the space of twenty-four hours, the master and commander whereof shall neglect to deliver the said manifest to the pilot on board, he shall for such neglect be liable to forfeit the sum of one thousand rupees; and no entry or port clearance shall be given for such vessel until the fine is paid.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. vi.

112. No vessel shall be allowed to break bulk until the manifest described in the preceding paragraph, and another copy thereof to be presented at the time of applying for entry inwards, shall have been received by the collector of customs, and order shall have been given by the said collector for the discharge of the cargo; and the said collector may further refuse to give such order if he shall see fit, until any port clearances, cockets, or other papers, known to be granted at the places from which the vessel is stated to have come, shall likewise be delivered to him.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. vii.

113. It shall be competent to the collector of customs at any port of Bengal or Orissa, at his discretion, to send one or more officers of customs on board of any vessel at any time; and the custom-house officer so sent shall remain on board of such vessel by day and by night, until the vessel shall leave the port, or until it be otherwise ordered by the collector of customs.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. viii.

114. Any master or person in charge of such vessel, who shall refuse to receive a custom-house officer on board when so deputed as above provided, shall be liable to fine not exceeding the sum of five hundred rupees for each day during which such officer shall not be received, which fine shall be adjudged by and at the discretion of the Board of Revenue at Calcutta; and the vessel, by the master or person in charge of which such fine shall have been incurred, shall not be moved until the same shall be paid. The commander of every such vessel shall also be bound to receive on board one servant of such officer, and to provide such officer and such servant with suitable shelter and accommodation, and likewise with a due allowance of fresh water, and with the means of cooking on board; and if any commander of a vessel shall wilfully disobey these directions, he shall be punished with a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. ix.; Act XVI, 1837, sec. vi.

115. Whenever a collector of customs shall see cause to direct that any vessel shall be searched, he shall issue his warrant or written order for the same, addressed to the custom-house officer on board, or to any other officer under his authority; and upon production of such order, the officer bearing it shall be competent to require any cabins, lockers, or bulkheads to be opened in his presence, and, if not opened upon his requisition, to break the same open, and any goods that may be found concealed, and that shall not be duly accounted for to the satisfaction of the collector of customs, shall be confiscated; and any master or person in charge of a vessel who shall resist such officer, or refuse to allow the vessel to be searched when so ordered by the collector of customs, shall be liable upon conviction for every such offence to a fine of one thousand rupees, to be adjudged by any magistrate or justice of the peace of the place.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. x.

116. Every master of a vessel who shall remove from such vessel, or put on board thereof any goods, or cause or suffer any goods to be removed thence, or put on board thereof, between sunset and sunrise, or on any day when the custom-house is closed for business, without leave in writing obtained from the collector of customs, shall be punished with a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XVI, 1837, sec. iv.

117. No goods shall be allowed to leave any vessel, or to be put on board thereof, until entry of the vessel shall have been duly made in the custom-house of the port, and order shall have been given for discharge of the cargo thereof, as above provided; and it shall be the duty of the custom-house officer on board, and of all officers of customs, to seize as contraband any goods which shall have been removed or put on board of any vessel in contravention of the above provision, or which any attempt shall have been made to remove from or to put on board of any vessel in contravention of the above provision. And after entry of the vessel at the custom-house in due form, such part of the cargo as may not be intended and declared for re-exportation in the same vessel shall be sent to land. And export cargo shall be laden on board thereof according to the rules and practice now in force; and if an attempt be made to land or put on board goods or merchandise in contravention thereof, the goods or merchandise shall be liable to seizure and confiscation.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xi.

118. Provided, however, that no goods shall be allowed to leave any vessel under the said rules, unless the same be duly manifested; and any goods found on board in excess of the manifest, or not corresponding with the specification and description therein contained, shall be seized by the custom-house officer on board, in order that they may be dealt with as prescribed in paragraph 111; and if goods entered in the manifest shall not be found on board the vessel, or if the quantity found be short, and the deficiency be not duly accounted for, or if goods sent out of the vessel be not landed at the Custom-house, or at such other ghaut or place as the collector of customs shall have prescribed or permitted, there to be passed in due form, the master or commander shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees for every missing or deficient package of unknown value, and for twice the amount of duty chargeable on the goods deficient and unaccounted for, if capable of being assessed therewith: provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the collector of customs from permitting the master or commander of any vessel to amend obvious errors, or to supply omissions from accident or inadvertence, by furnishing an amended or supplemental manifest; but the receiving of such shall always be discretionary.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xii.

119. It shall be lawful for the collector of customs, whenever he shall see fit, to require that goods brought by sea and stowed in bulk shall be weighed on board ship before being sent to land, and to levy duty according to the result of such weighing.—Act XVI, 1837, sec. xvii.

120. Whoever shall intentionally offer any obstruction to the weighing directed by the preceding paragraph shall be punished with a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XVI, 1837, sec. xviii.

121. No cargo-boat, laden with goods intended for exportation by sea, shall make fast to, or lie alongside of, any vessel, unless there shall be on board the boat, or have been received by the custom-house officer on board of the vessel, a custom-house permit or order for the shipment of the goods; and the goods on board of any boat that may so lie alongside, or may be made fast to a vessel, if such goods be not covered by a custom-house pass accompanying them, or previously received by the customs officer on board the said vessel, shall be liable to confiscation.—Act XVI, 1837, sec. vii.

122. When goods shall be sent from on board ship for the purpose of being landed and passed for importation, there shall be sent with each boat-load or other separate despatch, a boat-note, specifying the number of packages and the marks and numbers or other description thereof, and such boat-note shall be signed by an officer of the vessel, and likewise by the customs officer that may be on board; and if any imported goods be found in a boat proceeding to land without a boat-note, or if, being accompanied by a boat-note, they be found out of the proper track between the ship and the custom-house wharf, or other wharf or ghaut at which they have been permitted to be landed, the boat containing such goods may be detained by any inspector or by any other officer of the preventive service of the custom-house, duly authorized by the collector of customs; and unless the cause of deviation be explained to the satisfaction of the officers of customs, the goods shall be liable to confiscation.—Act XVI, 1837, sec. viii.

123. When goods shall be brought to be passed through the custom-house, either for importation or exportation by sea, if the packages in which the same may be contained shall be found not to correspond with the description of them given in the application for passing them through the custom-house, or if the contents thereof be found not to have been correctly described in regard to sort, quality, or quantity, or if any goods not stated in the application be found concealed in or mixed up with the specified articles, all such packages, with the whole of the goods contained therein, shall be liable to confiscation.—Act XVI, 1837, sec. ix.

124. Any articles of foreign manufacture, and any packages of such articles imported into the territories subject to the Government of the said Company, bearing any names, brands, or marks purporting to be the names, brands, or marks of manufacturers resident in the United Kingdom, shall be forfeited.—Act XXV, 1843.

125. If any person, after goods have been landed, and before they have been passed through the custom-house, removes or attempts to remove them, with the intention of defrauding the revenue, the goods shall be liable to confiscation.—Act XVI, 1837, sec. x.

126. Any custom-house officer whatsoever, who shall demand or accept any gratuity not authorized by any existing Regulation or order of Government, in consideration of doing, or omitting to do, any act in his official capacity, shall forfeit for every such offence the sum of five hundred rupees; and any person who shall offer a bribe to any custom-house officer, in order to induce such officer to act in a manner inconsistent with his duty, shall forfeit a like sum, and these penalties shall be adjudged on conviction before any magistrate or justice of the peace of the town, district, or place where the custom-house may be established by such magistrate, and in default of payment, any person so convicted shall be committed to the civil gaol of the city or district until the fine be paid, or for a period not exceeding six months.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xiii.

127. When goods shall be seized as contraband, and liable to confiscation, the collector of customs shall investigate the case, and, according to his judgment, shall either release the goods or adjudge them to confiscation; and whenever he shall declare goods to be confiscated, he shall report his proceedings for confirmation and final adjudication by the Board of Revenue. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the Governor of Bengal from ordering the release of goods seized, or from remitting any penalty whatsoever that may be incurred for contravention of the custom laws.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xiv.

128. Twenty days, exclusive of Sundays and holidays, shall be allowed for the discharge of the import cargo of vessels not exceeding six hundred tons burthen, and thirty days, exclusive of Sundays and holidays, for the discharge of the import cargo of vessels exceeding that burthen; and the said periods shall be calculated from the day of the tide-waiter or other custom-house officer first going on board. And if the whole cargo be not discharged by the expiration of the above-stated periods respectively, the master or commander shall be charged with the tide-waiter's or other officer's wages, and other expenses, for any further period that he or they may be detained on board. And if the owners, importers, or consignees do not bring their goods to land within the periods above fixed, it shall be the duty of the master or commander so to do. And if any goods remain on board after the time fixed as above for the discharge of the import cargo, the collector may order the same to be landed and warehoused for the security of the duties chargeable, and of any freight and primage, and other demands that may be due thereon, giving his receipt to the master for the same. Provided always, that in all cases it shall be lawful for the collector or other officer in charge of the custom-house, with the consent of the master of the vessel, to cause any packages to be brought on shore, and to be deposited in the Government warehouse for the security of the duties and charges thereon, although twenty days may not have expired from the entry of such vessel; and in case goods so landed and warehoused, or any goods brought to land from any vessel, be not claimed and cleared from the custom-house within three months from the date of entry of the ship in which such goods were imported, it shall be competent to the collector to sell the same on account of the duties, freight, and other charges incurred and due thereon.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xv; Act XVI, 1837, sec. xiii.

129. A further period of fifteen days, Sundays and holidays excluded, shall be allowed for putting on board export cargo, if the vessel shall not exceed six hundred tons burthen, and twenty days, if exceeding that burthen, when the lading and unlading thereof shall be continuous; and the master or commander shall, in such case, not be charged with the wages and expenses of the custom-house officer on board, until after the expiration of such additional periods respectively. And if a vessel, having discharged its import cargo, shall be laid up, the custom-house officer on board shall be withdrawn so soon as he shall certify that no goods remain on board excepting necessary stores and articles for use; and when a vessel so laid up shall be entered at the custom-house for receipt of export cargo, a custom-house officer shall be sent on board, and if the said last-mentioned officer shall certify that no goods are on board saving as above excepted, twenty days, exclusive of Sundays and holidays as above, shall be allowed from the date of such certificate for the lading outwards of a vessel not exceeding six hundred tons, and thirty days for vessels exceeding that burthen; after which periods respectively, the master and commander shall be charged with the wages and expenses of the custom-house officer on board, to the date of the vessel's sailing from the port.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xvi; Act XVI, 1837, sec. v.

130. When, upon application from the commander of any vessel, the custom-house officer shall be removed from on board thereof under the provisions to that effect contained in the preceding paragraph, if the commander of such vessel shall, before a custom-house officer have again been placed in such vessel, put on board of such vessel, or cause or suffer to be put on board of such vessel, any goods whatever, such commander shall be punished with a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, and the goods shall be liable to be re-landed for examination at the expense of the shipper or shippers upon requisition to that effect from the collector of customs.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xvi.—Act XVI, 1837, sec. v.

131. If any person in charge of a vessel shall have become liable to any penalty, fine, or demand on account of any act or omission relating to customs, the collector of customs shall be competent, subject to the orders of the Board of Revenue, to refuse port clearance to such vessel until the fine shall be discharged.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xvii.

132. Upon any goods passed through the custom-house for shipment, the application for which shall be presented after port clearance shall have been taken out, double the prescribed duty shall be levied; and if the same be imported goods entitled to drawback, such drawback shall be forfeited, but no separate duty shall be levied; if the goods be free, five per cent. upon the market value shall be levied thereon.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xviii; Act XVI, 1837, sec. xii.

133. When a vessel having cleared out from any port, shall put back from stress of weather, or it shall for any damage, or from other cause, be necessary that the cargo of a vessel that has cleared out shall be unshipped or re-landed, a custom house officer shall be sent to watch the vessel, and take charge of the cargo during such re-landing or removal from on board; and the goods on board such vessel shall not be allowed to be transhipped or re-exported free of duty, by reason of the previous settlement of duty at the time of first export, unless the goods shall be lodged in such place as shall be allowed by the collector of customs, and shall remain while on land, or while on board of any other vessels, under special charge of the officers of customs, until the time of re-export; and all charges attending such custody shall be borne by the exporter, or by the applicant for this advantage. Provided however, that in all cases of return to port after port clearance, on account of damage or for stress of weather, it shall be lawful for the owner, or for the master and commander, to re-enter the vessel, and land the cargo, under the rules for the importation of goods; and the export duty shall in that case be refunded, and the amount paid in drawback be reclaimed, and the goods be placed in all respects as before being passed for exportation; and if goods, on account of which drawback has been paid, be not found on board the vessel, the master shall forfeit the entire value thereof, unless he account for them to the satisfaction of the collector of customs.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xix.

134. When goods shall be re-landed before the lading of any vessel is complete, and port clearance has been granted, the duty levied upon such goods shall be returned to the exporter, but no refund shall be made of duty paid on the export of any goods after port clearance shall have been granted for the vessel on which the goods were exported, except the vessel shall have to put back for stress of weather or for damage, and the goods shall have been re-landed, under the rule contained in the preceding paragraph.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xx.

135. Vessels owned by natives of Arabia, and coming from the ports thereof, and likewise the vessels of any country or port of Asia not subject to the dominion of the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, excepting dhonies and small craft from the Maldive and Nicobar Islands, as hereinunder provided, shall be deemed foreign vessels.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xxi.

136. Dhonies, country craft, and other small vessels, not brought into the port of Calcutta by pilots, shall be required to anchor and moor in such part of the river Hooghly as shall be marked out by the collector of customs, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue; and if any such vessel shall anchor in any other part of the river than as so marked out, and the master or person in charge thereof shall not immediately, upon being ordered so to do, move his vessel to the place marked out, he shall be liable to a fine of one hundred rupees, to be adjudged by the collector of customs; and the vessel, or any part of its equipment or cargo, may be seized and sold in satisfaction of such fine; and goods shall be landed from such vessels, and put on board for export, according to such rules, and at such places, as shall be prescribed by the collector of customs: and vessels of this description coming from the Maldives, or from the Nicobar Islands, shall be considered as British vessels.—Act XIV, 1836, sec. xxii.

137. Woollens, whether the manufacture of Europe, India, or any other country, shall not be shipped for exportation from Bengal to China, on any account whatever.—Reg. I, 1812, sec. xxvi.

138. Whenever any duty of customs, or in the nature thereof, is leviable on any given quantity by weight, measure, or value of any goods or merchandise, a like duty is leviable according to the same rate on any greater or less quantity.—Act V, 1849, sec. ii.

DRAWBACKS.

140. It shall be lawful for the Governor of the presidency of Fort William in Bengal, from time to time, by notice in the official gazette, to fix a value for any article liable to ad-valorem duty, and the value so fixed by the Governor of the said presidency shall, till altered by a similar notice, be taken to be the value of such article for the purpose of levying duty on the same. —Act. XVI, 1837, sec. iii.

On Imports.

141. When the duty is declared to be ad valorem, it shall be levied on the market value at the place and time of importation, or on the value fixed under the preceding paragraph without deduction; and if the collector of customs shall see reason to doubt whether the goods come from the country from which they are declared to come by the importer, it shall be lawful for the collector of customs to call on the importer to furnish evidence as to the place of manufacture or production; and if such evidence shall not satisfy the said collector of the truth of the declaration, the goods shall be charged with the highest rate of duty, subject always to an appeal to the Board of Revenue.—Act XIV, 1836, sched. A.—Reg. VI, 1833, sec. ii.

142. The value of all goods and merchandise subject to ad valorem duties shall be stated on the face of the application to clear the same from the custom house, that may be presented by the importer, consignee, or proprietor of such goods, or his known agent or factor, who shall further subjoin to the said application a declaration of the truth of the same in the manner and form following.

—Reg. VI, 1833, sec. iii. cl. 1.

143. The above declaration shall be subscribed by the proprietor, importer, or consignee, or his known agent or factor; and if upon view or examination of such goods, wares or merchandise, by the officers of the customs, it shall appear to them that such goods, wares, or merchandise, or any portion thereof, or any article or articles separately valued as above for assessment of duty, are not or is not valued according to the fair Calcutta market price at the time of such declaration, then it shall be lawful for the collector or other officer or officers of the customs duly authorised in that behalf, to detain such goods, wares, or merchandise, or such article or articles, and to cause the same to be lodged in the Government warehouses, or otherwise secured, until the pleasure of the Board of Revenue, or other authority acting with the powers of the Board, shall be known and declared; and it shall be lawful for the said Board or other authority to order the collector to take such goods, wares, or merchandise for the use and benefit of the Honourable Company at any time within eight days from the date on which the application of the importer or proprietor may have been made; and the collector or other officer aforesaid shall, in such case, within fifteen days of the same date, pay to the proprietor, importer, or consignee of such goods, wares, or merchandise, or article or articles, so detained and taken for the Company, the value thereof as declared and set forth upon the import application, by such proprietor, importer, or consignee, or by his known agent or factor.—Reg. VI, 1833, sec. iii, cl. 2.

144. When payment may be so made to the importer or proprietor of such goods, wares, or merchandise, the same shall be in full satisfaction for the goods, in the same manner as if such goods, wares, or merchandise, had been transferred by ordinary sale; and the collector, under the direction of the Board of Revenue, shall cause the said goods, wares, or merchandise to be sold to the best advantage on account of Government.—Reg. VI, 1833, sec. iii, cl. 3.

145. In all cases in which goods shall be taken and purchased by or on account of Government, the duties payable thereon shall be levied from the proprietor, importer, or consignee thereof, according to the value declared and set forth on the import application.—Reg. VI, 1833, sec. iv.

Exports:

146. When the duty is declared to be ad valorem, the same shall be levied on the value fixed under paragraph 140, or on the marketvalue, at the place of export, without deduction; the value of such goods shall be declared by the exporter in the manner prescribed by paragraphs 141 to 144, for goods imported into Calcutta by sea, and those provisions for cases of disputed value shall apply to goods intended to be exported by sea in like manner as for imported goods, and the value so to be declared by the exporter shall include the packages or materials in which the goods may be contained.—Act XVI, 1837, sec. ii.

147. And upon the re-export by sea of goods imported, excepting opium and salt, provided the goods be identified to the satisfaction of the collector of customs, there shall be retained one-eighth of the amount of duty levied, and the remainder shall be repaid as drawback. And if goods be re-exported in the same ship without being landed, (always excepting opium and salt, in regard to which the special rules in force shall continue to apply), there shall be no import duty levied thereon.—Act XIV, 1836, sched. A.

148. No payment shall be made of drawback upon any goods exported from any port of Bengal or Orissa, unless the export be made within two years from the date of the import in the custom-house registers, nor unless the claim to receive such drawback be made at the time of exportation, nor unless the amount due thereupon be demanded within one year from the date of entry for shipment in the custom-house registers.—Act XVI, 1837, sec. xiv.

149. Credit shall not be given, nor shall drawback be allowed, of any inland customs or land frontier duty, paid at any custom-house or chokee of the Jumna frontier line, or of Benares, except only upon the article of cotton wool covered by rowannahs taken out at the custom-houses of the Western-Provinces, and proved to have been destined for export by sea when passed out of those provinces.—Act XIV, 1836, sched. B.

150. Drawback shall not be allowed upon goods shipped in dhonies and native craft not navigated by pilots, and not having custom-house officers on board.—Act XVI, 1837, sec. xv.

FOREIGN TRADE AND PRIVILEGES OF FOREIGN BOTTOMS.

151. The following Regulation, passed by the Honourable the Court of Directors of the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies, shall take effect and be in full force, within the territories subject to the presidency of Fort William.

A Regulation for rescinding the existing Regulation of the 31st of December, 1817, relating to the conduct of the trade between the British possessions in India, and the countries and states in amity with His Majesty, and for making other provisions in lieu thereof.

Whereas by a Regulation passed by the Court of Directors of the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies, on the 31st of December, 1817, intituled "A Regulation for carrying on the trade between the British possessions in India and the countries and states in amity with His Majesty," reciting, that "by an Act passed in the thirty-seventh year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Third, intituled 'An Act for regulating the trade to be carried on with the British possessions in India by the ships of nations in amity with His Majesty,'" it was "enacted, that from and after the passing of that Act, and during the continuance of the exclusive trade of the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies, and during the term for which the possession of the British territories in India is secured to the said United Company, it should be lawful for the ships and vessels of countries and states in amity with His Majesty to import into and export from the British possessions in India such goods and commodities as they should be permitted to import into and export from the said possessions by the Directors of the said Company, who were thereby directed to frame such Regulations for carrying on the trade to and from the said possessions, and the countries and states in amity with his Majesty, as should seem to them most conducive to the interest and prosperity of the said British possessions in India and of the British empire; and that no ship or vessel belonging to any of the subjects of states or countries in amity with his Majesty should be liable to seizure, confiscation, or forfeiture, or other penalty, for exporting from, or importing into, the said British possessions in India any goods or commodities, the importation or exportation of which should respectively be permitted by the said Regulation, anything in a certain Act of the twelfth year of the reign of King Charles the Second, therein recited, to the contrary notwithstanding; provided always, that it should not be lawful for the Directors of the said United Company to frame any Regulations for the conduct of the said trade which should be inconsistent with any treaty or treaties which should have been, or might be, entered into by his Majesty, his heirs and successors, and any country or state at amity with his Majesty, or which might be inconsistent with any Act or Acts of Parliament which had been passed for the regulation of the trade and commerce of the said British territories in India;" and reciting that "by another Act passed in the fifty-third year of the reign of his said late Majesty, intituled 'An Act for continuing in the East-India Company for a further term the possession of the British territories in India, together with certain exclusive privileges for establishing further Regulations for the government of the said territories, and the better administration of justice within the same; and for regulating the trade to and from the places within the limits of the said Company's Charter,'" "all the enactments, provisions, matters, and things contained in any Act or Acts whatsoever which were limited, or might be construed to be limited, to continue for and during the term granted to the said Company by a certain Act of Parliament of Great Britain of the thirty-third year of his said late Majesty, therein recited, so far as the same or any of them were in force and not repealed by, or repugnant to, the said Act of the fifty-third year of his said late Majesty, should continue and be in force during the further term thereby granted to the said Company, subject to such alterations therein as might be made by any of the enactments, provisions, matters, and things in that Act contained;" certain rules were framed for carrying on the trade to and from the British possessions in India and the countries and states in amity with his Majesty: and whereas it has been deemed expedient that the distinction made by the last-mentioned Regulation between foreign European ships belonging to nations having settlements in the East Indies, and foreign European ships belonging to countries having no such settlements, should be removed, and that the provisions thereby made for the trade of foreign European ships belonging to nations having settlements of their own in the East Indies should be extended to foreign European ships belonging to nations having no settlements in the East Indies, and also to ships belonging to the empire of Brazil; the court of Directors of the said United Company, in virtue of the powers granted to them by the Acts hereinbefore mentioned or referred to, have rescinded the said Regulation of the 31st of December, 1817, and in lieu thereof have framed the following Regulation.

First. Foreign European ships belonging to any state or country, whether having a settlement of its own in the East Indies or not, and ships belonging to the empire of Brazil, so long as such states, countries, and empire respectively remain in amity with his Majesty, may freely enter the British sea-ports and harbours in the East Indies, whether they come directly from their own country or from any of the ports and places in the East Indies; they shall be hospitably received, and shall have liberty to trade there in imports and exports conformably to the Regulations established in such places; provided that it shall not be lawful for the said ships in time of war between the British Government and any state or power whatever, to export from the said British territories, without the special permission of the British Government, any military stores or naval stores, saltpetre or grain. The said ships may also be cleared out for any port or place in the East Indies, but if cleared out for Europe or for any port in the empire of Brazil, they shall be cleared out direct for the country to which such ships respectively belong.

Second. The trade between the British possessions in India and the United States of America shall continue to be regulated by the convention of commerce between Great Britain and the United States of America, signed at London, the 3rd July, 1815.

Third. Nothing in this Regulation shall be construed to affect the provisions contained in the existing Regulations for defining the duties to which the trade of foreign nations is and shall be subject at the ports and settlements of the British nation in the East Indies.—Reg. II, 1830.

152. All goods imported on foreign bottoms by sea into any port of the presidencies of Fort William in Bengal, Fort St. George, or Bombay, shall be charged only with the same rates of duty as such goods would be charged with if such goods were imported into any of the said ports on British bottoms.—Act VI, 1848, sec. i.

153. All goods exported on foreign bottoms by sea, from any port of the said presidencies, shall be charged only with the same rates of duty as such goods would be charged with if such goods were exported from any of the said ports on British bottoms, anything in any Act of the Council of India contained to the contrary notwithstanding.—Act VI, 1848, sec. ii.

154. Goods and passengers may be conveyed from one part of the territories under the Government of the East India Company to another part thereof, in other than British ships, without any restriction, other than is or shall be equally imposed on British ships, for securing payment of duties of customs or otherwise.—Act V, 1850, sec. i.

155. No duty shall be charged on any goods lawfully carried from any port in the territories subject to the Government of the East-India Company to any other port in the said territories, anything in any Act of the Council of India contained to the contrary notwithstanding.—Act VI, 1848, sec. iii.

156. The provisions of the preceding paragraph shall not apply to goods exported from any part of the territories subject to the Government of the East India Company, to any of the ports in the Straits of Malacca, or to any of the ports in the Tenasserim provinces, or to any of the ports in the province of Arracan, nor to goods imported from any of those ports into any port of the said territories.—Act VII, 1848, sec. i.

157. No drawback shall be allowed on the re-export of goods from any port in the territories subject to the Government of the East-India Company to any other port in the said territories to which the operation of paragraph 155 may extend.—Act VII, 1848, sec. ii.

158. Provided always, that nothing contained in paragraphs 152 to 155 shall apply to the articles of salt or opium.—Act VI, 1848, sec. iv.

159. The port and settlement of Aden in Arabia is a free port and settlement: and no duty of customs is payable there on any ship or other vessel, or on any goods lawfully carried by sea or land to or from the said port and settlement.—Act X, 1850, sec. i.

160. The said port of Aden shall not be taken to be within the provisions of paragraphs 152 to 155.—Act X, 1850, sec. ii.

MILITARY STORES.

161. Arms, ammunition, and military stores (with the exception of arms in the possession of individuals for private use) shall not be exported, or otherwise taken from the territories of the East-India Company, without a license from a public officer or officers for each presidency, to be indicated by the Governments of the respective presidencies, for the purpose of granting such licenses, and a full compliance with all such rules and conditions as may be prescribed for the guidance of such officer or officers in regard to such exports by the aforesaid Governments respectively. And any arms, ammunition, or military stores which any person shall export, or attempt to export, or take as aforesaid, contrary to this Act, shall thereby become forfeited, on the award of the officer or officers authorized as aforesaid to grant licenses, or the collector of customs, and every person offending in the premises contrary to this Act shall be liable, on conviction before a magistrate, to a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XVIII, 1841, sec. i.

162. Any person who shall collect or keep in one place, or within places not exceeding three miles in distance from each other, any quantity of gunpowder exceeding fifty pounds, without a license from such officer as aforesaid, shall be liable, on conviction before a magistrate, to a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees, and such gunpowder shall become forfeited on the award of the officer or officers authorized to grant licenses as aforesaid, or the collector of customs.—Act XVIII, 1841, sec. ii.

163. It shall be lawful for any of the Governments aforesaid, to allow, at any port or ports, the exportation of arms, ammunition, and military stores as aforesaid, without any such license as aforesaid, as they shall deem expedient.—Act XVIII, 1841, sec. iii.

164. Arms manufactured according to the European fashion, whether in Europe, India, or elsewhere, shall not be transported without a pass from Government beyond the limits of the Company's territories; such arms shall accordingly be liable to be confiscated whenever they may be attempted to be transported beyond those limits. Provided, however, that this rule shall not be considered to be applicable to matchlocks and other arms made according to the Indian fashion.—Reg. XI, 1807, sec. iii.

165. The transportation of cannon and of all descriptions of fire-arms or military stores, excepting on account of or under a pass from the British Government, being prohibited, the collector and all officers of the customs are required to seize all such cannon, arms, or military stores, as shall be attempted to be transported in disobedience of this prohibition. The cannon, arms, or stores, so seized, shall be liable to confiscation. This rule, however, is not to be considered as applicable to fowling-pieces, pistols, swords, or any other arms which may be in the possession of individuals evidently for private use.—Reg. IX, 1810, sec. xxxi.

CUSTOM DUTIES IN THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES.

166. Regulation XVI, 1829, Act II, 1838, and so much of Regulation IX, 1810, and of any other Regulation and Act as affects the collection of customs duties, or the manufacture of salt in the North-Western Provinces of the presidency of Bengal, shall be repealed from the 1st day of September, 1843.—Act XIV, 1843, sec. i.

167. From and after the day above mentioned, the following and no other duties of customs shall be leviable upon the import and export of articles into and from the North-Western Provinces of the presidency of Bengal, that is to say:

On the import of salt, of all descriptions, two rupees per maund, and a further duty of one rupee per maund on the transmission thereof to the eastward of Allahabad.

On the import of cotton, uncleaned, four annas per maund; cleaned, eight annas per maund.

On the export of misree, kund, chenee, and all clayed and refined sugar, eight annas per maund; goor, râb, sheerah, and all unclayed and unrefined saccharine produce, three annas per maund.—Act XIV, 1843, sec. ii.; Act XIX, 1854.

168. It shall be lawful for the Government of the said provinces from time to time to make and issue such orders as may be deemed expedient for the collection of the aforesaid duties, in such manner, and upon such line or lines, and at such places on or near such line or lines, as may seem fit, and all such orders shall have the same force as if they formed a part of this Act from the date notified in the Gazette, wherein they shall be published.—Act XIV, 1843, sec. iii.

169. All sugar imported into the said provinces, and all articles imported or exported without payment of the duties imposed by this Act, or in contravention of the orders which may be made and issued under the provisions thereof, and all boats, carriages, and conveyances, and all animals used in transporting the same, shall be liable to be seized and confiscated in the manner hereinafter mentioned.—Act XIV, 1843, sec. vi.

170. All persons evading or attempting to evade the payment of the duties imposed by this Act, and all persons aiding or abetting such attempts or evasions, or in any manner acting in contravention of this Act, or of any order made and issued under the provisions thereof, and all zemindars and other proprietors of land, or their agents, who shall wilfully connive at such attempts or evasions, or aid such acts, shall, on conviction by the magistrate within the limits of whose district the offence may have occurred, be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and on non-payment thereof, by imprisonment not exceeding six months, with or without hard labour. Act XIV, 1843, sec. vii.

171. It shall be lawful for all officers of the customs department to search any carriages and conveyances, and any packages, upon reasonable grounds of suspicion that such carriages, conveyances, or packages, contain any articles made subject to duty, or prohibited to be imported by this Act, and to detain all such articles as may be liable to confiscation under the provisions thereof.—Act XIV, 1843, sec. viii.

172. Whenever any articles or goods shall be seized or detained under the provisions of this Act, the collector or deputy collector of land revenue or customs within whose jurisdiction such seizure or detention shall occur, shall, with all practicable expedition, report the case for the determination of the commissioner of revenue, and it shall be lawful for such commissioner to declare such articles or goods to be confiscated, or to impose such lesser penalty in lieu thereof as to him may seem fit.—Act XIV, 1843, sec. ix.

173. It shall be lawful for all officers in the customs department to apprehend any person upon reasonable grounds of suspicion that such person is liable to punishment under this Act, and to make him over for trial, with all practicable expedition, to the magistrate within whose jurisdiction the offence may occur.—Act XIV, 1843, sec. x.

174. Provided always, that any officer of the customs department who shall, without reasonable grounds of suspicion, search any carriage or conveyance, or any package, shall, upon conviction thereof before the magistrate within whose jurisdiction the offence may have been committed, be punished with fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty rupees, which fine shall be paid over to the party aggrieved, and on non-payment of such fine, with imprisonment not exceeding three months; and provided also, that any officer of the customs department who shall, under colour of this Act, apprehend any person without reasonable grounds of suspicion that such person is liable to punishment under this Act, shall, upon conviction before the magistrate within whose jurisdiction the offence may have been committed, be punished with fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, which fine shall be paid over to the party aggrieved, and on non-payment of such fine, with imprisonment not exceeding six months.—Act XIV, 1843, sec. xi.

175. All magistrates, or persons exercising the powers of magistrate, shall be competent to receive and determine all charges against persons thus made over to them for trial on account of offences against this Act, and all sentences passed in pursuance of this Act shall be open to appeal under such rules as may from time to time be laid down for the cognizance of appeals in ordinary cases.—Act XIV, 1843, sec. xii.

176. All officers of police, and all officers of the Government engaged in the collection of the land revenue, are empowered and required to aid and assist the officers of the customs department in the execution of this Act.—Act XIV, 1843, sec. xiii.

177. Nothing in this Act contained shall apply or be deemed to apply to the Saugor and Nerbudda territories, or to the district of Ajmere.—Act XIV, 1843, sec. xiv.

IMPORTATION OF RUM.

178. If any person after the passing of this Act, lands or attempts to land, or shall introduce by land in any part of the territories subject to the Government of the presidency of Fort William in Bengal, any rum or rum shrub, which is the produce of any foreign country, or of any British possession into which foreign sugar or rum can be legally imported, such rum or rum shrub shall be seized by the collector of the customs, or by any other officer authorized to seize and detain contraband goods, and shall be brought to confiscation according to the rules in force for confiscating such goods, unless the district in which such rum or rum shrub is landed, or in which an attempt has been made to land such rum or rum shrub, be a district in which the Governor-General of India in Council has authorised the importation of such rum or rum shrub, and it shall be lawful for the Governor-General of India in Council to authorise the importation of such rum and rum shrub into any district of the territories aforesaid by an order in the official Gazette.—Act VI, 1841, sec. i.

179. If any owner of rum or rum shrub, the produce of the said territories, or the duly authorized agent of such owner, be desirous to obtain a certificate of origin from the collector or assistant-collector of the land or customs revenue of any district within the said territories, or from any other officer appointed by the Governor-General of India in Council to give such certificates, such owner or agent shall, in presence of the officer from whom he desires to obtain such certificate, make and subscribe a declaration in the form contained in the schedule hereunto annexed marked (A) and to the said declaration shall be appended a certificate to its verity from any Government officer who may be attached to the distillery where such rum or rum shrub is declared to have been manufactured, in the form prescribed in the said schedule (A).—Act VI, 1841, sec. ii.

180. If the district be one into which the Governor-General of India in Council has not, by any order, authorized the importation of foreign rum, or of rum the produce of any British possession into which foreign rum can be legally imported, then the officer before whom such a declaration as is aforesaid shall have been made, shall grant under his hand and seal to the declarant, a certificate in the form contained in the schedule hereunto annexed marked (B).—Act. VI, 1841, sec. iii.—Act XIX, 1854.

181. Every person who intends to ship rum or rum shrub from any place within the said territories for any part of the United Kingdom, shall be entitled to produce to the collector of customs at that place, or to any other officer who may have been appointed by the Governments of the respective presidencies to act on that behalf in place of the collector of customs, a certificate, such as is above described, and also, in the presence of the officer to whom he has so produced such certificate, to make and subscribe a declaration in the form contained in the schedule hereunto annexed marked (C).—Act. VI, 1841, sec. iv.

182. The officer to whom such a certificate shall have been so produced, and before whom a declaration in the last-mentioned form shall have been so made and subscribed shall, unless he see cause to deem such declaration fradulent and untrue, grant to the person who has made the last-mentioned declaration a certificate in the form contained in the schedule hereunto annexed, marked (D).—Act VI, 1841, sec. v.

183. The owner of rum or rum shrub intended for exportation under this Act, or the duly authorized agent of such owner, shall not be entitled to any of the certificates described in this Act unless such rum or rum shrub shall be the produce of a distillery worked according to law in the European method, under license from the board or other authority vested with the management of the revenue derived from the abkarry or tax on spirits.—Act VI, 1841, sec. vi.

184. The rum and rum shrub manufactured for exportation to the United Kingdom under this Act, at any licensed distillery, shall be manufactured pure without admixture of spirits made from rice, grains, or any other substance or substances not being the produce of the sugar cane, or of the date or palm tree, and shall be so declared and verified at the time of application for a certificate of origin according to the form of Schedule (A).—Act VI, 1841, sec. vii.

185. If any rum or rum shrub that may be brought to any custom-house for exportation under this Act shall be found to be adulterated or mixed contrary to the above prohibition, the same, with the casks or materials in which it is contained, shall be seized and confiscated, and the party or parties upon whose declaration certificate of manufacture free from adulteration or mixture may have been granted for the admission of such rum or rum shrub to the privilege of exportation under this Act, as well as the party or parties who may have verified such declaration, shall be proceeded against for the false and fraudulent declaration as hereinunder prescribed.—Act VI, 1841, sec. viii.

186. Any person who shall, in making any declaration under the authority of this Act, knowingly affirm an untruth, shall, on conviction thereof before such court as would be competent to try such person for perjury, be punished as in cases of perjury; and every person procuring another person to affirm such untruth shall be liable to be punished as in cases of subornation of perjury, and any officer of Government subscribing an attestation to the verity of such declaration, knowing the same to be untrue, shall be subject to a like penalty as the false declarant, besides dismissal from the employment of Government.—Act VI, 1841, sec. ix.

WAREHOUSING PORTS.

188. It shall be lawful for the Governor, or Governor in Council of any presidency, to declare any port within the territories of such presidency a warehousing port.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. i.

189. It shall be lawful for any person who imports goods into any such warehousing port to lodge such goods in any public warehouse, or in any private warehouse, licensed in the manner hereinafter described.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. ii.

190. Applications shall be made for the admission of such goods into such warehouses as aforesaid in the Form (A.) attached to this Act, and the said form shall be signed by the importer, owner, or consignee; and no goods shall be lodged in any such warehouse until they shall have been assessed for customs duty, according to the rules in force at the place of importation: and the keeper of every such warehouse shall be answerable for the weight or gauge reported by the custom-house officers who shall have assessed the said goods, deducting the wastage hereinafter allowed.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. iii.

191. When goods shall be passed by tale or by package, every omission or misdescription, tending to injure the revenue, shall be an offence punishable with fine, not exceeding ten times the greatest amount of duty which could have been lost to the Government in consequence of such omission or misdescription; and if goods shall have been overstated in quantity or value, the error may be rectified prior to the lodging of the said goods in such warehouse as aforesaid, but not after the said goods have been so lodged.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. iv.

192. No packages of goods shall be admitted into any public or licensed warehouse unless numbered and marked, in plain and legible characters, with the initials of the owner, importer, or consignee, and with a description of goods contained therein.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. v.

193. Upon goods warehoused under the provisions of this Act, when the import duty chargeable shall exceed the sum of one hundred rupees, the importer or consignee shall be allowed to execute a bond for the amount of duty chargeable in the form hereunto annexed, marked (B.); and when such bond shall have been executed, the goods shall be allowed to remain in warehouse for a period not exceeding fifteen months, without being liable to the demand of import duty thereon. And the bond to be taken under this rule shall be for twice the amount of import duty assessed on the goods, and shall stipulate for interest, to be payable from the date of the demand of any sum due on account of the goods, at such rate, not exceeding six per cent., as shall be fixed by the Board or other controlling authority of customs; and the party executing the same shall be bound thereby for the payment of all duties and charges that shall be claimable on account of the goods, and of any penalties that may be incurred for violation of the custom laws in respect to the same.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. vi.

194. Provided always, that if any owner, importer, or consignee shall omit to pay any duty or penalty that may fall due on account of goods warehoused under this Act, it shall be lawful for the collector of customs, at his option, either to proceed upon the bond, or to cause such portion of the goods warehoused on account of which the duty or penalty may be demanded, as to him may seem fit, to be detained, in satisfaction thereof; and if the demand be not discharged within ten days from the date of such detention (due notice thereof being given to the importer, owner, or consignee), the goods so detained shall be liable to be sold in satisfaction of the demand; and the proceeds of any sale so made of goods detained shall be written off upon the bond in discharge thereof to the amount received, less the charges of the sale; and if there be any surplus obtained from such sale beyond the amount demanded, such surplus shall be paid over to the owner or consignee of the goods; and no transfer or assignment of the goods shall prevent the collector from proceeding against the goods, in the manner above provided, for any demand of customs duties or penalty claimed thereon.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. vii.

195. Provided, that if at the end of fifteen months the owner or consignee of goods shall desire to keep them in warehouse for a further period, the Board or other controlling authority of customs shall be competent to permit him so to keep them for a like further period, not exceeding fifteen months, on the bonds being renewed, by the parties applying for the same.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. viii.

196. When a vessel, after having cleared from the port, shall return, and the owners, agents, or shippers of the cargo of such vessel, or any part thereof, shall desire to land the same for re-export, such goods shall be admitted to warehouse, and being so declared and registered, re-export may be made thereof under the previous settlement for duty, and no bond shall be taken on account of duties for such relanded goods, unless the goods should be liable to duty on being passed through the custom-house for importation.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. ix; Act VI, 1848, sec. ii.

197. Upon the re-exportation by sea of goods imported and warehoused under bond for the duty, as provided in this Act, within the period during which such goods are by this Act permitted to continue in warehouse, and upon payment of all reserved duty which may be due on account of such goods, and of any charges or penalties that have been incurred on account of the goods the bond executed at the time of lodging the goods in warehouse shall be deemed to have been discharged and be cancelled accordingly.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. x.

198. If any goods lodged in warehouse, in the manner aforesaid, shall be removed or taken from the warehouse otherwise than for exportation by sea, or if the goods be not cleared from the warehouse and exported at the expiration of the time during which such goods are permitted by this Act to remain in warehouse, the collector of customs shall demand the full amount of import duty chargeable thereon, and any charges or penalties that may have been incurred. And if the amount so claimed be not paid within ten days from the date of the demand, the collector of customs shall be entitled to realize the same either by putting the bond in suit, or, at his option, by causing the goods, or any sufficient portion thereof, to be sold in satisfaction of the demand.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xi.

199. Whenever any goods warehoused and bonded as aforesaid shall be removed from any public or licensed warehouse, the collector of customs shall cause such removal to be noted on the back of the bond; and every note so made shall specify the quantity and description of goods removed, the purposes for which they have been removed, the date of removal, and the name of the person removing them, and the number and date of the export pass under which they have been taken away, if removed for exportation by sea; and of the import pass or order, if removed for importation, and the amount of duty paid.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xii.

200. A register shall be kept of all bonds entered into for customs duties on goods warehoused as aforesaid, and entry shall be made in the said register of all particulars prescribed in the preceding paragraph as to be noted on the bond; and when the register shall show that the entire quantity of the goods covered by any bond has been withdrawn from warehouse, either through importation and the payment of duties, or through re-exportation by sea and payment of the reserved duties upon such re-export, it shall then be competent to, and be the duty of, the collector of customs to cancel the bond as discharged in full, and to deliver it so cancelled to the parties who shall have executed, or who shall be authorized to receive the same.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xiii.

201. The warehouses of the custom-house, together with such other buildings as shall be directed by the Governor in Council, or Governor of the presidency or settlement, shall be public warehouses for the reception of the goods under the provisions of this Act. And every public warehouse shall be under the lock and key of the person whom the Governor, or Governor in Council of the presidency, shall appoint to be keeper of such warehouse; and such keeper shall be responsible for all duties connected with the charge of goods, their reception into, and delivery from, the warehouses.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xiv.

202. The Board or other controlling authority of customs shall determine what goods shall be admitted into every public warehouse, in what manner, and on what terms; and shall, from time to time, fix rates of hire for every public warehouse, or for the custody of goods therein, and a table of the rates so fixed shall be placed in a conspicuous part of every such warehouse.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xv.

203. The owners or consignees of goods lodged in a public or licensed warehouse under this Act, or their agents, shall have access to their goods at any time, within the hours of business, in the presence of a custom-house officer, who shall be deputed to accompany them, upon their making application in writing to the collector of customs, or to the warehouse-keeper for the purpose.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xvi.

204. The expenses of carriage, packing, and stowage of goods, on their reception into or removal from a warehouse, shall, if paid by the collector or warehouse-keeper, be chargeable on the goods, and be defrayed by the owners or consignees, in like manner as the customs duties before the goods are removed. And if the goods be lodged in a public warehouse, the owners or consignees shall further pay monthly the rent and warehouse dues on receiving a bill or written demand from the collector or warehouse-keeper for the same; and if the bill for rent or warehouse dues be not discharged within ten days from the date of presentation, the collector of customs shall have power (any private transfer or assignment of the goods notwithstanding) to cause to be sold by public auction such sufficient portion of the goods as he may select in liquidation of his demand. And the owners and consignees of goods shall not be entitled to claim from the collector of customs, or warehouse-keeper, any compensation for any loss that may occur while the goods are passed into or out of the warehouse, or while they remain therein, unless such loss or injury shall be proved to have been occasioned by the wilful act or neglect of the warehouse-keeper or his officers, or of the officers of the customs.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xvii.

205. Allowance shall be made for the wastage of goods deposited in warehouses according to the following table, as the rate of wastage for one year, and the import duty shall be settled on the quantities registered at the time of importation, wastage at these rates notwithstanding:

206. TABLE of WASTAGE to be allowed upon Goods when applied to be removed, either from Public or Private Licensed Warehouses.

207. The import duty on wine and spirits in casks shall be settled on the quantities registered at the time of importation, without any deduction whatsoever: provided always, that the keeper of every warehouse shall, in accounting with the customs department for the article so warehoused, be allowed ullage on such wine and spirits at the rate of ten per cent. for one year, according to the time for which such wine and spirits shall have been lodged.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xviii.; Act XIII, 1841.

208. The Board or other controlling authority of customs shall have power to license warehouses belonging to private persons for the reception of goods with duty bonded under the rules of this Act, in like manner as prescribed for public warehouses; and every license so granted to a private warehouse shall be liable to be revoked at pleasure by the Board or other controlling authority of customs, unless otherwise specifically stipulated in the license.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xix.

209. Applications for licenses for private warehouses shall be drawn up in the form marked (C.) annexed to this Act, and shall specify the particulars therein stated, and the situation of the warehouses, and their distances respectively from the custom-house in English yards.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xx.

210. The collector of customs, or other warehouse-keeper, shall have access for himself, or for any officer he may depute for the purpose, to any private warehouse licensed as above. And if the proprietor thereof shall not open the same when required, or shall refuse to admit the collector or warehouse-keeper, or the officer of either, upon demand made at any time within the hours of business at the port, the proprietor of the warehouse shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, and further to have the license of the warehouse cancelled and withdrawn, and all bonds executed for duty chargeable upon goods therein deposited shall become due and be put in suit for the levy of the duty and other demands of customs, after seven days shall have passed from the date when the collector of customs or warehouse-keeper shall give notice of any license being withdrawn.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xxi.

211. If goods lodged in a private warehouse shall be found to be deficient at the time of delivery therefrom beyond the allowance for wastage prescribed in the table in paragraph 205, the owner or consignee, or other party who may have lodged the goods in the warehouse, shall, unless the deficiency be accounted for to the satisfaction of the collector of customs, forfeit to Government a sum to equal to ten times the duty chargeable on the quantity of goods deficient; and if goods be found to exceed the registered quantity, such excess, unless similarly accounted for, shall be charged with ten times the ordinary duty thereon; and when any penalty shall be incurred under this rule, the goods shall not be removed until the same is paid.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xxii.

212. The collector of customs shall have authority at any time to issue his warrant or written order, and to cause any goods or packages lodged in a public or private warehouse to be opened and weighed, or otherwise examined as he may direct. And after goods shall have been so opened or examined, he shall cause the same to be sealed or marked in such manner as to him may seem fit; and when goods shall have been so sealed or marked (after examination), they shall not be again opened without permission from the Board, or other controlling authority of customs, except when the proprietor or consignee shall apply to have them opened, and in every such case the packages shall be again sealed or marked as before.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xxiii.

213. When goods shall be received into warehouse, or shall be removed therefrom, the packages shall be stamped with a conspicuous seal or stamp, containing the words—"Warehoused and Duty Bonded," or, "Delivered for Exportation, or "Removed for Importation," accordingly as the goods may be received or removed for one or other purpose; and any person who shall remove or efface a stamp or seal affixed by an officer of customs, or who shall change the outer cover of any package so marked, or change the contents thereof while goods are in warehouse, without giving notice and obtaining permission of the collector of customs, shall for every such offence forfeit the sum of five hundred rupees upon conviction before a magistrate or justice of the peace of the place. Provided, however, that the owners and consignees of goods shall be at liberty to take out samples of their goods of such limited quantity as shall be deemed by the collector of customs reasonable and proper.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xxiv.

214. No goods shall be removed from any warehouse except under application to the collector of customs for the goods to be passed for export or for importation, in like manner as for other goods passed through the custom-house, or for removal to another warehouse, as prescribed in paragraph 217.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xxv.

215. If any owner or consignee of goods shall in any way break a package for removal of any part of the goods, the entire duty shall be levied for all the goods contained therein.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xxvi.

216. Applications to remove goods from warehouse shall be made in the form marked (D.) hereunto annexed, and twenty-four hours' notice shall ordinarily be given to the collector of customs or warehouse-keeper of the intention to remove goods.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xxvii.

217. Owners or consignees of goods warehoused and bonded for duty under this Act may remove the same from one public or licensed warehouse to any other: and when they shall desire so to remove goods, they shall make application in the form marked (E.) hereunto annexed, furnishing the information specified, and filling up the columns left blank in the said form, with all the particulars therein contained.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xxviii.

218. If goods warehoused and bonded for duty shall be destroyed by fire or other accident, no duty shall be chargeable thereon, provided that if they be destroyed in a private warehouse, notice thereof be given to the collector of customs or warehouse-keeper within forty-eight hours of the discovery of the accident; and if goods, when lodged in warehouse, shall receive damage, they shall be assessed for duty according to their actual value, and bond for the same executed for the unexpired term of warehousing.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xxix.

219. Whenever any person shall be charged with having committed any act or neglect for which he is liable to penalty under this Act, the collector of customs at the port shall be competent to investigate the case, and to adjudge the penalty or to dismiss the complaint, as to him may seem fit: provided, however, that if the collector shall adjudge any penalty to be incurred, such judgment shall not be conclusive until the case shall have been reported to the Board or other superior authority of customs, and the award shall have been confirmed by that authority. And it is further enacted, that the Board or other controlling authority of customs shall have the power of mitigating any penalty that may be incurred on account of warehoused goods, to the extent of reducing the same to a levy of double duty.—Act XXV, 1836, sec. xxx.

DUTIES ON DHONIES IN THE HOOGHLY.

221. The duty heretofore levied on dhonies piloted into the river Hooghly by natives, not in the service of Government, is hereby abolished; and every dhony exporting from the river Hooghly without taking a pilot in the service of Government, shall pay, as a consideration for the benefit derived from the Company's buoys, a duty at the rate of one rupee for every hundred maunds of the burthen of the vessel; with this exception, that a dhony of a burthen which shall exceed six thousand maunds shall pay only sixty rupees, this being the highest duty to which any dhony shall be subject whatever may be her burthen.—Reg. VII, 1801, sec. ii.

222. The duty shall be collected by the marine paymaster. Upon any dhony being about to sail, the master of the vessel shall make application to the master attendant for a certificate of the amount of the duty payable on account of the vessel, which certificate the master attendant is required to grant in the following form:

"This is to certify, that the duty payable on the dhony , No. , of the burthen of maunds, master, in pursuance of section II, Regulation VII, 1801, is rupees .

Calcutta, "A. B. this day of " Master Attendant,
180-

"To C. D. Marine Paymaster."

The certificate must be delivered to the marine paymaster; who, upon the duty being paid, is required to furnish the master of the dhony with a certificate in the following form:

"This is to certify, that the duty on the dhony , No. , master, has this day been paid.

"The of 180- "C. D.
" Marine Paymaster.

"To E. F. Collector of the Government Customs at Calcutta."

This certificate shall be delivered to the collector of the Government customs; and until the certificate shall have been so delivered, the collector shall not grant a port clearance for the dhony. —Reg. VII, 1801, sec. iii.

223. Should any dhony depart, or attempt to depart, without paying the duty, the master attendant shall stop the dhony, and shall report the circumstances of the case to the Marine Board; which board, upon being satisfied that there was an intention on the part of the master of the dhony to evade the payment of the duty, shall direct double duty to be levied on the dhony; and until such double duty shall be paid, the dhony shall not be permitted to depart from the port. The additional duty shall be carried to the account of the pension fund of the pilots.—Reg. VII, 1801, sec. iv.

224. All dhonies trading to or from the port of Calcutta shall be numbered, and the master attendant shall cause the numbers to be painted on the sterns of the vessels.—Reg. VII, 1801, sec. v.

225. A register shall be kept at the office of the master attendant of all dhonies trading to or from the port of Calcutta, in the following form:

Register of Dhonies trading to or from the Port of Calcutta.

| Names. | Nos. | Burthen in Maunds. | Names of the Masters or Serangs. | To what Port the Dhonies belong. |

—Reg. VII, 1801, sec. vi.

226. Whereas the Governor-General in Council has been pleased, by an Order in Council, dated the 16th July, 1801, and published in the Calcutta Gazette, to direct that a magazine be erected at Atchepore, for the reception of the gunpowder of ships entering or lying in the river Hooghly, it is hereby enacted, for the purpose of defraying the expense of the erection of the said magazine, and of the establishment of officers to be attached thereto, that every vessel importing at the port of Calcutta, and every vessel exporting therefrom (dhonies and Her Majesty's ships excepted), shall pay a duty of one anna per ton for every ton of the tonnage of the vessel, to be calculated according to its measurement. The duty shall be collected by the marine paymaster when he levies the money for the pilotage of the vessels.—Reg. VII, 1801, sec. vii, cl. 1.

227. In case the commander or owner of any vessel shall refuse to pay the duty established in the preceding paragraph, the collector of the Government customs shall not grant a port clearance to such vessel until the amount of the duty shall have been discharged.—Reg. VII, 1801, sec. vii, cl. 2.

REGISTRY OF SHIPS.

228. Whereas by a statute passed in the third and fourth years of her Majesty Queen Victoria, entitled "An Act to regulate the Trade of Ships built and trading within the Limits of the East India Company's Charter," it is enacted, "that it shall be lawful for the Governor-General of India in Council, by proclamation, to declare that all ships or vessels built or to be built within the limits of the Charter of the East-India Company, being owned by her Majesty's subjects for whom the said Governor-General in Council has power to legislate, and belonging, under the Regulations hereinafter provided for, to any ports in the territories under the Government of the said Company, shall be deemed to be British ships for all the purposes of trade within the said limits, including the Cape of Good Hope, and the territories and dependencies thereof; provided that upon such declaration being made, the said Governor-General in Council shall, and the said Governor-General in Council is hereby accordingly empowered to make Regulations, to be enforced by suitable penalties, concerning the registering, licensing, and ascertaining the admeasurement of the tonnage and burden, and generally for the trading within the limits aforesaid of such ships or vessels." And whereas it is further enacted in the same statute as follows, that is to say, "And whereas it may be expedient to admit to similar privileges and advantages any ships or vessels belonging to native princes or states in subordinate alliance with, or having subsidiary treaties with the East-India Company, or owned by subjects of any such princes or states, be it therefore enacted, that the Governor-General of India in Council may by such Regulations as aforesaid, such Regulations being subject as aforesaid, admit to the privileges and advantages of British ships for the purposes of trade within the limits of the Charter of the said Company, including the Cape of Good Hope, and the territories and dependencies thereof, or to any of such privileges and advantages, any ships or vessels belonging to such princes or states, or any of them, or owned by subjects of any such princes or states; but any such Regulations shall provide for the granting to such ships or vessels fit and convenient licenses or passes, and generally for the trading within the limits aforesaid of such ships or vessels." And whereas, in pursuance of such enactments, it is expedient to frame such Regulations as are mentioned therein, the compliance with which shall be required in order that ships or vessels may be deemed British ships, or be admitted to the privileges and advantages of British ships under such proclamation as aforesaid;

It is hereby enacted, that no ship or vessel shall be deemed a British ship under such proclamation as aforesaid (except as regards ships or vessels registered before the passing of this Act, or having a pass at the time of passing thereof) unless the person or persons claiming property therein shall have caused the same to have been registered at some one of the ports hereinafter mentioned within the territories of the East-India Company, and shall have obtained a certificate of such registry from the person or persons authorized to make such registry and grant such certificate as hereinafter directed; the form of which certificate shall be as follows:

"This is to certify, that in pursuance of the Act No. X. of 1841, of the Governor-General of India in Council (here insert the names and occupation and residence of subscribing owners), having made and subscribed the declaration required by the said Act and having declared that (he or they) together with (names, occupations, and residence of non-subscribing owners) (is or are) sole owner or owners, in the proportions specified on the back hereof, of the ship or vessel called the (ship's name), of (place at which the vessel shall be registered), which is of the burthen of (number of tons), and whereof (master's name) is master, and that the said ship or vessel was (when and where built), and (name and employment of surveying officer) having certified to us that the said ship or vessel has (number) decks and (number) masts, that (here insert the measurement as ascertained by the rules hereinafter mentioned), that she is (how rigged) rigged with a (standing or running) bowsprit, is (description of stern) sterned, (carvel or clincher) built, has (whether any or no) gallery, and (kind of head, if any) head: and the said subscribing owners having consented and agreed to the above description, the said ship or vessel called the (name) has been duly registered at the port of (name of port).

"Certified under our hands at the Custom-house, in the said port of (name of port), this (date) day of (name of month), in the year (words at length).

"(Signed) , Collector or Registrar of Shipping."

And on the back of such certificate of registry, there shall be an account of the parts or shares held by each of the owners mentioned and described in such certificate in the form and manner following:

| Names of several Owners within mentioned. | Number of shares held by each Owner. |
|---|---|
| Name .. .. .. .. .. .. | Thirty-two. |
| Name .. .. .. .. .. .. | Sixteen. |
| Name .. .. .. .. .. .. | Eight. |

"&c. &c.

(Signed) , Collector.

—Act X, 1841, sec. i.

229. The ports at which registration shall be made, shall be the ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Singapore, and such other places subordinate to the local Governments of India, as such Governments respectively may, from time to time, declare to be registering ports under this Act. Provided that ships or vessels built at any place other than any of such ports shall be allowed to make their first voyage to any of such ports, being the ports at which it is intended they shall be registered under a certificate to be granted by the principal British officer at the place where the ship is built, or if there be no British officer in authority there, then by three merchants of such place, which certificate shall contain all the particulars with regard to the ownership and description of the ships or vessels contained in a certificate of registry, and shall specify the ports at which it is intended that they shall respectively be registered, and which certificate shall have all the effect of a certificate of registry under this Act, during the first voyage from the place of building to the ports at which the ships or vessels respectively shall be afterwards registered. Provided that such ships or vessels so proceeding on their first voyage as aforesaid shall be deemed British ships only whilst duly prosecuting such first voyage for the purpose of registry, and if they be not registered within a reasonable time after their arrival at the port of registry, the owner or owners, or master or other person having or taking the command or charge of such ship or vessel, shall be liable, on information in any court of her Majesty or the East-India Company by the advocates-general of the respective presidencies, to a penalty not exceeding five thousand rupees.—Act X, 1841, sec. ii.

230. The persons authorised to make such registry, and to grant such certificates as aforesaid, shall be the persons now authorised to make registry of ships or vessels under the Statute 3 & 4

Wm. IV. chap. 55, and such other or different persons as the local Governments may, from time to time, appoint for the ports under their respective presidencies.—Act X, 1841, sec. iii.

231. At every port where registry shall be made in pursuance of this Act a book shall be kept by the registering officer, in which all the particulars contained in the form of the certificate of the registry hereinbefore directed to be used shall be duly entered; and every registry shall be numbered in progression, beginning such progressive numeration at the commencement of each and every year. And such registering officer shall forthwith, or within one month at the furthest, send to the Government of the presidency to which he is subordinate a true and exact copy, together with the number of every certificate which shall be by him so granted.—Act X, 1841, sec. iv.

232. No registry shall henceforth be made or certificate be granted, until the following declaration be made or subscribed before the registering officer, by the owner or major part of the owners of the ship or vessel required to be registered.

I, A. B. of (place of residence and occupation) do truly declare that the ship or vessel (name) of (port or place) whereof (master's name) is at present master, being (kind of build, burthen, et cetera, as described in the certificate of the surveying officer) was (when and where) built, and that I, the said (A. B.), and the other owners (names and occupations, if any, and where they respectively reside) am (or are) sole owner (or owners) of the said vessel, and that no other person or persons whatever hath or have any right, title, interest, share, or property therein or thereto; and that I, the said (A. B.), and the said other owners, if any, am (or are) truly and bona fide a subject (or subjects) of her Majesty for whom the Governor-General of India in Council has power to legislate, and that no person, not being a subject as aforesaid, directly or indirectly, hath any share or part interest in the said ship or vessel. Provided, that if the registering officer shall see occasion to doubt the truth of any of the facts contained in the above declaration, he shall not deem such declaration to be conclusive, but may refuse the registry or certificate, and his discretion exercised in this behalf shall be subject only to an appeal to the local Government to which he is subordinate.—Act. X, 1841, sec. v.

233. In case the required number of joint owners of any ship or vessel shall not personally attend to make and subscribe the declaration hereinbefore directed to be made and subscribed, then and in such case such owner or owners as shall personally attend and make and subscribe the declarations aforesaid, shall further declare that the part owner or part owners of such ship or vessel, then absent, is or are not resident within twenty miles of such port or place, and hath or have not to the best of his or their knowledge or belief, wilfully absented himself or themselves in order to avoid making the declaration hereinbefore directed to be made and subscribed, or is or are prevented by illness from attending to make and subscribe the said declaration.—Act X, 1841, sec. vi.

234. And in order to enable the registering officer to grant a certificate truly and accurately describing every ship or vessel to be registered in pursuance of this Act, and also to enable all other officers of customs, on due examination, to discover whether any such ship or vessel is the same with that for which a certificate is alleged to have been granted, it is hereby enacted, that previous to the registering or granting of any certificate of registry as aforesaid, some one or more person or persons appointed by the local Governments respectively, taking to his or their assistance, if he or they shall judge it necessary, one or more person or persons skilled in the building and admeasurement of ships shall go on board of every such ship or vessel that is to be registered, and shall strictly and accurately examine and admeasure every such ship or vessel as to all and every particular contained in the form of the certificate hereinbefore directed, in the presence of the master, or of any other person who shall be appointed for that purpose on the part of the owner or owners, or in his or their absence by the said master, and shall deliver a true and just account in writing of all such particulars of the build, description, and admeasurement of every such ship or vessel as are specified in the form of the certificate above recited to the officer authorised to make such registry and grant such certificate of registry as aforesaid; and the said master or other person attending on the part of the owner or owners is hereby required to sign his name also to the certificate of such surveying or examining officer, in testimony of the truth thereof, provided such master or other person shall consent and agree to the several particulars set forth and described therein.—Act X, 1841, sec. vii.

235. From and after the commencement of this Act, the tonnage of every ship or vessel required by law to be registered, shall, previous to her being registered, be measured and ascertained while her hold is clear, and according to the following rule; (that is to say) divide the length of the upper deck between the after part of the stem and the forepart of the stern post into six equal parts. Depths: at the foremost, the middle, and the aftermost of those points of division, measure in feet and decimal parts of a foot the depths from the underside of the upper deck to the ceiling at the limber strake. In the case of a break in the upper deck, the depths are to be measured from a line stretched in a continuation of the deck. Breadths: divide each of those three depths into five equal parts and measure the inside breadths at the following points, videlicet, at one-fifth and at four fifths from the upper deck of the foremost and aftermost depths, and at two-fifths and four-fifths from the upper deck of the midship depth. Length: at half the midship depth measure the length of the vessel from the afterpart of the stem to the forepart of the sternpost, then to twice the midship depth add the foremost and the aftermost depths for the sum of the depths; add together the upper and lower breadths at the foremost division, three times the upper breadth and the lower breadth at the midship division, and the upper and twice the lower breadth at the after division, for the sum of the breadths; then multiply the sum of the depths by the sum of the breadths, and this product by the length, and divide the final product by three thousand five hundred, which will give the number of tons for register. If the vessel have a poop or half-deck, or a break in the upper deck, measure the inside mean length, breadth, and height of such part thereof as may be included within the bulk head; multiply these three measurements together and dividing the product by 92·4 the quotient will be the number of tons to be added to the result as above found. In order to ascertain the tonnage of open vessels, the depths are to be measured from the upper edge of the upper strake.—Act X, 1841, sec. viii.

236. In each of the several rules hereinbefore prescribed, when applied for the purpose of ascertaining the tonnage of any ship or vessel propelled by steam, the tonnage due to the cubical contents of the engine-room shall be deducted from the total tonnage of the vessel as determined by either of the rules aforesaid, and the remainder shall be deemed the true register tonnage of the said ship or vessel. The tonnage due to the cubical contents of the engine-room shall be determined in the following manner; that is to say, measure the inside length of the engine-room in feet and decimal parts of a foot from the foremost to the aftermost bulk-head, then multiply the said length by the depth of the ship or vessel at the midship division as aforesaid, and the product by the inside breadth at the same division at two fifths of the depth from the deck taken as aforesaid, and divide the last product by 92·4, and the quotient shall be deemed the tonnage due to the cubical contents of the engine room.—Act X, 1841, sec. ix.

235. The tonnage due to the cubical contents of the engine-room, and also the length of the engine-room, shall be set forth in the certificate of registry as part of the description of the ship or vessel, and any alteration of such tonnage due to the cubical contents of the engine-room, or of such length of the engine-room, after registry, shall be deemed to be an alteration requiring registry de novo, within the meaning of the said Act for the registering of ships or vessels.—Act X, 1841, sec. x.

238 For the purpose of ascertaining the tonnage of all such ships, whether belonging to the United Kingdom or otherwise, as there shall be occasion to measure while their cargoes are on board, the following rule shall be observed and is hereby established: (that is to say) measure first, the length on the upper deck between the afterpart of the stem and the forepart of the stern-post; secondly, the inside breadth on the underside of the upper deck at the middle point of the length; and, thirdly, the depth from the underside of the upper deck down the pump-well to the skin, multiply these three dimensions together, and divide the product by one hundred and thirty, and the quotient will be the amount of the register tonnage of such ships.—Act X, 1841, sec. xi.

239. The true amount of the register tonnage of every merchant ship or vessel belonging to the United Kingdom, to be ascertained according to the rule by this Act established in respect of such ships, shall be deeply carved or cut in figures of at least three inches in length, on the main beam of every such ship or vessel, prior to her being registered.—Act X, 1841, sec. xii.

240. Whenever the tonnage of any ship or vessel shall have been ascertained according to the rules herein prescribed, such account of tonnage shall ever after be deemed the tonnage of such ship or vessel, and shall be repeated in every subsequent registry of such ship or vessel, unless it shall happen that any alteration has been made in the form and burthen of such ship or vessel, or it shall be discovered that the tonnage of such ship or vessel had been erroneously taken and computed.—Act X, 1841, sec. xiv.

241. If such certificate as aforesaid shall be sold, lent, or otherwise disposed of to any person or persons whatever than those for whose use it is granted, or shall be made use of for the service of any other ship or vessel than the ship or vessel for which it is granted, such certificate shall thenceforth be utterly void, and the master or any owner of the ship or vessel who shall be proved to have sold, lent, or disposed of such certificate, or made use of the same as aforesaid, or shall have concurred in or been privy to the committing any such offence, shall be liable, upon conviction by information as aforesaid, to a penalty not exceeding ten thousand rupees. And in case such ship or vessel shall be lost or taken by the enemy, burnt or broken up, or otherwise prevented from returning to the port at which she is registered, or shall on any account have lost and forfeited the privileges of a British ship, or shall have been seized and legally condemned for illicit trading, or shall have been taken in execution for debt and sold by due process of law, or shall have been sold to the Crown or the East-India Company, or shall under any circumstances have been registered de novo, the certificate, if preserved, shall be delivered up, within one month after the arrival of the master in any port or place in the territories of the East-India Company, to the registering officer at such port; in default whereof, the master or any of the owners shall be liable, on conviction by information as aforesaid, to a penalty not exceeding five thousand rupees. And if any person not being such subject as aforesaid shall purchase or otherwise become entitled to the whole or to any part or share of or any interest in such ship or vessel, and the same shall be within the limits of any port of the territories of the East-India Company, then and in such case the certificate of registry shall, within seven days after such purchase or transfer of property in such ship or vessel, be delivered up to the registering officer at such port; and if such ship or vessel shall be in any place not within the territories of the East-India Company, when such purchase or transfer of property shall take place, then the certificate shall be delivered up within fourteen days after the arrival of such ship or vessel, or of the master thereof, in any port of the territories of the East-India Company, to the registering officer at such port; in default whereof, the master or any of the owners shall be liable, on conviction before any justice of the peace, in a penalty not exceeding five thousand rupees, recoverable in manner provided by Act No II. of 1839.—("MAGISTRATES," paragraphs 54 to 57).

242. When and so often as the master of any ship or vessel registered in manner hereinbefore directed shall be changed, the master or owner of such ship or vessel shall deliver to the person or persons hereinbefore authorised to make such registry and grant such certificates of registry at the port where such change shall take place, if it be a port within the territories of the East-India Company, the certificate of registry belonging to such ship or vessel, who shall thereupon indorse and subscribe a memorandum of such change, and shall forthwith give notice of the same to the proper officer of the port or place where such ship or vessel was last registered pursuant to this Act, who shall likewise make a memorandum of the same in the book of registers which is hereby directed and required to be kept, and shall forthwith give notice thereof in like manner as of the original entry. But if the change do not take place in any port within the territories of the East-India Company, then such delivery, memorandum and indorsement shall be made and notice given at the first port within the territories of the East-India Company at which the new master shall arrive after such change. In default of which delivery of the certificate, such new master or any of the owners shall be liable, on conviction before a justice of the peace, to a penalty not exceeding five thousand rupees, recoverable as aforesaid.—Act X, 1841, sec. xvi.

243. It shall not be lawful for any owner or owners of any ship or vessel, to give any name to such ship or vessel other than that by which she was first registered in pursuance of this Act, and that the owner or owners of all and every ship or vessel which shall be so registered, shall, before such ship or vessel, after such registry, shall begin to take in any cargo, paint or cause to be painted, in white or yellow letters of a length of not less than four inches, upon a black ground, on some conspicuous part of the stern, the name by which such ship or vessel shall have been registered pursuant to this Act, and the port to which she belongs, in a distinct and legible manner, and shall so keep and preserve the same; and if such owner or owners, or master or other person having or taking the charge or command of such ship or vessel, shall permit such ship or vessel to begin to take in cargo before the name of such ship or vessel has been so painted as aforesaid, or shall wilfully alter, erase, obliterate, or in anywise hide or conceal, or cause or procure or permit the same to be done, or shall in any written or printed paper, or other document, describe such ship or vessel by any name other than that by which she was first registered pursuant to this Act, or shall verbally describe or cause or procure or permit such ship or vessel to be described by any other name to any officer or officers of revenue in the due execution of his or their duty, then and in every such case the certificate of registry shall thenceforth become utterly void, and such owner or owners, or master or other person having or taking the charge or command of such ship or vessel, shall be liable, on information as aforesaid, to a penalty not exceeding ten thousand rupees.—Act X, 1841, sec. xvii.

244. All and every person and persons who shall apply for a certificate of the registry of any ship or vessel shall, and they are hereby required to produce to the person or persons authorized to grant such certificate, a true and full particular under the hand of the builder of such ship or vessel, or in case the want of such certificate can be satisfactorily accounted for, then to produce other sufficient evidence of the proper denomination, and of the time when and the place where such ship or vessel was built, and also an exact account of the tonnage of such ship or vessel, and shall also make and subscribe a declaration before the person or persons hereinbefore authorized to grant such certificate that the ship or vessel for which such certificate is required is the same with that which is so described by the builder as aforesaid.—Act X, 1841, sec. xviii.

245. If the certificate of registry of any ship or vessel shall be lost or mislaid, so that the same cannot be found or obtained for the use of such ship or vessel when needful, and proof thereof shall be made to the satisfaction of the registering officer of the port at which the ship is registered, such officer shall and may, where the certificate shall have been lost or mislaid, permit such ship or vessel to be registered de novo, and a certificate thereof to be granted. Provided always, that if such ship or vessel be absent and far distant from the port to which she belongs, or by reason of the absence of the owner or owners, or of any other impediment, registry of the same cannot then be made in sufficient time, such registering officer shall and may grant a license for the present use of such ship or vessel, which license shall for the time and to the extent specified therein, and no longer, be of the same force and virtue as a certificate of registry granted under this Act. Provided always, that if the certificate of registry shall at any time afterwards be found, the same shall be forthwith delivered to the proper officers of customs to be cancelled, and that no illegal use be made of the same; in default whereof, the original certificate and the renewed certificate and license shall thenceforth become utterly void, and any person wilfully detaining the certificate so required to be cancelled, or making any illegal use thereof, shall be liable, on conviction before any justice, in a penalty not exceeding five thousand rupees, recoverable as aforesaid.—Act X, 1841, sec .xix.

246. And whereas it is not proper that any person, under any pretence whatever, should detain the certificate of registry of any ship or vessel, or hold the same for any purpose other than the lawful use and navigation of the ship or vessel for which it was granted, it is therefore hereby enacted, that in case any person who shall have received or obtained by any means or for any purpose whatever the certificate of the registry of any such ship or vessel (whether such person shall claim to be the master or to be the owner or one of the owners of such ship or vessel, or not), shall wilfully detain and refuse to deliver up the same to the proper officers of customs, for the purposes of such ship or vessel, as occasion shall require, or to the person or persons having the actual command, possession, and management of such ship or vessel as the ostensible and reputed master, or as the ostensible and reputed owner or owners thereof, it may and shall be lawful to and for any such last-mentioned person to make complaint on oath of such detainer and refusal to any justice of the peace residing near to the place where such detainer and refusal shall be, and on such complaint the said justice shall and is hereby required, by warrant under his hand and seal, to cause the person so complained against to be brought before him to be examined touching such detainer and refusal, and if it shall appear to the said justice, on examination of such person or otherwise, that the said certificate of registry is not lost or mislaid, but is wilfully detained by the said person, such persons shall be subject, on conviction before such justice, to a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees, recoverable as aforesaid; and the said justice shall, and he is hereby required to certify the aforesaid detainer, refusal, and conviction to the person or persons who granted such certificate of registry for such ship or vessel who shall, on the terms and conditions of law being complied with, make registry of such ship or vessel de novo, and grant a certificate thereof conformably to law, notifying on the back of such certificate the ground upon which the ship or vessel was so registered de novo; and if the person who shall have detained and refused to deliver up such certificate of registry as aforesaid, or shall be verily believed to have detained the same, shall have absconded so that the said warrant of the justice cannot be executed upon him, and proof thereof shall be made to the satisfaction of the registering officer of the port at which the ship or vessel was registered, it shall be lawful for the said officer to permit such ship or vessel to be registered de novo, or otherwise, in his discretion, to grant a license for the present use of such ship or vessel in like manner as is hereinbefore provided in the case wherein the certificate of registry is lost or mislaid.—Act X, 1841, sec. xx.

247. If any ship or vessel, after she shall have been registered pursuant to the directions of this Act, shall in any manner whatever be altered so as not to correspond with all the particulars contained in the certificate of her registry, or if any alteration shall take place in the ownership of any ship or vessel, or of any share or shares thereof, in such cases such ship or vessel shall be registered de novo, in manner hereinbefore required, as soon as she returns to the port to which she belongs, or to any other port within the territories of the East-India Company, on failure whereof such ship or vessel shall be deemed to be a ship or vessel not duly registered; and any person making use of a certificate for the purposes of any ship or vessel which has been granted in respect of the same, after the same ought to have been registered de novo, shall be liable, on conviction before any justice, to a penalty not exceeding five thousand rupees, recoverable as aforesaid.—Act X, 1841, sec. xxi.

248. And whereas great inconvenience may arise from the registering officers being served with subpœnas requiring them to bring with them and produce, on trials in Courts of Law relative to the ownership of vessels or otherwise, the declarations required to be taken by the owners thereof prior to the registering thereof, and the books of registry, or copies or extracts therefrom. And whereas it would tend much to the dispatch of business if the attendance of such registering officers with the same upon such trials were dispensed with, it is therefore hereby enacted, that the registering officer at any port or place, and the person or persons acting for them respectively, shall, upon every reasonable request by any person or persons whomsoever, produce and exhibit for his, her, or their inspection and examination, any declaration made by any such owner or owners, and also any register or entry in any book or books of registry required, and shall, upon every reasonable request by any person or persons whomsoever, permit him, her, or them to take a copy or copies or an extract or extracts thereof respectively, and that the copy and copies of any such oath or declaration, register or entry, shall, upon being proved to be true copy or copies thereof respectively, be allowed and received as evidence upon every trial at law, without the production of the original or originals, and without the testimony or attendance of any registering officer, or other person or persons acting for them respectively, in all cases, as fully and to all intents and purposes, as such original or originals, if produced by any registering officer, or other person or persons acting for them, could or might legally be admitted or received in evidence.—Act X, 1841, sec. xxii.

249. If any person or persons shall falsely make declaration to any of the matters hereinbefore required to be verified by declaration—or if any person or persons shall counterfeit, erase, alter, or falsify any certificate or other instrument in writing required or directed to be obtained, granted, or produced by this Act—or shall knowingly or wilfully make use of any certificate or other instrument so counterfeited, erased, altered, falsified—or shall wilfully grant such certificate or other instrument in writing knowing it to be false, such person or persons shall for every such offence be liable, on conviction upon information as aforesaid, to a penalty not exceeding ten thousand rupees. And if any such offence be committed by the owner of any ship or vessel, the certificate of such ship or vessel shall thenceforth be wholly void.—Act X, 1841, sec. xxiii.

250. When any ship or vessel duly registered under this Act, or sailing under the British Navigation Law, shall come to be owned by a native prince or state, or by any subject of such native prince or state as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Governor of Fort William in Bengal, or for the Governor in Council of any presidency, to continue to such ship or vessel the privileges and advantages of a British ship for the purposes aforesaid, by a pass to be issued under the Company's seal and subscribed by a secretary to Government, stating the voyage or voyages for which the same is to have effect, and the period for which it is to last; and it shall be lawful for the Governor of Fort William in Bengal, or the Governor in Council of any presidency, to issue a similar pass, conferring the privileges and advantages of a British ship for the purposes aforesaid, under this Act, to any ship or vessel built within the dominions of such native prince or state, and owned by such prince or state, or by any of their subjects: provided always, that the ships belonging to native princes or states, or their subjects, in respect of which passes may be granted under this Act shall, during the voyage or voyages, or the period for which any such pass shall be granted, be commanded by a subject of her Majesty for whom the Governor-General in Council has power to legislate.—Act X, 1841, sec. xxiv.

251. The passes which, under the preceding paragraph may be issued for conferring the privileges and advantages of a British ship, in certain cases, to any ship or vessel built within the dominions of a native prince or state in subordinate alliance with, or having subsidiary treaties with the East-India Company, may, after the passing of this Act, be issued in the like cases and under the same restrictions, to any ship or vessel belonging to any such native prince or state, or their subjects, wherever the same may have been built.—Act XI, 1850, sec. ii.

252. All ships or vessels, of whatever rig and of whatever tonnage, owned by British subjects, entitled to registry under these rules, or owned by such native princes or states, or by their subjects entitled to passes under the two preceding paragraphs, employed only in coasting voyages, or between any port of the continent of India and the Island of Ceylon, may be registered and obtain passes, and the tonnage may be marked, according to such rules as shall be made from time to time by the Governor or Governor in Council of each presidency.—Act XI, 1850, sec. iii.

253. The owners of coasting vessels, registered under the preceding paragraph, shall pay for each certificate of registry,

For a vessel not exceeding the burthen of four tons, one rupee;
Exceeding four tons and not exceeding twenty tons, five rupees;
Exceeding twenty tons and not exceeding eighty tons, seven rupees;
Exceeding eighty tons, for each ton, two annas.

Which fees shall be carried to the credit of the Government of the presidency in which they are levied.—Act XI, 1850, sec. iv.

254. The fees demandable in respect of the granting any certificate or pass under this Act shall be fixed from time to time, according to the directions of the Governor-General in Council, but so that the same shall not exceed the amount of fees now payable for registering or granting passes to ships or vessels at the different presidencies.—Act X, 1841, sec xxv.

255. All ships or vessels registered under this Act shall be deemed to belong to the ports at which they shall be respectively registered. And all ships or vessels being registered, or in respect of which passes may have been granted which are unexpired at the time of passing this Act, shall, for the purpose of being deemed British ships, be deemed to belong to the ports at which they may have been registered, or when passes shall have been granted which are unexpired, at which such passes may have been respectively granted. And such ships or vessels built and owned as required by the statue 3 & 4 Vict. c. 56, shall continue subject to all the rules in force at the respective presidencies before the passing of this Act, touching the registering, measurement, granting passes, or other requisitions in respect of the same, and shall not be subject to the provisions of this Act, or any provisions of the statute law, a compliance with which may heretofore have been necessary in order that ships or vessels built and owned as aforesaid might be deemed British ships for the purposes of trade.—Act X, 1841, sec. xxvi.

Proclamation.

256. The Governor-General of India in Council hereby declares, that all ships and vessels built or to be built within the limits of the Charter of the East-India Company (as those limits are defined by the statute 3rd and 4th of Queen Victoria, cap. 56, entitled "An Act further to regulate the trade of ships built and trading within the limits of the East-India Company's Charter,") being owned by her Majesty's subjects for whom the said Governor-General in Council has power to legislate, and belonging, under the provisions of the Act passed by the Governor-General in Council, No. X. of 1841, to any ports in the territories under the Government of the East-India Company, shall be deemed to be British ships for all purposes of trade within the said limits, including the Cape of Good Hope and the territories and dependencies thereof.

MERCHANT SEAMEN.

257. A general register-office for merchant seamen shall be established at each of the ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, and at such other ports as the Governor-General of India in Council shall hereafter deem necessary.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. i.

258. For every such office there shall be a registrar, with such assistants, clerks, and servants, at such salaries and allowances, and subject to such regulations as shall be from time to time directed, with the approval of the Governor-General of India in Council, by the Governor, or Governor in Council, of the presidency or place where the office is established.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. ii.

259. Each registrar, before entering on the duties of his office, shall, with two sureties, execute a joint and several bond to the East-India Company, according to such form as shall be from time to time approved by the Governor-General of India in Council, conditional for the faithful performance of his duty, and for the due application and account of all moneys that shall come to him, as such registrar, under such amount of penalty as shall be from time to time fixed by the Governor, or Governor in Council, of the presidency or place.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. iii.

260. Every person not having a register-ticket from any port in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, who intends to serve (otherwise than as master or surgeon) on board of any vessel navigated from a port within the territories under the Government of the East-India Company, and registered as a British vessel under the statutes of Parliament and Acts of the Governor-General of India in Council, in force for the time being for the registry of British vessels, shall be bound to appear at one of the said registry-offices, for the purpose of procuring himself to be registered, and shall be bound to answer truly, to the best of his ability and knowledge, the several questions set forth in the Schedule (A) annexed to this Act, and such other questions as shall be from time to time directed by the Governor-General of India in Council, and until so registered shall not be allowed, after the 1st day of August, 1850, to serve in any capacity (other than master or surgeon) on board of any such registered vessel.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. iv.

261. The registrar shall be bound to register every seaman, who shall appear at his office for that purpose, and truly answer the said questions to the best of his ability and knowledge.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. v.

262. The registrar shall give to every seaman whom he shall register a register-ticket, containing as accurate a description as may be, of such seaman, in such form as shall be from time to time approved by the Governor-General of India in Council; for which he shall be entitled to take such fee, not exceeding one rupee, as shall be from time to time allowed by the Governor or Governor in Council; and shall keep recorded in his office a duplicate of every such register-ticket. The registrar shall ascertain to the best of his ability, and specify on the register-ticket, the class or rating of sea-faring persons to which each registered seaman appears to him to belong; and from time to time shall note on any ticket produced to him for that purpose any superior rating to which the holder of the ticket appears at that time to be entitled.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. vi.

263. Whenever any seaman shall lose his register-ticket, he shall apply personally to one of the said registrars, and shall be bound to answer truly, to the best of his ability and knowledge, all questions which the registrar, or one of his assistants, shall put to him, touching the time and manner of the loss; and if it shall appear that no fraud has been committed or intended, the registrar shall furnish another ticket to him, upon payment of such fee, not exceeding five rupees, beside the common fee for the issue of a register-ticket, as the registrar shall think fit, under the instructions to be issued to him by the Governor or Governor in Council, having regard to the time and manner of the loss of the former ticket.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. vii.

264. Whenever any registered seaman shall be committed to prison, or to any house of correction, the court or justice of the peace shall cause his register-ticket to be delivered to the keeper of such prison or house of correction, who shall keep it during the term of the seaman's imprisonment, and at the end of the imprisonment give it to him again; and whenever any registered seaman shall be sentenced to death or transportation, the person having him in custody shall send his register-ticket to the office of the registrar by whom it was issued.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. viii.

265. The registrar shall cancel every register-ticket which shall come again into his possession, and from time to time shall make out lists, showing the number and name upon every ticket cancelled during the twelve months then last past, and of every ticket which shall have been represented to him to have been lost, and in respect of which he shall have issued another ticket during the same twelve months; and shall cause such lists to be published in the Gazette, in the English and vernacular language of the port, and shall also send them to the collector of customs and principal officer of police at such towns or ports as shall be directed by the Governor or Governor in Council, to be by them respectively exhibited in some conspicuous part of the custom-house and police-office; and copies of such lists shall be sent to the master attendant at every such port, and shall be delivered to any master or owner of a registered vessel on application, and on payment of a fee of one rupee.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. ix.

266. The master of any such vessel shall not, at any port in the said territories, after the said 1st day of August, engage or employ, for the purpose of going to sea in his vessel, any unregistered seaman, or any seaman having a cancelled register ticket; and shall cause to be delivered to him the register-ticket of every seaman whom he shall so engage at any such port after the said 1st day of August, before putting to sea, which ticket the master shall keep safely (unless in the cases herein mentioned) until the end of the service of such seaman with him, and shall then give it back to the seaman to whom it belongs: and every master of a vessel who shall wilfully offend against this enactment shall be liable to a penalty, not exceeding one hundred rupees, for each seaman so unlawfully engaged or employed.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. x.

267. Every person applying for a register-ticket who shall wilfully give a false answer to any question, which the registrar or his assistant is entitled to ask of him, or wilfully make any false statement before the registrar or his assistant as to the loss of any register-ticket, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. xi.

268. Every person who shall wilfully alter, deface, or destroy any register-ticket, or counterfeit any such register-ticket, or transfer or traffic in any such ticket, issued or purporting to be issued under this Act, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. xii.

269. Every person who shall become possessed of any register-ticket, other than that lawfully issued to him (except masters of vessels and others directed to keep any such tickets by this Act), either by the death of the seaman to whom it belonged or otherwise, shall forthwith send it to the regstrar of the port whence it was issued, and in default of so doing, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. xiii.

270. Every seaman tendering to the master or owner of any vessel a cancelled register-ticket, or any ticket not lawfully issued to him, shall forfeit to the owner all wages accruing to him during the service for which he shall have agreed.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. xiv.

271. All penalties directed by this Act may be imposed, on summary conviction before a magistrate or justice of the peace, and may be recovered with costs, as if they were imposed by a magistrate under Act II, 1839 ("MAGISTRATES," paragraphs 54 to 57).—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. xv.

272. The fees received by the registrar shall be applied toward defraying the expenses of this Act; beside which, a yearly duty of one anna per ton shall be levied for the same purpose on all vessels of the burden of one hundred and fifty tons and upwards, navigated to or from the ports within the territories under the Government of the East-India Company; and the production of a certificate of payment at one port of registry shall free the same vessel at all others during the current year, to be reckoned from the first day of January to the last day of December.—Act XXVII, 1850, sec. xvi.

Master.

274. The master of any vessel navigated from any port within the territories under the Government of the East-India Company, where a registrar of seamen is or shall be appointed under Act XXVII, 1850, registered as a British vessel under any statute of Parliament, or Act of the Governor-General of India in Council, in force for the time being, for the registry of British vessels, except country craft not exceeding the burden of 300 tons, employed only in coasting voyages, shall not put to sea on any day after the first day of August, 1850, until an agreement, executed as hereinafter provided, shall have been made by him with such of his crew as are shipped at any port within the said territories, specifying what wages each seaman is to receive, and the quantity and quality of provisions he is to receive, the capacity in which each is to act, or serve, and the voyage in which the vessel is to be employed, or the length of time that each is to serve.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. i.

275. Every such agreement shall be in the form set forth in Schedule (A) annexed to this Act, or such other form as shall be from time to time approved by the Governor-General of India in Council, and shall be properly dated, and shall be signed by the master and the greater number of seamen shipped at any port in the said territories, of each kind of rating belonging to the vessel, on behalf of the crew respectively, in the presence of the registrar of seamen, or by some one appointed by him for that purpose, who, after hearing the agreement read over and explained to each seaman by whom it is to be signed, in a language understood by him, shall, if the seaman assent, cause him to put his signature or mark thereunto, and shall attest the same by his own signature, and shall keep recorded in his office a duplicate of such agreement executed and attested as aforesaid. Every seaman shipped on board such vessel, and not being an apprentice, shall be entitled to have the benefit of such agreement, according to his rating, as if it were executed by him.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. ii.

276. Every copy of such an agreement, certified by the registrar to be a true copy, shall, in all cases, be taken as evidence of the contents thereof on behalf of the seaman; and no seaman shall, in any case, be required to produce such agreement, or such copy as aforesaid, or to give notice for the production thereof; but if the agreement shall not be produced and proved, he shall be at liberty to prove the contents or purport thereof, or to establish his claim by other evidence according to the nature of the case.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. iii.

277. No seaman shipped under this Act, shall, by reason of any agreement, forfeit his lien upon the ship, or be deprived of any remedy for the recovery of his wages to which he would otherwise be entitled, against any person or persons whatever; and no agreement, contrary to, or inconsistent with this Act, nor any clause, contract, or engagement, whereby any seaman shall consent or promise to forego, or give up, any right or claim to wages in the case of freight earned by a ship afterwards lost, or any right or claim to salvage or reward for salvage services, or such share of salvage or reward for salvage services as may be due to him by decree or award, or otherwise, shall be binding on such seaman.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. iv.

278. The wages of any seaman engaged to serve on any vessel under this Act shall be calculated by the calendar month.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. v.

279. If any seaman, serving under the provisions of this Act, shall, by a writing according to a form set forth in Schedule (B), annexed to this Act, or such other form as shall be from time to time approved by the Governor-General of India in Council, attested by the signature of the registrar or his assistant, and by the signature of the master of the vessel on which he is engaged to serve, and in which writing the purpose shall be stated, authorize the said registrar to receive monthly from the owner of the said vessel or his agent, any part of his wages, not exceeding one-third thereof, for the time for which he shall not have received any advance, for the purpose of maintaining his family during his absence, the said owner or his agent shall, on demand of the said registrar, pay such sum to him, to be applied as aforesaid, without requiring any proof from the said registrar that the said seaman is still on board the said vessel.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. vi.

280. All such payments, whether by the owner, his agent, or by the registrar, shall cease from and after the production of a certificate from the master of the vessel of the death, desertion, or discharge of the said seaman, or on reasonable evidence that the vessel has been lost; but no payment actually made by the registrar to the party appointed by the said seaman shall be reclaimable by reason of his death, desertion, or discharge, or of the loss of the vessel.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. vii.

281. All such receipts and payments shall be entered in a book, and all entries in the said book shall be authenticated by the registrar under his signature, or the signature of his assistant; and the said book shall be at all times open to the inspection of the parties concerned.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. viii.

282. At the time of witnessing the execution of the agreement for service the registrar shall explain to the seamen, parties thereunto, the conditions on which they can allot a part of their pay to their families during their service; and it shall be the duty of the registrar to see that all seamen leaving the port have the option of allotting part of their pay as aforesaid.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. ix.

283. The master of every such vessel, before leaving any port of registry, shall deliver to the registrar a list, signed by himself, of the name of every seaman engaged by him in the territories under the Government of the East-India Company (including apprentices), with their rating and the number of their register tickets, according to such form as shall be from time to time approved by the Governor-General of India in Council; and if he shall not have engaged any seaman within the said territories, the master shall deliver to the registrar a certificate of the fact signed by himself; and on receiving the said list or certificate, and on being satisfied of its truth, the registrar shall give to the master a certificate under his hand, that the master of such vessel has complied with the regulations of the registry office. Every master of any such vessel who shall leave a port of registry without delivering such list or certificate as aforesaid, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. x.

284. For the purpose of preventing any seamen from being shipped on board of any vessel in any port of registry, contrary to the provisions of this Act, the registrar of the port, by himself or his agents, in a peaceable manner, may enter at any time on board of any such vessel, and muster and examine the several seamen employed therein; and any person who shall obstruct the said registrar or his agents in such duty shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xi.

285. In cases when the registrar shall have reason to believe that any of the provisions of this Act have been evaded or neglected by the master, owner, or agent of any ship about to go to sea, the registrar, by a writing under his hand, may stay the grant of a port-clearance by the master attendant, and every master attendant shall comply with the written requisition of the registrar in this respect.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xii.

286. The master of every such vessel, on which any seaman, engaged under this Act may be serving, shall, within seven days after the arrival of such vessel at the port where the voyage ends, or after the end of the service, according to the agreement entered into, in accordance with this Act pay or cause to be paid to such seamen the wages remaining due to them for their services, taking a receipt from each man for the amount paid to him, either separately or on a general list, which receipt shall be certified by the chief or second officer, or other credible witness, and otherwise shall be of no force or validity.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xiii.

287. Every master or owner who shall neglect or refuse to pay any seaman's wages, within the time mentioned in the last paragraph, shall forfeit and pay to such seaman the amount of two days' pay, to be recovered as wages, for each day, not exceeding ten days in the whole, during which such payment has been delayed without sufficient cause.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xiv.

288. If any seaman, to whom any wages are due, die before the wages due have been paid, then the wages shall be paid to the registrar of the port of registry at which the ship shall first touch after his death, and the registrar shall pay the same to his legal representative, and failing such legal representative, after the expiration of twelve months from the first of January next following the day on which he shall have received the said balance, into the treasury of the East-India Company, after having given due notice of such unclaimed balance being in his possession, by advertisement in the Gazette, at least twice during such period.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xv.

289. Every master of a vessel who shall be convicted before a magistrate of having neglected to pay to the registrar within ten days of the ship's arrival in the port as aforesaid, the wages due to deceased seamen, shall forfeit three times the amount of wages so neglected to be paid; and further shall be subject to such fine, not exceeding one hundred rupees, for each case of neglect, as to such magistrate shall seem fit.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xvi.

290. Whenever any merchant vessel, navigated and registered as is mentioned in paragraph 274, and not having been wrecked or condemned, shall be sold or disposed of at any port out of the territories under the Government of the East-India Company, or whenever the service of any seaman shall end at any such port, the master shall give to each seaman a certificate of discharge and his register-ticket, and also either provide for him fit employment on board some other such vessel bound to some port within the said territories, or provide for him a passage to the port at which he was shipped, or such other port as may be agreed on, either free of cost, or by depositing with the British consul or vice-consul, or if there be none such, with some resident merchant of the port, not interested in the vessel, such a sum of money as shall be, by him, deemed reasonable enough to pay the expenses of his subsistence and passage, which money shall be paid over and above any wages which may be due to him.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xvii.

291. If the master shall neglect or refuse to provide employment, or the means of passage, for any of his crew as mentioned in the last paragraph, the expense of doing so, when defrayed, shall be a charge on the owner of the vessel, unless in cases of barratry, wreck, or condemnation, and may be recovered, with full costs of suit, from such owner as so much money paid on his account, at the suit of the consul or any other person defraying such expenses, or at the suit of the East-India Company, in case the same has been paid or allowed out of any moneys belonging to the East-India Company; and, if defrayed by the seaman himself, may be recovered as wages due to him.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xviii.

292. The obligations of the last two paragraphs shall not apply to such of the crew as shall consent, in writing, before the British consul or vice-consul, or if there be no British consul or vice-consul at the port, before one or more resident merchants not interested in the vessel, to be then and there discharged.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xix.

293. In all cases of wreck or loss of the ship, every seaman then on board shall be entitled to his wages up to the time of the wreck or loss, whether or not the ship has earned freight: provided he shall produce, from the master or chief surviving officer of the ship, a certificate that he did his best to save the ship, cargo, and stores.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xx.

294. Every seaman shall be entitled to receive an increase of his wages for every day on which the allowance of provisions, which it was agreed he should receive, shall be reduced, at the rate of one anna daily, while the reduction is not more than one-third of the quantity, and two annas daily, while the reduction is more than one-third, and these pecuniary allowances shall be recoverable as his other wages are —Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxi.

295. No assignment, or sale of seamen's wages, salvage, or prize-money, made before the accruing thereof, nor any power of attorney expressed to be irrevocable, for the receipt of any seaman's wages, salvage, or prize-money, shall be valid or binding on the party making the same, and any attachment, to be issued out of any court, shall not prevent the payment of any seaman's wages, salvage, or prize-money to him.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxii.

296. Every such vessel shall have always on board a sufficient supply of medicines and appliances, suitable for diseases and accidents likely to happen on sea voyages, according to such scale as shall be from time to time issued by the superintendent of the Indian navy, with the approval of the Governor-General of India in Council, and published in the Government Gazettes at Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay; and, in default thereof, the owner of the vessel shall be liable to a penalty, not exceeding two hundred rupees, and five rupees for every day during which such default shall wilfully continue.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxiii.

297. Whenever the master, or any officer, or seaman of any such vessel shall receive any hurt or injury in the service of the vessel, the expense of providing the necessary surgical and medical advice and attendance, with medicines, and for his subsistence, until he shall be cured or shall be brought back to the port from which he was shipped, or other port agreed upon, shall be defrayed with the cost of his conveyance to such port, by the owner of the vessel, without any deduction on that account from the wages of such master, officer, or seaman; and, if paid by himself, may be recovered as part of his wages; and, if paid or allowed out of any moneys belonging to the East-India Company, may be recovered with full costs of suit, as a debt due to the East-India Company.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxiv.

298. If any vessel, on board of which there shall be any seaman who has received an advance under this Act, shall, before going on the voyage for which such advance shall have been paid, be destroyed or injured by fire, or other cause, so as to prevent her going on her then intended voyage, or if such voyage shall be discomfited at the beginning, or before the advance has been worked out, the master, owner, or agent of such vessel may demand from such seaman, unless he shall pay back the amount so advanced to him, service to the full amount of the advance received by him, on board of any other vessel; and such seaman, until he has worked out such advance, shall not be entitled, without the consent of such master, owner, or agent, to take service in any vessel other than that on which he is so required to serve; and any such seaman who shall refuse to work out such advance on board such other vessel, on summary conviction of his refusal before any magistrate or justice of the peace, shall be liable to be imprisoned, with hard labour, for any term not exceeding six months.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxv.

299. The registrar of seamen may grant from time to time to such persons as he may deem fit, a license to act as broker for procuring seamen for vessels shipping men under this Act, and also a license to the keeper of any lodging-house for seamen, enabling him to allow seamen to be engaged at his house, and also may revoke and annul such license on the misconduct of any such person: and every such license shall be granted for such term, upon such conditions and upon such security given, as the said registrar shall from time to time appoint.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxvi.

300. Every person, not licensed as aforesaid, and not being the owner, part owner, master, or person in charge of the vessel, on board of which the men are to serve, who shall hire or engage a seaman, to be entered on board any merchant ship, at any port of registry, and every person, whether licensed or not, other than the owner, part owner, master, or person in charge of the merchant ship, on board of which the men are to serve, who shall demand or obtain the register ticket of any seaman, for the purpose, or under the pretence, of engaging him on board of any merchant ship, and every person, whether or not licensed as aforesaid, who shall ask or take, directly or indirectly, from any seaman any fee, reward, or other valuable consideration, for hiring or engaging or endeavouring to hire or engage him on board of any merchant ship, shall be liable to a penalty, not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxvii.

301. Every licensed broker, who shall engage any seamen at any punch-house or tavern, not being a licensed lodging-house for seamen as aforesaid, or who shall be directly or indirectly interested in any punch-house or tavern, not being a licensed lodging-house for seaman as aforesaid, shall forfeit his license.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxviii.

302. Every person, who shall persuade or endeavour to persuade, or hinder any seaman from complying with any of the provisions of this Act, or who shall counsel such seaman to desert, or who shall conceal, or aid in concealing or maintaining any seaman who has deserted, shall be liable to a penalty, not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxix.

303. If a seaman engaged under this Act shall, at any time, whether before or during any voyage, neglect or refuse to join the vessel, on board of which he shall have engaged to serve, or shall refuse to go to sea in such vessel, or shall absent himself therefrom without leave, or shall desert, any justice of the peace or magistrate in the territories under the Government of the East-India Company, at or near to the place where such vessel shall happen to be, or where such seaman shall be found, upon complaint made upon oath, by the master, mate or owner, or his agent, may issue his warrant, and cause such seaman to be taken into custody, and brought before him; and upon due proof of such neglect, refusal, or absence, without reasonable excuse, or of desertion, may commit such seaman to prison, or to the house of correction, there to be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding thirty days; or if he shall think fit, at the request of the master, mate, or owner, or his agent, instead of committing such seaman, may cause him to be taken on board the said vessel, or to be delivered to the master, mate, or owner, or his agent, for the purpose of being so taken and going on the voyage; and also may award to the master, or owner, or his agent, such costs incurred in the apprehension of the seaman, as to such justice or magistrate shall seem reasonable, not exceeding, in any case, the sum of twenty rupees, which shall be chargeable against, and may be deducted from, the wages of such seaman.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxx.

304. Every seaman engaged under this Act, who, during the term of his service, shall wilfully, and without leave, absent himself from the vessel, or otherwise from his duty, shall (in all cases not of desertion, or not treated as such by the master), forfeit out of his wages the amount of two days' pay, and for every twenty-four hours of such absence the amount of six days' pay or, at the option of the master, the amount of such expenses as shall have been necessarily incurred in hiring a substitute; and every seaman who, while he shall belong to the vessel, shall, without sufficient cause, neglect or refuse to perform his duty reasonably required of him by the master, or other person in command of the vessel, shall be subject to a like forfeiture in respect of every such offence, and of every twenty-four hours continuance thereof; and every such seaman, who after the vessel's arrival at her port of delivery, and during the term of his service, shall leave the vessel without a discharge or leave from the master, shall forfeit one month's pay out of his wages: provided always, that no such forfeiture shall be incurred, unless the fact of the seaman's absence, neglect, or refusal shall be duly entered in the log-book, the truth of which entry the owner, master, or agent, in all cases of dispute, shall be bound to substantiate, by the evidence of the mate, or some other credible witness.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxxi.

305. Every seaman engaged under this Act, who shall desert his vessel, shall forfeit to the owner all his clothes and effects which he may leave on board; and also all wages and emoluments to which he might otherwise be entitled: provided always, that every desertion be entered in the log-book at the time, and certified by the signatures of the master and the mate, or the master and one credible witness.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxxii.

306. If any seaman shall desert, during the term for which he has engaged to serve, in any place beyond the port where he was engaged, and the master of the vessel shall engage a substitute at a higher rate of wages than that stipulated in the agreement to be paid to the seaman so deserting, the owner, agent, or master of the vessel shall be entitled to recover from the deserter, by summary proceeding, in the same manner as penalties are by this Act made recoverable (so far as the same can be applied), any excess of wages or portion thereof which such owner, agent, or master shall pay to such substitute, beyond the amount which would have been payable to the deserter if he had duly performed his service: provided always, that no seaman shall be imprisoned longer than three calendar months for non-payment of any such excess of wages.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxxiii.

307. The absence of a seaman from his vessel for any time within twenty-four hours immediately before the sailing of a vessel from any port, whether before or during any voyage, wilfully or knowingly, without leave, or the wilful absence of a seaman from his vessel, at, or for any time, without leave, and in such manner as to show an intention to abandon his vessel, and not return thereto shall be deemed desertion.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxxiv.

308. Every person who shall wilfully harbour or conceal any seaman or apprentice who shall have deserted, knowing or having reason to believe such seaman or apprentice to be a deserter, shall, for every such seaman or apprentice so harboured or concealed, be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxxv.

309. No debt exceeding in amount three rupees, incurred by any seaman after he shall have engaged to serve under this Act, shall be recoverable until the service agreed for shall be ended; nor shall any keeper of a public house, or of a lodging-house for seamen be entitled to detain any chest, tools, or other property of any seaman for any debt alleged to have been contracted by him; and in case of such detention of the chest, tools, or other property of a seaman, any justice of the peace or magistrate at or near the place, upon complaint upon oath to be made by such seaman, or by any person on his behalf, may inquire into the matter upon oath in a summary way; and, by warrant under his hand and seal, may cause such property to be seized and delivered over to such seaman; and the person so detaining the same shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxxvi.

310. Any justice of the peace or magistrate, within the territories subject to the East-India Company upon complaint made by any three or more of the crew of any such vessel, shall survey and examine, or cause to be surveyed and examined, the provisions, water, and medicines put or supplied on board of the vessel, for the use and consumption of the crew; and if, on such survey and examination, it shall be found that such provisions, water, or medicines are of a bad quality, or unfit for use, or not such as should be provided, or there shall not appear to be a sufficient quantity thereof, the surveying officer shall signify the same, in writing to the master of the vessel; and if such master shall not thereupon provide other fit provisions, water or medicines, instead of any which may be signified by the said surveying officer to be of a bad quality or unfit, or if any such master shall not thereupon procure the needful quantity of provisions, water, and medicines, or shall issue to the crew any provisions, water, or medicines, which shall have been signified by the surveying officer to be of a bad quality, or unfit, he shall in each of such cases, be liable to a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxxvii.

311. A place of shelter shall be provided below a well-caulked and substantial deck, for the men engaged, under this Act, large enough to allow four superficial feet for every man; and if the place allotted be under the top-gallant forecastle, such forecastle deck shall be not less than four feet six inches above the one below it; and in default thereof every man who is unprovided with such adequate shelter shall be entitled to have an increase of his wages, at the rate of four annas daily while he is so unprovided, which shall be recoverable as his other wages are.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxxviii.

312. All penalties, directed by this Act, may be imposed on summary conviction before a magistrate or justice of the peace, and may be recovered, with costs, as if they were imposed by a magistrate under Act II, 1839 (MAGISTRATES," paras. 54 to 57).—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xxxix.

313. All claims for wages or forfeitures due and incurred under the agreements entered into under this Act may be heard and determined by any justice of the peace or magistrate; and the amount, with costs, awarded by such justice or magistrate, shall be recovered from the party against whom the award is made, in the same manner as fines levied under the provisions of Act. II, 1839.—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xl.

314. Every person haivng the charge or command of any vessel sailing under this Act shall be deemed to be the master of such vessel, within the meaning of this Act, and every other person (apprentices excepted) who shall be employed or engaged to serve in any capacity on board, except as surgeon, shall be deemed to be a seaman, within the meaning of this Act; and the term "owner" shall be deemed to comprehend all the several persons, if more than one, to whom the vessel belongs, and the term "agents" shall be deemed to comprehend all the several persons, if more than one who are agents of the "owner."—Act XXVIII, 1850, sec. xli.

315. SCHEDULES.

SCHEDULE (A).

An agreement made pursuant to an Act passed by the Governor-General of India in Council, and numbered No. XXVIII, of 1850, between the master of the ship , of the port of , and of the burden of tons, and the several persons whose names are set hereto, on behalf of themselves and others shipped on board the said ship within the territories under the Government of the East-India Company.

It is agreed by, and on the part of the said persons, and they severally hereby engage to serve on board the said ship in the several capacities against their respective names expressed [or from the day of to the day of both inclusive] (where the intended voyage is to be described as nearly as can be done, and the places at which it is intended the ship shall touch, or, if that cannot be done, the nature of the voyage in which she is to be employed); and the said crew further engage to conduct themselves in an orderly, faithful, honest, careful, and sober manner, and to be, at all times, diligent to their respective duties and stations, and to be obedient to the lawful commands of the master, in everything relating to the said ship, and the materials, stores, and cargo thereof, whether on board such ship, in boats, or on shore; in consideration of which services, to be duly, honestly, carefully, and faithfully performed, the said master doth hereby promise and agree to pay to the said crew, by way of compensation or wages, the amount against their names respectively expressed. And it is hereby agreed, that any embezzlement, or wilful or careless loss or destruction of any part of the ship's cargo or stores, shall be made good to the owner out of the wages (so far as they will go) of the seaman guilty of the same; and if any seaman shall have entered himself as qualified for a duty for which he shall prove unfit, he shall be liable to a reduction of the rate of wages hereby agreed for, in proportion to his unfitness. —Appended to Act XXVIII, 1850.

TRADE ON THE FRONTIERS OF SYLHET.

316. The trade on the frontier of Sylhet with the Cosseas and other mountaineers, as well as with all other persons, is declared free to the native inhabitants of the district of Sylhet, as well as to all other natives of the Company's provinces; and to Armenians, Greeks, and all other persons whatever. Provided, with respect to all descriptions of persons, that the trade be carried on under the general restrictions contained in the following paragraphs.—Reg. I, 1799, sec. ii.

317. No person shall supply the Cosseas or other hill people with arms, ammunition, saltpetre, sulphur, or other articles of military store.—Reg. I, 1799, sec. iii, cl. 2.

318. No burkundass, or other armed men, belonging to individuals (excepting such as may be indispensably necessary for their personal safety or the security of their property), shall be allowed on any pretence to pass to or beyond Laour, or beyond any other part of the Company's frontier, especially beyond the Surmah river.—Reg. I, 1799, sec. iii, cl. 3.

319. The magistrate of the district of Sylhet, and his police officers, are required to cause strict observance of the provisions contained in the foregoing paragraph; and all contraband articles which it may be attempted to pass by any of the frontier stations, against the prohibition contained in paragraph 317, together with all boats, carriages, or cattle, which may be employed for the conveyance thereof, are declared liable to seizure and confiscation for the use of Government. The police officers stationed at Laour and at the other frontier stations are authorized to search all boats, carriages, and carriage-cattle, for the purpose of ascertaining whether they contain any of the above-mentioned contraband articles (detaining them no longer than may be absolutely necessary for this purpose); and if any such be found, they are to seize and send them with the boat, carriage, or cattle used in the conveyance of them, to the magistrate of Sylhet, who shall make a full inquiry into the circumstances of the case; and if he be satisfied that the articles seized are liable to confiscation under these rules, shall declare the same confiscated, and report his proceedings to the Governor-General in Council, for his orders as to the disposal of the property or otherwise. The magistrate shall also report to the Governor-General in Council any instances of persons, whether British subjects or others, acting in opposition to the preceding paragraph, for such orders as may appear necessary; and any British subject or other European, as well as any Armenian, Greek, or other person whatever, not being a native inhabitant of the district of Sylhet, who may be found to have acted in opposition to any part of paragraphs 317 and 318, or who may be guilty of any misconduct in his intercourse with the hill people, will be considered to have forfeited all title to remain in the above district, and be liable, at the pleasure of Government, to be sent to Calcutta.—Reg. I, 1799, sec. iv; Reg. II, 1828, sec. ii.

320. The police officers who may seize any property declared liable to confiscation under the preceding article, shall be allowed twenty-five per cent. on the proceeds of the sale thereof; and if the seizure shall have been made upon information from any other person, the same reward shall be granted to the informer. Provided, however, that if the property seized shall not be declared by the magistrate liable to confiscation, the person or persons who made the seizure, or who may have given any false information on which the seizure was made, shall be liable to be sued for damages by the proprietor in the Zillah Dewanny Adawlut.—Reg. I, 1799, sec. v.

321. Provided also, that any person dissatisfied with the magstrate's order for confiscation, under paragraph 319, shall be at liberty to state his objections to the Governor-General in Council, who will afford such relief as may appear to him equitable, or leave the complainant to seek his remedy in the civil courts, in the mode prescribed in Section XI, of Regulation III, 1793, ("PROCEDURE ON THE TRIAL OF ORIGINAL SUITS,") which is hereby declared to extend to any suits against Government which may be instituted for acts done under the present Regulation.—Reg. I, 1799, sec. vi.

322. The provisions herein contained render it unnecessary for any trader, whether native, European, or otherwise, to apply for the perwannahs which have been heretofore granted by the collector or magistrate of Sylhet to the thannadar of Laour, for the purpose of their being supplied with chunam, and all such perwannahs are hereafter expressly forbidden to be issued, as militating with the general freedom of trade meant to be established by these rules. But nothing herein contained is to be understood to restrict the magistrate of Sylhet from issuing such instructions to the police darogah at Laour, and to the other police officers within his jurisdiction, as he may consider necessary to carry into full effect these several provisions, or to prevent disagreements and breaches of the peace between the traders and hill people on the frontier, so that such instructions be not repugnant to this or any other existing regulation.—Reg 1, 1799, sec. VIII

MISCELLANEOUS.

VALIDITY OF CERTAIN ACTS OF THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

1. ALL acts done by the Governor-General of India in Council, or by the Vice-President of Fort William in Bengal in Council, or in pursuance of any authority given by the said Governor-General in Council, or by the said Vice-President in Council, between the 22nd of April, 1834, and the 14th of November, 1834, shall be valid and effectual to all intents and purposes as if the said acts had been done before the said 22nd day of April, 1834.—Act I, 1834.

AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARIES TO GOVERNMENT.

2. Each of the secretaries to the Government of India, and to the Government of Fort William in Bengal, shall be competent to perform all the duties and to exercise all the powers which, by any Act of Parliament or any Regulation now in force, are assigned to the chief secretary to the Government of Fort William in Bengal.

AUTHORITY OF A GOVERNMENT GAZETTE TO PROVE AN "ACT."

3. The production of a Government "Gazette" of any presidency, containing an Act purporting to have been passed by the Governor-General in Council, shall be held in all courts sufficient proof that such Act has been passed.—Act X, 1835.

PRINTING PRESSES.

4. No printed periodical work whatever, containing public news, or comments on public news, shall be published within the territories of the East India Company, except in conformity with the rules hereinafter laid down—Act XI, 1835, sec. ii, cl. 1.

5. The printer and the publisher of every such periodical work shall appear before the magistrate of the jurisdiction within which such work shall be published, and shall make and subscribe, in duplicate, the following declaration:

"I, A. B., declare that I am the printer (or publisher, or printer and publisher), of the periodical work entitled , and printed (or published, or printed and published) at ." And the last blank in this form of declaration shall be filled up with a true and precise account of the premises where the printing or publication is conducted.—Act XI, 1835. sec. ii, cl. 2.

6. As often as the place of printing or publication is changed, a new declaration shall be necessary.—Act XI, 1835, sec. ii, cl. 3.

7. As often as the printer or publisher, who shall have made such declaration as is aforesaid, shall leave the territories of the East India Company, a new declaration from a printer or publisher, resident within the said territories, shall be necessary.—Act XI, 1835, sec. ii, cl. 4.

8. Whoever shall print or publish any such periodical work, as is hereinbefore described, without conforming to the rules hereinbefore laid down, or whoever shall print or publish, or shall cause to be printed or published, any such periodical work, knowing that the said rules have not been observed with respect to that work, shall, on conviction, be punished with fine to an amount not exceeding five thousand rupees, and imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years.—Act XI, 1835, sec. iii.

9. Each of the two originals of every declaration, so made and subscribed as is aforesaid, shall be authenticated by the signature and official seal of the magistrate before whom the said declaration shall have been made, and one of the said originals shall be deposited among the records of the office of the magistrate, and the other original shall be deposited among the records of the Supreme Court of Judicature, or other Queen's Court within the jurisdiction of which the said declaration shall have been made; and the officer in charge of each original shall allow any person to inspect that original, on payment of a fee of one rupee, and shall give to any person applying a copy of the said declaration, attested by the seal of the court which has the custody of the original, on payment of a fee of two rupees.—Act XI, 1835, sec. iv.

10. In any legal proceeding whatever, as well civil as criminal, the production of a copy of such a declaration as is aforesaid attested by the seal of some court empowered by this Act to have the custody of such declarations, shall be held (unless the contrary be proved) to be sufficient evidence as against the person whose name shall be subscribed to such declaration that the said person was printer or publisher, or printer and publisher (according as the words of the said declaration may be), of every portion of every periodical work whereof the title shall correspond with the title of the periodical work mentioned in the declaration.—Act XI, 1835, sec. v.

11. Provided always, that any person who may have subscribed any such declaration as is aforesaid, and who may subsequently cease to be the printer or publisher of the periodical work mentioned in such declaration, may appear before any magistrate, and make and subscribe in duplicate, the following declaration:

"I, A. B., declare that I have ceased to be the printer or publisher (or printer and publisher), of the periodical work entitled ." And each original of the latter declaration shall be authenticated by the signature and seal of the magistrate before whom the said latter declaration shall have been made, and one original of the said latter declaration shall be filed along with each original of the former declaration; and the officer in charge of each original of the latter declaration shall allow any person applying to inspect that original, on payment of a fee of one rupee, and shall give to any person applying a copy of the said latter declaration, attested by the seal of the court having custody of the original, on payment of a fee of two rupees; and in all trials in which a copy, attested as is aforesaid, of the former declaration shall have been put in evidence, it shall be lawful to put in evidence a copy attested as is aforesaid, of the latter declaration; and the former declaration shall not be taken to be evidence that the declarant was, at any period subsequent to the date of the latter declaration, printer or publisher of the periodical work therein mentioned.—Act XI, 1835, sec. vi.

12. Every book or paper printed within the territories of the East India Company, shall have printed legibly on it the name of the printer, and of the publisher, and the place of printing and of publication; and whoever shall print or publish any book or paper otherwise than in conformity with this rule shall, on conviction, be punished by fine to an amount not exceeding five thousand rupees, and by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years.—Act XI, 1835, sec. vii.

13. No person shall, within the territories of the East India Company, keep in his possession any press for the printing of books or papers, who shall not have made and subscribed the following declaration before the magistrate of the jurisdiction wherein such press may be; and whoever shall keep in his possession any such press, without making such a declaration, shall, on conviction, be punished by fine to an amount not exceeding five thousand rupees, and by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years.

"I, A. B., declare that I have a press for printing at ." And this last blank shall be filled up with a true and precise description of the premises where such press may be.—Act XI, 1835, sec. viii.

14. Any person who shall, in making any declaration under the authority of this Act, knowingly affirm an untruth, shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by fine to an amount not exceeding five thousand rupees, and imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years.—Act XI, 1835, sec. ix.

COPYRIGHT.

15. Whereas doubts may exist whether the right called copyright can be enforced by the common law of England in those parts of the territories subject to the Government of the East-India Company into which the common law of England has been introduced:

And whereas doubts may exist whether the said right can be enforced by virtue of the principles of equity and good conscience in the other parts of the territories subject to the Government of the East India Company:

And whereas, for the encouragement of learning, it is desirable that the existence of the said right should be placed beyond doubt, and that the said right should be made capable for easy enforcement in every part of the said territories:

And whereas it is doubtful whether the Act of Parliament 5 and 6 Vict. c. 45, entitled "An Act to amend the Law of Copyright," although such Act extend to every part of the British dominions, has made appropriate and sufficient provisions for the enforcement in every part of the said territories subject to the Government of the East India Company of the said right by proprietors thereof: and whether the said Act of Parliament has made provision for the enforcement of the said right by or against any persons not being subject to the jurisdictions of the courts established by Her Majesty's charter.—Act XX, 1847, Preamble.

16. It is therefore hereby enacted, that the copyright in every book published in the lifetime of its author within the said territories, after the passing of the Act of Parliament 3 and 4 Wm. IV, c. 85, entitled "An Act for effecting an Arrangement with the East India Company, and for the better Government of His Majesty's Indian Territories till the 30th day of April, 1854," shall endure for the natural life of such author, and for the further term of seven years commencing at the time of his death, and shall be the property of such author and his assigns: provided always, that if the said term of seven years shall expire before the end of forty-two years from the publication of such book, the copyright shall in that case endure for such period of forty-two years; and that the copyright in every book published after the death of its author and after the passing of the Act of Parliament last aforesaid, shall endure for the term of forty-two years from the first publication thereof, and shall be the property of the proprietor of the author's manuscript, from which such book shall be first published, and his assigns.—Act XX, 1847, sec. i.

17. And whereas it is expedient to provide against the suppression of books of importance to the public: it is enacted that it shall be lawful for the Governor-General in Council, on complaint made to them that the proprietor of the copyright in any book published after the passing of this Act within the said territories, has, after the death of its author, refused to republish or to allow the republication of the same, and that by reason of such refusal such book may be withheld from the public, to grant a license to such complainant to publish such book in such manner and subject to such conditions as they may think fit, and it shall be lawful for such complainant to publish such book according to such license.—Act XX, 1847, sec. ii.

18. A book of registry wherein may be registered, as hereinafter enacted, the proprietorship in the copyright of books and assignments thereof, and licenses affecting such copyright, shall be kept in the office of the secretary to the Government of India for the Home Department, and shall at all convenient times be opened to the inspection of any person, on payment of eight annas for every entry which shall be searched for or inspected in the said book, and that such officer shall, whenever thereunto reasonably required, give a copy of any entry in such book certified under his hand, to any person requiring the same, on payment to him of the sum of two rupees, and such copies so certified, shall be received in evidence in all courts and in all summary proceedings, and shall be primâ facie proof of the proprietorship or assignment of copyright or license as therein expressed, but subject to be rebutted by other evidence.—Act XX, 1847, sec. iii.

19. If any person shall wilfully make or cause to be made any false entry in the registry book aforesaid, or shall wilfully produce or cause to be tendered in evidence, any paper falsely purporting to be a copy of any entry in the said book, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanour and shall be punished with imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding three years.—Act XX, 1847, sec. iv.

20. It shall be lawful for the proprietor of copyright in any book published after the passing of the said Act of Parliament 3 & 4 Wm. IV, c. 85, to make entry in the registry book of the title of such book, the time of the first publication, and the name and place of abode of the publisher thereof, and the name and place of abode of the proprietor of the copyright of the said book, or of any portion of such copyright, in the form in that behalf given in the schedule to this Act annexed, upon payment of the sum of two rupees to the said secretary; and it shall be lawful for every such registered proprietor to assign his interest or any portion of his interests therein, by making entry in the said book of registry of such assignment, and of the name and place of abode of the assignee thereof, in the form given in that behalf in the said schedule, on payment of the like sum; and such assignment so entered shall be effectual in law to all intents and purposes whatsoever, without being subject to any stamp or duty, and shall be of the same force and effect as if such assignment had been made by deed.—Act XX, 1847, sec. v.

21. If any person shall deem himself aggrieved by any entry made under colour of this Act in the said book of registry, it shall be lawful for such person to apply by motion to the Supreme Court of Calcutta, or if the court shall not be then sitting to any judge of such court sitting in chambers, for an order that such entry may be expunged or varied, and that upon any such application to the said court, or to a judge as aforesaid, such court or judge shall make such order for expunging, varying, or confirming such entry, either with or without costs, as to such court or judge shall seem just, and the said secretary shall, on the production to him of any such order for expunging or varying any such entry, expunge or vary the same according to the requisition of such order.—Act XX, 1647, sec. vi.

22. If any person shall, after the passing of this Act, print or cause to be printed, either for sale or exportation, any book in which there shall be subsisting copyright, without the consent in writing of the proprietor thereof, or shall have in his possession for sale or hire any such book so unlawfully printed without such consent as aforesaid. such offender, if he shall have so offended within the local limits of the jurisdiction of any of the courts of judicature established by Her Majesty's charter, shall be liable to a special action on the case in such court; and if he shall have so offended in any other part of the territories subject to the Government of the East India Company to a suit in the Zillah Court within the jurisdiction of which he shall have so offended, which shall and may be prosecuted in the same manner in which any other action of damages may be brought and prosecuted there; and if he shall have so offended in any such last-mentioned part of the territories subject to the Government of the East India Company in which there is no Zillah Court, to a suit in the highest local court exercising original civil jurisdiction in such part of the said territories.—Act XX, 1847, sec. vii.

23. After the passing of this Act, in any suit or action brought in any of the courts of judicature established by Her Majesty's charter, under the provisions of this Act, against any person for printing any such book for sale, hire, or exportation, or for selling, publishing, or exposing to sale or hire, or causing to be sold, published, or exposed to sale or hire, or for having in his possession for sale or hire any such book so unlawfully printed, the defendant on pleading thereto shall give to the plaintiff a notice in writing of any objections on which he means to rely on the trial of such action, and if the nature of his defence be that the plaintiff in such action was not the author or first publisher of the book in which he shall by such action claim copyright, or is not the proprietor of the copyright therein, or that some other person than the plaintiff was the author or first publisher of such book, or is the proprietor of the copyright therein, then the defendant shall specify in such notice the name of the person whom he alleges to have been the author or first publisher of such book, or the proprietor of the copyright therein, together with the title of such book, and the time when and the place where such book was first published; otherwise the defendant in such action shall not at the trial or hearing of such action be allowed to give any evidence that the plaintiff in such action was not the author or first publisher of the book in which he claims such copyright as aforesaid, or that he was not the proprietor of the copyright therein, and, at such trial or hearing no other objection shall be allowed to be made on behalf of such defendant than the objections stated in such notice, or that any other person was the author or first publisher of such book, or the proprietor of the copyright therein, than the person specified in such notice, or give in evidence in support of his defence any other book than one substantially corresponding in title, time, and place of publication, with the title, time, and place specified in such notice.—Act XX, 1847, sec. viii.

24. After the passing of this Act, in any such suit or action as last aforesaid, brought in any Zillah Court or other local court as aforesaid, the defendant shall state in his answer all such matters as he means to rely on, and which, by the last preceding paragraph, the defendant in any suit or action brought in any of the courts of judicature established by Her Majesty's charter, is required to give notice of in writing, otherwise such defendant shall be subject to the same consequences for any omission in his answer as a defendant is made subject to by the last preceding paragraph for any omission in his notice.—Act XX, 1847, sec. ix.

25. When any publisher or other person shall within the said territories before or at the time of the passing of this Act, but after the passing of the said Act of Parliament 3 and 4 Wm. IV, c. 85, have projected, conducted, and carried on, or shall hereafter project, conduct, or carry on, or be the proprietor of any encyclopædia, review, magazine, periodical work, or work published in a series of books or parts, or any book whatsoever, and shall have employed, or shall employ any persons to compose the same, or any volumes, parts, essays, articles, or portions thereof, for publication in, or as part of the same, and such work, volumes, parts, essays, articles, or portions shall have been, or shall hereafter be composed under such employment, on the terms that the copyright therein shall belong to such proprietor, projector, publisher, or conductor, and paid for by such proprietor, projector, publisher, or conductor, the copyright in every such encyclopædia, review, magazine, periodical work, and work published in a series of books or parts, and in every volume, part, essay, article, and portion so composed and paid for, shall be the property of such proprietor, projector, publisher, or conductor, who shall enjoy the same rights as if he were the actual author thereof, and shall have such term of copyright therein as is given to the authors of books in this Act; except only that in the case of essays, articles, or portions forming part of and first published in reviews, magazines, or other periodical works of a like nature, after the term of twenty-eight years from the first publication thereof respectively, the right of publishing the same in a separate form shall revert to the author for the remainder of the term given by this Act: Provided always, that during the term of twenty-eight years the said proprietor, projector, publisher, or conductor shall not publish any such essay, article, or portion, separately or singly, without the consent previously obtained of the author thereof, or his assigns; provided also, that nothing herein contained shall alter or affect the right of any person who shall have been or shall be so employed as aforesaid to publish any such his composition in a separate form, who by any contract, expressed or implied, may have reserved or may hereafter reserve to himself such right; but every author reserving, retaining, or having such right, shall be entitled to the copyright in such composition, when published in a separate form according to this Act, without prejudice to the right of such proprietor, projector, publisher, or conductor as aforesaid.—Act XX, 1847, sec. x.

26. The proprietor of the copyright in any encyclopædia, review, magazine, periodical work, or other work published in a series of books or parts, shall be entitled to all the benefits of the registration in the office of the Secretary to the Government of India for the Home Department, under this Act, on entering in the said book of registry the title of such encyclopædia, review, periodical work, or other work published in a series of books or parts, the time of the first publication of the first volume, number, or part thereof, or of the first volume, number, or part first published after the passing of this Act, in any such work which shall have been published heretofore, and after the passing of the said Act of Parliament 3 and 4 Wm. IV, c. 85, and the name and place of abode of the proprietor thereof, and of the publisher thereof, when such publisher shall not also be the proprietor thereof.—Act XX, 1847, sec. xi.

27. All copies of any book wherein there shall be copyright, and of which entry shall have been made in the said registry-book, and which shall have been unlawfully printed without the consent of the registered proprietor of such copyright in writing under his hand first obtained shall be deemed to be the property of the proprietor of such copyright, and who shall be registered as such, and such registered proprietor shall, after demand thereof in writing, be entitled to sue for and recover the same, or damages for the detention thereof.—Act XX, 1847, sec. xii.

28. If the case be within the jurisdiction of any of the courts of judicature established by Her Majesty's charter, such registered proprietor shall be entitled to sue for and recover such copies, or damages for the detention thereof, in an action of detinue, from any party who shall detain the same, or to sue for and recover damages for the conversion thereof in an action of trover; and that if the case be within the jurisdiction of any Zillah Court, or other local court as aforesaid, the registered proprietor shall be entitled to sue for, and recover such copies, or damages for the detention or conversion thereof, in such form as is in use in the said zillah or other local courts for the recovery of specific personal property, or damages for the detention or conversion thereof.—Act XX, 1847, sec. xiii.

29. No proprietor of copyright in any book first published after the passing of the said Act of Parliament, 3 and 4 Wm. IV, c. 85, shall maintain, under the provisions of this Act, any action or suit at law or in equity, or any summary proceedings in respect of any infringement of such copyright, unless he shall, before commencing such action, suit, or proceeding, have caused an entry to be made in the book of registry, at the office of the said secretary, of such book, pursuant to this Act: Provided always, that the omission to make such entry shall not affect the copyright in any book, nor the right to sue or proceed in respect of the infringement thereof, except the right to sue or proceed in respect of the infringement thereof under the provisions of this Act.—Act XX, 1847, sec. xiv.

30. If any action or suit shall be commenced or brought in any of the courts of judicature established by Her Majesty's charter against any person or persons whomsoever for doing or causing to be done anything in pursuance of this Act, the defendant or defendants in such action may plead the general issue and give the special matter in evidence; and if upon such action a verdict shall be given for the defendant, or the plaintiff shall become nonsuited or discontinue his action, then the defendant shall have and recover his full costs, for which he shall have the same remedy as a defendant in any case by law hath in the said last-mentioned courts.—Act XX, 1847, sec. xv.

31. All actions, suits, bills, indictments, informations, and other criminal proceedings, for any offence which shall be committed against the Act, shall be brought, sued, and commenced within twelve calendar months next after such offence committed, or else the same shall be void and of none effect.—Act XX, 1847, sec. xvi.

32. Provided always, and it is enacted, that nothing in this Act contained shall affect, alter, or vary any right subsisting at the time of passing this Act, except as herein expressly enacted; and all contracts, agreements, and obligations made and entered into before the passing of this Act, and all remedies relating thereto, shall remain in full force, any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding.—Act XX, 1847, sec. xvii.

APPRENTICES.

34. For better enabling children, and especially orphans and poor children brought up by public charity, to learn trades, crafts, and employments, by which, when they come to full age, they may gain a livelihood, it is enacted as follows.—Act XIX, 1850, Preamble.

35. Any child above the age of ten, and under the age of eighteen years, may be bound apprentice by his or her father or guardian to learn any fit trade, craft, or employment, for such term as is set forth in the contract of apprenticeship, not exceeding seven years, so that it be not prolonged beyond the time when such child shall be of the full age of twenty-one years, or in the case of a female, beyond the time of her marriage.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. i.

36. The age set forth in the contracts shall be evidence of the age of the child in all questions which arise as to the right of the master to the continuance of the service.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. ii.

37. Any magistrate or justice of the peace, may act with all the powers of a guardian under this Act, on behalf of any orphan, or poor child abandoned by its parents, or of any child convicted before him, or any other magistrate, of vagrancy, or the commission of any petty offence.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. iii.

38. An orphan or poor child, brought up by any public charity, may be bound apprentice by the governors, directors, or managers thereof, as his or her guardians for this purpose.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. iv.

39. Any such boy may be bound as an apprentice in the sea service to any of Her Majesty's subjects, being the owner of any registered ship belonging to, and trading from any port in the territories under the Government of the East India Company, which has been declared to be a registering port under Act X, 1841, to be employed in any such ship, the property of such person, commanded by a British subject, and, while so employed, to be taught the craft and duty of a seaman.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. v.

40. Any such boy may be bound in like manner for sea service in any ship of the East India Company belonging to any such port, commanded by a British subject; in which case the contract shall be made with the master attendant at such port, or any officer appointed to represent the East India Company in this behalf, who shall appoint the ship in which such apprentice is to serve from time to time.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. vi.

41. The master or commander of any ship in which an apprentice bound to the sea service shall be appointed to serve by the party to whom he is bound, shall be deemed the agent of such party for the purpose of this Act.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. vii.

42. Every contract of apprenticeship shall be in writing, according to the form given in the Schedule (A) annexed to this Act, or to the like effect, which shall set forth the conditions agreed upon, particularly specifying the age of the apprentice, the term for which he is bound, and what he is to be taught.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. viii.

43. Every such contract shall be signed by the person to whom the apprentice is bound, and by the person by whom he is bound, and by the apprentice, when he is of the age of fourteen years or more at the time of binding; but when the apprentice is bound by the governors, directors, or managers of a public charity, the signature of two of them, or of their secretary or officer, shall be sufficient on behalf of the persons binding the apprentice.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. ix.

44. No such contract shall be valid unless it be executed in the manner aforesaid, nor until it has been deposited in the office of the chief magistrate of the place or district where it has been executed, or if the apprentice is bound to the sea service, in the office of the person appointed under Act X, 1841, to make registry of ships at the port where the apprentice is to begin his service; and the person in whose office any such contract is deposited shall give to each of the parties a copy thereof, certified under his hand, which certified copies shall be received as evidence of the contract, without formal proof of the handwriting of the magistrate or registering officer.—Act XIX, 1850, sec x.

45. The terms of service may be changed at any time during the apprenticeship, or the contract may be determined with the consent of both parties to the contract, or their personal representatives, and with the consent of the apprentice, if he is above the age of fourteen years; provided that the changes agreed to, or the termination of the contract shall be expressed in writing on the original contract. with the signature of the proper parties, according to paragraph 42; and the magistrate or registering officer shall thereupon make, under his hand, corresponding endorsements on the office copies, which shall be brought to him at the same time for that purpose.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xi.

46. The master of any apprentice bound under this Act may, with the consent of the person by whom he was bound, and with the consent of the apprentice, if he is above the age of fourteen years, assign such apprentice to any other person who is willing to take him for the residue of his apprenticeship, and subject to the conditions thereof; provided that such person shall, by endorsement under his own hand on the contract, declare his acceptance of such apprentice, and acknowledge himself bound by the agreements and covenants therein mentioned, to be performed on the part of the master, and that the consent of the other parties aforesaid shall be expressed in writing on the same, and signed by them respectively: and every such assignment shall be certified on the office copies of the contract, under the hand of the magistrate or registering officer, according to the form given in schedule (B), annexed to this Act.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xii.

47. Upon complaint made to any magistrate in the said territories, by or on behalf of any apprentice bound under this Act, of refusal or neglect to provide for him, or to teach him according to the contract of apprenticeship, or of cruelty, or other ill-treatment by his master, or by the agent under whom he shall have been placed by his master, the magistrate may summon the master or his agent, as the case may be, if he shall be within his jurisdiction, to appear before him at a reasonable time, to be stated in the summons, to answer the complaint: and at such time, whether the master or his agent be present or not (service of the summons being proved), may examine into the matter of the complaint; and, upon proof thereof, may cancel the contract of apprenticeship, and assess upon the offender, whether he shall be the master or his agent, a reasonable sum for behoof of the apprentice, not exceeding four times the amount of the premium paid upon the binding; or if no premium, or a less premium than fifty rupees was paid, not exceeding two hundred rupees; and if the offender shall not pay the sum so assessed, may levy the same by distress and sale of his goods and chattels, and if the offender shall not be the master but his agent, by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the master also.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xiii.

48. No contract of apprenticeship shall be cancelled, nor shall any master or his agent be liable to any criminal proceeding on account of such moderate chastisement for misbehaviour, given to any apprentice by his master or the agent of his master, as may lawfully be given by a father to his child; and the provision for enabling the contract of apprenticeship to be cancelled, shall not bar any criminal proceeding against any master or his agent for an assault or other offence committed against his apprentice, for which he would be liable to be punished had it been against his child; whether or not any proceedings be taken for cancelling the contract of apprenticeship.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xiv.

49. Upon complaint made to any magistrate, by or on behalf of the master of any apprentice bound to him under this Act, of any ill-behaviour of such apprentice, or if such apprentice shall have absconded, the magistrate may issue his warrant for apprehending such apprentice, and may hear and determine the complaint, and punish the offender by an order for keeping the offender, if a boy, in confinement in any debtors' prison, or other suitable place, not being a criminal gaol, for any time not exceeding one month, of which one week may be in solitary confinement, during which time such allowance shall be made for his subsistence by the master or his agent, as the magistrate shall order; and if the offender be a boy of not more than fourteen years of age, may order him to be privately whipped: or, if the offender be a girl, or in the case of any boy, the magistrate deem any such punishment unfit, he may pass an order empowering the master of the apprentice or his agent to keep the offender in close confinement in his own house, or on board the vessel to which he belongs, upon bread and water, or such other plain food as may be given without injury to the health of the apprentice, for a period not exceeding one month.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xv.

50. Upon complaint of wilful and repeated ill-behaviour on the part of the apprentice, and on the demand of the master, the magistrate may order the contract of apprenticeship to be cancelled, whether or not the charge is proved; but only with the consent of the apprentice and of his father or guardian, if the charge is not proved: and such cancelling shall be with or without refund of the whole or part of any premium that may have been paid to the master on binding such apprentice, as to the magistrate seems fit on consideration of the case; and all sums so refunded shall be applied, under the direction of the magistrate, for behoof of the apprentice.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xvi.

51. The magistrate may order any sum recovered for behoof of the apprentice, on cancelling the contract, to be either laid out in binding him to another master, or otherwise for his benefit, or to be paid to the person by whom any premium was paid when he was bound apprentice.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xvii.

52. No magistrate shall entertain a complaint on the part of a master against an apprentice under this Act, unless it be brought within one month after the cause of complaint arose; or if the cause of complaint arose on board ship during a voyage, within one month after the arrival thereof at a port or place in the said territories: and no magistrate shall entertain a complaint on the part of an apprentice against his master, or the agent of his master, under this Act, unless it be brought within three months after the cause of complaint arose; or if the cause of complaint arose on board ship during a voyage, within three months after the arrival thereof at a port or place in the said territories.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xviii.

53. If the master of any apprentice shall die before the end of the apprenticeship, the contract of apprenticeship shall be thereby determined; and a proportionate part, corresponding to the unexpired portion of the term, of any premium which shall have been paid to such master on the binding of the apprentice to him, shall be returned by the executors or administrators out of the estate of the deceased to the person or persons who shall have paid the same; unless the executors or administrators of the deceased master shall continue the business in which such apprentice shall have been employed, and shall, within three months from the death of the late master, make offer in writing to keep the apprentice on the terms of the original contract, in which case the estate of the deceased shall be discharged from all liabilities on account of such premium.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xix.

54. If such offer to keep the apprentice shall be made as aforesaid, the same shall be fully expressed and certified by the executors and administrators on the original contract of apprenticeship, and also on the office copies thereof, by the magistrate or registering officer, and the apprentice shall be bound to the executors or administrators so keeping him for the remaining term of his apprenticeship.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xx.

55. Any apprentice bound under this Act whose master shall die during the apprenticeship, shall be entitled to maintenance for three months from and after the death of his master, out of the assets left by him; provided that during such three months such apprentice shall continue to live with, and serve as an apprentice, the executors or administrators of such master, or such person as they shall appoint.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xxi.

56. The apprentice of any person against whom a commission of bankruptcy shall be issued, or who shall be adjudged to have committed an act of insolvency during the apprenticeship, shall be discharged from all obligation under the contract of apprenticeship; and, if any premium was paid on binding him as an apprentice, he, or the person by whom he was bound, shall be entitled to claim the amount thereof as a debt against the estate of the bankrupt or insolvent.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xxii.

57. For the purposes of this Act, all British subjects, wherever or of whatever parents born, as well as other persons in the territories under the Government of the East India Company, without the town of Calcutta, shall be amenable to the jurisdiction of the courts and magistrates of the East India Company.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xxiii.

58. An appeal shall lie from any order passed by any magistrate without the said town and island to the Court of Session to which such magistrate is subordinate, provided the appeal is made within one month from the date of the order.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xxiv.

59. In this Act the words "master," "owner," "person," and the pronoun "he," shall be understood to include several persons as well as one person, and females as well as males, and bodies corporate as well as individuals, unless there is something in the context repugnant to such construction.—Act XIX, 1850, sec. xxv.

NATURALIZATION OF ALIENS.

62. Any person whilst actually residing in any part of the territories under the Government of the East India Company may present a memorial to Government, praying that the privileges of naturalization may be conferred upon him.—Act XXX, 1852, sec. i.

63. Such memorial shall state, to the best of the knowledge and belief of the memorialist, his age, place of birth, place of residence, profession, trade or occupation, the length of time during which he has resided within the said territories, that he is settled in the said territories, or is residing within the same with intent to settle therein, and any other particulars which the Government may require to be stated therein, and such memorial shall be in writing and signed by the memorialist, and accompanied by an affidavit sworn by him, verifying the truth of the statements contained therein.—Act XXX, 1852, sec. ii.

64. The memorial shall be considered by the Government to whom it shall be presented, who shall inquire into the circumstances of the case, and may require such evidence, either by affidavit or otherwise, as they may deem proper, in addition to the before-mentioned affidavit of the memorialist, to prove the truth of the statements contained in such memorial.—Act XXX, 1852, sec. iii.

65. The Government may, if they shall think fit, issue a certificate in writing reciting such of the contents of the memorial as they may consider to be true and material, and granting to the memorialist all the rights, privileges, and capacities of naturalization under this Act, except such rights, privileges, or capacities, if any, as may be specially excepted in such certificate.—Act XXX, 1852, sec. iv.

66. The certificate shall be delivered to the memorialist, and a copy or duplicate thereof, together with the memorial upon which the same shall be obtained, and any affidavit which may accompany such memorial or be produced in support thereof, shall be filed by the secretary to the Government, or such other officer as the Government may direct; and such secretary or officer shall keep an alphabetical list of all persons who may be naturalized by such Government.—Act XXX. 1852, sec. v.

67. If any material statement contained in such memorial shall be false, the Government may, if they think fit, by an order in writing, declare the certificate issued upon such memorial to be null and void to all intents and purposes, except such purposes, if any, as may be specially excepted in such order; and from and after such order all the rights, privileges, and capacities derived through such certificate shall cease to exist.—Act XXX, 1852, sec. vi.

68. Such fees shall be payable in respect of the proceedings hereby authorized as shall be fixed by the Government.—Act XXX, 1852, sec. vii.

69. Upon obtaining such certificate, and taking and subscribing the oath as hereinafter prescribed, the memorialist shall within the said territories under the Government of the East India Company be deemed a natural born subject of Her Majesty as if he had been born within the said territories, and shall be entitled within the said territories to all the rights, privileges, and capacities of a subject of Her Majesty born within the said territories, except such rights, privileges, and capacities, if any, as may be specially excepted in such certificate.—Act XXX, 1852, sec. viii.

70. Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed so as to deprive the courts of the East India Company of jurisdiction over any such naturalized person, or to give to the courts of Her Majesty any jurisdiction over any such person not otherwise subject to such jurisdiction.—Act XXX, 1852, sec. ix.

71. Within sixty days from the day of the date of such certificate, the memorialist named in such certificate shall take and subscribe the oath contained in the schedule annexed to this Act.—Act XXX, 1852, sec. x.

72. Such oath, as well as any other oath or affidavit required by this Act, may be administered by any magistrate or justice of the peace within the limits of his jurisdiction, or by any other person to be appointed for that purpose by Government, and the person who shall administer the oath mentioned in the schedule to this Act annexed shall grant to the memorialist a certificate in writing of his having taken and subscribed such oath, and of the date of his taking and subscribing the same, and shall forward to the Government the oath so taken and subscribed, together with a duplicate of such certificate, which oath and duplicate certificate shall be filed and kept with the memorial.—Act XXX, 1852. sec. xi.

73. The word "Government" in this Act shall be deemed to mean the person or persons for the time being lawfully entitled to administer the executive Government in that part of the said territories in which the memorialist shall reside at the time of presenting such memorial. The word "magistrate" shall include any person lawfully exercising the powers of a magistrate; and words denoting the masculine gender shall include the feminine.—Act XXX, 1852. sec. xii.

74. In every case in which the word "oath" or "affidavit" is used in this Act, an affirmation to the same effect as the oath or affidavit required shall be sufficient in cases where the person required to make such oath or affidavit shall be a person allowed by law to affirm in civil cases, and in every such case such affirmation shall be made before the person authorised to administer the oath, and the word "oath" or "affidavit" wherever used in this Act shall include such affirmation. —Act XXX, 1852, sec. xiii.

75. SCHEDULE.

OATH

I, A B, [here set the description of the party] do swear [or being one of the persons allowed by law to affirm in civil cases, do affirm] that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to the Sovereign of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of these territories as dependent thereon, and that I will be true and faithful to the East India Company

MISCELLANEOUS.

COINAGE AND MINTS.

GENERAL RULES.

1. To guard as far as possible against the counterfeiting, clipping, drilling, filing, defacing, or debasing the coin, the edges of both the gold and silver coin are to be milled, and the dies are to be made of the same size as the coin, so that the whole of the impression may appear upon the surface of it.—Reg. XXXV, 1793, sec. vii.

2. Persons charged with counterfeiting, clipping, filing, drilling, defacing, or debasing the gold or silver coin, are to be committed to the Criminal Courts, and punished according as the law may direct.—Reg. XXXV, 1793, sec. xii.

NOTE.—See "CRIMINAL JUDICATURE," Specific Offences, paragraphs 82, 83, and 97 to 100.

3. All officers, agents, gomastahs, or others employed in the collection or payment of the public revenue or the rents of individuals, or the manufacture of salt or opium, and all proprietors and farmers of land, dependent talookdars, under-farmers, and ryots, and all persons whosoever, are prohibited affixing any mark whatever to the gold or silver coin.—Reg. XXXV, 1793, sec. xiii.

4. No duty is to be charged on the recoinage of old or light gold mohurs, or half or quarter gold mohurs, coined at the Calcutta mint since the 20th March, 1769, nor on the recoinage of any gold mohurs, or half or quarter gold mohurs, which may be coined in the mints at Patna, Dacca, Moorshedabad, or Calcutta, after this date.—Reg. XXXV. 1793, sec. xxv.

5. The following registers are to be kept open at the mint of Calcutta, for public inspection.—Reg. XXXV, 1793, sec. xxvii, cl. 1.

6. A register of unassayed bullion delivered into the mint, specifying the quantity delivered, the date on which it was received, and the name of the proprietor.—Reg. XXXV, 1793, sec. xxvii, cl. 2.

7. A register of bullion assayed and refined, specifying the date on which it was assayed and the date on which it was refined, the name of the proprietor, and the produce in rupees or gold mohurs, together with the date of the certificate granted for the produce, and the date on which such certificate was discharged.—Reg. XXXV, 1793, sec. xxvii, cl. 3.

8. Collectors of the revenue, salt agents, the mint-master at Calcutta, and their respective officers, are to be liable to be sued for damages in the Zillah or City Court to which they may be amenable, for any breach of this Regulation, or any other Regulations which may be enacted respecting the coin.—Reg. XXXV, 1793, sec. xxviii.

9. The mint-master at Calcutta is required to furnish the Board of Revenue, for the use of the Collectors, with stamped metal weights of such weight each as may be required by them; and all receipts and payments at the public treasuries are to be regulated agreeably to such standard weights.—Reg. LXI, 1795, sec. v.

10. It shall be competent to the Governor-General in Council, in his executive capacity, to direct the coining and issuing of all coins authorized by paragraphs 20 and 25; to prescribe the devices and inscriptions of the copper coins issued from the mints, and to establish, regulate, and abolish mints,* any law hitherto in force to the contrary notwithstanding.—Act XVII, 1835, sec. x.

COINAGE OF GOLD AND SILVER BULLION.

11. All silver bullion or coin (not being struck at the Calcutta mint) which may be delivered into that mint for coinage, shall be subject to a duty at the rate of two per cent. on the produce of such bullion or coin, in rupees; and the amount of the said duty shall be accordingly deducted from the return to be made to the proprietor.—Reg. XIV, 1818, sec. iii, cl. 2.

* Under this power all mints, except that of Calcutta, have been abolished.

12. Individuals who may be desirous of it shall be at liberty to have their bullion or coin converted into halves or quarters of the rupee, on condition of paying a duty at the rate of one per cent. in addition to the duty of two per cent. established by the preceding paragraph.—Reg. XIV, 1818, sec. iii, cl. 3.

13. Should, however, the coin brought to the mint for that purpose consist of Calcutta siccas of the former weight and standard, the proprietors shall only be subject to the additional duty of one per cent. and not to the duty on all other coin and bullion.—Reg. XIV, 1818, sec. iii, cl. 4.

14. On delivery of the silver bullion or coin into the mint, the mint-master shall grant to the proprietor a receipt, entitling him to a certificate from the assay-master, for the net produce of such bullion or coin, payable at the general treasury at Calcutta. The Governor-General in Council will, from time to time, determine the periods for which the certificates shall run; such determination to be made public by advertisement in the Government Gazette, and by a notice to be affixed in a conspicuous part of the mint to which the order may refer.—Reg. XIV, 1818, sec. iii, cl. 5; Reg. V, 1819, sec. iii.

15. A duty shall be levied at the rate of two rupees per cent. at the Calcutta mint, on the produce of all gold bullion and on all gold coin, with the exception of the mohurs, half mohurs, and quarter mohurs, mentioned in paragraph 4, on the recoinage of which no duty shall be levied.—Reg. II, 1812, sec. v, cl. 2; Reg. V, 1819, sec. v.

16. For all gold bullion or coin equal to, or better than the standard prescribed for the gold mohur by Regulation XIV, 1818, which may be brought to the mint for coinage, a number of the new gold mohurs, or of the halves and quarters of such mohurs, equal to the produce of such bullion, shall be returned to the proprietor, after deducting the duty of two per cent.—Reg. XIV, 1818, sec. v, cl. 2; Reg. V, 1819, sec. v.

17. All gold bullion or gold coin being under the above specified standard, which may be delivered into the Calcutta mint for coinage, shall in addition to the duty of two rupees per cent., be subject to a charge on account of the loss and expense of refining, together with the established deduction on account of the inferiority of standard.—Reg. XIV, 1818, sec. v, cl. 3; Reg. V, 1819, sec. v.

18. The mint-master, on the delivery of gold bullion or coin into the mint of Calcutta for coinage, shall grant to the proprietor a receipt, entitling him to a certificate from the assay-master, for the net produce of such bullion or coin, payable at the general treasury at Calcutta. The Governor-General in Council will from time to time determine the periods for which the certificates shall run; such determination to be made public by advertisement in the Government Gazette, and by a notice to be affixed in a conspicuous part of the mint to which the order may refer.—Reg. II, 1812, sec. v, cl. 5; Reg. V, 1819, sec. iii.

19. The proprietor of any gold or silver bullion or coin, brought to the Calcutta mint for coinage, who may be dissatisfied with the assay-master's report of its value, shall be at liberty to withdraw such bullion or coin without being subject to the duties on coinage established by the present rules.—Reg. II, 1812, sec. vi.

GOLD COIN.

20. The undermentioned gold coins only shall henceforth be coined at the mints within the territories of the East-India Company.—Act XVII, 1835, sec. vi.

First. A gold mohur or 15-rupee piece of the weight of 180 grains troy, and of the following standard, viz.:

$\frac{11}{12}$ or 165 grains of pure gold,
$\frac{1}{12}$ or 15 grains of alloy.

Second. A five-rupee piece, equal to a third of a gold mohur.

Third. A ten-rupee piece, equal to two-thirds of a gold mohur.

Fourth. A thirty-rupee piece, or double gold mohur; and the three last-mentioned coins shall be of the same standard with the gold mohur, and of proportionate weight.—Act XVII, 1835, sec. vii.

21. These gold coins shall bear on the obverse the head and name of the reigning sovereign of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and on the reverse the designation of the coin in English and Persian, and the words "East-India Company" in English, with such embellishment as shall from time to time be ordered by the Governor-General in Council, which shall always be different from that of the silver coinage.—Act XVII, 1835, sec. viii.

22. So much of the preceding paragraph as directs that certain coins issued from the mints within the territories of the East-India Company shall bear on the obverse the head of the reigning Sovereign of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, shall be suspended till the Governor-General of India in Council shall, by an order in council, declare those parts of the said paragraph to be again in force.—Act XXXI, 1837, sec. i.

23. Till the said Governor-General in Council shall make such an order in council as is aforesaid, the said coins shall bear on their obverse the head of his late Majesty, William the Fourth.—Act XXXI, 1837, sec. ii.

24. No gold coin shall henceforward be a legal tender of payment in any of the territories of the East India Company.—Act XVII, 1835, sec. ix.

NOTE.—See paragraph 33.

SILVER COIN.

25. From the 1st day of September, 1835, the under-mentioned silver coins shall be coined at the mints within the territories of the East India Company: a rupee, to be denominated the Company's rupee; a half rupee, a quarter rupee, and a double rupee; and the weight of the said rupee shall be 183 grains troy, and the standard shall be as follows:

$\frac{11}{12}$ or 165 grains of pure silver,
$\frac{1}{12}$ or 15 grains of alloy,

and the other coins shall be of proportionate weight, and of the same standard.—Act XVII, 1835, sec. i.

26. From the 1st January, 1838, the Calcutta sicca rupee shall cease to be a legal tender in discharge of any debt, but shall be received by the collectors of land revenue, and at all other public treasuries, by weight, and subject to a charge of one per cent. for re-coinage.—Act XIII, 1836, sec. i.

27. It shall be lawful for the Governor-General of India in Council, in his executive capacity, to direct the coinage and issue of any silver coins, of a value represented in even annas or sixteenths of the Company's rupee, provided they be of the same standard as that prescribed for such rupee by paragraph 25, and of proportionate weight.—Act XXI, 1838, sec. i.

28. These coins shall bear on the obverse the head and the name of the reigning sovereign of the kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and on the reverse the designation of the coin in English and Persian, and the words "East India Company" in English, with such embellishment as shall, from time to time, be ordered by the Governor-General in Council.—Act XVII, 1835, sec. ii.

NOTE.—See paragraphs 22 and 23.

29. The Company's rupee, half rupee, and double rupee, shall be a legal tender in satisfaction of all engagements, provided the coin shall not have lost more than two per cent. in weight, and provided it shall not have been clipped or filed, or have been defaced otherwise than by use.—Act XVII, 1835, sec. iii.

30. The said rupee shall be received as equivalent to the Bombay, Madras, Furruckabad, and Sonat rupees, and to fifteen-sixteenths of the Calcutta sicca rupee; and the half and double rupee respectively shall be received as equivalent to the half and double of the above-mentioned Bombay, Madras, Furruckabad, and Sonat rupees, and to the half and double of fifteen-sixteenths of the Calcutta sicca rupee.—Act XVII, 1835, sec. iv.

31. The Company's quarter rupee shall be a legal tender only in payment of the fraction of a rupee.—Act XVII, 1835, sec. v.

32. Provided, that if in any contract for the payment of Calcutta sicca rupees it shall have been specially stipulated that if payment be made in the territories of the Madras, Bombay, or Agra presidency, it shall be made in the rupee now current in those presidencies respectively, at a different rate from that above provided with reference to the Calcutta sicca rupee, the contract shall be satisfied by payment, within those presidencies, of Company's rupees of the amount of Furruckabad, Madras, or Bombay rupees so especially stipulated; provided also, that if payment of the principal or interest of the public debt be made for the convenience of creditors at any public treasury other than as stipulated in the notes and engagement of the Government, it shall be competent to the Government to make such payments at the same exchange as heretofore.—Act XVII, 1835, sec. vi.

33. The provisions of paragraphs 21 to 23 and 28, applicable to the devices, inscriptions, and embellishments of the coins coined and issued by virtue of paragraphs 20 and 25, shall be applicable to the coins which may be coined and issued by virtue of paragraph 27.—Act XXI, 1838, sec. ii.

NOTE.—The following two Regulations are in great measure superseded, but it seemed necessary to retain the first (Reg. V, of 1821) as determining an important point, namely, how the assessment is to be adjusted in the cases of lands in Benares permanently settled in Gohurshahee and Tirsoolee rupees. The exchange in such cases was calculated upon the standard fixed for the Furruckabad rupees by Regulation XI, 1819, since altered by Regulation VII, 1833. This latter Regulation is the second of the two retained, as it fixes the standard of the Furruckabad rupee, which is nowhere else done; and that rupee is the same in standard as the Company's rupee, now declared the only one current by Act XVII, 1835.

34. It is enacted by Regulation XI, 1819, that the Furruckabad rupees shall be received within the province of Benares at par with the Benares rupees; but no provision has been made for regulating the exchange in account between the said rupees and the Gohurshahee and Tirsoolee rupees, in which it appears that the engagements of many malguzars are expressed; moreover, the batta to be taken from such malguzars has hitherto been arbitrarily fixed, and considerable abuses have consequently prevailed. The intrinsic value of the coins having been now ascertained by a careful assay, whence it has appeared that the rupee denominated Chorah Gohurshahee exceeds, and the other descriptions of Gohurshahee rupees equal, the Furruckabad rupee in value, and that the latter coin is 3. 11. 7. per cent. superior in value to the Tirsoolee rupee, the revenue officers have been directed to adjust their demands on the said malguzars according to the results of the assay, subject to the general principle of receiving the Furruckabad rupee at par with the Benares rupee, and without any demand of batta on account of its inferiority in value below the local currency. In pursuance of the orders already issued in this matter, and for the purpose of making generally known the results of the assays, and of removing all doubts as to the rate at which rupees denominated Gohurshahee and Tirsoolee are to be valued, the following rules have been enacted, to be in force from the date of their promulgation.—Reg. V, 1821, Preamble.

35. The Benares and Furruckabad rupees, which are now received as of equal value in all payments of the Government revenue, shall be paid and received in lieu of the Gohurshahee rupees, and at par with the same, in liquidation of all demands on any malguzar or other person who may have entered into engagements with Government, expressed in any description of Gohurshahee rupee. The Gohurshahee rupee shall be held and considered as of equal value with the Furruckabad and Benares rupees in the adjustment of all claims or demands on account of revenue arising out of such engagements as aforesaid, which may be suspended or unsettled; and no malguzar or other person aforesaid shall be entitled to any deduction or allowance, by way of batta or the like, on account of payments made or tendered by him in Benares or Furruckabad rupees, in fulfilment of engagements expressed in Gohurshahee rupees: provided always, that in cases in which such deduction or allowance may have been made, and receipts granted or credit given accordingly, nothing in this Regulation shall be understood to authorize the officers of Government or individuals to make any demand on account of such deduction or allowance, nor shall any such demand be held valid.—Reg. V, 1821, sec. ii.

36. All malguzars or other persons whose engagements are expressed in Tirsoolee rupees, shall be allowed a batta of rupees 3. 11. 7. per cent. on payments made in Furruckabad or Benares rupees; that is to say, on the payment of rupees 96. 4. 5. of the Furruckabad or Benares currency, the said persons shall have credit for 100 Tirsoolee rupees, in liquidation of demands under engagements expressed in that description of rupee: provided always, that all suspended or unsettled demands or accounts shall be adjusted on the same principle, but no fresh demands shall be admitted on account of any deduction or allowance made in the settlement of accounts already adjusted.—Reg. V, 1821, sec. iii.

37. All mehauls held in farm within the province of Benares, whereof there may be no ancient proprietors forthcoming entitled to re-enter subject to the payment of the jumma already fixed, being open to re-settlement on the death of the farmers, it is hereby declared and enacted, that the collectors within the said province shall hereafter adjust the assessment of such estates, with reference to the assets estimated in Furruckabad rupees, and that the engagements of the malguzars of such estates shall be uniformly expressed in that currency. In like manner, in cases wherein the ancient zemindars may be entitled to re-enter, subject to the payment of the jumma already fixed, the said jumma, if expressed in Gohurshahee or Tirsoolee rupees, shall be converted into Furruckabad rupees at the rates hereinbefore specified, and the engagements of the proprietors shall be expressed in the last-mentioned currency.—Reg. V, 1821, sec. iv.

38. The use of the sicca weight of 179·666 grains, hitherto employed for the receipt of bullion at the mint, being in fact the weight of the Moorshedabad rupee of the old standard, which was assumed as the sicca currency of the Honourable Company's provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, shall be discontinued; and in its place the following unit, to be called the Tola, shall be introduced, which, from its immediate connexion with the rupee of the Upper Provinces, and of Madras and Bombay, will easily and speedily become universal through the British territories.

The tola or sicca weight to be equal to one hundred and eighty grains troy, and the other denominations of weight to be derived from this unit, according to the following scale, viz.—

8 Ruttees = 1 Masha = 15 troy grains.
12 Mashas = 1 Tola = 180 ditto.
80 Tolas (or sicca weight) = 1 seer = 2½ lbs. troy.
40 Seers = 1 Mun, or Bazar Maund = 100 lbs. troy.

—Reg. VII, 1833, sec. iv.

39. The calculation of produce of bullion at the mints of Saugor* and Calcutta will be made in accordance with the system hereinbefore set forth, subject to the duty or seignorage of two per cent. already provided by the mint regulations; and in case of bullion below dollar standard, or more than 6 dwts. worse, subject to a further mint charge to cover the expense of refining it up to standard purity, it being optional with the proprietor of the bullion to refine it out of the mint, or to pay the refinage charge according to established rates. A table of the produce of silver bullion, calculated according to the scale of tola weight, and the modification of the sicca and Furruckabad rupee herein prescribed, is annexed to this Regulation.—Reg. VII, 1833, sec. v.

40. The system of weights described in paragraph 38 is to be adopted at the mints and assay offices of Calcutta and Saugor respectively,* in the adjustment and verification of all weights for Government or public purposes, sent thither for examination.—Reg. VII, 1833, sec. vi.

* There is now no mint at Saugor.

All bullion or foreign coin brought to the Mint for coinage is subject to a seignorage of two per cent.; but upon the re-coinage of rupees, struck at any of the Honourable Company's mints, a duty of one per cent. only is levied.

Upon all bullion of a quality inferior to standard (unless the same be required at the Mint for the purposes of alligation), a charge is made for the expense of refining the said bullion up to the quality of the rupee, at the rate of 0·4 per cent. per dwt. of worseness in the assay report. Thus, upon bullion reported 12½ dwts. worse, the charge for refinage will be,—

12½ multiplied by ·04=0·50, or one-half per cent.

Upon 20 Wo. it will be 20 × ·04=0·80 per cent.

and so on for silver of other qualities, as in the following Table:—

EMIGRATION.

1. On and after the 1st day of July, 1839, every person who shall make with any native of India any contract for labour to be performed in any British or foreign colony without the territories of the East-India Company, or who shall knowingly abet or aid any native of India in emigrating from the said territories for the purpose of being employed as a labourer, shall be liable, on conviction before a magistrate or justice of the peace, to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees for every native so contracted with, aided, or abetted, and in default of payment of such fine, shall be liable to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding three months.—Act XIV., 1839, sec. ii.

2. Provided always, that nothing in this Act contained shall be taken to apply to any native seaman who shall of his own free will contract to navigate any vessel, or who shall embark on board such vessel in pursuance of such contract, or to any person who shall contract to serve as a menial servant only, or who shall embark as such menial servant.—Act XIV., 1839, sec. iii.

3. Any person who, by force or fraud, unlawfully detains in any place or decoys to any place any native of India, with intent to force or prevail upon him to enter into any service, or contract for service to be performed out of the territories under the Government of the East-India Company into which he was not minded to enter without such force or fraud, or who, by means of false imprisonment, intoxication, intimidation, force, or fraud, causes any native of India to enter into any such service or contract for service, or who attempts, by force or fraud or by any false promise, pretence, or representation, to cause any native of India to depart, either by land or water, from the territories under the Government of the East-India Company, is a crimp, and guilty of crimping within the meaning of this Act.—Act XXIV., 1852, sec. i.

4. The departure of any person out of the territories under the Government of the East-India Company, by land or water, is emigration from the said territories within the meaning of Act XIV., 1839, and of this Act.—Act XXIV., 1852, sec. ii.

5. No person shall be liable to the penalties of Act XIV., 1839, for making, in good faith, any contract with any native of India for labour to be performed in any foreign settlement on the mainland of India, or for knowingly abetting or aiding any native of India in emigrating from the said territories to any such foreign settlement. Provided that if any person shall make any contract with any native of India for service or labour to be performed by such native out of the territories under the Government of the East-India Company, or cause any native of India to depart from the territories under the Government of the East-India Company, or knowingly aid or abet such native of India in emigrating from the said territories to any such foreign settlement with intent that such native shall afterwards depart from India, such person shall be deemed to be a crimp and guilty of crimping within the meaning of this Act, and proof of the subsequent departure of such native from India from any place out of the territories under the Government of the East-India Company within the period of six months from the time of the departure of such native from the said territories under the Government of the East-India Company, shall be primâ-facie evidence of such intent.—Act XXIV., 1852, sec. iii.

6. Every crimp within the meaning of this Act is liable to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six calendar months, and to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.—Act XXIV., 1852, sec. iv.

7. Every person who shall, by means of intoxication, false imprisonment, or intimidation, or by means of any false promise, pretence, or representation, force or decoy any native of India out of the territories under the Government of the East-India Company, or fraudulently cause any such native to depart from the said territories, shall be liable to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding three years.—Act XXIV., 1852, sec. v.

8. In every case in which under this Act imprisonment may be awarded for any offence, it shall be lawful for the Court, who may award such imprisonment, to sentence the offender to be kept to hard labour during the whole or such period or periods of such imprisonment as to such Court shall seem meet.—Act XXIV., 1852, sec. vi.

9. In every case in which an offender shall be liable to be imprisoned under paragraph 1, such offender shall be liable to be imprisoned, or imprisoned and kept to hard labour, for a term not exceeding three months for every native contracted with, provided that such imprisonment shall not in any case exceed six months for any one offence.—Act XXIV., 1852, sec. vii.

10. In every case in which any person shall commit an offence under paragraph 1, as explained and amended by this Act, after having been previously convicted, either before or after the passing of this Act, of an offence under that paragraph, such person shall be liable, upon conviction before a Criminal Court of competent jurisdiction, to be imprisoned, or imprisoned and kept to hard labour, for any period not exceeding one year; and in every indictment, information, or other proceeding for such an offence committed after such previous conviction, it shall be sufficient, after describing the offence, to state that the offender was at a certain time and place convicted of an offence under the above-mentioned paragraph, without otherwise describing such previous offence or conviction, and a certificate of the previous conviction, purporting to be signed by the officer having the custody of such previous conviction, or by the deputy or legally authorized assistant of such officer, shall, with proof of the identity of the person of the offender, be sufficient primâ-facie evidence of the first conviction, without proof of the signature or official character of the person appearing to have signed such certificate.—Act XXIV., 1852, sec. viii.

11. The term "magistrate" in Act XIV., 1839, shall extend to joint magistrates and persons lawfully exercising the powers of a magistrate.—Act XXIV., 1852, sec. ix.

12.—EMIGRATION TO MAURITIUS.

HER MAJESTY'S ORDER IN COUNCIL.

AT THE COURT AT WINDSOR,

THE 15TH OF JANUARY, 1842.

Present:

THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

|---|---|
| Lord President. | Lord Stanley. |
| Lord Privy Seal. | Lord Fitzgerald and Vesci. |
| Lord Steward. | Sir Robert Peel, Bart. |
| Lord Chamberlain. | Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer. |
| Earl of Jersey. | Sir James Graham, Bart. |
| Earl of Ripon. | Sir Edward Knatchbull, Bart. |

Whereas it is probable that the laws now in force in British India for preventing the emigration of the inhabitants thereof to her Majesty's colonial possessions will be shortly repealed so far as regards emigration to the island of Mauritius, and that such last-mentioned emigration will be sanctioned by laws to be for that purpose enacted in India, subject to various provisions to be in such laws made for the protection of such emigrants, and for the prevention of abuses: And whereas it is probable that amongst the provisions so to be made, as last aforesaid, will be a provision for enabling the Governor-General of India to appoint, at ports or places in India, officers charged with the care, protection, and superintendence of all persons proposing to emigrate as labourers from India to Mauritius: And whereas it is probable that provision will be made by law at Mauritius for defraying from the public revenue of that island the expense of introducing emigration thither from British India: And whereas it is necessary that effectual provision should be made by law at Mauritius for regulating any such expenditure, and for the prevention of abuses in the introduction of emigrants from British India into that island,—it is therefore hereby ordered by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice of her Majesty's Privy Council, that in the event of any law being made in British India, authorizing the emigration to Mauritius of the natives of India, and repealing the restrictions now in force there in regard to such emigrations, and in the event of any such laws containing provisions enabling the Governor-General of India to appoint, at the several ports of embarkation in India, officers charged with the protection of persons emigrating from such ports to Mauritius, the various rules and Regulations comprised and set forth in the schedule to this present order subjoined, shall, within the island of Mauritius, have the force and effect of law, and shall be observed and carried into effect by all her Majesty's officers, civil and military, in Mauritius, and by all her Majesty's subjects within the same island as to them may respectively appertain.

And the Right Honourable Lord Stanley, one of her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, is to give the necessary instructions herein accordingly.

(Signed) C. GREVILLE.

THE SCHEDULE referred to in the preceding Order, comprising the Rules and Regulations to be observed at Mauritius in regard to Emigrants from British India, resorting to and arriving at that Island.

First. The Governor of Mauritius may from time to time nominate such persons as he shall see fit to act as emigration agents at any port or place in India which the Governor-General of India may designate as a port or place for the embarkation of emigrants to Mauritius, and may also from time to time nominate a proper person to act as protector of immigrants at Mauritius.

Second. The remuneration to be given to any such agent in India, shall not depend upon or be regulated by the number of the emigrants sent to Mauritius by him, but shall be in the nature of an annual salary.

Third. Every such emigration agent shall ascertain, by personal communication with every emigrant, previously to his or her embarkation from the port or place for which such agent shall be appointed, that such emigrant has not been induced to emigrate by any fraud, false nor unreasonable expectation, and is aware of the distance of Mauritius from the place where he or she is about to emigrate; and such agent shall explain the real advantages likely to be derived by such emigrants from a removal to Mauritius, and at the same time cautioning such emigrant against unreasonable and unwarrantable expectations; and such agent shall also ascertain that every such emigrant is in good health, and not incapacitated from labour by old age, bodily infirmity, or disease.

Fourth. It shall not be lawful to ship on board of any ship or vessel carrying emigrants from India to Mauritius, any number of passengers exceeding the proportion of one person for every two tons of the registered burthen of such ship or vessel, and no such ship or vessel carrying emigrants, and having more than one deck, shall have less than the height of six feet at the least between decks, and in case such ship or vessel shall have only one deck, a platform shall be laid beneath such deck, and in such manner as to afford a space of the height of six feet at the least, and that such platform shall not be so laid as that the lower beams shall project above the same, and that no such ship or vessel shall have more than two tiers of berths, and that no such ship or vessel shall carry passengers on any such voyage to Mauritius unless there shall be an interval of six inches at least between the deck or platform, and the floor of the lower tier throughout the whole extent thereof; and whatever may be the tonnage of the ship or vessel, no greater number of passengers shall be taken on board of such ship or vessel than shall be after the rate of one such person for every twelve superficial feet of the lower deck or platform, unoccupied by goods or stores, not being the personal luggage of such persons.

NOTE.—See paragraph 31, post.

Fifth. In the computation of the number of passengers within the meaning of these Regulations, two children under the age of ten years shall be considered as equal to and shall be reckoned as one person only.

Sixth. There shall be actually laden and on board of every ship or vessel bringing emigrants into Mauritius, at the time of departure of such ship or vessel from the port or place at which such labourers shall be embarked, good and wholesome provisions for the use and consumption of the said passengers over and above the victualling of the crew to the amount or in the proportion following; that is to say, a supply of water to the amount of five gallons to every week of the computed voyage for every passenger on board such ship or vessel, such water being carried in tanks or sweet casks, and a supply of rice, bread, biscuit, flour, oatmeal, or bread stuffs, to the amount of seven pounds weight to every week of the computed voyage for every such passenger. Provided always, that when any such ship or vessel shall be destined to call at a port or place in the course of her voyage for the purpose of filling up her water-casks, a supply of water at the rate before mentioned for every week of an average voyage to such port or place of calling shall be deemed to be a compliance with this Regulation. And provided that the preceding Regulation regarding food shall be deemed to have been complied with in any case where it shall be made to appear that, by the special authority of the Governor-General of India, any other articles of food were substituted for the articles above enumerated as being in his judgment equivalent thereto.

Seventh. The number of weeks which shall be deemed necessary for the voyage to Mauritius from any port or ports in India shall be such as shall, from time to time, be determined by any law or ordinance to be promulgated for that purpose by the Governor-General of India in Council, and according to any such law or ordinance shall and may be further determined whether at different periods of the year different estimations are to be made of the probable length of any such voyage, and if by any such law or ordinance the removal of emigrants should, during any particular period of the year, be prohibited altogether, then any such removal during such prohibited period shall in Mauritius be regarded, dealt with, and punished as an infringement of these present Regulations

Eighth Before any such ship or vessel shall be cleared out on any such voyage, the agent, appointed under this ordinance for the port or place from which such ship or vessel shall be cleared out, shall survey or cause to be surveyed by some competent person the provisions and water hereinbefore required to be on board for the consumption of passengers, and shall ascertain that the same are in good and sweet condition, and also that over and above the same there is on board an ample supply of water and stores for the victualling of the crew of the ship or vessel, and shall also ascertain that such ship or vessel is generally reputed seaworthy, and that the directions hereinbefore contained for insuring the health and safety of the passengers have been complied with, and shall grant a certificate thereof under his hand to the master of such ship or vessel.

Ninth The master of every ship or vessel bringing emigrants to Mauritius shall be bound to provide for and furnish to every such emigrant and his wife and children a sufficient quantity of good and wholesome provisions for his, her, and their daily maintenance during such voyage, and during the space of forty-eight hours next after the arrival of such ship or vessel in Mauritius.

Tenth Two copies of these Regulations, authenticated by the signature of the agent at the port or place from which such emigrants shall come, shall be delivered to the master by such agent on demand at the time of clearance, and shall be kept on board of every ship or vessel carrying such emigrants as aforesaid, and one of such copies shall, upon request made at seasonable times to the master of the ship or vessel, be produced to any passenger for his perusal

Eleventh The master of every ship or vessel carrying emigrants from India to Mauritius shall, before clearing out such ship or vessel, deliver to such agent, at the port or place from which such vessel shall be cleared out, a list in writing together with a duplicate of the same, specifying as accurately as may be the names, ages, and occupations of all and every the emigrants on board such ship or vessel, and such agent shall thereupon deliver to the said master the counterpart of such lists, signed by such agent, and the said master shall on the arrival of such ship or vessel at Mauritius, and previous to the disembarkation of any such emigrants, give notice of the arrival of such ship or vessel, and deliver the said counterpart of such list to the protector of immigrants hereinbefore mentioned And such protector of immigrants shall forthwith proceed on board of such ship or vessel, and shall ascertain as far as possible by personal inspection of the ship or vessel and passengers whether the directions hereinbefore contained with regard to the situation of the berth of such ship or vessel, the proportion of the passengers to the burthens and measurement of such ship or vessel, and the maintenance of the emigrants during such passage, have been complied with, and such protector of immigrants shall personally muster such emigrants and compare the number and names of such emigrants with the said counterparts of such lists, and shall certify in writing under his hand upon such counterpart the total number of emigrants then living and being on board of such vessel, and in case any such emigrant shall have died during the passage, or the number of the names of the emigrants shall differ from the number or names stated in such counterpart, the protector of immigrants shall note such death or difference upon such counterpart, and thereupon shall grant a license under his hand for the disembarkation and landing of such emigrants

Twelfth If the protector of immigrants, on such personal inspection of the ship or vessel and emigrants, shall be satisfied that the preceding Regulations have been complied with, he shall grant a certificate under his hand of the arrival in Mauritius of such emigrants respectively, and the place from which and the ship or vessel in which such emigrants shall have arrived

Thirteenth No money shall be payable by the colonial treasurer of Mauritius in respect of any such emigrants as aforesaid, except on the warrant of the Governor of that island, which warrant shall not be issued except on such certificate as aforesaid of the said protector of immigrants

Fourteenth The protector of immigrants shall keep a register of all persons in respect of whom any such certificate as aforesaid shall be granted, and of the ship or vessel in which, the port from which, and the time at which such person shall have arrived in this colony, a copy of which registry shall be laid before the Council of Government, on the 31st day of March, the 30th of June, the 30th day of September, and the 31st of December in each year.

Fifteenth If any ship or vessel bringing emigrants from India to Mauritius shall carry any number of passengers exceeding the proportion authorized and allowed by these Regulations, a penalty of five pounds per head shall be payable in respect of each passenger so carried in excess of such proportion, or if such ship or vessel shall not be of the height between decks hereinbefore required, or if such a platform as hereinbefore directed shall not be laid and continued throughout the whole duration of any such voyage, in such manner as is hereinbefore required, or if there shall be more than two tiers of berths, or if there shall not be throughout the whole duration of any such voyage, such an interval as is hereinbefore prescribed between the deck and the floor of the lower tier of berths; or if any such ship or vessel shall clear out, and put to sea not having on board such water and provisions as aforesaid for the use and consumption of the passengers, of the kind and to the amount and in the proportion hereinbefore directed; or if any such ship or vessel shall be cleared out before such lists of emigrants shall have been delivered in manner and form aforesaid, or if any such lists shall be wilfully false; or if the copy of these Regulations be not produced as hereinbefore required, or if any emigrant shall not be maintained during such voyage, and for forty-eight hours after his arrival; the master of any such ship or vessel shall, for and in respect of each and every such offence, be liable, on summary conviction before any stipendiary magistrate at any time within the space of twelve calendar months next after the arrival of such master within the colony of Mauritius, to the payment of a fine not less than five pounds, nor more than twenty pounds British sterling; and in default of payment of the fine above mentioned either immediately, or at the time fixed by such stipendiary magistrate at the time of making such conviction, to imprisonment for any time not less than one nor more than three calendar months.

Sixteenth. Provided, nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall take away or abridge any right of suit or action which may accrue to any emigrant in any such ship or vessel, or to any other person in respect of the breach or non-performance of any contract made or entered into between, or on the behalf of any such emigrant or other person, and the master, owner or owners of any such ship or vessel.

Seventeenth. Provided always, that nothing in these Regulations contained shall apply to any ship or vessel in the service of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, or to any of her Majesty's ships of war.

Eighteenth. No emigrant arriving from India at Mauritius shall be capable of entering into any contract of service to be performed in that island, until he shall have been at least forty-eight hours on shore there, and every such contract of service made before that time shall be null and void to all intents and purposes.

Nineteenth. No emigrant arriving from India at Mauritius, and engaging to labour in that island, shall within Mauritius be liable to any action, suit, or demand, for or in respect of any debt contracted, or any contract made by such emigrant before his arrival in the said island.

Twentieth. No emigrant arriving from India at Mauritius shall in Mauritius be capable of entering into any contract for service except for the period, in the manner and under the superintendence which by a law in force there is required in the case of contracts for service made by other labourers in agriculture or manufactures within the said island.

Twenty-first. No payment shall be made from the treasury of the said island in respect of any emigrants introduced there from India, unless on proof, to the satisfaction of the Governor of Mauritius, that all rules and regulations which may be established by law in India for the advantage and protection of such emigrants have been duly complied with, such rules and regulations not being repugnant to any thing in these Regulations contained.

Twenty-second. In every case in which the penalties hereby denounced against offences are imposed by the use of the words in the masculine gender or in the singular person, such words shall be understood as extending to the feminine gender also, and to any number of persons, unless when the opposite construction is required in order to meet the object and to accomplish the ends with a view to which these Regulations are established and made.—Prefixed to Act XV., 1842. (Signed) C. GREVILLE.

13.—EMIGRATION TO JAMAICA, BRITISH GUIANA, AND TRINIDAD.

Schedule appended to Act XXI., 1844, consisting of Parts of the preceding Order in Council of Her Majesty.

First. The Governors of Jamaica, British Guiana, and Trinidad, may from time to time nominate such persons as they shall see fit to act as emigration agents at Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay.

Second. The remuneration to be given to any such agent in India shall not depend upon or be regulated by the number of the emigrants sent by him, but shall be in the nature of an annual salary.

Third. Every such emigration agent shall ascertain, by personal communication with every emigrant previously to his or her embarkation from the port or place for which such agent shall have been appointed, that such emigrant has not been induced to emigrate by any fraud, false or unreasonable expectation, and is aware of the distance of the colony to which he or she is about to emigrate from the place where he or she is about to embark; and such agent shall explain the real advantages likely to be derived by such emigrant from a removal to such colony, at the same time cautioning such emigrant against unreasonable and unwarrantable expectations; and such agent shall also ascertain that every such emigrant is in good health, and not incapacitated from labour by old age, bodily infirmity, or disease.

Fourth. It shall not be lawful to ship on board of any ship or vessel carrying emigrants from India to any of the colonies aforesaid, any number of passengers exceeding the proportion of one person for every two tons of the registered burthen of such ship or vessel, and no such ship or vessel carrying emigrants, and having more than one deck, shall have less than the height of six feet at the least between decks, and in case such ship or vessel shall have only one deck, a platform shall be laid beneath such deck and in such manner as to afford a space of the height of six feet at the least, and that such platform shall not be so laid as that the lower beams shall project above the same, and that no such ship or vessel shall have more than two tiers of berths, and that no such ship or vessel shall carry passengers on any such voyage to any of the colonies aforesaid, unless there shall be an interval of six inches at least between the deck or platform and the floor of the lower tier throughout the whole extent thereof; and whatever may be the tonnage of the ship or vessel, no greater number of passengers shall be taken on board of such ship or vessel than shall be after the rate of one such person for every twelve superficial feet of the lower deck or platform unoccupied by goods or stores not being the personal luggage of such person.

NOTE.—See paragraph 31, post.

Fifth. In the computation of the number of passengers within the meaning of these Regulations, two children under the age of ten years shall be considered as equal to, and shall be reckoned as, one person only.

Sixth. There shall be actually laden on board of every ship or vessel conveying emigrants into any of the colonies aforesaid, at the time of departure of such ship or vessel from the port or place at which such labourers shall be embarked, good and wholesome provisions for the use and consumption of the said passengers, over and above the victualling of the crew, to the amount or in the proportion following; that is to say, a supply of water to the amount of five gallons for every week of the computed voyage for every passenger on board such ship or vessel, such water being carried in tanks or sweet casks, and a supply of rice, bread, biscuit, flour, oatmeal, or bread stuffs, to the amount of seven pounds weight to every week of the computed voyage, for every such passenger; provided always, that when any such ship or vessel shall be destined to call at a port or place in the course of her voyage for the purpose of filling up her water-casks, a supply of water at the rate before mentioned for every week of an average voyage to such port or place of calling shall be deemed to be a compliance with this Regulation, and provided that the preceding Regulation regarding food shall be deemed to have been complied with in any case when it shall be made to appear that by the special authority of the Governor-General of India in Council, any other articles of food were substituted for the articles above enumerated as being in his judgment equivalent thereto.

Seventh. Before any such ship or vessel shall be cleared out on any such voyage, the agent appointed for the port or place from which such ship or vessel shall be cleared out, shall survey, or cause to be surveyed by some competent person, the provisions and water hereinbefore required to be on board for the consumption of passengers, and shall ascertain that the same are in good and sweet condition, and also that over and above the same there is on board an ample supply of water and stores for the victualling of the crew of the ship or vessel, and shall also ascertain that such ship or vessel is generally reputed sea-worthy, and that the directions hereinbefore contained for ensuring the health and safety of the passengers have been complied with, and shall grant a certificate thereof under his hand to the master of such ship or vessel.

Eighth. The master of every ship or vessel conveying emigrants to Jamaica, British Guiana, or Trinidad, shall be bound to provide for and furnish to every such emigrant, and his wife and children, a sufficient quantity of good and wholesome provisions for his, her, and their daily maintenance during such voyage, and during the space of forty-eight hours next after the arrival of such ship or vessel at the place of destination.

Ninth. Two copies of these Regulations, authenticated by the signature of the agent at the port or place at which such emigrants shall embark, shall be delivered to the master by such agent on demand at the time of clearance, and shall be kept on board of every ship or vessel carrying such emigrants as aforesaid, and one of such copies shall, upon request made at reasonable times to the master of the ship or vessel, be produced to any passenger for his perusal.

Tenth. The master of every ship or vessel carrying emigrants from India to any of the three colonies aforesaid, shall, before clearing out such ship or vessel, deliver to such agent at the port or place from which such vessel is cleared out, a list in writing, together with a duplicate of the same, specifying as accurately as may be, the names, ages, and occupations of all and every the emigrants on board such ship or vessel, and such agent shall thereupon deliver to the said master the counterpart of such lists, signed by such agent, and the said master shall, on the arrival of such ship or vessel at the place of destination, and previous to the disembarkation of any such emigrants, give notice of the arrival of such ship or vessel, and deliver the said counterpart of such list to the protector of immigrants appointed or to be appointed at the colony at which the said ship or vessel may have arrived.

Eleventh. Provided always, that nothing in these Regulations contained shall apply to any ship or vessel in the service of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, or to any of her Majesty's ships of war.—Appended to Act XXI., 1844.

Acts of the Government of India in respect of Emigration to Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, and Trinidad.

14. In conformity with the above order, and for the purpose of giving effect thereto, it is enacted, that Act No. XIV. of 1839, and all Acts repealed thereby, so far as the same are applicable to the emigration of natives from the ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, respectively, to the Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, and Trinidad, shall be repealed. Provided always, that the aforesaid Act, No. XIV. of 1839, shall remain in full force in all the ports of India except the ports aforesaid, and in regard to emigrants from India proceeding to other places than the Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, and Trinidad.—Act XV., 1842, sec. i.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. i.

15. Emigrant labourers, being native inhabitants of the territories under the Government of the East-India Company, shall be allowed to pass and to be conveyed to the Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, and Trinidad, respectively, from the ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, respectively, but not otherwise.—Act XV., 1842, sec. ii.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. ii.

16. At each of the three ports aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Government of the presidency within which the port is situated, to authorize such persons as may be nominated by the Governments of the Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, or Trinidad, to act as emigration agents at the aforesaid ports respectively, and to exercise the powers conferred on emigration agents by this Act, and every such emigration agent shall make monthly reports to the Government to which he is subordinate of all matters transacted by him in pursuance of this Act.—Act XV., 1842, sec. iii.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. iii.

17. At each of the three ports aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Government of the presidency within which the port is situated to nominate a proper person to act as protector of emigrants at the aforesaid ports respectively.—Act XXI., 1843, sec. ii.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. iv.

18. It shall not be lawful to convey any emigrant, being a native of India, who may embark for the purpose of labouring for hire in any of the colonies of the Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, or Trinidad, from any of the ports aforesaid in any ship or vessel, unless a license be obtained for carrying emigrants in such ship or vessel from the Government of the presidency in which the port is situated. A fee, not exceeding one rupee per emigrant, as may be regulated from time to time by the local Government, shall be demandable in respect of every such license, which fee shall be carried to the credit of the said Government, and the granting or withholding any such license shall be entirely discretionary with the Government; and in consideration of such license, the master of every ship, conveying or destined to convey emigrants from India, shall execute a bond, binding himself and his owners in a penal sum of ten thousand rupees to conform to the several conditions herein provided, and the said bond shall be executed in duplicate, that it may be put in suit either at the place of execution or in the colony to which the emigrants are to be conveyed, and one copy shall be forwarded to the Government of such colony to be dealt with as the case may require. And every ship or vessel in which any such emigrant shall be conveyed without a license being obtained as aforesaid shall be liable to be forfeited, and the master thereof shall be liable as for a misdemeanor in a fine of one thousand rupees for every such emigrant so illegally conveyed.—Act XV., 1842, sec. iv.; and Act. XXI. 1844, sec. v.

19. It shall not be lawful for the master of any vessel licensed as above to receive on board any emigrant labourer, as above provided, unless such labourer shall have in his possession and show a certificate or pass to be given to him by the emigration agent of the port, countersigned by the protector, stating his name and the name of his father, and his age, and certifying that having appeared before such agent, he has declared his willingness to proceed to work for hire in the colony to which such vessel is bound, and has been engaged by him as an emigrant to such colony on the part of the Government thereof.—Act XV., 1842, sec. v.; Act XXI., 1843, sec. ii.; Act XXI., 1844, sec. vi.

20. Before any ship or vessel, so licensed to carry emigrant labourers as above provided, shall be cleared out from any of the aforesaid ports for any one of the colonies aforesaid, it shall be necessary for the master of such ship or vessel, provided any emigrant of the description aforesaid shall embark therein, to obtain from the emigration agent, so nominated and authorized at such port as aforesaid, a certificate under the hand of such agent to the effect following, that is to say:—

First. That such agent has by personal communication done what is required on the part of such agent by the Third Article of the preceding Schedule; provided always, that every such agent shall make the inquiries specified in such schedule in an open Court or public office to which all persons shall have admission.

Second. That all the directions contained in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth Articles of the said Schedules for insuring the health and safety of passengers have been duly complied with.

Third. That (in addition to the directions contained in the said schedules) such rules have been complied with as the Governor-General in Council shall from time to time frame touching the medical attendance and medical stores, and the proper clothing to be provided, the species of provisions suited to native habits, the number of women that should accompany the emigrants, or other matters.—Act XV., 1842, sec. vi.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. vii.

21. With reference to Article Seventh of the Schedule, the probable length of a voyage to the Mauritius from the respective ports aforesaid shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be for the port of Calcutta—

Between the months of April and October inclusive, ten weeks.

Between the months of November and March inclusive, eight weeks.

For the port of Madras—between the months of April and October inclusive, seven weeks; and between the months of November and March inclusive, five weeks.

For the port of Bombay—between the months of April to September inclusive, five weeks; and between the months of October to March inclusive, six weeks.

The probable lengths of the voyages to Jamaica, British Guiana, and Trinidad, from the ports aforesaid respectively, shall, for the purpose of this Act, be deemed to be—

For the port of Calcutta, twenty weeks;
For the port of Madras, nineteen weeks;
For the port of Bombay, nineteen weeks;

and that no ship or vessel carrying emigrant labourers to Jamaica, British Guiana, or Trinidad, shall sail from Calcutta at any other time than between the 31st August and the 1st of March next thereafter ensuing; nor from Madras or Bombay at other time than between the 30th day of September and the 1st of March next thereafter ensuing.—Act XV., 1842, sec. vii.; Act XXI., 1844, sec. viii.; Act IV., 1852, secs. i. and ii.

22. Before any ship or vessel shall be cleared out from any of the aforesaid ports for Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, or Trinidad, it shall be necessary for the master thereof to deliver to the emigration agent, so nominated and authorized at such port as aforesaid, the list specified in Article 11 of the schedule (Art 10, Schedule 2), and to obtain such duplicate thereof as is required by the said article.—Act XV., 1842, sec. viii.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. ix.

23. If the master of any ship or vessel shall at any of the ports aforesaid take on board such ship or vessel any emigrant labourer of the description aforesaid, and shall clear such ship or vessel for Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, or Trinidad, without having fully complied with every particular hereinbefore required previous to clearance, he shall be liable, on conviction before any magistrate or justice of the peace, in a penalty of two hundred rupees for every emigrant labourer so taken on board his ship or vessel.—Act XV., 1842, sec. ix.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. x.

24. If the master of any ship or vessel shall, after having cleared such ship or vessel at any such port as aforesaid for the Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, or Trinidad, take on board any such emigrant labourer as aforesaid, without having entered such emigrant labourer in such list as aforesaid, or without having obtained such duplicate as aforesaid containing the entry of such emigrant prior to clearance, he shall be liable, on conviction before any magistrate or justice of the peace, in a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees for every emigrant so taken on board his ship or vessel.—Act XV., 1842, sec. x.; Act XXI., 1844, sec. xi.

25. If any master of any ship or vessel cleared for the Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, or Trinidad as aforesaid, shall, after having obtained such certificate as aforesaid, fraudulently do or suffer to be done any act or thing whereby such certificate shall become inapplicable to the altered state of the ship or vessel, its passengers, or other matters to which such certificate relates, such master shall be liable, on conviction, in any penalty not exceeding five thousand rupees, beside incurring a forfeiture of any bond executed in consideration of any license obtained for the vessel as originally described.—Act XV., 1842, sec. xi.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. xii.

26. For the greater security against emigrant labourers being embarked for the Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, or Trinidad, contrary to the provisions of this Act, all the powers vested by law in the officers of customs in regard to the searching and detention of ships or vessels, or otherwise for the prevention of smuggling on board thereof, may be exercised by such officers for the prevention of the illegal embarkation of such emigrants as aforesaid on board ships or vessels bound for the Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, or Trinidad, and of other offences against this Act; and it is further enacted, that all pilots in the service of the East-India Company shall be invested with the same powers and be charged with the same duties as preventive officers of customs in this behalf.—Act XV., 1842, sec. xii.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. xiii.

27. Every person who shall attempt, by means of intoxication or by false imprisonment, or other means of crimping, to export any native on board any ship or vessel contrary to the provisions of this Act, shall be liable to be punished, on conviction before a magistrate, in a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, provided that nothing in this Act contained shall prevent the offender from being proceeded against by indictment, but the offender shall only be liable to one of these courses of proceeding.—Act XV., 1842, sec. xiii.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. xiv.

28. Whenever a vessel shall clear from Calcutta for the Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, or Trinidad, with emigrant labourers duly embarked thereon, the customs officer on board such vessel shall countersign the pass or certificate brought on board such vessel, by every such emigrant labourer, and shall keep a register of every such emigrant labourer as may come on board. And such customs officer shall remain on board such vessel until she shall arrive in Saugor Roads, and shall not come away until a muster of the crew and passengers and emigrant labourers has been made in his presence and in that of the pilot in charge of the vessel; and after the customs officer has taken muster and quitted the vessel, the pilot shall continue to exercise the duties indicated in paragraph 26, and it shall be lawful for him, if he shall deem it necessary, to require the master or commander to take a general muster of the crew and passengers and emigrant labourers on board, and to sign a muster-roll so taken, and every such custom-house officer and pilot shall make a complete report of the emigrant labourers on board of any ship at the time of his quitting the same, and such report shall contain a declaration that, to the best of the declarant's belief, no additional emigrant labourers have been received on board since obtaining the certificate, and that nothing else has been done or omitted to be done in the ship or vessel contrary to the provisions of this Act, and every such report or muster, if any, shall be transmitted without delay to the emigration agent of the port. And any custom-house officer or pilot who shall wilfully make a false, erroneous, or incomplete report of the emigrant labourers on board of any ship, or who shall connive at the unauthorized embarkation of any such emigrant labourers, shall be liable, besides dismissal, to a fine of five hundred rupees, commutable, if not paid, to imprisonment in the Calcutta gaol for six months, and the penalty shall be adjudged in like manner as similar penalties are adjudged for offences committed in respect to the customs revenue.—Act XV., 1842, sec. xiv.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. xv.

29. If any person shall forge, or shall use, knowing it to be forged, any document required by this Act such person shall be liable to be imprisoned for any period not exceeding seven years.—Act XV., 1842, sec. xv.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. xvi.

30. All the several penalties to which the masters of ships or vessels are liable by this Act shall be enforced by information laid before any justice of the peace, at the instance of the emigration agent, or of any officer appointed for the purpose by the Government of the place or presidency, or may be enforced by putting in suit the bond given by the master, if such bond has been given in consideration of the license granted to the ship.—Act. XV., 1842, sec. xvi.; and Act XXI., 1844, sec. xvii.

31. No ship or vessel carrying emigrants, and having more than one deck, shall have less than the height of five feet and six inches at the least between decks, and in case such ship or vessel shall have only one deck, a platform shall be laid beneath such deck in such manner as to afford a space of the height of five feet and six inches at the least, and such platform shall not be so laid as that the lower beams shall project above the same; and whatever may be the tonnage of the ship or vessel, no greater number of emigrant labourers shall be taken on board such ship or vessel than shall be after the rate of one emigrant labourer for every seventy-two cubic feet of space between decks, or between the deck and platform, unoccupied by goods or stores not being the personal luggage of such emigrant labourers, anything in act XV., of 1842, or in the schedule therein mentioned, to the contrary notwithstanding.—Act IV., 1852, sec. iii.

EMIGRATION TO CEYLON.

32. Act XIV., of 1839, in so far as it makes liable to penalties every person who shall make with any native of India any contract for labour to be performed in the island of Ceylon, or who shall knowingly aid or abet any native of India in emigrating from the territories subject to the Government of the East-India Company to the said island, is repealed. This Act shall not come into operation until the Governor-General of India in Council shall be duly certified that the Legislature of the said island has made such laws as the said Governor-General in Council shall think sufficient for the protection of such natives of India so emigrating to the said island against the evils aforesaid, and shall notify in the Gazette that he has been so certified.—Act XIII., 1847.

|---|---|---|
| 1832. III. ii. | 1, 2 | |
| 1843. V. i. to iv. | 3 to 6 | |

1. ALL slaves who, subsequently to the enactment of Regulation X, 1811 (SPECIFIC OFFENCES, paragraphs 163 to 169), have been, or may hereafter be, removed by sea or land, for purposes of traffic, from any country, territory, or province, British or foreign, into any province now dependent, or that may become hereafter dependent on the presidency of Fort William subsequently to the date on which it has or may become so dependent, or who have been or may be so removed from one province that now is, or may hereafter become dependent on the presidency of Fort William, into any other province that now is, or may hereafter become dependent, subsequently to the dates on which they respectively have or may become dependent, are declared free.—Reg. III, 1832, sec. ii, cl. 1.

2. All persons concerned in the sale or purchase as a slave, of any man, woman, or child so removed, knowing him or her to have been so removed, on conviction thereof before a magistrate, shall be liable to be sentenced to imprisonment for the period of six months, and to pay a fine to Government according to their circumstances in life, not exceeding the sum of rupees two hundred, commutable, if not duly discharged, to imprisonment for the further period of six months, on the expiration of the former part of the sentence.—Reg. III, 1832, sec. ii, cl. 2.

3. No public officer shall, in execution of any decree or order of court, or for the enforcement of any demand of rent or revenue, sell or cause to be sold any person, or the right to the compulsory labour or services of any person, on the ground that such person is in a state of slavery.—Act V, 1843, sec. i.

4. No rights arising out of an alleged property in the person and services of another as a slave shall be enforced by any civil or criminal court, or magistrate, within the territories of the East India Company.—Act V, 1843, sec. ii.

5. No person who may have acquired property by his own industry, or by the exercise of any art, calling, or profession, or by inheritance, assignment, gift, or bequest, shall be dispossessed of such property, or prevented from taking possession thereof, on the ground that such person or that the person from whom the property may have been derived was a slave.—Act V, 1843, sec. iii.

6. Any act which would be a penal offence if done to a free man, shall be equally an offence if done to any person on the pretext of his being in a condition of slavery.—Act V, 1843, sec. iv.
